A widow lady living in this town has a son twenty-two years of age. Since graduating from the grammar school he has supportd his mother and paid off a mortgage of $500 on their home and has never earned over $12 a week.

Gold and Silver.

Ladies' Gold Fob Chains, with Ornaments, Gold Neck Chains, Gold Watches, Crosses, Finger Rings with stones in

TURQUOISE, GARNET, LAKE GEORGE DIAMONDS, AMETHYST, EMERALD, ONYX, PEARL, CAMEO.

Plain, Flat and Oval Band Rings, Engraved Band Rings, Children's Rings, Bracelets, Lockets, Ornaments, Pencils, etc.

SILVER PLATED WARES.

Casters, Pickle Jars, Cake Baskets, Sardine Dishes, Celery Holders, Mugs, Creamers, Sugars, etc.

— ALSO —

Knives, Forks, Spoons, Ladles, and all kinds of Table wares, in

ROGERS & BROTHER

best goods, at prices below competition

— ALSO —

FINE COIN SILVER WARES

In Spoons, Forks, Napkin Rings, etc., etc

N. B.

As fine a line of Silver Plated Wares, and Jewelry as can be found in the city at prices Far Below those of every other dealer.

EXAMINE AND COMPARE.

J. P. Peabody,

227 & 229 Essex Street,

SALEM.

HANDKERCHIEFS

IN GREAT VARIETY,

— AT —

F. D. TARLTON'S,

42 Main St., Peabody.

Marriages.

In Salem, Dec. 23, by Rev. James P. Franks, Mr. Luther S. Billings to Miss Lona E. Higgins.

In Lynn, Dec. 19, by Rev. Mr. Norton, Mr. George S. Summers of Lynn, to Miss Carrie F. Porter of Peabody; 19th, Mr. Walter Birmingham of Peabody to Miss Mary L. Barbour of Lynn.

Deaths.

At Danvers Asylum, Dec. 30, Mr. Jonathan E. Osborn, aged 68 years, 14 days.

In Peabody, Dec. 16, Henry V. Stanley, 4 mos. 9 days.

24th, Mr. Maurice Shea, 42 yrs.

In Danvers, Dec. 20, Mr. Elijah Hutchinson, 77 yrs. 8 mos. 27 days; 22d, Mr. D. Brooks Baker, 65 yrs. 8 mos. 15 days.

In Salem, Dec. 22, Mrs. Johanna, widow of Mr. Richard Collins, 60 yrs.; 24th, George W. H. Remington, 5 mos. 22 days; 25th, Mr. Cornelius Riley, 75 yrs,

EXTRA SPECIAL NOTICE AND OFFERING

TO THE READERS OF THIS PAPER.

AMERICA'S IMMORTAL POET.

We take much pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been made to supply a LIMITED number of proof impressions of

HOLLYER'S LINE AND STIPPLE STEEL PLATE ENGRAVING

OF THE LATE

HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

AT CRAIGIE HOUSE, "OLD CAMBRIDGE," MASS.

"The Singer so much beloved has passed from sight, but the music of his voice is in the air."

PUBLISHER'S PRICE $7,50.

A Loving Souvenir for the Sitting-Room, Parlor, Library and Office of Every American Home, on the following conditions:

1st. Every Subscriber who will pay all arrearages for the PRESS to Jan., '86, and One Year in Advance, will receive a copy of this engraving FREE.

2d. Every new subscriber who will pay $2, the price for the PRESS one year in advance, will receive this paper until Jan. 1, '87, and a copy of the engraving FREE.

These conditions must be accepted before Jan. 1, 1886.

The Engraving is now on exhibition at the store of H. A. Spaulding.

THE Largest Assortment

— OF —

TOYS,

Games, Blocks, Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year and Birthday Cards, Albums, Mirrors, Hair Brushes, Wallets and Purses in great variety, Accordeons, Harmonicas Music Boxes, Musical Tops, Jews' Harps, Flutes, Fifes, Wagons, Carts, Sleds, Perambulators, Velocipedes, Rocking Horses and Rockers, Drums, Polo Bats, Polo Balls, Wooden and Tin Horses, Cologne and Perfumery, Combs, Dolls, (splendid line to suit all who see fit to give us a call,) Toilet Sets, Vases, and a host of smaller wares too numerous to mention, King's Office Pens and Pencils, Inks, Mucilage, Blank Books, Cash Books, Ledgers, Journals, etc., a splendid assortment of Note Paper of the newest pattern and design, Slates, Slate Pencils, Crayons, Paint Boxes, Stylographic Pens, Livermore's Automatic Pens and Pencils, Playing Cards, from 5 c. to $1 per pack, Dominos, Checkers, Bagatelle Boards, Tissue Paper, Shelf Paper in all shades constantly on hand, Books for the little ones, and lots of goods for the holidays that will please all who see fit to call and examine our stock of goods. We intend not to be beaten in regard to prices, and will warrant all our goods as we represent them. Confectionery, Grapes, Figs, Nuts of all kinds in large stock. Every fruit in its season can be found on our counters. Fine line of Pure Havana Cigars. Sole agent for the Elsol de Cuba, Brianza Brands, in this town. Best 5c. and 10c. Cigars in town. Cigar Cases, Tobacco and Pipes to be found at all times at

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

ONE DAY CLOSED.

Tuesday, Jan. 5,

THE BEE-HIVE

WILL BE CLOSED,

To take account of stock, rearrange and mark down goods, and open

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 6,

AT 3 A. M.

With Great Bargains in Dry Goods.

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

CLOSING OUT SALE

of our

Call and see our variety of

CHRISTMAS

GOODS.

READ OUR PRICES.

Large Wax Dolls, only	[illegible]
Large Jack in Box,	25c
Fancy Color Boxes,	5, 10c
Dominoes,	5c
Nigger Dolls,	10c
Large Trumpets,	10c
Toy Banks,	5 and 10c
Harmonicas,	5, 10, 25c
Drawing Slates,	10c
A B C Books,	5c
Illustrated Story Books,	10c
Fancy Pocket Books,	10c
Vases all kinds,	10c
Roger Bros.' Knives	doz. $3.50
Roger Bros.' Forks,	doz. 4.50

Sleds, 50, 60, 75c, $1 upward

Skates, 25, 50, 75, $1 upward.

— ALSO —

BARGAIN COUNTER

— AT —

SAMUEL TRASK,

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston;

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

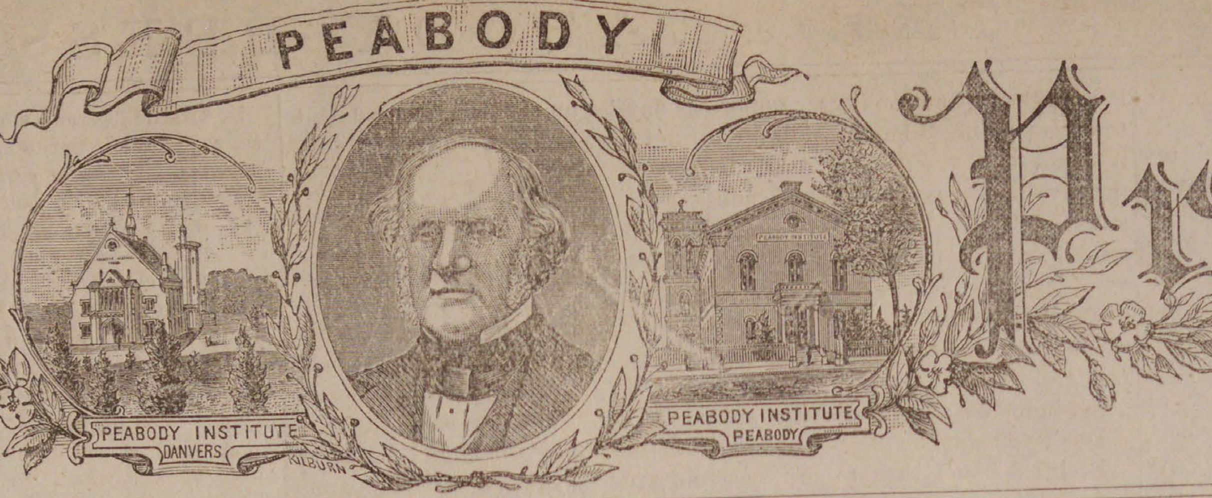
TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

PEABODY
The Press.



827866

PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 6, 1886
VOL. 27. NO. 1.

LOOK HERE.

JANUARY IS THE MONTH FOR BARGAINS.

Great Annual Mark Down Closing out Sale of

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefing Jackets, Suits, and Pantaloons, Underwear, Hosiery and Cardigan Jackets.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

CHRISTMAS GOODS

AT

GEORGE H. JACOBS,

The One Price Klothier,

PEABODY.

Our store is crowded with articles that will make handsome as well as useful Christmas presents, such as Ulsters, Overcoats, Suits, Silk Mufflers and Handkerchiefs, Silk and Velvet Ties in tecks and puffs, Silk Braces, Hose, Linen Collars and Cuffs, Silk and Mohair Umbrellas, Buck Kid and Cloth Gloves, Lamb lined Buck and Kid Mitts, Jewelry, Cardigan Jackets, all kinds of Underwear, Rubber Goods, Stiff and Soft Hats, Scotch Caps, Trunks, etc.

We have made special prices on all these goods for the holidays so that you all may be able to purchase a present.

GEO. H. JACOBS,

THE ONE PRICE KLOTHIER.

25 & 27 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY, MASS.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

To-day is Epiphany!

The PRESS is booming!

Did you "schwore off?"

Stick to the good resolution!

Fun to keep a diary, isn't it?

It must pass for the January thaw!

Don't let your rooms get too warm!

The "great and general" meets to-day.

The new moon showed its face last Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Hildreth has been visiting in town.

This is the time for settling newspaper bills.

No failure in the calender crop is feared this year.

Men's Rubbers 40 cents at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Miss Jennie M. Whipple has gone to Fort Wagner, Ind.

Thin ice holes for unwary skaters are now ready for gathering.

Several changes in town officers are rumored for next spring.

Mrs. Geo. A Osborne and family have returned to this town.

The boys have given the ponds a liberal patronizing of late.

You can "betcherlife" George Stevens is selling a good cigar.

Do you think you heard the blue birds last week?

Buck Slippers 10 cents at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Let the Christmas evergreen hang a while longer.

The rent bills in the post office boxes are rapidly disappearing.

Youth's Grain Button, solid, only $1.00 at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Spearing of eels through the ice has been indulged in this week.

It is prognosticated that the rum taken by the police is below par.

There are large quantites of crows infesting the fields in the outskirts.

Mr. Herbert Gardner and wife, of Leominster, were in town Saturday.

Our business men are treating themselves to a little recreation—stock taking.

Men's Fine Sewed Calf Boots, worth $3.00, only $2.50 at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Fishing for pickerel and perch through the ice at Spring pond has commenced.

Lewis A. Manning is book-keeper for J. V. & J. Hanson at their store on Central street.

The feast of circumcision was observed Friday in the Catholic churches by large audiences.

The Board of Health will report in print this year. It will be incorporated in the town report.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

Thos. Kingsley has purchased the Lawrence O'Donnell estate on Goldthwait place for $1250.

Rev. George Graves, agent for the Massachusetts total abstinence society, was in town Monday.

Five horse-car trips each way between Lynn and Marblehead have been discontinued for the winter.

Mr. D. P. Grosvenor shows his enterprise by giving away a large cook book to his customers.

Gospel Temperance meetings at W. C. T. U. room, every Sunday night at 5.45, increase in interest.

The remains of Mrs. John Bresnahan were brought from Lynn to this town for burial last Thursday.

Mr. J. S. Needham will pay his respects to the President this week during a visit to Washington.

Children's Grain Button, 7 to 10, only 65 cents at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Mr. Daniel Holland's familiar face is again seen on our streets, after a prolonged absence out West.

Daniel Galeucia, formerly of this town, has returned from California after an absence of 19 years.

Now is a good time to subscribe for the PRESS. Begin the new year with a new paper and new resolves.

The jurors in the Goodwin murder trial took a trip on a special car of the Naumkeag road last Sunday.

The Boston & Maine is to have some 30 or more new passenger cars in season for the next summer's traffic.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society will meet at the Unitarian Chapel on Thursday, Jan. 14, afternoon and evening.

Notwithstanding it was a fairly pleasant day last Sunday, a few more could have been accommodated at our churches.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town —Nothing like it, Principee. Clark's Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo. Stevens' *

> "Lives there a man with soul so dead,
> Who never to himself hath said,
> I must the local paper take
> Both for my own and children's sake."

A large flock of sparrows are making their home in the woodwork over the entrance on the front side of the South Church.

One of our young gunners, who is too modest to have his name mentioned, shot a coon last Saturday that weighed 28 pounds.

Owing to the ill health of the pastor, Rev. C. N. Smith, the usual watch night service at the Methodist church was omitted.

Women's German Slippers, wool lined, felt and rubber soles, regular price $1.50, only $1.00 at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Mr. H. W. Moore has leased the currying shop of John A. Lord, Jr., on the corner of Walnut street, and will engage in the morocco business.

There is a big slaughter at S. Trask's. He has just received a one-half gross of handled axes and is selling them for 65 cents; former price $1.00.

> "The melancholy days have come,
> The saddest of the year,
> You ask a man to pay his bill,
> And he gets 'on his ear.'"

The Selectmen have appointed Samuel P. Wilson as weigher of hay and coal, at the town scales, in place of William Frye, who was removed.

Two deaths of members of the Essex North Mutual Benefit Association, I. O. O, F., call for assessments in classes A. and B., one in each class.

Mr. John J. Cahill having completed the work of collecting the agricultural statistics in this town, is now doing a similar work at Lynnfield.

Mr. Gould, of the firm of Elligott & Gould, on Foster street, has fixed up a lodging room in the rear of the store which he will occupy himself.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

The rites of baptism were administered to two candidates at the Baptist Church, last Sunday evening, Mrs. Thomas Green and Mrs. Charles Barnstead.

Although holidays are over, our advertisers still hold out fresh inducements to buyers, as will be seen by the live announcements published in to-day's paper.

Mr. A. Lummus has been suffering for the past four months with a carbuncle on his neck. He is able to attend to his business but the "critter" is rather annoying.

We are bound by every rule of justice and equity to give the New Year credit for being a good one, until he proves himself unworthy the confidence we repose in him.

Mr. Edward Duke has taken the position of flag man at the Central street crossing which has been in charge of Mr. Charles Benjamin for several years. The latter resigned.

A paper is being circulated in Danvers for signatures, in the interest of West Peabody people, of those who favor the proposed new road from that place to the Danvers line.

Mr. J. B. Thomas is bringing a large quantity of stones from So. Peabody to the old Upton tannery on Foster street, and rumor says he will in the near future erect a large morocco shop there.

Some one has sent us word that they would like to give us an incubator. We decline to accept it as the best incubator we know of is our old hen that has come to the scratch for the past six years.

A set of flying horses are being built for the N. S. R. Company to take the place of those burned last year. The set next the roller coaster will be removed to the Point of Pines next summer.

We are glad to learn that the labor troubles at the currying shop of Wiley & Poor have been settled satisfactorily and the men returned to their work to-day.

Holten Lodge I. O. O. F. have purchased a reclining chair for use of members who are sick or disabled. At present it is in use by Brother W. F. T. Gunn, who broke his leg a few weeks ago.

Off with the old habits and on with the new ones of reform is in order. The commencement of a new year is one of the best times on record to adopt new resolves. We speak from experience.

Four large coops of chicks from W. M. Ward addressed to Norfolk, Va., and another to Baltic, Conn., completely filled the track at the railroad station last Thursday morning and were gazed upon by an interested crowd.

The water board have given Mr. Thomas E. Proctor permission to use the high service water in his new automatic fire extinguisher, provided he will put a gate in the street so that it can be shut off when desired.

If a man has six or eight creditors who are hungry for money, he will find it quite an advantage during cold weather. His blood will be kept in a healthy state of circulation and much less fuel will be required to warm his body.

The Salem & Danvers street railroad have found it necessary to enlarge their stables on Central street and an addition sufficient to accommodate eighteen more horses is being built. A portion of the L of the house was torn down to make room.

It is easy at winter's beginning to accustom the body to a temperature of 65 degrees, which will greatly lessen the tendency to colds. We know a Main street family who keep their rooms at about that temperature and are remarkably healthy.

We learn that Mr. Henry C. Hewitt's business at Portsmouth, N. H., is increasing so rapidly that he requires more room and that his brother, Mr. S. C. Hewitt, who has a part of the store for the jewelry business, will find quarters elsewhere in the city.

Mr. Davis, the evangelist, will give Bible Readings every afternoon in the South Church vestry, at half past two. All are kindly invited. His sermon last evening, on our personal accountability to God, is spoken of as one of the best sermons ever listened to.

Mr. R. W. Whitney, of Malden, offered a beautiful large doll to his customers who guessed the nearest to the number of beans in a sealed jar. Mrs. K. M. Jarvis, formerly of this town, and Mr. Charles North, who both guessed the same, won the prize.

The night police feel under great obligations to janitor N. C. Patterson, at the town house, for providing them with a generous lunch on several occasions. When he has a supper at the hall they are sure to come in for a generous share, and as one of them remarked, "it goes right to the spot."

Thomas E. Proctor, John O. Poor and Walter Potter were present at the big banquet of the Boston Merchant's Association at Hotel Vendome in honor of the visiting statesmen last Wednesday night. On Thursday the latter visited the mills at Lawrence and were in charge of Hon. Henry Saltonstall.

Mr. Geo. Buxton, conductor on the Naumkeag street railroad, is the envy of all his brass button companions. George always manages to lead the others in his daily returns and during the year just passed has taken $43,531 cash fares and 82,303 tickets. During three years he has punched for 391,643 fares.

The Officers of the Enos Elevated R. R. have formed a stock company under the laws of the State of Maine, with a capital of $1,000,000, the par value of the stock being $100 a share. The following officers were chosen: President, Matthew H. Robinson of Quincy; Treasurer, C. J. Messer of Peabody; Secretary and clerk, William H. H all of Peabody.

The sale of tickets, at Spaulding's, for the song recital by Fanny Kellogg, Miss How, and Mr. Babcock, is very encouraging. Musical people will be present from Danvers and Salem, as well as other towns in this vicinity. It will be the event of the season. Secure your tickets early, and get good seats.

The total shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem during the year just closed were 266,781 rolls, 137,120 sides, 9026 bundles, 3254 bags, 1429 barrels and 591 bales of leather, 2510 rolls, 782 bundles, 92 casks, 75 bales, 47 barrels of skins. And for the week ending January 2, were 4280 rolls, 185 sides, 249 bundles, 33 barrels, 7 bales, 3 bags of leather, 12 rolls, 10 bundles of skins.

Mr. Charles Elligott has brought a suit for damages against the town and notice was served the other day. Mr. Elligott claims damage to his business on account of dirt being thrown in front of his store while repairs were being made in the highway. He claims that he spoke to the Chairman of the Selectmen and he told him he was sorry. Chas. A. Weare, Esq., for the plaintiff.

The 38th Institute of the Essex Agricultural Society which was to be held at Georgetown, will be held at town hall, Methuen, to-morrow. "The Production and Marketing of Milk" opened by James P. King, Esq., of this town, will occupy the forenoon and Hon. J. J. H. Gregory, of Marblehead, will speak in the afternoon on "Some Lessons and Suggestions from the farm experience of 1885."

At Chas. Harrington & Co's tannery on Walnut street, five men were put on Friday, and twenty-one from Nova Scotia arrived Monday to take the place of the men ordered out by the K. of L. We learn that quarters have been provided with mattresses, cooking utensils etc., and the men will remain inside the enclosure. Since the above was in type, report says measures are being taken to settle the trouble by arbitration.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Chipman, late pastor of the Baptist church in this town, will be pained to learn of the decease of Miss Jennie W. Phillips, a sister of Mrs. Chipman, and who lived with the family here. Miss Phillips died of typhoid fever, after an illness of two weeks, at Wickford, R. I. She was an estimable young lady, a member of the Baptist church in Peabody, and while in this town, attended the Center school. Her age was 17 years.

Union religious services will be continued this Wednesday evening at the Baptist church. Thursday and Friday evenings at the Methodist. Preaching each evening by Evangelist Wm. F. Davis at 7.30. Praise service at 7. 15. On Sunday there will be a union service at the Congregational church at 2. 15 and 7. There will be no preaching service in either the Baptist or Methodist churches during Sunday next. Union prayer meetings every afternoon (except Saturday) in the vestry of the Congregational church.

The ladies of the Relief Corps are to have charge of the tables of fancy articles, confectionery, ice cream etc., and also of the supper room at the G. A. R. Fair which commences on the 19th inst. It is hoped that liberal donations of cooked and uncooked provisions will be made for the supper, and any one who would thus contribute, are invited to send in their name. A loan collection has been proposed as a feature of the fair. Mrs. Ben. Beckett Jr. and Miss M. O. Barrett desire to gather together amateur paintings, pottery, and articles of art, war relics and other things of historic interest. Any persons willing to loan to this collection are requested to confer with this committee.

At the song recital to be given in the Peabody Institute next Monday evening, the following programme will be presented. The names of the artists, alone, are sufficient guarantee that the concert will be first class, but the programme establishes it beyond a question. No lover of music can afford to miss it.

1. I'm a Roamer. Mr. D. M. Babcock.	Mendelssohn
2, O Fatima (Abu Hassan) Miss Mary H. How.	Webber
3. Aria, With verdure clad (Creation). Mme. Fanny Kellogg.	Haydn
4. Duet, La Favorite. Miss How, Mr. Babcock.	Donizetti
5. Songs, (a) Ich liebe dich,	Grieg
(b) The dew it shines,	Rubinstein
(c) Florian's Song,	Godard
(d) Spring-tide,	Reinhold Becker
6. Song, Old Street Lamp, Miss How.	Molloy
7. Duett, Quis Est Homo (from Stabat Mater) Mme. Kellogg, Miss How.	Rossini
8. Song, "I fear no foe," Mr. Babcock.	Pinsuti
9, Song, Golden Love, Mme. Kellogg.	Wellings
10. Trio. Mme. Kellogg, Miss How, Mr. Babcock.

Mr. George Ward is painting the currying shop of Mr. A. A. Messer on Wallis street.

The Naumkeag Street Railroad will not sell tickets after their present supply gives out.

Mr. David Bailey, engineer at the Danvers Bleachery, sends us a package of Western papers

Mr. John K. Saunders has given up carpentering and gone to learn the morocco business at George Foan's shop.

The contract for building Mrs. Hayes' Block, on Boston street, has been awarded to C. C. Blanchard of Lynn for $7569.

Michael Doyle was arraigned before Judge Merrill, yesterday, for keeping liquor with intent to sell and fined $100 and costs.

Angus Morrison, formerly in the employ of Dole & Osgood, has gone to Denver, Colorado, and has obtained a position in a carriage shop there.

Mr. Willie Abbott, who has been employed for several years at the South Danvers Bank, has accepted a position in a broker's office in Boston, and his place at the bank will be filled by Ballads and popular English music will be sung by the artists at the Peabody Institute, next Monday night. It will be a concert every one can enjoy. The tickets are selling well at Spaulding's.

A petition is being signed by Peabody citizens, particularly on Central street and vicinity, asking the Danvers Horse R. R. to run their cars down Essex street in Salem, to the Franklin Building.

Emerald Court of Forresters of this town, will visit the Essex Court in Salem, this evening, at which time there will be installation of officers. Next week Wednesday, the officers of Emerald Court will be installed.

Engineer Pettee reports as follows to the Water Board for the month of December: Number of gallons pumped, 17,600,220; average per day, 567,752; pounds of coal used, 43,120; average per day, 1390; gallons pumped per pound of coal, 408. Average running time per day, 7h. 10m.

The annual parish meeting of the Universalist society was held Monday evening and the following officers were elected: Standing Committee, William F. Wiley, N. M. Quint, J. N. Burbeck, William F. Walker, Warren Shaw, Albert H. Merrill, Cyrus T. Batchelder; Clerk, Amos Merrill; Treasurer, Frank C. Merrill.

We desire that our readers should note the fact that the firm of Almy, Bigelow & Washburn are making some bargains just at this time. Previous to the reception of Spring importations of of goods, there are goods which must be sold. It will be worth the while for our readers to visit this store during the coming weeks.

Biographical sketches of members of the Legislature in Boston Journal—Cyrus T. Batchelder, Republican, coal dealer, was born in London, N. H., Dec. 7, 1824, and was educated in the public schools; he has held all the company and regimental offices in the State militia, served during the war in the 41st Infantry and 3d Cavalry Mass. Volunteers, and is an active member of the G. A. R."

Mr. S. A. Osborne has sold the good will of his meat market to Mr. Charles A. Thomas and the customers will be waited upon by Mr. Frank G. Clough who has been at the old stand for a number of years. The firm of Upton & Magoun, wholesale butchers, having been dissolved, Mr. Osborne will enter the employ of Mr. David G. Upton, who will continue the business.

In this "Week of Prayer" the Evangelical Alliance has designated Friday, January 8th as a day of special prayer for several topics, among them "the abolition of the traffic in intoxicating drinks." Miss Frances E. Willard, President of the National W. C. T. U., has issued a circular letter requesting the Unions to observe the day. Accordingly the Peabody Union will hold a meeting at their room, 18 Main street, commencing at 9 o'clock in the morning, and half past one in the afternoon, with a change of leaders each hour. A cordial welcome to all. Come with your help, your influence, your prayers. These all-days of prayer, have always been seasons of blessing.

Poet's Corner.

Rock Of Ages.

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,"
Thoughtlessly the maiden sung;
Fell the words unconsciously
From her girlish gleeful tongue;
Sang as little children sing;
Sang as sing the birds in June;
Fell the words like light leaves down,
On the current of the tune—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"Let me hide myself in Thee."
Felt her soul no need to hide;
Sweet the song as song could be—
And she had no thought beside;
All the words unheedingly
Fell from lips untouched by care,
Dreaming not they each might be
On some other lips a prayer—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me."
'Twas a woman sang them now,
Pleadingly and prayerfully;
Every word her heart did know,
Rose the song as storm-tossed bird
Beats with weary wing the air.
Every note with sorrow stirred—
Every syllable a prayer—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,"—
Lips grown aged sung the hymn
Trustingly and tenderly—
Voice grown weak and eyes grown dim,
"Let me hide myself in Thee."
Trembling tho' the voice and low,
Ran the sweet strain peacefully
Like a river in its flow,
Sung as only they can sing,
Who behold the promised rest—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,"
Sung above a coffin lid;
Underneath, all restfully.
All life's joys and sorrow hid,
Nevermore, O storm tossed soul,
Nevermore from wind and tide,
Nevermore from billow's roll,
Wilt thou need thyself to hide.
Could the sightless, sunken eyes,
Closed beneath the soft gray hair,
Could the mute and stiffened lips
Move again in pleading prayer,
Still, aye, still the words would be,
"Let me hide myself in Thee."

A Tiny Shoe.

They found him by the roadside dead
A ragged tramp unknown;
His face upturned in mute despair,
His helpless arms out thrown.
The lark above him sang a song
Of greeting to the day,
The breeze blew fresh and sweet and stirred
His hair in wanton play.

They found no clew to home or name,
But tied with a ribbon blue
They found a package, and it held
A baby's tiny shoe.
Half worn and old, a button off,
It seemed a sacred thing;
With reverence they wrapped it close
And tied the faded string.

And laid it on the peaceful breast
That kept the secret well;
And God will know and understand
The story it will tell
Of happy times and peaceful home
That dead tramp sometime knew,
Whose only relic left him was
The baby's tiny shoe.—
New York World.

Once.

Cool, salt air, and the white waves breaking
Restless, eager, along the strand;
An evening sky and a sunset glory
Fading over the sea and land;

We two sitting alone together
Side by side in the waning light;
Before us the throbbing waste of waters,
Behind us the sand heaps, drifted white.

Ships were sailing into the distance,
Down to the lands where the sun has gone:
The rough, fresh wind blew o'er our faces,
And the shadows of night crept slowly on.

Is it a dream that I remember—
Some ghost of a hope that will come no more;
We two sitting alone together,
Hand in hand on the ocean shore.

The Last On Earth.

Somewhere on this earthly planet,
In the dust of flowers to be,
In the dewdrop, in the sunshine,
Sleeps a solemn day for me.

At this wakeful hour of midnight
I behold it dawn in mist,
And I hear a sound of sobbing
Through the darkness—hist! oh hist!

In a dim and musty chamber,
I am breathing life away;
Some one draws a curtain softly,
And I watch the broadening day.

As it purples in the zenith,
As it brightens on the lawn
There's a hush of death about me,
And a whisper, "He is gone."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla stops the nauseous discharges of scrofulous Catarrh, and cures the complaint.

Fettered to a Desperado.

I am French by birth and my name is Francois Thierry. I will not burden you with my early history, but will begin by stating that I was sent to the galleys and find myself to-day an exile. Branding was not out of date at that time, and until I die, I shall bear some fiery letters on my shoulder.

I was arrested, registered, condemned and sent to Paris. As I left the court of justice my terrible sentence rang in my ears. On the road from Paris to Bicetre—a day and a night—the dull rolling of the prison wagon on the pavement repeated it to me. I think I must have been stunned by the severity of my doom, for I have not the slightest recollection of the particulars of that journey. "Hard labor for life!" I heard nothing else, I could think of nothing else. Late in the afternoon of the third day the wagon drew up at the prison door and I entered. My name was then written in a large book, banded with iron, as though it was fettered.

Number 207, Green, said an officer.

Then I put on the uniform of the galley slave. I was no longer Francois Thierry, but number 207. The officer was present while I was dressing.

Hurry up; it is getting late, he said, and you must be married before dinner.

Married? I repeated.

He laughed as he lit a cigar. I was led into a big court where wild looking men with clanking chains were walking up and down before the muzzles of cannon.

Bring number 206, and call the priest, cried the officer.

Number 206 came in, dragging a heavy chain behind him, and with him a robust blacksmith.

The ring of an iron chain was put round my ankle and forged together with a single stroke of the hammer. A like ring bound my companion. Each stroke re-echoed through the arches like the laugh of demons. The officer drew a small red book from his pocket and said:

Number 207 listen to our prison laws. If you attempt flight and fail you will be bastinadoed. If you succeed in getting to the harbor and are there captured, you will be doubly chained for three years. As soon as you are missed three canon shots will be fired and signals of alarm will be hoistered on each bastion. Telegrams will be sent to the harbor guards and to the police throughout France.

And after the officer had read this he relit his cigar and went out.

I was now a prisoner, forged to another prisoner. As I glanced at him I found his eyes turned toward me. He was a sinister looking fellow, about 40 years old, not any taller than I, but of Herculean build.

You are in for life, he said.

How do you know that? I exclaimed, angrily.

I can tell by your cap. Green is for life. Why are you here?

I conspired against the government.

He shrugged his shoulders contemptuously.

Then you're an elegant one. We other prisoners hate such aristocratic company.

I made no answer.

This is the fourth time that I've been here, my companion continued. Perhaps you have heard of Gasparo, the counterfeiter?

I had heard of the daring criminal, and drew back trembling from his gaze. An uneasy look in his eyes told me he had noticed this shrinking. From that moment he hated me.

Gasparo and I, with 200 other prisoners, were to work in a stone quarry on the other side of the harbor. Day after day, from sunrise to sunset, the rocks resounded with our blows. The spring and summer passed and autumn came. My fellow prisoner was a Piedmontese. He had been a counterfeiter, thief, incendiary, and when he last fled from prison he committed a murder. Heaven alone knows how my sufferings were intensified by this terrible companionship. How I shrank from the touch of his hand! What loathing took possession of me at night when I felt his breath on my cheek! I tried to overcome this loathing, but in vain. He knew it as well as I, and took every opportunity to revenge himself. However, it would have been of no avail to put myself in opposition to him, and any complaint to the overseer would only have provoked the wretch to worse tyranny. At last there came a day when his hate seemed to diminish. He allowed me my night's rest, and the next morning he whispered in my ear:

Don't you want to escape?

I felt the blood rush to my face and could not say a word.

Can you keep a secret? he went on.

Until death!

Well, then, listen! To-morrow Marshal d'Auvergue will inspect the harbor, docks, prison and stone quarry. Salutes will be fired from the walls and ships, which will make it difficult to hear the guards' signal for the two escaping prisoners. Do you understand me?

Yes.

What then, will be easier than to knock off the fetters with a pick-ax, and escape when the overseer is not looking our way? Will you dare?

With my life!

Your hand.

I had never before touched his blood-stained and thieving hand, and I shuddered as I clasped it. The next morning we had to undergo the inspection before going to work. An hour before noon the first salute from the harbor reached our ears. The dull report went through me like an electric spark! Gasparo whispered to me:

When the first shot is fired from the barracks, strike with your pick-ax on the ring of my chain, close to the ankle.

A sudden misgiving came over me.

And if I should do it, how can I be sure that you will then free me? No, Gasparo; you must strike the first blow.

As you please, he answered, smiling, but with a muttered curse.

At that moment a flash came from the barracks, and then a report that reverberated from the rocks 100 times As the echoes rolled over our heads I saw him get ready to strike, and saw my chain fall. Hardly had the thunder of the first shot died away before the second came. Now I was to free Gasparo; I was less dexterous than he, so it took several strokes to free his chains. At the third shot we flung our caps away, climbed up the rock, and struck for a path that led into the valley. Suddenly, at a bend in the road, we stood before a little guard house, in front of which were two soldiers. They pointed their guns at us and ordered us to surrender. Gaspado turned, struck me heavily, and said:

Let them capture you. You always were a thorn in my path.

As I fell I saw Gasparo throw down one soldier and rush toward the other. Then one shot and all was dark around me.

When I opened my eyes I found myself lying on the floor of a little unfurnished room, but fairly lighted by a small window. I rose painfully and leaning against the wall tried to think. The recollection of my last adventure soon came to me. I was probably in one of the upper rooms of the guardhouse. I found the door locked. The window was about four feet over my head. I succeeded in reaching it, and looked out. The rock rose about forty feet from the house, and a brook ran between me and the cliff. To stay there would be ruin, whereas in further daring lay a possibility of escape. I forced myself through the window, dropped down and crept to the brook. The water in the stream came to my waist, but as both banks were high, I crept along without my head showing. I heard distant voices, and raising my head carefully above the bank of the stream, I saw dark figures moving toward me. Suddenly a dark lantern was turned on the water close to the hiding place. I dived under the water and held my breath until it seemed that the veins in my head would burst. When I could hear it no longer I rose and looked round and listened. All was still. My pursuers had gone. I then went up the bank to the stony path. Wind and rain in my face, I strode rapidly on, with no other guide than the storm.

About 5 o'clock in the morning, as day began to dawn, I heard bells ringing and saw a large city in front of me. Not daring to go on, I sought refuge in some shrubbery near the road. When night fell I continued my journey, but hunger soon drove me into a village on the road. I crept softly between the cottages and knocked at the minister's door. He opened it himself, and I told him my story He gave me something to eat and drink, an old coat in exchange for mine, and a few francs.

On the fifth day after my flight from Toulon I was on Italian ground. I begged my way from place to place until I reached Rome, where I hoped to find work. Evening after evening I returned disappointed in my search for occupation. My money was gone, I could not pay my landlord, and he set me adrift. Mechanically I followed the stream of passers by, who led me to St. Peter's. I crept wearily in and sank down near the doors. Two men began reading a poster on one of the columns.

Merciful heavens! said one, how can a man risk his life for a few lire?

And with the certain knowledge that out of eighty men eight or ten fall and break their necks?

Horrible work!

They passed on and were lost in the crowd.

I sprang up eagerly and read the notice. It was headed, 'Illumination of St. Peter's' and made known that eighty men were wanted to light the lamps on the dome, and 300 to light those on the columns. I went to the manager, had my name put down on the list, received half my money down, and was to present myself there at 11 o'clock the next morning. I was there promptly amid a crowd of miserable looking men. The doors of the bureau were soon open and we crowded into the hall. My eyes seemed to be drawn toward one corner of the room. My heart stood still it was no mistake. I went over toward, and touching him, said:

Gasparo, don't you know me?

He raised himself up lazily and said:

Ah, Francois! I thought you were in Toulon!

I can't thank you that I'm not there. Listen to me; if we both outlive this night you shall give me satisfaction for your perfidy.

He looked indifferently at me and lay down to sleep. At 7 o'clock we were called up, and climbed the stairs that led to the dome. My place was about half way up, and I saw Gasparo go up still higher. When we were all ready, we crept through the windows up to small boards hanging by ropes. Each one was given a lighted torch, with which he was to light the lamps he passed as the ropes were let down. After I had lit all my lamps, I looked around at the scene. Suddenly I felt my rope shake, and, looking up, saw a man put a torch to it. It was Gasparo. With the agility of a cat I climbed up the rope, put my torch in the villian's face and caught hold of the rope above where it was on fire.

Gasparo, blinded and wild with pain, gave a terrible yell and rolled down like a stone. Through all the humming of the living ocean beneath I heard the dull thud as my enemy struck the pavement. I had hardly recovered my breath when we were drawn up again.

I told the director what I had gone through. The truth of my story was proved by the half burned rope, and I was then given money enough to leave Rome.

Since then I have had many adventures, but never found myself in such terrible company as on the dome of St. Peter's on that fatal Easter.

* * *

My friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

Pink and blonde babies continue to be fashionable.

The Rev. Wm. Stout, Wiarton, Ont., states: "After being ineffectually treated by seventeen different doctors for Scrofula and blood diseases, I was cured by Burdock Blood Bitters." Write him for proof.

Some men are like eggs. You can't tell whether they are good or bad until they are broke.

In the mildest and most kindly way, we want to whisper to half a dozen of the "best fellows on earth," that they are going to hell about as fast as that road was ever travelled. That they are citizens and good citizens too, (good to everybody but themselves) makes it none the less our duty, as we see it, to tell them this, and at the same time, urge upon them an immediate change of front. What are they doing? Well, they are drinking the worse kind of poison, not "occasional nips" of that which "stimulates and makes men forget care" and all that sort of thing, but the meanest, lowest, vilest whiskey that ingenuity can compound from most villainous drugs. Of course they think we don't know it. but we do just the same. Th breaths of some of these "boys" we meet every day would kill a slaughter house at forty rods. They fill up on the slightest provocation nowadays. A little good luck or a little bad luck in business, a visit of a congenial friend from a neighboring town; a cold day, or a hot day; a small sized "family jar" or even an unusually high wind, is sufficient excuse for these gentlemen to hie away to the nearest prescription case and there testify to their bodily ills—and there receive "spiritual comfort."

Of course we do not intend to name one of these gentlemen. The "mantle of charity" is broad enough to prevent that, but we do hope, and urge, and insist that they call a halt and "brace up." The time of year is at hand for good resolutions. Let the first one registered by you, gentlemen, be to quit, absolutely quit drinking "rot gut" whisky. It is destroying your manhood, undermining your health and making all of you physical and social wrecks. And to be perfectly honest and plain with you, the community begins to see that this habit of drinking has been indulged in to such excess that you are not as strong mentally as you were a year, or two years ago. Of the immortal practice, vice is a better word, it is not necessary to speak. You all know it is not right. No man has the "personal privilege" right to abuse himself, his family and friends, by filling his tank every morning with poison and keeping it full all day. We regret the seeming necessity of this objurgation. It is a half confession to the world that temperance work has been superficial and devoted chiefly to enforcing the law. But worse than this, it is an admission that we have among us a class of young men, and elderly men, too, who have indulged in tippling until the habit has so fastened itself upom them as to make their reformation a question of public solicitude and doubt.

If they could only be brought to see themselves as others see them; to know the heartaches they are causing every day; to feel that their names are being gradually linked with that awful word—a drunkard—and that the prayers of the christian people of this town, and the petitions even of their "worldly" business associates are all offered for them, they would brace up and quit.

As this is all true—every word of it—then why in Heaven's name don't you quit?—Clay Center Dispatch.

* * *

We were greatly surprised on opening the last number of the Waltham Record, to find how suddenly it had flattened out, from a lively, spicy local sheet, to a dry spiritless affair, large enough in size, but weak where it had heretofore been strong. But our surprise vanished when we learned that Brother E. L. Barry who had succeded in making it a valuable accession to the ranks of journalism, had sold out to those cheap Johns of the press, Pratt Brothers of Marlboro Mass., who have strung it on to their aggregation of 50-cent newspapers. We say newspapers, but they can hardly be called that, as the brains that can be got into a 50-cent paper must be exceedingly cheap. —Woburn Advertiser.

* * *

The foolish virgins who spend nine-tenths of their leisure time in learning to decorate china would do well to remember that the young man in search of a wife is more likely to tie to the girl who knows how to decorate her china with a good square meal, well cooked and daintily served.—Providence Star.

A cigar-smoking doctor says that when other smokers ask him for a light he offers them a box of matches, but never his cigar. "Gentlemen suppose," said he, "that I do this because my own cigar is not well lighted. The real reason is that I wish to avoid the risk of contagion from any one disease out of the dozen or more which may be transmitted by putting into the mouth an article infected persons have handled."

O, MY HEAD!—The worst case of pneumonia can be cured by outward applications of St. Jacobs Oil and a few doses of Red Star Cough Cure.

Never suppress an orator. A cackling goose saved Rome.

The sleigh owners are patiently waiting.

A. B. & W.

SALES IN PROGRESS.

1. 250 dozen Ladies' and Misses' Hosiery, at one-half regular prices. Goods from the famous Hosiery Stock of Arnold, Constable & Co. of New York city.

2. Original and Peremptory Sale of White and Colored Quilts—15 different qualities.

3. Grand Sale of Bleached and Brown Cottons, 52 different makes and qualities, several not to be found elsewhere in Salem.

4. The Remnants in all our Departments without regard to cost.

5. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Outside Garments. Our Garments are tailor fitted and made in a thorough manner. Those who have waited for the January reductions in prices will be satisfied with our Bargains. We warrant every garment.

6. Preliminary to our Grand Sale of Linens, to be announced later, we offer now

An Importer's Line of Samples, Towels, Table Covers and Napkins.

The stock is small, and immediate visitors will secure a good bargain.

7. CORSETS, Great Bargains. For a few days we will offer our "Combination Corset" for 62 1-2c.; former price, $1.25. New "Pride of Salem" Corset for 50c.; filled with bone, not reed; perfect shape. Bargains in Woven Corsets.

8. HAMBURG EDGINGS,

NEW IMPORTATIONS FOR 1886.

Low Prices for Elegant Showy Goods. Low Prices for Fine Goods.

A large assortment of Narrow, Medium width, wide Flounces, and All Overs, in sets to match. This Hamburg Sale will be more important than any previous one. The selections are better and the prices of better value.

All purchases delivered.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

SALEM.

W. C. PACKARD & CO'S.

Fourteenth Grand Annual Holiday Sale.

OPENING TUESDAY, DEC. 1.

We have made this season more extensive preparations than ever before for the display of our HOLIDAY GOODS.

These will be shown on our first and second floors. On our first floor all our Furniture has been removed; and this floor will be devoted almost exclusively to the display of

RATTAN & LEATHER CHAIRS.

This will be the largest exhibit of Rattan Furniture ever made in Salem. It comprises all the new and desirable styles from the leading manufacturers of the country.

Ladies' and Gent's Rattan Rocking Chairs.

Rattan and Reed Upholstered Cushion Chairs, Children's Rattan Chairs, Corner Chairs, Ladies' Rattan and Willow Work Stands, Wood Baskets and Scrap Baskets. Also a large invoice of Embossed Leather Chairs.

and Platform Rockers (in 20 different styles) also Antique Chairs upholstered in leather or Plush and Shaker Chairs. On this floor may be found Ladies' and Gent's Parlor Desks, Book Cases, Wall Cabinets, Bric-a-Brac Shelves, Bevel Plate Mirrors, Gent's Smoking Sets, etc, etc,

On our second floor, with our large stock of

PARLOR SUITS

will be found over

200 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS,

in every conceivable style of Frame and Covering. Gents' Reclining, Study, Smoking and Rockug Chairs. Our new GENT'S READING CHAIRS, covered in handsome figured Goods Plush trimmed for

ONLY $5.00,

are a special bargain; you should call at once and leave your order if you wish to secure one of these.

ALSO OUR $3·50

Smoking Chair is unequalled. Ladies' Sewing and Rocking Chairs, Fancy Chairs for work, Foot Rests, Blacking Cases, Ottomans. Large Invoice of Easels in Cherry, Ebony, Walnut, and Bamboo. The new

Briggs Crown Piano Chair,

(a good and useful present)

Music Cabinets, Music Folios in all woods.

Standing Parlor Cabinets,

n Ebony and Cherry.

TABLES.

over 100 different styles in all woods, Plush Tops, Wood Tops, and Marble Tops. Pedestals for Rogers Groups, Bible Tables, Fancy Plush Stands, Ladies' Wash Tables, Card Tables, "Five o'clock Tea Tables," and many other useful and beautiful Gifts which we have not space to mention. We feel confident that it will repay any one to come a long way to inspect our mammoth stock of useful as well as ornamental Holiday Gifts now ready for inspection. All are cordially invited to visit at their leisure our store and examine these goods and learn our prices, whether they wish to purchase or not. Those who make their selections early will find it to their advantage.

Goods delivered anywhere in Essex Coun

W. C. Packard & Co.

281 ESSEX STREET. SALEM.

REMEMBER

You can find a fine line of goods suitable for presents for the

HOLIDAYS,

—AT—

BROWNE'S MIILLNERY STORE,

Essex St., Salem.

Also Bargains in all kinds of

Millinery, Trimmed Hats and bonnets,

will be sold very low during the Holidays.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

500 Wings and Fancy Feathers, your choice only $1.00. Regular price $2.50 to 4.00.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

HEADQUARTRES!

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

10 Cent Cigars.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

BOSTON WEEKLY JOURNAL,

A new volume, January 1, 1886.

One dollar per annum, including postage. A weekly newspaper of thirty-six long columns, filled with news and information and adapted to the wants of New England readers. For fifty years The Weekly Journal has been the popular New England weekly. It has won its way by its inherent merits, never having adopted other inducements to subscribers than those which it presents weekly in its well-filled columns. The features of the past will be continued.

The Boston Journal is a Republican newspaper but it gives the news of all the political phases o the times and sees that its readers are kept well posted upon

CURRENT POLITICAL EVENTS.

The Weekly Journal has been awarded the cred ot being the best Family newspaper published in Boston.

TERMS OF WEEKLY:

Single Copies, One Year (postage included)	$1.00
Ten Copies and One Extra to getter-up of Club,	$10.00
Twenty Copies and Two Extra to getter-up Club,	$20.00

One Copy Free for every Ten Subscribers.

BOSTON SEMI-WEEKLY JOURNAL, Published on Tuesdays and Fridays. Is a paper of especial value to persons engaged in commercial pursuits outside the large cities.

The Boston Semi-Weekly Journal is a paper which no man actively engaged in trade and watching the course of mercantile affairs can afford to be without.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Copy (including postage) One Year	$3.00
Five Copies (including postage) to one address One Year	12.50
Ten Copies (including postage) to one address One Year	25.00
One Copy FREE to getter-up Club of Ten.
Twenty Copies (including postage) to one address One Year	45.00

And Two Copies FREE to getter-up of Club of Twenty.

Larger Clubs, $2 25 per Copy, and One Copy FREE to every Ten Subscribers.

Terms—Invariably in Advance

THE BOSTON JOURNAL.
(Morning or Evening Edition)
ONLY $6.00 A YEAR,
OR 50 CENTS A MONTH.

Specimen copies of any of our publications sent on application to any address.

All remittances should be by Post Office Order, Registered Letter or Bank Check. Address

JOURNAL NEWSPAPER COMPANY,
No. 264 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

Able, Independent, Enterprising.

The Paper for New Englanders of all Parties and Creeds,

THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN.

Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles

Daily, Sunday, Weekly.

A large quarto sheet.

Independent and Fair in Potitics;

Comprehensive in Its News Reports;

Rich and Varied in Its Miscellaneous Reading.

New England News Reported with Great Thoroughness.

THE DAILY REPUBLICAN.

Broad, Bright and Breezy.

$8 a year; $2 a Quarter; 70c a Month.

THE SUNDAY REPUBLICAN.

An Admirable Paper for the Day of Rest. $2 a year; 50 cents a Quarter.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN.

The Best Political, News and Family

WEEKLY

IN NEW ENGLAND.

$1.00 ONLY $1.00

A Year, or 10 Cents a Month, for shorter periods.

Carefully edited. Crowded with News and Interesting Reading.

Each number contains a Good Story.

New Subscribers to the Weekly will receive the Paper Free for the balance of 1885.

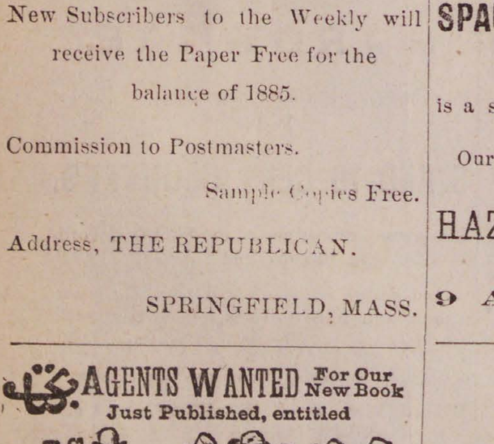
Commission to Postmasters.

Sample Copies Free.

Address, THE REPUBLICAN.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book
Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE
BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

☞ AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. ☞ Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address

G. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING

SIMPLE NEW HOME STRONG

SWIFT SURE

SEWING MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

FOR SALE BY

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME
OF THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA,

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any ot those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

A specialty of Theatrical News,

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. E. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading-matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address.

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

SPAULDING'S SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet, Shade and Mattress work as usual.

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,
18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

RELICS OF ANTIQUITY.

As many of your readers are aware, the neighboring town of Danvers contains many land marks, once the home of the early settlers. Perhaps the most interesting one of these is the birthplace of that old revolutionary hero, Gen. Israel Putnam. It is situated upon one of the finest farms on the Middleton road, nearly opposite the Danvers Hospital. Here his father settled in 1640, built the house which is still standing, in 1651. The writer visited it one day last week, finding it a most interesting relic. My knock at the door was answered by a genial looking lady, of some three score years, Miss Susan Putnam. Bidding me enter I was ushered into a room, furnished almost wholly with antique furniture, our grandfather's clock occupying a conspicuous place in the corner; entering into a pleasant conversation, found that Miss Putuam was a descendant of the General's brother, being born and had always lived upon the place; the writer alluding to the room, which he had heard was filled with the General's trophies, Miss Putnam smiled and remarked that that was easier found in Connecticut,however she will show him the room in which the General was born in 1718. Passing to the old part of the house, (the living part being a later addition) the writer ascended a flight of stairs and passed in to the birth room. The ceilings are supported by heavy timbers, the windows are deep, while the panes of glass are small and old. It is furnished quietly, but in quaint enough style to suggest its origin. None of the articles in the room belonged to the General however, all his effects being removed when he emigrated to Connecticut; passing upward to the attic, was shown a room that was filled with antique articles, that had been gathered from time to time about the place. Among the noted was a mortar, about two feet high, which was hewn out of a log and supposed to be left by the Indians; a case of drawers, very aged, with curiously inlaid figures upon the top side, a tin pan, supplied with hooks, upon which hung eating articles, the forks being nearly straight. There was a machine, which had been used on the place for grinding corn, very ancient pottery, maps and charts, and rudely constructed agricultural implements. Descending to the starting point was shown the only articles actually possessed by Gen. Putnam, which comprised a large steel button, a string of bullets from a mold, and his signature to a transfer of property. Gen. Putnam twice revisited his birthplace, the latter time so helpless with paralysis as to require aid from his colored valet, in remounting his horse, preparatory to returning to Connecticut. Thanking my hospitable hostess for her kindness, the writer withdrew, well repaid for time spent at Gen. Putnam's birthplace.

Somewhat back from the main road and nearly opposite the birthplace, lives another descendant, Mrs. Col. Jesse Putnam, who lately observed her one hundred and first birthday, receiving nearly as many callers upon that proud occasion; the writer also called upon her, too, and was shown many antique articles, perhaps the most interesting was the lady herself. Found her to be the mother of twelve children five of whom are living; has enjoyed very good health for one of her age, seemed a little anxious about reaching her birthday, but now that it was passed,seemed relieved,had an excellent memory and could recall the age of many pieces of furniture, among them an old oaken chest belonging to her grandmother, (just think of it!) and said to be 400 years old. She was humorously inclined, and at her reception asked a prominent young physician if he could instruct her physician, who had attended her for some thirty years, "anything new in the treatment of rheumatism." Not wishing to weary the old lady with an extended interview, the writer retired, hoping to meet her again on her 102d birthday. A singular coincidence in connection with this lady is, that a great great granddaughter married a similar grandson of Mrs. John Howard of No. Reading, who was 102 last August.

We will now leave the Middleton road and going to that part of Danvers, known as Putnamville, visit another very interesting homestead, the home of the descendants of Gen. Moses Porter, another Revolutionary hero, whose bones lie buried in one of her cemeteries, and who was also born upon the Middleton road. Here was shown the original autograph of Geo. Washington commissioning Moses Porter of Danvers, Captain of artillery; previous to this he served in the army, and was at the battle of Bunker Hill, when 17 years of age. After he became general was commissioned builder of forts in Canada. A table was shown that was built by the soldiers at Ft. Mackinaw. A tin waiter, with a painting of the death of Gen. Wolfe, all the prominent generals of both sides being pointed out—so lifelike was the picture. A full sett of hard wood dining chairs, in every day use, not a joint started. An old canopy top bedstead, with curtains of curiously wrought figures of black and white, certainly looked original. Antique cases of drawers whose brasses even showed their age.

Many of these articles were loaned to the Essex Institute, and exhibited at the Centennial and were probably seen by many of our readers. We understand a biography of Gen. Foster is being written by a gentleman of Newton to bring before the public a hero who seems to be unknown.

Prompted wholly by curiosity the writer visited the home, (if such it can be called) of a person whose history is certainly well known by many Peabody people, Miss Emily Gould; she lives a few steps from Danvers Square in a two story front house, whose looks from an exterior view (with closed blinds) reminds one of "nobody at home," but a knock at the battered door reveals life within and soon this female hermit (as it were) presents an appearance; it was not a very neat one, but nevertheless, the writer found her very interesting, as she recited incidents that happened in Peabody forty years ago, when she taught many of what are now business men their letters, at the old Bowditch school on Central street. By her conversation she certainly showed evidence of better days, but disappointment is probably the cause of her living alone, and where could it be more strongly illustrated? Upon my remarking if she enjoyed living so, she answered, I have to! there is none other for me!

Another similar case, is that of Miss Maria Goodhue, who lives in that part of Danvers called Searsville. She keeps up the old fashioned kitchen, with the fireplace, etc., and hasn't a stove in the house; the bed her father died upon can still be seen made up in the kitchen and is never touched. She is rather shy of strangers and was once a handsome woman, but alas, what comforts these two creatures must enjoy in isolation! Think of it!

ANTIQUE.

THE DRAMA.

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P. M.]

Excepting on Saturday evening, when Edwin Booth appears as Iago for the first time during the present engagement, the attraction of the Boston Museum stage this week will be Hamlet. The tragedy is to be brought out with all the elaborate stage effects that marked the representation last season as so noteworthy. It is likely that the audiences will tax the capacity of the Boston Museum all the week.

Perhaps there will not be a boom at the Park this week. N. C. Goodwin, Jr., is to be the star, and he comes with a nonsensicality called The Skating Rink, which his skill and talent has made a most popular entertainment in other cities. The Skating Rink went with roars of laughter in New York, and will no doubt be a great go here. Daisy Murdock, the pretty little Cupid and Puck, Marietta Hart, Lillian Fletcher, Helen Lowell, James B. Radcliffe, Henry V. Donnelly, E. F. Goodwin, Major Newell. and some experts in the use of the rollers, including a dog, who is a skilled skater, appear in this merry skit.

Many evidences of deserved favor have been accorded the past week to that excellent and well-balanced troupe of Ethiopian performers, Barlow, Wilson & Rankin's minstrels at the Bijou Theatre Boston. A new bill is promised for the coming week which is likely to display to excellent advantage the troupe. The closing feature, however, will still be, The Mickey Doo, or Japanese from the Neck, an extremely funny burlesque on Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, which has made a hit thoroughly merited.

For the third week of Booth's Museum engagement, Richelieu is announced for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. and Saturday afternoon, January 11, 12, 13, and 16. The Merchant of Venice and Katherine and Petruchio is to be the double attraction Thursday; on Friday will come The Fool's Revenge; and on Saturday night, A New Way to Pay Old Debts, with the star as Sir Giles Overreach.

Lester & Allen's celebrated minstrel troupe are to begin a engagement at the Boston Theatre a week from Saturday night. William Muldoon and John L. Sullivan are both to appear in classical pose.

Boucicault arrived Tuesday at San. Francisco from Australia, and proceeded at once to New York, where he is to meet Mr. Field,—under whose management he is to appear in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, for a completion of the seasons arrangements. His new play, The Jilt, will be everywhere the sole attraction.

The children's health must not be neglected. Colds in the head and snuffles bring on Catarrh and throat and lung affections. Ely's Cream Balm cures at once. It is perfectly safe and is easily applied with the finger. It also cures Catarrh and Hay Fever, the worst cases yielding to it in a short time.

When two weeks old our child caught cold. For eighteen months could not breathe through her nostrils, became emaciated. By using Ely's Cream Balm she was cured.—J. M. Smith, Oswego, N. Y.

STREET
GLEANED
BY

Some of the conductors on the Danvers road should be more careful in giving transfers. A well known lady from this town wishing to visit Danversport, went to Danvers and the conductor gave her a transfer to the Port. When fairly on her way the conductor came in and as she passed up the transfer check the other conductor had given her, it was refused because it did not have the right date stamped on the back. It was a surprise to the lady, and very embarassing as all eyes were turned upon her, and conductor No. 2. proceeded to ask all kinds of questions concerning the manner in which she obtained the transfer. To rid herself of further trouble she offered to pay the regular fare, but the conductor concluded that if "Fred gave it to her he would take it."

There is a lunch room not far from the post office in Salem, which holds forth under the name of a certain colonial hero, where a man can get plenty of refreshments both liquid and solid, but unless he is careful will have to pay all they are worth, and if he happens to be a little short all that he is worth. I know of one of our young men who having a few minutes before catching the train, ordered an oyster stew and afterwards a piece of squash pie. Walking to the counter he threw down fifty cents and hesitated a moment for the change when the proprietor said "that is just the change." The train was coming and the young man had no time for argument. The next time he will probably go some where else.

I am glad to see that while we have had several weddings, the silly practice of a bridal trip as soon as the ceremony is over has not been indulged in. It is a foolish custom at best for a newly married pair to grab a hasty lunch, kiss their parents and friends good by and then rush off to the railroad station. The pretty bridal dress with flowers and veil has been given up for the more sombre travelling suit with poke bonnet to match. And in these garments they have said "I will" and the next minute they are off leaving their female guests in tears, and the males thinking wicked thoughts. I am glad that our young people are beginning the new and better life with the idea that a wedding trip must be begun as soon as the ceremony is over is not essential to their happiness.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Christmas Poultry,

A large stock of choice

TURKEYS,

CHICKENS

and GEESE;

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
TRADE MARK
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2dw

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS,

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. J. EMILIO.

W. C. Robinson,

HOLIDAY OPENING!

"IS IT SO NOMINATED IN THE BOND"

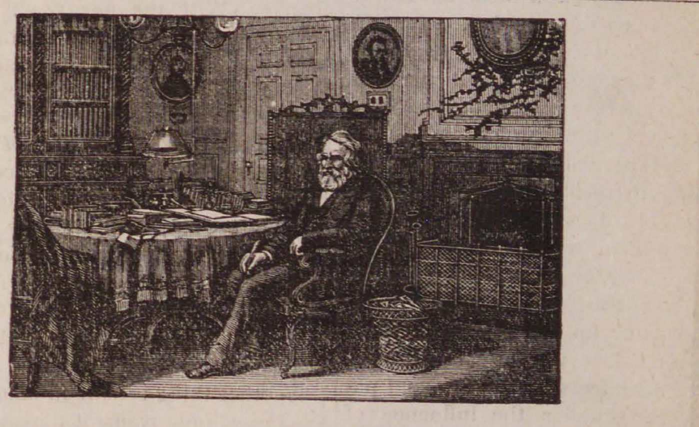
FANCY GOODS.

It is impossible to give a complete list of these Goods. We can only say come and see for yourself the largest line of Fancy Goods in the city. Brass Goods, Swiss Carvings, Panels and Easels, Cups and Saucers, Mirrors.

Leather and Plush Goods.

Brush and Comb Cases, Jewelry Cases, Ladies' and Gents' Toilet Cases, Odor Cases, Cigar, etc., Handkerchief, Glove, Collar and Cuff Boxes. Ladies' Wallets and Purses in Alligator, Russia, Seal, Antique Leather and Calf. A Fine line of Leather Card Cases of many styles. Also Hand Bags in Leather and Plush.

SEE OUR GOODS. BUY EARLY.
Remember the Place.
42 MARKET STREET, LYNN, MASS.
W. C. ROBINSON,
Successor to SMITH & ROBINSON.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions:

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

ARTISTS

We carry a complete stock of everything used in Oil Water Color, China and Lustra Painting. For we have hundreds of Novelties for Decoration.

XMAS

MAIL ORDERS A SPECIALTY.

Illustrated Catalogue and Circulars sent free.

Charles J. Edmands.

12 BROMFIELD ST., BOSTON.

Guide to Kensington Painting, only 25 cents, postpaid.

USEFUL HOLIDAY PRESENTS.

Before Buying Xmas and New Years' Gifts, do not fail to visit the popular Bargain Shoe Store.

Children's Goat Button Boots, hand sewed,	30c
" Im. Sandals, best Boston rubber	25c
" Arctics, Wool lined.	50c
" Rubber boots, peb. leg. fleece lined	$1.00
Misses' Kid Button,	$1.00
Ladies' Alaskas, wool lined,	60c
" Rubbers,	25c
" Slippers.	85c
" Kid or Grain Button,	1.25
Men's Fancy Slippers, Harvard Ties	60c
" Arctics, 1st quality	1.00
" Rubber Boots,	2.00
" Beaver boots	1 50
" Dull finish Rubber Boots, Boston or Woonsocket, 1st quality	2 65
Boys' Tap Sole Bals,	1.00
Youths Tap Sole Bals.	90c
" Rubber boots Pebble leg	1.25

As the attractions we offer are too numerous to specify, we invite all to visit our store and inspect our Holiday Display.

Money can be saved by trading at

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,

Editors and Publishers.

THE OLD time custom, in New York, of New Year's receptions has been largely done away with this year. Very few of the ladies moving in the best society received calls. What receptions were given were among the lower classes of people. The cause lay not so much in the unwillingness to receive their friends, as in the tendency to conviviality which has been engendered by the receptions. This has been noticeable for some years, and the custom of New Year's calls has been growing in disfavor. But at no previous year was so little made of the event. Parties of friends, circles of acquaintances, substituted an entertainment in a quiet way, New Year's eve, where the old year was "watched out" with stories and games and music. At the bidding of the New Year, the parties broke up.

The lesson to be drawn from the abandonment of this custom, may be a very old one, but it is nevertheless a true one—that drunkenness is not fashionable. We talk a deal about the good old times of our fathers, when people were not supposed to be as wicked as they are now. But the fact is, in many ways this generation shows an improvement in the customs of society, and particularly is this so with regarding to social drinking. Society in New York does not frown upon the man or woman who takes a glass of wine at dinner, or who indulges in a social glass occasionally with a friend. But the man who cannot enter the society of ladies without continually showing the effects of too frequent potations, who is under the influence of intoxicants more of the time than otherwise, is not treated with the confidence and esteem that a man of temperate habits receives.

This is the case elsewhere than in New York. The outlook for temperance is exceedingly favorable. People who are habitual tipplers are losing caste with the community. The man of business, who depends upon the public for patronage, but neglects it for his potations, who is seen by his customers and the public in haunts frequented by people known to be indulging in the ardent, finds his business dropping away, and himself losing the confidence of those with whom he deals. Corporations are making more diligent inquiry into the habits of the men in their employ, and particularly those who hold positions of responsibility. Railroads are declining to engage men not known to be temperate in their habits, for all positions.

The church of Rome, too, is making more aggressive warfare against this evil than of yore. The power of its influence, when exercised, cannot be overestimated. It is a mighty engine for good in this direction.

The Knights of Labor, realizing the evil which comes to its members from strong drink, declare that no rum-seller can enter its precincts, or become associated in its councils. It urges upon its members the duty of providing for their families in such a way that they may become educated, prosperous and temperate citizens of the community. The man who is a habitual drinker, spending his earnings over the bar of the rumseller, not only suffers, but his family suffer with him. The Knights of Labor, therefore, do well to protect the home, which is the bulwark of our civilization.

These are only a few of the many agencies which are working against intemperance in the community. The tide moves onward. No advocate of temperance has cause to despair, but in very many ways, and from very many hopeful indications, they can thank God and take courage.

THE SALEM NEWS truly says that if all the projected lines of horse railroad are built in Peabody, this town will be better accommodated than Salem. The town will not only be better accommodated as to travel, but a way will be opened for an increased business capacity in different portions of the town. As we said last week, liberal management and a liberal policy on the part of our citizens will lead to the improvemens of the advantages which are surely before us.

Here, for instance, is the village of So. Peabody. The lines of horse cars will run on both Lynn and Lynnfield streets, and possibly across from one to the other. It is convenient of access to the center of the town. What is to prevent the erection of dwelling houses along the section opened up by the horse railroad? What is to prevent the establishment of manufactories, and the introduction of new industries, in that portion of the town? There are many residents there who are shoemakers. Why should not encouragement be given towards the establishment of such business there? This, or any other business would lead to increased population, demand for building lots and dwellings, and a general increase in prosperity. Whatever draws in to the town skilled labor, increases the demand for the products of all kinds of industry, puts more money in circulation, and improves trade in every branch.

In some towns in the State there have been organized by the business men, and others of public spirit, boards of trade and improvement associations. In Woburn it is called a Board of Trade; in Stoughton it is an Improvement Association. The object is nearly the same in each case. It is to work for the improvement of the town. It is to use every effort, in every legitimate way, to induce capital to locate in the town. By their union in this direction, they are able to command sufficient influence to abate taxes, if necessary, that business firms may turn in the direction of their several towns. There is competition in this direction, as times are now. Some inducement must be offered to manufacturers, and the town which stands aloof from this, which will hold out no inducement, will not progress in the direction which we have indicated. This town has not, in the past, been progressive or liberal towards manufacturers proposing to settle here. It is time there was a change. With the new year, and the opportunity afforded by the increased horse railroad facilities, it would be an appropriate season for new resolutions. Nothing would enforce such resolutions better than the establishment of a board of trade or improvement society in Peabody. A united organization could do what no citizen or number of citizens, however public spirited or interested in the welfare of the town, could do. Like the Law and Order League, they would exercise, in a certain sense, a power behind the throne.

Another thing is done in many places by these improvement associations. They see to the improvement of the streets and sidewalks in different towns. That is to say they go further than the town is able to in many cases. They induce private citizens to lay brick or concrete walks in front of their residences, by paying a portion of the expense. They offer prizes for the best laid out lawns and grounds around residences. They raise funds for the planting of shade and ornamental trees, and in various other ways make the surroundings of the town attractive, while at the same time they are alive to the improvement of its business interests.

In this latter direction, we think there might be something done to advantage here. The condition of some of the sidewalks in Peabody, particularly in the direction of Elm and Wallis and Tremont streets, is execrable. In many places the sidewalk is lower than the street, and in others, the walks are full of mud at the slightest rainfall. Of course the town is unable to remedy all this difficulty. The citizen must aid the improvement. We learn that in the town of Stoughton, by the aid of this Association, concrete walks have been laid in nearly every part of the town.

Resolutions are in order for the New Year. We offer these suggestions in the hope that some of our public spirited citizens will make some resolutions that will lead to the formation of some such organization in this town.

THE WORLD'S Medical Dispensary of Buffalo, N. York, whatever that may be, are sending a mass of printed matter to the newspapers regarding L. Lum Smith, the proprietor of the Agents' Herald of Philadelphia, who has probably exposed more "dead beat" and fraudulent advertisers than any paper in the country. The purport of the whole, on the part of the Buffalo firm, seems to be a fear that the papers will give L. Lum Smith too much "free advertising" as they call it, with a strong intimation that a little of the same free advertising toward them would not be out of place.

Judging from the propositions from fraudulent advertisers received by us, in common with others of the newspaper fraternity, we don't believe Mr. Smith has got any free advertising that he did not deserve. This much we know. If we had accepted all the advertising propositions we have received from such firms as Osgood & Co., Washburn & Co., Haylock & Jenney, Mendelssohn Piano Co., Sacilyca, Byron Van Raub, and others whom we could name, we should have been "out" a good many hundreds of dollars. No publisher who reads the Agents' Herald, and profits by it, will get caught by any of them. We believe Smith and the Agents' Herald are doing a good work for the newspaper fraternity in weeding them out. As far as Dr. Pierce and his World's Dispensary is concerned, we only know that no advertising proposition from him ever came to us that was not so ridiculous as to be thrown at once into the waste basket, or given to the office cat.

TELEPHONE LEGISLATION.—The time when the legislature will grasp the question of telephone rates draws near. It is probable that some laws regulating and controlling rates to be charged to subscribers will be passed. It may therefore be of interest to see what has been done elsewhere. In Arkansas a law is upon the statute books restricting the rate to $4 per month. This law is respected by all the companies and under it they are making money. In Indiana last year an act was passed forbidden a charge of over $3 per month or $2 50 each where more than one station is hired by the same party. The passage of this bill was bitterly opposed, the telephone lobby using all means known to such birds of prey. It finally passed after a heated contest, and the different companies operating in that state undertook by all means of dodging to evade the law. They made the maximum charge allowed by law for the use of the telephone and added a further charge for use of wires, bells, switches, poles and batteries. But the state proved greater even, than the telephone monopoly. The agents of the company were promptly arrested and after a long contest in the courts the law has been upheld, the courts ruling that it was the intention of the legislature to include all that was necessary for the operation of a telephone, in the word "telephone and transmitter" in the bill. The telephone companies, which at first blustered and threatened to withdraw from the state if the bill was enforced, yielded with a bad grace, and the people are now given good service at one half the rates we pay in Massachusetts. The companies are still making money at the reduced rates. Similar results will obtain with us if similar laws are enacted here. The rates charged in Fall River, Taunton, New Bedford and other towns and cities in that vicinity are scaled upon the same basis, yet the stock pays good dividends, the company (Southern Massachusetts) is very prosperous, and the service is first class. These facts, and they are facts, are known to the American Bell Telephone company, the owners of "New England," for they are also large owners in the other company. The bill regulating telephone rates was allowed to be defeated in the house at Boston last winter, by reason of promises of reformation by the telephone managers. The recent raise in rates gives the lie to their promises. They deserve no consideration at the hands of the incoming legislature; they will receive none.—Lowell Times.

IN ACCORDANCE with the desire of many subscribers we have decided to extend our offer on the Engraving of Longfellow until February 1st, on the conditions we have previously announced in the PRESS, and which will be found fully described in the advertisement in another column. During the past week many new subscribers have been added to our books, all of whom have been greatly pleased with the beautiful work of art.

At the annual meeting of the Old Colony Railroad, complaint was made that a division superintendent had been removed for intemperance, notwithstanding a numerously signed petition had been presented for his retention. The Clerk replied that while Chas. F. Choate was President and J. R. Kendrick was General Manager, no officer nor employe known to be intemperate would be retained on the road. The objection was not pressed. If "corporations have no souls," they are alive to the fact that self-interest demands due care for the lives and limbs of their patrons.

Rev. Mr. Earle, the well known Baptist revivalist, celebrated his golden wedding last evening.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The appearance of Mme. Fanny Kellogg, Mary H. How and D. M. Babcock in the Peabody Institute next Monday evening is an event unusual to this town. They are all artists who demand and obtain the highest price in the profession. They will give a recital which no lover of music can afford to lose. Miss How's voice is a rich contralto, and those who heard her in Salem in the last Oratorio Concert there, will desire to hear her again in a more popular concert. To have heard Babcock once is to desire to hear him again. Some of his songs are given in a wonderful manner; and Mme. Kellogg is too well known to need any mention. The expense attending the affair is such that every seat should be taken, and we hope our musical people will make it a point to encourage such a first class concert. They sing in Gloucester, Taunton, Fall River, and other large cities the same week. The tickets are at the low price of 50 and 35 cents, including reserved seats, and are now on sale at Spaulding's drug store.

The Philomela ladies' quartette have been meeting with wonderful success everywhere this year. It is their second season; and at every appearance they are booked for a return. They are all refined and charming young ladies; sing music adapted to all tastes, and without assistance give a very pleasurable entertainment. They appeared in Danvers last week, and the Mirror says of them: "The ladies were richly dressed in cream satin, and made a fine appearance on the stage. Their voices blended perfectly and their exercises were received with great favor. Legends, Lady Bird, Ye spotted Snakes, and Sigh no more, Ladies, were given by the quartette, and for encores, We'd better bide a wee, Swanee River, and others. Miss Peakes sang Tender and True, and Miss Baldwin "Belraggio," Coming through the Rye and Good Bye. The Swallow was a duet by Miss Wheeler and Mrs. Mitchell, and also Beware. The applause was liberal and hearty. Miss Baldwin and Miss Wheeler played the accompaniments for solos and duets. The general praise bestowed upon the efforts of these ladies on this occasion warrants the prediction that this entertainment will not be the last they will have an opportunity of giving in Danvers." There is a possibility of their appearance in Peabody some time later in the season. We certainly hope such arrangements can be made.

The Christmas music at the Barton Square Church, Salem, was repeated last Sabbath by desire. Miss Hayden, the contralto, had taken a severe cold, so that she was unable to sing her solo, a fact which was regretted by many of the congregation, as it was her last Sunday with the choir. Miss Hayden has a good contralto voice, and is a pupil of Mrs. Edna A. Hall. It is understood that Miss Emma Rice will sing at this church next Sabbath.

We learn that the Crittendon Concert Co. consisting of Misses Clark and Barrelle, of Lynn, Mr. Littlefield, of Taunton, and H. Grahame Wheeler, of this town, will give an entertainment at the Danvers Hospital, Jan 8th.

To-morrow evening is the second of the entertainments of the Salem Cadet Band, when Prof. Kelly's Art Tableaux will be presented, with an entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings, etc. This company appeared in Hood's course in Lynn, and gave excellent satisfaction. From what we can learn we should judge it would be one of the best entertainments in the course. A few single seats can be obtained at Luscomb's drug store.

Italian opera at popular prices—the best seats being offered at $2—is the lyric event at Boston. Mr. Mapleson's company includes Minnie Hauk, who will be welcomed very cordially as Carmen and Manon, Alma Fohstrom, a young Russian, who will sing Zerlina in "Fra Diavolo" and as Maritina in Wallace's opera. Miss Lillian Norton's friends will have the opportunity of seeing her in the leading role of "La Traviata." Among the other artists are Mme. Lablache, the contralto; the well known Dotti; Malvina Cavalazzi, the charming dancer; Ravelli, the brilliant French tenor; Giannini, who is assured a warm welcome; large chorus and augumented orchestra under the baton of the veteran Arditi. "Carmen" opening the season with Hauk and Del Puente in their familiar roles is to be repeated at the matinee on Saturday, "Maritana" on Thursday and "La Traviata" on Friday. A grand concert next Sunday night is also announced. The season is only for two weeks.

Mme. Nordica (Lillian Norton) and mother have arrived from New York and are at the Hotel Vendome. She has brought with her some elegant costumes direct from Paris, which she is to wear in "La Traviata."

People who thought "The Mikado" couldn't prove as successful as "Iolanthe," have learned better as they have followed the successful course of the Japanese opera at the new Hollis Street Theatre. The new members of the cast have now become so familiar with their roles and with the "business" of the production, that the opera goes most smoothly and briskly. Notwithstanding the great number of nightly encores, the performance closes at a very reasonable hour.

The Musical Record is bright and interesting in its reading for January. The music includes "Unless I Change My Mind," by Fred T. Baker, and "The Hymn of Nuns," andante for the organ, by Lefebvre Wely.

Mr. D. M. Babcock has been the basso of the Salem Oratorio Society for many years, and he has been engaged again for the coming Oratorio of St. Paul to be given the latter part of the month. He is to sing in the song recital at the Peabody Institute next Monday evening.

The Salem Oratorio Society have decided upon Wednesday evening, Feb. 3, as the date of the performance of the Oratorio of St. Paul. Mr. Babcock has been engaged, and Mr. Abercrombie, recently from England, will sing the tenor role.

We note that Signor Battalia, of Boston, late of Her Majesty's Opera Co., practical piano tuner, who is in Lynn every day, is prepared to attend to the pianos of the citizens in Peabody. He has been coming daily to Lynn for the past year, and from an entire stranger he has become the leading tuner there. He tunes by the Italian method, and has the best references from the leading artists and piano makers in the country. Orders can be left with Mrs. S. S. Gilson and will receive prompt attention.

The next of the series of private musicales will be given by Miss Nellie Merrill, on Washington street, about the middle of this month.

SPARKS.

The loss by the fire in the house of John Sullivan on Harris street, Dec. 28th, has been adjusted by O. B. Chadwick & Co., for $15. Insured in the Phoenix of Brooklyn.

Last Friday afternoon, while the steamers were being changed from one side of the engine house to the other, Steamer 2. being on duty, "Jack," the fire dog, owned by George W. Pepper, tried to crowd by Steamer 2 as it was being hauled through the door, and got one of his toes badly jammed by one of the wheels. He was in great pain for a little while and is still quite lame.

Steamer 2 is on duty for this month.

The Board of Engineers will hold their regular monthly meeting this evening.

Hose Company No. 5 will hold another dance at their hall, Friday evening.

Eagle Hose Company No. 1, have hired the skating rink for Wednesday evening, Jan 13, and will hold a social party with skating from 7.45 till 9.15 o'clock. This will be followed with a game of polo between the North End Boat Club of Salem and the Bay View Boat Club of Marblehead. The most number of goals in thirty minutes for a prize of $25 will be the contest. Dancing will follow the polo game till 12 o'clock. Music by the Rink Band and horse cars to Salem and Marblehead at the close.

An extra pair of horses have been obtained by the Board of Engineers, from Robert P. Brown in South Peabody, and will be kept during the winter to run on the steamers. Z

Young mother (displaying the baby—"Isn't she a dear little thing, Mr. Podsnap?" Podsnap (father of a large family) "Yes, they're very expensiv . I've got six of 'em."

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning.

W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.

Open Every Evening.

L. B. S.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society at the Unitarian Chapel, Thursday, Jan. 14th, afternoon and evening. Supper at 6.30 o'clock

C. P. LUMMUS, Sec.

New Advertisements.

POTATOES.

We have a large lot of nice Ipswich potatoes which we are offering our customers as being a prime article.

— also —

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

JAS. HOWLEY,
TAILOR.

Would respectfully invite the public to call and examine his large and well selected stock of

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC WOOLENS

In the latest styles, which he is now offering at very low prices.

314 different styles in

PANTALOON GOODS

to select from. From $5 to 10.00. Garments made and trimmed in first class style. Perfect fit guaranteed.

JAS. HOWLEY. TAILOR,

MAIN STREET.

OVER WARREN TRASK'S STORE.

SIG. BATTALIA,
FROM BOSTON,
PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms,
40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER
AND BLANK BOOK
MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of DANIEL C. GOODWIN, late of Peabody, in said County, currier, deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Levi Spaulding, the administrator of the estate of said deceased has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first Monday of February next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of January, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 6—3t

REPORT

Of the condition of the SOUTH DANVERS NATIONAL BANK, at Peabody, in the State of Massachusetts, at the close of business, Dec. 24 1885:

RESOURCES.
Loans and Discounts,	$250,097.55
Overdrafts,	1,131.33
U. S. Bonds to secure Circulation,	150,000.00
Due from approved reserve agents,	4,421.09
Due from other National Banks,	159.01
Real estate, furniture and fixtures,	3,000.00
Current expenses and taxes paid,	466.66
Premiums paid,	6,975 00
Checks and other cash items,	2,862.99
Bills of other Banks,	5,552.00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and pennies,	80.00
Specie,	6,657.81
Legal-tender notes,	3,500.00
Redemption Fund with U. S. Treasurer, (5 per cent of circulation,)	6,750.00
Total,	$441,673.24
LIABILITIES.
Capital stock paid in,	$150,000.00
Surplus fund,	75,000.00
Undivided profits,	7,910.78
National Bank notes outstanding,	132,820.00
Dividends unpaid,	1,060.00
Individual deposits subject to check,	71,739.11
Due to other National Banks,	3,143 35
Total,	$441,673.24

STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS, } ss.
COUNTY OF ESSEX,

I, G. M. FOSTER, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true, to the best of my knowledge and belief. G. M. FOSTER Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 1st day of Jan., 1886.

GEORGE HOLMAN.
Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:

W. P. CLARK,
EDGAR W. UPTON, } Directors.
HORACE BUSHBY.

Peabody, Jan. 6, 1886.

I am selling out my large stock of

PIANOS & ORGANS

and offer real bargains in these instruments till

JAN. 1, 1886.

Call and see them.

E. V. EMILIO,

287 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

WANTED

Room and Board for a gentleman and child about four years of age. Address.

BOX 18,
Peabody P. O.

SONG RECITAL.

— A song recital will be given by —

MME. FANNY KELLOGG,
MISS MARY H. HOW,
— AND —
MR. D. B. BABCOCK,

Assisted by

Leon Keach, Accomp.,

— IN THE —

Peabody Institute,

MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 11, 1886.

The established versatility of these artists enables them to present a programme of unusual interest, which will consist of

ORATORIO SELECTIONS,
GERMAN & FRENCH SONGS, AND POPULAR ENGLISH BALLADS,

Including many fine duets and trios for Soprano, Contralto and Basso.

Tickets, with reserved seats, will be for sale at the store of Hazen A. Spaulding, TUESDAY MORNING, JAN. 5th, at 9 A. M.

TICKETS, 50 AND 35 CENTS.

☞ Concert at eight o'clock.

Horse cars to So. Peabody, Salem and Danvers at the close.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY
AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

SAMUEL TRASK'S

BARGAIN STORE.

Full line of

HARDWARE,

Paint Stock, Builders' Material, Wooden Ware.

5 AND 10 CENT COUNTERS.

Glass ware, rubber goods, garden tools, cordage, Brooms and brushes.

Mixed Paints and colors, Oil Clothing, Common and Face Bricks, Bed Leather, Belting, Sole Leather, Bird Cages.

Children's Carts, Wagons and Toys.

Barbed Wire, Seed, Fertilizer, etc., etc.

SAMUEL TRASK,

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

WARREN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank for the election of new members and a board of Officers for the ensuing year, also for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting, will be held at the Bank rooms on Wednesday, January 27th, 1886, at 7.30 o'clock P. M.

A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.

Peabody, Dec. 30, 1885.

WANTED,

A first class Lime Skiver. Apply to

W. G. WARREN & SONS,
Holden, Mass.

dec 30—2t

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Jan, 6, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

At a Regular meeting of the Peabody Woman Suffrage Club, held at their room on Monday evening, Jan. 4th, 1886, the following resolutions received a unanimous vote:

Whereas, By the thoughtfulness and generosity of the late Perley King, who was a member of the Peabody Woman Suffrage Club from its beginning, the depleted treasury of our Club has been replenished by the liberal sum of Five Hundred Dollars, in accordance with a bequest of Mr. King's will, therefore, be it resolved:

That we, as a Club, desire to bear public testimony to our appreciation of the liberality of our donor, and to remind our fellow citizens that this, his final act of reform was but in keeping with the tenor of his whole life. It was always sufficient for Perley King, that the cause was just and meritorious, and he waited not for it to become strong or popular. A pioneer in the great reforms of the century, he lived to see fruition of many of his hopes and labors, and his legacy will help continue his good works, after he has gone.

Resolved, That the Club return thanks to the executors of Mr. King's will, for their prompt and friendly compliance with its terms as relating to this bequest.

Resolved, That these Resolutions be published in the PEABODY PRESS; and that a copy be sent to the executors of the will.

Rev. Annie H. Shaw addressed the meeting, speaking very ably on the subject of Woman Suffrage. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of the old board. President, Mrs. M. O. Stevens; Vice Presidents, Frank E. Farnham, Miss M. J. Floyd; Secretary, Mrs. George B. Miller; Treasurer, Mrs. M. Cutler; Executive Committee, Mrs. C. S. Osborne, Mrs. M. Moore and Mr. J. Y. Bergen, Jr.

The West Peabody Farmers' Club discussed the labor question at their meeting last Friday. Rev. W. Spaulding denounced the present management of the government as to its relations to the laboring men; he wanted to see the legislative halls of the country filled with laboring man, and until that is done the government will be run in the interests of capital. He denounced the banking system and the protective tariff; wanted an honest dollar, and an improvement in the condition of the laboring man. Mr. J. S. Needham said that unless a man was born in good circumstances, what he got in this world was got by work. He must carve his own fortune, and the speaker claimed that was the only proper way, and said that most of the rich and great men have worked their way up from the laboring class, had been poor laboring men, and had carved their fortune by persistent toil. Mr. Wm. P. Upham said he could not agree with Rev. Mr. Spaulding in all he said. He thought the present organizing of the laboring men would help them provided they used discretion in their management, and he hoped that their condition could be improved. Mr. J. G. Walcott and Mr. J. F. Ingraham followed.

The Wakefield Bulletin tells the story about a provoking joke that was played on a literary club of Lynnfield Center, composed of young ladies and gentlemen, last Tuesday night. They received a letter supposed to have been sent by the West Peabody Farmers Club to visit them that evening in a certain hall. The members were all pleased and hired barges to convey them to West Peabody, but when they arrived the hall was closed, and they were, to say the least, disappointed. They went to the president's house, who informed them that it must have been a hoax, but he invited them in and a pleasant and profitable evening was passed. The letter is supposed to have been written by a young gentleman of that place who is of a fun loving disposition.

A correspondent of the Lynn Transcript, signing himself "Peabody" talks thus. Hear him. "The President of the Revere Beach Railroad, with his usual business sagacity, is contemplating a narrow guage railroad to Peabody, simply because the time has come when it will pay. This is no fault of the Lynn and Peabody horse railroad, the business has outgrown its capacity. Even now in winter on the morning and evening cars, many people are obliged to stand.. In summer the crowded condition is patent to all. Sundays the travel is largely pleasure travel, and they expect and can put up with inconveniences; but the business travel is not so easily satisfied"

Another fire occurred in the Peabody Press Office, Lowell St., Tuesday night. It was discovered by some members of the Peabody Orchestra, who with the aid of some able firemen extinguished the flames before much injury was done. Cause of fire unknown but supposed to be spontaneous combustion.—Peabody Cor. Salem Observer.

Now Arthur what a whoppers what is the use of burdening one's soul with a falsehood when the truth would be better?

An interesting account of a visit to the old homes in Danvers will be found on the third page.

Where Hours go Merrily.

The Atlantic Base Ball Association had a prize dance at Town Hall last Thursday night and it was well attended. The prizes were awarded as follows: $5 gold piece, James Cruise of Salem. Ladies' gold ring, Miss Maggie Kerwen. The Salem Cadet Band furnished the music.

A very pleasant and acceptable new years gift was presented to Mr. B. F. Woodbury on Wallis street, last Thursday night. It consisted of the neat little sum of $150 which had been collected from his friends by Officer Geo. Jones and Mr. C. E. Teague. Mr. Woodbury was completely surprised and heartily thanks his friends. We are pleased to note that Mr. Woodbury is recovering from his severe accident, although slowly, and it is hoped by spring will be able to attend to his business, although owing to the straining of the cords he will not be able to ascend a ladder for some time.

The Edgewood Club of the Baptist society gave a very pleasing entertainment at their vestry last Wednesday evening before a large audience. Tennyson's poem "Dream of fair Women" was illustrated in tableaux and was followed by a dialogue and musical and literary selections.

Archie Daly, the contortionist and high kicker, gave an exhibition at the Skating rink last Wednesday evening. Mr. Daly is by far the best contortionist that has ever visited this town and the large audience present were delighted with the exhibition. Besides doing marvelous feats he did them with so much ease that he won prolonged applause from the spectators. His high kicking was also a "great act" standing as he did and kicking a tambourine five or six feet higher than his head. We learn that he has other specialties in jumping and will give another exhibition in the near future.

The West Peabody Farmers' Club will celebrate their fifth anniversary this evening in the West Peabody Hall. Mr. S. C. T. Aborn of Lynn will give readings, and Prof. Skinner will appear in songs and stump speeches. Entertainment commences at 8 o'clock.

Go and see the Milo Brothers at the rink this evening.

The installation of the newly elected officers of Jordan Lodge F. & A. M., took place last Wednesday evening and were as announced except that C. H. Goulding having resigned as Secretary, Mr. James Rodie was elected in his stead. After the exercises of installation, Past Worshipful Master Charles E. Teague was presented with an elegant Past Master's Jewel by P. M. S. A. Southwick, in behalf of the Lodge. The officers and committees for the ensuing year are as follows:—W. M., Lawrence Purtell; S. W., Othernial Ferrin; J. W , Joseph F. Wiggin; Treasurer, Calvin Pierce; Secretary, James Rodie; Marshal, Benj. Beckett, Jr.; S. D., Albert E. Southwick; J. D., Elbridge G. Kelley; S. S., J. Arthur Trask; J. S., Merritt B. Chichester; I. S., Charles D. Hoagboom; Tyler, Albert F. Beckett. Relief Committee, John C. Jodrey, Wyman B. Richardson, Calvin Pierce. Visiting Committee, James Rodie, Albert E. Southwick, and Rev. Geo. Walker.

A new polo league is talked of and a meeting has been held looking to the formation of such a one. Manager Thomas has not yet decided to put in a polo team and will wait till a little later in the season.

The lecture in the free course last Thursday evening by Mr. Harry W. French was extremely interesting and was listened to by a large audience filling every seat in the Institute. Starting with the lecture in the beautiful city Vera Cruz, the eloquent lecturer took his audience with him to delightful scenes (shown on the canvas) among the people, along the streams and lakes, up the mountains and among the gorges and canons of Mexico, beside the volcano Popocateptl, over and through the byways leading to wonderful cathedrals of former ages and across the Colorado river and among our mountain ranges to Pike's Peak and into the Yosemite valley and close up to the bridal and Yosemite falls and across the country to Salt Lake city and many other places of interest. The audience paid the closest of attention and regretted when the lecture came to a close. The next lecture will be to-morrow evening by Major H. C. Dame on the "Great Naval Battles of the Rebellion."

Lovers of polo will be pleased to know that on Saturday evening, Jan. 9, there will be an exciting game between the well known polo teams, the New Beafords and Providence. Three of the members of the old Peabody team are members of these clubs, Murray, Felton and Phelan and Reed of last year's Salems. Give the boys a big house.

A large audience was present at the rink last Saturday night to witness the five mile race between Bright Star, a Pawnee Indian boy, and John Finn, of Salem, for a purse of $25. The contestants were well matched and the race was very exciting and each received large applause. Finn won by one lap in twenty minutes.

The officers of Holten Lodge, I. O. O. F., were installed last evening by District Deputy Grand Master William D. Dennis, of Salem, and suite. After the installation the brothers repaired to the town hall where refreshments were furnished by Bro. N. C. Patterson. The treasurer's report showed the Lodge to be in a flourishing condition. The amount received during the past six months was $687.11. There was paid for benefits $266.50. The funds of the Lodge now amount to $5,322.97. This is a remarkably good showing for a little over seven years work. The following are the officers: N. G., Geo. B. Miller; V. G., John K. Saunders; Rec. Secretary, Eben I. Kimball; Per. Secretary, George H. Manning; Treas. George F. Sanger; Warden, George A. Lawrence; Conductor, Chas. A. Weare; O. S. G., Daniel A. Goodrich; I. S. G., Charles E. Galeucia; R. S. N. G., Joseph Forness; L. S. N. G., A. E. Wells; R. S. S., F. H. C. Lord; L. S. S., Ezra Shannon; Chap., Christopher R. Steele; R. S. V. G., Albert Vittum; L. S. V. G., George D. Hill. The Trustees are James Buxton, Sylvanus L. Newhall and N. C. Patterson.

A public installation of the officers of Geo. Peabody Lodge A. O. U. W. took place last Monday night, and was followed by a supper at town hall.

John E. Dempsey, formerly of this town, has received a number of presents from the New Haven, Conn., polo club, on account of his fine playing. He is very popular with the club.

There will be an entertainment for both old and young at the Episcopal church this evening.

AN OUTRAGE BY A TRAMP.

Mrs. James Dunney is a kind hearted Irish woman living on Elm street in this town, and she has never denied food to any one who called for it. It was her custom if a tramp called, to not only furnish him with a good meal but also to ask him into the house, to eat it in her warm kitchen. This morning one of that fraternity called, and in a whining voice asked for something to eat. He was invited in and a substantial meal placed before him. Mrs. Dunney, a few minutes later, was busy about her work, when she was suddenly seized by the throat and the tramp attempted to force her to the floor, but she realizing her peril, and feeling the grasp of the villain tightening about her throat, made a desperate struggle and freed herself from him, and in a loud voice called to the occupants of another part of the house to come to her rescue, and at the same time put a safe distance between herself and the tramp. The fellow became alarmed and hastily departed. This should be a warning to others. The safest way is not to give tramps anything at all. At all events not to allow them to enter the house.

The W. C. T. U. have procured a number of temperance calendars for presentation in our town. One has been hung in the town clerk's office and others are to be placed in the principal's room of each school house. Those for the schools are to be accompanied by a letter which has been printed on card board and mounted with white ribbon. Miss Hattie M. Saunders and Mrs. M. O. Stevens were chosen a committee to make the presentation, and, had yesterday been pleasant, a team kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. H. H. Proctor, would have conveyed ladies and calendars to the schools. There is an immense amount of temperance information in this calendar and as a work of art it is pronounced superior. It required eighteen separate stones and impressions and is possibly the finest in execution of all Prang's work. Mrs. Helen R. Olin compiled the information. Mark Hopkins says of it: "It is the best thing I have seen;" Joseph Cook considers it "very judicious and instructive;" Mary A. Livermore calls it "unique" and "a thing of beauty;" and other prominent persons have given it their unqualified approval. The W. C. T. U. propose to offer prizes to our scholars for essays on subjects suggested by this calendar, which will be awarded at the close of the summer term of school and again at the close of the year.

What they say of us who know us best. We take pleasure in refering to the following from the paper issued by the ladies of the Universlist Church during their recent fair:

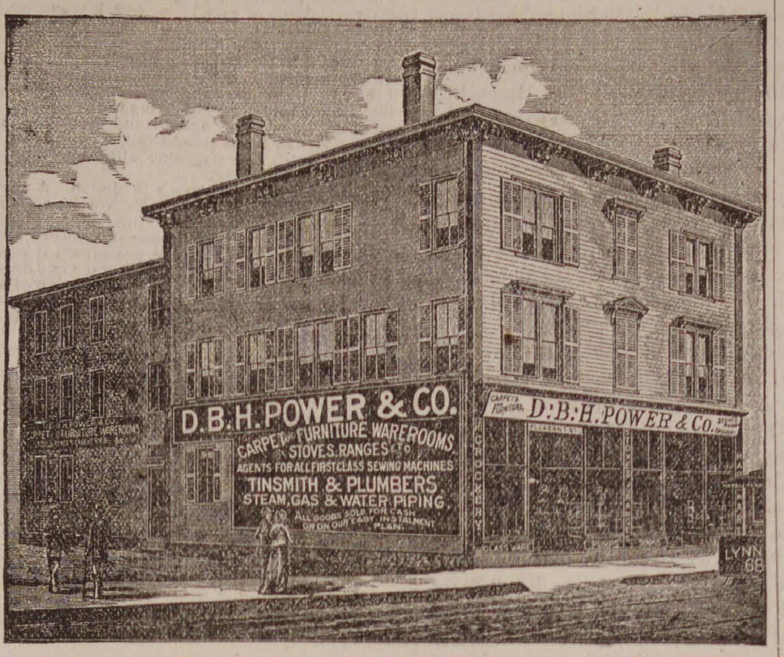
Everybody is interested in local doings. They like to read about what happened right at their doors. They want to know what is going on in their own town as well as outside. For this purpose, if for no other, the PEABODY PRESS is quite indispensable. If you attempt to keep posted on what is going on here at home you will not fail to read the calm, full and chatty accounts of passing events as served up by that enterprising sheet.

Silver Thimbles at Peabody's jewelry department.

Ladies' Hosiery in every color and quality at Peabody's.

STOVES, RANGES, FURNITURE, CARPETS, CROCKERY,

And Complete House Furnishings.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPETS FURNITURE WAREROOMS STOVES, RANGES ETC.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
ALL GOODS SOLD FOR CASH OR ON OUR EASY INSTALMENT PLAN
LYNN 68

Our store will be closed Feb. 10th, for the purpose of taking account of stock. From now until that time we shall offer to the general public

Bargains! Bargains! Bargains!

In every Department. We have just unloaded one more car load of the CELEBRATED NEW HUB & GLENWOOD RANGES & PARLOR STOVES.

Have added to our already large stock of Carpets, $10,000 worth of

TAPESTRY, BRUSSELS & WOOLEN CARPETS.

During the last month we have bought from the manufacturers over 500

CHAMBER SETS,

In Ash, Black Walnut, Cherry and Painted. Even now, after one of the most successful months in the history of our business, we find every department over crowded, not only in our Furniture and Carpet departments, but in our Crockery, Lamp and Silver Ware departments.

We must take account of stock Feb. 10th, and before that time we must lower our stock, and now is the time to take advantage of low prices..

REMEMBER. We deliver every thing we sell and warrant every thing to be delivered in as good condition as you see it in our ware rooms.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

25,000 SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR ROOM.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

Connected by Telephone No. 1674.

Originators of our special instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a wesk. We lead all and follow or copy from no one.

All REMNANTS
And short lengths
In each
Of our Departments Will Be Closed Out
Cheap on Wednesday,
Thursday
and Friday,
THIS WEEK.
Also Holiday Goods.
New Hamburgs
Open
New Year's Day.

Wm. G. Webber & Co.,
Essex & Washington Streets,
Salem.

Grand Mark Down Sale

— OF —

MENS, BOYS AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING

— AT —

Wilmot's Clothing House,

252 & 254 ESSEX STREET SALEM, MASS

J. FRANK BOYNTON, Manager.

N. B. On and after Jan. 1st, 1886, our store will be closed every evening at 6 o'clock except Monday, Friday and Saturday. On these evenings we shall keep open as usual.

W. B. GIFFORD & CO.,

GRAND MARK DOWN SALE OF GARMENTS

Now in progress. Also

ANNUAL REMNANT SALE.

SPECIAL.

One more bale of those 6x3ft. DUNDEE RUGS, positively the last this season.

W. B. Gifford & Co.

77 & 79 MARKET ST., LYNN.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

BOYS' OVERCOATS

— AT —

Great Reductions.

We find ourselves with a much larger stock of Boys' Overcoats than we desire at this season, and have consequently marked down a number of most desirable styles to close immediately.

Boys' Overcoats, double collar, $3, 3.50, 4 and 5.

Prices reduced from $5, 6 and 8, sizes 2 1-2 to 9 years, all choice patterns.

Boys' Overcoats, single breasted, $4, 5, 6, 8 and 10.

Prices reduced from $6, 8, 10, 12 and 15, sizes 10 to 17 years, the lot containing all the most popular fabrics and patterns worn this season.

BOYS' REEFERS AT SPECIAL PRICES.
BOYS' SHORT PANT SUITS.
BOYS' LONG PANT SUITS.

In Dress and School fabrics all made in the strongest manner and in the latest style our prices are undeniably low.

GENTLEMEN'S OVERCOATS.

Made from Chinchilla, Elysians, Kerseys, Cassimere, Worsteds, Meltons, and Smooth Beaver, all marked down from 15 to 50 per cent. and now selling for

$4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 15, 18 TO $20.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS.

All marked down to close.

Gentlemen's Dress and Business Suits at Special Prices.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

163, 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence.

Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

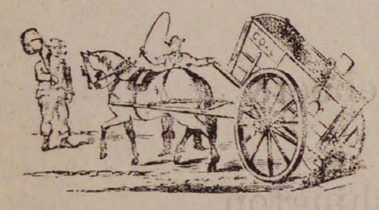
All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens. Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN



WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus P. Batchelder Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

AMES & EDGERLY.

Deales in Meats and Provisions.

We keep the Best of Meats-
Our Expenses are Light-
We sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.
TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.

(next to S. Trask's.)

PEABODY.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER,

Buckwheat Flour.

FRESH ground Pennsylvania Buck Wheat Flour
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

Happiness

results from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe. even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterpock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."

Found

At Home

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

WELCOME

TRADE MARK
TRADE MARK

TRADE MARK.

SOAP

PAYS NO FANCY PROFIT

But is an original compound, made from the PUREST STOCK, and is sold by the makers and dealers nearer the cost of production than any other Laundry Soap in the market. See that you get this Soap, and not accept any of the numerous imitations that pay the grocer more money to recommend. The word WELCOME and the Clasped Hands are on every bar.

oct 7—3m

The NEW YORK Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday)	$6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday)	50
SUNDAY, per Year . . .	1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR	7 00
WEEKLY, per Year . . .	1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

MASON & HAMLIN

ORGANS; Highest Honors at all Great World's Exhibitions for eighteen years. One hundred styles, $22. to $900. For Cash, Easy Payments, or Rented Catalogues free.

Mason & Hamlin.

PIANOS; New mode of Stringing. Do not require one-quarter as much tuning as Pianos on the prevailing "wrest-pin" system. Remarkable for purity of tone and durability.

Organ and Piano Co.

154 Tremont Street, Boston.

sept 23—6t]

A DOG WHICH HANKERED.

Recently, on a forenoon a farmer, whose wagon needed some repairs, stopped at a blacksmith's shop on one of the avenues. He had with him a dog almost as big as a yearling calf, and when the wagon was run into the shop the dog was tied to a post near the door. By and by quite a little crowd gathered to comment on his size and appearance, and along came an under-sized, common-looking cur and sat down about ten feet away. It was then the big dog swelled up and sent forth thunderous growls and howls. He scratched the earth. He demanded blood. He tugged at his chain with the strength of an ox.

"Don't anyone let that 'ere dog loose!" cautioned the farmer, as he came from the back end of the shop.

"S'posen we did?" queried one of the boys.

"Then he'd lessen the number of dogs in this village by fifty!"

The farmer went away, and the big dog continued to tug and strain to get at the little dog. The latter didn't scare worth a cent. He sat there as if he meant to stay to dinner. Everybody was wishing that the big dog would get loose, when along came a man who stopped and asked:

"What's the trouble?"

"That big dog wants to get free."

"Oh, he does? Well, I'll help him to."

He walked up to the post and cut the rope, and the next instant the big dog and the little dog were so mixed up that one could hardly separate them.

But this lasted only a minute. All at once the big dog broke for the sidewalk and up the street, and the little dog hung to his hind leg for at least a hundred feet. The farmer came out to see his Jumbo legging it for the country, while the little dog sat down on the curbstone watching his flight, and he turned to the yelling crowd and exclaimed:

"What are you fools laffin' at? Didn't I tell you my dog wouldn't be mean enough to fight anything less'n a panther?"

ADJOURNED THE COURT.

A man who was summoned to serve on a jury began to make excuses, when the judge, interrupting him, said:

"Never mind all that. You should know, sir, that it is your duty to serve your country. The fact that your business is likely to suffer is no excuse. Such men are summoned every day.

"Hold on, Judge, you ain't heard all my excuse yet."

"I don't want to hear it."

"But you must."

"I tell you that I will not. Mr. Sheriff—"

"Jest a minit, Jedge, an' then ef you say I must sarve, why, I'll sarve. Me an' a lot o' fellers was playin' poker when the officer—"

"Poker!" exclaimed the judge. "Why, dear fellow, where's the game? I'll jine you. Mr. Sheriff, adjourn the court."

DOES FOR UNDERSTAND CORNERS.

Minister (to deacon of the church)—"I want to refer to a matter, my dear deacon, that has been preying on my mind for some time. I am sure you will overlook any apparent meddling in your affairs, knowing that I only speak for your own good."

Deacon (cordially)—"Certainly, my dear sir, speak your mind freely."

Minister—"I understand you have been speculating a good deal of late. Now, aside from the danger of such a business and the consequent misery it may entail upon your family, do you consider it just the proper thing for a deacon of the—"

Deacon—"Yes. I admit that I have speculated some. I cleared five thousand dollars only yesterday on a wheat transaction."

Minister (astounded)—"No, is that so? What's wheat worth to-day?"

HE WAS A BUSINESS MAN.

It was at a railway junction in Illinois. Several passengers were waiting for the train, and one of them was so nervous and impatient that a fellow-traveler finally said:

"You seem to be very anxious to reach home."

"So I am. Every hour is worth ten dollars to me. I got a dispatch at Pekin that fifty-one of my hogs have shown the first symptoms of cholera."

"And you are in a hurry to administer a remedy of course?"

"A remedy? No, sir; I don't fool away my time and money on remedies. I want to get them hogs into Chicago and sold before sundown to-morrow, and it's going to be a mighty close shave."

LACK OF BRILLIANCY.

"Bromley, you never heard such an eloquent sermon before, I am sure. There was no lagging of interest. Such brilliant passages—"

"Yes, Darringer, I admit that. Still, I slept during one of the passages.

"You did eh? Why, Bromley, what passage was it?"

"The passage of the collection basket."

The oyster men are importing a good many bivalves in the shell just now.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

A POPULAR MONTHLY OF GENERAL LITERATURE.

With the issue for January, 1886, important changes will be made in the literary character and typographical appearance of Lippincott's Magazine, which, while more than maintaining the former standards of excellence, will, it is expected materially increase its popularity and widen its sphere of usefulness. The distinctive features of Lippincott's for the coming year will be as follows

It will be a live periodical, interesting itself in all the current topics of the day, literary, artistic, political, and social, and enlisting in their discussion the ablest pens in England and America. A fair hearing will be accorded to all sides of a controversy, though the magazine will strictly preserve its own neutrality.

It will be especially strong in fiction. A new novel, entitled "Hope," by W. E. Norris, author of "Matrimony," "No New Thing," etc., who is perhaps the cleverest of the rising authors of England, will run through the year, accompanied by a brilliant serial, dealing with the literary and dramatic life of New York City, from the pen of a writer who prefers to keep his name a secret, but whose every touch reveals an intimate acquaintance with the scenes which he describes.

It will be rich in short stories, poems and sketches.

By special arrangement it will be the authorized medium through which the latest utterances of the most eminent transatlantic writers will reach the American public simultaneously with their appearance abroad.

It will number among its American contributors such writers as Gail Hamilton, Julian Hawthorne, Harriet Prescott Spofford, John Bach McMaster "J. S. of Dale," J. Brander Matthews, etc.

It will be the cheapest first-class magazine issued in America. Recognizing the needs of the time for good literature at moderate prices, the publishers have decided to lower the subscription price, commencing with the new volume, to a sum that will place Lippincott's Magazine within the reach of all.

For sale by all Newsdealers, 25 cents per copy. $2 per annum.

A specimen copy sent free on application.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Publishers,
715 and 717 Market St., Philadelphia.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY

FOR 1886

Will contain serial stories by

CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,

Author of "The Prophet of the Great Smoky Mountains," "In the Tennessee Mountains," etc.

HENRY JAMES

"The Princess Casamassima" will continue until August, 1886.

WILLIAM H. BISHOP,

Author of "The House of a Merchant Prince."

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL

Will write for the The Atlantic Monthly for 1886.

JOHN FISKE

Will contribute papers on United States History.

PHILIP GILBERT HAMERTON

Will furnish a series of articles comparing French and English people, character, opinions, customs, etc.

THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH

Will contribute some Short Stories.

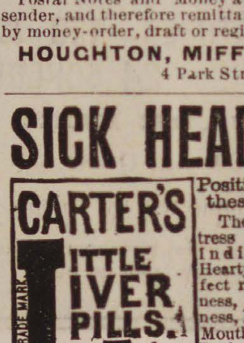
TERMS: $4 a year, in advance, postage free; 35 cents a number. With superb life-size portraits of Hawthorne, Emerson, Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier, Lowell, or Holmes, $5; each additional portrait, $1.

☞ The November and December number of the Atlantic will be sent free of charge to new subscribers whose subscriptions are received before December 20th.

Postal Notes and Money are at the risk of the sender, and therefore remittances should be made by money-order, draft or registered letter to

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO.,
4 Park Street, Boston, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE



Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York.
Sold by all Druggists.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

CATARRH

ELY'S
CREAM BALM
CATARRH
CURES
COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BRO'S
OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A.
TRADE MARK
EASY TO USE

ELY'S Cream Balm. Cleanses the Head. Allays Inflamations Heals the Sores. Restores the Senses of Taste, Smell, Hearing. A quick Relief. A positive Cure.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular, ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego. N. Y.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Stockholders of The Warren National Bank of Peabody, Mass., are hereby notified that their annual meeting will be held at their Banking room, TUESDAY, January 12, 1886, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the choice of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

FRANK C. MERRILL, Cashier.

Dec. 9, 1885.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,	Geo. F. Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Amos Merrill,
Chas. B. Farley,	John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,	Alex. B. Merrill,
Stephen Blaney,	C. Warren Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Geo. S. Osborne,
Chas. B. Farley,	Nathl. Symonds.
Geo. F. Osborne,	Aaron F. Clark,
Amos Merrill,	Albert A. Messer,
John A. Lord,	John Pinder,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Wm. P. Clark.
Wm. H. Little,	Reuben G. Nelson,
Aaron W. Warren,	Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,
Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.
Rufus H. Brown.

Lewis Allen,	Alex. B. Merrill
C. Warren Osborne.	Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

CANDEE.

Rubber BOOTS

— WITH —

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give

DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the

PRICE NO HIGHER.

Call and examine the goods.

"CANDEE" RUBBER BOOTS GIVE DOUBLE WEAR ON THE BOTTOM.
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS.
TWO YEARS TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY INSTITUTE.

COURSE OF LECTURES.

AS ARRANGED FOR 1885-1886

Dec. 31. HARRY W. FRENCH. Subject—"St. Lawrence and the North."

Jan. 7. MAJOR H. C. DAME. Subject "The Great Naval Battles of the Rebellion."

Jan. 14. HENRY W. RAGAN. Subject—"Venice, Milan, and the Italian Lakes."

Jan. 21. Prof. JAS. F. BABCOCK. Subject—"A Basket of Charcoal."

Jan. 28. HON. GEO. R. WENDLING. Subject—"Hamlet and his Interpreters."

Feb. 4. DR. JAMES HEDLEY. Subject—"The Sunny Side of Life."

Boys and girls under fifteen years of age, unless members of the High School, will not be admitted.

None but ladies, or ladies attended by gentlemen will be admitted to the gallery.

Doors open at 7. Lectures commence a 7.30

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

HALE'S BLOCK.

223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton. Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few General Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich, Ct.

nov24 —12t

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody		at	9 47 A. M
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin. F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 9 11 A M. over the Wakefield Branch R. R.

Leaves B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

All business entrusted to my care will be safely and carefully attended to. Daily and weekly papers supplied.

Order Slates:—At B. F. Stevens', Bushby's, Batchelder's, B. B. Humphrey's, E. S. Howard's, and Nugent Bros. stores.

JAMES F. FOYE.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice. for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

SOUTH DANVERS NATIONAL BANK.

The stock holders of this Bank are hereby notified that their annual meeting for the election of Directors and the transaction of such business as may legally come before them, will be held at their Bank Room, on Tuesday, January 12, 1886, at 8.30 o'clock. A. M.

G. M. FOSTER, Cashier.

Peabody, Dec. 2, 1885.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE LOANS,

Principal and interest guaranteed by the

LOMBARD INVESTMENT COMPANY.

For sale by

FRANK C. MERRILL,

At Warren National Bank.

oct 21—3m

Ground Oats.

We are receiving from the West, Ground Oats. A superior feed for Milch Cows—which we are selling at a very low price.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM!

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDENCE, 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Paltry Place. Lynn, Mass. apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO., 152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid.

Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given.

Knickerbocker Subscription Agency.

P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.
b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chicago,

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and we will mail you free a royal, valuable, sample box of good that will put you in the way of making more money at once, than anything else in America. Both sexes of all ages can live at home and work in spare time, or all the time. Capital not required. We will start you. Immense pay sure for those who start at once. STINSON & CO., Portland Maine

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in aying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL

READ ABOUT

"All the wonderful and miraculous cures."
"The unrivalled and peerless medicines."
And note the following:—

DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL has made the following cures, proof of which the proprietors can furnish on application.

Toothache.....in	5	Minutes
Earache........ "	2	"
Backache..... "	2	Hours
Lameness..... "	2	Days
Coughs........ "	20	Minutes
Hoarseness... "	1	Hour
Colds.... ...... "	24	Hours
Sore Throat.. "	12	"
Deafness .... .. "	2	Days
Pain of Burn.. "	5	Minutes
Pain of Scald. "	5	"

Croup it will ease in 5 minutes, and positively cure any case when used at the outset.

Remember that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is only 50 cents per bottle, and one bottle will go farther than half a dozen of an ordinary medicine.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15,000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anaesthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anaesthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. F. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL, OPP. CITY HALL, LYNN.

Important Notice!

Look out for your sample bottle of Lubin's Balsam of Tolu and Wild Cherry.

IT CONTAINS NO POISON!

Our agent is authorized to place a trial bottle of this Cough medicine in every family in Peabody.

If for any reason you should be overlooked and not receive a sample bottle, call at 226 Essex St., when you are in Salem, and it will be cheerfully furnished you.

This valuable medicine has been thoroughly tried in this vicinity with the best results.

For sale by all druggists in Peabody.

Made only by
C. H. & J. PRICE,
SALEM.

M. B. WILSON,
262 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

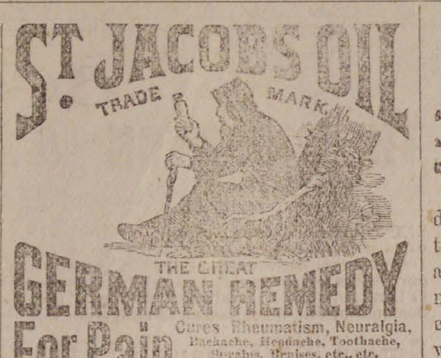
Now Opening Fall and Winter Millinery in all the latest Designs. A large assortment of

TRIMMED BONNETS
AND ROUND HATS,

to which we invite your attention. No special opening day, all are cordially invited.

Also agent for the celebrated Tucker Bustle.

M. B. WILSON.
oct 14—3m



Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR
TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE
Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.
SAFE.
SURE.
PROMPT.
25 Cts.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,
(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)
FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS.
NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY
Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

D. P. GROSVENOR.
PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.
Compounder of Physicians Presciptions
and dealer in
RELIABLE DRUGS.
35 MAIN STREET.
PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER
7 LOWELL STREET,
UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S
DRUG STORE
NO, 37 MAIN STREET,
PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand
Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.
—AT—
WARD'S GREENHOUSES,
Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

CLOTHING
—ON—
WEEKLY PAYMENTS!
We sell Ladies' and Gents'
Clothing, Dry Goods,
And all kinds of Merchandise on
WEEKLY PAYMENTS
—AT—
STRICTLY CASH PRICES.
Business Strictly Confidential.
NEW ENGLAND SUPPLY CO.,
86 Court cor. Howard St Room 1.
BOSTON, MASS
oct 28—3m

REMOVED TO
No. 241 Essex St.,
PRICE BLOCK,
DANIEL T. SMITH,
Watchmaker.

THE KEY OF DEATH.

In the collection of curiosities preserved in the arsenal of Venice, there is a key of which the following singular tradition is related :—

"About the year 1600 one of those dangerous men, in whom extraordinary talent is only the fearful source of crime and wickedness beyond that of ordinary men, came to establish himself as a merchant or trader in Venice. The stranger whose name was Tebaldo, became enamored of the daughter of an ancient house, already affianced to another. He demanded her hand in marriage, and was, of course, rejected. Enraged at this, he studied how to be revenged. Profoundly skilled in the mechanical arts, he allowed himself no rest until he had invented the most formidable weapon which could be imagined. This was a key of large size, the handle of which was so constructed that it could be turned round with little difficulty ; when turned it discovered a spring, which, on pressure, launched from the other end a needle or lancet of such subtle fineness that it entered into the flesh and buried itself there without leaving external trace. Tebaldo waited in disguise at the door of the church in which the maiden whom he loved was about to receive the nuptial benediction. The assassin sent the slender steel unperceived into the breast of the bridegroom. The wounded man had no suspicion of injury, but seized with a sudden and sharp pain in the midst of the ceremony he fainted, and was carried to his house, amid the lamentations of the bridal party. Vain was all the skill of the physicians, who could not devise the cause of this strange illness ; and in a few days he died. Tebaldo again demanded the hand of the maiden from her parents, and received a second refusal. They, too, perished miserably in a few days. The alarm which these deaths—which appeared almost miraculous—occasioned, excited the utmost vigilence of the magistrates ; and when, on close examination of the bodies, the small instrument was found in the gangrened flesh, terror was universal ; every one feared for his own life. The maiden thus cruelly orphaned had passed the first months of her mourning in a convent, when Tebaldo, hoping to bend her to his will, entreated to speak with her at the grate. The face of the foreigner had been ever displeasing to her, but since the death of all those most dear to her it had become odious (as though she had a presumption of his guilt), and her reply was most decisive in the negative. Tebaldo, beyond himself with rage, attempted to wound her through the grate, and succeeded ; the obscurity of the place prevented his movement being observed. On her return to her room the maiden felt a pain in her breast, and uncovering it, she found it spotted with a single drop of blood. The pain increased ; the surgeons who hastened to her assistance—taught by the past—wasted no time in conjecture, but, cutting deep into the wounded part, extracted the needle before any mortal mischief had commenced, and saved the life of the lady. The State inquisition used every means to discover the hand who dealt these insidious and irresistible blows. The visit of Tebaldo to the convent caused suspicion to fall heavily upon him. The house was carefully searched, the infamous invention discovered, and he perished on the gibbet.

* * *

FRIED CHICKEN prepared in the south German fashion and called in the dialect "Back Haehnerl" is relished by connoisseurs. After cleansing a young chicken, hold it for a minute in very hot water, and then the same time in cold water. Cut it down the back with a sharp knife and remove the back-bone ; then cut each piece in half. Sprinkle the quarters with a little fine salt, roll them in flour, dip them in well-beaten egg, and then roll them in bread crumbs, with which may be mixed grated parmesan cheese, if liked. Fry immediately in plenty of warm butter or dripping until a delicate brown. Move the pan gently during the process, which requires about four minutes, so that there be no danger of burning. Lay the fried pieces on some slices of bread to absorb any fat. Fry some parsley in butter a light yellow. Serve the chicken on a warm dish, placing the pieces so that are higher toward the centre ; sprinkle the fried parsley with a little salt and arrange it around the pieces of chicken, and place a nice bunch of parsley on the centre of the dish.

MURDER THAT WILL NOT OUT.

Small, venomous serpents of Oriental countries have always been in vogue as a means of suicide, the asp of Cleopatra recurring to every one's memory as a prominent example. In certain parts of Bengal there is said to be a race of gypsies, one of whom, for a fee, will furnish a small cobra to any applicant, "and no questions asked." A man who desires to commit murder procures one of these reptiles and places it within a bamboo just long enough to let the head protrude at one end and the tail at the other. Armed with this deadly weapon the murderer creeps softly to his enemy's tent at dead of night, cuts a hole in the wall and introduces the bamboo. The tortured reptile, careless upon whom it wreaks its animosity, strikes its fangs into the sleeper. Then it is withdrawn and the assassin steals silently away.

* * *

Charles I., of England, is very fond of spaniels, and the breed of his dog is still famous in this country.

Book Notices.

Some fifty years ago, the New England Magazine filled an important place in the vision of literature-loving New Englanders. Just why the publication of this promising periodical ceased, we are not informed. Under happier and more promising auspices, there now appears a new magazine with the old and honored name. It comes to us as the successor—or rather an enlargement of the Bay State Monthly. The New England Magazine enters the enlarged field with a display of resources and an outline of plans which seem to justify the expectation that it has before it a successful future, and will worthily bear its historic name. The number before us presents a most attractive appearance, within and without. Upon its handsomely designed covers are engraved the seals of each of the New England States, and its pages are profusely illustrated with engravings of unusual merit, the frontispiece being a superb line engraving, on steel, of Chief Justice Waite. A description of "A Summer Day Outing" on the part of Daniel Webster, by John K. Rogers; an excellent article, descriptive of Attleboro, Mass., by C. M. Barrows; a graphic presentation of Social Life in Early New England, by Rev. Anson Titus; a discussion of the Life Insurance problem, by G. A. Litchfield; and ably edited departments, including History, Necrology, Literature, Notes and Queries, etc. $3.00 a year. Single numbers 25 cents. Bay State Monthly Company, 43 Milk street, Boston, Publishers.

We are in receipt of a charming calendar issued by C. I. Hood & Co., the popular druggists of Lowell, and the well known proprietor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, one of the leading remedies in the country to-day. Any of our readers who desire a copy of this beautiful calendar can procure one by sending six cents to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., or or two of them for ten cents.

The January number of Lippincott's Monthly Magazine appears in an entirely new dress. A handsome cover has been designed for it by Mr. George Fletcher Babb, whose white parchment-like surface, printed red and black, presents a very attractive appearance. One of the most noticeable articles is contributed by Gail Hamilton, who criticises Civil Service Reform with her usual wit, vigor and pungency. It is announced that an answer from the pen of Hon. Dorman B. Eaton will appear in February. Two clever serials are begun, A Bachelor's Blunder, by W. E. Norris, who stands in the front rank of modern English novelists, and Taken by Siege, an anonymous novel by a writer whose every touch reveals an intimate acquaintance with New York dramatic and journalistic life. Mary Agnes Tincker contributes a weird story, entitled, Palingenesis, Brander Matthews gossips about the Future Literary Capital of the United States, and there are poems by Philip Bourke Marston, Louise Chandler Moulton, etc.

* * *

Our lady readers can hardly fail to have their attention called this week to the latest combination of improvements in that most useful of all domestic implements, the "sewing machine." As we understand it, a machine for family use should meet first of all these requirements: It should be simple in its mechanism; it should run easily; it should do a wide range of work; it should be as nearly noiseless as possible; it should be light, handsome, durable, and as cheap as is consistent with excellence throughout. These conditions the "Light-Running New Home" certainly meets. It has also several very important and useful attachments and "notions" of its own, which go far to make good its claims to popular favor. The "New Home" specially recommends itself to purchasers on account of its superior mechanical construction, ease of management, and reasonable price. Over half a million have been sold in the last three years, all of which are giving universal satisfaction. This unrivalled machine is manufactured by the New Home Sewing Machine Co., Orange, Mass., and 30 Union Square, New York.

* * *

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Letters are continually being received from all sections of the country, telling of benefits derived from this great medicine. It is unequalled for general debility, and as a blood purifier, expelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. (F)

Woman was made after man and she has been after him ever since.

Do not suffer from Sick Headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. All druggists sell them.

Master Georgie (allowed for the first time to see his two new little sisters, with a vivid recollection of the fate of the kittens) "Which will ma keep? I say that one."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cure Colds, Coughs and Consumption; an unequaled anodyne expectorant.

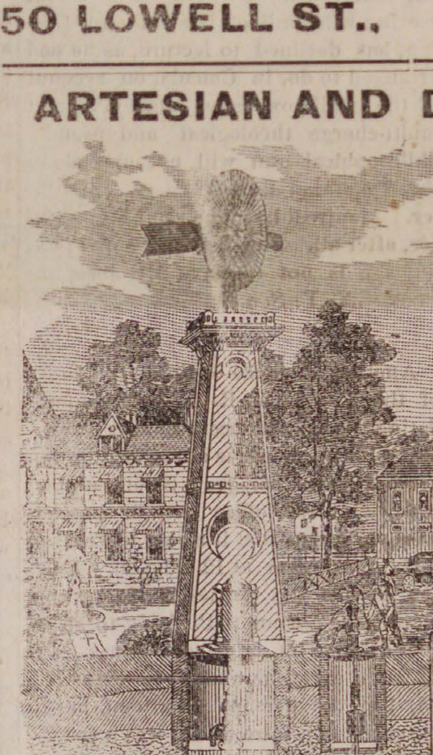
An impressive witness at the police court—"Judge, you know me. I'm an honest, full-blooded Irishman, and I'm the husband of twelve children."

People we must put up with—hotel keepers and pawnbrokers.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.
151 Hanover St., Boston.
Furniture, Carpets,
STOVES, CROCKERY, SILVER WARE.
And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.
☞ Always the Best Place to Trade
W. P. B. BROOKS, A. D. DAMON, F. D SPERRY.

TWICE A DAY
HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL
CREAM HOME MADE BREAD
Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising
Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,
Also rich Bride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.
C. F. Hathaway,
50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

ARTESIAN AND DRIVEN WELLS.



All of our
DRIVEN WELLS
for Domestic, Farm, or any other purpose well, receive prompt attention.

Thousands of these wells are being used in Tanneries, Breweries and other manufactories, where cool and better water is needed and also save water bills.

We are also prepared to DRILL WELLS
six or eight inches in diameter through earth or rock, by steam power.

B. F. SMITH,
OFFICE,
266 WASHINGTON STREET,
Room 3, Boston

Cut showing the Driven Well flowing, pumped by Hand and Wind Power. Arranged with Set-Length, (anti-freezing), for Domestic, Farm and Irrigating purposes where large amount of water is needed Steam Pumps are

AYER'S
SUGAR
CATHARTIC COATED PILLS
CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

Ayer's Pills,
PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists.

WHY Ladies and Gentlemen should wear Patent Inner Heels. They enable you to wear a smaller Boot; they make you taller and more stately; nails cannot hurt the heel or rust the hose; they make a higher instep and give a pretty shape to the foot; they are splendid; ladies admire them. Sent safely by mail everywhere. Wrap 3 ten cent pieces in separate paper, put in envelope and direct to P. I. H. Co., No. 75 Springfield St., Boston, Mass., or inclose $1 for 4 pair. They make a pretty present to lady or gentlemen friends. Send for 4 pair and be stylish and happy. Please read this once more.

AGENTS WANTED New patented household article. Four-page circulars free. L. O. ELDREDGE, 250 Cumberland St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you.
Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

WANTED—Ladies and gentlemen in city or country to take light work at their own homes. $3 to 4 a day can be easily made; work sent by mail; no canvassing. We have good demand for our work and furnish steady employment. Address, with stamp, CROWN MANUFACTURING CO., 294 Vine St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CONSUMPTION
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

7 Per Ct. WESTERN FARM MORTGAGES.
In denominations of $200 and upwards on property of three times the amount of loan. Seven per cent interest is paid promptly every year in Boston, or will be remitted. We recommend these loans as the safest possible investment, and should be pleased to answer any inquiries, and send list.
SECURITY INVESTMENT CO.
54 Devonshire Street, Boston.
1m—4t

TO LET.
From Oct. 1st, House No. 6 Holten street, Peabody, containing 13 rooms. Apply to
T. M. OSBORNE,
6 Carpenter St., Salem.
sept 23

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION.

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8, 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6.30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48, 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A. M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8, 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M. Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15, P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48 8 55, 10 05, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M. 1 09, 2 20, 2 59, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M

Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.

Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A. M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5.15 7 15† P. M

Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.

Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M , 3 52 P. M.

Wolfboro—8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.

North Conway—8 08, A M.,

Portland—8 08, 9 37 A M, 1 09, 7 15† P M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M Sunday 7 30 P. M.

Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.

Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.

St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).

Bangor 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.

Augusta 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.

Portland—2, 9 A M, 1, 6 P M. *Sundays, 2 A. M.

North Conway—7 05, A M,

Wolfboro— 8 15, A M, 2 45 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.

Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M , 4 18, P. M.

Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A M, 3 05, 5, 7 40 P M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M., 4 P. M.

Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 15, 5 15, P. M.

Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M., 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.

Essex—7, 11 45 A. M., 5 40 P. M.

Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., 12 0, 5, 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 30, 10 08 A M, 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8 A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P. M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M., 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A. M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.

Lynn—6 49, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 28, 4.52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A, M, 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10 10 45, 11 15, A. M. 2 M, 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 30, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M. 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A M, 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 40, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 10, 5 15 P. M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A M, 12 05, 43, 5 48 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A M, 12 17, 3 53, 5 58 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 38 A M, 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell 7 A M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 32 A M., 4 43, 6 02 PM.

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A M, 12 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A M, 1 5 30 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 22, P. M.

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 50, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 35, P. M.

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M. 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P. M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York.

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St, or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE.
June, 15. 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.
JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.
C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens given

1886 1886

Diaries.

One, Two and Three days to a page. All kinds, all prices, from 8 cents up.

BLANK BOOKS,

Of every description on hand and made to order.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

STATIONERS,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

The Newburyport Germ has been enlarged by adding a column to each page. The Germ is the Democratic organ of Newburyport and its editor will probably be provided for.

The Middleboro News came out with a ten page number recently and contained many choice bits of reading matter. The News is a semi-weekly, bright and sparkling.

The editor of the Salem News attempts to crush out his opponent in an argument by the use of big words, and the way Brother Arrington has scattered them around, has astonished his rural brethren, but this is easily explained when we hear he is in the habit of catching on to all the big words that he sees, learns their meaning, and pastes them up on his desk in front of him for ready reference. We have never seen him use the longest word in the English language and in order that we may assist him fraternally we give it to him as follows. “ honorificabilitudinity”. This is no chestnut, look it up.

The publication of a new weekly paper in Swampscott is announced for the first week in January. It is to be called the Swampscott Standard.

The Salem Telegram has removed from the corner of Front and Washington street to more commodious quarters in Creamer Block. A press room will be built in the spring in the rear, and until that time the press work will be done at the Observer office.

The Chelsea Telegraph and Pioneer came out with a new dress this week, and looks as handsome as a school girl. The Telegraph is one of the brightest and at the same time sauciest papers on our exchange list. It is the only paper published in the city of Chelsea, and ably fills the field. Shake, brother.

The Quincy Patriot commenced its fiftieth volume last Saturday. It is one of the staple articles that has been used regularly by the “ old folks at home” in their house keeping for many years. It has kept pace with the flourishing town in which it is published.

The Lynn Transcript has returned to its “ old time familiar folio form,” and Brother Courtis thinks he likes it better. It is a clean and interesting paper whatever its form.

The Southbridge Journal has a department called “ Womens Interests” which is edited by an accomplished daughter of Editor Whitaker named Allie E. Recently in her column she has been giving receipts for making cakes, frosting, etc. We wonder if Allie is a good practical cook and has tested all her receipts or whether she did not take them from a last year's Almanac. How is that, Miss Whitaker?

The Milford Journal expresses our sentiments when they say, “There is a broader field for the Manufacturers' Union to operate in than that of crossing swords with any labor organization, viz., to strive to bring about such a community of action the country over among manufacturers, that an end shall be made of the throat-cutting process of competition which for several years past has held almost absolute sway in the open market. Let them endeavor to so regulate prices, according to quality of work etc., as to assure the manufacturer a fair, abiding margin of profit which shall banish temptation to cut down the price of labor, and inaugurate an era of contentment and prosperity all around. This is an object for the Manufacturers' Union to strive for, worthy its best endeavors—certainly nobler and more desirable than organized union of capital against labor.”

◆

A Chicago minister condemns billiards, and in his argument against the game says Longfellow and Tennyson would never demean themselves by taking up the cue. Perhaps not, but if a poet I know of can't play billiards any better than he can write poetry, it is very wise of him to leave the cue severely alone.

Mr. John F. Morland will have charge of Batchelder & Co.'s coal office while the Colonel is in the Legislature. His duties began to-day.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Mr. William Gallagher, living on Walnut street, fell and broke one of his legs in two places last week and was taken to the Salem Hospital.

The case of Daniel Hogan against Officer Peasley, Goodwin and Viles came up in the superior court last week. Hogan claimed that there was no one in the house when the officers called, and that owing to their neglect on leaving the premises he lost a fifty-two dollar suit, a gold watch, chain, bracelet, $40 in money and numerous other articles, amounting in all to over $100. On the other hand the officers say that they saw some one run as they approached the house, and that in leaving after searching the premises they locked the outside door and took their departure through the tenement of the other occupant of the house—using every precaution. The judge has not decided the case yet.

Considerable damage was done last Thursday, by the bursting of the water main at Danversport, to a quantity of coal belonging to Batchelder & Co.

Last Friday morning Maggie Gallagher was in the police court charged with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, and by request of her counsel the case was continued till next Saturday.

Last Wednesday evening a span of horses on the Danvers street railway were taken from the Peabody stable in charge of a boy, when they started into a trot and took the track towards Danvers with whiffletree and pole. They kept the track and met the car from Danvers just before reaching Putnam's pond. Driver George Rollins saw the horses coming and reined his own horses off the track into the street, but had hardly done so before the running steeds struck his car with such force as to throw him over the fender, and the motion of the car took it partly over him before conductor Herbert Webber could get control and bring things to a halt. Mr. Rollins was considerably injured, and was taken home and a doctor called. No bones were broken and he will soon be on duty. One of the running horses struck his head against the car with such force as to crush his skull and he fell dead on the spot. The car fender was broken down and glass in the window and door shattered. A lady passenger was slightly cut in the face, which was the only injury to passengers.

Mr. F. B. Sanborn, of the firm of Sanborn, Grover & Friend, box manufacturers of Beverly, who was so seriously injured in the jaw while coming to Peabody, Thanksgiving day, on a Naumkeag car, is able to be out, but will always have occasion to remember that ride as he can only open his mouth a small space.

Mr. Charles Huntoon, living on Washington street, badly cut his thumb last Friday and was laid on the sick list in consequence.

Last Friday afternoon Geo. Bushby of this town attempted to step into his wagon in front of Porter's market on Central street, Salem, when the horse started and threw Mr. Bushby to the pavement, injuring him quite severely about the head and face. He was taken into a store where he was cared for. The horse was stopped in front of Almy, Bigelow & Washburn's.

Benjamin Getchell, fireman of the steam shovel at the Boston & Maine gravel pit, had the fingers of the right hand and the bones of the hand badly crushed in the gearing while cleaning the machinery Wednesday afternoon.

The police raided Michael Doyle on Harris street, Sunday night, and secured a quart of rum.

A man named Cummings from this town was doing some marketing in Lynn last Saturday and as he was about to return home he found that his horse was minus. He spent several hours searching for the animal and failing took a horse car for home. After leaving the square he proceeded up Central street and near Tremont he overtook the lost team, the horse having walked leisurely and no damage having been done.

Two brothers, one of whom has appeared in several fracases, had a family row on Harris street last Sunday and one of them received several bad cuts on the head from a polo stick. Both had been drinking.

The case of Elizabeth McCarthy, charged with keeping liquor with intent to sell, came up in the police court, last Saturday, and she was fined $100 and costs.

The report of Chief Peasley for December shows 21 arrests, of which 14 were for drunkenness; assault, 2; larceny, 1; malicious mischief, 1; using profane language, 1; evading car fare, 1; illegal sale of liquor, 1; number of lodgers, 84; last year, 99.

James W. Murphy escaped from the Danvers Asylum by jumping from the bakery window last Sunday, and was captured in Lynn.

Thomas Moore was up before the police court this morning and fined $1 and costs for drunkenness. He was unable to pay the fine and was sent down for thirty days.

Dr. Guilford, who is under a cloud in Lynn, came to Peabody a few years ago and opened at the hotel for one day in the week. He made arrangements to do a large amount of advertising in the local papers, but when they asked him to pay in advance he pretended to be very angry that any one should doubt his ability to pay. The result was that he concluded not to come.

The police made a raid on Elizabeth McCarthy on Hancock street, last evening. They found no liquor but saw the parties in possession spill about two quarts of rum.

Mr. Geo. W. Furbush was thrown from his carriage while in Lynn, last Friday evening, by colliding with another team, and was considerably bruised about the head.

Two young men in a buggy ran into one of the grocery wagons of S. Donnell & Son, on Washington street, last Monday evening, and were thrown out but not seriously injured.

The jury in the Goodwin murder case arrived at a verdict this morning, of murder in the second degree. This was a surprise to most people, we think, as a disagreement was looked for by those who did not think the prisoner would be found guilty of murder in the first degree. The jury were out 5 hours and 48 minutes, and it is believed that the verdict was the result of a compromise. Goodwin will be removed to the jail in Lawrence to await the sentence of the Court in April.

◆

The subtle law of compensation, which may often be vaguely traced in both the physical and the moral universe, has lately been illustrated in a really striking way in the case of the people of Montreal. That town has suffered greatly from the ravages of small-pox, and it is still suffering financially from the absence of the usual number of visitors on pleasure or business; but here observe this striking compensation for its past and its present sufferings. Josephus Cook, that roaring wild bull of Bashan and Boston, has declined to lecture, as he had arranged to do, in Canada, on account of the small-pox scare. Boston's great multi-charge theological and pseudo-philosophical gun will not explode in the Dominion during the present winter. Montreal has much to be grateful for, after all. She has had small-pox, but she is not to have Mr. Josephus Cook.—N. Y. Sun.

◆

Another instance of the unreliability of the Naumkeag R. R. in accommodating the public, occurred last Thursday night. A car is advertised to run as a Theatre car from Salem, and on inquiry at the office certain persons were informed that it would leave Peabody for Salem at 12. 20 a. m. Relying on this the parties, half of whom were ladies, came to Peabody to spend the evening at a private house. At 12.20, a car came under conductor No. 35, but the persons on attempting to enter the car, were told it was a special car, chartered by the managers of the dance in Town Hall, and also that it would not leave till the dance was over. As a result the ten ladies and gentlemen, after telephoning to the stables for another car and being refused, were obliged to walk to Salem. No wonder the town is chary in granting privileges to a corporation so careless in the public accommodation.

THE PUBLIC.

◆

“ How did the Queen of Sheba travel when she went to see Solomon?” asked Miss R— of her Sunday-school class of little girls. No one ventured an answer. “ If you had studied your lesson you could not have helped knowing,” said the teacher. “ Now look over the verses again.” “ Could she have gone by the cars?” asked Miss. R——, beginning to lose patience as the children consulted their books but appeared to arrive at no conclusion. “ Yes'm,” said a little girl at the end of the class. “ She went by steam cars ” “ Did she, indeed!” said Miss R——. “ Well, Louisa, we would like to know how you found that out.” “ In the second verse,” responded the child, “ it says she came with a very great train.”—Harpers Bazar.

A reporter who attended a banquet concludes his description with the candid statement that “ it is not distinctly remembered by any one present who made the last speech.”

◆

We learn that there will shortly be held at the Peabody Institute a grand costume concert under the management of Mr. Charles N. Barker, for the past thirty years a member of the Barker family, Old Folks Concert Co. The following well known artists will appear: Miss Grace Seavey, soprano and organist; Mrs. Sadie Wescott, contralto and reader; Mr. Charles N. Barker, baritone and violoncellist; Mr. T. H. Tanner, basso and violinist.

The Great and General Court assembled this morning. Speaker Brackett of the House and President Pillsbury of the Senate were chosen as was expected. Capt. J. G. B. Adams, of Lynn, was elected Sergeant at Arms by a majority of 15 votes.

THE SMALL BOY.—“ Are you the Orthodox minister of this parish!” asked a ragged urchin, as he struggled into a well-known clergyman's study, with a large basket on his arm.

On being assured that he was right in his presumption, the lad said:

“ I have a great curiosity here for you— three pure-blooded Orthodox kittens, good skin, fine hair and real John Calvin stock. I'm selling them for a dollar a kitten.”

After careful examination the clergyman excused himself from purchasing; he couldn't afford the dollar and he didn't need the kittens, but expressed appreciation for the opportunity of having seen them.

A week later the reverend gentleman called upon a learned Universalist divine, and had just got interested in a social chat, when a knock on the study door was heard and in walked a lad, who addressing the Universalist, said:

“ Are you the Universalist clergyman of this parish!”

“ I am, indeed,” he replied.

“ Well, boss, if you are, I've got a great curiosity for you—got three pure-blooded Universalist kittens, good skin, fine hair, from real old Hosea Ballou stock. I'm selling 'em for a dollar a kitten.”

While the reverend gentleman examined them, the Orthodox visitor quietly called the lad aside, and said:

“ Aren't you the same lad that visited my study last week with these same kittens, and then assured me that they were pure Orthodox?”

“ Right you are, boss,” said the lad; “ but they have got their eyes open since.”

◆

Herbert Spencer, the philosopher, kindly affords the following information: Incidental force falling on an aggregate containing like and unlike units segregates the like units and separates the unlike.”

The man who has let his hair grow since 1860, and never suffered the shears or comb to pass over it until after Cleveland was elected, was in the city the other day, on a visit from Stark County. He was in Washington during the inauguration, and remained there a few days. Some of the boys were questioning the old chap while he was eating his dinner.

“ They say,” said one of them, “ that Cleveland is not so particular in his eating as was President Arthur?

“ Wall, I carn't say ez to that,” replied the old veteran; “ my ' pinion is that Cleveland likes somethin' good to eat as well as anybody, but then he ain't no epicac.”

“Have you ever been sea-sick?” asked a young man of his best girl. “No, but I came mighty near it once.” “How was that?” “I saw two men kissing each other. Ugh!”

“Say, sis, what are you all dressed up for?” “I'm going to be baptized to-day.” “Are you going to take ether?”

Boston girl—“ From what you saw of Professor Barnes, then, you think he is an intellectual man?” Chicago girl—“Yes, indeed. Why his pantaloons didn't come within five inches of the floor.

HANDKERCHIEFS

IN GREAT VARIETY,

— AT —

F. D. TARLTON'S,

42 Main St., Peabody.

Marriages.

In Salem, Dec. 26, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. W. P. Ray, Mr. Andrew Johnson of Boston to Miss Louisa H., daughter of Mr. Andrew Lungren of Salem; 30th, by Rev. J. J. Gray, Mr. Patrick J. Murphy to Miss Mary A. Welch; by Rev. W. P. Odell, Mr. Albert C. Pettengill to Charlotte Newcomb.

In Boston, Dec. 31, by Rev. George A. Gordon, Mr. W. Clarence Brown to Miss Josephine Conrad, both of Peabody.

Deaths.

In Danvers, Jan. 2, Asaph Magoun, of the Danvers Hotel, about 74 yrs.

In Salem, Dec. 30, Mrs. Julia, widow of Mr. Patrick Maguire, 55 yrs. 3 mos. 17 days; 3d, Mrs. Lavinia S., widow of Capt. John D. Symonds, 78 yrs. 3 mos. 17 days.

Gold and Silver.

Ladies' Gold Fob Chains, with Ornaments, Gold Neck Chains, Gold Watches, Crosses, Finger Rings with stones in

TURQUOISE, GARNET, LAKE GEORGE DIAMONDS, AMETHYST, EMERALD, ONYX, PEARL, CAMEO.

Plain, Flat and Oval Band Rings, Engraved Band Rings, Children's Rings, Bracelets, Lockets, Ornaments, Pencils, etc.

SILVER PLATED WARES.

Casters, Pickle Jars, Cake Baskets, Sardine Dishes, Celery Holders, Mugs, Creamers, Sugars, etc.

— ALSO —

Knives, Forks, Spoons, Ladles, and all kinds of Table wares, in best goods, at prices below competition.

ROGERS & BROTHER

— ALSO —

FINE COIN SILVER WARES

In Spoons, Forks, Napkin Rings, etc., etc

N. B.

As fine a line of Silver Plated Wares, and Jewelry as can be found in the city at prices Far Below those of every other dealer.

EXAMINE AND COMPARE.

J. P. Peabody,

227 & 229 Essex Street,

SALEM.

ONE DAY CLOSED.

Tuesdav, Jan. 5,

THE BEE-HIVE

WILL BE CLOSED,

To take account of stock, rearrange and mark down goods, and open

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 6,

AT 3 A. M.

With Great Bargains in Dry Goods.

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

“I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.”

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

“Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.”

EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE,

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,

REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

Oat Meal and Graham Flour

FRESH GROUND Oat Meal and Graham Flour received from mill.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as m[illegible] rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2.85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3.50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, “	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, “	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, “	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, “	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, “	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every custemer, “ Out of your size, “Have some next week,” etc. We do not do business that way, We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE

LYNN, MASS.

A Christmas Present!

— FOR —

ARTISTS OR AMATEURS

OIL COLOR OUTFIT,

CONSISTING OF

A Wooden Box, size 3x11 inches, with the following: 13 Tube Colors, Vandyke Brown, Light Red, Chrome Yellow, Megilp, Yellow Ochre, Burnt Sienna, Ivory Black Naples Yellow, Chrome Green, Silver White, Crimson Lake, Permanent Blue, Vermillion, 1 Palet to fit the box, 2 Bristle, 1 Sable Brush, 1 Bottle Pale Drying Oil, 1 Bottle of Turpetine, 1 Oil Cup, 1 Sheet each of Tracing and Impression Paper and six Floral Designs n copy from.

This is a complete practical working outfit, and will be sent Free by Express on receipt of only $2.50.

Catalogue and Circulars sent on application.

C. J. EDMANDS,

DEALER IN

ARTISTS' MATERIALS,

NO. 12 BROMFIELD STREET, BOSTON.

Buy Your

RUBBER EOOTS

AND SHOBS,

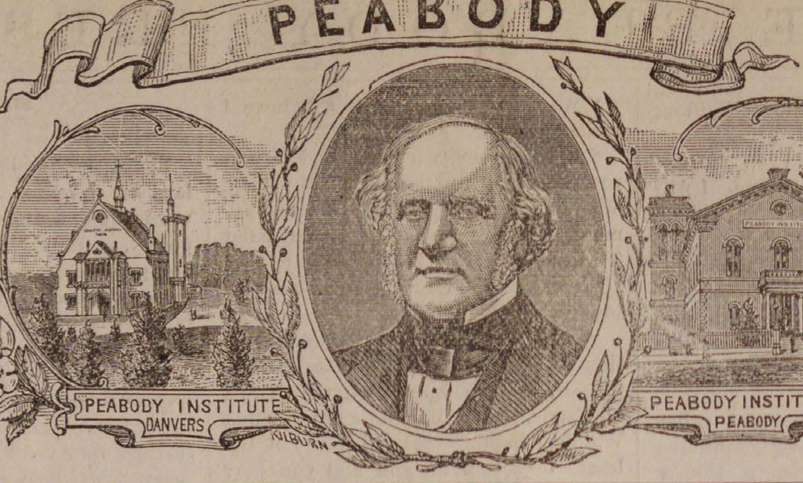
— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

BARGAINS! BARGAINS!

The Peabody Press



VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 13, 1886. NO. 2.

LOOK HERE.

JANUARY IS THE MONTH FOR BARGAINS.

Great Annual Mark Down Closing out Sale of

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefing Jackets, Suits, and Pantaloons, Underwear, Hosiery and Cardigan Jackets.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

W. B. GIFFORD & CO.,

GRAND MARK DOWN SALE OF GARMENTS

Now in progress. Also

ANNUAL REMNANT SALE.

SPECIAL.

One more bale of those 6x3ft. DUNDEE RUGS, positively the last this season.

W. B. Gifford & Co.

77 & 79 MARKET ST., LYNN.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Pay your gas bill!

Oranges are getting plenty!

Snow enough when it did come, eh!

The days show a considerable lengthening.

Rev. W. G. Sperry was in town Monday.

Exchanged those slippers for the minister yet?

Put the new calendar where you can see it daily.

Save the skin of your pet feline for a parlor rug.

Another vacation on Saturday on account of the storm.

The weather signals can't suit everybody—no use trying.

Cough mixtures are having a big run at the drug stores.

There are a number of cases of severe illness in town.

The clerks are now getting more evenings to themselves.

We want all our readers to furnish us with personals and locals.

The week of prayer was pretty generally observed in this town.

The drug stores now display chest protectors in asthetic colors.

The chief of police has been raised to a chief among red men.

The weekly meeting of the Union will be held on Friday at 2.30.

About—this—time—the New Year's diary begins to become a burden.

A union meeting will be held at the South church vestry this evening.

Miss Ella Perkins has been spending a week at Watertown.

We thought the bottom had fallen out of the roads, but it is all right now.

Children's hand sewed Goat button only 30 cents a pair at Nugents' Shoe Store. *

The Essex Agricultural Society will hold a farmer's institute at the town hall, Jan. 26.

Mr. H. A. Southwick has purchased a 400 ton power hydraulic press for the Tapleyville factory.

The head of the family is now being astonished as the bills for Christmas presents come in.

There is no other local paper in this vicinity that gives so much home news as the PRESS.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

The County Commissioners organized on Monday by the choice of Colonel John W. Raymond as Chairman.

When you are in Geo. Stevens' store look at the picture of the Item correspondent in the cigar show case.

Mr. Shatswell, of Salem, will lead the Gospel Temperance meeting, at 18 Main St., next Sunday, at 5.45.

Plug hats and ear muffs make a queer combination, yet some of our best young men indulge in them.

Mr. Stephen W. Power, of the firm of D. B. H. Power & Co., is confined to the house with a severe cold.

You can make pretty watch pockets of those misfit Christmas slippers. Yes you can put a whole clock in some.

Robert Stone has been appointed night watchman at the stable of the Danvers horse railroad in this town.

Mr. Benj. McKean is fitting up the morocco shop of Harry Moore, on the corner of Wallis and Walnut streets.

The ice man and the coal man smileth a smile of content as the mercury in the thermometer traveleth zeroward.

It is a slander on the fair sex to assert that those who arrive late at church have new wraps and bonnets to exhibit.

There will be no book prizes at the G. A. R. fair next week, and the sweet girl canvasser for "a chance" is unhappy.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clark's Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo. Stevens' *

We have not yet decided to use our new pen wiper given us for a Christmas present. It is too pretty for common use.

When you have read your PRESS if you do not wish to preserve it, enclose it in a wrapper and mail to some friend who is far away. Postage is cheap and the trouble is not much.

You may rely implicitly on any statement made in Nugent Bros. advertisements. They are like G. Washington, they don't lie. *

A Vaughn Morocco putting out machine has been put in at Lynch & Welsh's at Beverly, making the second one in use there.

We regret to learn of the continued illness of Mrs. Maria (Winchester) Harris, who has been confined to her bed for several weeks.

Kent's Remedy, prepared by Wm. T. Lee, is one of the best remedies in the market for coughs and colds. Try it. It will please you.

Dynamite is done up in Russian cigars. These are not more deadly, however, than some of the "three for fivers" which are sold in this town.

Now that the holidays are over the Sunday school attendance is falling off Our boy says it is hard work attending three and some will have to miss him.

The electric light station at Haverhill has put in two 6-foot tubular boilers set with the Jarvis furnace and their National rocking grates to burn screenings.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

In the window of Daniel Low's Jewelry store will be found a large number of the beautiful presents to be given the season ticket holders of the G. A. R. fair.

If our storekeepers who close now on Wednesday evening desire it we will send their PRESS through the mail instead of by carriers. Several were stolen last week.

Jordan Lodge F. & A. M. has issued a very neat members year-card for 1886, giving a list of the officers and committees, besides the date of meetings during the year.

The model of a sloop yacht in Geo. Jacobs' window was made by W. G. Remond of Salem, and is called the "Agnes." It was presented to Dr. Geo. S. Osborne by the builder.

The nineteenth session of the Encampment of the Massachusetts Department, G. A. R, will be held in Boston on the evening of Jan. 27th and the day of Jan. 28.

Mr. C. K. Hutchinson has been acting as clerk at the post office this week in place of Mr. A. A. Chute, who is sick. Mr. H. works in handy at most any line of business.

Mr. Frank L. Verry died at his home on Mason street last Thursday of consumption. He was about 30 years of age, and for a number of years was employed at the glue works.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending Jan. 9, were 4844 rolls, 1313 sides, 319 bundles, 15 barrels, 2 cases of leather, 137 bundles, 2 casks of skins.

The boycott is off on the Royal Baking Powder and notices to that effect have been sent out by the K. of L. This is good news to many who believe the Royal to be the best in the market.

There is a cat disease very prevalent in town which results in sores, loss of hair and death. Many family pets are doomed, and if any of our readers know of a remedy we will gladly give it publicity.

There was a break in the water pipe on Foster street, in front of the residence of Mr. Charles H. Potter. It looked like a boiling spring as D. B. Lord's men commenced work on it last Friday.

The carrier of the special delivery messages for Peabody, Foster Beggs, is 14 years old, weighs 60 pounds and is four feet three inches high. He does his work just as well as a larger person could.

We return thanks to the Peabody W. C. T. U. for a copy of the Union Signal, containing the very interesting address of Mrs. Willard of N. W. C. T. U. on the occasion of their 12th anniversary.

To buy a perfect boot or shoe,
In price that's low, in style that's new,
Go try the house that pleases all,
That makes you glad whene'er you call,
And in whose word you can confide,
The name is on our fourth page side.

The shoe shop of Colburn, Fuller & Co., at Milford, is being run to its full capacity, and in some departments till nine o'clock. Mr. Fuller's friends are pleased to see these indications of prosperity.

At the Monday meeting of the Universalist ministers this week, the "influence of the press" was the subject for discussion, in which Rev. Mr. Harmon, formerly of this town, took a prominent part.

An attack of indigestion, caused by eating nuts, will be immediately relieved and cured by the simple remedy. salt. Medical men recommend that salt should be used with nuts, especially when eaten at night.

About this time the young married man looks back with an indescribable longing to the days of his bachelorhood as he stands enveloped in a cloud of dust from the ashes which his wife has sent him out doors to sift.

Thomas W. Dudley, formerly with Mr. W. Winslow, has disposed of his milk route in Danvers, to D. C. Roberts, and will take a position as traveling salesman. In fact Tom will in future be known as "Der Drummer."

Rev. Albert Gould, formerly of this town has a lecture on Methodism in Hymn and song, with practical musical illustrations, which he is delivering in different places. He will be at Gloucester this evening. Mr. Gould is a good singer.

The Salem W. C. T. U. has received $100 from the estate of the late Enoch Lord. The Peabody Union congratulates its sister society, and trusts it may have the same good fortune of being remembered in the will of some good man or woman.

The Naumkeag Street Railway Company has elected the following Directors; Charles Odell (President), William Mack, Henry Wheatland, Nathan Nichols, John M. Anderson, C. C. G. Thornton, Rufus H. Brown. The acts of last year were approved.

The excellence of the tailoring work done by Mr. James Howley, over Trask's store, has made for him an enviable reputation and all who are in need of custom goods, will note the fact that for a short time he will make reductions on all goods.

Mr. Frank Osborne, who started about two years ago on a trip around the world, was heard from last week by his folks. He has visited many foreign countries and is now engaged on a coaling vessel between San Francisco and a port in Oregon.

Rev. W. F Davis, the evangelist, assisted by Mr. Morse, concluded their labors in this town last Sunday by a union service at the South church. The meetings have been well attended, and an interest shown which must produce good results in the near future.

The tickets for the Grand Army fair are selling rapidly at present as the time for the holding of the fair draws near. The committee are advertising it with attractive colored posters and a fair paper will be issued. An attraction will be offered each evening.

Col. Batchelder is making many pleasant acquaintances at the State House. He is of the opinion that an arbitration bill of some kind will pass both branches this winter. He believes the labor questions have got to be met squarely and considered calmly.

The streets were left in very bad condition by the railroad companies last Saturday, and there were several accidents Sunday, although no one was injured that we hear of. Frank Ward and wife were capsized on Main street, and one of our professional men also met a similar fate.

Mr. Charles Benjamin for a number of years flagman at Central street crossing says he did not resign but was discharged. He thinks a petition signed by all the influential citizens of this town will shortly be presented to the management, requesting his reinstatement.

The fine looking family horse belonging to Mr. A. C. Osborne on Central street, is now 17 years of age and for a short time past has been suffering from rheumatism. We rather think it is gout caused by high living, which his open hearted master has been giving him all these years.

We call attention to the new advertisement of F. D. Tarlton in this issue. Mr. Tarlton's trade is continually on the increase; he has established himself in the favor of our people, is attentive to his business, treats his customers with courtesy, and sells goods at low prices. It will pay our readers, besides being much to their convenience, to patronize Mr. Tarlton.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

BOYS' OVERCOATS

—— AT ——

Great Reductions.

We find ourselves with a much larger stock of Boys' Overcoats than we desire at this season, and have consequently marked down a number of most desirable styles to close immediately.

Boys' Overcoats, double collar, $3, 3.50, 4 and 5.

Prices reduced from $5, 6 and 8, sizes 2 1-2 to 9 years, all choice patterns.

Boys' Overcoats, single breasted, $4, 5, 6, 8 and 10.

Prices reduced from $6, 8, 10, 12 and 15, sizes 10 to 17 years, the lot containing all the most popular fabrics and patterns worn this season.

BOYS' REEFERS AT SPECIAL PRICES.

BOYS' SHORT PANT SUITS.

BOYS' LONG PANT SUITS.

In Dress and School fabrics all made in the strongest manner and in the latest style our prices are undeniably low.

GENTLEMEN'S OVERCOATS.

Made from Chinchilla, Elysians, Kerseys, Cassimere, Worsteds, Meltons, and Smooth Beaver, all marked down from 15 to 50 per cent. and now selling for

$4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 15, 18 TO $20.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS

All marked down to close.

Gentlemen's Dress and Business Suits at Special Prices.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

163, 165 & 167 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence.

Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

Baldwin's barn in the rear of the hotel has had a pigeon coop built in it. and already the birds have found that there was a good comfortable home for them there, and are now busily engaged in building their nests.

The late cold snap has given quite an impetus to the sale of wood and coal, and also to the corner loafer who no longer decorates street corners. They have all gone into winter quarters beside the stove of the humane and patient merchant, quietly but agonizingly awaiting to be thawed out.

The Holy Name Society of St. John's church, held its meeting, Sunday, and elected officers as follows for the ensuing year: President, Patrick Buckley; Sec., T. T. Horrigan: Treas., Michael O'Gara. The society also voted the sum of $50 as a Christmas present to the city Orphan Asylum of Salem.

The Lombard Investment Company, through its agents are placing thousands of dollars for investors. The fact that the company have secured as its agent in this town so conservative a financier as Mr. Frank C. Merrill, cashier of the Warren National Bank, is a strong guarantee for the company.

Some of our store keepers object to the word "shall" in the request of the K. of L., to have them close their stores on certain evenings. They should be charitable enough to think the intent was all right, when they know that Mr. Schlieber is a German and not familiar enough with English to use the proper word.

The Electric Railway Supply Company was organized under the laws of Maine, with the following board of government: President, Mathew H. Robinson; Treasurer, Clarence J. Messer; Directors, O. A. Foster, M. H. Robinson, J. A. Enos, C. J. Messer, William H. Hall, A. A. Messer, Edwin Shapleigh; capital stock, $1,000,000.

Our livery men have got their wish—plenty of snow.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the So. Danvers National Bank held yesterday the following officers were elected:—William P. Clark, Jonathan King, Henry H. Proctor, Horace Bushby, Edgar W. Upton, Warren Shaw. William P. Clark was elected President and George M. Foster, Cashier.

The number of deaths in Peabody last year were 159; males 92 and females 67; married 58; single 71. The oldest was 88 years of age and nine were over 80; 24 were infants; 16 died of consumption; 10 of heart disease; 15 of pneumonia. 79 were born in Peabody, 31 in Ireland; 78 were of American parentage; 65 of Irish. 26 persons died during the month of August.

Every one should take hold and give the Grand Army a lift this week by buying tickets for their fair at Town Hall commencing January 19. If you intend going, take right hold now and give it a boom. Do as a Lawrence man did to whom a package of tickets was sent. He sent a five dollar bill with the remark, "I take five tickets, one for myself, one for my wife and one each for my three daughters, and I thank God I have health and means to help the Grand Army."

It is whispered in railroad circles that the Boston & Lowell road are maturing plans to compete with the Boston & Maine for passenger and freight traffic from Peabody and Salem. The scheme seems to be to run a track from the present track at the paper mills at West Peabody to the Stoneham branch and from there into Boston. It is claimed that the run from Salem to Boston can be made in forty minutes. Should such a track be built it would materially increase the value of real estate in West Peabody and afford fine opportunities for manufacture.

Poet's Corner.

The Little Robe of White.

In a rosewood cradle a baby lay,
Its mother was stitching, stitching away,
On a little robe of white;
One foot on the rocker, she hoped to keep,
Her frolicsome baby fast asleep,
To finish her work that night.

In every stitch of the garment she wrought,
That loving mother fastened a thought;
Hopes for that little one,
And smiled on her baby in happy pride,
As it slept in its cradle by her side,
Till the little robe was done.

Then she folded up the cambric and lace,
And kissed her little one's chubby face
That smiled in its infant glee.
She tossed it up and down in the air—
"How pretty you'll look, little babe, when you wear
That little new robe," said she.

* * * * * *

In a rosewood coffin the baby lay;
Its mother had wept the night away
Watching its dying breath.
With it pressed to her bosom she prayed to keep Her darling baby from going to sleep
In the cold, cold arms of death.

They buried the babe in the garment just wrought,
Whose every stitch held a hopeful thought,
From that loving mother's sight;
On a marble stone she wrote with a tear,
"How many hopes are buried here
In that little robe of white!"

* * * * * *

In the Saviour's arms a baby lay,
From its rosewood coffin far away,
In the realms of love and light,
The angels a garment had folded about
Its little form, which will never wear out—
A seamless robe of white.

Daily Alta Californian.

Our Pattern.

BY PHOEBE CARY.

A weaver sat one day at his loom,
Among the colors bright,
With the pattern for his copying
Hung fair and plain in sight.

But the weaver's thoughts were wandering
Away on a distant track,
As he threw the shuttle in his hand
Wearily forward and back.

And he turned his dim eyes to the ground,
And tears fell on the woof,
For his thoughts, alas! were not with his home,
Nor the wife beneath its roof;

When her voice recalled him suddenly
To himself, as she sadly said;
"Ah! woe is me! for your work is spoiled,
And what will we do for bread?"

And then the weaver looked, and saw
His work must be undone;
For the threads were wrong, and the colors dimmed,
Where the bitter tears had run.

"Alack, alack!" said the weaver,
"And this had all been right
If I had not looked at my work, but kept
The pattern in my sight!"

Ah! sad it was for the weaver,
And sad for his luckless wife;
And sad will it be for us, if we say,
At the end of our task of life:

"The colors that we had to weave
Were bright in our early years;
But we wove the tissue wrong, and stained
The woof with bitter tears.

We wove a web of doubt and fear—
Not faith, and hope, and love—
Because we looked at our work, and not
At our Pattern up above!"

Released.

A. T. WHITNEY.

A little, low-ceiled room. Four walls
Whose blank shut out all else of life,
And crowded close within their bound
A world of pain, and toil and strife,—

Her world. Scarce futhermore she knew
Of God's great globe that wondrously
Outrolls a glory of green earth,
And frames it with the restless sea.

Four closer walls of common pine;
And therein lying, cold and still,
The weary flesh that long hath borne
Its patient mystery of ill.

Regardless now of work to do,
No queen more careless in her state,
Hands crossed in an unbroken calm;
For other hands the work may wait.

Put by her implements of toil;
Put by each coarse, obtrusive sign;
She made a sabbath when she died,
And round her breathes a rest divine.

Put by, at last, beneath the lid,
The exempted hands, the tranquil face;
Uplift her in her dreamless sleep,
And bear her gently from the place.

Oft hath she gazed, with wistful eyes,
Out from that threshold on the night;
The narrow bourne she crosseth now;
She standeth in the eternal light.

Oft hath she pressed, with aching feet,
Those broken steps that reach the door;
Henceforth, with angels, she shall tread
Heaven's golden stair, for evermore!

Under the Guns.

Under the old embrasures dim,
Where the trailers hang from cannon grim,
The long-lost cry of the buried shell
Comes in from the ocean's stormy swell;
The sun hangs low where the crested wave
Tosses over the missing brave,
And I seem to see his crimson glare
A ghostly flag on the rampart bare.

Under the guns that never more
Will waken the echoes of surge and shore
I lie, and laugh at the foamy crest
That lightly leaps at the seagull's breast.
The curlew screams and the albatross
Dips his wing where the seaweeds toss;
And 'twixt my bark and the newest star
Is a tattered sail on a broken spar.

Under the guns that long ago
Dictated terms to a sullen foe!
Over the mouth of the culverin
A silvery web the spiders spin;
And, half asleep in my listless prow,
I link the past to the busy now;
And 'twixt my bark and the newest star
Is a tattered sail on a broken spar.

That Tree in the Road.

"Mr. Waldon:—I return the flowers which you had the impudence to send to my daughter. I do not consider you a fit person to be on friendly terms with her, and your attentions must cease immediately. If you are a gentleman you will obey my wishes at once.

Respectfully,
GEO. WILMONT."

"Papa! You are not—"

Carrie Wilmont paused, the note she had been reading clutched tightly in her hand, while surprise and alarm were depicted on every feature.

Mr. Wilmont regarded her very sternly for a moment.

"I shall return those flowers with that note," he said, motioning to a cluster of violets on the table. "I forbid you to have anything more to do with that fellow. I am surprised that a daughter of mine, who has been brought up as carefully as you have been, has not better sense than to allow such a man to be dangling at her heels. Why, Caroline, it is disgraceful!" And he brought his hand down emphatically on the table.

Mr. Wilmont seldom addressed his daughter by her full name. She now glanced up indignantly.

"Yes, utterly disgraceful! I would rather see you in your grave than his wife. He is a scapegrace—a drunken puppy—and don't you dare to have anything more to do with him! Give me that note!"

Carrie hesitated a moment, crumpling it nervously in her hand.

"Carrie!" said her mother, reprovingly.

With a sudden burst of tears, she threw it on the table and left the library. Mr. Wilmont gazed after her in astonishment.

"I declare! I never dreamed that the affair had gone so far," he exclaimed.

"Might you not have been mistaken in young Waldon?" asked Mrs. Wilmont, her mother heart sympathizing with her daughter. "I have met him when he called, and he appears to be a nice young man."

"Oh, yes! He is one of your smooth talkers, and you women are easily hoodwinked. He is a nephew of Col. Usher, and comes of excellent family, but is utterly devoid of principle. I did not know that he was so intimate with Carrie, until my partner expressed his surprise at our allowing his visits; and I made inquiries and was shocked to learn what a character he bears. He is no fit husband for any girl, and I can't imagine what Carrie sees in him, when there are so many promising young men she might have."

Meantime, up in her own room the culprit sat, a pretty picture of despair. She was a dainty little creature, and no wonder that many had fallen victims to her charms; but to only one had she given encouragement—Robert Waldon. Just the night before she had promised to be his wife, believing that her father would not interfere with her happiness, But her hopes had been suddenly dispelled that morning.

"What! give up Robert? Never! Never!" she exclaimed, burying her face in her hands. "He is not a worthless scapegrace! Oh, it is cruel! Just when I was so happy! And he! what will he think when he gets that note?" And her tears fell fast.

Robert Waldon was surprised; he dropped the letter on his desk as though it were a live coal.

"By Jove! I don't see what it means," he exclaimed. "Not a fit person to be on friendly terms with his daughter! I don't think that she will agree with him. What could he have heard against my character?" And he gazed around his office, as if expecting an answer from the piles of books.

He was an intelligent-looking young man, with a fine, open countenance, and if given to the vices which Mr. Wilmont had mentioned, certainly did not show it. Now his brow was contracted as if in deep thought. A few hours before he had sent the flowers to Carrie Wilmont, little expecting to have them returned, and especially by the rich merchant himself—the one man whose good opinion he was most desirous of obtaining.

It is not to be expected that Carrie would submit quietly to her father's wishes. She felt sure that he would not be so cruel as to separate her and Robert Waldon, when he learned that she could not be happy without him; she would beg him to reconsider his decision. But he was stern and determined, and Carrie would make no promises, consequently the interview was very unsatisfactory to both. Then a stolen meeting with Robert Waldon, and she told him all.

"I cannot understand it, Carrie. Why, those charges are not true. I will go to him and ask for an explanation," he said, angrily.

"Oh, don't! It will only make matters worse, for he is very angry," pleaded Carrie, knowing that both were hasty, and she had reason to dread a meeting. So Robert Waldon reluctantly promised.

This was the beginning and other meetings followed which were happiness to both. Again Carrie went to her father, but he was immovable. Then the lovers decided on a plan; it was not original, but had served many others under the same circumstances. They would elope.

"I cannot give you the wealth to which you are accustomed, Carrie," Waldon said, "but I can make you comfortable, and my love shall try to atone for the rest. Sometimes I think it is wrong to take you from your beautiful home, lest you should regret it. But, darling, I cannot give you up."

"It is not money that makes happiness, Robert, and I know you will not disappoint me in proving that my parents are mistaken about you. For as much as I love you, it would kill me if they would not forgive me."

"I shall not disappoint you," Waldon answered, decidedly.

So it was settled, and a moonlight night agreed upon. A week passed, and Mr. Wilmont began to relent, and offered to take Carrie out driving one evening, but she refused on the plea of a headache, and went early to her room.

"Strange! That girl is still moping about that fellow, and he was drunk last night. But Carrie says it is not true, and that someone is trying to ruin his character. It is shameful! I would lock her up if I thought there was danger of her meeting that villain!" And Mr. Wilmont paced excitedly to and fro.

After the pretty invalid had gone to her room, instead of retiring she donned a traveling dress and took her place at a window, with a large valise, packed to its utmost capacity, lying at her feet. Her room faced the lawn, and she had no fear of being seen by any chance passer-by. The town clock struck nine, and she became nervous. Presently a shrill imitation of a cricket sounded from among the trees; there was a flutter of a handkerchief—this was the signal that all was right—and then Robert Waldon came boldly under the window.

"Carrie!" he said, softly.

"Yes, Robert." And she stepped out on the roof of the portico and dropped the valise to Waldon.

"Be careful, darling!" came from below, as she stepped from the roof to a tree close by.

"Yes, Robert." And she slowly descended.

"Hurry, pet!" said Waldon, nervously, as she paused.

She did hurry—stepping on a branch which was not strong, and with a crash it fell to the ground. Waldon sprang forward and caught her.

"Are you hurt, darling?"

"No, no! Oh, Robert, they have heard us!" she exclaimed, as a light was seen rapidly moving along the library windows.

Waldon lifted her in his arms and dashed back among the trees, leaving the valise where he had dropped it. He had a horse and buggy close by.

"They are in my room—they know it! Oh, what shall we do?" And Carrie clutched Waldon's arm.

"I think we are safe now," he answered, as his swift horse dashed down the road.

They had decided to go to an adjoining town, and be married by a mutual friend. They knew that Mr. Wilmont would pursue them, and their only hope was in the speed of their horse.

They had gone several miles without hearing any one in pursuit, and were congratulating themselves that their troubles were over, when they came in sight of a dark object across the road which proved to be a large tree blown down by a storm. Here was a dilemma; on one side the road descended by a steep bank to a creek below, and on the other rose a rocky bluff, and if they turned back they were liable to meet those in pursuit.

While they were deciding what was best for them to do, they suddenly heard horses rapidly approaching; they glanced at each other in dismay.

"Stop there, you villian!" shouted a stern voice.

"Oh, Robert, it is father! What shall we do?" And Carrie sprang from the buggy and stood beside Waldon, who had been examining the road.

"You're a dead man!" and the quick report of a revolver followed, but, thanks to Mr Wilmont's excitement, the ball went wide of its mark, and the culprit stood unharmed.

"Mr. Wilmont, I love your daughter, and she is mine through life or death. You may kill me if you wish, but you shall not separate us."

Robert Waldon's voice had not a tremor in it as, with head proudly erect, and one arm thrown protectingly around Carrie, he stood in the moonlight—a noble picture of man's love.

"Who—wh—what!" exclaimed Mr. Wilmont, lowering his revolver "Why, this is not the man."

"Isn't whom?" asked Tom Lawton, who now rode up to his uncle.

"Why, Col. Usher's nephew," he faltered.

"Oh, papa! Did you think it was he? Why, this is Robert Waldon," and Carrie laughed shyly.

"Well, well, I never! I believe I made a mistake."

"Rob, old boy, you have had a narrow escape." And Tom Lawton shook Waldon's hand heartily. "Uncle Wilmont, this gentleman is a particular friend of mine, and I congratulate you. His name is Waldon, while you mistook him for James Waldron."

"I only went by the last name, and I thought—Well it was a mistake." Bless me, sir, I never knew you were sweet on Carrie," said Mr. Wilmont, seizing Waldon's hand. "Why, I have not the least objection to you and you may have my little girl, for she has caused me a great deal of trouble the last few weeks, and perhaps you can manage her better than I can. I saw you in court this morning when you won that case, and I know you will make your way. But I never expected to make your acquaintance in this manner." And he laughed.

The returning home was quite different from the leaving. Mr. Wilmont and his nephew rode alongside the buggy; they were, as Tom Lawton said, "escorting the conquering heroes home."

A month later they had joined hands under less difficult circumstances, and the heretofore harsh parent witnessed the ceremony. But although they were very happy, the young folks could not help feeling a trifle disappointed, for it would have been so romantic, you know, if their first attempt had not been frustrated by that tree in the road.

COFFEE AND BEER.

The habit of living in a great measure out of doors, as exemplified in the crowds which may be seen at almost any hour of the day seated outside the principal cafes, is one of the features of Parisian life which an Englishman is most inclined to envy. It must not be supposed, by the way, that these crowds are all imbibing coffee. The consumption of coffee is mostly limited to the hour of digestion following luncheon or dinner. For other seasons of the day the cafes have other attractions of various kinds. Of late years the French, contrary to their ancient habit, have become a nation of beer drinkers. Every cafe supplies beer; and there are other houses known as brasseries, literally breweries, in which beer is the primary object of supply. The beer at these last is generally a shade cheaper, and frequently a shade better than at the cafes. In both cases it is a light, unintoxicating liquor, imported from Germany, and nearly identical, in fact, with the lager beer which for several seasons passed has been so popular in London. A Frenchman, be it remembered, never drinks his beer at a meal, a light wine harmonizing better, as one who tries the experiment will quickly discover, with the delicate flavors of French cookery, but the Briton of simple tastes, who will insist on bread and cheese or a snack of cold meat and a glass of beer, by way of luncheon, will find no difficulty in gratifying his taste, even in Paris.

THE EYES OF WATCHMAKERS.

Some time ago the Breslau oculist, Dr. H. Cohn, on examining the eyes of seventy-five watchmakers, found that scarcely five per cent. of the number were affected with short-sightedness, which result seemed to justify the belief that the use of the loupe was an excellent protection against myopia. Quite recently the same oculist examined the eyes of fifty watchmakers in a Freiburg watch factory, who had for years, without using a loupe, worked the fine parts of watches, and of whom, nevertheless, only two were short-sighted. From this Dr. Cohn concludes that watchmaking is an industry not injurious to the eye, while, considering the fact that his extensive examinations among students had established an average of fifty-six per cent., among compositors of fifty-one per cent., and of lithographers o. thirty-seven per cent. afflicted with myopia, he comes to the conclusion that reading, writing, composing and drawing are more injurious to the eyes than the constant exercise of the visual organ in connection with fine stationary objects.

AN ANIMAL APPLE-GATHERING.

Gathering fruit is a frequent practice of animals, and yet there ie a strategem attributed to that "walking bunch of tooothpicks" called the hedge-hog, which is curious enough to deserve special mention. It seems that fruit is frequently found in the hedge-hog's sleeping apartment, and its presence there is explained in this remarkable way. It is known that hedge-hogs often climb walls, and run off upon low boughs and instead of scrambling down in the same manner, they boldly make the leap from the ground, sometimes ten or twelve feet. They coil into a ball in the air, strike upon their armor of spines, and bound away unharmed. In taking this jump, they have been seen to strike upon fallen fruit, which, thus impaled upon their spines, was carried away by them; and this has given rise to the opinion that in some such way they may have stored their winter homes.

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness, and give strength and rest.

SLANG.

Slang, profoundly considered, is the lawless germinal element, below all words and sentences, and behind all poetry, and proves a certain freedom and perennial rankness and protestantism in speech. As the United States inherit by far their most precious possession—the language they talk and write—from the Old World, under and out of its feudal institutes, I will allow myself to borrow a smile even of those forms furthest removed fom American democracy. Considering language then, as some mighty potentate, into the majestic audience hall of the monarch ever enters a personage like one of Shakespeare's clown's, and takes position there, and plays a part even in the stateliest ceremonies. Such is slang or indirection, an attempt of common humanity to escape from bald literalism and express itself illimitably, which in highest walks produces poets and poems, and doubtless in prehistoric times gave the start to and perfected the whole immense tangle of the old mythologies. For, curious as it may appear, it is strictly the same impulse source, the same thing. Slang too, is the wholesome fermentation or eructation of those processes eternally active in language by which froth and specks are thrown up, mostly to pass away, though occasionally to settle and permanently crystalize. To make it plainer, it is certain that many of the oldest and solidest words we use were originally generated from the daring and license of slang. In the processes of word formation myriads die, but here and there the attempt attracts superior meanings, becomes valuable and indispensable, and lives forever. Thus the term right means literally only straight Wrong primarily meant twisted, distorted. Integrity meant oneness. Spirit meant breath or flame. A supercilious person was one who raised his eyebrows. To insult was to leap against. If you influenced a man you but flowed into him. The Hebrew word which is translated prophesy meant to bubble up and pour fourth as a fountain. The enthusiast bubbles up with the Spirit of God within him, and it pours forth from him like a fountain. The word prophecy is misunderstood. Many suppose that it is limited to mere prediction; that it is but the lesser portion of prophecy. The greater work is to reveal God. Every true religious enthusiast is a prophet.

CIGARETTE MAKING.

"How many cigarettes can a girl make in a day?" was asked of a manufacturer recently.

"That depends upon how nimble her fingers are. A smart, quick girl can make about three thousand five hundred. The pay is from seventy to eighty cents per hundred, according to the grade of cigarette made. There are very few girls who can make more than two thousand per day. Making the cigarette looks easy enough, but if you should try it you would find it very hard and tedious. When a girl goes to her work in the morning she receives a small bundle of papers and two and three-quarter pounds of tobacco from which she must make one thousand cigarettes. A small piece of extra heavy paper about twice the size of cigarette paper is used in rolling a cigarette. One edge is pasted fast to a piece of marble or a smooth flat stone about one foot square that is on a table. A stick about a foot in length and about as thick as a match is used to paste with. The paste is made of pure starch and water. The cigarette paper is laid on the heavy paper, and a small quantity of tobacco is put on it. Then the edge of the heavy paper is turned over, and, by sliding the flat of the hand over it, the cigarette is rolled. Then the paste stick is run over one edge of the cigarette paper, and one more roll completes the cigarette. After the ends are cut off it is ready for the trade.

"Great caution must be used when rolling and pasting, for if any were pasted crooked or soiled in any manner, or made too hard or too soft, the one thousand would be returned to the maker, who would have to make them over again. This happens very often, and is a loss of several hours to the maker. There may be plenty of enjoyment in smoking cigarettes, but there is none in making them."

WHAT IT IS—WHAT IT DOES.—Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of sarsaparilla, dandelion, mandrake, cherry bark, uva ursi, dock, and other valuable medicinal agents long and favorably known for their power in eradicating disease and purifying the blood. It will cure, when in the power of medicine, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Dyspepsia, Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, General Debility, Pains in the back, Kidney Complaint, Catarrh, Female Weakness, Cancerous Humors, Humors of the Face, Ringworm, Pimples, Ulcers, Sores, Tumors, Scald Head, and all diseases arising from an impure state or low condition of the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists; $1, six for five.

It is said that sleeping with the head to the north and the physical and mental advantages to be derived therefrom, is a subject in which interest is being revived. A German physician of note was quoted many years ago as saying that he believed he had added at least a decade to his life, beside keeping his health perfect by this practice.

A. B. & W.

SALES IN PROGRESS.

1. 250 dozen Ladies' and Misses' Hosiery, at one-half regular prices. Goods from the famous Hosiery Stock of Arnold, Constable & Co. of New York city.

2. Original and Peremptory Sale of White and Colored Quilts—15 different qualities.

3. Grand Sale of Bleached and Brown Cottons, 52 different makes and qualities, several not to be found elsewhere in Salem.

4. The Remnants in all our Departments without regard to cost.

5. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Outside Garments. Our Garments are tailor fitted and made in a thorough manner. Those who have waited for the January reductions in prices will be satisfied with our Bargains. We warrant every garment.

6. Preliminary to our Grand Sale of Linens, to be announced later, we offer now

An Importer's Line of Samples, Towels, Table Covers and Napkins.

The stock is small, and immediate visitors will secure a good bargain.

7. CORSETS, Great Bargains. For a few days we will offer our "Combination Corset" for 62 1-2c.; former price, $1.25. New "Pride of Salem" Corset for 50c.; filled with bone, not reed; perfect shape. Bargains in Woven Corsets.

8. HAMBURG EDGINGS,

NEW IMPORTATIONS FOR 1886.

Low Prices for Elegant Showy Goods. Low Prices for Fine Goods.

A large assortment of Narrow, Medium width, wide Flounces, and All Overs, in sets to match. This Hamburg Sale will be more important than any previous one. The selections are better and the prices of better value.

All purchases delivered.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

SALEM.

W. C. PACKARD & CO'S.

Fourteenth Grand Annual Holiday Sale.

OPENING TUESDAY, DEC. 1.

We have made this season more extensive preparations than ever before for the display of our HOLIDAY GOODS.

These will be shown on our first and second floors. On our first floor all our Furniture has been removed; and this floor will be devoted almost exclusively to the display of

RATTAN & LEATHER CHAIRS.

This will be the largest exhibit of Rattan Furniture ever made in Salem. It comprises all the new and desirable styles from the leading manufacturers of the country.

Ladies' and Gent's Rattan Rocking Chairs.

Rattan and Reed Upholstered Cushion Chairs, Children's Rattan Chairs, Corner Chairs, Ladies' Rattan and Willow Work Stands, Wood Baskets and Scrap Baskets. Also a large invoice of Embossed Leather Chairs.

and Platform Rockers (in 20 different styles) also Antique Chairs upholstered in leather or Plush and Shaker Chairs. On this floor may be found Ladies' and Gent's Parlor Desks, Book Cases, Wall Cabinets, Bric-a-Brac Shelves, Bevel Plate Mirrors, Gent's Smoking Sets, etc, etc,

On our second floor, with our large stock of

PARLOR SUITS

will be found over

200 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS,

in every conceivable style of Frame and Covering. Gents' Reclining, Study, Smoking and Rockug Chairs. Our new

GENT'S READING CHAIRS, covered in handsome figured Goods Plush trimmed for

ONLY $5.00,

are a special bargain; you should call at once and leave your order if you wish to secure one of these.

ALSO OUR $3.50

Smoking Chair is unequalled. Ladies' Sewing and Rocking Chairs, Fancy Chairs for work, Foot Rests, Blacking Cases, Ottomans. Large Invoice of Easels in Cherry, Ebony, Walnut, and Bamboo. The new

Briggs Crown Piano Chair,
(a good and useful present)

Music Cabinets, Music Folios in all woods.

Standing Parlor Cabinets,

in Ebony and Cherry.

TABLES,

over 100 different styles in all woods, Plush Tops, Wood Tops, and Marble Tops. Pedestals for Rogers Groups, Bible Tables, Fancy Plush Stands, Ladies' Wash Tables, Card Tables, "Five o'clock Tea Tables," and many other useful and beautiful Gifts which we have not space to mention. We feel confident that it will repay any one to come a long way to inspect our mammoth stock of useful as well as ornamental Holiday Gifts now ready for inspection. All are cordially invited to visit at their leisure our store and examine these goods and learn our prices, whether they wish to purchase or not. Those who make their selections early will find it to their advantage.

Goods delivered anywhere in Essex Coun

W. C. Packard & Co.

281 ESSEX STREET. SALEM.

REMEMBER

You can find a fine line of goods suitable for presents for the

HOLIDAYS,

—AT—

BROWNE'S MIILLNERY STORE,

Essex St., Salem.

Also Bargains in all kinds of

Millinery, Trimmed Hats and bonnets,

will be sold very low during the Holidays.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

500 Wings and Fancy Feathers, your choice only $1.00. Regular price $2.50 to 4.00.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

HEADQUARTRES!

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

10 Cent Cigars.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

BOSTON WEEKLY JOURNAL,

A new volume, January 1, 1886.

One dollar per annum, including postage. A weekly newspaper of thirty-six long columns, filled with news and information and adapted to the wants of New England readers. For fifty years The Weekly Journal has been the popular New England weekly. It has won its way by its inherent merits, never having adopted other inducements to subscribers than those which it presents weekly in its well-filled columns. The features of the past will be continued.

The Boston Journal is a Republican newspaper but it gives the news of all the political phases of the times and sees that its readers are kept well posted upon

CURRENT POLITICAL EVENTS.

The Weekly Journal has been awarded the cred of being the best Family newspaper published in Boston.

TERMS OF WEEKLY:

Single Copies, One Year (postage included) $1.00
Ten Copies and One Extra to getter-up of Club, $10.00
Twenty Copies and Two Extra to getter-up of Club, $20.00
One Copy Free for every Ten Subscribers.

BOSTON SEMI-WEEKLY JOURNAL,

Published on Tuesdays and Fridays, is a paper of especial value to persons engaged in commercial pursuits outside the large cities.

The Boston Semi-Weekly Journal is a paper which no man actively engaged in trade and watching the course of mercantile affairs can afford to be without.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Copy (including postage) One Year $3.00
Five Copies (including postage) to one address One Year 12.50
Ten Copies (including postage) to one address One Year 25.00
One Copy FREE to getter-up Club of Ten.
Twenty Copies (including postage) to one address One Year 45.00
And Two Copies FREE to getter-up of Club of Twenty.
Larger Clubs, $2 25 per Copy, and One Copy FREE to every Ten Subscribers.
Terms—Invariably in Advance

THE BOSTON JOURNAL.
(Morning or Evening Edition)
ONLY $6 00 A YEAR.
OR 50 CENTS A MONTH.

Specimen copies of any of our publications sent on application to any address.

All remittances should be by Post Office Order, Registered Letter or Bank Check. Address

JOURNAL NEWSPAPER COMPANY,
No. 264 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

Able, Independent, Enterprising.

The Paper for New Englanders of all Parties and Creeds,

THE
SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN.

Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles

Daily, Sunday, Weekly.

A large quarto sheet.

Independent and Fair in Politics;
Comprehensive in Its News Reports;
Rich and Varied in Its Miscellaneous Reading.
New England News Reported with Great Thoroughness.

THE DAILY REPUBLICAN.

Broad, Bright and Breezy.

$8 a year; $2 a Quarter; 70c a Month.

THE SUNDAY REPUBLICAN.

An Admirable Paper for the Day of Rest. $2 a year; 50 cents a Quarter.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN.

The Best Political, News and Family

WEEKLY

IN NEW ENGLAND.

$1.00 ONLY $1.00

A Year, or 10 Cents a Month, for shorter periods.

Carefully edited. Crowded with News and Interesting Reading.

Each number contains a Good Story. New Subscribers to the Weekly will receive the Paper Free for the balance of 1885

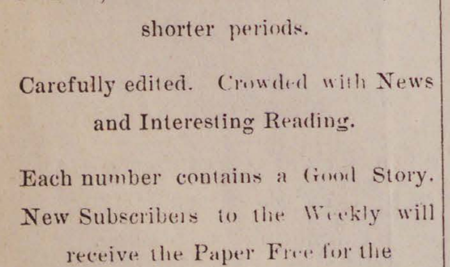
Commission to Postmasters.

Sample Copies Free.

Address, THE REPUBLICAN.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address

G. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING

SIMPLE STRONG

NEW HOME

SWIFT SURE

SEWING MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

FOR SALE BY

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME
OF THE NEW YORK
SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA,

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowrie's" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

A specialty of Theatrical News,

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. F. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address.

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

SPAULDING'S SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet, Shade and Mattress work as usual.

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,
18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P. M.]

On Thursday night Mr. Booth will appear at the Boston Museum, as Shylock in the usual stage version of the Merchant of Venice, and as Petruchio in Katherine and Petruchio. This double offering is certain to attract a throng. The star is to be seen on Friday night in his great portrayal of Bertuccio in The Fool's Revenge, and will round out the week with Sir Giles Overreach in A New Way to Pay Old Debts. Next week Mr. Booth will play Hamlet Monday night for the last time; Tuesday, Macbeth; Wednesday, Fool's Revenge; Thursday, King Lear; Friday and Saturday evenings, Richard III.

The brief but enjoyable season of Ethiopian minstrelsy at the Bijou Theatre is to close with the performance of Barlow, Wilson & Rankin's troupe on Saturday evening. For the last appearance of these favorites, a fine programme is to be offered, presenting at their best all the talent of this organization. George Wilson is sure to make fun in abundance; the singing as heretofore will be a feature, and musical burlesque will close a novel offering that should attract crowded houses.

Lester and Allen's Big Minstrels will begin a brief engagement at the Boston Theatre on Saturday evening, 16th inst. The organization includes a host of favorites in minstrelsy and specialties, and their entertainments have everywhere met with hearty favor. John L. Sullivan, champion athlete of the world, and Wm. Muldoon, the invincible wrestler, give pictures of statuary which are immensely popular.

More people have been turned away from the Park nightly than could have found accommodation in a spacious hall. Mr. N. C. Goodwin Jr., has "caught on" most emphatically with The Skating Rink. Goodwin's engagement in Boston closes this week, although there is no sort of doubt that it would crowd any theatre in Boston for a score of nights, could the favorite remain. Daisy Murdock, Helen Lowell, George Radcliffe and the other members of the Goodwin company appear to advantage in the piece. People who wish to see The Skating Rink should secure seats early in the week.

The production of the Rat-catcher by the Kiralfys at the Boston Theatre, January 25, will be one of the novelties of the season. The Kiralfy brothers began life in Europe as dancers, and it was in that capacity that they first came to this country. Among their successes may be mentioned the Black Crook, Around the World, Excelsior, and this their latest production The Rat-catcher, now running at Niblo's Garden, New York. Both Imre and Bolossy Kiralfy are well known in New York and in the chief cities of Europe. They understand each other and work together with a harmony such as rarely exists between brothers. Hubert Wilke, who plays the leading role, is a New York favorite who has never been heard here, and the grand ballet is led by Mlle. de le Brujere, who danced herself into fame here last season.

* * *

THE TROUBLES OF AN EDITOR.—Editing a newspaper is a very nice business, and those who know nothing about it consider it a very easy business. If we publish jokes, people say we are rattle-headed, and if we omit jokes we are an old fossil. If we publish original matter they blame us for not giving selections, and if we publish selections folks say we are lazy for not writing something they had not read in some other paper. Ignorant of what good editing is, people imagine the getting up of selected matter the easiest thing in the world to do where it is really the nicest work on a paper. If they find the editor with scissors in hand, they're sure to say "That's the way they get up original matter, eh?" accompanying their new and witty question with an idiotic wink or smile. The facts are, that the interest, the morality, the variety and usefulness of a paper depend in no small degree upon its selected matter, and few men are capable of the position who would not be able to write many of the articles they select. A sensible editor desires considerable selected matter, because he knows that one mind cannot make as good a paper as five or six. If we give a man a complimentary notice, we are censured for being partial, and if we fail to give complimentary notices, or send the paper free to those who demand it, we are informed that we are a hog.

If we remain in our office and attend to our business, folks say we are too proud to mingle with our fellows, but if we go out they say we never attend to our business. If we wear old clothes, it is insinuated that business is bad, and if we wear good ones they say we are extravagant.

A newspaper and a newspaper editor that people don't talk about and sometimes abuse are rather poor concerns. The men and business that an editor sometimes feels it a duty to defend, at the risk of making enemies of another class, are the very first to show ingratitude. The editor who expects to receive much charity or gratitude will soon find out his mistake; but he should go ahead and say what he conscientiously thinks right without regard to the frowns of grumblers.—Exchange.

* * *

Remarked by R. C. Joiner of Allen, P. O. Hillsdale Co., Mich: "Nothing gave my rheumatism such quick relief as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil.—Believe it infallible for rheumatics."

Changes in the Roman Church.

The Boston Herald publishes the following as an editorial which will be of interest to a large number of the PRESS readers:

The new plenary decrees of the Roman church in this country authorize changes which are almost revolutionary. The principal innovations are three—the better regulation of property, the substitution of the title "rector" for that of "priest," and the appointment of trustees from the body of the laity. The property relation will be hereafter more explicit than it has been. Every bishop will be required to make an inventory of his property as bishop, trustee and individual. He must distinguish in his will his own from the church's property, and bequeath the latter to his successors in office. Another decree forbids private banking by the bishops, priests and the heads of conventual and monastic establishments, with the view of heading off such disasters as overtook Archbishop Purcell in Ohio and the Roman clergy in Lawrence, in this state. This was much needed, and will prevent any such wretched operations as have, in these two notable instances, caused untold wretchedness among the poorer laity of the Roman church. The second change is an imitation of the custom observed in the Anglican churches in England and America, where the priest is called rector. Hereafter, all the Roman clergy in charge of parishes will be called rectors, and will be shorn of their priestly name, though not of their priestly character. They will still offer the sacrifice of the cross in the mass, but by the laity their true position as clergymen will be better understood. They will be restricted also in the handling of money. Their salaries will be regulated by the diocesan synods, and everything given to them in a general way must go to the church. They will not be allowed to make the usual Christmas and Easter collections, except where the parish is too poor to pay the salary. They cannot handle money for any purposes without the bishop's consent, and al their funds must be banked in the bishop's name. They cannot receive a dollar for which they do not give account. The third change is quite as radical. It provides for the appointment of a committee of trustees among the laity in each parish, whom the rector is to name, and whom the bishop will approve of. To this board the rector must make an annual report of the financial condition of the church which shall be subject to their examination and approval. He must account for his parochial expenditures, both to the bishop and to the people, and has no chance to abuse a financial trust, if he would. While these changes must be regarded as both wise and proper, they will restrain a class of men who have seemed to exercise great freedom in financial and ecclesiastical matters, and will bring the Roman church under practically the same regulations which have been found to be worth while for a working church among the Protestant bodies. They will undoubtedly be vastly beneficial, and will help to commend the Roman Catholic church as an institution that is managed on business principles. The regular clergy will probably complain of the abridgement of their liberty in handling the offerings of the faithful, but the laity will be rejoiced that they come, for the first time in the history of the church in America, to have a certain amount of responsibility in parish affairs. The compelling of the bishops to carefully distinguish between ecclesiastical and private property has also been greatly needed, and not less important are the instructions as to clearing up the titles to church property, and seeing that they are recorded.

* * *

The most complete, comprehensive, neat and convenient reference book for parliamentary practice which we have ever seen is Uriah Smith's "Diagram of Parliamentary rules," ingeniously arranged for the purpose of giving desired information on 500 questions of parliamentary order at a glance. The author has condensed the whole code of parliamentary law into so small a space that a presiding officer can instantly determine the correct ruling on doubtful points. Price, by mail, postpaid, fifty cents. Review and Herald Publishing Association, Battle Creek, Michigan.

* * *

The children's health must not be neglected. Colds in the head and snuffles bring on Catarrh and throat and lung affections. Ely's Cream Balm cures at once. It is perfectly safe and is easily applied with the finger. It also cures Catarrh and Hay Fever, the worst cases yielding to it in a short time.

When two weeks old our child caught cold. For eighteen months could not breathe through her nostrils, became emaciated. By using Ely's Cream Balm she was cured.—J. M. Smith, Oswego, N. Y

Some people are more sensitive than sensible.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, for dressing the hair and promoting its growth; an indispensable toilet article.

WHAT MARRIAGE HAS TO DO WITH THE TELEPHONE.

"The telephone is a wonderful invention. Isn't it Doc?" said Judge Mervin to his family physician.

"You're just right," replied the doctor enthusiastically. "Without the telephone and the electric alarm, life wouldn't be worth living."

"Oh, not so bad as that," said the judge.

"Oh, you're not married."

"What has marriage to do with the telephone?"

"Everything. No married man should be without one. Here is the way I work it. You have heard of the tendency of a man's conjugal partner to eloquence, after retiring for the night, especially if she has some suspicions as to the previous whereabouts of her hubby before turning in. Well, I avoid all that now. I have an electric button and a telephone at the head of my bed connected with my office down stairs, where Bob (that's my student) sleeps. When the old lady begins to wag her jaw too freely, I just touch the button. See?"

"Go on."

"This wakes up Bob, who is posted, and he rings me up on the telephone, and tells me Mr. Jones is down stairs and wants me to assist in escorting his little heir into the world, or some such story. Then I get up and Bob and I make a night of it, while the old lady peacefully slumbers the slumber of the satisfied."

"Great scheme," said the judge.—St. Paul Herald.

* * *

GREAT INDUCEMENTS.—A gentleman who advertised in the Times for board for himself and wife, received, among others, the following letter, which is produced for curiosity's sake:

Deer Sir

Referin to your advertisement in the paper today i think i have just what you want.

i hev a parlor a sitin room a bedroom a planer lots of garden sass and meals Wherever and whenever you wish to take em.

espeshul attenshun is pade to the nursary a doctor boards in my house, the skool is close by its just what you want for yourself and wife its 10 minutes walk from west shore depot its on walden avenue near pine hill, in fact the hull thing is a dasey referances given and required all for $5 00 a week the bathroom and the privy is on the first floor.

a Methodist minister boards in my house prares morning and evenin. i have a femail boarder who is a planer plaer she is a dandy and would entertane your wife one of my boys plais on a trombone and the other on a drum, every nite we hev a concirt and the nabors all com in my husband peddles milk rite if you want my place as i cant keep it standin open bot a day er to.

P. S. i will come and help you mov.—Buffalo Times.

* * *

TWO GREAT DISCOVERIES.—The discovery of cocoaine has aided surgery in making delicate operations, by lessening pain and doing away with chloroform. St. Jacobs Oil removes all pain and inflammation which follow severe cuts or bruises.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Christmas Poultry,

A large stock of choice

TURKEYS, CHICKENS
and GEESE;

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.

2ds

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,
ACCORDEONS,
HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

W. C. Robinson,

HOLIDAY OPENING!

FANCY GOODS.

It is impossible to give a complete list of these Goods. We can only say come and see for yourself the largest line of Fancy Goods in the city. Brass Goods, Swiss Carvings, Panels and Easels, Cups and Saucers, Mirrors.

Leather and Plush Goods.

Brush and Comb Cases, Jewelry Cases, Ladies' and Gents' Toilet Cases, Odor Cases, Cigar, etc., Handkerchief, Glove, Collar and Cuff Boxes. Ladies' Wallets and Purses in Alligator, Russia, Seal, Antique Leather and Calf. A Fine line of Leather Card Cases of many styles. Also Hand Bags in Leather and Plush.

"IS IT SO NOMINATED IN THE BOND"

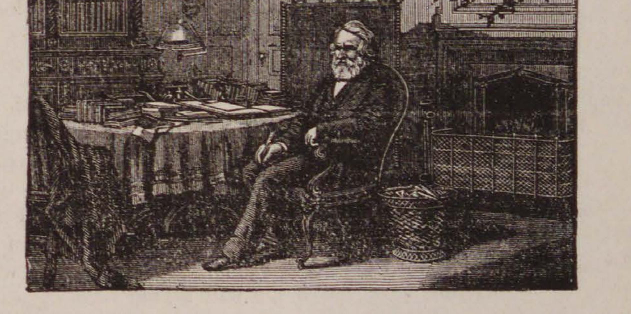
SEE OUR GOODS. BUY EARLY.

Remember the Place.

42 MARKET STREET, LYNN, MASS.

W. C. ROBINSON,

Successor to SMITH & ROBINSON.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions:

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

ARTISTS

We carry a complete stock of everything used in Oil Water Color, China and Lustra Painting. For

—XMAS—

we have hundreds of Novelties for Decoration.

MAIL ORDERS A SPECIALTY.

Illustrated Catalogue and Circulars sent free.

Charles J. Edmands.

12 BROMFIELD ST., BOSTON.

Guide to Kensington Painting, only 25 cents, postpaid.

Nugent Brothers,

PEABODY SQUARE.

LEAD IN STYLES.
LEAD IN QUALITY,
LEAD IN PRICES,

In all kinds of

Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, etc.

Men's Fine Sewed Calf Boots, only,	$2.50
Men's Beaver Boots,	1.50
Men's Rubbers,	.40
Men's Rubber Boots.	2.00
Ladies' Felt Slippers, worth $1.50, only,	1.00
Misses' Grain Button, solid, only	1.00
Children's Kid Button, 7 to 10, only,	.90
Ladies' Glove Top, Kid Foxed Button,	1.50

Never buy without seeing our goods and learning our prices.

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers.

WE HAVE heard of another suggestion, coming from the officials of the Boston & Lowell R. R. which would tend still further to develop the business industry of this town. This is the connection of the Boston & Lowell R. R. at West Peabody or thereabouts, by a line striking directly across the country to Stoneham or Montvale or Winchester—thence into Boston.

This is truly interesting information if the line should be carried through. Not so much because there is needed better accommodations between this town and Boston. On that score we are handsomely treated by the Boston & Maine R. R. But through trains from Salem and Boston, via this route, would be a great event for West Peabody, and would lead to a more fraternal and hospitable feeling between that portion of the town and the center. Because there would be a necessity of more frequent transit between the two portions. West Peabody seems almost like a separate town—so difficult is it of access on account of the limited transit accommodations. It would lead to a further development of the industries there, both farming and manufacturing. And it would open a better market for agricultural products.

Aside from the competition which would of course come between the two roads, if the rails should be laid, a great advantage to our people, and to Salem also, would be a transit to the towns on the line of the Lowell R. R—Woburn and Winchester and the towns between those places and Boston. To reach these towns at present it is necessary to go to Boston—thence on the Boston and Lowell. The connections are not always immediate, and it often happens that a person consumes half a day going from this town to Woburn or Winchester or towns along the line. The distance can be shortened both as to mileage and time by taking a team across the country. Railroad accommodations that cannot overcome the carriage time between places thus distant are certainly limited. We hope the proposed connection by rail is not a mere rumor—but that there is something behind it that will lead to development.

THE grand secretary of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., states the growth of the order very succinctly as follows: In 1819—Lodges, 1, members, 5; 1829—Lodges, 31, members, 2000; 1839—Lodges, 130, members, 9381; 1849—Lodges, 1727, members, 139,242; 1859—Lodges, 3425, members, 177,711; 1869—Lodges, 3473, members, 268,608; 1879—Lodges, 7094, members, 450,238, while in 1884 (half a decade) we have increased to 8057 lodges, with a membership of 532,467. If the years to come in the present decade present an exhibit equal to the past, we may safely assume that the order in 1889 will number more than 9000 lodges and 620,000 members.

IT WAS again shown last Monday evening that our Peabody Institute hall is the place for a concert. The artists were all exceedingly pleased with it, and the ease with which their voices would penetrate every part of the building. The acoustic properties of this hall have always been praised, but it is well not to forget it. If the Institute trustees would reseat the hall or remodel it somewhat after the plan of the Danvers Institute hall, raising the seats, putting in a gallery and a small stage, they would do a favor to the community.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

CRIMINAL COURT RECORD.

There have been 317 cases disposed of in the Peabody police court during 1885, and when compared with some former years will show a large diminution. Of these 141 were convictions for drunkenness, 54 for assault, 15 for larceny, 7 for disturbance of the peace, 32 liquor cases and several convictions for other crimes.

January, whole number of arrests, 9; drunk, 4; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 2; maintaining a liquor nuisance, 1; assault, 1; vagrancy, 1.

February, number of arrests, 17; drunk, 8; assault, 4; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 3; malicious mischief, 1; obstructing the sidewalk, 1.

March, number of arrests, 28; drunk, 9; assault 6; breaking and entering, 3; maintaining liquor nuisance, 2; assault, with dangerous weapon, 2; larceny, 2; vagrancy, 1; obstructing sidewalks, 1; collecting junk without a license, 1; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 1.

April, number of arrests 25; drunk, 10; assault, 4; maintaining a liquor nuisance, 3; breaking and entering, 2; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 2; disturbing the peace, 1; running a pool table without a license, 1; using profane and indecent language. 1; larceny, 1.

May, number of arrests, 28, drunk, 16; gaming on the Lord's day, 4: assault, 2; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 2; overdriving a horse, 2; indecent assault, 1; vagrancy, 1.

June, number of arrests, 39; drunk, 16; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 7; assault 6; breaking and entering, 3; breaking glass, 3; affrays, 2; maintaining liquor nuisance, 1; collecting junk without a license, 1.

July, number of arrests, 36; drunk, 16; assault, 6; larceny, 4; using profane language on the streets, 3; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 3; breaking glass, 3; indecent assault 1.

August, number of arrests, 28; drunk, 16; assault, 3; using profane language on the street, 3; non-support, 2; breaking and entering, 2; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 1; larceny, 1.

September, number of arrests, 38; drunk, 16; assault, 8; breaking and entering, 4; stealing a ride, 3; trespass, 2; malicious mischief, 1; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 1; keeping unlicensed dog, 1; disturbing the peace, 1.

October, whole number of arrests, 25; drunk, 8; assault 5; using profane language, 2; larceny from person, 2; larceny, 2; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 1; stealing a ride, 1; overdriving a horse, 1; illegal selling. 1; disturbance of peace, 1; intimidation, 1.

November, number of arrests 23; drunk, 8; assault, 7; affray, 2; larceny, 2; non-support, 1; illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, 1; disturbing the peace, 1; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 1.

December, number of arrests, 21; drunk, 14; assault, 2; larceny, 1; malicious mischief, 1; using profane language, 1; evading car fare. 1.

Word was received from Mr. H. N. McCully last week, from Orange Park, Florida. He said that the wound in his foot was so far improved that the physicians cut the stitches and as a result the first time he used his foot the cut was again opened and he was laid up again with it, but is doing well now.

Miss Maria Mansfield of this town, while alighting from a train in the Eastern railroad depot at Boston last Friday, caught her clothes on a part of the car platform, which held them in such a position that her feet hardly touched the platform. While she was attempting to turn round to unfasten them, that service was performed by a gentleman who was coming out and so suddenly that she was thrown on her face and was some bruised. It was an embarrassing position.

Mrs. Joshua Holmes, of Peabody, has given notice of suit against the city of Salem, for alleged personal injuries by a fall on the sidewalk in front of Winslow & Rogers' shoe factory, December 20.

Mrs. Sarah Blake, an old lady living on Shillaber street, fell from her bed one day last week, and was unable to get back. She called a neighbor who lived in another part of the house, who assisted her back to bed, but not till she had become thoroughly chilled and caught a severe cold. She is 70 years of age and recently moved from Lowell, having a nephew in Salem.

The police called on several supposed dealers in the ardent last Wednesday. At James Corbett's they secured a quantity of hard stuff and at the house of Mrs. Patrick McCluskey, rum and lager was found.

Mrs. Mary McCloskey pleaded not guilty to the charge of keeping liquors with intent to sell at the police court last Friday. The evidence all pointed the other way and she was fined $50 and costs.

Mr. Richard Lyons, employed at Pemberton Bros., fell from a ladder last Thursday and sprained one of his ankles.

Dr. Morse, of Salem, while riding on Aborn street, Monday, was upset and his sleigh suffered slight damages.

Smith, the oil man of Salem, was upset on Grove street, yesterday, and his pung was totally wrecked. Smith will be able to meet his customers all the same.

Dennis Leary came all the way from Framingham to get drunk in this town, and was fined $1 and costs for the fun in the police court yesterday.

James Corbett was convicted yesterday of keeping a liquor nuisance and fined $100 and costs and three months in the house of correction.

The horse of Mr. James Buxton ran away on Grove street, last Monday, and resulted in breaking the shaft and dasher of the pung.

Superintendent of streets, H. A. Besse, while driving along Main street, Monday, caught the runner of his sleigh in the car track and was thrown out. The horse ran to the stable on Washington street. No harm done.

One of the cars of the Naumkeag road broke an axle last Saturday night while coming to Peabody. The accident happened near the "big tree" and the car was put on a side street and the passengers waited for the next car.

In the police court Saturday the case of Margaret T. Gallagher, charged with selling liquor, came up by continuance. The judge reserved the decision.

Mr. Thomas Duffy was up for second drunk last Monday and fined $5 and costs.

ON OUR TOWN OFFICIALS.

We would respectfully suggest to our honorable board of Selectmen that as it was a disgraceful thing to daub our Lexington monument with paint, so it is a disgrace to the authorities to let it go so long without having it cleaned off. Strangers visit our town daily and the monument is an object of considerable interest. But what must they think when they see it in its present condition.

Chairman Southwick says he did not express his sympathy for Mr. Elligott as we stated last week. Our information came from Mr. Elligott.

Wouldn't it be a good idea for this town to have a seal? Nearly every town and city in the state has one. It gives a legal look to public documents and shows that none others are official.

Perhaps it would be the proper thing to ask the County Commissioners what decision they have come to on the new road of Mr. Appleton, before asking them to lay out another in the same neighborhood.

We believe the Overseers of the Poor are conscientious men and intend that everything shall run smoothly in their department, but there are street rumors that should be stopped or investigated.

There is a general complaint, particularly on Washington street, about the bad taste and smell about the water, and some complain that it causes bowel troubles. How does the water board account for it?

The wisdom displayed by the Selectmen in purchasing a set of dishes for the town house is commendable and they will be found useful on many occasions.

SOUTH PEABODY.

Sylvanus L. Newhall has received $1033 from the Sagamore Mutual Benefit Society of Lynn, and $550 from Glenmere Mutual Benefit Society. He is guardian for Mabel G. Stone, and this insurance is on the life of her father, Samuel Stone, who died last fall.

George Macintosh is having his barn rebuilt at Lynnfield. It will be 24x50, and is being built by William F. Pingree.

Horse car conductors on the Lynn road get so used to punching the tickets with the bell punch that they hit nearly the same place every time. One of them recently counted forty tickets and so near were they punched in the same place that when bunched up an even hole running through the whole lot was seen.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

The Swampscott Standard found its way into our office this week. It is a new six column folio, and its neat typographical appearance and attractive make-up go to show that the publishers, Geo. A. Cole & Co., know their business. We predict that Swampscott will not be slow in appreciating their first home paper.

The Lawrence American's Annual is a very interesting number. It is well printed and contains a large amount of interesting matter.

The Worcester Chronicle is in its prime and vigorous manhood and reached its 21st birthday last week. May it see another score of years under its present able management.

Where is the man that said we shouldn't have a cold winter?

Take everything movable inside, several door mats have been stolen by sneak thieves of late.

Where Hours go Merrily.

A large and well pleased audience was present at the skating rink last Wednesday evening. The exhibition by the Milo Brothers, acrobats and tumblers, was excellent, and added another to the list of first class attractions that have visited our rink this winter.

The Kingdoms defeated the Lancers at polo last Wednesday 3 to 2.

A Christmas entertainment was enjoyed by the members of St. Paul's Episcopal Sunday School last Wednesday night. A bounteous supper was provided and presents awarded. Herbert Richardson received a pair of clamp skates and Willie Rand an art box, for constant attendance at the Sabbath school.

The friends of Mr. L. R. Scott invadded his home last Thursday evening while he was at the lecture, and when he returned they were all ready to assist him in celebrating his 38th birthday. During the evening which was spent as most of such occasions are, he was presented with an easy chair.

A large audience greeted Major H. C. Dame's lecture at the Institute last Thursday evening. The subject was the "Great Naval Battles of the Rebellion." The lecturer graphically pictured several of the important engagements of the war and was attentively listened to. The lecture was very instructive, particularly to the young.

There was a game of polo last night at the rink, between a team from George Clerks and one from Roger Gill's shop. Clerk's team won the game. Score 10 to 9.

The officers of the Ladies' Relief Corps were installed last night, by Mrs. A. J. Lowd of Salem.

It looked like the old time polo days at the rink last Saturday night and a large audience were present to witness the polo game between the Providence and New Bedford teams. The playing was lively and exciting and the Providence team secured the rush in each goal. The playing was mostly around the New Bedfords goal and that club played on the defensive all the evening. The goal tender of the New Bedfords made thirteen stops in the first goal. but it was won by the Providence team in 14 minutes 35 seconds. The neatest play in the second goal, was when Felton passed the ball to Connors who caged it for the Providence team in 2 minutes and 40 seconds, and in the third goal Felton secured the ball and ran it the whole length of the rink, and passed it to Connors who caged it, winning the goal for Providence in 1 minute 20 seconds. The fourth goal was quickly settled by Haywards running the ball into the cage, securing it for Providence in 1 minute and 45 seconds. The fifth goal had hardly opened when Reed was struck under the eye with a polo stick, and that closed the contest as the forty minutes was nearly up.

COMING AT THE RINK.

We learn that the rink has been engaged for a private skating party for Tuesday evening, Jan. 19, and will be under the management of Mr. Edward W. Nichols, Walter C. Merrill and Henry Weed. Two bands will furnish continuous music.

Wednesday evening, Jan. 20, Walsh & Gilmore's combination of Boston will appear. Mr. Fred L. Walsh is a favorite fancy and trick skater. Mr. Charles Gilmore is twenty-five years old and only 36 inches high. They will appear in their humorous specialty "The bad boy and his pa on roller skates." Lots of fun.

Next Saturday night, Jan 16th, there will be a five mile handicap race between Prof. E. L. Maddocks, the champion 24 hour roller skater, who has a record of 276 miles, and Mr. J. Finn of Salem, who is well known as a fast racer. Maddock will give him two laps on the five miles.

January 30, Fred White of Boston, a man with a record, will contest with Finn of Salem for $25.00.

Remember the skating and dancing party at the rink to night under the auspices of Eagle Hose Co., No. 1. The committee of arrangements are Fred B. Thomas and William Brown; Floor Director, Fred. B. Thomas; Aids, Ezra H. Shannon, W. F. T. Gunn, Fred C. Blake, Geo. A. Lawrence, Fred Farrington, Allen B. Osborne, John W. Byron, Lewis McKeen, William Brown, William Doughty, William B. Flanigan and George Torr.

From 12 to 18 below zero yesterday!

Up to this time the season has been quite favorable to coal bins.

Keep the air in your rooms moist by keeping water on your stoves.

The insurance ($1000) in the Eastern Associates on the life of Mrs. Timothy Mullane was received, last week, by Mr. George A. Whitney, collector for that organization, and another payment ($150) on the life of Mr. James H. Thomas was also received.

The Gloucester Breeze credits to the Lynn Bee an article on the Belle of Cape Ann which the Bee "lifted" bodily from the Herald.—Telegram.

Alas! and we have done the same thing from the Telegram more than once.—Gloucester Bulletin.

LABOR AND CAPITAL.—As a rule, wealth is the result of industry, economy, attention to business; and as a rule, poverty is the result of idleness, extravagance, and inattention to business—though to these rules there are thousands of exceptions. The man who has wasted his time, who has thrown away his opportunities, is apt to envy the man who has not. For instance: here are six men working in one shop. One of them attends to his business; you can hear the music of his hammer late and early. He is in love, it may be, with some girl; he has made up his mind to be a man, to succeed, to make somebody else happy, to have a home; and while he is working, in his imagination he can see his own fireside, with the light falling upon the faces of his wife and child. The other five gentlemen work as little as they can, spend Sunday in dissipation, have the headache Monday, and, as a result, never advance. The industrious one, the one in love, gains the confidence of his employer, and in a little while he cuts out work for the other fellows. The first thing you know he has a shop of his own; the next a store; because the man of reputation, the man of character, one of well known integrity, can buy all he wishes in the United States upon credit. The next thing you know he is married, and has built a house, and is happy, and his dream has been realized. After a while the same five gentlemen, having pursued the same old course, stand on the corner some Sunday when he rides by. He has a carriage; his wife sits by his side, her face covered with smiles, and they have two children, their faces beaming with joy, and their ribbons fluttering in the wind. And thereupon the five gentlemen adjourn to some neighboring saloon and pass a resolution that there is an irrepressible conflict between labor and capital. Every man who has good health is a capitalist; every one who has had his dinner and has enough for supper is, to that extent, a capitalist; every man with a good character, who has the credit to borrow $1 or to buy a meal, is a capitalist; and nine out of ten of the capitalists in the United States are simply successful workingmen. There is no conflict, in the United States, between capital and labor.—Col. Ingersoll.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of D. B. H. Power & Co. This firm claims to have a larger stock and lower prices than can be found elsewere. They propose taking account of stock Feb. 10th and are offering special inducements in the way of extra low prices and easy terms for the purpose of reducing their large stock, which is overcrowding every department of connecting stores, before that date.

A gentleman living in sight of our office, during the warm spell, said to a party of friends that he had some nice elderberry wine, the finest thing in the world for cold weather and promised to give his friends some the first cold snap, to test it. Naturally his friends have been anxious for the cold wave to reach here, and when it did our friend went home to see how much he had, and never returned. Moral. Put not your faith in Princess or Politicians.

We learn that Dr. L. Whiting, of Danvers, is thinking of establishing an office in Peabody, where he has already a large and unusually successful practice. This will be gratifying news to his many friends in town, who prefer the homeopathic method of treatment. We have good reason to believe that Dr. Whiting is one of the best homeopathic physicians in the State, and we wish him success.

When you want to know who to buy from, look at the advertisements in our paper. Those who cannot give goods cheap do not advertise, and those who can give bargains are not afraid to tell people what they are able to do. Square business men always advertise, but a close-fisted miserly one never.

The portraits on United States bank notes of different denominations are. On $1, Washington; $2. Jefferson; $5, Jackson; $10, Webster; $20, Hamilton; $50, Franklin; $100, Lincoln; $500, General Mansfield; $1,000, DeWitt Clinton: $5,000 Madison; $10,000, Jackson.

Why need you never starve on board ship? Because you get cold chops from the north, little puffs from the south, chickens from the hatches, and, as for eggs, the captain can lay to any day.

It will be seen by our police court record that for five consecutive months last year there were 16 arrests for drunkenness.

The Lowell freight from Salem was side tracked at West Peabody during the storm Saturday.

The females at Winslow & Rogers' shoe factory went out on a strike last Friday.

Our thanks are due Hon. E. F. Stone, M. C., for a copy of the Congressional Record.

A lie will travel a league while the truth is getting its boots on.

Mr. John McEnerny, who was formerly employed in this town, and a few years ago removed to Ohio, died of consumption last month at Napoleon. He was 28 years of age and leaves a wife and three children, father and mother, and several brothers and sisters to mourn his death. Mr. McEnerny was well known here, as he was of that good kind nature that was always thinking to help another, and in consequence made many friends who will be pained to hear of his death.

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning.

W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.

Open Every Evening.

L. B. S.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society at the Unitarian Chapel, Thursday, Jan. 14th, afternoon and evening. Supper at 6.30 o'clock.

C. P. LUMMUS, Sec.

New Advertisements.

GREAT SALE

— OF —

Ladies' Cotton Underwear

AND

HAMBURG EDGING.

Special Bargains in Domestics the coming week.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the widow, Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin and all other Persons interested in the Estate of CORNELIUS MAHONEY, late of Peabody, in said county, farmer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament and a codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate, by Ellen Keefe, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named. and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of February, next. at nine o'clock before noon. to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said Ellen Keefe is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 13—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of JOHN SHEHAN, alias JOHN SHEAHAN, late of Peabody, in said county, laborer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Mary Shehan, alias Mary Sheahan, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of February, next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 13—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Next of Kin, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of EDWARD SHERRY, late of Peabody, in said County, laborer, deceased, intestate. GREETING;

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to James Sherry, of Peabody, in the County of Essex. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of February, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said James Sherry is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this second day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six,

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 13—3t

Oat Meal and Graham Flour

FRESH GROUND Oat Meal and Graham Flour received from mill.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

PETITION AND ORDER.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We the undersigned citizens of said county would respectfully represent, that the public convenience and necessity requires a county highway from a point near the junction of Holten and Collins streets in the town of Danvers to a point at junction of Garden and Prince streets, thence following the line of Garden street to Andover street, thence running north-westerly on Andover street about 800 feet to a point on said Andover street, between the houses of Cross and Fisher, thence running westerly to Newbury street, thence across said street passing south-east of the house of Jasper Pope to the town line between Danvers and Peabody near an old highway, which highway we wish to have discontinued, thence running westerly, passing southerly of the dwelling houses of Perley Goodale and Jacob Goodale, Thomas C. Durkee, and south-easterly of the barn of Wm. P. Upham, Esq., and north-westerly of the house of Geo. W. Taylor to a point on Lowell street in said Peabody near the junction of Russell street following nearly the route as surveyed by Andrew Nichols, surveyor.

Also that said highway be continued to West street following the pathway now in use leaving Lowell street by gate opposite George W. Taylor's residence and uniting with West street at the north-easterly corner of the school house yard.

We therefore petition your Honorable Body to lay out a public highway on or near the line as herein described.

JACOB B. GOODALE,
Peabody, Dec. 17, '85. and others.

TO THE HONORABLE THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We hereby respectfully represent that having signed a petition for a highway from Holten street in Danvers to Lowell street in Peabody at a point north-westerly from the house of George W. Taylor, and understanding that it may be more expedient that said highway should come out on Lowell street at a point about nine hundred feet easterly from said Taylor's house, we hereby assent to said change in the location of said proposed highway, if thought best.

N. P. MERRIAM and others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss.

COURT OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, DECEMBER TERM, A. D., 1885, HELD BY ADJOURNMENT, JAN. 4, 1886.

On the Petition aforesaid, ordered, That said petitioners give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein, that said Commissioners will meet at the West Peabody Hall in said Peabody on TUESDAY, the sixteenth day of February next, at nine o'clock, A. M.,— by publishing an attested copy of said Petition, and of this Order thereon, in the Peabody Press and Danvers Mirror, newspapers printed in Peabody and Danvers, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February.—And also by serving each of the Town Clerks of said Peabody and Danvers with an attested copy of said Petition and this Order, thirty days at least, and by posting up an attested copy thereof in two public places in each of said towns, fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February, at which time and place said Commissioners will proceed to view the premises, and take such order in relation to the Prayer of said Petition, as by law they may be authorized to do.

DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.

A true copy of Petition and Order thereon.

Attest, DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.

A true copy. Attest,

DANIEL J. PRESTON,
jan 13 Deputy Sheriff.

MECHANIC HALL, SALEM.

THE

SALEM ORATORIO SOCIETY

Announces two Concerts during the present season.

MENDELSSOHN'S ST. PAUL,
FEBRUARY 3:

SPOHR'S LAST JUDGMENT,
and other works, EASTER MONDAY,
APRIL 26.

COURSE TICKETS, with reserved seats $1.50.

They are sold in the form of checks, which are now on sale at the store of E. V. Emilio. 245 Essex street, or may be obtained from members of the Society.

Course tickets, with reserved seats, will be delivered to holders of these checks only on presentation of the same at Emilio's Music Store, 245 Essex street. on the morning of Friday, Jan. 29th, at 9 A. M., and continuing through Saturday, Jan. 30th, after which date the sale will be open to the public.

The performance of St. Paul will be given on

Wednesday Evening, Feb. 3,
At 7.45 o'clock,

Assisted by
MISS ELENE BUFFINGTON KEHEW, Soprano
MISS ANNIE H. LORD, Contralto.
MR. CHARKES ABERCROMBIE, Tenor.
MR. D. M. BABCOCK, Bass.
THE GERMANIA ORCHESTRA, GEO. W. SUMNER, Organist.
CARL ZERRAHN, Conductor.

Evening tickets, $1. Admission, 50 cts.
Afternoon rehearsals at 3 o'clock.
Admission, 25 cents.

Extra train for Lynn and Boston at close of performance.

SIG. BATTALIA,
FROM BOSTON,
PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms,
40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

WARREN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank for the election of new members and a board of Officers for the ensuing year, also for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting, will be held at the Bank rooms on Wednesday, January 27th, 1886, at 7.30 o'clock P. M.

A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.

Peabody, Dec. 30, 1885.

WANTED

Room and Board for a gentleman and child about four years of age. Address.

BOX 18,
Peabody P. O.

The Peabody Press.
Wednesday Evening, Jan, 13, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Charles Harrington & Co. publish a statement in the Salem Gazette of yesterday in which they refer to their recent troubles with the K. of L. as follows: "We have accepted their schedule of prices, and have done all in our power, consistent with our sense of honor, to meet their views; but they will not come to an agreement with us, unless we accede to new demands, which if complied with by us, would be unjust to faithful men, who have long been in our employ. As it will be impossible for us to consent to do this injustice, we have decided to announce that we are ready to give to reliable men steady employment at good wages." The man referred to is one who refused to join the K. of L. and remained with the Harringtons, and to protect himself, had the firm sign an agreement to employ him for a year.

Cold, isn't it! That is what everybody said in doors and out, yesterday. While the weather has always been a standing topic of conversation and is always the first seized upon by the bashful young man, who doesn't think of anything else to speak about when he calls on his Sunday girl, it is now in this vicinity beating its own record as a monopolizer of talk and conversation. Everywhere on the street you hear remarks such as, "Did you ever see such weather, or isn't this horrible!" And even the oldest inhabitant comes forward and relates a yarn from his well selected stock of reminiscences of winters in former years that were far worse than this. So it goes, everybody has his say and everybody growls and finds fault and still the most of the mercury remains in the ball of the thermometer and refuses to go up.

Last Friday night was one of the severest that has been experienced here this season. Not only was the wind intensely cold but its velocity was so great as to drive it nearly to one's marrow. It was a bitter night for the police, and one of them said it was impossible at times to face the blast while patrolling his beat and he was obliged to turn and back against it. The snow storm set in about one o'clock and continued with unabated fury piling the snow in great drifts in a very short time. None but those whose duties call them out at the dead of night can fully comprehend how hard it is to keep the blood circulating on such a night between midnight and dawn.

This town sadly needs a public park, and if a few enterprising citizens would interest themselves in the matter, public sentiment could be quickly turned in that direction and the desired object obtained. There are several eligible lots that could be secured. We have in mind at the present writing the large lot of land extending east from Central street about opposite Mr. E. P. Barrett's residence. It is probable unless it is secured by the town that before many years it will be opened by a road through it and sold for house lots. As it now is there is no limit to the amount of land, and it is in one of the pleasantest and most sightly parts of the town.

The number of marriages in town last year was 71. Two couples lived out of town; 53 brides lived in town and 51 grooms. The youngest bride was 16 and the oldest groom 78; 36 were born in Peabody and 41 were born in foreign countries. Rev. Vincent Borgialli married 10 couples; Rev. Patrick Masterson, 7; Rev. C. N. Smith, 6; Rev. W. G. Sperry, 5; Rev. F. W. Sprague, 6; Rev. George Walker, 4; Rev. J. W. Colwell, 3; Rev. Mr. Shipman, 2; Rev. Father Hickey, 2; Rev. J. W. Hudson, 1; Rev. W. Spaulding, 1; Amos Merrill, Esq., 1

The following notice appears in the advertising columns of the Salem News:

> TO LET—In Peabody, an observatory lately occupied by Professor Goodwin. For further particulars address Dr. C. C. PIKE, or JOHN MOTLEY, English st., Peabody. Per order of the L. and O. L.

The above mentioned gentlemen desire to state that the author of the notice, to state it very mildly, is mistaken. The "observatory" is not to let, and "Professor Goodwin" is constantly on the lookout for rumsellers, thieves and such like law breakers. If the advertiser is one of the above class, as it would seem likely, he had best look out for himself or the "Professor" will catch him.

C. H. Goulding has on exhibition, at his store on Walnut street, a Limn Porcelain dinner set, 128 pieces, new diamond pattern; An elegant tea set, 68 pieces, very finely decorated with hand painting; A fine toilet set, diamond pattern, peach blossoms decoration; Black Walnut chamber set; Gent's Plush easy chair; Ladies' Silk patent rocker; marble top table, mirror, etc., to be given away to lucky season ticket holders in the G. A. R. Fair next week.

The friends of Mr. Walter Potter will be pleased to learn of his business success, as the following from the Sunday Herald will show: "Another rising financier is Walter Potter of the Potter, Lovell Co., note brokers. Seven years ago he began as a clerk with Bush, Wood, Pinkham & Co., under the Rialto building on Devonshire street. Two years after the firm of Loring & Potter was formed, which was succeeded first by Lawrence, Potter & Co., and finally, a year ago, by a corporation under the name of Potter, Lovell Co. Everything that Walter Potter touches goes right, and, though he is worth only $200,000 to-day, he is sure to be a millionaire if he lives. It is said that he made from $50,000 to $100,000 last year. Walter Potter is about 30 years of age. He is short and stout, with a fresh red and white complexion and light hair. He dresses well, but is not an ultra dude. He wears a tall beaver, which is always a little too large for his head, and is frequently to be seen on the Commonwealth avenue side of the Vendome, talking with Asa Potter."

W. P. Clark, a respected sheepskin manufacturer of Peabody, established his business in that town about thirty years ago. He has always manufactured a good article which has had a ready sale, has employed only native workmen and has always paid fair wages for his work. His factory has been singularly free from labor troubles, having repeatedly piled up stock in dull times, when there was no sale, and awaited the turn of the market rather than stop his factory and bring distress upon the families of his employes. He is a sample of the true manufacturer, who has in view the interests and rights of labor as well as capital. He has one man who has been in his employ thirty years, and others for nearly as long a time. Strikes might be less frequent, and general business be spared much of its periodic depression, were there more of this class of men in business.—Shoe and Leather Review.

A tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men was instituted in this town last Monday evening, by Great Sachem J. L. N. Davenport, of the Grand Council of Mass., assisted by members of Agawam Tribe of Danvers. The lodge was instituted under the name of Masconomo Tribe No. 11, and the following officers were elected: Prophet, S. S. Littlefield; Sachem, Charles A. Weare; Senior Sagamore, O. B. Chadwick; Junior Sagamore, Ezra H. Shannon; Chief of Records, Eben I. Kimball; Assistant Chief of Records, J. F. Morland; Keeper of the Wampum, Daniel P. Grosvenor. The officers elect were duly installed by Great Sachem Davenport, and the meeting adjourned until Thursday evening, Jan. 21. D. S. Littlefield, W. B. Richardson and T. H. Jackman were elected trustees.

Mr. James Cook, living on Washington street, died at his home quite suddenly last Friday night of heart disease, an ailment which he has been suffering from for some time. He was a butcher by trade and retired from active work several years ago. He has enjoyed fair health and did not complain of illness until a few hours before his death. During the afternoon he had driven to Salem in his carriage. Mr. Cook was a member of the Baptist church and had the respect of the community. His remains were quietly laid away in Harmony Grove cemetery yesterday, the funeral being conducted by the pastor of the Baptist church at the late residence of the deceased.

The following directors were elected at a meeting of the Warren Bank corporation yesterday: Lewis Allen, C. Warren Osborne, Stephen Blaney, Rufus H. Brown, George S. Osborne, Franklin Osborne, Alex B. Merrill, John Pinder, Nathaniel Symonds. President, C. W. Osborne; Vice Pres., A. B. Merrill; Cashier, F. C. Merrill. Owing to the continued ill health of Major Allen he has been unable to attend the duties of President for a long time.

The Legislative Committees have been announced, and Col. Batchelder of this town is on the house committee on elections, and the joint committee on Federal relations. Senator Cogswell is chairman of the judiciary committee of the senate, and is on the committee on rules. He is also a member of the joint committee on Mercantile affairs.

Mr. H. Nathan, the barber in Baldwin's hotel, calls attention to his attractive new barber shop by means of circulars. The shop is fitted in an elegant manner with chandelier and crystal fountain, with cologne to perfume the place. Mr. Nathan has leased the shop for a term of years.

James Eagan, a young man for whom a benefit was held recently in the Town Hall by friends, died Sunday at Mrs. Dunney's boarding house on Main street, of kidney disease. He was buried yesterday. His age was 35 years.

Rev. J. N. Shipman preached at the South Church last Sunday forenoon.

SPARKS.

Steamer 1, being the lightest engine, was put on duty last Saturday to remain on during the heavy travelling.

In the Massachusetts Senate, Monday, Senator Cogswell of Salem offered an order, which was adopted, that the Committee on Judiciary consider the expediency of empowering Selectmen of towns to remove engineers of fire departments for cause. As the law now is the Selectmen can appoint an engineer but has no power to remove him until his time expires, no matter how much he may merit discharge.

Nothing of importance was transacted at the meeting of the Board of Engineers last Wednesday evening, beyond the approval of bills.

Hose 5 will have a clam chowder at their hose house next Friday evening, and the foremen of the different companies have received invitations to be present.

Chief Tibbetts gave orders last Saturday morning, during the heavy snow storm, that should the storm continue throughout the day and night that three men be detailed from each company in the Central Station to remain on duty all night. But the weather cleared and the orders were not carried out.

Hose 5 have just received a new hose pung from J. A. Roome & Co.

Elmer Steinert, of the Somerville department, well known to Peabody firemen, was injured in the back at the Clinton block fire in Boston, Tuesday, by slipping on the ice. He was taken away in great agony. Mr. Steinert is a great favorite among the boys of the Central Station.

Friday, January 8, was observed as a day of prayer at the W. C. T. U. room, commencing at 9.30. The leaders of the morning hours were Miss M. J. Floyd, Miss H. M. Saunders and Mrs. M. M. Cutler, using the topics designated by the Evangelical Alliance. Interesting remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Shipman and Mrs. C. N. Smith. In the afternoon at 1.30, Mrs. A. L. Shipman led the first hour. At 2.30, the meeting adjourned to the Ladies' parlor of the South Church, to unite with the meeting of Mr. Davis, the Evangelist. The room was filled. Mrs. M. O. Stevens took charge of the last hour, the topic assigned, being "the abolition of the traffic in slaves, opium, and intoxicating drinks." She spoke very impressively, from the text of Scripture found in Matt. 15:13—"Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up," strongly emphasizing the fact that the liquor traffic was not of God's planting, therefore it cannot always continue. Words of encouragement were spoken by W. F. Davis, Rev. C. N. Smith, Mr. Willard Perkins, and Deacon Richard Smith. Mr. Morse, together with Mr. and Mrs. Shipman, sang very effectively. The day was one of special interest throughout.

The Peabody Mutual Benefit Society held its annual meeting, last Friday evening, in Hibernian Hall, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:—President, James Fallon; Vice President, James E. Linehan; Sec., James J. McCann; Treas., John Murray; Directors, Charles Cassidy, Cornelius Lynch, Bartholomew Sullivan, Caleb Kirby, Dennis Linehan, William Sullivan, Lawrence McDonnel, Richard J. McElligott, Thomas Hayes, Timothy Mullane, Timothy O'Brien. The sum of $388 has been paid out for benefits during the year, and there is a balance of $100 in the treasury. The association numbers 125 members.

The following officers of Union Post 50 G. A. R. were installed last Monday evening by Col. C. T. Batchelder:—Commander, F. E. Farnham; S. V. C., T. H. Jackman; J. V. C., C. J. Linehan; Surgeon, Dr. C. C. Pike; Chaplain, J. K. Cole; Q. M., W. F. Sumner; C. D., S. G. Southwick; O. G., John C. McDonald; Adjutant, George F. Barnes; Sergeant Major, C. K. Hutchinson; Q. M. Sergeant, Edward Meacom.

It is reported that William H. Brown has bought out the Malden Glue Works. It is not supposed that Mr. Brown will discontinue his business here, but will run the Malden works in connection with his Peabody business.

The dance of Essex Assembly 4340, K. of L. was largely attended, there being over 100 couples present. There were many present from out of town, and a good time followed.

Miss Jennie M. Whipple is teaching at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., instead of Fort Wagner, as has been reported.

Nearly every man you meet now is a red man and you hear on all sides the cry of recognition "Whoop La Lydia Pinkham."

Franklin Osborne & Co. raised the pay of their men voluntarily last Saturday $1 a week.

The members of the old Cushing Debating Society are invited to meet at the office of C. A. Weare to-night.

The long winter evenings should be spent in self-improvement.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

OUR ANNUAL JANUARY SALE

— OF —

COTTON UNDERWEAR,

Is now going on. An entirely New Stock of

NIGHT ROBES, CHEMISES,
SKIRTS AND DRAWERS.

Better and larger than ever before shown in this city, every Garment having been made to our special order, with the view of securing the best materials and embroideries, and the most perfect work that could be obtained.

A FEW LEADING VALUES.

LOT NO. 1. 25 dozen trimmed Corset Covers, at 12 1-2c.

LOT NO. 2. 50 dozen trimmed Corset Covers, at 15c.

LOT NO. 3. 20 dozen Drawers, tucked and trimmed, at 25c.

LOT NO. 4. 30 dozen Drawers, fine wide tucks and deep plain ruffles, at 37 1-2c.

LOT NO. 5. 30 dozen Drawers with clusters of fine tucks and Hamburg Edge, at 45c.

LOT NO. 6. 20 dozen Drawers with tucks, insertings and Hamburg edge, at 59c.

LOT NO. 7. 40 dozen Night Robes, full length, trimmed around neck and sleeves and down the front, at 39c.

LOT NO. 8. 25 dozen Night Robes, trimmed around neck and sleeves and tucked yoke, 45c.

LOT NO. 9. 20 dozen Night Robes, very best cotton, trimmed with Hamburg edge, square neck, trimming of tucks and inserting, (usual price $1.50), at 95c.

LOT NO. 10. 25 dozen Skirts, made of best material, tucked and trimmed with deep Hamburg Ruffle, only 58c. This lot cannot be duplicated.

The above are only a few of the many Bargains we shall offer during this sale, which will be found to be the most interesting ever held in any city in New England.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,
94 & 96 Washington Street.

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

SPECIAL BARGAINS.

Men's Merino Boots, for Car Drivers, Milk Men, etc., very warm, only 75¢ cents per pair, last for this season.

Men's Buckle Arctics only $1 per pair.

Women's, Misses and Children's Overs, only 25 cents per pair.

Men's Woonsocket, R. I., Rubber Boots, only $2 25 per pair.

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SAMUEL TRASK'S

BARGAIN STORE.

Full line of

HARDWARE,

Paint Stock, Builders' Material, Wooden Ware.

5 AND 10 CENT COUNTERS.

Glass ware, rubber goods, garden tools, cordage, Brooms and brushes.

Mixed Paints and colors, Oil Clothing, Common and Face Bricks, Bed Leather, Belting, Sole Leather, Bird Cages.

Children's Carts, Wagons and Toys.

Barbed Wire, Seed, Fertilizer, etc., etc.

SAMUEL TRASK,

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER

AND

BLANK BOOK

MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY
AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

POTATOES.

We have a large lot of nice Ipswich potatoes which we are offering our customers as being a prime article.

— also —

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

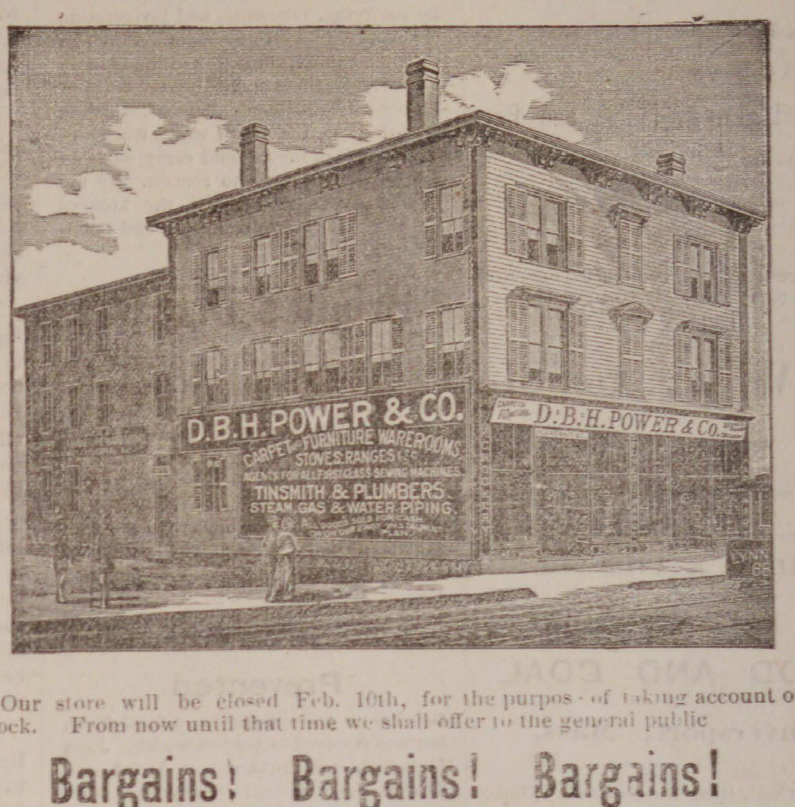
A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

STOVES, RANGES, FURNITURE, CARPETS,
CROCKERY,

And Complete House Furnishings.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET & FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES &c.
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
D. B. H. POWER & CO.

Our store will be closed Feb. 10th, for the purpose of taking account of stock. From now until that time we shall offer to the general public

Bargains! Bargains! Bargains!

In every Department. We have just unloaded one more car load of the CELEBRATED NEW HUB & GLENWOOD RANGES & PARLOR STOVES.

Have added to our already large stock of Carpets, $10,000 worth of

TAPESTRY, BRUSSELS & WOOLEN CARPETS.

During the last month we have bought from the manufacturers over 500

CHAMBER SETS,

In Ash, Black Walnut, Cherry and Painted. Even now, after one of the most successful months in the history of our business, we find every department over crowded, not only in our Furniture and Carpet departments, but in our Crockery, Lamp and Silver Ware departments.

We must take account of stock Feb. 10th, and before that time we must lower our stock, and now is the time to take advantage of low prices.

REMEMBER. We deliver every thing we sell and warrant every thing to be delivered in as good condition as you see it in our ware rooms.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

25,000 SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR ROOM.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

Connected by Telephone No. 1674.

Originators of our special instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a week. We lead all and follow or copy from no one.

Grand Mark Down Sale

— OF —

MENS, BOYS AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING

— AT —

Wilmot's Clothing House,

252 & 254 ESSEX STREET SALEM, MASS

J. FRANK LOYNTON, Manager.

N. B. On and after Jan. 1st, 1886, our store will be closed every evening at 6 o'clock except Monday, Friday and Saturday. On these evenings we shall keep open as usual.

JAS. HOWLEY,
TAILOR.

Would respectfully invite the public to call and examine his large and well selected stock of

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC WOOLENS

In the latest styles, which he is now offering at very low prices.

314 different styles in

PANTALOON GOODS

to select from. From $5 to 10.00. Garments made and trimmed in first class style. Perfect fit guaranteed.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR,

MAIN STREET,

OVER WARREN & TRASK'S STORE.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheao kin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus P. Batchelder Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions.

eep the Best of Meats-
r Expenses are Light-
e sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.
TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.

(next to S. Trask's.)

PEABODY.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER,

Buckwheat Flour.

FRESH ground Pennsylvania Buck Wheat Flour
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

NORTH'S

PHILADELPHIA MUSICAL JOURNAL.

The Cheapest, Most Readable and Most Reliable

MUSICAL MONTHLY IN THIS COUNTRY

Sixteen pages of the latest and best sheet music, vocal and instrumental.

Highly interesting serials and short stories, original and translated.

Timely and trenchant editorials on current musical topics.

Brief Biographies of musical celebrities.

Fearless and impartial criticisms of concerts and operatic performances.

Hosts of attractive and original features.

Subscription only One Dollar a year, in advance.

☞ Premiums of Choice Musical Selections to all who subscribe prior to January 15th, 1886.

Special Rates to Clubs (copies mailed to one Post Office), and one copy free to the getter-up of the club.

Musicians, as well as Amateurs, will find a year's subscription a profitable investment.

PUBLISHED BY

F. A. NORTH & CO.,

1308 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.,

To whom all communications should be addressed.

Send for a specimen copy.

The New York Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday) $6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday) 50
SUNDAY, per Year 1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR 7 00
WEEKLY, per Year 1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

MASON & HAMLIN

ORGANS: Highest Honors at all Great World's Exhibitions for eighteen years. One hundred styles. $22. to $900. For Cash, Easy Payments, or Rented. Catalogues free.

Mason & Hamlin.

PIANOS: New mode of Stringing. Do not require one-quarter as much tuning as Pianos on the prevailing "wrest-pin" system. Remarkable for purity of tone and durability.

Organ and Piano Co.

154 Tremont Street, Boston.

sept 23--6t

The Household.

It is said that tarnished or rusted brass may be restored by rubbing it with fine emery cloth; or the article may be dipped in diluted nitric acid, then rubbed with sawdust, and finally polished with "brassoline."

SAUCE FOR ROAST BEEF.—Grate horse-radish on a grater into a basin, add two tablespoonsful of cream, with a little mustard and salt, mix well together, add four tablespoonsful of the best vinegar, and mix the whole thoroughly. The vinegar and cream are both to be cold.

TO CLEAN PAINT.—Mix common whiting to the consistency of common paste in warm water. Rub the surface to be cleaned quite briskly with a piece of flannel dipped in the whiting, and wash off with pure cold water. Grease spots, etc., will be removed without injury to the paint.

A CORRESPONDENT asks if there be any means of prevention for the exudation of petroleum upon lamps. If the lamps be carefully cleaned and wiped dry, and the wicks turned down a short distance below the top of the burners, there will never be a trace of oil upon the outside of the lamps.

TAPIOCA CUP PUDDING.—This is very light and delicate for invalids. An even tablespoonful of tapioca, soaked for two hours in nearly a cup of new milk. Stir into this the yolk of a fresh egg, a little sugar, a grain of salt, and bake in a cup for fifteen minutes. A little jelly may be eaten with it.

NELLIE'S CORN PUDDING.—Grate twelve ears sweet corn, stir into one quart of milk, add four beaten eggs, two cups of sugar and a tablespoonful of salt. Pour the mixture into a dish and put small pieces of butter on top; bake three-quarters of an hour in a quick oven and eat hot with butter.

A RICH buffet cover is made of ecru linen crash, with a branch of orange tree, with fruit and foliage embroidered across one end, while on the other is a cherry branch. Below the embroidery is an eight-inch border of drawn work, edged by an inch-wide piece of the plain linen, this being bordered with a four-inch wide knotted fringe.

TOMATO SOUP.—One quart can of tomatoes; or twelve large ripe tomatoes, peeled and chopped; boil an hour, then stir in half a teaspoonful of soda; when the foaming ceases add two soft crackers rolled very fine, one quart of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to taste. Cook fifteen minutes. If too thick add milk or boiling water.

BOLA DE RIVA is a Spanish dessert and is made in the following manner: Beat fine in a mortar three ounces of almonds and mix with two ounces of chopped almonds. Mix half a pound of butter with half a pound of pulverized sugar; then add four eggs, stirring thoroughly; next add the almond mixture and stir well together; add one pound of sifted flour, mixing all very smooth. Form into balls or cakes and bake in a greased pan.

PICKLED APPLES.—Choose green, hard fruit; if perfectly dry, windfalls answer very well. Peel, core and quarter; if large divide again. Have ready some vinegar in which ginger, allspice and a blade of mace have been well boiled. Lay your apples, a few at a time, into your jar and pour on vinegar enough to well cover, then more layers and vinegar, dividing your loose spice and scattering it amongst the apples. When your vessel is full, cover down close, and in three months you will have a splendid pickle. Some put the vinegar on cold and do not peel the fruit, but I prefer boiling vinegar and the rinds removed. The fruit must be perfectly dry and also kept in a dry place after pickling.

BASS, blackfish and bluefish are excellent prepared au court bouillon. Cleanse three pounds of fish and put in a fish kettle, just covering it with cold water and a gill of vinegar. If preferred, half white wine and water with one gill of vinegar may be used. Add three or four sprigs of parsley, one of thyme, two cloves of garlic, half a carrot, sliced, one onion, a little tarragon, if you have it, one clove and salt and pepper to taste. Put the kettle on the fire and simmer the contents until done. Dish the fish and serve warm with caper or anchovy sauce or currant jelly. The sauce is served in a sauce-boat.

It is said that eighty-seven per cent. of the American emigrants who have recently arrived at Paso del Norte, Mexico, are professional gamblers.

A pension of £4,000 was granted in 1790 by the British Parliament to the heirs and descendants of William Penn, in consideration of his meritorious services, and of the losses which his family sustained in consequence of the American war.

* * *

The "spelling-school craze," which had a run through the country several years ago, is likely to be revived as an amusement this winter. It is not much credit to be a good speller, but very discreditable not to spell well. It is for young people to remember this. Many a youth has lost a good paying situation, and many a young man has lost the chance of the best wife by failing to make a study of his spelling book and dictionary when young. There is no place where bad spelling looks worse than in a love letter; written by either a young lady or gentleman, will spoil a hundred romantic tete-a-tetes by moonlight, and lock the whole case up in chancery.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

A POPULAR MONTHLY OF GENERAL LITERATURE.

With the issue for January, 1886, important changes will be made in the literary character and typographical appearance of Lippincott's Magazine, which, while more than maintaining the former standards of excellence, will, it is expected materially increase its popularity and widen its sphere of usefulness. The distinctive features of Lippincott's for the coming year will be as follows

It will be a live periodical, interesting itself in all the current topics of the day, literary, artistic, political, and social, and enlisting in their discussion the ablest pens in England and America. A fair hearing will be accorded to all sides of a controversy, though the magazine will strictly preserve its own neutrality.

It will be especially strong in fiction. A new novel, entitled "Hope," by W. E. Norris, author of "Matrimony," "No New Thing," etc., who is perhaps the cleverest of the rising authors of England, will run through the year, accompanied by a brilliant serial, dealing with the literary and dramatic life of New York City, from the pen of a writer who prefers to keep his name a secret, but whose every touch reveals an intimate acquaintance with the scenes which he describes.

It will be rich in short stories, poems and sketches.

By special arrangement it will be the authorized medium through which the latest utterances of the most eminent transatlantic writers will reach the American public simultaneously with their appearance abroad.

It will number among its American contributors such writers as Gail Hamilton, Julian Hawthorne, Harriet Prescott Spofford, John Bach McMaster, "J. S. of Dale," J. Brander Matthews, etc.

It will be the cheapest first-class magazine issued in America. Recognizing the needs of the time for good literature at moderate prices, the publishers have decided to lower the subscription price, commencing with the new volume, to a sum that will place Lippincott's Magazine within the reach of all.

For sale by all Newsdealers, 25 cents per copy. $2 per annum.

A specimen copy sent free on application.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Publishers,
715 and 717 Market St., Philadelphia.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY

FOR 1886

Will contain serial stories by

CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,

Author of "The Prophet of the Great Smoky Mountains," "In the Tennessee Mountains," etc.

HENRY JAMES

"The Princess Casamassima" will continue until August, 1886.

WILLIAM H. BISHOP,

Author of "The House of a Merchant Prince."

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL

Will write for the The Atlantic Monthly for 1886.

JOHN FISKE

Will contribute papers on United States History.

PHILIP GILBERT HAMERTON

Will furnish a series of articles comparing French and English people, character, opinions, customs, etc.

THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH

Will contribute some Short Stories.

TERMS: $4 a year, in advance, postage free; 35 cents a number. With superb life-size portraits of Hawthorne, Emerson, Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier, Lowell, or Holmes, $5; each additional portrait, $1.

☞ The November and December number of the Atlantic will be sent free of charge to new subscribers whose subscriptions are received before December 20th.

Postal Notes and Money are at the risk of the sender, and therefore remittances should be made by money-order, draft or registered letter to

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO.,
4 Park Street, Boston, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

TRADE MARK

Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York.

Sold by all Druggists.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

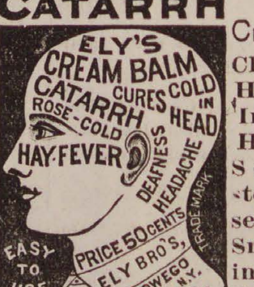
126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

CATARRH



HAY-FEVER

ELY'S Cream Balm. Cleanses the Head. Allays Inflamations Heals the Sores. Restores the Senses of Taste, Smell, Hearing. A quick Relief. A positive Cure.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego. N. Y.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Stockholders of The Warren National Bank of Peabody, Mass., are hereby notified that their annual meeting will be held at their Banking room, TUESDAY. January 12, 1886, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the choice of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

FRANK C. MERRILL, Cashier.

Dec. 9, 1885.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.

Rufus H. Brown

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,	Geo. F. Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Amos Merrill,
Chas. B. Farley,	John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,	Alex. B. Merrill,
Stephen Blaney,	C. Warren Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Geo. S. Osborne,
Chas. B. Farley,	Nathl. Symonds.
Geo. F. Osborne,	Aaron F. Clark,
Amos Merrill,	Albert A. Messer,
John A. Lord,	John Pinder,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Wm. P. Clark.
Wm. H. Little,	Reuben G. Nelson,
Aaron W. Warren,	Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,

Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.

Rufus H. Brown,

Lewis Allen,	Alex. B. Merrill
C. Warren Osborne.	Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

"CANDEE" ARCTICS

—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Two Years TEST.
"CANDEE"
Double Wear on the Sole.
Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER CO. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.

Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.

A Common Sense Idea.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY INSTITUTE.

COURSE OF LECTURES.

AS ARRANGED FOR 1885-1886

Dec. 31. HARRY W. FRENCH. Subject—"St. Lawrence and the North."

Jan. 7. MAJOR H. C. DAME. Subject "The Great Naval Battles of the Rebellion."

Jan. 14. HENRY W. KAGAN. Subject —"Venice, Milan, and the Italian Lakes."

Jan. 21. Prof. JAS. F. BABCOCK. Subject—"A Basket of Charcoal."

Jan. 28. HON. GEO. R. WENDLING. Subject—"Hamlet and his Interpreters."

Feb. 4. DR. JAMES HEDLEY. Subject—"The Sunny Side of Life."

Boys and girls under fifteen years of age, unless members of the High School, will not be admitted.

None but ladies, or ladies attended by gentlemen will be admitted to the gallery.

Doors open at 7. Lectures commence a 7.30

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE BROKER & APPRAISER.

HALE'S BLOCK.

223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few General Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich. Ct.

nov24 —12t

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at 9 47 A. M
Freight " " at 5 00 P. M
Express " Boston at 3 30 P. M
Freight " " at 4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 9.11 A. M. over the Wakefield Branch R. R.

Leaves B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

All business entrusted to my care will be safely and carefully attended to. Daily and weekly papers supplied.

Order Slates:—At B. F. Stevens', Bushby's, Batchelder's, B. B. Humphrey's, E. S. Howard's, and Nugent Bros. stores.

JAMES F. FOYE.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

SOUTH DANVERS NATIONAL BANK.

The stock holders of this Bank are hereby notified that their annual meeting for the election of Directors and the transaction of such business as may legally come before them, will be held at their Bank Room, on Tuesday, January 12, 1886, at 8.30 o'clock. A. M.

G. M. FOSTER, Cashier.

Peabody, Dec. 2, 1885.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE LOANS,

Principal and interest guaranteed by the

LOMBARD INVESTMENT COMPANY.

For sale by

FRANK C. MERRILL,

At Warren National Bank.

oct 21—3m

Ground Oats.

We are receiving from the West, Ground Oats, A superior feed for Milch Cows—which we are selling at a very low price.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDE , 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Paltry Place. Lynn, Mass. apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

Jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO.,
152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK

A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid.

Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given.

Knickerbocker Subscription Agency.
P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.

b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and we will mail you free a royal, valuable, sample box of good that will put you in the way of making more money at once, than anything else in America. Both sexes of all ages can live at home and work in spare time, or all the time. Capital not required. We will start you. Immense pay sure for those who start at once. STINSON & Co., Portland Main

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in saying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

BILIOUSNESS.

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. It acts upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the culverts and sluiceways for the outlet of disease. Sold everywhere and guaranteed to cure.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15,000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anæsthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anæsthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. F. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL, OPP. CITY HALL, LYNN.

Important Notice!

Look out for your sample bottle of Lubin's Balsam of Tolu and Wild Cherry.

IT CONTAINS NO POISON!

Our agent is authorized to place a trial bottle of this Cough medicine in every family in Peabody.

If for any reason you should be overlooked and not receive a sample bottle, call at 226 Essex St., when you are in Salem, and it will be cheerfully furnished you.

This valuable medicine has been thoroughly tried in this vicinity with the best results.

For sale by all druggists in Peabody.

Made only by

G. H. & J. PRICE,
SALEM.

M. B. WILSON,

262 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

Now Opening Fall and Winter Millinery in all the latest Designs. A large assortment of

TRIMMED BONNETS
AND ROUND HATS,

to which we invite your attention. No special opening day, all are cordially invited.

Also agent for the celebrated Tucker Bustle.

M. B. WILSON.

oct 14—3m

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY
For Pain
Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR
TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE
Absolutely
Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.
SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY
LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

—AT—

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

CLOTHING

—ON—

WEEKLY PAYMENTS!

We sell Ladies' and Gents'

Clothing, Dry Goods,

And all kinds of Merchandise on

WEEKLY PAYMENTS

—AT—

STRICTLY CASH PRICES.

Business Strictly Confidential.

NEW ENGLAND SUPPLY CO.,

86 Court cor. Howard St Room 1.

BOSTON, MASS

oct 28—3m

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

INFLUENCE OF LIGHT ON ANIMALS.

As a rule the parts of animals most exposed to rays of light are, other things being equal, richest in coloring matter. The backs of wild animals are usually, and with few exceptions (as among nocturnal and burrowing animals), more strongly colored than their bellies. Another class of exceptions may be seen among fishes of certain families which lie on their sides instead of on their bellies and expose not their backs, but one of their sides to the light. In these fishes the upper side is colored, while the under side, next to the ground and the darkness, is not. Articulates also have their upper sides most strongly colored, although what in them answers most nearly to the dorsal column is next to the ground. The parts of the shells of mollusks which are in contact with the ground are uncolored, while the parts exposed to the light shine with varied tints, and this, whatever may be the peculiar positions assumed by particular shells. For individuals of the same race, the abundance of the coloring matter is generally proportioned to the intensity of the light to which they are exposed. This fact is generally understood, though exact observations bearing upon it are not as numerous as it is desirable they should be. It is well known that the skin is tanned by light, that people from the north are browned by living in the south, and that ruddiness and freckles appear under the action of the sunlight. Some people of the white race, like the Hindoos and the Moors that live in southern climates, are frequently darker-skinned than the negroes themselves. Still we cannot affirm that light is the only cause of these changes. Mr. Gould has observed that birds are more strongly colored when they live in countries having a clear sky than on islands or the seashore. Berchstein says that the colors of the plumage of cage birds are affected by the shade in which they are kept. Mr. Allen has shown that the color of several species in the United States changes as we go from north to south.

THE CONGO NEGRO.

The uncivilized negro of Central Africa is not (to use the language of Exeter Hall) a poor and ignorant savage. Judged from a mental standpoint he is neither poor nor ignorant. He has no poverty of ideas, and his reasoning powers are of a high order. He is deeply superstitious, has the organ of veneration well developed, and shows such great respect for tradition that to call it conservatism hardly expresses its comprehensiveness—for even might bows down before it. Incapacity and ignorance are, I opine, attributes relative to the moral and material surroundings of the man and the stage of advancement to which his tribe has attained. This granted, it is libelous, therefore, to call men ignorant, who, like the negroes of Central Africa, show such astonishing capacity, not only in the shrewd way in which they manage their petty affairs of State, but also in putting to its best use all that nature has provided them with—and that with a keen eye to climatic changes and climatic peculiarities. The uncivilized negro regards the white man, not in the light of one with whom he is to put himself in competition, but as a being of altogether different calibre, almost of a different humanity from himself. He believes that the whites possess powers almost unlimited, and it is always a matter of wonder to him that they allow themselves to be conquered by death. In one instance, where a tribe was strong in its belief that white men came from the water, and one of our party was unfortunately drowned, the chief of the tribe would often ask when he would return. It was useless to urge that he was dead, for the old chief would always give this pathetic answer: "No; he was tired of the black man, and he went to his home in the water to rest. He will soon return."

AMERICA'S FIRST RAILROAD.

Mr. Barnet Le Van, a prominent railroad man, is authority for the statement that railroads were first introduced in Pennsylvania. "In September, 1809," he states, "the first experimental track in the United States was laid out by John Thomson (the father of John Edgar Thomson, who was afterward the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company), civil engineer of Delaware County, Pa., and constructed under his direction by Somerville, a Scotch millwright, for Thomas Leiper, of Philadelphia. It was 180 feet in length, and graded one and one-half inches to the yard. The gauge was four feet, and the sleepers eight feet apart. The experiment with a loaded car was so successful that Leiper in the same year caused the first practical railroad in the United States to be constructed for the transportation of stone from his quarries on Crumb Creek to his landing on Ridley Creek, in Delaware County, Pa., a distance of about one mile. It continued in use for nineteen years. Some of the original foundations, consisting of rock in which holes were drilled and afterwards plugged with wood to receive the spikes for holding the sleepers in place, may be seen to this day."

"Gray hairs are honorable and becoming to people who have passed the meridian of life. I sincerely wish my head was covered with gray hairs," exclaimed Major Tompkins. The ladies of the company screamed out with one voice, "Why, Major, what an awful wish!" Tompkins made no reply, but took off his bright brown wig, and exposed a finely-polished bald plate.

The following is the text of the address printed on the calendars presented to the school by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. of this town:

The mechanism of a human being is more marvellous than any work of science or art. Power to think, and ability to do, make MAN pre-eminent. The most superb watch ever made is inferior to the "go" in a boy. Though the case of a watch may be of the basest of material, the wonderful and perfect quality of its mechanism will be unaffected. Not so with a human being. The "go" in him is affected by his surroundings. Education, it has been believed, was the force to lift men into a new environment. But training the intellect has not had this desired result. Great hearted teachers, like Miss Frances E. Willard, the leader of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, have come to comprehend that the main spring of the human machine is in the heart, and what the impulse in a man whispers to his head, that the brain signals to all the out posts of his being. To train the heart, and thus form the convictions which are the base of thought and action, is a large portion of the "education" that is "a debt due from present to future generations." Horace Mann once said, "Bold and inspiring ideas are only born of a clear head that stands over a glowing heart."

Science and experience have taught us that alcoholic beverages and tobacco are more potent than all other things, to rob the brain of its clearness, the heart of its glow, the nerves of their keenness of perception and of telegraphy, and the human machine of all its distinctive power.

The women of America can do no less than to plead that our educators bring the youth of the land into the full light of the age. We have dwelt in the darkness of this question long enough. The power that is inherent in MAN can only reach its maximum by clean living. The Talmud declares, "The world is only saved by the breath of the School Children." To save the world by such a power crowns faithful educators with living laurels, for the threads they set the child to weaving make the cables that hold the world.

The Temperance Calendar we present to you has a lesson for every day of the year. The face of our beloved leader, Queen among women, can but inspire you to noble resolve. The Story of Saint Marguerite and the Dragon tells the power of innocent over sin. And the grand endeavor of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in "our peaceful war for GOD, AND HOME AND NATIVE LAND," can but stir the youth of America to nobler lives, sweeter virtues, and truer patriotism than any period our history ever knew. "TREMBLE, KING ALCOHOL, WHEN WE GROW UP," is the determination we would impress upon the hearts of the boys and girls. Won't you help us to do it?

W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Charles Smith of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for Sick Headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

AT THE GATE.

She (frigidly):
Allow me to kiss you good-night ere you go?
I could not permit such a freedom, O, no.
He (respectfully):
Excuse me. Of course you know best what is right,
But I meant no offence I assure you. Good night.
She (disappointedly):
The fool! He certainly must have a thick head,
To think for a moment I meant what I said.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a constitutional remedy. It cures catarrh. Give it a trial.

A scrap book for "homely women only," is advertised. That settles it, the dealers will never sell a copy.

If faithfully used, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will remove the scrofulous taint in whatever form it may exist.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY,
SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. BROOKS. A. D. DAMON,
F. D SPERRY.

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

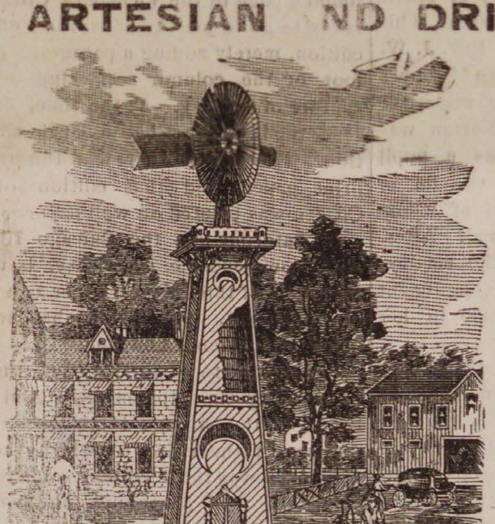
Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich Bride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

ARTESIAN AND DRIVEN WELLS.



All of our

DRIVEN WELLS

for Domestic, Farm, or any other purpose well, receive prompt attention.

Thousands of these wells are being used in Tanneries, Breweries and other manufactories, where cool and better water is needed and also save water bills.

We are also prepared to

DRILL WELLS

six or eight inches in diameter through earth or rock, by steam power.

B. F. SMITH,

OFFICE,

266 WASHINGTON STREET,
Room 3, Boston

Cut showing the Driven Well flowing, pumped by Hand and Wind Power. Arranged with Set-Length (anti freezing) for Domestic, Farm and Irrigating purposes where large amount of water is needed Steam Pumps are.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
For sale by all Druggists.

WHY Ladies and Gentlemen should wear Patent Inner Heels. They enable you to wear a smaller Boot; they make you taller and more stately; nails cannot hurt the heel or rust the hose; they make a higher instep and give a pretty shape to the foot; they are splendid; ladies admire them. Sent safely by mail everywhere. Wrap 3 ten cent pieces in separate paper, put in envelope and direct to P. I. H. Co., No 75 Springfield St., Boston, Mass., or inclose $1 for 4 pair. They make a pretty present to lady or gentlemen friends. Send for 4 pair and be stylish and happy. Please read this once more.

AGENTS WANTED New patented household article. Four-page circulars free. L. O. ELDREDGE, 250 Cumberland St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

WANTED—Ladies and gentlemen in city or country to take light work at their own homes. $3 to 4 a day can be easily made; work sent by mail; no canvassing. We have good demand for our work and furnish steady employment. Address, with stamp. CROWN MANUFACTURING CO., 294 Vine St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

7 Per Ct. WESTERN FARM MORTGAGES.

In denominations of $200 and upwards on property of three times the amount of loan. Seven per cent interest is paid promptly every year in Boston, or will be remitted. We recommend these loans as the safest possible investment, and should be pleased to answer any inquiries, and send list.

SECURITY INVESTMENT CO.
54 Devonshire Street, Boston.
1m—4t

TO LET.

From Oct. 1st, House No. 6 Holten street, Peabody, containing 13 rooms. Apply to
T. M. OSBORNE,
6 Carpenter St., Salem.
sept 23

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8, 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A. M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8. 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40 8 15, P. M.
Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48 8 55, 10 05, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P.M.
Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M. 1 09, 2 20, 2 59, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.
Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M
Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.
Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M
Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A.M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M
Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5.15 7 15† P. M
Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.
Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
Wolfboro—8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
North Conway—8 08, A M.,
Portland—8 08, 9 37 A M, 1 09, 7 15† P M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M Sunday 7 30 P. M.
Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.
Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.
St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).
Bangor, 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.
Augusta, 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.
Portland—2, 9 A M. 1, 6 P M. Sundays, 2 A. M.
North Conway—7 05, A M,
Wolfboro— 8 15, A M, 2 45 P M.
Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.
Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M, 4 18, P. M.
Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.
Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A M, 3 05, 5, 7 40 P M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M, 4 P. M.
Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 15, 5 15, P. M.
Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A. M. 3 40, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.
Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M. 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.
Essex—7, 11 45 A. M., 5 40 P. M.
Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., *1 20, 5, 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.
Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A M, 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8 A. M.
Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.
Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P. M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P M.
Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M., 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A.M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.
Lynn—6 40, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A. M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 28, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A. M., 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.
Boston—6 00, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10, 10 45, 11 15, A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M. 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

*MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A M, 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P M.
Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 10, 6 20 P M.

‡SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.
Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 10, 5 15 P. M.
Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A M, 12 05, 43, 5 48 P M.
Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A M, 12 17, 3 53, 5 58 P M.
Peabody for Salem—8 38 A M, 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 32 AM, 4 43, 6 02 PM.
Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P M.
Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A M, 12 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 PM.
Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M
Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A M, 1. 5 50 P M.
Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 22, P M.
Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 50, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A.M. 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 35, P M.
Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK &
NEW ENGLAND
RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York.

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St., or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH &
LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE.

June, 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8. 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5, 15, 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8. 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1. 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens given

1886 1886

Diaries.

One, Two and Three days to a page. All kinds, all prices, from 8 cents up.

BLANK BOOKS,

Of every description on hand and made to order.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

STATIONERS,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

MUSICAL NOTES.

As a musical performance, the song recital last Monday evening was a success in every particular. The audience were pleased and for a Peabody audience very enthusiastic, and this, too, despite the fact that three-fourths of them were ladies. Every thing went smoothly—the singers were all in good voice, and fully sustained their reputation as artists in every sense of the word. If there was any fault in the arrangement of the programme it was in assigning to Mme. Kellogg a little more than her share. She however sang well, and was recalled at every appearance. Mr. Babcock gave a glorious rendering of "I fear no foe," and on a recall gave Mozart's "Who treads the path of duty." The duet between Miss How and Mr. Babcock was a finished performance, and the same can be said of the solo numbers given by Miss How. This lady is one of the finest contraltos in the country, and her singing Monday evening confirmed the good impression she made at the last concert of the Salem Oratorio Society. Her voice is rich in quality, well sustained and artistically used. The best rendering by Mme. Kellogg was Welling's "Golden Love," because it was within the compass of her voice. It was delightfully given—yet it was not received so enthusiastically as her more florid singing, which was not as well done, and was especially unsatisfactory on the high notes. The same may be said of Miss How's rendering of the "Old Street Lamp" which was the choicest thing in the entire programme. The audience was exceedingly small, and it is not complimentary to the musical people of Peabody—particularly those who have been wondering why some first class performance is not brought to this town. The same concert, in every respect, is to be given in Taunton, Friday night, for which 600 tickets were sold the first day.

The full list of soloists at the performance of St. Paul by the Salem Oratorio Society, in Mechanic Hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 3d, is at last announced. They are Miss Elene Buffington Kehew, soprano; Miss Annie H. Lord, contralto; Mr. Charles Abercrombie, tenor; Mr. D. M. Babcock, bass. We presume Miss Kehew needs no introduction to a Salem audience, although we believe this will be her first appearance in a public concert in that city. Miss Kehew has sung the present season at the Worcester Festival and was engaged for the Taunton Festival. In both of these places her success was very gratifying to her friends. She has a remarkable voice—remarkable in its range, and has met with great success at the different concerts in which she has appeared. She is a favorite in Salem and will undoubtedly be a drawing card for the Society. Miss Annie H. Lord, the contralto, has never sung in this vicinity. She has been studying in Europe, returning to Boston a little over a year ago. She has a pure contralto voice and we think she will render the music to which she is assigned with fidelity and care. Mr. Abercrombie is the tenor who has recently arrived from London, where for ten years or so he was a solo singer in the Royal Chapel. He was tenor in King's Chapel choir, of Boston, previous to his departure to England. He is engaged for the next performance to be given by the Handel and Haydn Society in Boston. He has a powerful voice and ought to sing the St. Paul music grandly. Of Mr. Babcock it is unnecessary to say a word. He is too well known in this vicinity. He stands to-day confessedly the leading bass soloist in this country.

With the announcement of the soloists for St. Paul comes the notice of the performances to be given by the Oratorio Society this season. They will give but two, the St. Paul Feb 3, and Spohr's Last Judgment and other works Easter Monday, April 26. Checks are now on sale for these two performances, at $1.50, at the store of E. V. Emilio, to be exchanged at a later date for coupon tickets. The tickets for the single performances will be $1.00 with reserved seats. There will be an afternoon rehearsal of St. Paul Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 2, to which the admission will be twenty-five cents.

The Crittendon Concert company consisting of Miss Lillian B. Clark and Miss Mary C. Barrelle, of Lynn, Mr. Isaac Littlefield, of Stoughton, and Mr. H. Grahame Wheeler of this town, gave an interesting entertainment at the Danvers Asylum last Friday night. We know of no reason why this combination should not be a success.

The second entertainment under the auspices of the Salem Cadet Band was given, last Thursday evening, by Prof. Kelly and his celebrated Art Tableaux. Twelve young ladies in Grecian drapery costume gave several tableaux which are made almost instantaneously in full view of the audience. There is no dropping of the curtain to arrange the scenes, and Prof. Kelly explains the groupings and figures while the tableaux are being exhibited. The whole is interspersed with music and humor. Mr. Dudley H. Prescott gave some remarkable imitations of the cornet and banjo with his mouth, using a roll of music for effect simply. The vocal music given was hardly ordinary, but the entertainment as a whole gave great pleasure to the audience.

Mrs. E. R. Bigelow, of Salem, soprano of the choir of the First Church, will sing at the Vesper service in St. John's Church, of this town, Sunday, Jan. 17th. She will sing an Ave Maria by Cherubini.

Miss Emma Rice, of this town, sang in the choir of the Barton Square Church, last Sunday.

The Directors of the Salem Oratorio Society have elected Messrs. Frank A. Brown and Chas. W. Ward to fill the vacancies on the Board through the resignation of Messrs. E. C. Adams, formerly of Beverly, and Walter C. Harris.

The Ladies' Philomela Quartette are meeting with great success. They sang last week at Hartford, South Weymouth and Worcester. They sing in Ipswich to-night. They are the best female quartette in the field.

The reception given last Friday night to Mme. Nordica (Lillian Norton) at the Boston Theatre must have been very gratifying to that artist. The theatre was packed from pit to dome and every point made by the lady was received with applause. She was called several times before the curtain and at the close of the third act, it took the entire procession of ushers to convey the floral tributes to the stage. Boston is particularly proud of this artist. It was here she received her early musical education and achieved her first triumphs. The writer remembers Lillian Norton as the solo soprano of the Grace Methodist Church in Boston, on Temple street, when a chorus choir under the direction of Prof. Tourgee of the New England Conservatory of Music furnished the music at that church. This was during the pastorate of Rev. J. W. Hamilton, afterwards of the People's Church. The music was very attractive and the singing of Miss Norton was especially pleasing. She was a pupil then and afterwards of Prof. O'Neill, of the Conservatory, and a pupil of whom this teacher was justly proud. Afterwards she studied in Italy, the masters of that city paying her the compliment that they had nothing to undo in her method of singing.

The performances of Col. Mapleson's troupe have attracted large audiences at the Boston Theatre, and this is the last week. To-night Fra Diavolo is to be given with Fohstrom as Zerlina; to-morrow night Mme. Nordica appears in "Il Trovatore," when she will doubtless be greeted with another large audience. Friday evening "Carmen" is to be repeated with Minnie Hauk, and the season will close on Saturday afternoon with Martha, in which Fohstrom will appear. The success of the low prices is apparent, and it is to be hoped that Mapleson has been taught an instructive lesson—one which he may profit by, in the opera performances which he gives us in the future.

At the Hollis Street Theatre "The Mikado" goes on all the time; and there is not the slightest indication of any falling off of popular interest in this lyric success of many stages. The recent changes in the cast have met with favor. Ida Mulles has taken the place of Miss Montague as Yum Yum, and Miss Edith Jennesse as Peep Bo, is welcomed to the scene of Japanese satire and fun very cordially. In character the audiences at "The Mikado" continue to be noticeably fine.

No little interest is shown already in the forthcoming engagement at the Bijou Theatre of the Alfa Norman English opera company. The attraction will be Balfe's delightful opera, "The Enchantress," which will be remembered as one of the chief successes of the palmy days of the Caroline Richings company. Miss Norman has been very warmly praised for her work. The Cincinnati Enquirer says, for instance: "In Alfa Norman the company possesses a really great prima donna. Few such trying parts as that of Stella have ever been written. It is a role full of every shade of musical emotion, in turns serene, gay and melting. In her acting it is difficult to say in what feature Miss Norman is at her best—in her declamatory scenes with the pirates, in her tenderness of her scene where she despaired of saving Sylvio's life, or in the brilliancy of the trio in the last act. Throughout the tone and vocalization are of the highest order. The engagement begins next week.

* * *

W. G. Webber & Co., have inaugurated a sale of cotton underwear, which cannot fail to be of interest to the ladies of this town. Mr. Webber believes in "making hay while the sun shines;" and taking advantage of an opportunity to secure a large lot of these goods at fabulous prices, he proposes to give his customers the benefit of it. We predict that large numbers of Peabody ladies will visit his store daily during the week, and in the meanwhile, we refer them to an advertisement which is found in another column

"There is a new racket on the road," said a commercial traveller. "It's a female drummer. I met her the other day, and she is a dandy. Of course she travels for a Chicago house, and she sells goods like a January thaw. She has been out so long now that she is as independent as a hog on ice. She sits in an ordinary railway car and charges up sleeping berths in her expenses, just like the rest of us. She walks to the hotels from the stations and charges up the hack fares just as we do. She beats the landlord down to $1.50 a day and charges the house $2.50 in the regular old style. She can take care of herself every day in the week, and she knows how to order up a bottle of wine and work it on the expense account, too. Why, when I saw her last she was a new silk dress ahead of the firm, and by New Year's proposed to have a sealskin sacque out of her expenses. And that isn't all. She has half of the clerks in the Northwest mashed on her, and the way the little rascal knocks 'em down on her bill is a caution. She has a regular trick of staying over Sunday where one of her admirers runs the house, and she walks off Monday morning forgetting to pay the bill. What does she sell? That's the funniest thing about it. You would think she would handle jewelry or millinery or dry goods, wouldn't you? But she doesn't. She sells gent's furnishing goods, and the young men who usually keep that kind of stores buy of her as if they hadn't seen a commercial traveller for six months. And she is a dandy poker player, too. She handles the cards awkwardly, and acts as if she didn't know a full hand from two pairs, and raises $2 on deuces, and nearly cries when t'other fellow shows up three of a kind, and then gets excited over a big jack pot, and raises the opener and bets the limit and raises back and scares t'other fellow out, and slides into the deck a little pair of sixes or sevens or a bobtail as innocent as you please. Bluff? Why, she has a bluff on her like the Wisconsin River. She is a daisy, and I tell you it's mighty lucky for the boys that there ain't any more like her on the road.

* * *

A STRANGE COINCIDENCE.—A good many newspaper readers will remember that when Gen. Grant captured Vicksburg, some printers in the Union army found a page of the Vicksburg Citizen all ready to go to press, and worked off the edition, merely adding a paragraph at the foot of the column remarking on the capture of the city. At the time, July 4, 1863, the little sheet had a large circulation. The confederacy had run out of print paper, and that edition of the Citizen was printed on wall paper.

On Saturday last the Chicago Herald, with commendable enterprise, issued a fac simile of this historic paper as a timely supplement. The Herald has no job office attachment, and hence was compelled to give to an outside office the job of printing the supplement. And here comes in the strange coincidence. The foreman of the office to which the job was given was the identical soldier who set up the final paragraph, and worked off the original historic edition of the Vicksburg Citizen. It is a mistake to think the world is large, or that there are a great many people inhabiting it.—Worcester Spy.

* * *

The annual meeting of the Point of Pines company was held on Tuesday afternoon at their office in Pemberton square, Boston. The following officials were elected: Directors—J. M. Ellis, Henry Cabot Lodge, G. P. Bangs, F. Seabury and J. P. Lyman; treasurer and clerk—Irving B. Sayles. The treasurer's report showed that the company was in a better financial condition than ever before, and that last season's business under the direction of Mr. Charles H. Thayer, was more successful than previous ones. It is intended to further develop the valuable property, and the Legislature will probably be asked to alter the company's charter.

* * *

J. Dechant, on filtering mercury through a Pfaundler's apparatus, perceived a well-marked development of electricity. On pouring the mercury into onother vessel his fingers, happening to touch the stream, he received a very smart shock.

When, says Cosmos les Mondes, water previously filtered is introduced into a cylinder and saturated with oxygen at a pressure of 294 pounds, all the organic matters are destroyed and the water is reduced to a condition of perfect purity.

In the Gant electro-motor the central part is a drum constructed of metal or wood, with as little weight as possible. The conducting wires from the pole reverser to the armature magnets are bar electro-magnets laid parallel with the axis, and connected throughout.

After much experimenting Dr. Richardson has found a satisfactory means of causing painless death, and has introduced it into the Home for Lost Dogs in London. The animals to be killed are placed in a chamber charged with a mixture of carbonic oxide and chloroform vapor, when they tranquilly fall asleep and wake no more.

A cement for marble is made by stirring to a thick batter with silicate of soda twelve parts Portland cement, six parts slacked lime, six parts fine lead, and one part infusorial earth. It is excellent also for uniting alabaster. The objects to be joined need not be heated. After twenty-four hours the fracture is firm, and the place where the union was effected can scarcely be discovered.

STREET GOSSIP
GLEANED
NOTES

The story is told of one of our citizens who has a reputation of being very prudent and who is a firm believer in the saying "it is not what you earn but what you save" that makes a man wealthy. A short time ago he called on one of our lawyers and desired him to draw up certain papers concerning a mortgage, the cost of which would be about $3. The lawyer had a letter that was quite important, and as his client was going past the house of the party for whom it was intended, he asked him to leave it, which he did. A short time afterwards something was said about settling, when our prudent citizen observed that they had better call it square—let the delivering of the letter offset the lawyer's claim. The generosity of the citizen nearly took the lawyer's breath away, but it is safe to say they did not settle on that basis.

Your "Sparks" reporter last week did not tell how one of the members of Steamer 2 got fooled recently. The young man is employed in a grocery store, and while they were shifting the steamer a fellow clerk drove rapidly up to the store and told the young man there was a still alarm and that the steamers was bound for West Peabody. In about one minute he was out of his overhauls and on the way to the engine house, asking everyone he met whose place was burning at West Peabody and informing them of the still alarm. As soon as he reached the house he took in the situation at a glance, and was last seen making for the store by a circuitous route by the railroad track.

Some people are prepared to believe almost any yarn they hear about the Knights of Labor, and there are plenty of them floating around. To show what ridiculous things some will believe is shown by the following: One of our morocco manufacturers recently wore a new plug hat to the square, and as he wasn't in the habit of wearing that style of head gear some of his companions commenced to guy him about it. He put on a sober face and said he hated to wear such a hat through the streets, but he couldn't help it because the Knights of Labor had issued an order that every manufacturer who employed four or more men should on all occasions wear a plug hat. Imagine his amusement as a few minutes later he heard one of his auditors telling a friend about the new order of the K. of L.

It seems a very foolish thing to boycott a postmaster, as is being done in several places since the new administration went into power, and that reminds me of an equally foolish thing that a man of this town is doing. When Postmaster Ward was reinstated, he swore a great oath that he would not buy even so much as a postal card at our office as long as Mr. Ward was in power. And this foolish promise he has stuck to and goes to Salem or Lynn for all his stamps and postals and takes all his letters to Salem to mail.

A young grocery clerk in this town was to receive a gray squirrel from a cousin at Manchester, N. H., and in anticipation of its arrival he purchased a swing cage, and left it at the store. The other employes caught a large rat and put it in the cage during the absence of the clerk and on his return informed him that the expressman had left his squirrel and they had put him in the cage. When he examined the occupant before taking it home, the boys were all there, and after looking at the animal he promised the oysters at Tibbetts, not to say anything about.

You can't always tell in this wicked world of ours who will come out first best. To-day a man may be a beggar and to-morrow control thousands. A few years ago a well known man in this town was worth $100,000 and more, and then friends were plenty, and the gentleman gave little thought to the future, and his friends attended his wine suppers and social entertainments in large numbers. Things changed. There was a crash and the man who had commanded thousands was thousands in debt. His butterfly friends deserted him and he for a while drowned his troubles in drink. One dark night he had been ordered from the home of one of the friends of his former days to whom he had been for money and of course refused. Discouraged he stood on the street crying like a child. A man, who in former years he had looked down upon, came to him and said: "You are in the prime of life, have the largest business acquaintances of any man in your line of business, your knowledge is worth thousands to you; leave off drinking, accept a small salary till you get on your feet again." The advice was followed. That man has settled with his creditors, is doing a good business to-day and bids fair yet not only to retrieve the fortune he has lost but to retire when old age comes with an ample fortune for his children.

During this hard travelling and until further notice the trips from Peabody to Lynn at 11 A. M., 2 and 4 P. M., will be discontinued on the Lynn & Boston Horse R. R.

Bargain

40 in. UNBLEACHED COTTON

6 1-4c.,

— AT —

F. D. TARLTON'S,

42 Main St., Peabody.

Marriages.

In Danvers, Jan. 6, by Rev. Mr. Rice, Mr. Isaac D. Pope to Miss Eliza C. Lilley.

In Salem, Jan. 7, by Rev. Mr. Collins, Mr. John J. Donovan to Miss Catherine L. Kelley; 8th, by Rev. Dr. Arey, Mr. Joseph Teder to Miss Margaret G. Reynolds.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Jan. 6, Mary J. Collins, 25 yrs.

8th, Mr. James Cook, 65 yrs.

Jan. 4. Mrs. Elizabeth Sheehan, 35 yrs.

5, Mr. John Sullivan, 19 years, 4 mos. 14 days.

5, Catherine, daughter of John and Ellen Keefe, 4 mos. 7 days.

7, Mr. Frank L. Very, 28 yrs. 6 mos. 27 days.

11, Mr. James Eagan, 35 years.

In Danvers, Jan. 5, Napoleon, son of Frank and Celine Moffitt, 12 yrs. 6 mos.

In Salem, Jan. 9. Catherine, daughter of Michael and Alice D. Niland, 14 yrs. 7 mos. 4 days; 7th, Mr. Edward Gagle, 50 yrs.

Gold and Silver.

Ladies' Gold Fob Chains, with Ornaments, Gold Neck Chains, Gold Watches, Crosses, Finger Rings with stones in

TURQUOISE, GARNET, LAKE GEORGE DIAMONDS, AMETHYST, EMERALD, ONYX, PEARL, CAMEO.

Plain, Flat and Oval Band Rings, Engraved Band Rings, Children's Rings, Bracelets, Lockets, Ornaments, Pencils, etc.

SILVER PLATED WARES.

Casters, Pickle Jars, Cake Baskets, Sardine Dishes, Celery Holders, Mugs, Creamers, Sugars, etc.

— ALSO —

Knives, Forks, Spoons, Ladles, and all kinds of Table wares, in

ROGERS & BROTHER

best goods, at prices below competition

— ALSO —

FINE COIN SILVER WARES

In Spoons, Forks, Napkin Rings, etc., etc

N. B.

As fine a line of Silver Plated Wares, and Jewelry as can be found in the city at prices Far Below those of every other dealer.

EXAMINE AND COMPARE.

J. P. Peabody,

227 & 229 Essex Street,

SALEM.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2.85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3 50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, "	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, "	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, "	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been stbject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every custemer, "Out of your size, "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way. We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE

LYNN, MASS.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET,

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

I am selling out my large stock of

PIANOS & ORGANS

and offer real bargains in these instruments till

JAN. 1, 1886.

Call and see them.

E. V. EMILIO,

287 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1 1886.—1 y

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of DANIEL C. GOODWIN, late of Peabody, in said County, currier, deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Levi Spaulding, the administrator of the estate of said deceased has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first Monday of February next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of January, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 6—3t

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE.

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

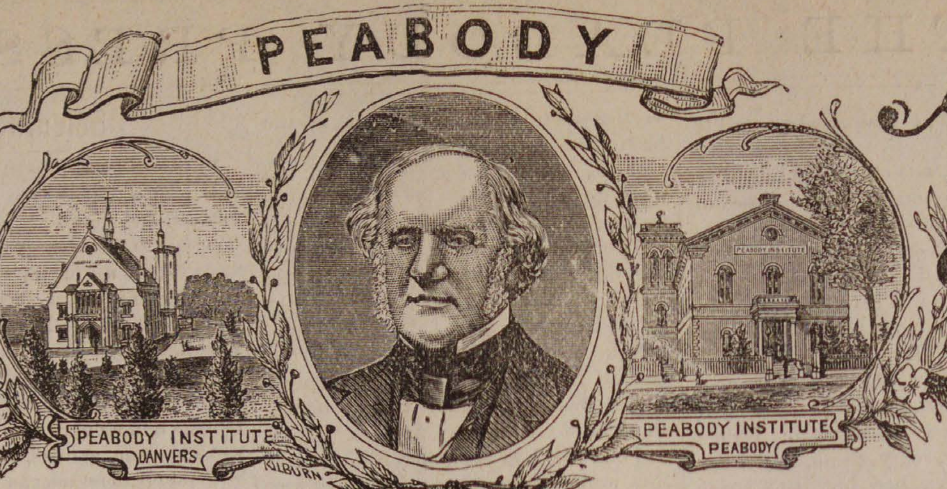
JONES' STABLE,

REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

The PEABODY Press.



OL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 20, 1886. NO. 3.

LOOK HERE.

NAUMKEAG

JANUARY IS THE MONTH FOR BARGAINS.

Great Annual Mark Down Closing out Sale of

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefing Jackets, Suits, and Pantaloons, Underwear, Hosiery and Cardigan Jackets.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

F. D. TARLTON.

—DRY GOODS.—

Bargains! Bargains!

40 in. Unbleached cotton, 6 1-4 cents, worth 8 cents.

1 Lot Hamburg Edgings 20 cents, worth 25 cents.

Misses' All Wool Leggins, 25 cents.

500 yards white cotton and wool Flannel, 6 1-4 cents per yard.

A large assortment of Ladies' Print Wrappers, 75c, $1, 1.42.

We still have in stock all sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts for 50c, 75c, $1.00. Every Shirt guaranteed to give satisfaction.

F. D. TARLTON,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

The delinquent tax list now!

Oh the merry, merry plumber!

Business is steadily improving!

Bought your ticket to the Fair?

There is very little idleness in town!

Tenements are getting scarce again!

Its a warm day that Jack Frost gets left.

Get your supper at the fair this evening.

West Peabody is proposing another new street.

Tom Dudley is canvassing this town for a nursery firm.

So. Danvers Bank stock sold for 144 1-4 last Saturday.

Bargains at F. D. Tarlton's, 42 Main street, Peabody. *

A few old fashioned sleighs have been seen on the street.

Kill the friend who asks "is this cold enough for you?"

The coal dealers are congratulating the plumber and ice man.

The usual turmoil of the Spring election will soon begin.

Warren Bank Stock sold at auction last Wednesday, for 131.

A large number of quail perished during the cold weather.

Ladies' Kid Gloves at Tarlton's, $1. Every pair warranted. *

Ladies' wool Alaskas only 60 cents at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

The dealers are now ready to harvest a stock of the congealation.

The boys cling to the pungs like "seaweed round a clam."

Last week Mr. Arthur Cook killed five hogs weighing 2068 pounds.

A toboggan sled was in use on Oak street hill last Monday evening.

A regular meeting of Jordan Lodge F. & A. M. this evening.

The "tit-willow" is now a more popular plant than "Sweet Violets.".

Ice cream signs have no terrors for the young beaux these evenings.

Quite an interest is being awakened in the religious meetings in town.

Mr. C. J. Messer has just returned from a business trip to New York.

The street department got ready for a thaw last Friday, and are ready still.

This weather is extremely—)compositor, fix this line before going to press.)

A lot of Misses grain Button Boots, only 60 cents per pair at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

The town teams have piled up lots of snow on the Little field near Oak street.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

Next comes St. Valentines day. Dealers will soon decorate their windows.

Rev. W. A. Lamb and wife are among the Raymond excursionists to California.

Oak Hill Farm shipped a lot of Plymouth Rock Fowls to Newport, R. I., last Thursday.

One lot of Childrens Lace collars 10 cents, worth 17 at F. D. Tarlton's, 42 Main street. *

Another extreme was reached Sunday and there was a large attendance at the churches.

Messrs. Arthur W. and W. H. Pinder were in town Sunday, visiting at their fathers.

It is time somebody started that old chestnut on its rounds that the fruit has all been killed.

The sight of a palm-leaf fan now would be sufficient to throw a woman into hysterics.

The K. of L. have asked the Danvers street railroad to pay their conductors and drivers $2 a day.

Men's Rubbers, 40 cents, Alaskas, 75 cents, and Arctics $1.00 at Nugent's Shoe Store.

Among the guests at the Worcester Continental Bull was Capt. E. W. Abbott of the Cadets.

Potatoes are rotting very badly in this vicinity. Some farmers have lost a large number of bushels.

"Sheep-stealer," is the epithet boys formerly applied to a man driving a horse and sleigh without bells.

Again the old-fashioned quadrille is revived, and fashionable people take to it very kindly as a long-lost friend.

Drop into Chadwick's office and see the Resurrection plant recently sent Geo. C. Farrington from California.

O. B. Chadwick & Co. have added the Phœnix Insurance Company to their long list of reliable companies.

Mr. M. P. Beckett, of this town, has associated himself with Mr. J. E. Pond Jr., of Attleboro, as attorneys at law.

Mr. E. G. Kelley will pipe the new shoe factory at Danvers. It will require over three thousand feet of pipe.

A travelling photographer has located his car on Central street, and is ready to take the pictures of our citizens.

We are assured by an exchange that sulphur dissolved in milk will cure the cat disease which is afflicting many pet felines.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clark's Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo. Stevens' *

January derives its name from the Roman Janus, who is said to have presided over the beginning of everything.

Blessed is the man, woman or child, who never forgets to shut the door when blows the chilly blasts of winter.

Mr. Richard Ricker has purchased a lot on Pierpont street from Mr. A. Lummus and will build a residence upon it.

A young man named Donovan, employed as engineer at Sutton's wool shop, died last Saturday of erysipelas. He was 23 years old.

If all the colds that people are carrying around with them could be concentrated and given to Old Winter, what weather we should have.

Maple sap ran freely in this vicinity during the recent mild weather. When it heard of the cold wave it stopped. Verbum sap, etc.

Mr. A. E. Wells and Mr. Charles A. Weare have been appointed an amusement committee for the next meeting of the Unity Club.

The Boston and Lowell railroad has received a new shifting engine, the "Ponemah" from the Manchester, N. H., locomotive works.

The crop of jokes about the Bland smile of the silver dollar advocate is being gathered. It is larger than usual, but the flavor is very flat.

The flowers that bloom in the spring tra la,
Have nothing to do with the case.
You jump on the truth of this remark
When the mumps are swelling your face.

District No. 30 K. of L., comprising some of the assemblies of this town, held a convention in Lowell yesterday. The session was private,

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

Mr. Harry Hutchinson, a son of Mr. C. K. Hutchinson, will shortly enter the office of Mr. William Potter, the well known broker of Boston.

Several dealers are keeping the ribbon candy in stock now, a variety with many admirers which has hitherto been sold only during the holidays.

Resolved, "That the organization of secret societies has a tendency to demoralize the youth of the land, and to discourage the cause of religion."

It is said that circulars are being sent about town from the Boston custom house, asking whether some of the employes are offensive partisans or not.

The Mass. Press Association will hold its annual business meeting, and winter reunion and dinner, on Tuesday Feb. 2, at the United States Hotel, Boston.

It is said that since the figures of the fares taken by Conductor Buxton were given, he has not been doing so large a business, and some of the other conductors are making larger returns to the office than he.

L. & G. H. Poor and Elbridge Rust were obliged to shut down on account of connecting the high service water with the new fire extinguisher at Procter's last Wednesday.

Sleighing parties have been popular evenings. What with the smooth roads and the bright moonlight such parties cannot fail to be productive of great pleasure.

One of our citizens has a sleigh which he uses on the road that only weighs 31 pounds. Probably one of the lightest sleighs ever built for practical use.

The new order on the Boston & Maine R. R. eastern division, to keep the lights burning in all passenger cars while passing through the tunnel, went into effect this week.

The ice on our ponds is about thirteen inches thick and ice men expect to harvest a large crop. A large number of men will soon find profitable employment in harvesting it.

Physicans report pneumonia unusually fatal this year. This is the physicians' usual report, but the disease is common in the winter months, and one that can at all times be safely avoided.

A little child fourteen months old belonging to James Griffin, on Dalton's Court, died in its father's arms last Thursday evening. It had been apparently in the best of health up to that time.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending January 16 were 5982 rolls, 1104 sides, 15 bundles, 25 barrels, 4 cases, 1 bag of leather, 57 rolls, 20 bundles, 1 cask of skins.

Several of our owners of horse flesh have been exhibiting their trotters on the Brighton road. Among them were Samuel W. King, H. K. Pevear, John A. Lord, Jr., John Cummings and James M. Watson.

Oranges are plenty and cheap, and from the present appearance of the grocers' windows it is hard to realize that the frost has made such havoc in the groves that there is any danger of a dearth in the future supply.

Mr. Whyte, the foreman and job printer of the PRESS office, cannot be equaled by any printer in this part of the state for artistic workmanship. He has served an apprenticeship in several of the large Boston offices as foreman.

That beautiful engraving of "Longfellow in his Library," to be obtained at this office, is being much sought after. To subscribers for the PRESS it is only fifty cents. See it in Spaulding's window. Cost you nothing to look.

A logician in town says a man ought never to jump out of bed suddenly; it starts the circulation too quick. He ought rather to turn over, yawn and gap and lie still, and wait until some of the women folks get up and build the fire.

A man claiming he was from Brockton, was in town yesterday looking for girls to go to that city and work in the shoe shops. He was offering extraordinary inducements in the shape of salaries. We do not hear that his tempting offer was accepted.

The School Committee have decided that the pupils of the Endicott school who were burned out should attend school in the old town hall, and the school house halls in the Center and Wallis schools, which will be made into temporary school houses.

Mr. J. Henry Osgood has remembered us with his calendar. This year it is neatly printed and beautifully designed typographically We have also received calendars from James A. Hearn, book binder of Boston, and the Allan Line of Steamers have sent their annual. Both are quite neat.

We will give the PRESS free for one year to each couple married within the limits of this town during the present year. The only condition pertaining to this offer is that the marriage notice be sent us with a request for the paper. Our offer to give the paper to any deserving poor family is a standing one.

Every merchant or business man should use printed stationery, such as letter heads, bill heads. envelopes, statements and cards representing their business, which we can furnish printed, where a quanity is taken, cheaper than the blank paper can be bought in small lots. Bring your orders in now, and have them promptly attended to.

At the Proctor tannery a patent blower is being put in to be used in drying leather by blowing hot air from a coil of steam pipes. This arrangement has been working very successfully in one of Mr. Proctor's crop leather tanneries. Should it work well here, the hanging of leather on poles will be done away with, and save a large amount of labor.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

Special Prices

—— ON ——

GENTLEMEN'S OVERCOATS.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS.

Our Entire Stock closed immediately.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, BOYS' REEFERS,

Marked Down. Low Prices for Boys' Suits.

GREAT TROUSER SALE

TO BE CONTINUED.

Hundreds of pairs added to our already large stock, making the largest assortment ever shown in the city. All wool Trousers, $1.50; Fine Cassimere Trousers, $2, 2.50 and 3; Fancy and Dress Trousers, $3.50, 4, 4.50 and 5.

COME RIGHT IN, A BARGAIN AWAITS YOU

—— AT ——

EDW. C. ALMY & CO'S.

163, 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence.
Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

Union meetings are being held this week. On Monday and Tuesday evening the Methodist and Baptist societies united in services at the church of the latter, and this evening the South Church will be included in a meeting at the same place. Thursday and Friday evenings the first two societies will hold meetings at the Methodist Church.

The business of the Victor Hanger Company, of Newburyport, having increased so largely, it was found necessary to have a manager, and Mr. Irvin Besse of this town will devote his time entirely to the affairs of the concern. They are receiving orders from all parts of the country and are obliged to run extras to keep up with the demand.

The following are some of the red letter days for 1886: St. Valentine's day comes on Sunday; Washington's birthday on Monday; Lent begins March 10; St. Patrick's day on Wednesday; April fool day on Thursday; Easter Sunday will be on the 25 of April; Memorial day on Sunday; Fourth of July, on Sunday, and Christmas on Saturday.

Members of the old Cushing debating society met last Wednesday evening and organized under the name of the Eclectic Debating club. Charles A. Weare was elected President and Geo. M. Foster Secretary and Treasurer. It was voted to hold meetings every Wednesday evening, and the following subject was presented for discussion next Wednesday evening.

A hearing was given last week by the Railroad Commissioners, in Salem, on the petition of the Boston & Lowell R. R. to extend their track across Boston street to the tanneries. Among the opponents of the petition was Frank E. Farnham, Esq., of this town, who appeared in behalf of citizens of Peabody, who had signed a petition in remonstrance. The decision of the Commissioners was reserved.

The newest parlor diversion of wealth and fashion is not intellectual, but it has the good quality of perfect innocence. It consists in throwing cards into a hat. A silk tile is on the floor. The player takes a pack of fifty-two playing cards, stands eight feet distant and endeavors to cast them one by one into the receptacle. The feat is not easy as it seems, and there is room for much expertness. Twenty out of a pack is a high average.

A remarkable advance has taken place in the poultry market within a few days. Western dealers have stopped shipping fowls to the East, as the prices were so low that there was no profit. As a result, the markets here are almost barren, as they are obliged to depend on the local supply. Chickens which a few days ago could be purchased for ten and twelve cents a pound now bring sixteen and eighteen cents and turkeys eighteen and twenty cents at wholesale.

The O. L. H. A. Society have elected officers as follows:—President, Mrs. C. H. Brooks, Secretary pro tem, Mrs. W. O. Batchelder; Treasurer, Miss Mary A. Southwick; Vice Presidents, Unitarian Church, Mrs. W. H. Hall; Universalist, Mrs. W. P. Clark; Episcopal, Mrs. D. P. Grosvenor; Baptist, Mrs. John Osborne; Methodist, Mrs. George H. Sanger; Congregational, Mrs. Joseph Jacobs, Jr.; Directors, Mrs. S. A. Southwick, Miss Addie Little, Mrs. Warren Shaw, Mrs. A. H. Merrill, Mrs. George C. Prescott, Mrs. M. A. Fox, Mrs. J. B. Thomas, Mrs. George H. Thomas, Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Mrs. R. Gibson, Mrs. Franklin Osborne, Mrs. George H Poor; Directors at large, Mrs. Eliza Sutton, Mrs. E. W. Upton, Mrs. James Buxton, Mrs. D. B. Lord, Mrs. J. W. Hudson. The society raised and paid to the trustees, last year the sum of 580.45.

Poet's Corner.

"Grand Dieu! Pour Ton Plaisir."

Great God! because it pleases thee
A captive bird am I;
My sole desire to sing for thee,
I have no wish to fly.
I love my long captivity,
Because, O Lord, it pleases thee.

I sing all day for thy dear sake
The sweetest songs I know,
And misery but seems to make
My love for thee to grow;
All other thoughts do I forsake,
And sing all day, for thy dear sake.

I surely am at liberty
Although by bars confined,
Though compassed in slavery
Free are my heart and mind;
'Tis thy pure love has set me free,
For liberty is loving thee!

O, Will divine, whom I adore!
Goodness ineffable!
The more my pain is felt, the more
I seem with thee to dwell.
O, Will divine, I thee adore,
As up to thee in song I soar!

Receive, O Father, pityingly,
The feeble strain I raise;
I cannot sing melodiously,
Yet sing I in thy praise,
Be thou my strength, my comfort be,
Till thy caged bird may fly to thee!

—The Sunday Republican

The Private's Glory.

Sweet little Major, he mounts my knee,
And the tender blue eyes look at me,
"Tell me Popsie, just once more,
What did you do when you went to war?"

And then I tell of the autumn day
When the Forty-seventh marched away;
How Cromwell died at Jackson Town
And Miles on Corinth field went down.

"But how many rebels, tell me true,
Did you kill then, and the whole war through?"
And I tell him then with eager zest,
How Jo Reed blew up a lumber chest.

But the major sticks to his question still,
"How many rebels did you kill?"
So I tell him how, near the set of sun,
The charge was made and the battle won.

And how, the day McClure was shot,
When Vicksburg's fight was fierce and hot,
Brave Sam Law took C. company in
Through flame and smoke and the battle's din.

How over our heads the battle broke
With screaming shell and saber stroke,
And he wanted to know, the little elf,
"But how many men did you kill yourself?"

"Say, tell me, Popsie, say you will—
How many rebels did you kill?"
So I told him the truth as near as might be—
As many of them as they did of me.

Three Lessons.

There are three lessons I would write—
Three words as with a burning pen
In tracings of eternal light
Upon the hearts of men.

Have Hope. Though clouds environ now
And gladness hides her face in scorn,
Put thou the shadow from thy brow—
No night but hath its morn.

Have Faith. Where'er thy bark is driven,
The calm's disport, the tempest's mirth,
Know this: God rates the hosts of Heaven,
The inhabitants of earth.

Have Love. Not love alone for one,
But man as man thy brother call,
And scatter, like the circling sun,
Thy charities to all.

Thus grave these lessons on thy souls—
Hope, Faith and Love—and thou shalt find
Strength when life's surges rudest roll,
Light when thou else were blind.

—Schiller.

Behind a Portiere.

Away from the crowd of dancers
Wanders a loving pair,
And seat themselves for a quiet chat
Behind a portiere.

The youth loves the maiden, 'tis plain to be seen,
And she—had he eyes he would know
That she's long been patiently waiting the chance
Her heart upon him to bestow.

To-night, as 'tis quiet and no one is near,
He tells, bending low o'er her chair,
Of his love, and impatiently waits her reply,
Behind the portiere.

* * * * * *

As they wander forth from the silken folds
And join in the mazy whirl,
Life looks to her twice as bright as it did,
I know, for—I was the girl.

—Exchange.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Shakespeare says: "What's in a name? a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." The healing power of St. Jacobs Oil does not, of course, lie in its name; but that name has virtually become a household word all over the world, because when men hear it, they recognize it as the conqueror of pain.

Life Worth Living.

How beautiful it is to be alive!
To wake each morn as if the Maker's grace
Did us afresh from nothingness derive.
That we might sing. How happy is our case,
How beautiful it is to be alive!

To read in some good book, until we feel
Love for the one who wrote it; then to kneel
Close unto Him whose love our soul will shrive
While every moment's joy doth more reveal
How beautiful it is to be alive.

Rather to go without what might increase
Our worldly standing than our souls deprive
Of frequent speech with God, or than to cease
To feel, though having lost our health and peace
How beautiful it is to be alive.

Not to forget, when pain and grief draw nigh,
Into the ocean of time past to dive
For memories of God's mercies; or to try
To bear all nobly, hoping still to cry,
How beautiful it is to be alive!

Thus ever toward man's height of nobleness
Striving some new progression to contrive,
Till, just as any other friend's, we press
Death's hand, and, having died, feel none the less
How beautiful it is to be alive.

At Last.

"I'm growing old," said Miss Kate Carter, as she took a survey of herself in the little looking-glass that hung in her third-story back room in a second-rate boarding house of New York. "Yes, I'm getting along; gray hairs and crows' feet." And a very audible sigh escaped Miss Carter.

She was getting old, and there was no use in denying it. Miss Carter was on the wrong side of forty, and yet she was still a good-looking woman. A fair complexion, setting aside a few wrinkles, soft looking brown eyes that were good to look at, barring the crow's feet, and a heavy suit of nut-brown hair, with a few gray hairs mingled, which was always worn in the most severe plainness, but which became her style, constituted her chief claims to good looks.

Miss Carter taught music for a livelihood, and hard enough work it was oftimes. But still she managed to get along well, and to have something left over with which to help her poorer neighbors.

It was evident to the most casual observer that Miss Carter had seen better times. Her ladylike bearing, and her courtesy to all, caused those who came in contact with her to feel intuitively that they were in the presence of a lady. General opinion for once was correct.

Twenty years previous to the time that Miss Carter had remarked that she was growing old, she was the petted and only daughter of Henry Carter, a wealthy Georgia planter. Twenty years back, and the first faint rumblings of the civil war were beginning to disturb our fair land.

There was no fairer spot in the whole South than the Carter plantation. It was a model of neatness, and the lash and the blood thirsty hounds were strangers to the negro quarters. Not a slave of Henry Carter's but who would have laid down his life for "Massa Henry and young Missus." Mr. Carter's wife had been dead some months before the outbreak of the war, and Mr. Carter and Kate were thus left to rely more than ever before upon each other.

Kate Carter at twenty-one was the beauty and belle for miles around. Naturally she had hosts of admirers, but none among them touched her heart. She had refused a score of good offers, and the eligible young men of the neighborhood had put her down as a coquette.

Like all others, though, her fate came when she was the least expecting it. And like most girls, she had her ideal. (What a pity, though, that the real does not bear out the ideal!)

Just a few weeks before war was declared between the North and South, Mr. Carter went on a business trip to Atlanta, and on his return brought home with him, as a guest, the handsome son of an old Alabama planter and school mate friend. Edward Armitage had often heard of the beauty of Kate Carter, and the desire to see this conquerer of men's hearts, coupled with the fact that it would be a pleasant visit, led him to accept Mr. Carter's pressing invitation.

The "Glades," as Mr. Carter's plantation was called, was reached shortly before dusk, and as the carriage drove up to the door, Kate, not noticing the stranger, sprang into her father's arms to welcome him home. After the greetings between father and daughter were over, Mr. Carter introduced Edward Armitage at the same time, saying:

"Kate, my invincible, don't you break Edward's heart!"

"Oh, I guess it belongs to some Alabama beauty, father! am I not right, Mr. Armitage?"

"No, Miss Carter, I am happy to say that I am heart-whole and fancy free, or rather was until I saw you; but I must bow at the shrine of beauty now," said Edward in the same light way.

"Well, upon my word! It won't take you two long to progress in love making at that rate," spoke up Mr. Carter. "Come, Edward; I'll have you shown to your room, and you can take the travel stains off, then we'll enjoy our supper."

With these words he led the way indoors.

Calling a servant, Edward was shown to his room, and while he was making his toilet a pair of soft brown eyes haunted him.

"Upon my soul," said he to himself, "I believe it's a case of love at first sight with me."

Kate, in the privacy of her chamber, was thinking of the pleasant evening also, and wondering why she had felt so awkward, and blushed so every time Edward Armitage addressed a word to her.

Days flew on, one much like the other with the exception that the close of each saw these two more deeply in love.

One day, about two weeks after Edward's arrival at the Glades, he sought Mr. Carter in his library, and in few words asked permission of the old gentleman to win Kate for his wife.

"Upon my word, Edward, you surely don't mean to say you have so soon succumbed to my fair Kate's charms? Why, only think, my boy, you have known her but two short weeks."

"Mr. Carter, I could not risk my happiness in better hands than hers."

"I judge, from the manner in which you have approached me, that you have not spoken to Kate."

"No, sir, I have said nothing as yet, preferring to have your permission to address her."

"I am glad of that, as I wish you to write to your father and get his consent also. Not that I have any doubt as to what his answer will be; but we are both a little old-fashioned, and I know it will please him."

"Very well, Mr. Carter, I will send by this very evening's mail, and I thank you more than mere words can express for the great privilege you have given me."

Edward at once repaired to his room, where in a long letter he acquainted his father with Kate's charms and good qualities, and wound up by asking his consent to bring her to the old homestead as his wife, if he could be so fortunate as to secure her hand.

Three days later his father wrote him that he had his full consent to marry. Further, that the war clouds were thickening, and he had best return home within a week; to make no arrangements for an immediate marriage, but wait until the trouble was over.

Edward soon sought out Kate, and found her in a little arbor at the back of the house. In eloquent words he pleaded his cause, and thought his happiness complete when Kate demurely confessed that she loved him.

But sadness came when she learned that he was so soon to leave her, to be absent for such an uncertain time.

While they were conversing as only lovers can, they were startled by a call from Mr. Carter, whom they saw standing on the piazza, excitedly waving a paper over his head. As soon as he caught sight of Edward he called:

"War has been declared, Edward! Come in and read what the paper has to say."

They walked quickly to the house, and Edward, giving a hasty glance at the paper, turned to Kate and said:

"My darling, I must leave you sooner than I anticipated. War has indeed been declared. I must be off at once. Mr. Carter, there is little time for a long interview. Kate has consented to be my wife as soon as this trouble is over, if God spares us. There is father's letter; you can read it at your leisure. Now, if you can let me have a carriage to post to Atlanta to catch the evening train, I can be home and at work in the morning."

Half an hour later the sorrowing lovers had parted. Kate stood with tearful eyes on the piazza looking after the carriage which contained her lover, until she could see him no more, and then, woman-like, went up stairs to her room to enjoy a good cry.

Time passed on. Kate received letters from Edward as regularly as possible. He was at the front, as was her father. At last came a letter from Edward telling her of her father's death—shot down, while leading his regiment to an attack. Then the letters grew less frequent, until finally came one announcing his promotion to colonel. Then, horror of horrors! the Atlanta paper contained an account of a battle, and among the killed was Col. Ed. Armitage, a promising young officer, who had only been promoted a short time before for gallant conduct. Letters there came none. She wrote to old Mr. Armitage, only to receive confirmation of the newspaper item.

Finally came Sherman's march through Georgia. The Glades mansion was burned to the ground. Kate was homeless. Then the end of the war. Finding herself almost penniless, she sold the plantation, and with the proceeds, which only amounted to a few thousand dollars, went to New York. There she deposited her money with her father's former broker. In the course of a few months she had managed to get a few scholars, and she was fast burying her sorrow in her work. To add to her misfortunes, the broker with whom she had put her money failed, and his creditors did not realize five cents on the dollar. She thought indeed her troubles were many, but she never despaired.

Kate kept up her Southern ties by corresponding with a few old Georgia friends. She learned through one of them of the death of old Mr. Armitage, some ten years after she had come to New York, in extreme poverty. With tears in her eyes she thought of Edward.

And now we return to Miss Carter in her third-story back room in New York.

It was a portion of her leisure time, and while her fingers were busy sewing, her mind was running back over the long years since Edward and she had parted. She had never been able to quite believe in his death; and yet, even supposing he was alive, he was probably married to some one else. Men forget so soon. But why these foolish thoughts? Had not old Mr. Armitage written her that Edward had been killed in that awful charge he made at the head of his men?

"Yes, I am growing old, and I am glad, for my journey will be over the sooner," said she, speaking half aloud.

At that moment a knock sounded at her door, and in answer to her gentle "Come in," Mrs. Phipps, the landlady entered.

Now Mrs. Phipps was outside the general run of boarding-house keepers. She was a motherly little woman, about Miss Carter's own age. A widow, and one who had seen her full share of this world's vexations. Her heart was filled with love for her fellows, and though her establishment was rated as a second-class boarding-house, she was all that could be desired. She was fully acquainted with Kate's history, and many the hour they had spent together in sad conversation about their loved dead.

"Kate," she exclaimed, as she came in, "are you busy?"

"No, indeed, Mrs. Phipps; come and sit down; I can keep on with my sewing," answered Kate.

Talking upon trivial matters for a few moments, Mrs. Phipps branched out with:

"Kate, have you never thought that Col. Armitage might not have been killed as reported?"

"Why, that is strange, Mrs. Phipps; I was thinking of him when you came, and wondering if it were possible for him to have escaped; but no; if he had I should certainly have heard from him, unless he had married some one else and forgot en me; but I believe Edward was as true as steel."

"So do I," replied Mrs. Phipps. "Indeed, I know it, Kate."

"You know it? What do you mean?" said Kate, excitedly.

"Kate, can you bear good news?"

"Yes, yes! Don't keep me in suspense. Is Edward alive?"

"Yes—alive and well, and now downstairs, waiting to see you."

But the last words did not reach Kate's ears. She was in a dead swoon. Mrs. Phipps snatched a bottle of hartshorn from the dressing case, and hastily ringing the bell, set about restoring Kate. To the maid of all work who answered the summons she said:

"Ellen, show the gentleman that is in the parlor up here instantly."

"Yes'm," answered Ellen, and she was gone.

In a few seconds Edward Armitage had Kate's head resting on his knee, while he chaffed her cold hands.

"Poor girl! It was too sudden for her," he said to Mrs. Phipps.

Presently Kate began to show signs of consciousness. Her eyelids quivered, a sigh escaped her, and the word "Edward!" fell from her lips.

"Yes, darling, I am here," he said.

It is kindness to draw a veil over the lovers' interview a while, but we will listen to Edward's story.

"I never received a scratch during those three years, until at the battle of C—— I was, it seemed to me, riddled with shot as I was leading my men to the assult of the Union breastworks. I fell, and from that moment lost consciousness. The next I remember, I was in a hospital ward. There I grew stronger, and was finally discharged. But I had no money, and, weak from my prison fare, fell ill again. When I left there I had to search for employment, and then I commenced making what proved to be fruitless inquiries as to the fate of father and you. Discouraged at last, I finally went West, and there rapidly emassed wealth. About four years ago, I heard through a friend in Selma that you were dead. I had been keeping up a search for you all those years. Then I gave up. Some three months ago the fever grew on me to revisit the home of my old childhood, and, if possible, buy it back. I did so, and succeeded in regaining the old place. Going to your old home, I was surprised to meet Mrs. McPherson. She was thunderstruck, and told me you had all thought me dead. Imagine my surprise and delight when I learned that you were alive and well! I procured your address, took the first train for New York, and here I am now. Now, without more ado, Kate, we will just get quietly married and return to Alabama, there to end our days in peace and plenty."

In the next day's "Herald" was the following notice:

"ARMITAGE—CARTER. On July 17, 18–, by the Rev. W. H. Jones, at the parsonage of St. James Church, Edward Armitage, of Hermitage, Alabama, to Katherine Carter of the Glades, Georgia. No cards."

Thus were two lives made happy after many years.

HE HAD HIS WEIGH.

A Maine farmer had a wife who declared she would never be weighed. One day, when she was in the wagon, he drove his team on the hay scales and had the whole thing weighed without his wife knowing what was going on. Then he afterward came back and had the team weighed without his wife, and found it just 225 pounds lighter.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

Frost bitten ears are in order!

Clergymen, speakers, singers, and actors, find that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral improves and aids the voice.

Scientific.

PROPOSED DIGEST OF PATENTS.—In his recent annual report, the Commissioner of Patents, Mr Marble, calls the attention of Congress to the necessity of having a digest made for the use of the office and the public, of the inventions patented in this and foreign countries. The preparation of such a work, he says, would cost a large sum of money, but he thinks the government would soon be reimbursed by its sale. The advantage to the public, especially to inventors and manufacturers, would be incalculable, and for these reasons he earnestly recommends Congress to take action looking to an early commencement of the work.

To prepare such a digest would, indeed, be an immense work, but there is no doubt of its value as an assistance to inventors, in determining the probable novelty of their inventions, provided the books were kept up to date and made readily accessible to the public. To Patent Office examiners the work would be of especial convenience in helping them to reject new applications for patents.

A beginning of the proposed work might be made with the American Patents; and when that digest is complete then take up the foreign patents, as the latter would necessarily contain many repetitions of the devices found in the American patent lists.

But before anything is done in respect to this proposed compilation, we would suggest that the Commissioner of Patents take steps to provide for the convenient access of the public to the printed patents that now exist in the Patent Office. This would seem to be a comparatively simple matter; but somehow or other it is hedged about with insuperable difficulties. It is a curious fact that although the United States patents are printed in convenient form, and are public records, kept in a public building especially designed for the access and information of the people, still it is next to impossible for an individual to go to the Patent Office and refer to any complete part of the printed patents. For example, an inventor having made an improvement in flat irons, calls at the Patent Office and requests the privilege of looking over the various flat iron patents, with a view to applying for a patent if his supposed invention is new. He is shown sundry portfolios or volumes, purporting to contain all the previous inventions, finds nothing like his device, files his application, and is rejected. He then ascertains that some of the drawings or some of the patents, including the one resembling his device, had been temporarily removed, on some excuse or other, from the portfolio when he examined it, and that the set was not complete; so his examination was fallacious. He further finds that there is no uniform system followed at the Patent Office whereby the public may enjoy convenient and certain access to all of the printed patents in any particular class or branch. We suggest that before the new digest proposed by the Commissioner be commenced, the printed patents should be thoroughly classified, and several complete sets thereof maintained in convenient places for public reference.

We are inclined to believe that the Commissioner of Patents already has authority to establish such a system. Its efficient realization would be of great value to manufacturers, inventors, and all who are concerned in patent affairs.—Scientific American.

AN expert in microscopy has recently succeeded in tracing on glass the wonderful curves called after Lissajou. He has traced these in lines of 55,000 to the inch, and finds that they are much better for testing the power of a microscope than straight lines. Aside from their great beauty, and the necessity of skilful illumination to see them well, the intersection of some lines and the gradual approximation of others, arising from the variation in the figures, where every degree of the sharpness of a curve is obtainable, from a line returning almost upon itself at an exceedingly acute angle, to curves so flat as to present in parts virtually the appearance of parallel straight lines—all this, combined with a knowledge up to a certain point of the nature of all lines cut in glass, renders these rulings more instructive perhaps than the markings on diatom valves, in regard to which there is as much question. A curious feature of some of these figures is that though all the lines would seem to be in the same plane, it sometimes happens that an alteration of focus is requisite to bring out the transverse lines.

CHICAGO BARBERS.

The trade of the barbers of Chicago at one time was very remunerative, but as the barber business has been overdone there to a terrible extent, wages have become extraordinarily small. In nearly all first-class shops the wage plan is this: The barber receives $10 per week and one-half of all he may take in over $20. As the receipts of a chair in the hands of a good barber aggregates about $25 per week, it will be seen that his wages can hardly exceed $12.50. The best paid shop in the city is that of the Grand Pacific Hotel. Here workmen receive only $13 per week, which seems to be considered among the guild first-class wages. Foremen receive from $12 to $15 per week, and it requires an unusually popular and able man in this line to receive $15 a week. In the ten-cent shops the wages will not average over $9 per week, and in the five-cent shops, of which we have quite a number, not over $6 a week can be made by the barber. As this kind of work requires a good many years of experience and much deftness and tact for one to become what is known as a first-class barber, it would seem that there are few fascinations to attract amateurs in that direction.

A. B. & W.

GREAT COTTON UNDERWEAR SALE.

Our successful Preliminary Sale of Ladies' and Children's Cotton Underwear, is now supplemented by our Regular Annual Sale.

We offer special bargains in new goods manufactured for this Sale during the dull season when manufacturers are willing to accept low offers that they may keep their help employed. Many of these articl we shall not be able to duplicate.

CORSET COVERS at 11, 15c, ruffled about neck and arm size; 25 made of fine cambric, tucked and trimmed with torchon lace and pea buttons; or trimmed with hamburg edge and insertion, 29, 37 1-2, 5 58. 63, 75, 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50 and 1.75.

NIGHT ROBES. 38c, trimmed with hamburg; 62c, tucked yok trimmed with hamburg edge and insertion. The line runs in differe qualities to $3.50.

SKIRTS. 35, 50 and 52c, tucked and trimmed with hamburg ruffle The qualities run by small advances to $4.00.

DRAWERS. At 23c, tucked and trimmed with hamburg edge. Other qualities in splendid value, running to $2.00.

A fine assortment of BRIDAL SETS at prices to please.

We continue to offer the celebrated Hathaway make, so well known by ladies' of Salem and vicinity. A new feature with us this season is a fine assortment of Children's and Misses' Night Robes, Drawers and Skirts, of the above manufacture, made from fine cottons.

In connection with this sale we offer a lot of miscellaneous articles of Underwear, slightly soiled, at prices to close immediately.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

SALEM.

SPECIAL NOTICE,

A. B. & W.

ANNUAL MARK DOWN SALE

— OF —

MILLINERY GOODS!

Our entire stock of Winter Hats, Trimmed and Untrimmed, with all our choice stock of Fancy Feathers will be closed out regardless of cost, to make room for Spring goods soon to arrive. Sale to commence on and continue through the month.

MONDAY, JANUARY 18TH,

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

W. G. PACKARD & CO'S.

Fourteenth Grand Annual Holiday Sale.

OPENING TUESDAY, DEC. 1.

We have made this season more extensive preparations than ever before for the display of our HOLIDAY GOODS.

These will be shown on our first and second floors. On our first floor all our Furniture has been removed; and this floor will be devoted almost exclusively to the display of

RATTAN & LEATHER CHAIRS.

This will be the largest exhibit of Rattan Furniture ever made in Salem. It comprises all the new and desirable styles from the leading manufacturers of the country.

Ladies' and Gent's Rattan Rocking Chairs.

Rattan and Reed Upholstered Cushion Chairs, Children's Rattan Chairs, Corner Chairs, Ladies' Rattan and Willow Work Stands, Wood Baskets and Scrap Baskets. Also a large invoice of Embossed Leather Chairs.

and Platform Rockers (in 20 different styles) also Antique Chairs upholstered in leather or Plush and Shaker Chairs. On this floor may be found Ladies' and Gent's Parlor Desks, Book Cases, Wall Cabinets, Bric-a-Brac Shelves, Bevel Plate Mirrors, Gent's Smoking Sets, etc, etc,

On our second floor, with our large stock of

PARLOR SUITS

will be found over

200 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS,

in every conceivable style of Frame and Covering. Gents' Reclining, Study, Smoking and Rockug Chairs. Our new

GENT'S READING CHAIRS, covered in handsome figured Goods Plush trimmed for

ONLY $5.00,

are a special bargain; you should call at once and leave your order if you wish to secure one of these.

ALSO OUR $3·50

Smoking Chair is unequalled. Ladies' Sewing and Rocking Chairs, Fancy Chairs for work, Foot Rests, Blacking Cases, Ottomans. Large Invoice of Easels in Cherry, Ebony, Walnut, and Bamboo. The new

Briggs Crown Piano Chair,

(a good and useful present)

Music Cabinets, Music Folios in all woods.

Standing Parlor Cabinets,

n Ebony and Cherry.

TABLES,

over 100 different styles in all woods, Plush Tops, Wood Tops, and Marble Tops. Pedestals for Rogers Groups, Bible Tables, Fancy Plush Stands, Ladies' Wash Tables, Card Tables, "Five o'clock Tea Tables," and many other useful and beautiful Gifts which we have not space to mention. We feel confident that it will repay any one to come a long way to inspect our mammoth stock of useful as well as ornamental Holiday Gifts now ready for inspection. All are cordially invited to visit at their leisure our store and examine these goods and learn our prices, whether they wish to purchase or not. Those who make their selections early will find it to their advantage.

Goods delivered anywhere in Essex Coun

W. C. Packard & Co.

231 ESSEX STREET. SALEM.

REMEMBER

You can find a fine line of goods suitable for presents for the

HOLIDAYS,

— AT —

BROWNE'S MILLNERY STORE,

Essex St., Salem.

Also Bargains in all kinds of

Millinery, Trimmed Hats and bonnets,

will be sold very low during the Holidays.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

500 Wings and Fancy Feathers, your choice only $1.00. Regular price $2.50 to 4.00.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

HEADQUARTRES!

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

10 Cent Cigars.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

BOSTON WEEKLY JOURNAL,

A new volume, January 1, 1886.

One dollar per annum, including postage. A weekly newspaper of thirty-six long columns, filled with news and information and adapted to the wants of New England readers. For fifty years The Weekly Journal has been the popular New England weekly. It has won its way by its inherent merits, never having adopted other inducements to subscribers than those which it presents weekly in its well-filled columns. The features of the past will be continued.

The Boston Journal is a Republican newspaper but it gives the news of all the political phases of the times and sees that its readers are kept well posted upon

CURRENT POLITICAL EVENTS.

The Weekly Journal has been awarded the cred of being the best Family newspaper published in Boston.

TERMS OF WEEKLY:

Single Copies, One Year (postage included) $1.00
Ten Copies and One Extra to getter-up of Club, $10.00
Twenty Copies and Two Extra to getter-up Club, $20.00
One Copy Free for every Ten Subscribers.

[BOSTON SEMI-WEEKLY JOURNAL, Published on Tuesdays and Fridays, is a paper of special value to persons engaged in commercial pursuits outside the large cities.

The Boston Semi-Weekly Journal is a paper which no man actively engaged in trade and watching the course of mercantile affairs can afford to be without.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Copy (including postage) One Year $3.00
Five Copies (including postage) to one address One Year 12.50
Ten Copies (including postage) to one address One Year 25.00
One Copy FREE to getter-up Club of Ten.
Twenty Copies (including postage) to one address One Year 45.00
And Two Copies FREE to getter-up of Club of Twenty.
Larger Clubs, $2.25 per Copy, and One Copy FREE to every Ten Subscribers.
Terms—Invariably in Advance

THE BOSTON JOURNAL.
(Morning or Evening Edition)
ONLY $6.00 A YEAR,
OR 50 CENTS A MONTH.

Specimen copies of any of our publications sent on application to any address.
All remittances should be by Post Office Order, Registered Letter or Bank Check. Address
JOURNAL NEWSPAPER COMPANY,
No. 264 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

Able, Independent, Enterprising.

The Paper for New Englanders of all Parties and Creeds,

THE
SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN.

Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles

Daily, Sunday, Weekly.

A large quarto sheet.

Independent and Fair in Politics;
Comprehensive in Its News Reports;
Rich and Varied in Its Miscellaneous Reading.
New England News Reported with Great Thoroughness.

THE DAILY REPUBLICAN.

Broad, Bright and Breezy.

$8 a year; $2 a Quarter; 70c a Month.

THE SUNDAY REPUBLICAN.

An Admirable Paper for the Day of Rest. $2 a year; 50 cents a Quarter.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN.

The Best Political, News and Family

WEEKLY

IN NEW ENGLAND.

$1.00 ONLY $1.00

A Year, or 10 Cents a Month, for shorter periods.

Carefully edited. Crowded with News and Interesting Reading.

Each number contains a Good Story. New Subscribers to the Weekly will receive the Paper Free for the balance of 1885.

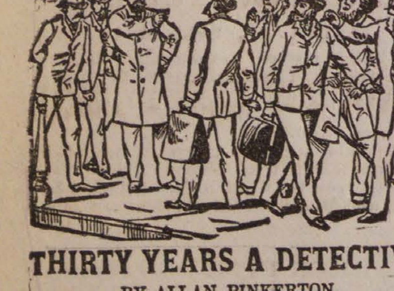
Commission to Postmasters.

Sample Copies Free.

Address, THE REPUBLICAN,

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address
C. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING

SIMPLE NEW STRONG

HOME

SWIFT SURE

SEWING MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

FOR SALE BY

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME
OF THE NEW YORK
SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA-

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. F. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Erie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address.
WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

SPAULDING'S SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet, Shade and Mattress work as usual.

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,
18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

Committee of G. A. R. Fair.

TABLE NO. 1.

Miss S. F. Kittredge,
Mrs. Levi Preston,
Mrs. M. A. Fox.

TABLE NO. 2.

Miss Minnie Osborne,
Mrs. C. H. Goulding,
Mrs. Geo. F. Sanger.

TABLE NO. 3.

Mrs. Wm. F. Sumner,
Mrs. Winsor Ward,
Miss Nettie Sumner.

TABLE NO. 4.

Mrs. W. W. Reed,
Mrs. Jones,
Mrs. Raddin.

CONFECTIONERY TABLE.

Mrs. Sarah A. Pope,
Miss Annie Richmond.

ICE CREAM TABLE.

Mrs. M. A. Murray.

POP CORN TABLE.

Master Herman G. Barnes.

ART ROOM.

Mrs. Benj. Beckett,
Miss M. O. Barrett,
Mrs. W. H. Hall,
Mrs. D. P. Grosvenor.

SUPPER ROOM.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens,
Mrs. N. M. Quint,
Mrs. David Lowd,
Mrs. Geo. B. Miller.

OFFICERS OF PEABODY WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

President—Miss S. F. Kittredge.
Senior Vice—Mrs. C. T. Batchelder.
Junior vice—Mrs. C. H. Goulding.
Secretary—Miss A. A. Little.
Treasurer—Mrs. Benj. Beckett.
Chaplain—Miss Martha O. Barrett.
Conductor—Miss Minnie Osborn.
Asst. Con—Miss C. A. Richmond.
Guard—Mrs. M. O. Stevens.
Asst. Guard—Mrs. S. A. Pope.
Delegate to Convention of Mass. Department, Miss M. O. Barrett, alternate, Miss A. A. Little.

OFFICERS POST 50, G. A. R.

Commander, Frank E. Farnham.
S. V. C., Thomas H. Jackman.
J. V. C., Cornelius J. Linnehan.
Adj., George F. Barnes.
Q. M., Wm. F. Sumner.
O. D., Samuel G. Southwick.
O. G., John C. McDonald.
Chap., Jefferson K. Cole.
Surg., Dr. C. C. Pike.
S. M., C. K. Hutchinson.
Q. M. S., Edw. Meacom.

FAIR COMMITTEE.

W. F. Wiley.
Wm. F. Sumner.
George F. Barnes.
C. H. Goulding.
Benj. Beckett.
Wm. A. Smith.
C. T. Batchelder.
Thomas H. Jackman.
George B. Miller.
James S. Tuttle.
C. K. Hutchinson.
C. J. Linnehan.
Chairman, W. F. Wiley.
Secy., Wm. F. Sumner.

RELIEF COMMITTEE.

Chairman, George F. Ward.
Wm. F. Sumner,
George F. Barnes,
Thomas A. Jackman,
Simon F. Buxton,
Timothy H. Lord,
John C. McDonald,
Daniel . Sheen,
James S. Tuttle,
Wm. J. Adams
Wm. C. Beckett.
Wm. F. Pingree,
Chas. C. Pike,
Daniel Mullane,
Andrew J. Wiggin.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P M.]

Sol Smith Russell plays Felix McKusick this week at the Park Theatre. Mr. Russell is to portray an impecunious country editor who leaves his establishment in consequence of too persistent duns and who subsequently aids in keeping up a dime museum by appearing successively as an inventive genius, an Australian idiot, and an overgrown lad with a tendency toward recitations. Miriam O'Leary's friends will be glad to see her again. As the soubrette of Mr. Russell's company, she has gained much favor. In Felix McKusick Mr. Russell has given a new character to the stage.

The brilliant engagement of Edwin Booth—his only season in Boston—is approaching its close. This is to be the artist's last week save one at the Museum. The Fool's Revenge is the play for Wednesday. King Lear is the event for Thursday, and for that night only. On Friday and Saturday evenings the star is to appear as the crook-back tyrant in the Colley Cibbor version of Richard III., in which Mr. Booth originally appeared at this theatre. For the matinee performance on Saturday the play will be Othello and the star will act Iago.

Julius Cæsar will be produced at the Boston Museum next week (the last of Edwin Booth's engagement) with new scenery, costumes and appointments. The cast includes Mr. Booth as Brutus, Mr. Barron as Cassius, Mr. Mason as Marc Antony, Mr. Kent as Julius Cæsar, Mr. Hudson as Casca, Mr. Owen as first citizen, Miss Clarke as Portia, Miss Davenport as Calphurnia, Miss Dayne as Lucius.

Manager Field of the Boston Museum went on to New York Thursday, expecting to meet Dion Boucicault on that evening. He did not arrive from the West, however, until Friday night. Since that time star and Manager have been busily arranging for the production of The Jilt. The company is being engaged with especial view to giving every role in the comedy the best of impersonations. Elegant new scenic effects are preparing for the drama, which comes February 1st to the Boston Museum, where the production will be one of the big events of the season.

At the Boston Theatre this week Lester & Allen's big minstrels with John L. Sullivan and William Muldoon will appear all the week. The Rat Catcher, or the Piper of Hamelin, which the Kiralfys are to produce January 25, at the Boston Theatre, is a charming and strong play, as well as a spectacle. The piece will be produced by the same company that made such a hit in New York; with the same scenery and ballet. Mr. Hubert Wilke, the Hungarian singer and actor, will appear as Singold the piper, a part which he created in Germany and acted there over 400 times. The ballet will be led by Mlle. Conseula De la Brujere and Camis. Thd chief features of the play are, grand ballet entitled "the festival of village beauties" and the ballet of Musical wonders; the charming of the rats by the piper as they swam over the stage by the tens of thousand and are drowned in the swift running water of the river Weser; the procession of all trades (after Hans Markart's famous historical painting) in which the stage is filled with daintily dressed girls, huge tableaux chariots and gorgeously caparisoned men and beautiful women; the illuminated Cathedral and the final scene where the land slide takes place from over a cave in which a large number of little children have been imprisoned and from which they are rescued by the piper of Hamelin. The music is entirely original and has been composed expressly for the Rat-catcher by Mr. Seili Simonson, formerly director of the music at the Thalia Theatre, New York, who will conduct the orchestra.

Effie Elssler, deservedly popular here, is to be seen at the Park Theatre next week in Woman against Woman. Her impersonation of Bessie Barton, the workingman's wife, in this play is said to be a great piece of acting. Miss Elssler's company includes Frank Weston, Mason Mitchell, Charles Foster, Harry Davenport, A. B. Howard, Mrs. E. L. Davenport, Mattie Earle, Marjorie Bonner and Florence Fields.

* * *

Don't give it up, there is a cure for catarrh and cold in the head. Thousands testify that Ely's Cream Balm has entirely cured them. It is a safe and pleasant remedy. It is not a liquid or snuff. It cures by cleansing and healing. Price 50 cents.

I have been a great sufferer from dry catarrh for many years, and I tried many remedies which helped me, but I had none which did me so much benefit as Ely's Cream Balm, it completely cured me—M. J. Lally, 39 Woodward Avenue, Boston Highlands, Mass.

Nine Senators and thirty-four representatives of the present Legislature are veterans of the civil war.

CATARRH.—Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. (A)

The boy with the sled won't stay in the house.

The three outlets of disease are the bowels, the skin and the kidneys. Regulate their action with the best purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters.

Book Notices.

Vick's Floral Guide for 1886, the pioneer seed annual of America, comes to us this year a real gem, not a dry list of hard botanical names, but over thirty pages of reading matter, among which are articles on Roses, House Plants, Cheap Greenhouse, Onion Culture, Mushrooms, Manures, Young Gardeners, and very interesting reading, followed by about 150 pages containing illustrations, descriptions and prices of seemingly everything the heart could desire in the line of Seeds, Plants, Bulbs, Potatoes, etc. It is a mystery how this firm can afford to publish, and really give away, this beautiful work of nearly 200 pages of finest paper, with hundreds of illustrations and two fine Colored Plates, all enclosed in an elegant cover. Any one desiring goods in this line cannot do better than send 10 cents for the Floral Guide, to James Vick, Seedsman, Rochester, N. Y. Deduct the 10 cents from first order sent for seeds.

Major-General John Watts de Peyster will contribute to the Magazine of American History for February a most instructive article on Anthony Wayne, in the series of Prominent Men of the Revolutionary Period." In the same issue of this periodical a stirring chapter in the Civil War Studies, from the pen of A. N. Hayes, will be entitled, The New Mexican Campaign of 1862.

Mr. Charles Dudley Warner will contribute to the February Harper's a paper on Education as a Factor in Prison Reform. He explains and advocates the Elmira system of presenting to convicts the powerful motive of the desire of regaining liberty, by means of educational discipline in which the prisoner cannot share—including a compulsory workshop, school, and physical gymnasium—the result being that the prisoner goes back to his duties in society before the end of his sentence a man remodelled by wholesome self-development into the possibilities of a good citizen.

When Goldsmith wrote She Stoops to Conquer, he adapted words to a pretty but difficult Irish air, The Humors of Ballamagairy, intending that they should be sung by Miss Hardcastle. But as Mrs. Bulkley, who, as critics would say nowadays, created the part, could not sing, the song was not included in the play when it was first published. Goldsmith gave it to Boswell, Johnson's Bozzy, who sent it to the London Magazine soon after poor Noll's death. In making illustrations for She Stoops, Mr. Abbey has made this song the text for one of his most charming pictures, which will be given with the instalment in the February Harper's.

* * *

Carter's Little Liver Pills have no equal as a prompt and positive cure for Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Pain in the Side, and all Liver Troubles. Try them.

The first sleighride has been enjoyed by the young folks.

The G. A. R. Grand March by Wiegand is a beautiful and simple new march in the good old fashion style, such as will always find a welcome. Try it and you will like it. Price 40 cents. Ign. Fischer, Publisher, Toledo, Ohio.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Christmas Poultry,

A large stock of choice

TURKEYS, CHICKENS
and GEESE;

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
TRADE MARK
ROYAL BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2aw

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS,

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

W. C. Robinson,

HOLIDAY OPENING!

"IS IT SO NOMINATED IN THE BOND"

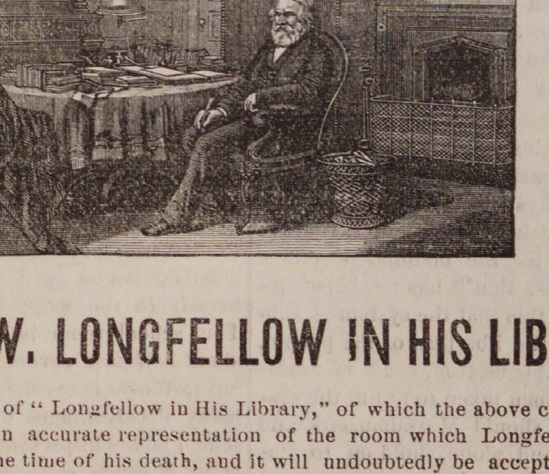
FANCY GOODS.

It is impossible to give a complete list of these Goods. We can only say come and see for yourself the largest line of Fancy Goods in the city. Brass Goods, Swiss Carvings, Panels and Easels, Cups and Saucers, Mirrors.

Leather and Plush Goods.

Brush and Comb Cases, Jewelry Cases, Ladies' and Gents' Toilet Cases, Odor Cases, Cigar, etc., Handkerchief, Glove, Collar and Cuff Boxes. Ladies' Wallets and Purses in Alligator, Russia, Seal, Antique Leather and Calf. A Fine line of Leather Card Cases of many styles. Also Hand Bags in Leather and Plush.

SEE OUR GOODS, BUY EARLY.
Remember the Place.
42 MARKET STREET, LYNN, MASS.
W. C. ROBINSON,
Successor to SMITH & ROBINSON.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions:

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

ARTISTS

We carry a complete stock of everything used in Oil Water Color, China and Lustra Painting. For we have hundreds of Novelties for Decoration.

XMAS

MAIL ORDERS A SPECIALTY.

Illustrated Catalogue and Circulars sent free.

Charles J. Edmands.

12 BROMFIELD ST., BOSTON.

Guide to Kensington Painting, only 25 cents, postpaid.

Nugent Brothers,

PEABODY SQUARE.

LEAD IN STYLES,
LEAD IN QUALITY,
LEAD IN PRICES,

In all kinds of

Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, etc.

Men's Fine Sewed Calf Boots, only,	$2.50
Men's Beaver Boots,	1.50
Men's Rubbers,	.40
Men's Rubber Boots.	2.00
Ladies' Felt Slippers, worth $1.50, only,	1.00
Misses' Grain Button, solid, only	1.00
Children's Kid Button, 7 to 10, only,	.90
Ladies' Glove Top, Kid Foxed Button,	1.50

Never buy without seeing our goods and learning our prices.

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers.

SINCE THE publication of a letter from James G. Blaine, relative to bi-ennial elections and sessions of the legislature, the opponents of bi-ennials have received more encouragement from the Republicans, and a letter to the Legislature from Ex. Gov. Long and others, stating that they desired to appear before that body in opposition to bi-ennials, has caused the appointment of a hearing.

The ground taken by Mr. Blaine is that annual sessions of the Legislature give an opportunity for young men to become better acquainted with Legislative duties. This is a truly brilliant argument. We suppose he means that they have a better opportunity to become politicians—the annual sessions keeping the political wires from rusting. But he don't show that the members elect of the Legislature of his own State are unfit for their duties, or that they are unable to make satisfactory laws for the State by reason of the biennial sessions in the State of Maine. We don't believe he can show it. We have always thought our sister state of Maine as well governed and as capable of legislating for herself as our own.

The argument is the politician's argument. The bi-ennial elections deprive the politician of much of his power and influence. His occupation, for a large portion of his time, is gone. This is why he so bitterly opposes the bi-ennials.

Gov. Robinson truly states the gist of the argument in favor of bi-ennials, when he says that it is strange, with every state in the Union, save two, committed to the biennial elections and sessions, that it has not been discovered ere this that the system is subversion of the liberties of the people, or that, if this be true, some measures have not been taken to annul the system. Why should Massachusetts and Rhode Island, alone, hold on to the annual elections and annual sessions of the Legislature?.

We fail to see any reason, in all the arguments put forth, except the politician's reason. The State would save expense; the expense of frequent campaigns to parties and individuals would be diminished; the disturbance of all kinds of business which is always engendered by an active and hotly contested election, would be lessened; and the politicians would be compelled to engage some of the time in legitimate work. It is foolish to say that our Legislature, every other year, can not pass laws enough to safely govern the State. Many of them, which are subject to continual tinkering, would have an opportunity for a fair trial in two years. As the matter now stands, it often happens that they scarcely become a part of our Statutes before an effort is made by the defeated party to repeal them. Witness the attempt already in progress for the repeal of the Metropolitan police bill at the present session of the Legislature.

Bi-ennial elections and sessions of the Legislature in Massachusetts, can never become a law without the ratification by the people, at the polls. Yet in all the discussions, in all the attempts for a passage of the law, it has never yet been submitted to the people. What are the politicians afraid of? Do they fear a popular vote? It certainly looks like it.

The Proctor freight railroad has only been extended to the yard opposite the shop, but in the spring a track will be laid to the bark mill and a large; shed to cover cars will be built.

Learning at Night.

SOME THINGS LEARNED BY A VISIT TO AN EVENING SCHOOL.

It was quarter of eight last Thursday evening as we walked into the evening school in the Wallis district hall, and saw the score or more of pupils bending silently over their desks, while the teachers moved quietly among them and imparted useful knowledge to all. The attendance on this particular evening was below the average, as there was a free lecture at the Peabody Institute, and the ordinary pupil does not require a very strong attraction outside to induce him to remain away. The school usually opens with a rush and for a few weeks the attendance will number 125 or more, and at this time it is very trying for the teachers and a special policeman is put on duty to enforce discipline. Only a small proportion of these come to learn, some find it a comfortable place to keep warm, others come with an idea that they can learn the whole business in a few evenings, and soon drop out as steady application to the work don't seem to agree with them. There are others who go just for fun and to keep company with some companion who has a desire to improve. Quite frequently the teachers will find a pupil who pretends he must go in the primmer class, and after a few evenings it is found that he is a graduate of the public schools and is only attending the evening school for mischief. Another class are those who have learned only the first rules of arithmetic and come to learn book keeping and shortly drift into a lower grade. As the winter draws on the ranks diminish and the school continues with the reduced number and good work is done. The first few weeks requires the services of extra teachers who, however, remain only while the ranks are full.

The school opened this season with the principal Mr. A. E. Wells, assisted by Mr. Charles A. Weare, Mr. C. W. Ramage, Mrs. A. E. Wells and Mrs. R. H. Wilkinson. The pupils are of all ages from 15 to 40 and are drawn from all classes of people, but mostly those of foreign parents. As one glances along the rows of bright faced girls and boys he learns that most of them are employed in our factories during the day or are servant girls in different families and see the need of an education. The pupils are for the most part neatly dressed, but of course some of the boys will come in with uncombed hair and hands that betray traces of soil. Good order is preserved but none of the discipline of the public schools is required. The teachers remaining are Mr. and Mrs. Wells and Mr. Weare and each have their depa ment. The principal things taught are arithmetic, reading, writing and spelling by the assistants, while book keeping is taught by Mr. Wells. No text books are used and most of the work is put on the blackboard. No attempt is made in the way of grammar, except to correct ungrammatical expressions and try and have the scholar understand the why and wherefore of the same and the advantage of speaking correctly. The principal thing aimed at is to apply each thing as it is taught, so that the pupil seeing at once its practical value will put himself or herself to the work in all diligence. The school room is open early and about half past seven business begins but tardiness is overlooked. There are many disadvantages under which the school labors at present, as everything is in a crude state and the work is hampered by being limited in amount of money to spend. The school is doing excellent work and if the town would make a small appropriation each year it will find that in a few years the return will show a large advantage to the town in better order and better citizenship.

The Asbury Grove Camp-meeting association held its annual meeting at Bromfield street, Boston, Wednesday, and made some important changes in the board of trustees. It was voted that the term of office of a trustee should be five years, and that three trustees, consisting of one clergyman and two laymen, should be elected yearly. The territory and churches to be covered by the association was restricted to the limits of the Lynn district. The date of holding the campmeeting is fixed as Aug. 17, being Tuesday, the camp-meeting to close the following Tuesday morning. It will be noticed that this is a change from the plan pursued during the last few years of beginning the meeting Friday, and closing them the following Thursday. The debt of the association is about $7000.

A new Richmond in the field for Congress. Many Republicans look to the nomination of Hon. John M. Raymond present mayor of Salem, for a candidate in this district. He has popular and strong points. He is young and enthusiastic; one of the youngest councillors Essex has ever had, and one of the youngest mayors Salem has ever had. He has the prestige of success.—Valley Visitor.

MUSICAL NOTES.

We are pleased to be informed that the pupils of the High School are so much interested in the musical instruction given that they are taking an advanced course outside of the school instruction, meeting in the evening at the houses of each other, with Prof. Bill. Let the good work go on. In contrast with the manner in which this school received musical instruction at first, this is encouraging news, and exceedingly complimentary to Prof. Bill.

Speaking of school instruction in music, why don't the School Board give a public exhibition of the work done by Prof. Bill in our public schools? We understand that Prof. Bill would gladly undertake such an exhibition, to which all our citizens should be admitted free, if the School Committee would furnish the hall and pay the necessary expenses. The first concert given by Prof. Bill was to compensate him in part for his services. Now that he is paid a reasonable salary, the public exhibition of results need not cease. We think such an affair would be interesting and enjoyable, and a much finer performance could now be given.

Hazen A. Quint, the young violinist, is now studying with Prof. Campanari, at the New England Conservatory of Music. We understand that he has several engagements to play. Among them one for the Baptist Society in Salem.

The vesper service at St. John's Church Sunday afternoon was of great interest to those fortunate to be present, Mrs. E. R. Bigelow singing Cherubini's "Ave Maria" with much expression, her flute like voice completely filling the large audience room. The choir sang Millard vespers in D flat very finely. The solos by Messrs. McElligott, Horrigan, McGrath, and Misses Ducey and Burke, adding greatly to the enjoyment of all present. The choir are soon to sing Rossini's "Stabat Mater," the solos to be taken by Misses Ducey, Linehan, Messrs. McElligott, Cass, McGrath and Horrigan.

Mme. Fanny Kellogg and D. M. Babcock are to give one of their song recitals, with the assistance of Wulf Fries, violoncellist, at Smith College, Northampton.

The first concert of the season by the Salem Schubert Club will be given at Plummer Hall, on the evening of Feb. 17, when the Cantata "May Queen" by Bennett, Pinsuti's "Tell me, Flora" and other shorter works will be performed. The soloists will probably be Miss Louise Gage, soprano; Mr. Geo. J. Parker, tenor and Mr. Clarence Hay, bass.

The lyric season at the Bijou Theatre—a season that is likely to recall the prosperity of the earliest lyric ventures in this pretty parlor home of harmony—opens with Balfe's delightful work, "The Enchantress," which has not been sung here for nearly a score of years. It is the Alfa Norman troupe that revives this charming opera in Boston, and the company, from prima donna down, have won golden opinions.

The piano among the gifts to be presented by the G. A. R. at their Fair this week is an Ivers & Pond, and was purchased from W. J. Lefavour, Salem, who is the agent for the Ivers & Pond in this vicinity.

At the entertainment to-night by the G. A. R. in Town Hall, the Lefavour Sisters of Salem will take part.

To-morrow evening is the third entertainment under the auspices of the Salem Cadet Band at Mechanic Hall, Salem, by the Emerson—Peirce Concert Company. This company consists of Walter Emerson, the well known cornetist, his first appearance in this vicinity since returning from Europe, Carl Peirce, the young violinist, who comes well recommended, Miss Mamie E. Hitch, soprano, and other talent. Tickets for the remainder of the course, including to-morrow evening's entertainment, have been reduced to $1.00.

Richard Mansfield as "Ko-Ko" has made a tremendous hit at the Hollis Street Theatre. His rendering of the "Tit Willow" song, is alone worth the price of admission, and his interpolated verses in the "I have him on the list" song are very clever and wonderfully well given.

It is said that the 'cello that is owned by Mr. Geise, soloist of the symphony orchestra, is a Stradivarius, and is worth $8000.

Alfa Norman and "The Enchantress" should bring back to the Bijou the clientele of "Iolanthe" days.

Mapleson's opera company will play a return engagement in Boston in April.

A popular concert is announced to be given in Trinity Methodist Church, Charlestown, by Alfred W. Newcomb, Thursday evening, January 28, assisted by Elene Buffington Kehew, soprano; Sopha C. Hall, contralto; J. H. Ricketson, tenor; Avon D. Saxon, baritone; F. Clayton Record, violinist; Wulf Fries, violoncellist; and the Oxford male quartette, with Amy T. Rawson, pianist.

Virginia Townsend has composed the words, and Fred. B. Batchelder the music, for a soprano or tenor song of exceptional pathos and sweetness, entitled "Brother Charlie." It expresses the genuine sentiment of a sister's love for a brother gone before.

Arrangements will probably be made for the appearance of the ladies' Philomela Quartette and Edward K. Hood, at the Peabody Institute, sometime next month. The Philomela Quartette are meeting with great success this season, being engaged nearly every night. Of Mr. Hood it is not necessary to speak. He is too well known here, as one of the best readers in the field.

Miss Louise Baldwin, of the Philomela Quartette, will visit London in the Spring to study with Randegger.

The Holten Alumni Association, of Danvers, announce a fine course of entertainments in the Peabody Institute there, opening with the Rivals Concert Company, consisting of Walter Emerson, Alfred De Seve, the celebrated violinist, and Edward K. Hood, reader. This combination appear in Mansfield this evening, with Mrs. J. P. Fernald as soprano vocalist.

The third of the series of private musicales was given last evening by Miss Nellie M. Merrill at her home on Washington street. There was a ladies' quartette consisting of Miss Nelson, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. J. Henry Osgood and Miss Howard; a male quartette consisting of Messrs. Merrill of Salem, Stanley and Martin, and a mixed quartette consisting of Misses Grace F. Dalton and Howard, Messrs. Martin and Stanley. Miss Dalton sang a song, also Messrs. Merrill and Stanley. Miss Emma Rice sang two selections — the latter one being especially fine. It was a very pleasant occasion.

The Unitarian Society at their meeting last week decided to purchase a new organ for use in their church. The organ now in use was the first church organ used in town.

The Salem Brass Band gave a miscellaneous concert in the Town Hall last evening at the opening of the Fair, which was well received by the audience.

SOUTH PEABODY.

Rev. J. W. Colwell preached to the children last Sunday afternoon and in the evening a temperance concert was held in the vestry and was very interesting.

As soon as the weather will permit, work will be begun on the ponds by the different ice companies. There is about ten inches on Brown's pond, and they intended to commence plaining yesterday.

Mr. Samuel Brown has an order for twelve mill stones for the Baker chocolate works at Dorchester, Mass.

Mr. Walter Wheeler has gone to Keene, N. H., to engage in work for John Shaw, 2d, at that place.

There will be a special collection taken up in the church next Sunday afternoon to make up the deficit there is in the treasury.

Charles R. Newhall has moved into the house of Joseph Mansfield on Lynnfield street.

Eben Parker is quite sick as his home on Lynn street.

Joel F. Needham is drawn as one of the jurors for the court now being held in Salem.

Mr. Eugene Dooling is a peaceable citizen, living in this part of the town, and last Saturday went to market. When returning and on Aborn street, a crowd of roughs assaulted him and a man named Patrick Cashman who was with him. Dooling was struck in the eye and considerably injured. The police arrested two young men named Sullivan and Murphy, but as they denied striking the blow and there was not sufficient evidence to convict them, they were discharged.

The Lynn & Boston Horse R. R. Co. worked all last night sweeping the water from the tracks. In some places the tracks were entirely covered.

The labor troubles at the shoe manufactory of Henry Laws in Lynnfield were settled satisfactorily, Saturday, the bands, about forty in all, returning to work to-day. They have been out about ten days.

The attractive and showy advertisement of F. D. Tarlton appears to-day for the first time on our first page. Mr. Tarlton believes in letting the people know what he is doing, and he has found out that it pays to do so. He is one of our live, wide-awake business men. He knows how to buy goods right—pays cash for all his goods and can sell them at low prices and yet make a fair profit. Even at this, the dull season, his store is crowded with customers, because they know where they can obtain bargains.

R. G. Nelson's horse attached to a sleigh, ran away last evening on Chestnut street. The horse cleared himself and ran up Lowell street. The sleigh was overturned and the shaft broken.

Rev. Mr. Anderson of Salem preaches at the Baptist Church this evening.

Where Hours go Merrily.

The young friends of Miss Annie Mahearn gave her a surprise party at her father's home last Friday night. A collation was served and dancing was indulged in till midnight. The young lady was presented with a toilet case.

Emerald Court C. O. F. will celebrate St. Patrick's day with an entertainment at town hall.

A large audience were present at the rink last Saturday night, to witness the five mile race between the Champion E. L. Maddocks and John Finn, of Salem. The latter was given two laps at the start, but was beaten by the champion by a quarter lap. Mr. Maddocks afterwards complimented Finn upon the good time he had made. He afterwards gave a little exhibition, skating a mile in 3 minutes and 22 seconds.

Remember Walsh & Gilmore's Combination in the "Bad Boy and his Pa," at the rink to-night.

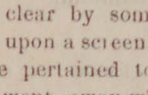
Progressive euchre parties are held nearly every evening, and old and young seem to enjoy the sport. There is one party that have met every Thursday evening since October.

The lecture at the Institute last Thursday evening by Mr. Henry W. Ragan, was attentively listened to. The lecturer was an orator and he made things more clear by some excellent views thrown upon a screen. The most of his lecture pertained to Italy and the audience went away with the impression that they had been with the lecturer through that sunny land, so clearly did he make them see the things he had seen.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society held a meeting at the Unitarian chapel last Thursday and a supper was indulged in, and an entertainment was furnished by the Unity club.

The social assemblies of Assembly 2947 K. of L. are being largely attended and the interest is increasing. Another will be held at Ashland Hall, this evening.

Notwithstanding the storm last evening, a large number was present at the private party at the rink, under the management of Messrs. E. H. Nichols, W. C. Merrill and Wm. Weed. There were two bands, giving one continuous strain of music.



ON OUR TOWN OFFICIALS.

One of the town officials requests us to turn this eye on the janitor at the town house as he says during the recent cold wave all hands have been obliged to sit with their coats on. One day in some of the rooms the glass did not get above 42 degrees. It don't seem as if there was any need of its being so cold with two large boilers and a good coal bin back of them.

We have been often asked why it is that the storm signals are not put up in this town before eight or half past in the morning, while in other places they are flying before seven. We refer the question to officer Goodwin who is boss of the weather signals.

Members of the water board and Engineers of the fire department visited Proctor's factory on Webster street last Thursday and thoroughly inspected the workings of the new automatic fire extinguisher. They each expressed confidence in the workings of the invention, and were of the opinion that other large factories would adopt it. Supt. Blaney said that at some future time, particularly if others adopted it, in the interest of the town, a meter should be attached. To such a proposition there could be no objection.

It looks as if the police had winked at racing on our Main streets since the sleighing began.

Mr. S. F. Blaney was drawn by the Selectmen as juror for the February term of the Superior Court at Salem.

A pleasant duty of the town clerk is to gather the names of last years' crop of babies.

Mr. James P. King, the Agricultural member of our Board of Overseers of the Poor, spoke before the Essex County farmers at Methuen, and gave a learned discourse on the "Production and Marketing of Milk." From long experience in the handling of cows, his opinions are to be considered of considerable value. His remarks were listened to with the closest attention.

The 39th Institute of the Essex Agricultural Society will be held at Peabody Town Hall next Tuesday, Jan. 26, commencing at 9.30 A. M. Forenoon subject for discussion, "Comparative Merits of Special and General Farming," opened by Rev. O. S. Butler of Georgetown. Subject in afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock, "Forestry and Pasture," opened by Hon. J. J. H. Gregory of Marblehead. Dinner will be served at Baldwin's Hotel.

An informal meeting of the South Society was held last evening to talk over matters with reference to candidates for the pastorate. There was a small attendance and it was adjourned till Friday evening after the regular prayer meeting. It will then be decided, probably, whether it is advisable for the church to call a meeting.

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning. W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.
Open Every Evening.

New Advertisements.

MARK DOWN

AT PEABODY'S.

Every pair of Stockings in the Store at reduced prices to close out the stock. As they were very cheap before, they are simply given away at these prices.

LADIES' HOSIERY.

All our 25 cent Wool Hose	19 cents
All our 38 cent Wool Hose	29 cents
All our 50 cent Wool Hose	35 cents
All our 68 and 75 cent Hose	50 cents

MISSES' HOSIERY.

All our 20 cent Wool Hose	15 csnts
All our 25 cent Wool Hose	19 cents
All our 38 cent Wool Hose	29 cents
All our 50 cent Wool Hose	35 cents

We challenge competition on this mark down. We are bound to clean out our whole stock of Hosiery, and have made prices that will do it at once.

FINE FRENCH MITTENS
FOR LADIES.

Fine Zephyr Wool Mittens—fine and handsome as silk—plain 29c. embroidered backs 39c. worth anywhere 63 and 75c now only 29 and 39 cents,

FELT HATS,

All our best Fur Felts Worth anywhere $1.25.	50 cents
All our best Wool Felts Worth anywhere 75 cents.	29 cents

BROCADE SILK HDKFS.

Nice all Silk Hdkfs., nice colors, 15c. Sold anywhere for 25 cents.

WOOL LEGGINS.

Ladies', Misses' and Children's Gaiters, the best goods in the market.

Ladies' 42c Gaiters down to	29 cents
Ladies' 58c Gaiters down to	39 cents
Ladies' 75c Gaiters down to	59 cents
Ladies' 88c Gaiters down to	69 cents
Misses' 30c Gaiters only	19 cents

A grand opportunity to get Gaiters or Leggins for a mere song.

DON'T FORGET

that our regular Closing Out Sale is in progress, and that the above are only samples of the prices that prevail all over our store.

J. P. PEABODY.

GREAT SALE

— OF —

Ladies' Cotton Underwear

AND

HAMBURG EDGING.

Special Bargains in Domestics the coming week.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of JOHN SHEHAN, alias JOHN SHEAHAN, late of Peabody, in said county, laborer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Mary Shehan, alias Mary Sheahan, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of February, next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register

jan 3—3t

POULTRY FOOD.

WE have lately added to our usual good assortment of Grain for Hen Food:

1 Car Large, Clean Barley;
1 Car Good Scorched Wheat;
1 Car Ground Oats;
1 Car Buckwheat Grain;
1 Car Yellow Corn;
Oyster Shells, Beef Scraps & Egg Food

Which we are selling at our usually low pries.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

HAY.

JUST RECEIVED.—Choice Hay from Maine and the Provinces, in large and small bales suitable for horses and cows.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

PETITION AND ORDER

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We the undersigned citizens of said county would respectfully represent, that the public convenience and necessity requires a county highway from a point near the junction of Holten and Collins streets in the town of Danvers to a point at junction of Garden and Prince streets, thence following the line of Garden street to Andover street, thence running north-westerly on Andover street about 800 feet to a point on said Andover street, between the houses of Cross and Fisher, thence running westerly to Newbury street, thence across said street passing south-east of the house of Jasper Pope to the town line between Danvers and Peabody near an old highway, which highway we wish to have discontinued, thence running westerly, passing southerly of the dwelling houses of Perley Goodale and Jacob Goodale, Thomas C. Durkee, and south-easterly of the barn of Wm. P. Upham, Esq., and north-westerly of the house of Geo. W. Taylor to a point on Lowell street in said Peabody near the junction of Russell street following nearly the route as surveyed by Andrew Nichols, surveyor.

Also that said highway be continued to West street following the pathway now in use leaving Lowell street by gate opposite George W. Taylor's residence and uniting with West street at the north-easterly corner of the school house yard.

We therefore petition your Honorable Body to lay out a public highway on or near the line as herein described.

JACOB B. GOODALE,
Peabody, Dec. 17, '85. and others.

TO THE HONORABLE THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We hereby respectfully represent that having signed a petition for a highway from Holten street in Danvers to Lowell street in Peabody at a point north-westerly from the house of George W. Taylor, and understanding that it may be more expedient that said highway should come out on Lowell street at a point about nine hundred feet easterly from said Taylor's house, we hereby assent to said change in the location of said proposed highway, if thought best.

N. P. MERRIAM and others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss.

COURT OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, DECEMBER TERM, A. D., 1885, HELD BY ADJOURNMENT, JAN. 4, 1886.

On the Petition aforesaid, ordered, That said petitioners give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein, that said Commissioners will meet at the West Peabody Hall in said Peabody on TUESDAY, the sixteenth day of February next, at nine o'clock, A. M.,—by publishing an attested copy of said Petition, and of this Order thereon, in the Peabody Press and Danvers Mirror, newspapers printed in Peabody and Danvers, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February.—And also by serving each of the Town Clerks of said Peabody and Danvers with an attested copy of said Petition and this Order, thirty days at least, and by posting up an attested copy thereof in two public places in each of said towns, fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February, at which time and place said Commissioners will proceed to view the premises, and take such order in relation to the Prayer of said Petition, as by law they may be authorized to do.

DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.

A true copy of Petition and Order thereon.
Attest, DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.
A true copy. Attest,
DANIEL J. PRESTON,
jan 13 Deputy Sheriff.

MECHANIC HALL, SALEM.
THE
SALEM ORATORIO SOCIETY

Announces two Concerts during the present season.

MENDELSSOHN'S ST. PAUL,
FEBRUARY 3.

SPOHR'S LAST JUDGMENT,
and other works, EASTER MONDAY,
APRIL 26.

COURSE TICKETS, with reserved seats $1.50.

They are sold in the form of checks, which are now on sale at the store of E. V. Emilio, 245 Essex street, or may be obtained from members of the Society

Course tickets, with reserved seats, will be delivered to holders of these checks only on presentation of the same at Emilio's Music Store, 245 Essex street, on the morning of Friday, Jan. 29th, at 9 A. M., and continuing through Saturday, Jan. 30th, after which date the sale will be open to the public.

The performance of St. Paul will be given on Wednesday Evening, Feb. 3,
At 7.45 o'clock,

Assisted by
MISS ELENE BUFFINGTON KEHEW, Soprano
MISS ANNIE H. LORD, Contralto.
MR. CHARKES ABERCROMBIE, Tenor.
MR. D. M. BABCOCK, Bass.
THE GERMANIA ORCHESTRA, GEO. W. SUMNER, Organist.
CARL ZERRAHN, Conductor.

Evening tickets, $1. Admission, 50 cts.
Afternoon rehearsals at 3 o'clock.
Admission, 25 cents.

Extra train for Lynn and Boston at close of performance.

SIG. BATTALIA,
FROM BOSTON,
PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms,
40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

WARREN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank for the election of new members and a board of Officers for the ensuing year, also for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting, will be held at the Bank rooms on Wednesday, January 27th, 1886, at 7.30 o'clock P. M.

A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.
Peabody, Dec. 30, 1885.

WANTED

Room and Board for a gentleman and child about four years of age. Address,
BOX 18,
Peabody P. O.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 20, 1886.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

By invitation of Mr. H. P. Reed, the manager of Mr. Thomas E. Proctor's large leather establishment on Webster street, a number of town officials visited the place last Thursday to witness the workings of the new automatic fire extinguishers of the Griennell pattern. The company were first shown the connections on the outside. The water was taken from the main near the hydrant and carried some 200 feet to the shop and in so doing a brook had to be crossed and the pipe laid below the bottom of the brook, and at another point a shut off outside of the building had been put in. The water is carried ll over the building in a four inch in pipe and branching from it are ller pipes running down to threeters of an inch. At every ten feet e is a sprinkler. It is about two s in diameter and is arranged in a manner that when the heat hes 155 degrees the triangular e which keeps the valve closed is ted and the next instant a flood of er follows. The water when coming first passes upward and spurts every direction, and the amount at is distributed is quickly shown hen we know that each sprinkler hrows 60 gallons a minute. Over 000 feet of pipe was used in the construction. It has also been arranged so that in case there should be any reason for shutting off the high service water, the supply could be kept up by taking it from the large tank which hey now fill by the windmill on the ill. This system of fire extinguishing in use in many large factories and s never yet proved a failure. So fident are the insurance folks in its cess that mutual companies do not sitate to take the risk. We trust at although Mr. Proctor has spent veral thousands of dollars in putting this extinguisher he may never have ccasion to use it.

Lawrence Cuddire, better known as "Larry," closed his misspent life last Thursday night, when he died at his home on Mill street. Cuddire was a native of this town, and when quite a young lad, distinguished himself by umping from "high bridge" in the resence of a large number of people.
He was a morocco dresser by trade and was employed in that business until he opened the "hole in the wall" on Mill street, formerly owned by Katie Buckley. In this business he seemed to flourish, but could not resist the temptation to drink heavily himself and as a result his place at times was quite disorderly. He married one of the Casy girls and his wife has stuck to him through his changing fortunes. Owing to the enforcement of the prohibition law, his place was closed after he had been convicted of illegal selling. He had some good traits and always contributed liberally to benevolent objects and provided every comfort for his family. Larry was himself his worst enemy. He leaves a widow and seven children.

Now that the trees are bare of their foliage the much abused English sparrow is putting in his work as a general scavenger of the larvæ of noxious insects deposited on their branches and under the bark during the summer and autumn months. But it is only when the snow covers the ground that the plucky, self-supporting little bird is the most active. In the absence of all other food he is then compelled to forage on the bare limbs and bark for his living, and he does it energetically and effectually.

Fitch Poole Council, A. L. of H, elected the following officers, Wednesday evening:—Commander, G. N. Hayes; V. C., Otis Brown; Sec., A. Elliott; Treas., A. H. Whidden; Collector, F. S. Worcester; Guide, G. C. Prescott; Sentry, H. C. Torr; Orator, S. Chadwick; Warden, E. P. Barrett; Chaplain, N. Lakeman; Delegate to Grand Council, Samuel Symonds, Alternate, F. S. Worcester. The meetings will be held in the W. C. T. Union rooms over Whidden's store.

A special town meeting will be held very shortly to decide in reference to the re-building of the school house burned Monday morning. This is necessary because the insurance is payable to the treasury of the town, and a town meeting must make the necessary appropriation to rebuild the house. It is probable that the town will be called upon at the same time to consider the matter of the proposed new road in West Peabody—notice having been served on the town by the County Commissioners.

Richard Kimball is attending the th annual reunion of the Training ield Association at Monument Hall, rlestown, to-day.

r. Frank Marsh gave two barrels pples and Mr. James P. King one to the Grand Army Fair.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Last Thursday a superannuated horse attached to a wagon owned by a junk dealer laid down on Foster street and refused to go any farther. It was half an hour before he got rested.

Mr. James Kenney got intoxicated and paid a fine of $1 and cost, Monday morning.

Mr. Desmond fell on the ice last Sunday and broke his arm.

Mr. Frank M. Gilman of this town was going up Friend street in Boston, recently, when he accidentally slipped into a coal hole on the sidewalk. He was somewhat cut above the knee and badly sprained.

Mary T. Gallagher was discharged last Saturday morning. She had been charged with keeping liquor.

G. E. Russell of Aborn street, who was reported missing some three weeks ago, has been found in South Andover. He chanced to fall in with an old acquaintance and related a story to the effect that he had no home and no place to lay his head. The friend seeing that everything was not right kindly cared for him until he heard from his folks.

Some one broke the gunning house of our sportsmen at Eagle Hill recently.

James Connelley, an insane man living on Harris street, ran away from his home Thursday morning. He is 60 years of age. He was found in the afternoon and returned home.

Thomas Farrell was fined $20 and costs last Friday morning for non support of his family.

Mr. Elroy Lyons was taken to the Danvers Asylum, last Friday, by the police. He had been pronounced insane by the physicians.

Maurice Galway was arrested for being drunk and fined $1 and costs last Friday.

A Tremont street man locked out three hens in the severe storm last week and three days afterward they were found huddled together under an old cellar door, and a big snow drift over them. They were in good condition except they had fasted about long enough.

Charles Morgan, a driver on the street railway, received a severe blow upon his arm by the brake as he was driving down the hill near Lummus' mill, Monday, and though no bones were broken he is yet unable to use it.

Two heifers are running wild among the woods at Lynnfield, and during the cold snap came almost up to a farm house but again took to the woods when an attempt to capture them was made.

Mr. L. W. Wheaton of this town hired a sleigh last Saturday for a ride, and when crossing the railroad track at West Lynn the runner caught and he was thrown out. He managed to hold the horse and on investigation it was found no injury had been done the sleigh except the breaking of a few braces.

An exchange says: A well dressed and ingratiating fraud, representing himself as a young priest in need of assistance, bewitched a considerable number of dollars and dimes from the benevolent Catholic people in this vicinity a week or two ago. He was well provided with credible beads and books and promised many prayers and masses for his benefactors. Soft hearted old ladies were his favorite victims, but some of the astute lords of creation were taken in as well and contributed quite liberally to the success of his little scheme. Look out for him.

A cask of nails fell on the foot of Bill Alley on Harris street recently and took off the nail of two toes.

The Danvers Mirror says: The fine snow sifted into the attic of C. C. Fa-well & Co's. factory, during last Friday night, and damaged a lot of shoes in process of manufacture, and as they could not be worked upon, some of the men were obliged to stop work. Steam was kept on all day Sunday to dry them as much as possible.

Mr. William R. Sherry, while doing some repairs at his house on Harris street, fell across a joice in such a way as to seriously injure him.

A cocking main for ten dollars a side was fought in this town last Sunday, so it is said. The fight took place in the kitchen of one of the interested parties and was between a game bantum and some kind of a barn yard fowl. The little one came off first best.

We lern that Mrs. Fred Upton, living on Main street, recently lost a fifty dollar bill. It had been given her that morning by her husband, and when searched for could not be found.

Conductor Williams, of the Lynn R. R., has been suffering with a lame back for the past week caused by a strain. During the rough weather Conductor Basford, in coming around the corner near Flax pond, got his car in the ditch and Conductor Williams with his driver helped them out. While doing so the horses started quickly and threw Williams, who had hold of the cross bar, down and dragged him quite a distance before they were stopped by the driver.

Last Monday a farm hand in the employ of James P. King was driving up Southwick's lane when he fell from the wagon and the wheels passed over his legs considerably bruising them, but fortunately breaking no bones.

The case of John Perkins vs Mrs. M. O. Stevens was to be tried in the Supreme Court in Salem to-day. This suit grew out of testimony given in the police court by Mrs. Stevens in a liquor case and Perkins alleges slander and asks for damages.

Engine No. 208 of the B. & M. came into town last Monday with the smoke stack, head light and bell knocked off. The accident happened at the coal pockets at Danvers while trying to make a flying switch.

In the police court Tuesday morning John McCue for assault on Annie F. Carney was continued till Friday. James Duggan for assaulting Catherine Dorgan was discharged as it was clearly shown that he used a hatchet in self defense.

Accident on Northern Division of Boston & Lowell R. R.:—Tuesday, Jan. 12th, as the mail train south, consisting of Postal car No. 57, baggage car and two passenger cars, was rapidly bowling along the iron rails to Boston, at a point about one mile above the town of Tilton, N. H., by some cause or other the entire train was thrown from the track and all the cars were more or less damaged, all the running gear and truck frames were torn from the cars by striking a large bowlder and were broken and scattered over a space of some 150 yards. There were about eighty passengers on the train, of whom none were severely injured. Mr. H. H. Edwards, of Waltham, Mass., recived bad bruises on his hands and head. Another passenger was burned on the side of his face by being thrown on a hot stove. The Postal car in charge of Capt. George W. Taylor of West Peabody run into an embankment, partially turned over, and stopped the rest of the train. In this car with Capt. Taylor were Postal clerks W. F. Warren and C. H. Green, and all were thrown down and more or less injured. In one end of the car a fire soon caught from coals from the stove and oil from the broken lamps, and a can of oil that was spilled over empty sacks, pouches and waste piled up in one end of the car. By the exertions of the clerks who were assisted by Conductor U. S. Clark, Baggage Master Frank Clark, Birmingham, U. S. and Canada Express Messenger, Brakeman Frank Titus, and several of the passengers, who brought snow and water, the fire was subdued and the bulk of Government property saved. Capt. Taylor was fortunate in saving the registered and money packages, also most of the letter mail was secured but was badly damaged by oil, water and dirt. Credit is due Conductor Clark for the exertion he used to care for the passengers under his charge in getting them to the depot at Tilton. Many had frozen ears and cold toes for the thermometer stood at 16 degrees below zero.

* * *

The Sunday Globe gave the particulars of a new block to be built by Mr. J. B. Thomas on the site of the old hotel. We learn that while Mr. Thomas has had several plans drawn for such a building, it has not yet been decided which he will accept. We are gratified to know that Mr. Thomas will put up a building that will be an ornament to our town, and when a plan is decided upon, we hope to present it to our readers.

Representatives of the Enos Elevated Rail Road are in New York. They will order about 200 feet of the road made and put up in New York, and the invention will be tested before the road to Winthrop will be built.

The Murray Club of the Universalist church, will hold a social party at town hall, Thursday evening, February 11. The Cadet Band will furnish music. Tickets will shortly be for sale by Albert Merrill, H. A. Harrington and other members of the club.

The Woman Suffrage Club are invited to meet with Mr. and Mrs. Bergen, 132 Lowell street, on next Monday evening. A full attendance of members is desired by the President of the Club as some special business is to be attended to.

Mr. Batcheider, of Lynn, who has been sick for several weeks at the home of Mr. W. H. Fellows on Liberty street, was removed to Lynn last week. He has been under the care of Holten Lodge I. O. O. F.

We regret to learn of the serious illness of Mr. W. J. Lunt at his home in Malden. A complication of diseases seems to be the matter.

The dog that was found by the police has adopted Mr. John Nugent and will be taught to take care of the shoe store.

Mrs. Nancy Sanborn, of Haverhill, but formerly of this town, contemplates a trip to Kansas, leaving about the first of the month.

Gold pins, ear jewels, rings, lockets, chains, etc., at Peabody's.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

OUR ANNUAL JANUARY SALE

— OF —

COTTON UNDERWEAR,

Is now going on. An entirely New Stock of

NIGHT ROBES, CHEMISES,

SKIRTS AND DRAWERS.

Better and larger than ever before shown in this city, every Garment having been made to our special order, with the view of securing the best materials and embroideries, and the most perfect work that could be obtained.

A FEW LEADING VALUES.

LOT NO. 1. 25 dozen trimmed Corset Covers, at 12 1-2c.

LOT NO. 2. 50 dozen trimmed Corset Covers, at 15c.

LOT NO. 3. 20 dozen Drawers, tucked and trimmed, at 25c.

LOT NO. 4. 30 dozen Drawers, fine wide tucks and deep plain ruffles, at 37 1-2c.

LOT NO. 5. 30 dozen Drawers with clusters of fine tucks and Hamburg Edge, at 45c.

LOT NO. 6. 20 dozen Drawers with tucks, insertings and Hamburg edge, at 59c.

LOT NO. 7. 40 dozen Night Robes, full length, trimmed around neck and sleeves and down the front, at 39c.

LOT NO. 8. 25 dozen Night Robes, trimmed around neck and sleeves and tucked yoke, 45c.

LOT NO. 9. 20 dozen Night Robes, very best cotton, trimmed with Hamburg edge, square neck, trimming of tucks and inserting, (usual price $1.50), at 95c.

LOT NO. 10. 25 dozen Skirts, made of best material, tucked and trimmed with deep Hamburg Ruffle, only 58c. This lot cannot be duplicated.

The above are only a few of the many Bargains we shall offer during this sale, which will be found to be the most interesting ever held in any city in New England.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

SPECIAL BARGAINS.

Men's Merino Boots, for Car Drivers, Milk Men, etc., very warm, only 75 cents per pair, last for this season.

Men's Buckle Arctics only $1 per pair.

Women's, Misses and Children's Overs, only 25 cents per pair.

Men's Woonsocket, R. I., Rubber Boots, only $2 25 per pair.

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SAMUEL TRASK'S

BARGAIN STORE.

Full line of

HARDWARE,

Paint Stock, Builders' Material, Wooden Ware.

5 AND 10 CENT COUNTERS.

Glass ware, rubber goods, garden tools, cordage, Brooms and brushes.

Mixed Paints and colors, Oil Clothing, Common and Face Bricks, Bed Leather, Belting, Sole Leather, Bird Cages.

Children's Carts, Wagons and Toys.

Barbed Wire, Seed, Fertilizer, etc., etc.

SAMUEL TRASK,

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER

AND

BLANK BOOK

MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000' sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

POTATOES.

We have a large lot of nice Ipswich potatoes which we are offering our customers as being a prime article.

— also —

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

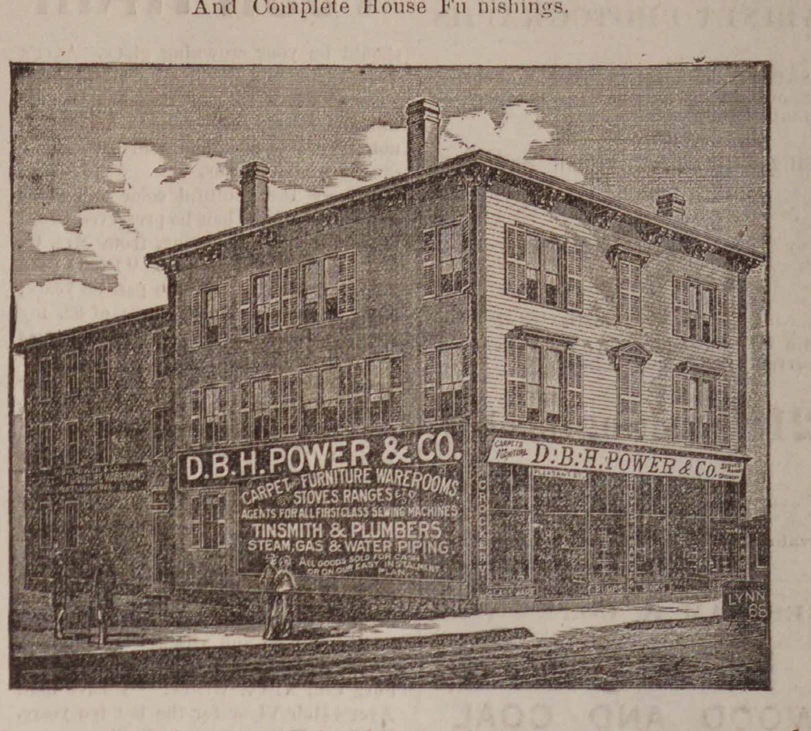
A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

STOVES, RANGES, FURNITURE, CARPETS, CROCKERY,

And Complete House Furnishings.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
STOVES, RANGES &c.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
LYNN 68

Our store will be closed Feb. 10th, for the purpose of taking account of stock. From now until that time we shall offer to the general public

Bargains! Bargains! Bargains!

In every Department. We have just unloaded one more car load of the CELEBRATED NEW HUB & GLENWOOD RANGES & PARLOR STOVES.

Have added to our already large stock of Carpets, $10,000 worth of

TAPESTRY, BRUSSELS & WOOLEN CARPETS.

During the last month we have bought from the manufacturers over 500

CHAMBER SETS,

In Ash, Black Walnut, Cherry and Painted. Even now, after one of the most successful months in the history of our business, we find every department over crowded, not only in our Furniture and Carpet departments, but in our Crockery, Lamp and Silver Ware departments.

We must take account of stock Feb. 10th, and before that time we must lower our stock, and now is the time to take advantage of low prices..

REMEMBER. We deliver every thing we sell and warrant every thing to be delivered in as good condition as you see it in our ware rooms.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

25,000 SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR ROOM.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

Connected by Telephone No. 1674.

Originators of our special instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a wesk. We lead all and follow or copy from no one.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

Would respectfully invite the public to call and examine his large and well selected stock of

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC WOOLENS

In the latest styles, which he is now offering at very low prices.

314 different styles in

PANTALOON GOODS

to select from. From $5 to 10.00. Garments made and trimmed in first class style. Perfect fit guaranteed.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR,

MAIN STREET.

OVER WARREN & TRASK'S STORE.

W. B. GIFFORD & CO.,

GRAND MARK DOWN SALE OF

GARMENTS

Now in progress. Also

ANNUAL REMNANT SALE.

SPECIAL.

One more bale of those 6x3ft. DUNDEE RUGS, positively the last this season.

W. B. Gifford & Co.

77 & 79 MARKET ST., LYNN.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheao kin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

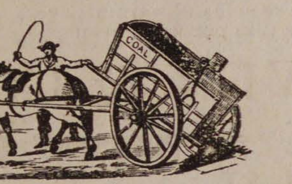
All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN



WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus P. Batchelder ChauncyS. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions

eep the Best of Meats-
r Expenses are Light-
e sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.

TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.

(next to S. Trask's.)

PEABODY.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stores, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further articulars apply to
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER,

Buckwheat Flour.

FRESH ground Pennsylvania Buck Wheat Flour
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.
For sale by all Druggists.

NORTH'S

PHILADELPHIA MUSICAL JOURNAL.

The Cheapest, Most Readable and Most Reliable

MUSICAL MONTHLY IN THIS COUNTRY

Sixteen pages of the latest and best sheet music, vocal and instrumental.

Highly interesting serials and short stories, original and translated.

Timely and trenchant editorials on current musical topics.

Brief Biographies of musical celebrities.

Fearless and impartial criticisms of concerts and operatic performances.

Hosts of attractive and original features.

Subscription only One Dollar a year, in advance.

☞ Premiums of Choice Musical Selections to all who subscribe prior to January 15th, 1886.

Special Rates to Clubs (copies mailed to one Post Office), and one copy free to the getter-up of the club.

Musicians, as well as Amateurs, will find a year's subscription a profitable investment.

PUBLISHED BY
F. A. NORTH & CO.,
1308 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.,

To whom all communications should be addressed.

Send for a specimen copy.

The New York Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday)	$6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday)	50
SUNDAY, per Year	1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR	7 00
WEEKLY, per Year	1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

MASON & HAMLIN

ORGANS: Highest Honors at all Great World's Exhibitions for eighteen years. One hundred styles, $22. to $900. For Cash, Easy Payments, or Rented. Catalogues free.

PIANOS: New mode of Stringing. Do not require one-quarter as much tuning as Pianos on the prevailing "wrest-pin" system. Remarkable for purity of tone and durability.

Organ and Piano Co.

154 Tremont Street, Boston.

sept 23—6t

BILLY PATTERSON.

Many of the readers of the Turf, Field and Farm know the identity of the personage who struck Billy Patterson, thereby giving that bruiser a notoriety he never would have obtained otherwise. The hero of this memorable feat, as many now living can testify, is no other than the genial "Nicholas Spicer," whose charming contributions to the columns of this journal have gained for him wide celebrity and hosts of admirers.

Several versions of the famous old query, "Who Struck Billy Patterson?" have recently appeared in the newspapers, but as all are erroneous, it is time that the mystery should be cleared up, when the public will give "honor to whom honor is due." The circumstances attending this adventure may be briefly narrated thus:

"Nicholas Spicer," then a resident of old Gotham, where he had gone from the "sunny South" to complete his education in his chosen profession, at a leading medical college, was rapidly gaining "golden opinions from all sorts of people," for his genial manner and spirited anecdotes, both of tongue and pen, were everywhere welcome. He was then known, if the writer be not greatly at fault, under the nom de plume of "Young America." At that time he excelled as an amateur athlete, and his skill in the "manly art of self-defense," gave him an enviable position in athletic circles. After graduating, he joined the American Medical Association, and his sparkling wit soon made him a bright star in the galaxy of M. D.'s—meetings being held annually at some city convenient to its members.

In 1848—"there or thereabouts"—the association held its annual meeting in Richmond, Va. "Nicholas Spicer" was there in full force. After an evening session, which had lasted until the "wesma' hours," the medical fraternity, in solid column, had reached Capitol Hill, when the door of a well-known restaurant flew open and out bounded Billy Patterson, a noted bruiser—quiet enough when sober, but a reckless bravado when in his cups. Billy had been drinking heavily as was evident at a glance, and his huge form barred the course of the disciples of Esculapius, whom he mistook, doubtless, for a posse of police bent on his capture. He at once assumed a belligerent attitude, and dashed at the head of the column, which was thrown into sudden confusion.

The streets of Richmond were almost unfathomable, and several of the physicians were thrown from the pavement into the mud by the force of Billy Patterson's charge. "Nicholas Spicer," bringing up the rear of the procession, saw the commotion in front, and, perceiving the cause, quickly prepared for action. The others made way right and left for the infuriated reveler, leaving "Spicer" alone to face the huge Patterson. Assuming a defensive position, and coolly preparing for action, our hero received his antagonist, a la Yankee Sullivan, with a heavy blow under the eye, followed instantly by another beneath the chin, which sent the belligerent backward as though thrown from a catapult. Nothing more was required; Billy Patterson did not rise again to the attack, and the column resumed its way, leaving the fallen pugilist in the care of his associates, who found no little difficulty in bringing him to consciousness. Examination proved that Billy had one eye deeply draped in mourning and a badly-contused jaw, which, in the words of an eye-witness, "laid him up for repairs."

The next morning two policemen were seen about the hotel where "Nicholas Spicer," and a number of his colleagues had secured lodgings, industriously inquiring for "the man who struck Billy Patterson." One of "Spicer's" friends quietly engaged two street gamins to parade the principal thoroughfares, asking every man, woman and child "Who struck Billy Patterson?" In less than an hour the query was caught up and echoed by every one throughout the town. The policemen, chagrined, had retired, The Richmond papers numerously published the all-important question, and it soon spread like wildfire throughout the country. The query has not lost its interest yet, and if any one should ask in the future "Who struck Billy Patterson?" you can answer with all assurance, kind reader, "'Nicholas Spicer' did it—not with his little hatchet, but with the arms that nature gave him," for this is a true version of the hitherto unsettled problem, and can be amply proved if need be.—Turf, Field and Farm.

* * *

Some Indians recently in Mexico dug up a gold idol weighing over thirty pounds. They fell down at once and worshipped it. Then they arose and melted it. Such is life in the far West.

A Brooklyn landlady accidentally put kerosene in her coffee the other morning and was much mortified when her boarders unanimously congratulated her upon the improvement created.

Sympathetic friend (to recently bereaved widow): "My poor Elsie, how lonesome you must feel without your husband." Mournful relict: "Yes, dear; but I have one consolation. I know where he is nights!"

Billy's little sister had fallen and hurt her nose; and she cried a great deal over it. Hearing his mother tell her to be careful lest she'd spoil it next time, he said: "What's the good of a nose to her? She never blows it."

Helloffite is the suggestive name of a new explosive, said to be more powerful than any yet discovered. It is called after its inventor, who is a Russian, and not named, as might be supposed, from the kind of fight it could make.

A small, brazen statue, with feet of lead, representing a lad sitting asleep on an anchor, has been dug up on the Island of Cyprus. This proves that the telegraph was known to the ancients else why should they have telegraph messengers?

* * *

The blood cleansing qualities of Ayer's Sarsaparilla render it invaluable in all skin disorders.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

A POPULAR MONTHLY OF GENERAL LITERATURE.

With the issue for January, 1886, important changes will be made in the literary character and typographical appearance of Lippincott's Magazine, which, while more than maintaining the former standards of excellence, will, it is expected materially increase its popularity and widen its sphere of usefulness. The distinctive features of Lippincott's for the coming year will be as follows

It will be a live periodical, interesting itself in all the current topics of the day, literary, artistic, political, and social, and enlisting in their discussion the ablest pens in England and America. A fair hearing will be accorded to all sides of a controversy, though the magazine will strictly preserve its own neutrality.

It will be especially strong in fiction. A new novel, entitled "Hope," by W. E. Norris, author of "Matrimony," "No New Thing," etc., who is perhaps the cleverest of the rising authors of England, will run through the year, accompanied by a brilliant serial, dealing with the literary and dramatic life of New York City, from the pen of a writer who prefers to keep his name a secret, but whose every touch reveals an intimate acquaintance with the scenes which he describes.

It will be rich in short stories, poems and sketches.

By special arrangement it will be the authorized medium through which the latest utterances of the most eminent transatlantic writers will reach the American public simultaneously with their appearance abroad.

It will number among its American contributors such writers as Gail Hamilton, Julian Hawthorne, Harriet Prescott Spofford, John Bach McMaster, "J. S. of Dale," J. Brander Matthews, etc.

It will be the cheapest first-class magazine issued in America. Recognizing the needs of the time for good literature at moderate prices, the publishers have decided to lower the subscription price, commencing with the new volume, to a sum that will place Lippincott's Magazine within the reach of all.

For sale by all Newsdealers, 25 cents per copy. $2 per annum.

A specimen copy sent free on application.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Publishers.
715 and 717 Market St., Philadelphia.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY FOR 1886

Will contain serial stories by
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
Author of "The Prophet of the Great Smoky Mountains," "In the Tennessee Mountains," etc.
HENRY JAMES
"The Princess Casamassima" will continue until August, 1886.
WILLIAM H. BISHOP,
Author of "The House of a Merchant Prince."
JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL
Will write for the The Atlantic Monthly for 1886.
JOHN FISKE
Will contribute papers on United States History.
PHILIP GILBERT HAMERTON
Will furnish a series of articles comparing French and English people, character, opinions, customs, etc.
THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH
Will contribute some Short Stories.

TERMS: $4 a year, in advance, postage free; 35 cents a number. With superb life-size portraits of Hawthorne, Emerson, Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier, Lowell, or Holmes, $5; each additional portrait, $1.

☞ The November and December number of the Atlantic will be sent free of charge to new subscribers whose subscriptions are received before December 20th.

Postal Notes and Money are at the risk of the sender, and therefore remittances should be made by money-order, draft or registered letter to

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO.,
4 Park Street, Boston, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial. Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York.
Sold by all Druggists.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

CATARRH

ELY'S
CREAM BALM
CATARRH
CURES
COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
TRADE MARK
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BRO'S,
OWEGO N.Y. U.S.A.
EASY TO USE

HAY-FEVER

ELY'S Cream Balm Cleanses the Head. Allays Inflamations Heals the Sores. Restores the Senses of Taste, Smell, Hearing. A quick Relief. A positive Cure.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego. N. Y.

IRA P. PINADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Stockholders of The Warren National Bank of Peabody, Mass., are hereby notified that their annual meeting will be held at their Banking room, TUESDAY, January 12, 1886, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the choice of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

FRANK C. MERRILL, Cashier.
Dec. 9, 1885.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown
Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,	Geo. F. Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Amos Merrill,
Chas. B. Farley,	John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,	Alex. B. Merrill,
Stephen Blaney,	C. Warren Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Geo. S. Osborne,
Chas. B. Farley,	Nathl. Symonds.
Geo. F. Osborne,	Aaron F. Clark,
Amos Merrill,	Albert A. Messer,
John A. Lord,	John Pinder,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Wm P. Clark
Wm. H. Little,	Reuben G. Nelson,
Aaron W. Warren,	Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,
Albert H. Merrill.
Committee of Investment.
Rufus H. Brown,

Lewis Allen,	Alex. B. Merrill
C. Warren Osborne.	Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

CANDEE.

Rubber BOOTS

— WITH —

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give

DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the

PRICE NO HIGHER.

Call and examine the goods.

"CANDEE" RUBBER BOOTS
GIVE DOUBLE WEAR
ON THE BOTTOM.
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT
EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS.
TWO YEARS' TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY INSTITUTE.

COURSE OF LECTURES

AS ARRANGED FOR 1885-1886

Jan. 21. Prof. JAS. F. BABCOCK. Subject—"A Basket of Charcoal."

Jan. 28. HON. GEO. R. WENDLING. Subject—"Hamlet and his Interpreters."

Feb. 4. DR. JAMES HEDLEY. Subject—"The Sunny Side of Life."

Boys and girls under fifteen years of age, unless members of the High School, will not be admitted.

None but ladies, or ladies attended by gentlemen will be admitted to the gallery.

Doors open at 7. Lectures commence a 7.30

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE BROKER & APPRAISER.

HALE'S BLOCK.

223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few Gener l Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich. Ct.

nov24 —12t

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody	at	9 47 A. M
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

xpress Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Eurniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES.

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 9 11 A M. over the Wakefield Branch R. R.

Leaves B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

All business entrusted to my care will be safely and carefully attended to. Daily and weekly papers supplied.

Order Slates:—At B. F. Stevens', Bushby's, Batchelder's, B. B. Humphrey's, E. S. Howard's, and Nugent Bros. stores.

JAMES F. FOYE.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

SOUTH DANVERS NATIONAL BANK.

The stock holders of this Bank are hereby notified that their annual meeting for the election of Directors and the transaction of such business as may legally come before them, will be held at their Bank Room, on Tuesday, January 12, 1886, at 8.30 o'clock A. M.

G. M. FOSTER, Cashier.

Peabody, Dec. 2, 1885.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE LOANS,

Principal and interest guaranteed by the

LOMBARD INVESTMENT COMPANY.

For sale by

FRANK C. MERRILL,

At Warren National Bank.

oct 21—3m

Ground Oats.

We are receiving from the West, Ground Oats, A superior feed for Milch Cows—which we are selling at a very low price.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALE

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

EDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDE , 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W. P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Paltry Place. Lynn, Mass. apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO.,
152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid.
Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given.
Knickerbocker Subscription Agency.
P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.
b 1t—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and w will mail you free a royal, uable, sample box of that will put you in the way of making more ey at once, than anything else in America. sexes of all ages can live at home and w spare time, or all the time. Capital not re We will start you. Immense pay sure fo who start at once. STINSON & Co., P Main

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in aying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purify, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store.

4 Allen's Block.

BACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

What there is in a Bottle.

SMARTING Sufficient to stop in five minutes the smarting, stinging pain of 100 burns or scalds. It will stop the pain as soon as applied.

COUGHING Abundance to cure a score of colds and the coughing that often leads the way to Consumption. IT WILL POSITIVELY ease a Cough in 15 minutes.

CHOKING More than enough to save a dozen children Choking with CROUP. One minute after the first dose the hardest attack of Croup will be relieved.

WHEEZING Plenty to relieve the oppression and wheezing of the most severe case of Asthma. The direct cures of Asthma by this medicine are proofs that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has no equal as an Asthma cure.

In the above cases Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil can be relied upon. It has given relief to thousands. Keep it in your house. There is hardly a week of the year it will not be useful.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15,000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anaesthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anaesthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. E. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL. OPP. CITY HALL, LYNN.

Important Notice!

Look out for your sample bottle of Lubin's Balsam of Tolu and Wild Cherry.

IT CONTAINS NO POISON!

Our agent is authorized to place a trial bottle of this Cough medicine in every family in Peabody.

If for any reason you should be overlooked and not receive a sample bottle, call at 226 Essex St., when you are in Salem, and it will be cheerfully furnished you.

This valuable medicine has been thoroughly tried in this vicinity with the best results.

For sale by all druggists in Peabody.

Made only by

G. H. & J. PRICE,
SALEM.

M. B. WILSON,
62 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

Now Opening Fall and Winter Millinery in all the latest Designs. A large assortment of which we invite your attention. No formal opening day, all are cordially invited.

TRIMMED BONNETS AND ROUND HATS,

Agent for the celebrated Tucker

M. B. WILSON.

—3m

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY For Pain
Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR
TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE
Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.
SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,
(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

—AT—

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

CLOTHING

—ON—

WEEKLY PAYMENTS!

We sell Ladies' and Gents'

Clothing, Dry Goods,

And all kinds of Merchandise on

WEEKLY PAYMENTS

—AT—

STRICTLY CASH PRICES.

Business Strictly Confidential.

NEW ENGLAND SUPPLY CO.,

86 Court cor. Howard St Room I.

BOSTON, MASS

oct 28—3m

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

MEXICAN FUNERALS.

It may be interesting to some of your many readers to know how funerals are conducted in Mexico. Instead of hearses, such as we have in the States, regular funeral-draped street-cars are fitted up for the purpose. The driver is a most comical genius, and is only to be seen to be appreciated. He is gotten up in the most sombre style, sable coat, gloved hands, broad band of crape around his hat, which is an immense stovepipe, and that cocked jauntily to one side, and to give him "tone," a huge cigar—such as they smoke here—is stuck in his mouth. Instead of a subdued look, suitable to the occasion, he assumes a rather festive air, as if chaperoning a picnic party, or as one going out on a lark, and bound to have a good time. I have seen a couple of peons start with a corpse to the car, and, it not being in sight, take a seat, one on each end, looking as comfortable as if they were seated on a red sofa—and, as they smoked, deliberately discuss as to which was the best drink, "tequila," or "pulque." A game of cards is admissible, and "pulque" is sometimes drunk to the corpse's health, to relieve the tediousness of waiting. Being somewhat of a stranger in Mexico, I shall not vouch for the two latter facts.

There is a second-class car, which, having no curtain, exposes the poor unfortunate corpse, not only to the burning rays of the sun, but to the eager gaze of the passers-by. No sooner does the native see this sad sight, than down he drops on his knees and crosses himself, but the fresh American gazes as long as he can see a trace of it, with eyes as large as "moons." The coffin lid is rarely put on until the cemetery is reached and, in consequence, one often gets a glimpse of a sallow face and crossed hands.

It is not etiquette for a Mexican to attend the funeral of his dead. This is left for hardened men, who are paid for all such work. This is not the case, however, with the poorer class, who are not able to hire the commonest car, or even to buy a coffin. The peon rents a coffin for twelve-and-a-half cents, and is often seen with one containting some dearly beloved one on his back, wending his way slowly and sorrowfully to the cemetery, perhaps with feet bleeding as they come in contact with the rough stones. When he reaches the cemetery, he deposits the body in the grave without ceremony, returns the coffin to the undertaker, and—that is all. No one either cares for or pities him, for he is only a poor unfortunate peon.

FIGHTING ANCIENT AND MODERN.

The only difference between ancient and modern armies is in the application of steam, gunpowder, and dynamite—a very great one in appearance, but not so much so in reality. Modern armies do not need to be so large in the field as ancient armies; yet it is very questionable whether fewer people are required for an affective war in modern times than of old. The men who make the powder and dynamite and the girls who fill the cartridges are quite as much part and parcel of a modern army as the soldiers who fire them off, and run pretty nearly similar risks. The methods of modern warfare are exactly the same as of ancient warfare, and relatively not much more effective, though just as coarse and brutal. The long bow was quite as effective a weapn as the rifle, and modern cannon do not seem to be any great advantage on the balistæ and battering rams of the ancients. In naval warfare we have actually gone back again to one of the most ancient naval manœuvers, that of ramming. The siege trains of the present day are just as cumbersome as siege trains in times when, as the Bible tells us, "Mountains and hills were made low and valleys exalted; when rough places were made plain and the crooked straight." Science has not yet said its last word on the adaptation of nature's secrets to resistance against rapine, carnage, and wrong whether exercised by nation against nation or nations against individuals. Even now substances are known to chemists which it only needs finer mechanical skill to make into efficient and invincible agents for defending civilization against barbarism and savagery. What secrets may be, and no doubt are, hid in the womb of nature, and are waiting to be revealed by the hand of science, can only be conjectured. But we may be sure of this much—that the higher the civilization and the more developed the intellect of the future the more hopeless will become the attempts of needy and adventurous barbarians against the well-being of rich and highly civilized nations. If the rich Romans had left to Britain with their civilization a body of physical knowledge similar to that even of to-day, the Saxon conquest would have been impossible.

SWISS ECONOMY.

The Swiss carry their economy to the length of inhumanity. The public hiring-out of children to the lowest bidder still obtains in the Canton of Berne. A case of this kind is reported from Biel, where the public crier, despite the tears and entreaties of the widowed mother, placed her four young children of ten, eight, six and two years for 28, 31, 40 and 70 francs, respectively, for the remainder of the year, thus separating the family for fear the woman might become a burden upon the town.

How did our girls like the sleigh-ride eh!

THE PITCH LAKE OF TRINIDAD.

The most remarkable feature of Trinidad is the Pitch Lake. It is about a mile and a half in circumference. The pitch at the sides of the lake is perfectly hard and cold; but as one walks toward the middle with the shoes off, in order to wade through the water, the heat gradually increases, the pitch becomes softer and softer, until at last it is seen boiling up in a liquid state. The air is then strongly impregnated with bitumen and sulphur, and the impression of the feet is left upon the pitch. It is possible during the rainy season to walk over most of the lake, but during hot weather a great part cannot be approached. I extract the following account from the narrative of a gentleman who visited it from San Fernando: "To get to the lake it was necessary to sail ten miles on the Gulf of Paria. The course lay along the shores of the district of South Naparima, with cane cultivation coming down nearly to the water's edge, and the planters' houses placed so as to command good views of the sea; then past the swamp called, par excellence, the lagoon, which fronts the sea for three or four miles, and extends far into the interior, a fertile source of agues and fevers to the estates adjoining, especially to leeward. Then came some more miles of bush, and then our destination, the beach and village of La Brae (which signifies pitch). Nothing could be more appropriate than the name, for it is pitch here and there and everywhere. It is the shore, it is the bed of the sea as far as you can trace it. It is the street and the surface of the ground. It forms the floors of the houses, and is under the vegetation which flourishes with tropical luxuriance all around. The road proceeds almost in a straight line from the shore for about a mile to the borders of the lake, which is wholly covered with pitch, presenting the appearance of motion, though quite hard [when he visited it]. It appeared as if wave after wave was coming on, each one having sufficient consistency to preserve its crest, as if the ripples on a level seashore had been suddenly arrested and solidified. The pitch is quite level with the edge of the basin. It was our intention to proceed toward the middle of the lake, and after we had spent some time on the border surveying the singular scene we began to put our intention into effect. The sides of the hummocks were slippery, and very steep; but we pursued our way till we arrived near the middle, where was a larger flow of pitch than any we had crossed. Some guava bushes afforded shelter from the sun's rays, and there we halted. The stillness was very marked. Not a sign of animal life but what came from our own party, while the black, brownish hue of the surface of the pitch added to the monotony of all around. Yet even here were the guava bushes growing, without any visible soil to nourish them, although probably a cropping-up of soil in the lake gave them place to strike root in. The water in the lake is so slightly tinged with the taste of pitch as to be drinkable, and there are many places where those inclined to bathing can indulge their wish."

A RICH MAN'S WORK ROOM.—The owner of the great Cornwall iron estate in Pennsylvania, Mr. Robert Coleman, has a fine mechanical taste and pays much attention to mechanics and engineering. To facilitate his investigations he has constructed a circular railroad with a double line of steel tracks, inclosed in a large building. The length of the track is about one hundred and fifty feet, with two sidings. Patent safety switches, electric crossing signals, safety frogs, and the latest methods of fastening rails are employed. The turntables of the miniature round house operate automatically. The three small locomotives comprise every piece of mechanism, every rod, bolt, screw, lever, spring, tire, cock, pipe, and pump of the largest machines. The boiler-jackets, rods and driver are nickel-plated, and some of the bright work is silver-plated. The cabs are of solid walnut, and the boilers proper and the fire-boxes are of wrought steel. The tenders are of copper, and their water supply is taken by scoops from vats on the roadway while the locomotives are in motion.

The locomotives are about four feet in length, including the tender, and are models of beauty. They are of English design, so far as high driving wheels are concerned, otherwise they are advanced American mechanical ideas and have many original appliances of Mr. Coleman's invention. The locomotives are fired up and set in motion. Around the tracks they go, while the millionaire owner watches the movements of the miniature machinery. Hours are thus passed, all sorts of experiments are tried, high speed and low speed are compared to determine the comparative effects of friction, and other questions of railway economy.—Scientific American.

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN'S GRAVE.—"Bury me in sight of dear old Boston," was the dying request of America's great actress—Charlotte Cushman. And how faithfully that wish has been gratified. On a sloping bank, in full view of the gilded dome of the state house, and the piles of brick and granite which cover the hill on which Boston is built, is an ivy-covered grave, and the tall, unpolished granite shaft bears the words, "Charlotte Cushman." A boquet of withered flowers lay near the head of the mound, telling of friends who have not forgotten the great favorite, although more than eight years have elapsed since her death. The lot is surrounded with beds of ivy, granite posts marking the corners.—Hartford Times.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY, SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. BROOKS. A. D. DAMON,
F. D. SPERRY

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

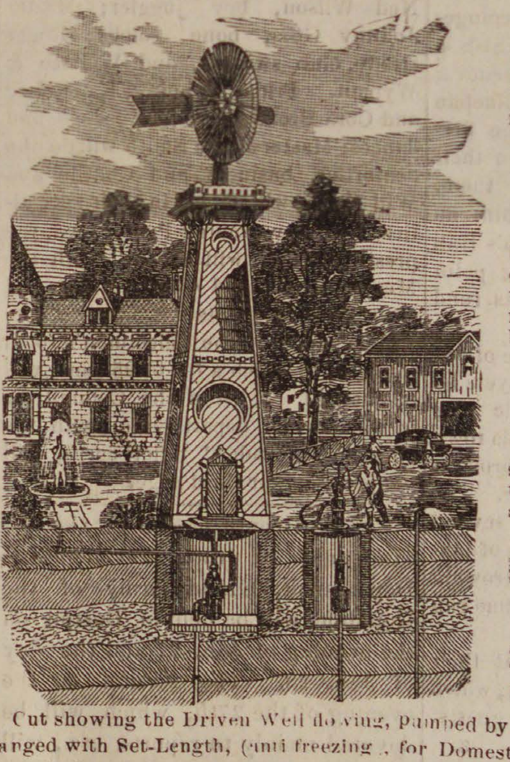
Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich Bride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

ARTESIAN AND DRIVEN WELLS.



Cut showing the Driven Well doing, Pumped by Hand and Wind Power. Arranged with Set-Length, (anti freezing), for Domestic, Farm and Irrigating purposes where large amount of water is needed Steam Pumps are.

All of our

DRIVEN WELLS

for Domestic, Farm, or any other purpose well, receive prompt attention.

Thousands of these wells are being used in Tanneries, Breweries and other manufactories, where cool and better water is needed and also save water bills.

We are also prepared to

DRILL WELLS

six or eight inches in diameter through earth or rock, by steam power.

B. F. SMITH,

OFFICE.

266 WASHINGTON STREET.

Room 3, Boston

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

WHY Ladies and Gentlemen should wear Patent Inner Heels. They enable you to wear a smaller Boot; they make you taller and more stately; nails cannot hurt the heel or rust the hose; they make a higher instep and give a pretty shape to the foot; they are splendid; ladies admire them. Sent safely by mail everywhere. Wrap 3 ten cent pieces in separate paper, put in envelope and direct to P. I. H. Co., No. 75 Springfield St., Boston, Mass., or inclose $1 for 4 pair. They make a pretty present to lady or gentlemen friends. Send for 4 pair and be stylish and happy. Please read this once more.

AGENTS WANTED New patented household article. Fourg circu free. L. O. ELDREDGE, 250 Cumberland St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you.
Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

WANTED—Ladies and gentlemen in city or country to take light work at their own homes. $3 to 4 a day can be easily made; work sent by mail; no canvassing. We have good demand for our work and furnish steady employment. Address, with stamp, CROWN MANUFACTURING CO., 294 Vine St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

7 Per Ct. MORTGAGES.

In denominations of $200 and upward is on property of three times the amount of loan. Seven per cent interest is paid promptly every year in Boston, or will be remitted. We recommend these loans as the safest possible investment, and should be pleased to answer any inquiries, and send list,

SECURITY INVESTMENT CO.
54 Devonshire Street, Boston.
1m—4t

TO LET.

From Oct. 1st, House No. 6 Holten street, Peabody, containing 13 rooms. Apply to
T. M. OSBORNE,
6 Carpenter St., Salem.
sept 23

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8. 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6.30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8. 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40 8 15, P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14. 7.48 8 55, 10 05, 10 48 A. M.. 12 M, 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P.M.

Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M. 1 09, 2 20, 2 50, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M

Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.

Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A.M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M.. 1 09, 3 52, 5.15 7 15† P. M

Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M.. 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.. 7 30 P. M.

Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.

Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M, 3 52 P. M.

Wolfboro—8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.

North Conway—8 08, A M.,

Portland—8 08, 9 37 A M, 1 09, 7 15† P M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M Sunday 7 30 P. M.

Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.

Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.

St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).

Bangor. 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.

Augusta, 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.

Portland—2, 9 A M. 1, 6 P M. Sundays, 2 A. M*

North Conway—7 05, A M,

Wolfboro— 8 15, A M, 2 45 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.

Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M, 4 18, P. M.

Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A M, 3 05, 5, 7 40 P M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M, 4 P. M.

Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 15* 5 15, P. M.

Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A M. 3 40, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M. 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.

Essex—7, 11 45 A. M, 5 49 P. M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., 1 20, 5, 9 P. M.. Sundays—7 50 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A M, 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8 A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P. M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M.. 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A. M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.

Lynn—6 40, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A. M.. 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 28, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A. M, 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10. 10 45, 11 15. A. M. 2 M, 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A M, 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 40, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M.. 1 40, 4 35 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 10, 5 15 P. M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A M, 12 05, 43, 5 48 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 AM, 12 17, 3 53, 5 58 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 38 A M, 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell 7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.

Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 32 AM, 4 43, 6 02 PM.

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A M, 12 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 PM.

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 22, P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 50, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A.M. 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 35, P. M.

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M. 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York.

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St, or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE.

June, 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8. 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.
C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens given

1886 1886

Diaries.

One, Two and Three days to a page. All kinds, all prices, from 8 cents up.

BLANK BOOKS,

Of every description on hand and made to order.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

STATIONERS,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

SPARKS.

The ringing of the South Church bell and the bell on the Central Station at 2.30 o'clock, Monday morning, followed by the blowing of the whistle on Webster & Co.'s tannery, and the bright reflection in the sky, roused the firemen to the fact that they were again called upon to "fight the common enemy." The men and apparatus were soon on the spot where it was found that the new Endicott school house on Tremont street, was in possession of the fire fiend, the flames running through every room in the building and bursting from the windows and roof and bidding fair to prove a stubborn fight. Hose 1 quickly laid two lines and put two good streams into the seat of the fire, the hallway on Tremont street, and was soon followed by the rest of the apparatus, both steamers being on hand. Steamer 1 set at the hydrant nearly opposite Midway street on Tremont street, and put on two streams. The horses were then sent back for Steamer 2, which set at a hydrant on Midway street and put on two streams, one being manned by Hose 2. After over 2 hours of hard work the fire was put out leaving the walls and floors of the two stories standing, but badly burned and scorched. The fire was discovered in the porch, in one corner, by a woman who was returning from a wake in Salem, and could have been put out with a bucket of water, had that water been handy. She immediately notified Selectman Thomas J. Relihan, living directly opposite, and he, seeing that it would be impossible for one man to stay the progress of the flames, started for the Square giving the alarm as he ran, which was taken up by the night watch, and Officer Sweeney soon had the bell on the church ringing. All evidence points to the fire being the work of an incendiary, the fire being set in the porch and burning through into the hallway, where it had a good draught which carried it up and around the building. The night was very favorable to the firemen for their work, not being extremely cold, although the water froze as fast as it struck, making the firemen look like men of ice. The yard around the building was one glare of ice and caused many falls, while the deep snow in the streets was quickly converted into slush, which in some cases was over the tops of the firemen's boots. The building was built last summer at a cost of $9500, that being the sum appropriated at the annual meeting, $2000 being paid for the land, $1300 and over for grading, etc., and the rest for the building, furniture, etc. The contract was awarded to L. Spaulding & Son for building the house for $6195, and it was finished and occupied when the Fall term began in September There were four school rooms, only three being in use, each room having about 65 scholars, making about 200 turned out. At about 5.30 o'clock the firemen were dismissed, the fire being all out. The building was thoroughly gutted by fire and water and will probably be torn down entirely, although the walls may be used. The property was insured through the agency of Frank E. Farnham as follows: On building $2500 in National Fire Ins. Co., of Hartford, $2500 in the Firemens' of Newark, N. J., making $5000, and on furniture $250 each in the two above named companies, making a total of $5500, on building and furniture. During the progress of the fire a very handsome rainbow was formed by the shining of the moon through the heavy spray from the streams of water. When the roof began to fall in two pipemen of Hose 4 were inside the building and only had time to get through the window on to the ladder before the heavy timbers crashed down on the spot they had just left, burying the pipe and hose so that it was impossible to extricate them. William H. Joil, of H.& L., received a severe cut over his left eye by a falling window sash, and William Connors, of the same company, got the tip of his nose cut by falling glass. Several other firemen received bruises. The travelling was so bad that it was all four horses could do to get the steamers to the fire, and the truck horses nearly got stuck with that piece of apparatus on Midway street. Hose 2, was the only hose carriage on wheels and they had hard work to get there. Hose 5 did not respond, the alarm not being taken up. The windows and doors of the burned building have been boarded up. to prevent further damage until the insurance can be adjusted. A house on Fulton street was on fire several times from flying sparks, but was put out with buckets of water.

Hose 3 have purchased a full set of tarpaulin hats for fire service.

Last Thursday morning at 6.50 o'clock an alarm was given by the chime whistle on the tannery of B. & A. N. Jacobs for what was thought to be a fire in the tan shed of F. Osborne & Co., in the rear of Mason street. The department turned out but were not needed. The fire was in the pile of dry tan which had become heated filling the building with smoke.

Hose Company No. 1 held a grand skating and dancing party in the skating rink last Wednesday evening, an audience of fully 600 people being present. A polo game between the North End Boat Club of Salem and the Bay Views of Marblehead resulted in a victory for the former, 3 goals to one, with one unfinished goal. The prize was a purse of $25. A second party will be held in about two weeks. Dancing was kept up from 10 to 12 o'clock.

Quite a number of the Peabody firemen will attend the ball of the Beverly Fireman's Relief Association this evening.

Several of our firemen visited Boston Sunday and viewed the ruins of the Clinton block fire.

Engineer S. H. Buxton is laid up with a broken bone in his left foot. He was moving a heavy partition at the house of J. B. Thomas last Friday afternoon, when it fell, striking his foot and causing the injury. It will be a number of weeks before he will be able to step on it.

Hose 3 had three lines of hose laid at the school house fire. There were 13 streams in all.

The Engineers have made arrangements with John Linehan to furnish a horse for the use of Hose 2, whenever there is an alarm of fire. Mr. Linehan has always been the friend of the fireman, and can always be found on their side in matters of interest to them. The donation of four dollars by him on the night of the supper in Upton's Hall three years ago, was the starting point of the Relief Association with its fund of $2600 at present.

Steps are being taken by some of our largest manufacturers and taxpayers by which some system of electric fire alarm can be put into use in this town and the matter will probably be brought up at the annual town meeting. The citizens interested represent several hundred thousand dollars worth of taxable property, and realize the growing need of some system by which time can be saved in getting to a fire.

Hose 5 had a clam chowder at their hose house last Friday evening, which was attended by several invited guests. A pleasant evening was passed. Z.

* * *

How to Stop a Paper.—A Good Joke.—One of our citizens subscribed for a magazine "just to help the thing along," paid in advance, and when the year was up expected it would be stopped. As papers will, however, it kept coming and coming, notwithstanding all means known to humanity as well as methods suggested by the village postmaster were employed to rid himself of what he began to consider a kind of nuisance. The bill kept accumulating, which he was willing to pay if he could only stop the thing and not have it grow any bigger. He finally concluded to try one more plan and wrote to the publisher that if he would send a bill of what was due on the publication to the estate of the late S——O——, the amount would be forwarded at once. Not another paper came and in the course of about six weeks—supposed to be the proper time for the grief to subside—the bill came directed to the estate of the aforesaid. No patent has been applied for.

* * *

We clip the following from the Army and Navy Journal:

Thrift, Iago, thrift. Stranger (to little boy near Riverside Park) "Can you direct me to General Grant's tomb, boy?" Little boy—"Yes, sir. Keep straight ahead till ye come to a lemonade stan'; den turn to de left an' foller de road to the ice cream an' peanut booth. Cross over to de hard boiled egg and sausage shanty, an' ax de man in charge where de rifle gallery is. Den fin' out where de ten-pin alley is, and jest beyond dat is the tomb."

* * *

G. A. R. Grand March by John Wiegand A spirited and affective march for young players. We commend it to teachers generally, it is full of pretty chords and attractive melodies, price 40 cents, mailed by Ign. Fischer, Publisher, Toledo, O.

Opening of the Fair.

The Grand Army Fair opened last evening at the Town Hall. It opened auspiciously despite the inclement weather, and a larger number were present than was expected. The fair was opened by Capt. W. F. Wiley, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, and addresses were delivered by James P. King, Esq, and Hon. B. C. Perkins. At the close of their addresses the arrangements were turned over to Frank E. Farnham, Commander of Post 50. Mr. Farnham made a short address touching upon the efforts made in other ways by the Post to raise money for their relief fund. They had found by experience that a Fair was the only method by which any considerable amount could be raised. Such an amount was needed at this time; the charity fund had become depleted, and it was probable that this was the last one that would be held. After the formal opening of the Fair, the Salem Brass Band furnished music during the remainder of the evening.

The seats on the outer edge of the hall have been removed giving ample space around the booths and tables. The Art Gallery in the corner of the hall next to the Catholic Church, is a very attractive place. There are some elegant works of art, loaned by ladies in town, and it is worthy of a visit from every one who attends the Fair. Here are to be seen the rebel pay rolls, and other war relics, and it is well worth the extra dime charged for admission. Around both sides of the hall are booths and tables—a candy table and a company of glass blowers. On the stage is the grand piano furnished by Mr. Lefavour, the top buggy, harness and other presents. In the small hall there are various amusements—the Egyptian ring toss being a great attraction. We are informed that it was largely patronized last evening and undoubtedly will be more as the week passes. Entertainments will be given each evening. To-night Profs. Maynard and Heath, blind performers, with the Lefavour sisters will furnish the entertainment.

To-morrow evening will appear Master Ned Wilson, boy juggler; Master Johnny Goss, bone soloist, Roger Grady, club swinger, and Wallace & Wyman. Friday evening, Katie Lee and Cora Brondy will give songs and dances; Master Jamie Smith will do the contortion business and Charlie and Will Morris will appear in their specialties. Saturday evening Prof. Floyd, the prestidigitateur, will appear, with the Messer sisters and Charly Strout and Billy Frost in plantation acts. There will be supper in the Selectmen's room to-night, to which a fee of 25 cents will be charged. A list of the Committees in the several departments, with the officers of the ladies' relief corps, will be found on our third page.

* * *

The nineteenth session of the encampment of the Massachusetts Department, Grand Army of the Republic, will be held in Boston on the evening of Jan. 27 and the day of Jan. 28. The session on the evening of the 27th, which will be devoted mainly to reports, etc., will be held in Faneuil Hall, and the business session of the next day will be at Tremont Temple. It is expected that the commander-in-chief, S. S. Burdett, will be present at the banquet to be given in Faneuil Hall on the afternoon of Thursday, Jan. 28th. The Mass. Department of Woman's Relief Corps will meet in Boston on the same days at Odd Fellows' Building, Tremont street.

* * *

The most interesting and original introduction to a book that we have ever seen, comes to us in a little work just received, in the shape of a humorous article entitled "The Twelve Signs of the Zodiac," illustrated by Thomas Worth, the well known New York artist. The old and familiar signs with which we are well acquainted through almanacs and otherwise, are given a new and every day meaning, and we defy anyone to look at them or to read the text without indulging in a hearty laugh. "Bill Nye's" thrilling experience with a cyclone is also wittily treated by that humorist, and "Wade Whipple," "M Quad" and others of those writers of to-day, who "shoot folly as it flies," are amongst the contributors. The book, which is the St. Jacobs Oil Family Calendar and Book of Health and Humor for the Million for 1886, is published by The Charles A. Vogeler Company, of Baltimore, Md. A whole regiment of carriers is now distributing the book in large cities, while in towns and villages it can be had through druggists, and if it cannot be obtained in any of these ways a copy will, on receipt of a stamp, be forwarded to any address by the publishers.

* * *

A Baby Pathfinder. The New England Railway Publishing Company, the editors of the A B C Pathfinder Guide, have issued a very neat and compact guide for the pocket. It is called the "Baby" Pathfinder, and its price is but five cents a copy. It contains the time tables of all the New England roads. It is for sale by all newsdealers.

STREET
GOSSIP, AS GLEANED BY Mulcahy
NOTES

My story last week about the generosity of a certain client in carrying a letter for a lawyer, led to the following reaching my ears. A bill amounting to $1.50, was left with one of our lawyers for collection, and a letter was sent the party to call and settle. A few days later the man who owed the $1.50 came in and acknowledged the genuineness of the account, and wanted to know if the lawyer wouldn't let him off by the payment of $1. The lawyer said rather than have any more bother with it he wouldn't "stand" for 50 cents and told the man he would settle the claim for $1 and have it out the way. Instead of paying him, the man said he was much obliged and he would be in, in a few days and settle. The account remains as large as ever.

The days of the Butler picture book and Tewksbury investigation were brought forcibly to the minds of the employes of one of our factories a short time ago, by the boiling of a human leg at a factory by the son of the proprietor who is studying medicine, and who wished to get the bones to use in his studies. It is said the stench was fearful and very nauseating.

I am told that a man in certain quarters is making big threats about the squib in this column concerning the proposed new story, with the plot laid in this town. Now let me tell him it isn't a pleasant thing to be monkeying around a buzz saw. The less the "old gent" says the sooner he will cool off.

I hear that the Methodist folks are arranging to have the conference send a young unmarried man here the coming year. I don't believe in it, I am one that would advocate protection to home institutions, and what show would our young men have trying to compete with a fine looking minister. Under the fostering care of protection they may in a short time be able to enter the race, but not yet. Give the boys a chance.

* * *

The Massachusetts Press Association is to hold its annual reunion at the United States Hotel, Boston, on Tuesday, February 2. The business meeting will be called to order at twelve o'clock, and the dinner will be served at three. In the evening the members of the association will attend the performance at the Boston Theatre, by invitation of Messrs. Tompkins & Hill.

Marriages.

In Salem, Jan. 11, by Rev. Mr. Collins, Mr. Daniel B. Hartnett to Miss B. J. Brennan.

In Boston, Jan. 13, by Rev. A. A. Miner, D. D., Mr David A. Nichols to Miss Mary Caldwell, both of Salem.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Jan. 13, Alice, daughter of James H. and Mary E. Griffin, 10 mos, 6 days 14th, Mr. Lawrence Cuddire, 38 yrs.
19th, Mrs. Mary Donnelly, 53 yrs.
19th, Mary B., daughter of John and Mary Moore, 3 mos. 5 days.

In Danvers, Jan. 11, Mrs. Mary A., wife of Mr. Norman McLeod, and daughter of Charles A. and Abigail Elliott, 40 yrs. 11 mos. 12 days.

In Salem, Jan. 13th, Mr. Edward Buxton, 61 yrs. 11 mos, 2 days; Mr. Edward McCaffery, of Danversport, 35 yrs.; 14th, Mr. Thos. Good, 41 yrs 15 days.

Hallowell &

Smiley,

PROVISIONS & GROCECIES.

Fruit in the season.

16 CALLER ST.,

PEABODY.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the widow, Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin and all other Persons interested in the Estate of CORNELIUS MAHONEY, late of Peabody, in said county, farmer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament and a codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate, by Ellen Keefe, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first, Monday of February, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said Ellen Keefe is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 13—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the Next of Kin, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of EDWARD SHERRY, late of Peabody, in said County, laborer, deceased, intestate: GREETING;

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to James Sherry, of Peabody, in the County of Essex. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of February, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said James Sherry is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this second day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six,

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 13—3t

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET,

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE.

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,

REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

I am selling out my large stock of

PIANOS & ORGANS

and offer real bargains in these instruments till

JAN. 1, 1886.

Call and see them.

E. V. EMILIO,

287 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

Oat Meal and Graham Flour

FRESH GROUND Oat Meal and Graham Flour received from mill.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

Grand Mark Down Sale

— OF —

MENS, BOYS AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING

— AT —

Wilmot's Clothing House,

252 & 254 ESSEX STREET SALEM, MASS

J. FRANK BOYNTON, Manager.

N. B. On and after Jan. 1st, 1886, our store will be closed every evening at 6 o'clock except Monday, Friday and Saturday. On these evenings we shall keep open as usual.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2.85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3 50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, "	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, "	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, "	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every customer, "Out of your size, "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way. We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE

LYNN, MASS.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of DANIEL C. GOODWIN, late of Peabody, in said County, currier, deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Levi Spaulding, the administrator of the estate of said deceased has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first Monday of February next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

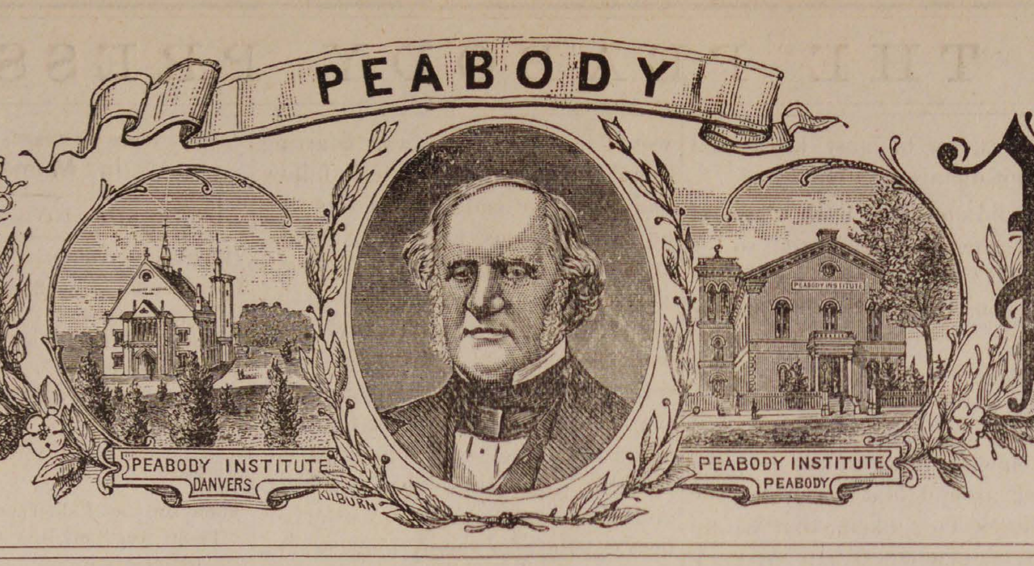
Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of January, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

jan 6—3t

PEABODY

The Press.



VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 27, 1886. NO. 4.

WILMOT GOING OUT OF BUSINESS!

We have sold the Lease of our Salem store, and must vacate the store by March 1st.

THE ENTIRE STOCK OF

Winter and Summer Clothing

Must be sold, no matter how great the sacrifice, the goods must be turned into money. This is a bona fide selling out Sale and the prices that we shall name will be the lowest ever known in Massachusetts.

READ THE PRICES.

And remember that the garments we advertise were most of them made for this Winter's trade, and that you will findno old goods or trash among them.

MEN'S OVERCOATS.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish overcoat, dark blue and green mixture,

for $3.87 1-2, regular price, $6.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish Overcoats

for $4.50, regular price $8.

Men's Heavy Black Elysian Overcoats, very handsome coats, bound narrow, Velvet collar,

for$5 former price $10.

Men's Heavy Oxford Mixed Overcoats, made for dress and business wear,

for $5, former price $10.

Men's Fine All Wool Irish Frieze Overcoats, made with lap seams, pearl buttons and velvet collar,

for $7, former price $13.

Men's All Wool Blue Beaver Overcoats, made A-1 warranted fast colors,

for $8 regular price $15.

Men's All Wool Beaver Overcoats, made and trimmed in the best manner,

for $10, regular price, 16.

Men's All Wool Overcoats, in black, green, drab, brown and slate colors, made and trimmed in the best manner.

for $7.75, 8.00, 9.50 and 10, regular prices $12, 15, 16 and 18.

We have not room to enumerate the styles and prices but we have got to sell out, and you can buy an overcoat of us at just half cost.

MEN'S SUITS.

Men's Heavy All Wool Suits

for $3, regular price $8, 9 and 12.

Men's All Wool Cassimere Suits, well made and trimmed,

for $5, regular price $10.

Men's Nobby All Wool Suits, latest style and handsome goods, for $6 and 7, regular price $12 and 14.

Men's Blue Flannel Suits, warranted fast colors,

for $5, regular price $12.

You will find all our suits marked in like proportion. Come and see them and get a bargain that you will always remember with pleasure.

MEN'S

PANTALOONS.

Men's Heavy Winter Pantaloons,

for 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2, and 2.50, regular prices $1.50, 2, 2.25, 2.50, 3, and 4.

Men's Odd Coats and Vests, at prices less than the cost of cloth from which they are manufactured.

Boys' and Children's OVERCCATS.

BOYS' HEAVY OVERCOATS.

Ages from 13 to 18.

For $3, 3.50, 3.75, 4, 4.25, 5, regular prices, 5, 6, 6.50, 7, 7.50 and 10,

Children's Heavy Overcoats.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3 and 4, regular prices, 4.50, 5, 5.50, 6 and 7.

BOYS' SUITS,

Long Pants, Ages 13 to 18.

For $2, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 regular prices, $5, 6, 6.50, 7, 9, 10 12.

Children's Suits.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, regular prices $3, 4, 4.50, 5, 6, 7, 7.50, 8, 9.

BOYS' PANTALOONS.

Ages 13 to 17,

For 75c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2.50, regular price, 4.25, 1.50, 2, 2.50, 3, 4.50.

Children's Short Pantaloons.

For 37 1-2c, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, regular prices 65c, 75c, $1, 1.25.

WINTER UNDERWEAR.

FURNISHING GOODS

Hats and Caps.

Boots and Shoes.

One and all are included in this sale. Everything must be sold before we give up business.

READ THE PRICES.

Men's Winter Underwear,

For 25c, 33c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, regular price 50c, 62 1-2c, 75c, $1.25, 1.50.

Men's Hats,

For 25c. 50c, 75c, $1, 1.50, regular price 50c, 75c, $1.00, 1.25 and 2.00.

Boots and Shoes.

The Bargains in this department are too numerous to mention. They must be seen to be appreciated.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are not giving up business in Salem on account of our non success; on the contrary our Salem store has been our best paying store. But we are going to consolidate our business to our Boston store, where we have enlarged our already large store by the addition of an entire block which will be used as our Furniture Department. During the last year we have added a number of departments and the coming year we shall add more. As a natural consequence we shall require all our capital to make it a success. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage in the past I am

Yours truly.
H. B. WILMOT.

WILMOT CLOTHING COMPANY,

250 AND 254 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

J. FRANK BOYNTON, Manager.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Lent—March 10th!

Who said ice famine?

The ice crop is O. K.!

Sore throats and colds abound!

Flour is awful cheap now days!

Polo next Wednesday at the rink!

The cold wave is spitting on its hands for another round.

Tarlton's Dry Goods Store, 42 Main street, Peabody. *

Mr. W. H. Baldwin, proprietor of the hotel, is quite sick.

Mr. A. B. Clark is paying his employes weekly instead of monthly.

A philosopher says the best way to avoid getting into debt is to die young.

Thermometers had hardly got regulated before they were disturbed again.

Bargains in all wool Dress Goods at F. D. Tarlton's, 42 Main street, Peabody. *

The photographer's car that has arrived in town has journeyed from Malden.

Rev. F. N. Sprague preached at the Universalist church in Wakefield last Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Brooks is reported to be dangerously ill at her home on English street.

Have you seen the new patent Cushioned Strap with genuine Italians Cone at S. Trask's?

Let the good work continue. The recent revival meetings did not convert all the sinners.

Closing out Blankets and Comforters at cost at F. D. Tarlton's, 42 Main street, Peabody. *

The boys put their hands way down in their pockets and gave the Charity Fund of the Grand Army a lift.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

The town will be asked at the annual meeting to widen the roadway leading to the Catholic Church.

We used to think there was no town in New England with purer water than Peabody. We can't say so now.

Last Saturday 9 shares of Warren Bank stock sold for $130, and 3 shares of the South Danvers for $144.50.

If you want to bring anything before the town, be getting it ready for the warrant for the annual town meeting.

The Peabody Methodists will unite with their sister societies in a love-feast with the Marblehead society to-night.

A petition is being numerously signed about town praying for legislation favorable to fishing in the "great ponds."

Mr. J. Howard Fallon, of the Danvers Bleachery, has been appointed by Gov. Robinson as Justice of the Peace.

Benjamin W. Russell, superintendent of the Danvers street railway, is confined to his home in Salem by sickness.

We need not direct attention to the new advertisement of Wilmot on our first page. It will pay you to read it.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town —Nothing like it, Principee. Clark's Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo. Stevens' *

Truth is stranger than fiction, but the romances of the average out-of town correspondent are stranger than truth.

Secret societies social or benevolent flourish in this town like the proverbial "green bay tree" and seem to occupy the whole field.

The Lynn road ran an extra car to accommodate the South Peabody people who attended the Fair at Town Hall, during last week.

The whole amount of rain fall last year was 49.91 inches, and with the exception of 1881, so much rain has not fallen in any one year for seven years.

The road scraper is a pretty good thing to level snow with. But the good old fashioned plow makes the most impression on the gutters.

The funeral of Mrs. Peter Donnelly mother of Mr. P. J. Donnelly, was largely attended from the Catholic church last Thursday.

D. B. H. Power & Co., have presented the Knights of Labor, of Marblehead, with a New Hub Range as a prize for their fair.

Some one says the Goddess of Liberty on the silver dollar looks as though she had lost something. She has. She's lost fifteen cents she can't seem to find.

Mr. Albert S aples of Beverly, formerly employed at Heylingberg's barber shop, is one of the newly appointed conductors on the Naumkeag Street Railroad.

Mr. Thomas E. Proctor has been elected a Vice President of the New England Shoe & Leather Association, and also a member of the executive committee.

The bones of the average man only weigh about twenty-four pounds, and yet, as "our boy" says, some people put on airs and strut around as though they weighed a ton.

Of late the wintry blasts have been blasting with a great deal of blasticity. P. S.—"Findings is keepings." If any one can find that last word in the dictionary they can have it.

Rev. S. S. Cummings of the Baldwin Place home for little Wanderers, with his little band was at several of our churches last Sunday. A collection was taken.

An exchange remarks that the man who always shuts the doors after him at this season of the year may not be a christian but he does much good in the way of prevention of profanity.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

There are a number of applications and Masconomo Tribe of Red Men will soon be working the adoption degree. The charter will remain open thirty days.

The Methodist and Baptist churches will continue the revival meetings this week. This evening at the Methodist and Thursday and Friday evenings at the Baptist.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens, Secretary of the Women's Prohibitory League, delivered a very interesting and instructive address before that body last Thursday in the Baptist Bethel in Boston.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society at the vestry of the South Church, Thursday, Feb. 4th, afternoon and evening. Supper at 6.30 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made by the Temperance Committee of the South Church, to have a temperance rally at Town Hall, Sunday evening, Feb. 7, to be addressed by Gen. John L. Swift.

An exchange says there is just abou time enough now between blizzards to go out and pick up the frozen body of the man that predicted that there was not going to be any cold weather this winter.

Thr W. C. T. U. have changed their day of taking charge of the religious service at the Alms House, from the first to the last Sabbath of every other month. Next Sabbath will be their day.

The annual session of the Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows occurs Wednesday, February 10, at 10 o'clock A. M. Semi-annual session of Grand Lodge, Thursday, February 11, at 9 o'clock, A. M.

The most dangerous time for boys and girls is between supper time and bed time. Parents should know where their children pass their evenings, and remember that there is no place so good as the home circle.

Many people do not know how to use a razor and strop. Mr. Samuel Trask has had printed for free distribution careful directions in that matter, and if you want them call or send to his store for them.

We learn that Willie Abbott, who resigned his position at the South Danvers Bank to accept a position in a broker's office in Boston has been displaced to make room for a relative of a member of the firm.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending January 23, were 5002 rolls, 420 sides, 100 bundles, 29 barrels, 6 bags, 3 cases, 1 bale of leather, 11 bundles, 6 barrels, 1 cask of skins.

The fellow that found out that "disproportionableness," with 21 letters is the longest word in the English language, found that two others containing 20 each are "philoprogenitivness" and "incomprehensibleness."

D. B. H. Power & Co., of Marblehead, have issued a neat little pocket calendar with a page for every month in the year, besides the local time tables. The covers are ornamented with pictures of their two buildings.

LOOK HERE.

JANUARY IS THE MONTH FOR BARGAINS.

Great Annual Mark Down Closing out Sale of

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefing Jackets, Suits, and Pantaloons, Underwear, Hosiery and Cardigan Jackets.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

F. D. TARLTON.

—DRY GOODS.—

Bargains! Bargains!

40 in. Unbleached cotton, 6 1-4 cents, worth 8 cents.

1 Lot Hamburg Edgings 20 cents, worth 25 cents.

Misses' All Wool Leggins, 25 cents.

500 yards white cotton and wool Flannel, 6 1-4 cents per yard.

A large assortment of Ladies' Print Wrappers, 75c, $1, 1.42.

We still have in stock all sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts for 50c, 75c, $1.00. Every Shirt guaranteed to give satisfaction.

F. D. TARLTON,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

Poet's Corner.

You Kissed Me.

You kissed me! My forehead drooped low on your breast,
With a feeling of shelter and infinite rest,
While the holy emotion my tongue dared not speak
Flushed up like a flame from my heart to my cheek!
Your arms held me fast, oh! your arms were so bold!
Heart beat against heart in their passionate hold.
Your glances seemed drawing my soul through my eyes,
As the sun draws the mist from the sea to the skies;
And your lips clung to mine till I prayed in my bliss
They might never unclasp from that rapturous kiss.

You kissed me! My heart and my breath and my will
In delirious joy for the moment stood still:
Life had for me then no temptations, no charms,
No visions of pleasure outside of your arms.
And were I this instant an angel, possessed
Of the joy and peace that are given the blest,
I would fling my white robes unrepiningly down,
And tear from my head its beautiful crown
To nestle once more in that haven of rest.
With your lips upon mine—and your head on my breast.

You kissed me! My soul, in a bliss so divine,
Reeled and swooned like a drunken man foolish with vine;
And I thought 'twere delicious to die there, if death
Would come while my lips were yet moist with your breath,
'Twere delicious to die, if my heart might grow cold
While your arms wrapped me round in that passionate fold.
And these are the questions I ask day and night;
Must my lips taste but once such exquisite delight?
Would you care if your breast was my shelter, as then:
And if you were here would you kiss me again?

[The following lines by an anonymous writer for the PRESS, are a witty reply to the foregoing.]

I Kissed You.

I kissed you. I own it, but did not suppose
That you through the papers, the deed would disclose,
Like free-loving cats, when on ridge-poles they meet,
With squalls of "You Kissed Me" disturb the whole street.

I kissed you. The impulse as suddenly came
As that cold looking cloud is transformed into flame,
My act was the lightning that glances and thrills,
And yours the loud thunder, that blabs to the hills.

I kissed you. As kissed the poor Carian boy,
In dreams, his Diana, so cold and so coy
And foolishly fancied—encircling your charms
A maid—not a match-box was clasped in my arms.

I kissed you. The zephyr on tiptoe went by
The moon with a kerchief cloud hid her soft eye,
From the bough that swayed o'er us, all silvered with dew,
With half smothered titter the Katydid flew.

I kissed you. All nature, in counterfeit sleep,
Half promised our secret, so sacred, to keep.
No ubiquitous press correspondent peeped through
The leaves. I was "interviewed" only by you.

I kissed you. Then, scared at my boldness, I deemed
You had fainted, or else you would surely have screamed,
But no; you not only all censure forbore,
But, like Oliver Twist, are now asking "for more."

I kissed you, All others may do it who choose,
But I to repeat the performance refuse
On your lips I will never again print a smack,
By the press or by note you may send that one back.

I kissed you. The poetess Sappho of old,
Like you, was so warm that her Pharon grew cold;
So she ended her love and her life in a pet—
I presume there are equal facilities yet.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

High post bedsteads are being taken from their dusty hiding places and made to do duty again after many years.

After Twenty Years.

MRS. BELLE V. CHISHOLM.

John Truaxe, I wish you to understand distinctly that I am at liberty to use my own judgment in selecting my friends. Neither do I propose to submit tamely to your dictates!

And Anna Gilroy gave her worsted a vindictive jerk by way of emphasis.

But, Anna, this fellow is a stranger, and—well, I do not like the look of his black eyes.

John Truaxe spoke his convictions, for even if he had paid no attention to the little maiden he loved, there was something so forbidding about this elegant stranger, who was summering among the Ohio hills, that warned the honest lad that he was not to be trusted.

Henry Maitland is a perfect gentleman, and understands how to conduct himself in the presence of ladies, which is more than can be said of some young men I could name, Anna Gilroy retorted, angrily.

John colored at the thrust, but he managed to reply coolly:

You know, Anna, how people will talk, for—well, everybody knows we are engaged.

Engaged! John Truaxe, when did I promise to become your wife? So far as I can recollect, you have never asked me, and it is not probable that I should consent to such a proposition without some intimation on your part.

While Anna was speaking a shadow swept over John's honest face, and he left his chair and came and leaned heavily against the mantel. When he could steady his voice a little he said, slowly and sadly:

Anna, there never was a time when I did not think of you as my future wife. Though the formality of asking and answering that question has never been gone through with, we both understood each other perfectly. Is not the engagement ring upon your finger at this very moment?

Snatching the ring from her hand she threw it towards him, saying:

So perish the last link in our engagement! Take the ring, and, in so doing take back all your promises. I am glad to be free—to feel that you cannot hold me to a bargain that was never made.

Anna, you know I do not wish you to be free, but you are just as confident that I would never try to hold you to an engagement of which you are tired. You are not yourself this evening. When you think better of your words you will decide differently.

Never! I despise you and do not wish to see your face again, Anna flashed back

John took his hat from the table and walked slowly out of the doorway and down the path to the gate. He did not go home, but turning into a path that crossed the meadow he wandered aimlessly along until he reached a secluded spot, where he sat down to think. From his earliest boyhood he had known and loved Anna Gilroy. As they grew up to manhood and womanhood their affections centered more and more in each other, and years ago it came to be understood that in due course of time they would make a home of their own. Though more than ordinarily intelligent, John was only a plain farmer; but, until the coming of Henry Maitland, Anna was proud of his sterling qualities, and the whole wealth of her young heart belonged to him.

Maitland had come to spend the season with a friend, and in making love to the rustic girl he had no higher motive than to be amused for a few tedious weeks. Anna was dazzled by his stylish appearance, and enjoyed the envious glances of her young companions; but although she wished that John was not so old fashioned, she loved him as dearly as ever.

Once or twice she was tempted to call him back and tell him that she did not mean what she had said; but her pride came to her assistance, and she determined to teach him a lesson.

Poor John! It is too bad, for I care more for him, rough and awkward as he is, than for this handsome stranger, with all his gold and knowledge of the world, she said to herself, after trying in vain to justify her words. I will let him alone for a few days, for he must learn that he cannot dictate to a Gilroy.

John did not come back the next day, as she had anticipated, so for his special benefit she attended the concert in company with Henry Maitland. John was there, but away back in a dark corner where his white face did not haunt the unfaithful girl, and so heartsick did he become at the careless remarks of those around him concerning the turn things had taken, that before the entertainment was half over he slipped out unobserved, and stealing softly in at the cottage door, sought his own room; and there he spent the rest of the night in contriving plans for his mother's comfort, for he had fully determined to offer his services to the recruiting officer before another sun should set.

When he unfolded his plans to his widowed mother in the morning, silent tears dropped down her withered cheeks, but not a word of complaint did she utter. Other mothers were compelled to part with their sons, and why should she be spared the pain of separation? It was soon arranged that her son Ben and his wife should take charge of the farm and its work, and before the stars came out that night John had taken the last kiss from the dear old mother's lips, and had marched away with the boys in blue. He had not spoken a word concerning Anna's faithlessness, but the mother's intuition told her that something was not right between them.

When Anna heard of her lover's enlistment she wept bitterly, but her pride prompted her to cover her remorse by seeming carelessness. After this she flirted desperately with young Maitland, and Ben's wife did not think her duty accomplished until she had repeated her opinion of the girl's conduct to John. So thoroughly indignant was the young matron that she even confided to him Dame Rumor's report concerning the wedding that was to take place during the holidays.

It all might have been different had not John at this juncture begged his sister-in-law not to mention Anna Gilroy's name at all in the future. So he went on believing that Anna, his Anna, belonged to another man, and from that moment he became reckless of his life.

It was at the battle of the Wilderness that, after the color bearer had been shot down, John Truaxe seized the tattered flag, shouting to the wavering lines, Come on, boys! We will conquer or die! His undaunted courage infused new hope into the panic-stricken men and they followed him on to victory. He was seen to fall amid the storm of shot and shell, that darkened the air, and when the smoke of battle cleared away his comrades took up what they supposed to be his mutilated body, and wrapped it in the tattered flag he had borne, laid him tenderly in the grave their own hands had hollowed.

But poor John found a far less restful bed than the one they had prepared for him, for wounded, ill and in a Southern prison, the scorching sun beat down unmercifully upon him, while his friends in the North thought him safe with God. Having learned through a comrade who had been brought into the hospital in a dying condition that his mother was dead, and that the papers had been full of eulogies concerning his own heroic end, he determined not to undeceive the world, but to bury himself away in some secluded spot in the sunny South, and to let his old friends and neighbors go on believing him asleep on the battle field where he had fallen. He was not exchanged until the war closed, when among strangers he begun his new and solitary life.

Though Anna feigned indifference she would have sacrificed her life to save the noble one of John Truaxe. Even while engaged in playing the part of a coquette, in listening to Henry Maitland's silly talk, her heart was aching for one smile from the true, honest friend whom she had sent from her so cruelly. Week after week, and month after month, she looked in vain for the letter she hoped he would be so forgiving as to write.

At times she was tempted to lay aside her reserve and send him a penitent letter that she was certain would bring a reply; but Ben's wife would say that she was courting John's favor because the city fellow had cast her aside. So it was that no explanations were ever made, and when the news of John's death came no one mourned his loss so sincerely as did Anna Gilroy. She went around the house pale and wan, and at times it was even feared that reason itself could not hold out against such self-upbraidings as she uttered. But trouble never kills, and Anna was destined to carry her heavy grief for many long, weary years. Her sisters and brothers married, and in due course of time her father and mother died, and Anna was left alone in the house that had been so full of joyful activity.

On the anniversary of the battle of the 'Wilderness,' just twenty years after he had been carried into captivity, an uncontrollable longing to look upon home and dear familiar faces seized John Truaxe. Before, he had stifled all such desires, but somehow he could not quiet the heart-yearning this time; so his valise was picked hurriedly and his landlady was informed that he would be absent a fortnight, and soon he was flying northward and homeward.

Day was dawning when he stepped upon the station platform of his native town, and not wishing to arouse Ben's family so early, he determined to take a stroll through the graveyard and down past the old Gilroy homestead. There were many new graves in the cemetery, but he only paused long enough to drop a tear upon that of his mother.

The sun was just beginning to tint the treetops when he paused at the gate at the end of the path leading to the old, familiar vine-covered porch. The flowers were in bloom just as he had left them more than twenty years before. He walked up to the porch door and was about to occupy a rustic seat that his own hands had made years ago, when a woman who had been gathering strawberries at the opposite side of the path, came slowly from behind the rosetree, and John Truaxe and Anna Gilroy stood face to face once more. Anna was first to recover her voice, and there was a preceptible tremor in her tone as she faltered:

John Truaxe! Has the grave given up its dead, or is it your spirit I address?

It is John Truaxe, flesh and blood as of old, who stands before you, Anna—but I do not know by what name to call you now, John replied in a tone that convinced his hearer that it was no supernatural being who had made her such an unseasonable call, but the John Truaxe whose face had haunted her for twenty years, who now stood in her presence. In reply to his question she said:

Call me Anna—Anna Gilroy, as you used to do.

But I thought you were married. Henry Maitland—

Is not and never can be anything to me, she answered. But you look faint. Come in and get a mouthful of breakfast.

Not now, Anna. Sit down and let us understand each other.

And there amid the fragence of the early flowers the breach of twenty years was healed. All past unkindness and misunderstandings were forgotten in the new hopes that had come so unexpectedly to them.

An hour later, when a neighbor came to tell Anna that old Mrs. Gooderal would be over in the afternoon to see to the current jam, he found them still on the porch forgetful of their breakfast and everything else except they had found each other, and nothing but death would ever separate them again.

At sunset there was a quiet marriage at the parsonage, and after a wedding tour, in which John arranged his business in the South, they came back to settle down in the old home among the hills, on the banks of the beautiful river.

Hood's Sarsaparilla going through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

Sure cure for hydrophobia—shoot the canine before it bites you.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

(From the Fireside Favorite.)

In Memento.

BY LYDIA DAVIS THOMPSON.

(Written by request of Mrs. A. Marshall)

Long weeks have flown adown Time's silent stream,
Since thou, my darling child, Death's waters crossed,
And left me here, like one in some slow dream,
Searching in vain to find my loved and lost.

Alone for thee I shed the bitter tear;
Thou wert my life while thou didst with me stay,
I had forgot with thy dear presence here,
That stern and cruel Death walks every way.

Until he came and claimed thee for his own,
And closed thine eyes with his long, dreamless sleep,
And left my home so cheerless, cold and lone,
And pierced my heart with anguish keen and deep.

Thy hand in mine no more I thrillingly meet,
Nor feel upon my lips thy tender kiss;
Thy loving ways, thy smile divinely sweet.
All through the weary days I sadly miss;

No longer hear the cadence of thy voice,
In song or word thy pure lips breathing through,
That always made my mother-heart rejoice,
For love was all the tones it ever knew.

None knew thee but to love thee here on earth,
Thy life into their lives so fondly grew,
Methinks that every good in thee had birth,
Thou wert so gentle, loving, pure and true.

And can it be that thou art gone forever!
Forever forth from out my silent home?
Through all the weary days to come back never,
At morn, or noon, or in the evening's gloam?

In vain I call, in vain for thee I weep,
Yet know, my darling one, thou art at rest
The grave thy precious dust can only keep,
For thou art gone to mansions of the blest.

Safe sheltered in the "Father's House" above,
Close by thy Saviour's side full well I know,
For thou didst give Him here thy heart's best love.
Through all life's varied, changing ways below.

And, yet sometimes methinks I feel thee near,
And almost see thy robes of shining white,
And in the hush thy voice I almost hear
Guiding me through the darkness to the light.

And nearer, closer grows the bond each day,
While I my silent journeyings keep below,
And Heaven itself seems not so far away
Since thou my child wert thither called to go.

And when I too, have crossed Death's waters o'er,
And come with thee the angel's home to share,
And waiting stand upon the unknown shore,
May thou, loved one, be first to greet me there.

Then in that fair and radiant land forever,
Wilt thou and I throughout the eternal years,
Walk hand in hand where Death no more can sever,
And God Himself shall wipe away all tears.

The February number of the Atlantic opens with a long instalment of Henry James' Princess Casamassima, in which the story has some interesting developments. An American Soldier in China gives a most graphic account of the manner in which Gen. Frederic T. Ward's achievements in China smoothed the way for Chinese Gordon's military successes, and renders Gen. Ward tardy justice. Miss Mufree's serial, In the Clouds, is full of life, and leaves the hero in the most exciting of situations. A Rhapsody of Clouds, poems by Paul Hermes and Andrew Hedbrook, critical paper, the Contributors' Club, and Books of the Month finish a thoroughly agreeable issue of this standard monthly. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

M. L. Blair, Alderman 5th Ward, Scranton, Pa., stated Nov. 9, 83; He had used Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for sprains, burns, cuts, bruises and rheumatism. Cured every time.

We are assured by an exchange that sulphur dissolved in milk will cure the cat disease which is afflicting many pet felines.

Iron, Pot[illegible] the best vegetable alternatives, render Ayer's Sarsaparilla unequalled as a blood medicine.

The broom manufacturers have advanced the price of that useful house hold article to $1.00 a dozen.

A. B. & W.

GREAT COTTON UNDERWEAR SALE,

Our successful Preliminary Sale of Ladies' and Children's Cotton Underwear, is now supplemented by our Regular Annual Sale.

We offer special bargains in new goods manufactured for this Sale during the dull season when manufacturers are willing to accept low offers that they may keep their help employed. Many of these articles we shall not be able to duplicate.

CORSET COVERS at 11, 15c, ruffled about neck and arm size; 25c made of fine cambric, tucked and trimmed with torchon lace and pearl buttons; or trimmed with hamburg edge and insertion, 29, 37 1-2, 50, 58. 63, 75, 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50 and 1.75.

NIGHT ROBES. 38c, trimmed with hamburg; 62c, tucked yoke, trimmed with hamburg edge and insertion. The line runs in different qualities to $3.50.

SKIRTS. 35, 50 and 52c, tucked and trimmed with hamburg ruffle. The qualities run by small advances to $4.00.

DRAWERS. At 23c, tucked and trimmed with hamburg edge. Other qualities in splendid value, running to $2.00.

A fine assortment of BRIDAL SETS at prices to please.

We continue to offer the celebrated Hathaway make, so well known by ladies' of Salem and vicinity. A new feature with us this season is a fine assortment of Children's and Misses' Night Robes, Drawers and Skirts, of the above manufacture, made from fine cottons.

In connection with this sale we offer a lot of miscellaneous articles of Underwear, slightly soiled, at prices to close immediately.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

SALEM.

SPECIAL NOTICE,

A. B. & W.

ANNUAL MARK DOWN SALE

— OF —

MILLINERY GOODS!

Our entire stock of Winter Hats, Trimmed and Untrimmed, with all our choice stock of Fancy Feathers will be closed out regardless of cost, to make room for Spring goods soon to arrive. Sale to commence on and continue through the month.

MONDAY, JANUARY 18TH,

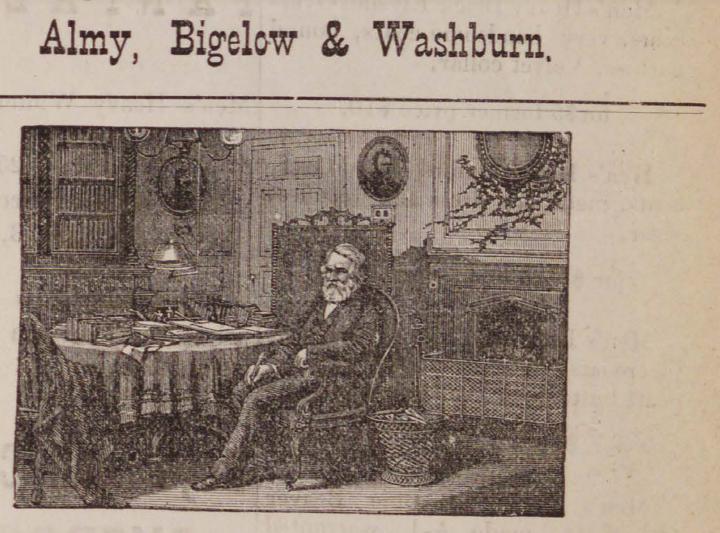
Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

SPAULDING'S

SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Important Notice!

Look out for your sample bottle of Lubin's Balsam of Tolu and Wild Cherry.

IT CONTAINS NO POISON!

Our agent is authorized to place a trial bottle of this Cough medicine in every family in Peabody.

If for any reason you should be overlooked and not receive a sample bottle, call at 226 Essex St., when you are in Salem, and it will be cheerfully furnished you.

This valuable medicine has been thoroughly tried in this vicinity with the best results.

For sale by all druggists in Peabody.

Made only by

C. H. & J. PRICE,

SALEM.

PETITION AND ORDER

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We the undersigned citizens of said county would respectfully represent, that the public convenience and necessity requires a county highway from a point near the junction of Holten and Collins streets in the town of Danvers to a point at junction of Garden and Prince streets, thence following the line of Garden street to Andover street, thence running north-westerly on Andover street about 800 feet to a point on said Andover street, between the houses of Cross and Fisher, thence running westerly to Newbury street, thence across said street passing south-east of the house of Jasper Pope to the town line between Danvers and Peabody near an old highway, which highway we wish to have discontinued, thence running westerly, passing southerly of the dwelling houses of Perley Goodale and Jacob Goodale, Thomas C. Durkee, and south-easterly of the barn of Wm. P. Upham, Esq., and north-westerly of the house of Geo. W. Taylor to a point on Lowell street in said Peabody near the junction of Russell street following nearly the route as surveyed by Andrew Nichols, surveyor.

Also that said highway be continued to West street following the pathway now in use leaving Lowell street by gate opposite George W. Taylor's residence and uniting with West street at the north-easterly corner of the school house yard.

We therefore petition your Honorable Body to lay out a public highway on or near the line as herein described.

JACOB B. GOODALE,
Peabody, Dec. 17, '85. and others.

TO THE HONORABLE THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We hereby respectfully represent that having signed a petition for a highway from Holten street in Danvers to Lowell street in Peabody at a point north-westerly from the house of George W. Taylor, and understanding shat it may be more expedient that said highway should come out on Lowell street at a point about nine hundred feet easterly from said Taylor's house, we hereby assent to said change in the location of said proposed highway, if thought best.

N. P. MERRIAM and others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss.

COURT OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, DECEMBER TERM, A. D., 1885, HELD BY ADJOURNMENT, JAN. 4, 1886.

On the Petition aforesaid, ordered, That said petitioners give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein, that said Commissioners will meet at the West Peabody Hall in said Peabody on TUESDAY, the sixteenth day of February next, at nine o'clock, A. M.,– by publishing an attested copy of said Petition, and of this Order thereon, in the Peabody Press and Danvers Mirror, newspapers printed in Peabody and Danvers, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February.—And also by serving each of the Town Clerks of said Peabody and Danvers with an attested copy of said Petition and this Order, thirty days at least, and by posting up an attested copy thereof in two public places in each of said towns, fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February, at which time and place said Commissioners will proceed to view the premises, and take such order in relation to the Prayer of said Petition, as by law they may be authorized to do.

DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.

A true copy of Petition and Order thereon.
Attest, DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.
A true copy. Attest,
DANIEL J. PRESTON,
jan 13 Deputy Sheriff.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of JOHN SHEHAN, alias JOHN SHEAHAN, late of Peabody, in said county, laborer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Mary Shehan, alias Mary Sheahan, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of February, next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court this fifth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register
jan 13—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of DANIEL C. GOODWIN, late of Peabody, in said County, currier, deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Levi Spaulding, the administrator of the estate of said deceased has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first Monday of February next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of January, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.
jan 6—3t

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE,

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,

REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions

We keep the Best of Meats-
Our Expenses are Light-
We sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.

TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.

(next to S. Trask's.)

PEABODY.

PEABODY INSTITUTE.

COURSE OF LECTURES.

AS ARRANGED FOR 1885-1886

Jan. 28. HON. GEO. R. WENDLING. Subject—"Hamlet and his Interpreters."

Feb. 4. DR. JAMES HEDLEY. Subject—"The Sunny Side of Life."

Boys and girls under fifteen years of age, unless members of the High School, will not be admitted.

None but ladies, or ladies attended by gentlemen will be admitted to the gallery.

Doors open at 7. Lectures commence a 7.30

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

HALE'S BLOCK.

223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Next of Kin, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of EDWARD SHERRY, late of Peabody, in said County, laborer, deceased, intestate. GREETING;

WHEREAS, application has been made to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to James Sherry, of Peabody, in the County of Essex. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of February next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said James Sherry is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this second day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.
jan 13—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the widow, Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin and all other Persons interested in the Estate of CORNELIUS MAHONEY, late of Peabody, in said county, farmer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament and a codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate, by Ellen Keefe, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first, Monday of February, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said Ellen Keefe is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J T. MAHONEY, Register.
jan 13—3t

A SAFE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE LOANS,

Principal and interest guaranteed by the

LOMBARD INVESTMENT COMPANY.

For sale by

FRANK C. MERRILL,

At Warren National Bank.

oct 21—3m

A Story of Fredericksburg

HERBERT W. COLLINGWOOD.

It was after the battle of Fredericksburg;
The ground was strewn with the fallen foe:
They lay in ranks on the side of the hill
With their front to us; and a boy could throw
A stone to the nearest rank, so close
Had they pushed their way to the frowning edge
Of our rifle pits in the last mad charge,
When they struck our lines like an angry sledge,
And fought up under the very guns
Till the blue lines wavered, and turned, and broke,
And the stragglers sullenly disappeared
Behind the mantle of pitying smoke.

There was one tall man in the nearest rank,
So tall he had towered above the rest
As we watched him bearing the tattered flag.
He lay with a rifle ball through his breas
We thought him dead, but he turned at last,
And raised himself on his elbow there,
And looked down over the bloody field,
Then back at us in a fierce despair,
We saw him fumble beneath his coat,
And feebly draw with a shaking hand
A little package of letters stained
With use and tied with a faded band.

He spread them out, and he picked up one,
The smallest letter of all the store.
We knew that his eyes were filled with tears
That blotted the tiny packet o'er.
He tried to read, but his head dropped low
On his breast, and his hand fell nervelessly
But the stiffening fingers still kept their grasp
On the words that his eyes could no longer see.

A murmur ran through the rifle pits;
We had watched him there from our sheltered stand;
We fell to wondering whose hand had traced
The letter he held in his big brown hand.
"His wife!" said one; "No, his sweetheart, boys!"
Said another. "His mother!" said one whose face
Was fresh and fair as a girl's. He dropped
His gun and clambered from out the place.

He ran to the dead man's side and raised
The hand, and there in a childish scrawl
Was written, "I love you, papa, dear."
The hand had closed o'er the rest, and all
That had cheered his soul in that lonely place
Was the simple note of a little child.
And yet, it had sweetened the taste of death,
For it seemed to me that the dead man smiled.

* * *

THE WHITE FLAG.—The troops of both armies, I think, had, before the close of the second year of the war, inspired each other with mutual respect, and on the occasions for burial of the dead, as at Antietam, Fredericksburg, Second Manassas, etc., they were glad to meet each other and discuss materially the features of the battles. It was particularly observable on such occasions that the most scrupulous courtesy was exhibited, and if battles or campaigns were referred to it was with the kindliest expressions of reciprocal respect. The braggart or the bully had no place in such a scene. By the way, of all the experience of a soldier's hard lot, to be detailed to bury the dead is the most disagreeable except to those ghoulish natures—and they are found in every army—who anticipate a harvest of valuables from rifling the dead bodies. Even to this day, sometimes in dreams, I imagine myself upon the field of slain, and I can smell the sickening odor of blood and hear the groans and cries of the wounded and dying.

After the first battle of Fredericksburg it was no uncommon sight to see an ambulance driven along with the white flag flying and accompanied by a detachment of blue coated soldiers with shovels and picks to disinter the body of some officer or soldier who had fallen in that bloody fight. Frequently the widow of the dead man sat in the ambulance in her sable weeds, and, as the funeral cortege passed, the Confederate soldiers on the roadside, to a man, would lift their hats in token of respect. You see we all recognized the valor with which the Federals had charged on our frowning works, in front of which every inch of ground was swept by the fire of our batteries.—Washington Republican.

* * *

As an after-dinner pill, to promote easy digestion, Ayer's Pills are wonderfully effective.

Shavings Soaps at Peabody's.

(From the G. A. R. Fair Paper.)

The Womens' Relief Corps was originally made up of mothers, wives, daughters, and sisters of those who had fought on the Union side in the late war. It now admits all loyal ladies who are interested in the welfare of the veterans. Its objects are to specially aid and assist the members of the G. A. R., to perpetuate the memory of the heroic dead, and to inculcate lessons of patriotism, and love of country, not only among its own members, but wherever its influence may reach. The organization in its military form and ceremony is almost a duplicate of the G. A. R. In many places the Relief Corps has reached a commendable rivalry as to numbers, interest, drill, and esprit de corps, with the G. A R. Post to which it is auxiliary. The reason for the growth and success of this organization is obvious. Each year some veterans find their graves, and all are growing older and less sturdy. The time when a people's gratitude is worth anything to them is during life. As the ranks of the G. A. R. thin out, aid and support, outside of their own numbers, must stand ready to do what is needed.

As the women gave aid to the soldiers during the war so they can prove invaluable in their efforts and interest to relieve the needs of the poor, worn and feeble veterans that are to be found in every community. Every woman who had a loved one in the Union forces should feel a lively interest to count one in this army of relief, and pledge her honor to do what she can to make the veteran's march to the grave as easy and peaceful as may be. Of all the nations the women, whose hearts followed the marches and counter-marches, the victories and disasters, the sufferings and sorrows of our Army and Navy during 1861—1865 with an inexpressible agony and horror as to what did, or might befall those she held dearer than life, are the ones to remain true and faithful to those who offered their lives that the Nation should live. Miss Phelps voiced the sentiment of every true woman's heart when she wrote:—

> Last night I saw an armed band, whose feet
> Did take the martial step, although they trod
> Soundless as waves of light upon the air.
> (Silent from silent lips the bugle fell.)
> The wind was wild; but the great flag they bore
> Hung motionless, and glittered like a god
> Above their awful faces while they marched.
> And when I saw I understood and said:—
> 'If these are they whom we did love and give,
> What seek they?" But one sternly answered me:
> "We seek our comrades whom we left with thee,
> The weak, who were thy strength; the poor, who
> Had thy pride; the faint and few who gave to thee
> One supreme hour from out their day of life
> One deed majestic to the century.
> These were thy trust, how fare they at thy hands?
> Thy saviours then—are they here now?
> Our comrades still; we keep the step with them.
> Behold! as thou unto the least of them
> Shall do, so dost thou unto us. Amen."

* * *

Stoneham is quite jubilant over the prospect of an extension of the Stoneham Branch of the Boston & Lowell R. R. to Salem, and Wakefield feels pleased over it too. A prospect of the scheme's success will hasten the construction of the street railway between Woburn, Stoneham, Melrose, Saugus and Lynn. The suburbs are getting so completely covered over with net works of railroads that in five years from now a man running into a neighbor's house for a few minutes will be obliged to take along a railroad guide in order to keep from being run over by the trains. —Woburn Journal.

Messrs. John Pearson & Low, cracker bakers of Newburyport, have sent five barrels of their best pilot bread to Gloucester, to be distributed among the widowed and fatherless of the city. The act is a most commendable one, and we trust these well known bakers will receive their just reward in due season.

If the Boston Globe would print its portraits without labelling them, they might offer a prize to the reader who would guess for whom the picture stood. They could work up the circulation that way, at no outlay, for the cleverest Yankee of us all could never guess correctly.—Boston Home Journal.

* * *

The G. A. R. Grand March by Wiegand is a brilliant composition of medium difficulty, fingered for pupils use, and calculated to please the average player, price 40 cents. Ign. Fischer, Publisher, Toledo, O.

Knitting yarns in old fashioned 7 knot skeins, at Peabody's.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P M]

Boston is to see this week the latest in the long line of Kiralfy spectacular production, "The Rat-Catcher; or, The Pied Piper or Hamelin." All the original scenic and mechanical effects are brought out on the stage of the Boston Theatre, including the charming of a thousand rodents, who swarm over the boards by thousands at the sound of the piper's magic notes; a grand trades' procession, reproducing in detail Hans Makart's famous painting, and other elaborate and effective settings. A grand ballet of sixty is led by that accomplished premiere, Mlle. Consuelo de la Bruyere, and the favorite C mis. A large chorus has been selected, and "The Rat-Catcher" brings into requisition the services of not less than 300 people. Matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays, and the performance is limited to two weeks.

Effie Ellsler, the original Hazel Kirke, is to appear at the Park Theatre all the week in a new play, "Woman against Woman." The story is a simple one, but it goes right to the heart. It depicts the trials of a young wife who assumes the responsibility of her sister's wrong doing, and gives Miss Ellsler an excellent chance to display those talents which made her Hazel Kirke famous. There are several strong parts in the piece, notably that of the husband, which is played most admirably by Mr. Frank Weston. The cast includes Messrs. Charles Foster, Mason Mitchell and Harry Davenport, Miss Mattie Earle, Miss Marjorie Bonner and Mrs. E. L. Davenport

Such golden opinions have been spoken of "The Jilt" in California and Australia, that one may count in advance on Mr. Boucicault's latest comedy as worthy to rank with his best efforts, "London Assurance" and "Old Heads and Young Hearts." The play will be given production February 1, at the Boston Museum, with new scenery, and a very strong cast. This is Booth's last week at the Museum.

Margaret Mather opens at the Boston Theatre March 1, in Romeo and Juliet. It will be produced with all the scenery and accessories of its great New York run.

* * *

A CLOUD OF WITNESSES.—In many instances the opium-eating habit has been contracted through the use of narcotics, prescribed by physicians during sickness. Many remedies which claim to cure coughs contain morphia or opium, and it can easily be understood what a bad effect they must have on children. The new remedy,—Red Star Cough Cure, is entirely free from these dangerous ingredients, and the mass of testimony which has been collected in its favor from all parts of the country is proof of its wonderful purity and efficacy.

Minister (just before church ser vice) How is our worthy brother, Deacon Smith, getting on, Doctor?" Physician—"He is in a very critical condition. I was at his house three times yesterday and once this morning." Minister (with concern)—"Indeed! I will ask the prayers of the congregation in his behalf."—Philadelphia North American.

Don't give it up, there is a cure for catarrh and cold in the head. Thousands testify that Ely's Cream Balm has entirely cured them. It is a safe and pleasant remedy. It is not a liquid or snuff. It cures by cleansing and healing. Price 50 cents.

I have been a great sufferer from dry catarrh for many years, and I tried many remedies which helped me, but I had none which did me so much benefit as Ely's Cream Balm, it completely cured me—M. J. Lally, 39 Woodward Avenue, Boston Highlands, Mass.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
TRADE MARK
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2de

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS,

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profit and we ghed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2.85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3 50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, "	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, "	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, "	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every customer, "Out of your size, "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way. We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE

LYNN, MASS.

REMEMBER

You can find a fine line of goods suitable for presents for the

HOLIDAYS,

— AT —

BROWNE'S MIILLNERY STORE,

Essex St., Salem.

Also Bargains in all kinds of

Millinery, Trimmed Hats and bonnets,

will be sold very low during the Holidays.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

500 Wings and Fancy Feathers, your choice only $1.00. Regular price $2.50 to 4.00.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

HEADQUARTRES !

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

10 Cent Cigars.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

Nugent Brothers,

PEABODY SQUARE.

LEAD IN STYLES,
LEAD IN QUALITY,
LEAD IN PRICES,

In all kinds of

Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, etc.

Men's Fine Sewed Calf Boots, only,	$2.50
Men's Beaver Boots,	1.50
Men's Rubbers,	.40
Men's Rubber Boots,	2.00
Ladies' Felt Slippers, worth $1.50, only,	1.00
Misses' Grain Button, solid, only	1.00
Children's Kid Button, 7 to 10, only,	.90
Ladies' Glove Top, Kid Foxed Button,	1.50

Never buy without seeing our goods and learning our prices.

NUGENT · BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers.

WE ARE glad to note the movement on the part of our business men, in favor of an electric system of fire alarm for this town. We certainly hope it may be successful this time. In a system of fire alarm this town has been very slow; it has no system at all. It is all guess work, when an alarm is given, where it is located.

The PRESS was in favor of, and advocated the Gamewell system of fire alarm, at the time an exhibition was given of its working in Town Hall. We think all the voters who were present and saw the exhibition, were satisfied that it would be a success. It created such a favorable impression that another exhibition would be unnecessary. It is the only system that works perfectly—and has given entire satisfaction wherever adopted. We understand that it can be furnished to the town at a less price than was figured for it at the time it was thought of, several years ago. And while it could hardly be said that the town has saved anything by waiting all these years, it certainly is gratifying to know that the expense of putting in the system will not be large.

This town has a plentiful supply of water—sufficient apparatus, and as good a fire department as is to be found in the State. It only needs a system of fire alarm to make risks to property comparatively safe. Many places adopting this system have found the saving on the first alarm given to be more than the cost of putting it in. Very likely this town might find a similar result. The expense attending the care of it is small, and it could by no means be called an extravagant outlay.

* * *

IT IS A matter of regret that the School Committee of this town will allow as good a teacher as Miss Emery to leave the So. Peabody school. We can remember the time when it was thought necessary to have a male principal there—of course at a larger salary than is paid Miss Emery. This lady is a superior teacher—she has been principal of the school, has preserved excellent discipline, and her scholars have been as well qualified for entrance to the High School as those of any other school. We regard it a great mistake to allow the So. Peabody school to lose her services, especially as we understand the principal reason for it is because she has been offered a more lucrative salary. It would seem that Peabody ought to be able to pay such a teacher as Miss Emery sufficient salary to retain her services, particularly as she has not been allowed an assistant of late, and as she has been in charge of a school where a male teacher is usually considered necessary and to whom a much larger salary will have to be paid. The town has never refused what appropriations have been considered advisable for the support of our schools in good shape. We don't believe they ever will.

* * *

We have received from George H. Freeman, New Bedford, some crystal writing fluid which certainly writes well enough for us. It flows readily, is of a fine blue color on the paper, turning to a jet black, and is in every way equal to any ink we have ever used. The ink has been in use in the vicinity of New Bedford a number of years, where the sale is rapidly increasing. We shall use it in our office and shall recommend it—we can do so conscientiously after giving it a thorough trial.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

A farmers' institute was held in the Town Hall, Peabody, yesterday, opening at 9. 30 A. M. with a paper by Rev. O. S. Butler on the "Comparative merits of special and general farming."

Mr. Butler began by suggesting the question what is meant by it, or in a broader sense, what is meant by farming anyway? It is now so divided and sub-divided that any man owning from one acre to 30,000 is called a farmer. But we all have a general idea as to the drift of what is meant by general and special farming. We regard the general farmer as the man who produces from the farm the old and large variety of crops that have been raised there for fifty years, when farmers raised all they consumed and the surplus went for exchange to purchase what they could not produce. Special farming was where a man made a specialty of any one crop as the selling crop. A man may produce other crops for pleasure, but make one crop the selling crop,—and all others contribute to the development and disposal of that. If a man desires to make grass a specialty he can find lands suitable to do it—or if such land is not available on the farm he possesses, he can make fodder from other crops which he can raise, so as to make what little grass he produces the selling crop.

The speaker purposed to discuss the subject on general principles,—leaving the details for later discussion. He should take the ground, after careful observation, that for business purposes special farming has the advantage. He found the first point for this ground in the general tendency of the times in which we live. There is a current of thought, regarding business and other subjects, that the man who falls in with cannot fail of success. A man who tries to stop it is sure to get his fingers jammed. This is as true of farming as of other things. The man who keeps up with the times will generally succeed. As an illustration of the changes produced by this sweep of time take the business of New England—which we all know is not done as it was twenty-five or forty years ago. Here in Peabody the man who manufactured shoes, and conducted his business as Francis Dane did, would no more succeed than a man could fly without wings. Then we had shoemakers; now there is no such thing, they are heelers or lasters or edge setters or one of numberless other classes. The edge setter could not tap a pair of shoes if it were to save his life. The business is all divided up. To-day, if I get a boot made by a man who does understand all the branches, it will cost $10, and then he wont make as much profit as they would by making it the other way. There was a time when a carpenter could and did build a house, do the masonry, dig the well,—he could do all this and pay for it and live in it. Now they have one man for each department, and the man who builds it rides in a carriage, looks over green goggles and tells the men where to go. He can't tell how much a house will cost without consulting the mason. It is all divided up. It is better this way and the man gets a better job.

As this is true in the mechanical department of New England, so it is true in literary work. The man who writes history cannot write poetry. The man who writes an essay on science may be a mere novice in history. In colleges they now look for a man who can instruct the youth in a particular branch. They want a professor for every department. It is all divided up. This is also true of the professions. Take the physician. Years ago we sent for the family physician who could kill or cure anyone. If he did not know what was the matter he could look wise and that would answer just as well. Now there is one man for the eye, another for the ear, another for the nose,—one man makes a specialty of surgery, another of another branch. It is all divided up, and we get better service. So it is in law; we have those who make a specialty of insurance law, some of probate, some of criminal law. If we have a difficult case we hunt up a man who understands that line best. He instanced the case at Knight's Crossing where a hearing was to be held before the Legislative Committee. They telegraphed for Gen. Butler who went before the Committee, had a bill drawn up before morning, got his $1000 and went back to Washington the next day. Gen. Butler did not know everything, but in railroad matters he knew just what was wanted. So in the sacred profession. Once the pastor attended to all duties, and there were not as many men lost as now. Now when the committees go out prospecting, put on false moustaches and otherwise disguise themselves so that preachers may not know who they are, they look some after one kind of a man, some another. One committee wants a man good for getting up fairs, singing songs, etc.; another wants a theologian—one who don't know enough outside of theology to speak to his deacon,—another wants an orator, another a revivalist. They did not hear much about revivalists when he was a boy. Now about so often every church must either have a quarrel or a revival—it don't make much difference which. The speaker heard of a preacher who was a specialist—his specialty was making converts. The church to which he had come said "that was just what they wanted; the church had not had a convert for many years." So the revivalist agreed to come for a salary of $250 a year and $5 a head for every convert he made. He went to the young men and women of the society around, told them he wanted them all to be honest in the matter, but he would like them to be ready to come forward for prayers when he said the word, be baptized and join the church, and he would give each of them $2.50. He was a specialist.

So it is with farming. The farmer to be successful must keep step with the column. Special farming has an advantage all its own. The farmer must live and labor. No matter how it goes with art, etc. With the farmer special labor in his line has its advantages and conditions.

The farmer specialist can make a better selection of his land. It is just as in business. The man looks to his location—whether the conditions are better for this business. If he would engage in stock raising he selects the land favorable for such. He must have the right land and properly located. If not allowed to select the land, he can make a selection of what is best adapted for his specialty. There is no farm so mean but is better adapted to special than general farming. As soon as a farmer goes into specialties his bank account begins to increase.

Again the specialist farmer can know more about and make a better selection of seeds. The speaker would not raise seeds. He would make a selection from those raised by specialists like Mr. Low and Mr. Gregory. He would get posted as to which seeds and which varieties were the best. Farming, as a whole, was too much for any one man to grasp.

Again, the specialist could make a better selection of agricultural tools. Carrying on a farm without tools would be like going to Europe in Noah's ark. A good farmer must have the best implements and tools. He would not buy everything is recommended, not invest in patent churns, etc. But he would know what was best for his special work and these he would have. There was also a great deal in the use of the implements. There was difficulty in hiring help for special work, and in marketing the products of the farm at the right time to obtain the best prices.

At the close of the essay, the president suggested that a great point with regard to special farming was the man himself. It was of no use for the man who was fond of poultry to go into stock raising. The man must have some special talent for some special work.

Mr. Tapley, of Revere, gave some of his experience with reference to pear growing, and this discussion was further carried on by J. Warren Brown, Mr. Gregory, Mr. Peabody and others.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon subject was "Forestry and pasturage" opened by Mr. Gregory of Marblehead. He said this was a very interesting subject; and he would speak of some of them as individuals—then collectively.

In our forests are oaks, maple, evergreen, cherry, chestnut, gray birch, butternut, etc. All have more or less choice as to locality—some thrive upon uplands—others in low soil. The elm is the king tree of our forests. It is not found on the Pacific coast—certainly not in California. All these varieties have an immense sweep—all start in Canada and sweep to Florida. There are some places where each individual tree thrives the best. Florida is best for cedar. In California he noticed the men trying to get wood for a pick-axe handle. There was nothing there to make one. The forests here in Massachusetts were a blessing. There was not such a variety in all Europe. Elms thrive best in deep alluvial soil. Thus there are in the Connecticut valley magnificent elms. In Sunderland and Hatfield there were trees worth going 100 miles to see. There were some in Newbury, where he noticed they were planting elms. It was a glorious habit of our fathers. There was no better legacy to hand down to our children. The finest elms were in river towns. In old Hadley there was a street 100 feet wide with six rows of elms 20 to 40 feet in circumference. The largest elm the speaker ever saw was in Weathersfield, Conn. It was 53 feet around, the main limb was 16 feet in circumference. Its diameter was 152 feet, and it was 135 feet high. There was also a very large one on the road to Cohasset.

The finest trees the speaker ever saw were in Pennsylvania. There were hemlocks 6 feet in diameter, oaks, wild cherry, in the forest, as straight as an arrow. There was the sassafras tree. He had read that this tree would not flourish in the North. The speaker, however, had one on his farm in Middleton, 56 feet high, showing we could grow them here as well. For maples we should go to Northfield, where there is a street a mile in length. The finest one is in Weathersfield, Conn. The speaker took it for a large elm. The locust tree was under a ban—because the borer attacked the upper part. In Utah this was the prince of trees. No borer had got there, it was so far west. It had been suggested by Ben. Perley Poore, that they be planted thick so that the borer would be confined to the outside row. This was worth bearing in mind. It was the toughest tree known. Would stand more weight than any other, and was first rate for manuring the ground. The grass always grew under a locust tree. It was a renovator of the soil. The primitive pines hereabouts were almost gone. When very old it stops its perpendicular growth.

The glory of all trees grown is on the Pacific coast. It is one unbroken forest. A crooked tree is almost impossible to be found there. All have tremendous trunks with a tuft on top. It is all clear timber—and all of gigantic size. The pines are 12 feet in diameter and 200 feet high. The climate there is moist—more like that of England. The trees there also have a peculiar color. The speaker had figured out the dimensions of one tree in California, while at dinner, and it made 540 cords of wood, and he cut it off then at 300 feet. He went up a ladder of 26 rounds to get at the top of one tree lying on the ground, and was not successful. The speaker spoke of sumac and the poison therefrom which was in the oil from the wood. He spoke of his efforts to get the Legislature to print a book on poisonous plants, to allay much unnecessary fear, showing what were poisonous, so that all could know about it. He still thought such a plan feasible, and that the people should have such a book for education.

Many were not aware of the value of the forests compared with that of crops. The total value of woodlands and pastures was $54,000,000—all others $62,000,000. Nearly half the value was in forests. In 1883, the value of the forests exceeded that of the crop of hay, rye, oats and tobacco. It is 10 times the value of the gold and silver produced. The forest income was immense. The Essex County woods had been very carefully studied by Prof. Sargent, and he had figured out some striking results.

The speaker was in favor of tree planting, and said it was being done to considerable extent in the West—especially in Kansas. Nebraska had planted 248,646 acres within a few years. The spontaneous growth was nearly half as much as that. The State favors by law, such planting. They have what they call there "arbor" days, when there is a general holiday and all go out and plant trees. The speaker thought there was a law in this state favoring such planting.

There had been frequent warnings about cutting down trees. In 1875, Geo. B. Emerson, who was considered an able authority on the trees and plants of Massachusetts said, "in eleven or twelve years all the forests will be gone." That would be just about now. In Wisconsin it was said then that they would last about fifteen years. The speaker did not take much stock in this alarm. There has not been so much forest for 50 years as now. Why, in Middleton, he could look out on an almost unbroken forest. The speaker here gave statistics from different states showing the percentage of wood that had been cut off, all tending to show that there was no necesssity of fear that our forests would be destroyed. In Nebraska where wood years ago was $7.00 a cord, it could now be bought for $3.00.

In regard to the trees to be raised it had been the speaker's experience that English trees grew faster than ours—although Mr. Saltonstall was of a different opinion. They have a dense foliage and reach great size. But the trouble is they die suddenly. The largest ones on Mr. Fay's place in Barnstable (where they had been imported from England) were blighted and fading. Our ash was usually lighter than grown in Europe. But there was one point worth looking at—fast growing trees would propagate themselves—they were worth saving for seed.

Hickory wood was best for fuel. In regard to the heat given out, it was three times as much as locust, beach was one-third as much as hickory, elm one-half. Pitch pine contained the most heat, but it could not be got out of it. The speaker exhibited a sample of wood got in Mexico. It would sink in water, and would turn the edge of any knife; it was more like mountain mahogany than any wood he ever saw. It would burn like anthracite coal, and the roots and trunks were imperishable under the ground. They do not decay, and he had seen them take the roots from under the ground and use them for fuel. It grew a bean on the top something like a locust.

A great enemy to forests was fire, and it was a question how to protect them. $25,000,000 were destroyed every year. Near Puget Sound and on the Pacific Coast, the fires were terrible often burning for weeks. In Massachusetts, in 1880, 13,899 acres of woodland were destroyed. It destroyed the wood, and also the ground becomes so heated that all natural growth is impeded for 100 years.

At the close of Mr. Gregory's remarks, which were very instructive and interesting, Mr. Peabody, of Topsfield, said he would like to tell what nature had done for the Society's Farm. When a boy he used to play around in the pasture, and it was covered with alders and brush. This was not cut down, but was allowed to rot there; and after a time the red maple and elm had come in. It was wholly the work of nature, and in place of a pasture the Society would have in time a valuable lot of woodland. It had been suggested that the alders be cut down, but no one seemed to take the responsibility of it. But there was a small space around the wall where a road was built where they were cut. And here the maples had not thrived, but when the alders had been let alone there was a thrifty growth. This was one way in which forestry and pasture had been connected. There was more woodland in Topsfield and Boxford than there was 50 years ago. It was not as large, but practically of as much avail. In old times to build a ship they must search for a large crooked oak. Now machinery would bend it and a straight stick would answer just as well. In regard to the renovating of pastures he had heard a plan suggested—to use a plow and root up the bushes—let them remain till August and then burn them. In two years they could be well cleared up. Mr. Peabody thought this the cheapest way he had heard of. He had not, however, been in condition to try it. He was in doubt if it would work in Essex County.

James P. King said the only experience he had had in converting pastures into woodland was that his brother set out some pine trees some twenty years ago, and he thought it was the best growth he had seen in this vicinity. It was only done for an experiment. He had known nothing about it till very recently when the hired man who set them out told him about it. Mr. King spoke of the forest fires, which had been prevalent here. They were set by hoodlums; and nearly all woodland fires were set on Sunday. Since our Selectmen had offered a reward for the conviction of parties setting fires, they had not been so numerous. Mr. King thought there was not half as many cords of wood in Essex County as there was 40 years ago. If we could convert our rural pastures into woodland, it would pay us, if we could stop the fires.

The discussion was continued by others of the Society, and the next meeting was announced to be in Ipswich, Tuesday, Feb. 11. Subject for the morning, "Climatic influences on agriculture," for the afternoon, "Is the raising of beef practicable for Essex County," to be opened by Mr. Peabody of Boxford.

ON OUR TOWN OFFICIALS

The annual town meeting will be here again soon and the question will soon be who we want for Selectmen and other town officers.

The Selectmen have tried in various ways to improve the acoustic properties of the town hall, by covering the open space above the stage and by arranging green baize up and down the sides which completely shuts in the stage on the sides. The latest experiment was in running wires across overhead, but those who have attended the fair entertainments complain of the old trouble even with crowded houses. A gentleman present from Salem, and of large experience, says that the only way to remedy it is to build a permanent ceiling overhead that will fill the open places and make it all in one arch. It would be a good plan to insert an article in the warrant asking for an appropriation for that purpose.

We learn that the trouble in keeping the town house warm is not so much the lack of steam as the way the building is piped and the radiators arranged. In some parts of the same room there will be a difference of ten or fifteen degrees.

A gentleman, who seems to have given the subject considerable investigation, informs us that the very bad taste and smell of our aqueduct water is largely due to the scarcity of water in the "Fountain" pond. He says that last Summer the water was allowed to get so low there that it was covered with filth and frog spittle, while acres of it dried up in the hot sun. This fall there has been sufficient rain to partly fill the pond and cover the filth which has been accumulating during the summer. His theory is that if the water was let down from the larger ponds and the Fountain filled, this trouble, of which every one is complaining, would be remedied. It certainly would be a good plan for the water board to try it.

ARTISTS'

SUPPLY STORE.

Everything needed for

ARTISTS & AMATEURS

Largest stock and Lowest Prices.

C. J. EDMANDS,

12 Bromfield St., Boston.

Send for Catalogue.

SOUTH PEABODY.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiggin are receiving congratulations. It is a boy and was born last Thursday.

Walter Curtis was one of the lucky ones who drew a cash prize at the late fair. That is because Walter is good looking.

Bert Smith met with a severe accident last week by having his toes badly jammed by one of the cars of the Naumkeag Railroad.

We regret to hear of the resignation of Miss Lena C. Emery as principal of the Grammar school of this place, to take effect next Friday night. Miss Emery has accepted a position in one of the Salem schools, where the work is not so hard.

The ice men commenced harvesting the ice Tuesday at Brown's pond. It is of excellent quality and about 10 inches thick.

Don't forget the pie supper at the church vestry this evening in aid of the church fund.

James E. Ricker has opened the horse car station at South Peabody, lately vacated by T. S. Murray.

Rev. J. W. Colwell will preach his Fifth Anniversary sermon next Sunday.

Mr. Elbridge Kelley has been putting in a "trap" at Henry Law's factory in Lynnfield by which the exhaust from the steam pipes may return to the boiler.

* * *

Mr. Henry H. Proctor, of this town, has been elected President of the Essex Congregational Club. Samuel Trask was on the nominating committee, and Rufus H. Brown and Theodore M. Osborne was elected members of the executive committee.

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning.

W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.

Open Every Evening.

L. B. S.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society at the vestry of the South Church, Thursday February 4to afternoon and evening. Supper at 6.30 o'clock.

C. P. LUMMUS, Sec.

New Advertisements.

GUARDIAN'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Probate Court of the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will be sold at Public Auction on the premises on Highland Park in Peabody, in said county, on THURSDAY, February 11, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all the premises hereinafter described, viz:

All the interest of said ward in the following described lots of land situate in Peabody, in said county. Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 10, 11, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and an unnumbered lot, on a plan of land recorded with Essex Deeds (So. District), Book 1095, excepting so much of lot 22 as was sold to J. A. Enos, by deed recorded Book 1098, leaf 44 in said Essex Deeds.

Lots 1, 3, 4, 5 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 23, 24, and 26, on a plan of land recorded with Essex Deeds, (So. District), Book 819, leaf 300, excepting so much of said lot 24 as was sold to M. McGee by deed recorded in said Essex Deeds, Book 1091, leaf 43, and

Lots 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10, 14 and 15 on a plan of land recorded with Essex Deeds (So. District), Book 834, leaf 300.

ELIZABETH R. GARDNER,
Guardian.

jan 27

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of HEZEKIAH FLINT, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust: by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

D. WEBSTER KING, Adm.

Boston, Jan. 14, '86. jan 27—3t

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A Dividend of Three dollars per share, will be payable at the office of the Treasurer on WEDNESDAY, the 27th inst., to stockholders of record this day.

DAVID MOORE, Treasurer.

Pillsbury's Best.

WE keep in stock the above brand of Flour, also Washburn's Best, Snowflake, and other Choice Brands of Patent Flour.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

MECHANIC HALL, SALEM.

THE

SALEM ORATORIO SOCIETY

Announces two Concerts during the present season.

MENDELSSOHN'S ST. PAUL,
FEBRUARY 3.

SPOHR'S LAST JUDGMENT,
and other works, EASTER MONDAY,
APRIL 26.

COURSE TICKETS, with reserved seats $1.50.

They are sold in the form of checks, which are now on sale at the store of E. V. Emilio, 245 Essex street, or may be obtained from members of the Society

Course tickets, with reserved seats, will be delivered to holders of these checks only on presentation of the same at Emilio's Music Store, 245 Essex street, on the morning of Friday, Jan. 29th, at 9 A. M., and continuing through Saturday, Jan. 30th, after which date the sale will be open to the public.

The performance of St. Paul will be given on

Wednesday Evening, Feb. 3,
At 7.45 o'clock,

Assisted by

MISS ELENE BUFFINGTON KEHEW
Soprano
MISS ANNIE H. LORD, Contralto.
MR. CHARKES ABERCROMBIE, Tenor.
MR. D. M. BABCOCK, Bass.
THE GERMANIA ORCHESTRA, GEO. W. SUMNER, Organist.
CARL ZERRAHN, Conductor.

Evening tickets $1. Admission, 50 cts.
Afternoon rehearsals at 3 o'clock.
Admission, 25 cents.

Extra train for Lynn and Boston at close of performance.

SAMUEL TRASK

Is offering the finest assortment of

SCISSORS,
SHEARS &
POCKET CUTLERY,

also the best assortment of

RAZORS,
CONES, STRAPS, ETC.,

At his

BARGAIN STORE.

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

REMOVED

— TO —

NO. 245 ESSEX STREET,

CREAMER BLOCK.

I have on hand a large stock of all kinds of Musical Goods.

Sheet Music, Books, &c, Pianos, Organs, Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Flutes, Accordeons, Harps, Harmonicas, Metromons, Tuning Forks, and Pitch Pipes.

A large stock of all kinds.
All the New Popular Music.
Litolff Editions of Standard Works.

E. V. EMILIO,

245 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

AT WHOLESALE.

PURE LARD,

In 3, 5, 10 and 50 pound Pails.

FOX'S SILKEN GLOSS STARCH
AND REFINED CORN STARCH,
SOAPINE.

Also a large stock of

Apples, Potatoes, Salt, Butter Eggs, &c.

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Jan, 27, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

The Georgetown Advocate says that among those who lost valuables at the late fire in that town was Rev. O. S. Butler (formerly chaplain of Jordan Lodge of this town) who suffered loss of Masonic antiquities and manuscripts that are irreparable. Mr. Butler had many valuable relics of great antiquity which he had been many years in collecting and which were nearly all destroyed, but the most valuable article lost was a history in manuscript of masonry from the commencement of the eleventh century down through the Crusades and to the present century. This work was designed to give a history of Masonry in general, but of Knights Templarism in particular. It was the work of a lifetime, having been commenced nearly thirty years ago. Mr. Butler intended this to be the work of his life and it was to be dedicated to the memory of the charter members of Charles C. Dame Lodge. Mr. Butler had also nearly completed a history of Masonry in Essex County, coming from the time when those hardy mariners who crossed the sea brought back to their homes in Salem, Marblehead, and Newburyport the secrets of Free Masonry. Both of these works were nearly ready for the press, but all were lost, consumed by the devouring flames. There will be a feeling of disappointment among the craft of Essex County to know that Mr. Butler will not have the courage to commence the work anew. At his age of life it would require too much research, and many of the sources of information have passed entirely beyond his reach.

The West Peabody correspondent of the Gazette says that the people up there were addressed by Mr. J. F. Ingraham on what he is pleased to call "Ingraham's Philosophy" He said he valued a man's friendship more than money, if a man beat him in a trade he never quarrelled with him but kept his eyes open in the next trade; said he never envied a man in his possessions; that we wore good clothes for people to look at, and that a coat that cost $30 was as good as one that cost $100 for him; that he once thought that if he had a shiny silk hat and good clothes he should be happy, but since he has had them he found he was mistaken; that he would not have a house plastered because it stopped ventilation; that he would not have a note of music sounded in his family because his brain told him it tended to effeminate the males; the one man would say the soul was in the head, another in the heart, and so they would contradict each other and finally leave a man to use his own judgment: that he considered the soul was heat as that was the only thing that left a person when they died; that he never believed a thing a person told him without proof; that what caused a person to grow old was the pores of their skin dying and filling up so that they could not throw off the foul matter of the body; that he believed in bathing and in wearing coarse clothes and plenty of them; that he never believed a story that was told him about any person without proof." How much wiser would a man be after reading a yard of such trash as that?

General Manager Furber of the Boston and Maine R. R. has just perfected an arrangement with all the fast freight lines running through the Hoosac tunnel, that will prove of immense value to the road and to shippers of freight. By the agreemont now entered into by these lines, they will use the Boston and Maine road to all points as far east as Salem, Peabody and Beverly and to Haverhill. The important feature of the plan is that all freight from the western states may be shipped to points as far east as the cities named at Boston rates. This is a most important move on the part of the road, and is certain to meet with prompt appreciation.

The annual meeting of the Salem & South Danvers Oil Co., last week resulted in the re-election of the following officers: Directors, Wm. H. Little, (President), Chas H. Weston, Nath'l A. Horton, John Culliton, James Braden, Wyman B. Richardson and Daniel Varney; Clerk and Treasurer, Nath'l G. Symonds.

Mr. Edwin O. Foster, who has been identified with the management of the Salem Telegram since it was started, has resigned his position on that paper. Mr. Foster has a large number of friends who will regret to learn of his retirement.

It is a fact that a Chinaman was in town last week, looking for a place to start a cheap washee washee. And it is said that after he had been shown some of the excellent work done at the Peabody Laundry he concluded he could not compete with it.

S. G. Southwick turns up with the ticket "All Right," which was among the fortunate ones at the fair.

There is no one that knows your own business as well as your neighbors, and so the Valley Visitor edited by County Commissioner Colby, tells us all about Mr. J. B. Thomas' new building in this town in the following manner: " J. B. Thomas, who carries on the wholesale provision business, on Commercial wharf, in this city, is now building a brick block of stores in Peabody, designed by Rufus Sargent. It will be three stories high. The second and third floors will be occupied by four secret societies: the Masons, Odd Fellows, Improved Red Men, and one other."

At a meeting of the Selectmen last Saturday it was voted to call a town meeting on Tuesday Feb. 2, at 2 o'clock for the following business: 1st. To choose a Moderator. 2d. To see what action the Town will take on the Order of Notice from the County Commissioners on the petition of Jacob B. Goodale and others, for the laying out of a highway in West Peabody. 3d. To see if the Town will authorize the School Committee to re-build the Endicott School House, and appropriate money therefor, or take any other action thereon.

Sickness to a considerable extent now prevails in our midst. Upon our right and upon our left within this quiet little village lie our friends, prostrated upon beds of affliction, two or three of whom all but stare into the pallid features of the grim visaged monster, whose name is Death. But let us trust that He who ruleth the universe, will be considerate in his dealings with the afflicted and will restore them to the open arms of their friends, in due season.

Rev. Father Masterson read an encyclical letter, from the altar of St. John's Church, at High Mass, Sunday, for the year of jubilee, with the following conditions: Visit church at least six times; attend the sacrament of confesion and communion; observe two days of fasting and give some slight alms. It has been decided to purchase a library for the Sunday School of St. John's Church.

The South Society heard Rev. Mr. Hall of Hartford Seminary preach as a candidate, and he gave general satisfaction. An informal vote was taken on the candidate, resulting in a vote of 78 to 18 in his favor. A meeting will be held this evening and it is possible that a call will be extended to him since the parish feels the necessity of prompt action in the matter, as a church without a settled pastor usually loses ground.

An out of town farmer, Raymond of Danvers, was delivering vegetables around town during the cold wave and had them protected by a novel device. An oil stove was placed in one end of his pung and steam or hot water was forced through a small coil of pipes on the side of a large box in which were the vegetables. Our farmers should "catch on."

Mr. Rufus Sargent, the architect, has entered the employ of the Florida Southern railway company, for a couple of months, and has gone to Palatka, Fla. The company will erect twenty new depots at their stations on the road, which is about 175 miles in length and Mr. Sargent is to provide the plans.

An exchange figures that the man who was born on the 29th day of February will have to wait eight years for a birthday after February 29th 1896. In 1900 February will have but twenty-eight days although a leap year. This occurs once in two hundred years, and always in the odd hundred.

The youth who carries the warning to workmen to keep away from Harriton & Co's factory, finding he could not carry the banner on the sidewalk, has placed himself between two pieces of oil cloth, with the warning printed on the front and back. The boys guy him by calling out " sandwich."

An Andover street man gave his hens a part of the barn to live in during the winter, and one day last week when he opened the door to feed them, he was surprised to find an old hen with a brood of twelve little chicks. She had stolen a nest, and raised her family without opposition.

Mrs. C. H. Gowen, of this town, recently wrote to President Cleveland, asking him to put his autograph on a piece of white satin which she enclosed. Last week she received the autograph as asked for and it will probably be a conspicuous piece in a crazy quilt.

Two prominent morocco men and a representative of the K. of L. spent the noon hours in consultation on the street one day last week. Betcherlife they wouldn't tell us what they were talking about if we had asked them.

Simonds' livery stable will probably be moved early in the spring to the Shackley barn on Foster street, while extensive alterations and improvements will be made in their present quarters before they return to them.

Almost daily the town teams were engaged last week in sanding the sidewalks. It takes half a dozen large loads of sand to cover the walks and prevents many a fall. The sand was prepared last fall and kept for this purpose.

Where Hours go Merrily.

COMING TO THE RINK.

This evening there will be a novel race at the rink. It is open only to amateurs who live in Peabody. The distance will be five miles and the prize a silver medal.

Saturday evening there will be an exciting contest for $50, between Prof. E. L. Maddocks of Boston, the champion 24 hour skater of the world, and Fred W. White, the champion short distance skater, who has defeated Snowdon, Maddocks and others. Race called at 9.30.

Hose Company No. 1, are diposing of a large number of tickets to their second social dancing and skating party at the rink February 3. The Enterprise Boat club polo team and the North End Boat Club team will contest for a prize of $25.

February 6, Archie Daly, who gave such excellent satisfaction, will again appear, and his many other marvelous feats will be out done by his great act of jumping over the heads of 20 men armed with bayonets.

February 10th, the ever popular Milo Brothers will appear for the second time. Those who missed them before should be on hand Feb. 10.

The Morocco Dressers' Assembly, K. of L., will hold a skating and dancing party at the skating rink, Saturday evening, Feb. 13. The party will be a valentine party, the next day being Valentine day.

The fair proved most too strong an attraction for the rink, last Wednesday evening, but about 300 were present to enjoy the skating and witness the humorous exhibition given by the Walsh & Gilmore combination. Charles Gilmore, who is only 33 inches in height, was a curiosity in himself and his antics on roller skates were taking. As the bad boy he convulsed the audience with laughter and they could have stood another half hour of it as well as not.

The weekly assemblies of L. A. 2947 K. of L., at Ashland Hall, are growing in popularity, and last Wednesday evening was no exception. Another will be held this evening.

A large number of tickets are being sold in this town for the grand charity ball by the Oxford club of Lynn next Friday evening. It will be about as "tony" an affair as can be arranged for and the object is a worthy one.

Tickets are ready for the Murray Club's social assembly at town hall, February 11th. Those who have attended the Murray Club parties in the past, don't need to be told to buy tickets and those who have not should secure one at once and they will have an extremely good time. Cadet Orchestra will furnish music.

The lecture of Prof. James F. Babcock at the Institute last Thursday evening was not largely attended owing to numerous other attractions. The subject was "A basket of charcoal" and was of an interesting scientific nature.

The second of those private social skating parties were held at the rink last evening under the same efficient management. The Salem Brass Band orchestra furnished the music. So well pleased with their success are the management that others will be held.

Mr. Henry C. Torr of this town acted as Marshal on the staff of Right Excellent Companion J. Albert Blake who installed the officers of Holten Royal Arch Chapter of Masons at Danvers, last Wednesday evening.

The council fire of Masconomo Tribe No. 11 Improved Order of Red Men was kindled at the wigwam on the last setting sun, it being the 22d sleep of the cold moon at the 7th run and 30th breath. Sachem Charles A. Weare raised up the appointed chiefs as follows: First Sannap, George A. Lawrence; Second Sannap, W. O. Gray; First Warrior, H. M. Osborn, Jr.; Second Warrior, William Brown; Third Warrior, Charles H. Reed; Fourth Warrior, Andrew D. Gray; First Brave, H. K. Foster; Second Brave, Albert A. Carleton; Third Brave, Richard L. Conklin; Fourth Brave, George Nimblett; Powwows, J. B. Reith and J. F. Barrett; Guardian of the Forest, Daniel A. Goodrich, Guardian of the Wigwam, Charles E. Galeucia. The next assembling of the chiefs and tribe around the council fire will be to-morrow night.

A team belonging to N. M. Quint started from the town house this morning frightened by a snow slide. When they reached the horse car track on the square the team overturned and the horses started at full pace up Central street, leaving the sleigh with tables, which were being carried to the Universalist church, on the track. Another team soon removed the tables and the horses were caught on Walnut street.

The manager of the rink has arraigned a tackle to hoist the polo cages up and down, and when not in use they are suspended overhead and out of the way.

A sleighing party go to Juniper point this evening, where a turkey supper will be enjoyed followed by whist and dancing.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

OUR ANNUAL JANUARY SALE

— OF —

COTTON UNDERWEAR,

Is now going on. An entirely New Stock of

NIGHT ROBES, CHEMISES,

SKIRTS AND DRAWERS.

Better and larger than ever before shown in this city, every Garment having been made to our special order, with the view of securing the best materials and embroideries, and the most perfect work that could be obtained.

A FEW LEADING VALUES.

LOT NO. 1. 25 dozen trimmed Corset Covers, at 12 1-2c.

LOT NO. 2. 50 dozen trimmed Corset Covers, at 15c.

LOT NO. 3. 20 dozen Drawers, tucked and trimmed, at 25c.

LOT NO. 4. 30 dozen Drawers, fine wide tucks and deep plain ruffles, at 37 1-2c.

LOT NO. 5. 30 dozen Drawers with clusters of fine tucks and Hamburg Edge, at 45c.

LOT NO. 6. 20 dozen Drawers with tucks, insertings and Hamburg edge, at 59c.

LOT NO. 7. 40 dozen Night Robes, full length, trimmed around neck and sleeves and down the front, at 39c.

LOT NO. 8. 25 dozen Night Robes, trimmed around neck and sleeves and tucked yoke, 45c.

LOT NO. 9. 20 dozen Night Robes, very best cotton, trimmed with Hamburg edge, square neck, trimming of tucks and inserting, (usual price $1.50), at 95c.

LOT NO. 10. 25 dozen Skirts, made of best material, tucked and trimmed with deep Hamburg Ruffle, only 58c. This lot cannot be duplicated.

The above are only a few of the many Bargains we shall offer during this sale, which will be found to be the most interesting ever held in any city in New England.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

SPECIAL BARGAINS.

Men's Merino Boots, for Car Drivers, Milk Men, etc., very warm, only 75 cents per pair, last for this season.

Men's Buckle Arctics only $1 per pair.

Women's, Misses and Children's Overs, only 25 cents per pair.

Men's Woonsocket, R. I., Rubber Boots, only $2 25 per pair.]

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SIG. BATTALIA,
FROM BOSTON,
PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms,
40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded,

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER

AND

BLANK BOOK

MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

POULTRY FOOD.

WE have lately added to our usual good assortment of Grain for Hen Food:

1 Car Large, Clean Barley;
1 Car Good Scorched Wheat;
1 Car Ground Oats;
1 Car Buckwheat Grain;
1 Car Yellow Corn;
Oyster Shells, Beef Scraps & Egg Food

Which we are selling at our usually low pries.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

HAY.

JUST RECEIVED. — Choice Hay from Maine and the Provinces, in large and small bales suitable for horses and cows.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY
AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

POTATOES.

We have a large lot of nice Ipswich potatoes which we are offering our customers as being a prime article.

— also —

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

W. B. GIFFORD & CO.,

ANNUAL SALE OF

HAMBURGS.

Full and complete line of Edges and Insertings of the finest quality and best workmanship.

Flouncings and all overs in great variety. Best assortment in the city.

ANNUAL CORSET SALE.

We keep a full line of Dr. Warner's goods in all his specialties, Coraline, Health, Nursery, Abdominal, etc., also R. & G. donble bone and the imitation P. D. We also carry the French P. D. Corset in the most desirable styles. Jenne DeArc for stout ladies a specialty.

W. B. Gifford & Co.

77 & 79 MARKET ST., LYNN.

MARK DOWN

AT PEABODY'S.

Every pair of Stockings in the Store at reduced prices to close out the stock. As they were very cheap before, they are simply given away at these prices.

LADIES' HOSIERY.

All our 25 cent Wool Hose	19 cents
All our 38 cent Wool Hose	29 cents
All our 50 cent Wool Hose	35 cents
All our 68 and 75 cent Hose	50 cents

MISSES' HOSIERY.

All our 20 cent Wool Hose	15 cents
All our 25 cent Wool Hose	19 cents
All our 38 cent Wool Hose	29 cents
All our 50 cent Wool Hose	35 cents

We challenge competition on this mark down. We are bound to clean out our whole stock of Hosiery, and have made prices that will do it at once.

FINE FRENCH MITTENS

FOR LADIES.

Fine Zephyr Wool Mittens—fine and handsome as silk—plain 29c. embroidered backs 39c. worth anywhere 63 and 75c now only 29 and 39 cents,

FELT HATS,

All our best Fur Felts	50 cents
Worth anywhere $1.25.
All our best Wool Felts	29 cents
§Worth anywhere 75 cents.

BROCADE SILK HDKFS.

Nice all Silk Hdkfs., nice colors, 15c. Sold anywhere for 25 cents.

WOOL LEGGINS.

Ladies', Misses' and Children's Gaiters, the best goods in the market.

Ladies' 42c Gaiters down to	29 cents
Ladies' 58c Gaiters down to	39 cents
Ladies' 75c Gaiters down to	59 cents
Ladies' 88c Gaiters down to	69 cents
Misses' 30c Gaiters only	19 cents

A grand opportunity to get Gaiters or Leggins for a mere song.

DON'T FORGET

that our regular Closing Out Sale is in progress, and that the above are only samples of the prices that prevail all over our store.

J. P. PEABODY.

SECOND WEEK

— OF —

BEE-HIVE

ANNUAL DONATION SALE.

Corsets 15 and 25 cts. per pair.

Extra large all linen Knot Fringe Damask Towels, 15 cts. each.

Ladies' Fur Top Kid Mittens, 37 cts. per pair.

Ladies' Chemises, 12 1-2 cts.

Ladies' Corset Covers, 12 1 2 cts.

Ladies' Robes, 35 cts. each.

Hamburg Edgings, 2, 3 and 5 cts. yd.

Bargains in Linen Goods and Blankets,

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

WANTED

Room and Board for a gentleman and child about four years of age. Address.

BOX 18,
Peabody P. O.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

Would respectfully invite the public to call and examine his large and well selected stock of

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC WOOLENS

In the latest styles, which he is now offering at very low prices.

314 different styles in

PANTALOON GOODS

to select from. From $5 to 10.00. Garments made and trimmed in first class style. Perfect fit guaranteed.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR,

MAIN STREET.

OVER WARREN TRASK'S STORE.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus P. Batchelder Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

The New York Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday)	$6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday)	50
SUNDAY, per Year	1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR	7 00
WEEKLY, per Year	1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to results from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterpock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER.

Happiness

Found

At Home

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial. Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York.
Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CURES CATARRH
COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
EASY TO USE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BRO'S. OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A.

Cream Balm Cleanses the Head. Allays Inflamations Heals the Sores. Restores the Senses of Taste. Smell, Hearing. quick Relief. A positive Cure.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

MASON & HAMLIN

ORGANS: Highest Honors at all Great World's Exhibitions for eighteen years. One hundred styles, $22. to $900. For Cash, Easy Payments, or Rented. Catalogues free.

PIANOS: New mode of Stringing. Do not require one-quarter as much tuning as Pianos on the prevailing "wrest-pin" system. Remarkable for purity of tone and durability.

Organ and Piano Co.

154 Tremont Street, Boston.
sept 23—6t

IRA P. SNADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

WARREN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank for the election of new members and a board of Officers for the ensuing year, also for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting, will be held at the Bank rooms on Wednesday, January 27th, 1886, at 7.30 o'clock P. M.
A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.
Peabody, Dec. 30, 1885.

Buckwheat Flour.

FRESH, ground Pennsylvania Buck Wheat Flour
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

POISON IN THE TREASURY.

A correspondent of the Boston Traveller says: "Nearly all of the employees of the National Bank Redemption Agency are females. There are about 120 of them, and candor compels me to say that the greater proportion are young and exceedingly fair to look upon. Mr. Rodgers, the chief of the division, asked me to take a stroll with him through the workshop, and I found the trip exceedingly interesting. The employees are in a long room and are separated from each other by something like wire cages—a woman and sometimes two in each cage. Nearly all of them were at work busily counting money. They do nothing but count from nine in the morning until four in the afternoon, and their hands move with a rapidity and nimbleness seldom acquired by the most expert bank clerks. As we walked through the rooms where millions of national bank notes are counted every week I noticed that nearly all the occupants looked tired, and had a listless look, although it was only about two in the afternoon. I also noticed a number of pretty young girls and some who were not pretty and not girls, who had sores on their hands and wrists. There were several also who had sores on their faces and heads. I asked Mr. Rodgers if the cause of these erruptions was to be found in the work upon which the "countesses" were engaged. He replied: "It is. Very few, who spend any considerable time in counting money, escape the sores. They generally appear first on the hands, but frequently they break out on the head, and sometimes the eyes are affected. We can do nothing to prevent this. All of the ladies take the greatest care of themselves in their work, but sooner or later they are afflicted with sores. The direct cause of the sores is the arsenic employed in the manufacture of the money. If the skin is the least abraided, and the arsenic gets under the flesh, a sore will appear the next morning. The habit that every one has of putting the hand to the head and face is the way the arsenic poisoning is carried to those portions of the body. See here," said Mr. Rodgers, stopping by the side of a young lady, and picking up a glass vessel containing a sponge. "This sponge is wet, and is used to moisten the fingers while counting the money. You see how black it is. That's arsenic. Every morning a new piece of sponge is placed on the desk of each employee, but before the day is over it is as black as this. I have known a half a dozen cases where ladies have been compelled to resign their positions. There are three ladies who were here six years before they were afflicted with sores. About three months ago they were so visited by them that they had to quit work. They have been away ever since, and the physician's certificate in each case says that their blood is poisoned with arsenic. But," concluded Mr. Rodgers with a smile, "although there is danger in the work there is no difficulty in filling all vacancies that occur."

AMONG THE RUSSIANS.

He who travels to St. Petersburg or Moscow prepared only to expostulate in English, must make up his mind to buy nothing upon which he cannot pay an excess charge of at least from forty to fifty per cent. of the value of every article purchased—a process of extortion against which the loudest expletives are unavailing. And then let one intent on visiting Russian soil remember a few of the other inconveniences that await him here. Let him be forewarned of the droshky—a low vehicle on four wheels, without top, sides or back, with an elevated seat in front for the driver, a depressed one in the rear for the "fare," and a well-developed capacity for "spilling" its passengers into the street at intervals of from one to forty yards. Let him not forget the plentifulness of weak tea, the scarcity of the bottled ale, and the necessity—outside the hotels—of carrying his own bedclothes about with him. Let him think of the restaurants, where the "English spoken" is like the Chinese, and the bills of fare are as inteligible as if they had been drawn up in Sanscrit, and the soups are prepared with vinegar and have pellicies of ice in them—where, the meat being variably tender, the dinner is carefully watched by waiters who scan every mouthful as if calculating the probabilities of suffocation, and where a man's digestion is expected to be improved by Glinka's "Life for the Czar," repeated four or five times during a meal on the grand automatic organ, with accessories of trumpets and drums.

WOMEN OF FICTION.

They are seldom satisfactory portraitures as a whole, be the artist man or woman. Dickens gave poor little Dora more love taps than he did many a more admirable picture of femininity, but they were such strokes as a father would give to a spoiled child. There was in his line of treatment no suggestion of the man's disposition to express the man's preference for woman. Not many women have written with as utter forgetfulness of sex, or with as complete a subordination of sex to the artistic relentlessness of the situation as he did. As a rule, women workers in fiction have given more attention to the characters of men than to women. That is to say, their finest work has been on the portraits of men, and their tenderness and love taps and unconscious demonstrations of sympathy have been for men. And because of this, women in fiction created by women have been no more satisfactory than those created by men.

◆

Swedenborg says "words are things." They are more; they are spiritual forces—angels of blessing or of cursing. Unuttered, we control them; uttered they control us.

Buy your wedding presents or silver for home use at Peabody's.

MODERN TRIAL BY ORDEAL.

A gentleman who some years ago acted as surgeon to several friendly societies in the County of Durham, relates the following anecdotes, which occurred between him and one of his rustic constituents. A member of an Odd-fellows' lodge came one evening for advice at the usual hour of consultation. The symptoms were duly detailed, and the surgeon prescribed a mixture which contained two grains of tartrate of antimony in eight ounces of water. The patient on arriving home took a dose of medicine, but was annoyed to find that it had so little taste, and that moreover it presented no solid material to be shaken up. On submitting the bottle to his wife, she also, on tasting, pronounced it to be "nowt but wetter," He then took counsel with some of his brethren, who were not very favorably disposed toward the doctor, and yielding to their advice, entered a complaint to the lodge. In due time the doctor received from the Secretary a notice to attend and answer Brother Jone's charge to the effect that he had been supplied with water instead of medicine. In reply to this notice the surgeon asked the Secretary to intimate to the aggrieved brother that it would be necessary to have the medicine produced in order that he might have a fair chance of rebutting the charge. When the night arrived there was a goodly attendance of members, and the lodge having been formally opened, Jones was asked to stand forth and prefer his charge against the doctor, which he did, alleging that the bottle produced was given to him for medicine, and contained nothing but water. After he had finished his statement the surgeon proclaimed to the meeting that if Jones was sincere in his belief that there was nothing but water in the bottle he could have no objection to drinking the contents at one draught. The chairman and brethren thought this a reasonable proposition, and put it to Jones accordingly. Jones was evidently not quite prepared for this crucial test of his belief, but could see no way out of it. After a little hesitation he consented. The contents of the eight-ounce mixture were transferred to a tumbler, and he quaffed them off. The doctor then intimated to the chairman that he might proceed with any other business until the medicine had time to take effect. After the lapse of about half an hour, Jones began to exhibit signs of internal disturbance, and a basin was brought in for his convenience. It soon became manifest to the brethren that there must have been something more than water in the mixture. The doctor submitted that he had effectually upset both Jones and his allegation, and quitted the lodge in triumph.

THE USE OF SWAMP PONDS.

Speaking of carp ponds, a farmer writing to a Western paper says: "We write from actual experience in this matter, having in earlier days caught many a nice string of fish in a pond that was formerly a swamp. During one day in August, a farmer with two of his boys, went in it with a plow, road-scraper, and shovels, and in a short time had a pond of nearly an acre in extent. This he stocked with fish common to the sluggish streams of the neighborhood, and procured others at some distance from the farm. For years thereafter it proved to be the best acre on the farm." We may add that the number of places in all parts of the country which could be profitably converted into fish ponds, thus increasing the provisions supply, is so great as to surprise any whose attention is first directed to the subject. We know of an instance where a land owner, well up on the Cumberland plateau, 3,000 feet above the level of the sea, is now converting a low, swampy spot on his holding to a wide, deep pond, which he is confident he will soon have stored with fish. The rich, black humus he is scraping from the basin he intends to utilize in enriching a large plantation of cultivated blackberries. Pertinent to this subject, a writer in the Prairie Farmer observes: "Never allow a net to be cast in your pond. Teach your boys and girls to take their fish in a correct manner, 'with rod and line.' If the fish increase too rapidly, then have a family picnic, invite your friends and neighbors, and have a grand, good time cooking your fish near the pond, and have one good day's sport beside this, the best acre on your farm."

LESSONS FROM THE ANIMALS.

Man may learn some useful lessons from the lower animals, which instinctively understand how to treat themselves in illness. Animals get rid of their parasites by using mud, dust, clay, etc. Those suffering from fever restrict their diet, keep quiet, seek darkness and airy places, drink water and sometimes even plunge into it. When a dog has lost his appetite he eats that species of grass known as dog's grass (chiendent,) which acts as an emetic and purgative. Cats also eat grass. Sheep and cows, when ill, seek out certain herbs. When dogs are constipated they eat fatty substances, such as oil and butter, with avidity, until they are purged. The same thing is observed in horses. An animal suffering from chronic rheumatism always keeps in the sun if possible. The warrior ants have regularly organized ambulances. Latraille cut the antennæ of an ant and other ants came and covered the wounded part with a transparent fluid secreted in their mouths. If a chimpanzee be wounded it stops the bleeding by placing its hand on the wound or dressing it with leaves and grass. When an animal has a wounded leg or arm hanging on, it completes the amputation by means of its teeth. Cats, when hurt, treat themselves by a simple method of continuous irrigation; while animals suffering from traumatic fever endeavor to cure themselves by the continual application of cold water.

St. Nicholas and the Favorite for 1886 for $3.00. Address John P. Peabody, Salem, Mass.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,	Geo. F. Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Amos Merrill,
Chas. B. Farley,	John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,	Alex. B. Merrill,
Stephen Blaney,	C. Warren Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Geo. S. Osborne,
Chas. B. Farley,	Nathl. Symonds.
Geo. F. Osborne,	Aaron F. Clark,
Amos Merrill,	Albert A. Messer,
John A. Lord,	John Pinder,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Wm P. Clark
Wm. H. Little,	Reuben G. Nelson,
Aaron W. Warren,	Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,
Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.
Rufus H. Brown.

Lewis Allen,	Alex. B. Merrill
C. Warren Osborne.	Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August, and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

"CANDEE" ARCTICS

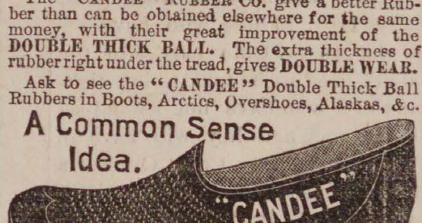
—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Two Years TEST.
"CANDEE"
Double Wear on the Sole.
Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER Co. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.

Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.



A Common Sense Idea.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME

OF THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA—

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. F. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address
WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at			9 47 A. M
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.
SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.
B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES.

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate. $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few Gener l Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich. Ct.

nov24 —12t

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDENCE 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Pallry Place. Lynn. Mass.
apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem
jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY. MASS.

AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO.,
THE RUDGE. 152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid.

Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given.

Knickerbocker Subscription Agency.
P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.
b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and we will mail you free a royal, valuable, sample box of good that will put you in the way of making more money at once, than anything else in America. Both sexes of all ages can live at home and work in spare time, or all the time. Capital not required. We will start you. Immense pay sure for those who start at once. STINSON & Co., Portland Main

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justi ied in aying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunetts, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

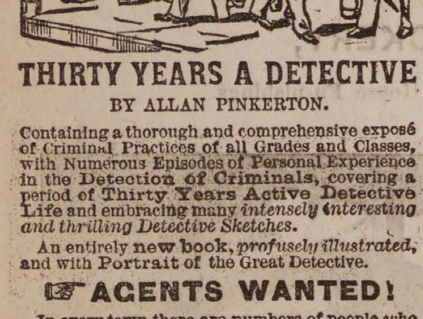
4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA?

Among the many symptoms of Dyspepsia or indigestion, the most prominent are: Variable appetite; faint, gnawing feeling at pit of the stomach, with unsatisfied craving for food; heartburn, feeling of weight and wind in the stomach, bad breath, bad taste in the mouth, low spirits, general prostration, headache, and constipation. There is no form of disease more prevalent than Dyspepsia, and none so peculiar to the high-living and rapid-eating American people. Alcohol and tobacco produce Dyspepsia; also, bad air, etc. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, will cure the worst case, by regulating the bowels and toning up the digestive organs. Sold everywhere.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

☞ AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. ☞ Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address
C. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING

SIMPLE NEW STRONG

SWIFT HOME SURE

SEWING-MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

FOR SALE BY

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller.

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

2 6 ESSEX STREET.

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR TRADE MARK COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE.
SURE.
PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries. and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

(Compounder of

Physicians' Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER:

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 3, MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c. constantly on hand

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared."

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

—AT—

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

CLOTHING

— ON —

WEEKLY PAYMENTS!

We sell Ladies' and Gents'

Clothing, Dry Goods,

And all kinds of Merchandise on

WEEKLY PAYMENTS

— AT —

STRICTLY CASH PRICES.

—— Business Strictly Confidential. ——

NEW ENGLAND SUPPLY CO.,

76 Court cor. Howard St Room 1.

BOSTON, MASS

oct 28—3m

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

HOW LIMBURGER CHEESE IS MADE.

The milk is delivered at the factory and strained into vats, as for other cheese. It is then raised to a temperature of 90° Fahrenheit, when enough rennet is added to coagulate the mass in about thirty minutes. The curd is then cut crosswise and lengthwise of the vat with a gang of steel curd-knives. Soon after it is turned with tin shovels frequently for an hour, when it is left for the whey to settle. If the curd is of the proper consistency about two thirds of the whey is removed. The curd is now ready for the moulds, into which it is dipped, the whey remaining escaping through the perforated sides of the moulds. After the curd has hardened to a proper degree it is placed upon a table slightly inclined and the whey drains off, care being taken that the cheese retains the form of the moulds. Then they are turned several times, and finally are ready to receive the salt, which is rubbed in by hand morning and evening for four days, thus gradually hardening until they can be taken to the curing room, where the bricks of cheese are set on edge close together. After being properly cured they are then packed for market. But prices for this cheese are also fluctuating, and the dealer frequently needs to store his cheese in a room of uniform temperature to preserve it fresh and prevent it from becoming over ripe. For this purpose large and deep vaults and cellars are built where the air is neither too hot nor too cold—and the cheese will keep well summer or winter. It is made with less expense than American cheese, its price is less fluctuating, and hence the milk of our dairymen is bought largely by dealers and made up by their employees. Proprietors pay, we are informed, eight cents per gallon for milk to be made into Limburger, or the price of milk will be regulated by the price received for American cheese at the factory

REPORTERS AND THEIR SALARIES

Since John Swinton made those astonishing statements to the Education and Labor Committee about the pay of newspaper men I have made several inquiries in Printing House square as to $5,000 reporters, $25 000 correspondents and $500,000 editors, but they don't seem to be known in that quarter at all, writes a correspondent to the Hartford Times. The general impression there is that they exist only in Mr. Swinton's imagination. To the best of my information and belief they never did exist in Printing House square, though that's where nine tenths of the newspaper men are to be found. Should Mr. Swinton's remarkable statements cause a rush of young men from the various country cross-roads to New York, with a view to become millionnaires by newspaper work, I fear the young men will be sadly disappointed. They will find that $5,000 reporters, $25,000 correspondents and $500,000 editors are not in demand. They will discover on the contrary, that the realities of Printing House square are very different from the picturesque idealities sketched by Mr. Swinton. One of the first things they will find out is that reporters who make $35 a week instead of $5,000 a year think they are doing pretty well. A few may be discovered who make $50 to $75 a week at times (not all the year round, though), at special work, but these are not one in fifty. A reporter who earns $30 a week the year through may count himself a lucky fellow. As to correspondents, I shall say nothing.

COLOR OF CANARIES.

The entire canary family is divided into two color-classes, yellow and buff, which are synonymous with the terms jonque and mealy; but inasmuch as these terms do not express the real color they must be regarded as purely technical. For example we speak of a yellow-green or a buff-green, a yellow-cinnamon or a buff-cinnamon when it is patent neither of these colors can be yellow or buff in reality, and the words, therefore, taken in their general application, are technicalities. The explanation is simple. Whatever be the body-color of a canary, whether it be literally yellow or green or cinnamon, or whether it be in a lizard, or even a dark self-colored canary hybrid, it has two forms in which it manifests itself. One is bright and, for want of a better word, we will say luminous, polished and glittering; the other dull and flat, and is by comparison what frosted silver or dead gold is to the burnished metal. The first is the yellow form and the other the buff; and one or the other presents itself in every canary or canary hybrid. In speaking of the Norwich canary the terms jonque and mealy are generally adopted, and are both expressive of the general character indicated. The word jonque is originally pure French, and may be taken to signify jonquil colored, which speaks for itself. Mealy requires no comment.

AN IDOL LEGEND.

A certain tribe in Africa worship what they call the Sacred Hen. You see, a long time ago a certain Dorcass Society sent a lot of clothes and edibles to the heathen, and among the latter was a spring chicken. The savages found it impossible to cut or chew the spring chicken, which had evidently hailed from a boarding house, so the chief tied a cord on it and used it for a slungshot. In the first battle in which he used it he killed a neighboring king and won a signal victory. He then concluded that the spring chicken must be some kind of a Mascotte, and all the tribe fell down before it and worshipped. And they are woshiping it yet under the title of the Sacred Hen.

Germantown Yarns, skein yarns, etc., at Peabody's.

RULES FOR RIDING.

Bob Burdette gives the following: In mounting, face the near side of the horse. The near side is the side nearest yourself. If you stand on the right side of the horse, which is the wrong side, when you mount you will face the crupper. Then everybody will know your name is Johan Gottlieb Ernsigelfolger if you cannot mount from the ground, lead the horse to a high fence, climb up on the fence, say "whoa" two or three times, and jump over the horse's ears. You will light somewhere on his neck, and you will have plenty of time to adjust yourself while the horse is running away. Another method of mounting, largely practised by young gentlemen from the city, is to balance yourself on one foot on the fence, and point the other leg at the horse, in the general direction of the saddle, saying "whoa" all the time. The horse, after this gesture has been repeated a few times, backs away, pulls the alleged rider off the fence, and walks up and down the lane with him at a rapid gallop. This gives the rider in about ten minutes all the exercise he wants for a week. If by some miracle you manage to get into the saddle, hold on with both hands and say "whoa." The faster the horse goes the tighter you must hold on, and the louder you must "holler." If you are from New York or Philadelphia, you will shorten the stirrups until your knees are on a level with your chin. Then as you ride you will rise to your feet and stand in the attitude of a man peering over a fence to look for his dog, and then suddenly fall in the saddle lik a man who has stepped on a banana peel. This is the English school. It is hard on the horse but is considered very graceful. A man cannot wear false teeth, however, and ride in this manner.

SEPARATING THE SEXES.

A writer in the Quitman (Ark.) Light says: "Promiscuous sitting in church is a practice that should be condemned by all who go to the house of God to worship. Worship ought to be the purpose of every one who goes; but, alas, it is not so. There are no reasons to justify young, unmarried people for sitting in the same pew in the house of God. The rules of etiquette do not demand it; but rather the contrary. The influence of this practice operates against the worshiping." The gentleman is no doubt a pious man and evidently intends to worship with all the ardor of sincerity, but he would turn the alleged house of the Lord into a place of uncomfortable restriction. As a rule, in the country, when a young man accompanies a young lady to church, he conducts her to the door where he leaves her to find a seat if she can, and goes out under the trees, where he spreads out a blanket, and lolls around, talking about horses until "meetin' breaks," when he goes to the door and meets the young lady as she comes out. If the young man was allowed to sit in church with the young lady, he would not desert her at the door. If it is wrong for unmarried people to sit together, it is wrong for them to come together. It is wrong for them to live in the same neighborhood, and a committee of men with the Quitman gentlemen as Chairman, should be be appointed to keep the young people apart. It would be a good idea to have two churches, one for the men and the other for the women. These churches could be built with a narrow space dividing them, and the minister could march along and preach in at the windows.

ABOUT DREAMING.

A correspondent in a foreign scientific contemporary tells this story about dreaming: "In the Summer of 1882, when an undergraduate of Trinity College, Cambridge, I was permitted to reside in college rooms during the Summer long vacation. As fires were not wanted in our sitting-rooms it was customary for each resident's bedmaker or other officer to carry his water kettle for breakfast and tea to the college kitchen and bring it back with water boiling. On one occasion I had overslept my usual hour, and I dreamed a dream. I was at the gate of a country farmyard well known to me, and there came a long procession of horses, asses, oxen, hogs, sheep and all the animals usually to be found in a farmyard, followed by a north country drover, with his plaid crossed over his shoulders, who walked up to me and said: "Sir, I have brought your cattle." In an instant I perceived and actually heard, so intimately were the auditory sounds and the intellectual interpretation intermixed that my bed maker was at my chamber door calling to me: 'Sir, I have brought your kettle.' The hearing had been confused; there had been no reasoning, but there had been instantaneous vigor of creative imagination."

HOW EGYPT'S SICK ARE DOCTORED

It is quite rare and exceptionable for persons suffering from disease to be seen during life by a medical man, unless it be a few of the better class, such as the Copts, Jews, Greeks and richer Moslems. The village barber is the registrar. He never, unless by chance, sees a patient during life. His functions apparently only come into operation after the death of the sick person, and, according to the statements made to him by the relatives or friends of the deceased, he enters on his register what he considers to be the cause of death, and then grants a permit for burial. It is on such a system as this that the vast majority of the mortuary returns of the country are based.

Sulphurous acid generated in cellars by the combustion of sulphur will destroy the germs which injure the flavor of cream and milk kept in cellars or outhouses. In damp cellars the butter product is seriously decreased besides being injured in quality.

Gold pins, ear jewels, rings, lockets, chains, etc., at Peabody's.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY,
SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. BROOKS. A. D. DAMON,
F D SPERRY

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

—— CREAM HOME MADE BREAD ——

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15 000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anæsthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anæsthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. F. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL, OPP. CITY HALL. LYNN:

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 159 West 128 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. B. Landon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Saved My Life,

and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cure." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,

18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

WHY Ladies and Gentlemen should wear Patent Inner Heels. They enable you to wear a smaller Boot; they make you taller and more stately; nails cannot hurt the heel or rust the hose; they make a higher instep and give a pretty shape to the foot; they are splendid; ladies admire them. Sent safely by mail everywhere. Wrap 3 ten cent pieces in separate paper, put in envelope and direct to P. I. H. Co., No. 75 Springfield St., Boston, Mass., or inclose $1 for 4 pair. They make a pretty present to lady or gentlemen friends. Send for 4 pair and be stylish and happy. Please read this once more.

AGENTS WANTED New patented household article Postage circulars free. L. O. ELDREDGE, 250 Cumberland St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

WANTED—Ladies and gentlemen in city or country to take light work at their own homes. $3 to 4 a day can be easily made; work sent by mail; no canvassing. We have good demand for our work and furnish steady employment. Address, with stamp, CROWN MANUFACTURING CO., 294 Vine St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N.Y.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

7 Per Ct. WESTERN FARM MORTGAGES.

In denominations of $200 and upwards on property of three times the amount of loan. Seven per cent interest is paid promptly every year in Boston, or will be remitted. We recommend these loans as the safest possible investment, and should be pleased to answer any inquiries, and send list.

SECURITY INVESTMENT CO.
54 Devonshire Street, Boston.
1m—4t

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows.—

EASTERN DIVISION

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8, 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48, 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05,†10.48 A. M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8. 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M. Sundays. 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10,13 05,5 40, 8 15, P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 8 55, 10 05, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P.M.

Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M., 1 09, 2 20, 2 5?, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 26, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M

Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.

Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A.M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M,

Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5.15 7 15† P. M

Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.

Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M, 3 52 P. M.

Wolfboro—8 08, A. M, 3 52 P. M.

North Conway—8 08, A. M.,

Portland—8 08, 9 37 A. M, 1 09, 7 15† P M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M Sunday 7 30 P. M.

Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.

Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

AND FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.

St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).

Bangor, 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.

Augusta, 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.

Portland—2, 9 A M. 1, 6 P M. Sundays, 2 A. M*

North Conway—7 05, A M,

Wolfboro— 8 15, A M, 2 45 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.

Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M, 4 18, P. M.

Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A M, 3 05, 5, 7 40 P M, Sundays, 4 05 A. M., 4 P. M.

Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 10* 5 15, P. M.

Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A. M. 3 40, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M., 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.

Essex—7, 11 45 A. M., 5 40 P. M.

Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., 1 20, 5, 19 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A M, 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8 A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P. M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M., 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56 10 49, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A.M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.

Lynn—6 40, 7 45, 7 5?, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A. M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 28, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A. M., 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10, 10 45, 11 15, A. M. 2 M., 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 30, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P. M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH*

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A M, 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 4?, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 10, 5 15 P. M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A M, 12 05, 43, 5 48 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A M, 12 17, 3 53, 5 58 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 38 A M, 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell 7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.

Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 32 A M, 4 43, 6 02 PM.

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P. M.

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A M, 12 47 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 P M.

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 22, P. M.

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 50, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 50, 3 29, 5, 5 50, 6 35, P. M.

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M. 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8 30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9 00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3 30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE.

June, 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens giver

1886 1886

Diaries.

One, Two and Three days to a page. All kinds, all prices, from 8 cents up.

BLANK BOOKS,

Ot every description on hand and made to order.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

STATIONERS,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Thomas Dunney, father of the girl who was badly bitten by blood-hounds on the Upton farm, has brought a suit for damages, and the estate has been attached for $20,000. Col. John B. Sweeney, of Lawrence, is counsel for the plaintiff.

A sleigh containing two ladies and a gentleman was upset in front of Sutton's Block last Thursday, but no one was injured, thanks to the prompt action of a party, who seized the horse before he could run away.

John McCue, charged with assaulting Annie T. Carney, paid the costs and the plaintiff acknowledged satisfaction.

Mr. Albert Smith, a driver on the Naumkeag Street Railroad, slipped last Saturday night as he was boarding a car. The wheels passed over the toes of one foot badly crushing them.

The police raided the Washington House last Saturday afternoon and secured five jugs, containing rum and whiskey.

Mr. Amos Merrill turned in to the County treasurer more money than any other Trial justice in the County. It amounted to $461.

Mr. H. N. McCully, who was injured on the 15th of December, at his home in Orange Park, Florida, has not yet been able to do any work.

A horse belonging to Mr. Elbridge Rust ran away with a load of whitening last Saturday, and broke both shafts of the wagon.

A man named Desmond, employed at the Bleachery, got his hand slightly injured in the machinery at the dye-house Saturday.

In the police court Monday, John Dullea paid a fine of $1 and costs and two men who are too modest to have their names given, paid $10 and half of the costs for an affray on Foster street.

The case of John Perkins vs Mrs. M. O. Stevens came up in the Superior Court Monday, and the Judge ruled there was not sufficient grounds in the complaint for an action at law, but he was allowed time to make another on which the Judge would rule.

Three young men of this town were arrested Sunday morning charged with a serious crime. They were John Bresnahan, James Barrett, and John Reagan. They were returning home from Salem on Saturday night, when a fight ensued, in which a man named Thomas Griffin was stabbed. The latter said that the deed was committed by Bresnahan, and he was arraigned in the police court in Salem yesterday, and put under $1000 bonds. Eugene T. McCarthy, Esq., appearing for him. Young Bresnahan is a fellow well liked by his companions and has never before been arrested.

A lady living on Central street had stepped out for a minute last Thursday morning, and as she came in saw a man leaving the steps as if he had tried to enter by another door. She thought nothing of it till night, when her husband looked for his best coat which hung in the entry and found it missing. It was probably a tramp who stole it.

Three neatly bound books were found on Main street last Saturday night, the titles of which were the "Jerico Road," "Dangerous Women" and "Married or Single." The owner can have the same by proving property. Inquire at this office.

Mr. James Marr fell on Walnut street last Sunday and seriously injured his shoulder.

Henry H. Faxon of Quincy is on deck again in a circular headed, "Difficulties attending the conviction of rumsellers," in which he recounts his exploits as a policeman. It is the same old story Henry, my dear boy.

What promised to be a lively runaway occurred on Washington street about three o'clock last Friday afternoon. A horse attached to a sleigh was left standing in front of Bresnehan's store when he started at a brisk trot down the street. A lot of boys commenced to stop him, which frightened the horse, and as he broke into a run the owner had caught and held him.

A boy named Warren Bruce collided with a pung last week while sliding down Summer street, and was considerably bruised about the head.

Daniel Mahoney, a native of this town but now living in Springfield, was hurt by a brick which fell on his head the other day and it was thought he would die, but is living in defiance of all laws of surgery and bids fair to recover. He suffered a compound, comminuted fracture of the skull and one side of his body is paralyzed. Part of his brain exuded from the wound, but notwithstanding this, he has continued to improve and is confident that he will recover. Should he do so it will be one of the most remarkable cases on record.

SPARKS.

The Board of Engineers are having estimates prepared as to the cost of changing the stalls at the engine house stable, in order that the horses may face the apparatus. Masons and carpenters in this town have been figuring, and some of them have visited the Broad street house in Lynn to get an idea of what is wanted. If the work can be done at any reasonable figure, it is probable that an appropriation will be asked to carry out the changes, at the annual meeting. More room is needed at the stable and this is the cheapest way to get it, and at the same time reduce the time of hitching out for a fire just one half.

A needless alarm of fire was given Monday night about 11. 40 o'clock, caused by an alarm for a slight fire in Hale's block in Salem, in the store of the Dreyfus Clothing Company. The bell on the Central station was rung for a minute or two, when the night watch stopped it, as it was well known that the fire was out of town. Hose 1 got hitched up but did not go out. Hose 2 ran down Washington street. The alarm for the fire at Gloucester crossing in Beverly, Tuesday forenoon, was plainly heard in this town.

Joseph Duntley, formerly a driver in this department, but now driver of engine 4 of the Lynn department, was one of the lucky ones at the G. A. R. fair, drawing a cash prize of $2.

The Electric Fire Alarm movement is being pushed and will be brought before the citizens at the annual meeting.

The Judiciary Committee of the Massachusetts legislature have reported a bill giving Selectmen of towns the right to remove Engineers of fire departments.

Henry Wardwell of this town appeared in advocacy of it.

George E. Spaulding, for the town, and John Shaw, a Boston builder, for the Insurance Companies, met yesterday and agreed upon the total amount which should be paid on the burned Endicott school house as follows: On building, $4450.00; furnace, $50.00; furniture, $400.00; total, $4900. The building and furniture were insured for $5500. z

MUSICAL NOTES.

We trust that our people are taking tickets for the two performances of the Salem Oratorio Society,—the first one, St. Paul, being announced for Wednesday evening, Feb. 3. Musical performances of this nature are attended with more expense than a dramatic performance, yet they are notoriously the last to be patronized, even by professedly musical people. And this town, we regret to say, is worse than others in this respect. So we desire to impress upon our readers that such opportunities as are given by the Salem Oratorio Society are not every day occurrences. The chorus of this Society is such that musical people of Boston come to Salem to hear the rendering of the oratorios; its reputation is far reaching in this respect. They have given much time to the rehearsal of St. Paul, and it is reasonable to anticipate that a fine performance will be given. With a single exception the soloists have never been heard in Salem in oratorio; much interest is felt for Miss Kehew, who has many friends in this vicinity, and whose remarkable success elsewhere warrant her in expecting the same treatment at home. We hope every seat in Mechanic Hall will be taken. It ought to be. Tickets for both performances or a single one are now on sale at E. V. Emilio's new store,—Morrill & Bowen's old stand.

Miss Emma Rice has been engaged as contralto of the Barton Square Church choir, in Salem, for the present year.

Hazen A. Quint is one of the Orchestra of the New England Conservatory of Music, which performs at all exhibitions there, and has also some engagements outside.

At the close of the supper last evening at the Brooksbie Club, an entertainment was given, of much interest to those who were fortunately present. The opening was a piano duet by Miss Sophia Wheeler and Mrs. Albert H. Whidden. We have heard these ladies play piano duetts years ago; they always played well, and last night was no exception.. There were also songs by Mr. Ed. Merrill of Salem, and Miss Emma Rice of Peabody, and readings by Miss Carrie E. Hale of Boston. Everything was encored and deservedly. Miss Hale is the best young lady elocutionist we have listened to for a long time. Her recital of humorous selections took the audience completely by storm, while her modest, unassuming manner assured her of a hearty welcome before she spoke a word. Mr. Merrill gave Tosti's "Good Bye" as an encore, and it was the best thing he did, saving the tempo, which was much too fast. Miss Rice rendered the "New Kingdom" by Tours, giving as an encore a song by Randegger, not yet published in this country. Miss Rice sings with much expression, and has a fine quality of voice; the vestry of our churches is however a bad place to judge of the qualifications or ability of any vocalist. A word of praise is due Mr. Leslie Goldthwaite, who played Miss Rice's accompaniments with great care.

The opening concert by the Holten High School Alumni Association, in Danvers, will be given to-morrow evening by the Rivals Concert Co.,—Walter Emerson, Alfred De Serve and Edmund K. Hood, with Mrs. Fernald, of this town, assisting. Mrs. Fernald has also been engaged by them to sing in Philadelphia, in the new hall of the Young Men's Christian Association of that city, Thursday evening, February 4th.

The third entertainment of the Salem Cadet Band series was given last Thursday evening by the Emerson—Peirce Concert Co., consisting of Walter Emerson, the celebrated cornetist, Carl Peirce, the young and talented violinist, Miss Mamie E. Hitch, soprano, and Miss Carrie E. Hale, reader. The entertainment, as a whole, was the best yet offered in the course. The next one will be given by the ladies' Schubert Quartette with Leland T. Powers, closing with a half hour with Norris and Semons.

The new quarters of Mr. Emilio are a vast improvement over the old place. It is light, cosy and attractive, and farther down town. We hope the change augurs a still increasing success for Mr. Emilio, and surely no one is more deserving of it.

The Salem Cadet Band will play for the Salem Post at their camp fire in Mechanic Hall, Feb. 5th, and at the Social party of the Murray Club in Town Hall, Peabody, Thursday evening Feb. 11th.

The next rehearsal of the Salem Oratorio Society will be held Feb. 11.

The Crittendon Concert Co., with H. Graham Wheeler, reader, expect to appear next month in Lowell, Lynn, Portsmouth and Manchester.

* * *

Get a song and dance shave at P. J. Lyons' little railroad barber shop.

The $1000 present went to Wakefield to a syndicate who bought a package of tickets.

It is said that ticket No. 11261, which drew $50 cash prize in the G. A. R. fair was held by Ralph T. Dodge.

Mr. Horace A. Wilson, having purchased his brother's interest in the express business, is prepared to give orders prompt attention.

A boot black has established headquarters at the hotel barber shop. Get your boots blacked and help the boy along.

"L. S." of Salem, who drew the range at the G. A. R. fair, was Henry Tudbury of Salem, brother-in-law of F. G. Preston of this town.

A horse belonging to Henry C. Wilson ran away Monday, and was stopped on Lowell street by a couple of young men without serious injury to the animal.

A woman named O'Brien, fell on the ice on Tremont street, last Friday, and broke her leg. She was removed to the Lynn Hospital. It is said she was intoxicated at the time.

The bursting of a water pipe in the vacant store adjoining the Warren National Bank, caused a little commotion in Smith's barber shop yesterday morning. The break was quickly repaired.

John Robinson and Hibbard Davidson while working in the old Southwick tannery yesterday, had a fall from a ladder about ten feet. They were considerably shaken up, but no harm was done.

There are two Peabody cases before the Grand Jury this week—one of George Calvert for stealing an overcoat, the other, Paul Sisson for stealing a razor from Snyder the barber.

Miss Sadie Upton, daughter of the late E. W. Upton, will be united in marriage this evening at her home on Holten street, to Mr. Henry Rice of Cambridge. It is understood that the wedding will be a very quite affair.

A case of cruel and inhuman treatment of a child by its unnatural mother, has come to the notice of the public this week. The woman resides in Dublin, and on Monday while intoxicated put a three old child into the street, and would not let it return and the child's hands were badly frozen.

G. A. R. FAIR.

The Grand Army of this town have just closed one of the most successful fairs in their history. As announced last week, the hall was attractively arranged and useful and ornamental articles were offered for sale. The ring toss, shooting gallery, art gallery, glass blowers, etc., all came in for a liberal patronage. An interesting programme was offered each evening and from 1500 to 2000 people were present every night. On Wednesday evening Profs. Maynard and Heath rendered vocal and instrumental music in a pleasing manner. The Lefavour sisters greatly pleased the audience with their violin and piano selections. Thursday evening the entertainment consisted of Johnny Gardner, Ethiopean comedian, Master Fred Wilson, juggler, Roger Grady, club swinger, Johnny Goss, bone soloist and Wallis & Wymond the Irish sketch artists. The audience laughed and applauded and got their money's worth. Friday evening there appeared Murphy & Black in songs and sketches; dancing by the Misses Katie Lee and Cora Brondy, who set the audience wild with applause. Master James Smith with his contortion acts pleased the audience as he always does; Norris & Semons contributed a large share to the enjoyment by presenting their musical sketch in which they introduced a variety of musical instruments. Saturday evening again saw the house crowded; the Misses Lulu and Bertha Messer, the little artists, of whom we have had occasion to speak before, well filled their parts in vocal and instrumental selections. Monday evening the attendance was not as large, but as the drawing of the season ticket presents was to take place at 9 o'clock, there was sufficient attraction to keep many there till after 10 o'clock. About quarter past nine the committee on presents as announced last week, with a sub-committee consisting of John Linehan, Warren Trask and John F. Morland, commenced the drawing of the presents and the lucky numbers were announced by Capt. Wm. F. Wiley. Two little boys namee Demerritt and Quint putting their hands in the different wheels for coupons and prizes. The following is the official tist. There were 4934 tickets sold:

No.	Name of Present.	Coupon.	Name of Holder.
1	Cash, $1,000.	5801	Trustee, Wakefield.
2	Boy's Sled,	2781
3	Cash, $5,	639	F. S. Merrill, Merrimac.
4	Roller Skates,	10587	E. A. Southwick, Danvers Hotel.
5	Cash, $2,	10103
6	Ladies' Gossamer,	11111	"All Right."
7	Cash, $20,	5586	W. Curtis.
8	Parlor Stove,	9732	Elmer Legro.
9	Cash, $5,	6990	Stephen A. Osborne.
10	Gents' Easy Chair,	10448
11	Cash, $10,	8916	Lan Daley.
12	Tub of Butter,	3272	B. F. Hawkins, 11 Elm Street.
13	Cash, $5,	10547	James P. Lyons.
14	Harness,	2463	Mrs. Murphy, Salem.
15	Cash, $2,	10717	A. Evans, Salem.
16	Gents' Silk Umbrella,	3162	Gay Post 18, G.A.R., Newmarket, N.H.
17	Cash, $5,	7067	Ursula Griffin, Salem.
18	Gents' Gold Ring,	1954	David Keith, Mansfield, Mass.
19	Cash, $20,	3695	Robinson Whittaker.
20	Oil Painting,	8190	Michael Gorman.
21	Cash, $10,	10769	Kate Buxton.
22	Ladies' Rubber Boots,	2423	K. of L. A. O. U. W., Peabody.
23	Cash, $2,	5711	Daniel Giddis.
24	1 yr. sub. Reporter,	3414	Danvers.
25	Cash, $50,	11261
26	Camp Chair,	8283	J. S. Crehore, Peabody
27	Cash, $5,	2789
28	Album,	6792	T. M. Mullen, South Boston.
29	Cash, $5,	6131	Wm. Bushby.
30	Pair Blankets,	7249	Fred Morland.
31	Cash, $10,	5405	Charles Berry, Aborn Street.
32	Pair Rubber Boots,	11177	C. R. Peabody.
33	Cash, $2,	10688	Duntley, Engine 4, Lynn.
34	1-2 doz. Plated Forks,	4507	Beverly.
35	Cash, $5,	11335	M. F. Shirley, Tapleyville.
36	10 lb. Turkey,	2961	W. Loveday, Salem.
37	Cash, $5,	4909
38	Ladies' Gold Watch,	4930	Gilbert G. Pike, Salisbury Pcin.
39	Cash, $20,	2032	James Hoey, Salem.
40	Web of Cloth,	3675	L. W. Lane.
41	Cash, $10,	9741	J. J. Denem, Haverhill.
42	Hanging Lamp,	313	Charles H. Perry, Danvers.
43	Cash, $2,	6289	M. O'Cannor, Peabody.
44	Parlor Table,	6459	Ira Foster.
45	Cash, $5,	6989	Edward Wilcox.
46	Oil Painting,	4471	Addie Hodgkins.
47	Cash, $10,	10729	"Fly."
48	Plated Cake Basket,	7590	S. S. Littlefield.
49	Cash, $5,	6325	Peter Baker.
50	Brewster Top Buggy,	1726	Pat. Cronin.
51	Piano,	427	C. W. S., Gloucester.
52	Cash, $10,	4445	James Rodie.
53	1 yr. sub. Press,	10069	Henry W. Hutchinson, Lynn.
54	Cash, $5,	292	M. Reagan, Salem.
55	Dinner Set,	10759	S. & M.
56	Cash, $20,	7176	James F. Daley, Salem.
57	Wolf Skin Robe,	4768	W. H. Dennett, Portsmouth, N. H.
58	Cash, $5,	6039	T. R. Alderson, Marblehead.
59	Box Cigars,	10876	Jerry Dorgan. Salem.
60	Cash, $10,	2452	J. A. Craig, Salem.
61	Ladies' Gold Ring,	7552	J. Arnold.
62	Cash, $2,	8025	George.
63	Ton of Coal,	4443	L. Purtell, Peabody.
64	Cash, $5,	10057	Patrick Kermin.
65	Sleigh,	386	John J. Deanes, Provincetown.
66	Cash, $10,	10534	W. A. S. & C., 9 Main Street.
67	Oil Painting,	11820
68	Cash, $5,	6874	B. F. T.
69	Range,	5400	L. S., Salem.
70	Cash, $2,	11849
71	1-2 doz. Shirts,	579	Pat. Holland, South Groveland.
72	Cash, $5,	7558	E. G. Smith, South Acton.
73	Whip,	3653	J. H. M. Edwards, Salem.
74	Cash, $10,	3952	M. J. Rafter.
75	Girl's Sled,	8696	Mauch Chunk, Pa.
76	Cash, $5,	3921
77	Boy's Rubber Boots,	3166	Black Eye.
78	Cash, $10,	8336	Mrs. E. S. Daniels.
79	Toilet Set,	585	A. H. Merrill.
80	Cash, $2,	3981	Wm. G. Lord, Lynn.
81	Blk Wal. Chamber Set,	3296	Wm. K. Daniels.
82	Cash, $5,	5852	Jersey Lilly.
83	Clock,	11496	Lucy M. Raddin.
84	Cash, $5,	429	J. W. Race, Rutland. Vt.
85	Ladies' Easy Chair,	1224	John Meehan, South Groveland.
86	Cash, $2,	1842	Mrs. Jane Smith, Mansfield.
87	Plated Castor,	3424	Mary S. Meacom.
88	Cash, $10,	4018	C. C. B., Cal.
89	Carving Knife & Fork,	6044	Annie Connors.
90	Cash, $20,	5357	Nevers, Shea, S & P. Griffin & Kenney.
91	Gents' Gold Watch,	10109	John D. McKean.
92	Cash, $5,	10118	James Nolan.
93	1-2 doz. Plated Knives,	6458	James W. Cass, Salem.
94	Cash, $2,	7990	Miss Ida E. Boettner.
95	Tea Set,	8485
96	Cash, $5,	7545	W. Jordan, Bedford
97	Mirror,	6318	D. Crowley.
98	Cash, $10,	10504	Stephen Blaney.
99	Ladies' Silk Umbrella,	211	Ira A. Harvey, Springfield.
100	Cash, $100,	5878	James Ware.

OFFICIAL LIST.

CHAS. H. GOULDING, Secretary of Prize Committee.
JOHN F. MORLAND, Secretary of Drawing Committee.

It is announced that Leland T. Powers, who is well known here, will appear in the Peabody Institute, Feb. 10th, in the Rivals. Mr. Powers, as an impersonator, has no equal, and his success this year is far ahead of last. A full house should greet him.

There was an incipient riot on Grove street last evening. Two scabs from Harrington's factory were walking down the railroad track, when they were set upon by some hoodlums, who began to snowball them. This routed the rest of Harrington's gang, who came to the rescue. Revolvers were drawn, and it is said two shots were fired. No one was hurt.

Feather and Fur Trimmings, in variety, at Peabody's

Last Friday evening Mr. Benjamin P. Ware of Marblehead, addressed the West Peabody Farmer's Club on Corn Culture, and Hon. J. J. H. Gregory of the same town will speak next Friday night on "Successful Farming."

Marriages.

In Salem, Jan. 16, by Rev. Mr. Gadoury, Mr. Hormidas Laporte to Miss Felouise Caron.

Deaths.

In Salem, Jan. 19, Mrs. Alice, wife of Mr. Bartholomew Hayes, 90 yrs. Mrs. Catharine, widow of Mr. James McNiff, 70 yrs.; Mrs. Annie, wife of Mr. Patrick Conley, 39 years; 22, Mrs. Sarah, wife of Mr. John Cunningham, 62 yrs. 11 mos. 5 days.

In Danversport, Jan. 23, Mrs. Glarissa Grover, 83 years.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

Special Prices

— ON —

GENTLEMEN'S OVERCOATS.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS.

Our Entire Stock closed immediately.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, BOYS' REEFERS,

Marked Down. Low Prices for Boys' Suits.

GREAT TROUSER SALE

TO BE CONTINUED.

Hundreds of pairs added to our already large stock, making the largest assortment ever shown in the city. All wool Trousers, $1.50; Fine Cassimere Trousers, $2, 2.50 and 3; Fancy and Dress Trousers, $3.50, 4, 4.50 and 5.

COME RIGHT IN, A BARGAIN AWAITS YOU

— AT —

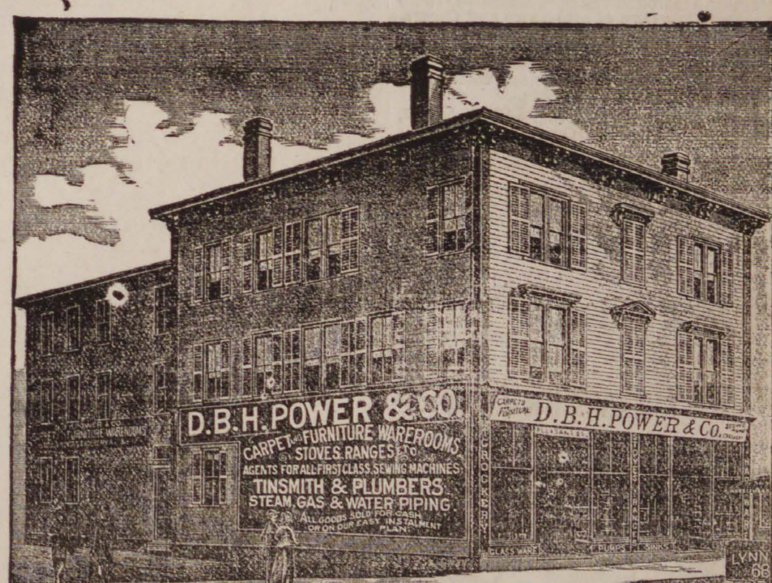
EDW. C. ALMY & CO'S.

163, 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence.
Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

STOVES, RANGES, FURNITURE, CARPETS CROCKERY,

And Complete House Furnishings.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES RANGES &c.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CROCKERY
LYNN 68

Our store will be closed Feb. 10th, for the purpose of taking account of stock. From now until that time we shall offer to the general public

Bargains! Bargains! Bargains!

In every Department. We have just unloaded one more carload of the CELEBRATED NEW HUB & GLENWOOD RANGES & PARLOR STOVES.

Have added to our already large stock of Carpets, $10,000 worth of

TAPESTRY, BRUSSELS & WOOLEN CARPETS.

During the last month we have bought from the manufacturers over 500

CHAMBER SETS,

In Ash, Black Walnut, Cherry and Painted. Even now, after one of the most successful months in the history of our business, we find every department over crowded, not only in our Furniture and Carpet departments, but in our Crockery, Lamp and Silver Ware departments.

We must take account of stock Feb. 10th, and before that time we must lower our stock, and now is the time to take advantage of low prices..

REMEMBER. We deliver every thing we sell and warrant every thing to be delivered in as good condition as you see it in our ware rooms.

D B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

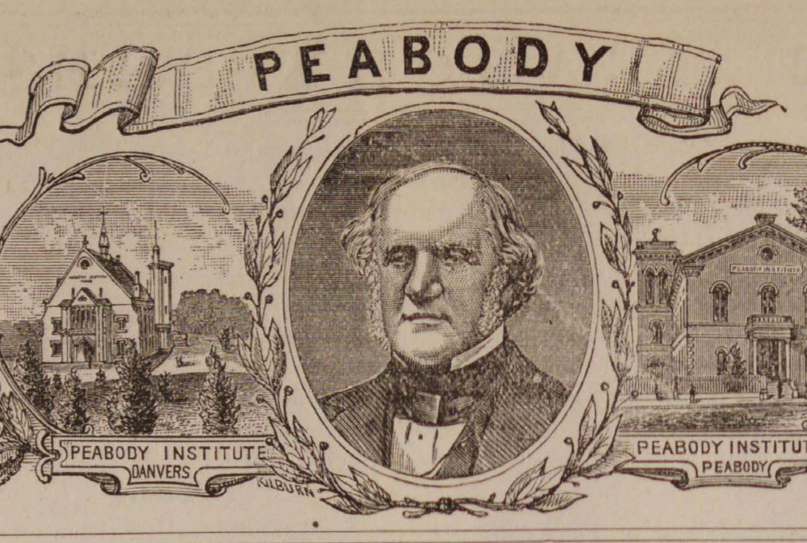
25,000 SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR ROOM.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

Connected by Telephone No. 1674.

Originators of our special instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a wesk. We lead all and follow or copy from no one.

PEABODY The Press.



VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 3, 1886. NO. 5.

WILMOT GOING OUT OF BUSINESS!

We have sold the Lease of our Salem store, and must vacate the store by March 1st.

THE ENTIRE STOCK OF

Winter and Summer Clothing

Must be sold, no matter how great the sacrifice, the goods must be turned into money. This is a bona fide selling out Sale and the prices that we shall name will be the lowest ever known in Massachusetts.

READ THE PRICES.

And remember that the garments we advertise were most of them made for this Winter's trade, and that you will findno old goods or trash among them.

MEN'S OVERCOATS.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish overcoat, dark blue and green mixture,

for $3.87 1-2, regular price, $6.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish Overcoats

for $4.50, regular price $8.

Men's Heavy Black Elysian Overcoats, very handsome coats, bound narrow, Velvet collar,

for$5 former price $10.

Men's Heavy Oxford Mixed Overcoats, made for dress and business wear,

for $5, former price $10.

Men's Fine All Wool Irish Frieze Overcoats, made with lap seams, pearl buttons and velvet collar,

for $7, former price $13.

Men's All Wool Blue Beaver Overcoats, made A-1 warranted fast colors,

for $8 regular price $15.

Men's All Wool Beaver Overcoats, made and trimmed in the best manner,

for $10, regular price, 16.

Men's All Wool Overcoats, in black, green, drab, brown and slate colors, made and trimmed in the best manner.

for $7.75, 8.00, 9.50 and 10, regular prices $12, 15, 16 and 18.

We have not room to enumerate the styles and prices but we have got to sell out, and you can buy an overcoat of us at just half cost.

MEN'S SUITS.

Men's Heavy All Wool Suits

for $3, regular price $8, 9 and 12.

Men's All Wool Cassimere Suits, well made and trimmed,

for $5, regular price $10.

Men's Nobby All Wool Suits, latest style and handsome goods, for $6 and 7, regular price $12 and 14.

Men's Blue Flannel Suits, warranted fast colors,

for $5, regular price $12.

You will find all our suits marked in like proportion. Come and see them and get a bargain that you will always remember with pleasure.

MEN'S PANTALOONS.

Men's Heavy Winter Pantaloons,

for 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2, and 2.50, regular prices $1.50, 2, 2.25, 2.50, 3, and 4.

Men's Odd Coats and Vests, at prices less than the cost of cloth from which they are manufactured.

Boys' and Children's OVERCOATS.

BOYS' HEAVY OVERCOATS.

Ages from 13 to 18.

For $3, 3.50, 3.75, 4, 4.25, 5, regular prices, 5, 6, 6.50, 7, 7.50 and 10,

Children's Heavy Overcoats.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3 and 4, regular prices, 4.50, 5, 5 50, 6 and 7.

BOYS' SUITS,

Long Pants, Ages 13 to 18.

For $2, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 regular prices, $5, 6, 6.50, 7, 9, 10 12.

Children's Suits.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, regular prices $3, 4, 4.50, 5, 6, 7, 7.50, 8, 9.

BOYS' PANTALOONS.

Ages 13 to 17,

For 75c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2.50, regular price, 4.25, 1.50, 2, 2.50, 3, 4.50.

Children's Short Pantaloons.

For 37 1-2c, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, regular prices 65c, 75c, $1, 1.25.

WINTER UNDERWEAR.

FURNISHING GOODS

Hats and Caps.

Boots and Shoes.

One and all are included in this sale. Everything must be sold before we give up business.

READ THE PRICES.

Men's Winter Underwear,

For 25c, 33c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, regular price 50c, 62 1-2c, 75c, $1.25, 1.50.

Men's Hats,

For 25c, 50c, 75c, $1, 1.50, regular price 50c, 75c, $1.00, 1.25, and 2.00.

Boots and Shoes.

The Bargains in this department are too numerous to mention. They must be seen to be appreciated.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are not giving up business in Salem on account of our non success; on the contrary our Salem store has been our best paying store. But we are going to consolidate our business to our Boston store, where we have enlarged our already large store by the addition of an entire block which will be used as our Furniture Department. During the last year we have added a number of departments and the coming year we shall add more. As a natural consequence we shall require all our capital to make it a success. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage in the past I am

Yours truly.
H. B. WILMOT.

WILMOT CLOTHING COMPANY,

250 AND 254 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
J. FRANK BOYNTON, Manager.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

February 3, 1886!
New moon to-night!
Yesterday was Candlemas day!
The ice crop is o. k.—orful kold!
Valentine day comes on Sunday!
Sleigh rides are the proper thing!
Massachusetts is to be redistricted!
Be careful about coasting accidents!

Poor drying weather for our factories.

The sick list is having some accessions.

Get your town meeting speech ready.

The people are pining for an oyster supper.

The double runners are now out in force.

Beverly is having a valuation book printed.

People ought not to take offence at the truth.

Have you tried Hathaway's home made bread?

All Linen Damask at Tarlton's, 25 cents per yard. *

Pictures framed at Boston prices by Nugent Bros. *

The retail trade is quite poor since the Holidays.

The sun showed its face for a few hours last Sunday.

Wanted, carrier boys for the PRESS. Inquire at this office.

Don't give us another week of such weather, Mr. Goodwin.

Mr. Charles O. Lefavour, of Middleboro, spent Sunday in town.

Mr. Frank G. Clough has entered the employ of N. W. Edson & Co.

Try the Trycoria Corset at Tarlton's, $1.00. Every pair warranted. *

Warm, wet winter weather breeds typhoid fever. Give us blizzards.

Like the rest of humanity we are dead in love with the sand brigade.

Rev. Chas. A. Towne of Salem, preached at the Baptist church last Sunday.

Mr. Jas. P. King addressed the farmers in their Boston meeting last Saturday.

The trees looked fine in their crystalized coverings several mornings this week.

It seems to be the unanimous opinion of everybody that spring cannot come too soon this year.

50 dozen La Cape Collars, 5 cents each, marked down from 10 cents at F. D. Tarltons. *

In many places in town thoughtful persons throw out grain for the sparrows to feed upon.

There seems to be a general return to the weekly payment system. This is as it should be.

Rev. Mr. Sprague preached at the Universalist church, at Marblehead, last Sunday afternoon.

If the burden of ice is any token of a fruitful season, the autumn of 1886 will not find us lacking in fruit.

The sun is up now at seven o'clock in the morning and will continue the early rising for some time.

There seems to be a re-action in favor of the Lovering pension bill among the Grand Army men.

Chas. Odell has admitted his son into partnership and the business will be continued by Charles Odell & Son.

Local news is a scarce article just at this time of the year, and it is a hard matter to scare up much of interest.

B. F. Stevens will receive orders for Clifford the paper-hanger and painter. Secure him if you desire good work.

Saturday night J. S. Murphy and his company appear in Town Hall in "Kerry Gow,, Don't fail to see it.

Great care should be taken in using the boycott as a weapon. It is about as hard to take it away as it is to apply it.

Nugent Bros., are offering unusual bargains this week. All their rubber goods are marked at way down prices.

Mrs. R. H Wilkinson substituted for Miss Vienna Batchelder as teacher in the Wallis school, during the latter's absence.

The next term of the Salem Normal School will begin with an examination of candidates for admission on Tuesday February 9.

It is predicted that the Rev. Willard is priming himself and that some of the town officials will be "gone for" at the March meeting.

The Post is $10 better off on its fair by Mr. Stephen Blaney's drawing a ten dollar prize, as he turned it into the charity fund.

The Knights of Labor ask the Legislature to make election days legal holidays. With the saloons closed up, this might work very well.

The annual report of the Salem Hospital shows that during the last year there were six patients sent from Peabody to the hospital.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

A genteman left a cuff with gold stud at this office last Monday morning, which he found on Foster street. The owner can have it by calling.

The street crossings got lost in the snow and ice last week, and men were employed Sunday morning with picks and shovels in hunting for them.

A catarrhal cold is very prevalent in this section just now. It goes through the whole system, and makes the victim believe he is pretty well used up.

Mr. M. S. McElligott has for sale a large number of hand painted thermometers. They are mounted on plush and velvet, and were done by himself.

Daniel Goodwin was around town Saturday, having been released from the Danvers Asylum. If he lets liquor alone he will not have to be returned.

The indications are that the temperance people will show considerable activity between now and the March meeting and the voting won't be all one way.

We would be glad to have a card from every business house in our town. The amount would be very small to each of you, and would be a paying investment.

It is reported that another wedding is to be chalked down upon the annals of Peabody's matrimonial history ere many moons shall wax and wane. Meantime guess.

Just at this time of year, our readers will find Kent's Remedy a very successful alleviator of coughs and colds. It is prepared by Wm. T. Lee, but all the druggists have it.

The town clock got contrary last Thursday, and stopped short at 2 40. It kept its hands before its face for almost two days as if ashamed of such foolish conduct.

The prize squash of the Grand Army fair was opened last Wednesday and found to contain 320 seeds. Timothy McDonald guessed 323 and was awarded the prize, a $5 gold piece.

Miss Clara Jacobs, a teacher in the Wallis school, received word last Thursday morning of the sudden death of her father at Medford. Miss Fannie Kittredge substituted for her.

A tribe of the I. O. Red Men will be instituted at Gloucester this evening. A number of Masconomo tribe have been invited to be present. It will be called "Wingaersheek Tribe."

The Ladies' Female Benevolent Society connected with St. John's church have recently received a contribution of $30 to be used in their charities. It came from their male friends.

Friends of Mr. L. R. Power will regret to learn that he is quite ill at his residence on Sewall street. As a member of the Grand Jury he was unable to put in an appearance.—Messenger.

Authority says the girl of the period now carries her hands in her overcoat pocket just like a man—partly because its English, and partly, doubtless, because there are holes in her gloves.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending Jan. 30th were 5021 rolls, 124 sides, 137 bundles, 24 barrels, 6 bags, 1 case of leather, 69 bundles of skins.

The average maiden is beginning to look forward to the coming of Valentine Day— when little Cupids with hearts impaled on spears float through the mails by dozens to make her heart glad.

The law requiring druggists to be registered by the state board of pharmacy, has been complied with; our druggists have received their certificates. They are handsomely engraved.

At the farmers meeting last week, Mr. John G. Walcott of West Peabody had on exhibition an ear of corn, that had just been taken from his silo, which was as fresh and sweet as when first put in.

President Cleveland is the first president of the United States that wore a moustache only. This is a very important item and accounts for our "Sparks" reporter not shaving his whole face.

Lap dogs are no longer the rage among fashionable young ladies. Cats are now the correct thing. Not the plebian household puss, be it known but the fine Maltese, that gentlest of all tabbies, or the silken Angora.

If any of our subscribers are in the darkness of doubt as to whether their subscription has expired or not, they can relieve their minds of the terrors of suspense by calling at the office, where we will take pleasure in dispelling the gloom.

Men who carry their personal likes and dislikes into office and use their official positions, to give patronage to their friends at the expense of others, are not the people we want as officers of the town, and they should take a back seat.

If you feel that you want a new stove or piece of furniture, and have not got the money to pay for it, you can get it of D. B. H. Power & Co., of Marblehead, by paying $1 down and a dollar a week. Goods delivered in Peabody without extra charge.

LOOK HERE.

JANUARY IS THE MONTH FOR BARGAINS.

Great Annual Mark Down Closing out Sale of

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefing Jackets, Suits, and Pantaloons, Underwear, Hosiery and Cardigan Jackets.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

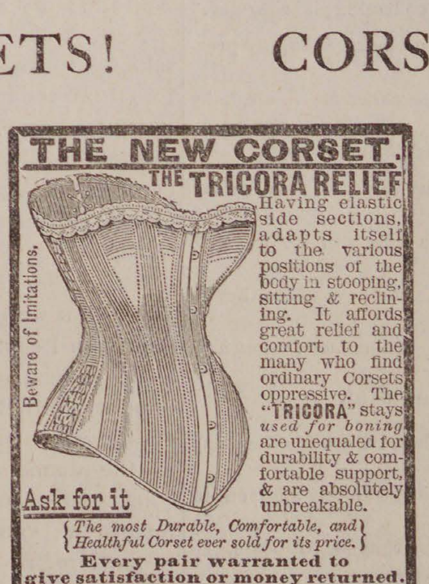
Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

F. D. TARLTON.

—DRY GOODS.—

CORSETS! CORSETS!



THE NEW CORSET.
THE TRICORA RELIEF
Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.
Beware of Imitations.
Ask for it
The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.
Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.
F. D. TARLTON.

We have on hand constantly all sizes of the Trycora Corset, every pair warranted. Look at our 50c make, best in the market for the price.

All sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOODS,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

Poet's Corner.

Only a Song.

It was only a simple ballad,
Sung to a careless throng;
There were none that knew the singer,
And few that heeded the song:
Yet the singer's voice was tender
And sweet as with love untold;
Surely their hearts were hardened
That it left so proud and cold.

She sang of the wondrous glory
That touches the woods in spring,
Of the strange, soul stirring voices
When "the hills break forth and sing,"
Of the happy birds low warbling
The requiem of the day,
And the quiet hush of the valleys
In the dusk of the gloaming gray.

And one in a distant corner—
A woman worn with strife—
Heard in that song a message
From the springtime of her life.
Fair forms rose up before her
From the mist of vanished years;
She sat in a happy blindness,
Her eyes were veiled in tears.

Then when the song was ended,
And hushed the last sweet tone,
The listener rose up softly
And went on her way alone.
Once more to her life of labor
She passed, but her heart was strong:
And she prayed, "God bless the singer!
And oh! thank God for the song!"

Chambers' Journal.

Beyond the Gate.

KATHARINE MCD. RICE.

Two dimpled hands the bars of iron grasped:
Two blue and wondering eyes the space looked through.
This massive gate a boundary had been set,
Nor was she ever known to be but true.

Strange were the sights she saw across the way—
A little child had died some days before—
And as she watched, amid the silence hushed,
Some carried flowers, some a casket bore.

The little watcher at the garden gate
Grew tearful, hers such thoughts and wonderings were,
Till said the nurse: "Come here, dear child. Weep not.
We all must go. 'Tis God has sent for her."

"If he should send for me"—thus spoke the child—
"I'll have to tell the angel, 'Do not wait.
Though God has sent for me, I cannot come;
I never go begond the garden gate.'"

Harper's Magazine.

Westward-Ho!

"Oh, where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"I'm going to Bismarck, sir," she said,
A town far away in Dakota."

"May I go with you, my pretty maid?"
"There are too many men there now," she said,
"I am told, for the female quota."

"And what will you do there, my pretty maid?"
"Oh that was settled long since, sir," she said,
"I shall marry a wealthy young farmer."

"Are you going alone there, my pretty maid?"
"There's a couple of thousand behind me," she said,
"But I am the charmingest charmer."

"Oh, why don't you marry here, my pretty maid?"
"'Cause no one has asked me to, sir," she said,
"And I am a couple and twenty."

"But why do you hurry so, my pretty maid?"
"'Tis a race for a man, you know, sir," she said,
"And I must get there while they're plenty."

Columbus Despatch.

Requital.

As Islam's Prophet, when his last day drew
Nigh to its close, besought all men to say
Whom he had wronged, to whom he then should pay
A debt forgotten, or for pardon sue,
And, through the silence of his weeping friends,
A strange voice cried: "Thou owest me a debt,"
"Allah be praised!" he answered. "Even yet
He gives me power to make to thee amends.
O friend! I thank thee for thy timely word."
So runs the tale. Its lesson all may heed,
For all have sinned in thought or word or deed,
Or, like the prophet, through neglect have erred,
All need forgiveness, all have debts to pay
Ere the night cometh, while it still is day.

N. Y. Independent.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Selected Story.

A Lost Diamond.

And it was the most beautiful stone that I ever saw in a finger ring. None of those paltry things you can't wear till candle light on account of the yellow there is in them. So white, so clear, so brilliant, pellucid as a water drop and sparkling as a star! It was all but big enough, too, to have a name of its own, like those that the royal diamonds have—'Star of the Four Points of the Compass,' 'Light of the World to Come,' 'Glory of the Middle of the Earth,' 'Mother of the Moon.' Why under the sun, cried Mrs. Torrance, the pretty creature in a bewitching gown, pouring coffee for her husband, the little butler having been dismissed by Mr. Torrance—in fear of the wrath to come, perhaps—shouldn't our diamonds have names as well as those of kings and queens and—

Yours ought to have one, said her husband, quietly. It would be suitable to call now; it's in the vocative, you know.

Well, I must say I don't believe any man was ever so undisturbed by the loss of such a thing as that. Archibald, that stone was worth a thousand dollars.

Really I ought to be aware of the fact, dear, if anybody is. You have offered to sell it and procure that sum for my necessities every time I have been hard up since we married. And if I have Mildred arrested for its theft, as you suggest, it will cost another thousand before we are done with it. For she would certainly be proved innocent, and then a libel suit would be the next thing in order.

But, Archy, Mildred can't be proved innocent. How can she be, when I know she took it? And there was no one else to take it. And Mrs. Torrance paused with suspended cup, her great wondering eyes searching space for a reply. If ever anything lay in a straight line, it is the evidence against that girl, she continued. The other day when the ring fell on the floor she was in the room and she asked me what a stone like that was worth, and then gave such a sigh that I said, I suppose you think it's wrong for me to wear a thousand dollars on my finger? And she said, I was only thinking that a thousand dollars can do a great deal of good. The minx! Well, I said, it does a great deal of good—in looking pretty on my hand. Indeed it does look beautifully there, said she—she's very particular about her adverbs; I wish she was about her catechism—but a good deed done by a hand is its most beautiful jewel, to my thinking. Just hear that! To her mistress! Are you through? Why, I've only just begun.

She is quite a missionary, said Mr. Torrance, picking up his newspaper. And the worst of it is, she is right.

Now, Archibald, don't, for mercy's sake, go to reading! said his wife. I do think the morning news might wait for once. It's nothing but dynamiters blowing up the British empire, and Arabs making mummies of the British army—all abstractions; but my ring is something positive, tangible, here at hand.

I wish it were! said Mr. Torrance. And then I could be allowed— But as he glanced at the lovely creature opposite, with her reproachful brown eyes in which stood two tears as big as the diamond she had lost, her color going and coming with her breath, as you might say, and the rose colored ribbons of her morning cap all a-flutter with her earnestness, he folded his paper, and said, Well, my dear?

Well, my dear! mimicked Mrs. Torrance, in derision. I should say it's anything but well when a man hears of a servant insulting—actually insulting—his wife, and says she's in the right.

Now, Janet, I will submit it to your own judgment if that's a fair interpretation.

You needn't do anything of the sort. It isn't fair to suppose I have any judgment, if what I say concerning Mildred—perfectly ridiculous cognomen. Who ever heard of Mildred for a servant's name?

Why not Mildred?

Why not Gwendoline, then, or Fredegonde, or Thusnelda? How would it seem to be telling Gladys to brush the dust off my shoes? And Mildred is just as bad. If I had my way all the cooks should be Noras, and all the second girls should be Ellens, and if they came from England, then they should be Elizas and Mary Anns, and it wouldn't sound as if you were taking a liberty with your superiors when your own name is just plain Jane. I ought to have been Rosamond myself, you know, said Mrs. Torrance, absently, twirling the grounds in her cup, or Katherine, or Eloise, or something. But I'm sure I have trouble enough with these people without being troubled with their names. And I don't believe her name is Mildred, anyway. I believe it's just plain Martha and she took the Mildred. If she took my diamond, she wouldn't stop at taking a name. Or maybe it was just Milly— And hear Mrs. Torrance paused, not for breath, but in amazement to see her husband's eyes twinkle, and he himself lie back in his chair, as he pushed his plate away, with a laugh he could repress no longer.

If she took your diamond. Well, my darling, I am glad you have arrived at the diamond once more. I began to think it had been lost again. But don't tell me about the inconsequence of a woman's mind. It's workings are labyrinthine, but the thought always comes out at the place it went in. Now, let us be business like, if we can, Janet. What makes you think that this pretty Mildred of ours took the diamond?

Pretty Mildred! Well, perhaps because she is pretty, said Mrs. Torrance, looking like a satirical sparrow.

Not at all impossible, said her husband, gravely.

You don't mean to imply that I would denounce a person as a thief because you said she was pretty? cried Mrs. Torrance, half rising to her feet. I've as good a mind to leave the table as ever I had to eat. I would, if the buckwheat cakes had come up.

My dear child!

You treat me exactly as if I were a child, cried the outraged wife. What do I care whether my maid is pretty or not? Being pretty, apparently, doesn't keep her hands from picking and stealing. I know she stole my diamond just as well as if I had seen her do it.

But what would she do with it?

What a question? As if that sort of person didn't know where to dispose of things easily and take care of the proceeds! I wonder if Patricia is never going to send those cakes up—

How in the world did our cook come to be called Patricia?

I called her so myself when she came. Her own name was Hannah, a combination of sounds I utterly detest, and wasn't going to have ringing in my ears all the time. And she is so tall and erect she justifies Patricia. Don't you think so?

All right, said Mr. Torrance, thinking it best to make no reference to the Noras of a few minutes since. But we were speaking of Mildred.

I did think very well of Mildred, I will confess, before this, said Mrs. Torrance, with judicial calmness. She is educating her sister, who has a voice—such a voice!—for a church singer, when she will have a salary that will be wealth to them, and give some lessons beside. And she was wrapped up in her. And I took an interest in them, myself, and gave her a silk dress to make over, and got a new cloak that I really didn't need, so as to give her my old one (and I saw she had the good taste to take off some of the trimming) and lots of my old music. And out of her own wages Mildred has to hire a room and a piano and pay her lessons; somebody gives her her board till she can pay the debt, and it takes every cent Mildred earns; and you see it is quite natural that she should look about her to find where she can turn a penny—

An honest penny, said Mr. Torrance. A girl who is doing that for another is not one that would be likely to turn any other sort of penny.

How you do love to interrupt me, Mr. Torrance! It really seems as if you couldn't bear the sound of my voice! I was going on to say, before you took the words out of my mouth, that recently this sister of hers has been advised to take lessons of another master, who asks all creation, but is really worth it. And he says he can make her voice a fortune to her. And they have been dreadfully cast down because they couldn't do it. And now you see where the diamond comes in. If she can get for that stone anything near its value, her sister Mabel can take her lessons. And her voice is delicious—just perfectly delicious! exclaimed Mrs. Torrance, forgetting the diamond again. Mildred had her come here and sing to me. And I can't describe to you. I never heard a lark or a nightingale, but a bobolink isn't a whistle to it. A flute, a trumpet—well, it was sweet and satisfying and penetrating as the odor of some flower, and yet soft as the velvet side of the petal of the flower. Angels would sing so, maybe, if there are any. And I was just carried away. I forgot all about her sister's being my maid. I cried and I laughed, and I felt as if I had found her. And now I will solemnly tell you, Archy dear, and she bent across the pretty china service, transfixing him with her radiant eyes—I looked at my ring, and I turned it and turned it, and I said to myself I have had the good of it ever since Grandfather De Peyser gave it to me, and everybody knew I had it, and my position was pretty well established, diamond rings or not, and when you were able to afford a real grown up butler, you would probably get me plenty; and if I sold it now, and gave this poor dear girl the money to secure a career, what a blessing it would be to her, and what a joy I would be giving to the world in her, too; for of course she wouldn't be confined to a church choir in that case, and if she were, in what a heavenly fashion could those tones of hers swim out over a prayerful audience, and just take the prayer on their silvery strength, and lead it up, up; and anybody who is the means of producing more of them, and so brings down the price of prima donne in the market, is a public benefactor, to be sure, anyway; and I was just on the saying I would speak to you, and if you approved, as I knew you would, I could have a thousand dollars or thereabouts for them to-day, when Mrs. Veasey happened in, and so, as I didn't want Mrs. Veasey to know anything about it, and be taking the winds all out of my sails, I just told Mabel to come again to-day and I would have something further to say to her! And so I shall! cried Mrs. Torrance, taking breath with renewed vigor. I shall have to tell her that her sister has been arrested for a thief, and she may go sing to her in prison.

But robbery is a very harsh term, Janet darling, when carelessness may be the whole thing.

There it is again. My carelessness, not their dishonesty. When I went to the washstand I turned the ring on my finger again, and there was the stone gone.

And how many times have I told you that the careless habit of washing your hands in your rings wears off infinitesimal fractions of the gold till the stones are loosened in the setting, and drop out without your being aware of it?

You are always so wise after the act! How do you know I wasn't going to take my rings off? You are so ready to find me at fault! But I thought at first the stone must have washed out—

So it seems you did wash your hands with the ring on? said the turning worm.

Yes I did. There! And I sent for the plumber immediately, for I knew if it had washed out, it must have caught in the first trap; and he took up the pipe, but it wasn't there. And he said if he made a real job of it, and went down to the main something, he might find it there; but I thought that would cost more than the diamond itself—

Wise woman, groaned Mr. Torrance.

And so, you see, I didn't accuse Mildred in the first place. I searched and took every precaution. I didn't think of such a thing till I saw her stand there turning more colors than the lady in the lobster—

You don't say that you really have accused her?

Well, what if I have? I must lose my diamond that my dear grandfather gave me when I was married, and that I treasured so, and endure it all in silence for fear some little hussy's feelings will be hurt! My feelings are of no consequence at all! It isn't to be reckoned to my account that I was ready to give her the diamond—and I love diamonds. I don't think there's anything so beautiful in the whole world.

But, Janet, you are always so positive.

How can you say so? What am I ever positive about? You wouldn't have me distrust the evidences of my senses? And if I ever saw guilt on any face—

There is nothing more fallible than the evidence of your senses.

I beg your pardon. I can see as far, and can hear as quickly, and taste as keenly as any one alive. And for you to begin to run down my eyes now—perhaps they're not so bright as they have been—but I never thought—to hear you twitting me of growing old—in this way, all of a sudden (trying hard to swallow her sobs)—because you're interested—in—in my servant-maid—

For Heaven's sake, Janet, think what you're saying.

I do think what I am saying, she cried then, in a fury. And I say, whatever the evidence of my senses may be, I have every evidence that you care nothing at all for my feelings, and can see me robbed without lifting your voice, and—and—oh, a husband ought to love his wife, and protect her, and take her part. And here Mrs. Janet rose hurriedly and pushed over her chair, and was running from the room.

But Mr. Torrance was not to be outdone by any such sleight of foot, and had caught her in his arms before she reached the door. And do you think, he exclaimed, that I don't love you, you abominable little mass of contradictions? Do you suppose that I won't protect you with my life itself? Do you fancy for a moment that I won't take your part, when you decide what your part is?

Let me go! Let me go, sir! she exclaimed. Or, else, at any rate, let me find my handkerchief. And she struggled for her handkerchief, that the kisses her husband gave her might not be too salt, and pulling it from her pocket, something in a great arc and stream of lustre whirled out with the violently wrenched handkerchief, sailed through the air like nothing so much as a flying rainbow, and fell at her feet.

It was the lost diamond.

Mrs. Torrance stopped in the midst of her tears, blushing, disheveled, diamond dropped herself, as pretty a sight as a rose bush in a shower, and held back her skirts with both hands while she looked at the great shining eye there before her on the carpet. The horrid thing, she said. The horrid, unwinking, accusing thing. It is calling me all sorts of names. I shall never want to see it again. Only think if I had denounced that poor girl. I am so glad I never breathed of it to her. I remember I had on this very gown when Mrs. Veasey was in. How stupid of me! Now I'll take this down to a diamond broker's today, and, Mildred's Mabel shall have her thousand dollars' worth of lessons. I dare say she'll sing at our parties by and by. She will be our particular prima donna. And by that time I shall have improved Mildred into a companion. Oh I should think you would despise such a ridiculous, wicked little wife as I am, she cried, turning to her husband. You should have married a saint. What a good man you are, Archy.

My dear, said Mr. Archy, life with any other woman who didn't arrange these little circuses for my morning entertainment would be too stale, flat and unprofitable to endure. I should run away from the saint and take to the flying trapeze and you.—Harper's Bazar.

A New Idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied with the finger. Its effect is magical and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.

I suffered for more than ten years with that dreadful disease, catarrh, and used every available medicine which was recommended to me. I cannot thank you enough for the relief which your Cream Balm has afforded me.—Emanuel Meyers, Winfield, L. I.

A. B. & W.

GREAT COTTON UNDERWEAR SALE

Our successful Preliminary Sale of Ladies' and Children's Cot Underwear, is now supplemented by our Regular Annual Sale.

We offer special bargains in new goods manufactured for this S during the dull season when manufacturers are willing to accept offers that they may keep their help employed. Many of these artic we shall not be able to duplicate.

CORSET COVERS at 11, 15c, ruffled about neck and arm size; made of fine cambric, tucked and trimmed with torchon lace and p buttons; or trimmed with hamburg edge and insertion, 29, 37 1-2, 58. 63, 75, 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50 and 1.75.

NIGHT ROBES. 38c, trimmed with hamburg; 62c, tucked yok trimmed with hamburg edge and insertion. The line runs in differe qualities to $3.50.

SKIRTS. 35, 50 and 52c, tucked and trimmed with hamburg ruff The qualities run by small advances to $4.00.

DRAWERS. At 23c, tucked and trimmed with hamburg ed Other qualities in splendid value, running to $2.00.

A fine assortment of BRIDAL SETS at prices to please.

We continue to offer the celebrated Hathaway make, so well kno by ladies' of Salem and vicinity. A new feature with us this season a fine assortment of Children's and Misses' Night Robes, Drawers a Skirts, of the above manufacture, made from fine cottons.

In connection with this sale we offer a lot of miscellaneous articles o Underwear, slightly soiled, at prices to close immediately.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

SALEM.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A. B. & W

ANNUAL MARK DOWN SAL

—OF—

MILLINERY GOODS!

Our entire stock of Winter Hats, Trimmed and Untrimmed, with all o choice stock of Fancy Feathers will be closed out regardless of cost, to mak room for Spring goods soon to arrive. Sale to commence on and continue through the month.

MONDAY, JANUARY 18TH,

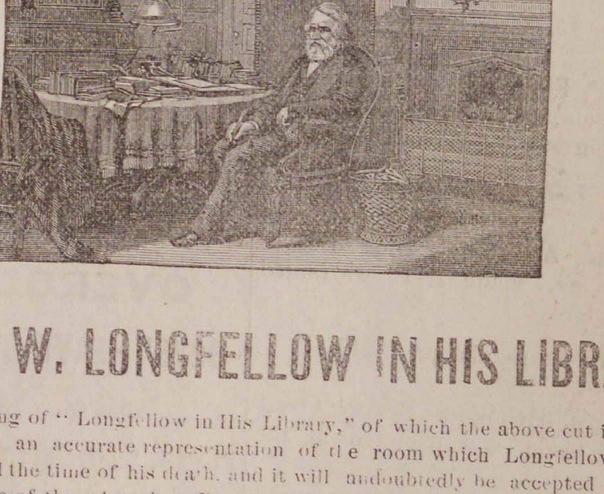
Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

SPAULDING'S

SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Important Notice!

Look out for your sample bottle of Lubin's Balsam of Tolu and Wild Cherry.

IT CONTAINS NO POISON!

Our agent is authorized to place a trial bottle of this Cough medicine in every family in Peabody.

If for any reason you should be overlooked and not receive a sample bottle, call at 226 Essex St., when you are in Salem, and t will be cheerfully furnished you.

This valuable medicine has been thoroughly tried in this vicinity with the best results.

For sale by all druggists in Peabody.

Made only by

C. H. & J. FRICE,

SALEM.

PETITION AND ORDER

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We the undersigned citizens of said county would respectfully represent, that the public convenience and necessity requires a county highway from a point near the junction of Holten and Collins streets in the town of Danvers to a point at junction of Garden and Prince streets, thence following the line of Garden street to Andover street, thence running north-westerly on Andover street about 800 feet to a point on said Andover street, between the houses of Cross and Fisher, thence running westerly to Newbury street, thence across said street passing south-east of the house of Jasper Pope to the town line between Danvers and Peabody near an old highway, which highway we wish to have discontinued, thence running westerly, passing southerly of the dwelling houses of Perley Goodale and Jacob Goodale, Thomas C. Durkee, and south-easterly of the barn of Wm. P. Upham, Esq., and north-westerly of the house of Geo. W. Taylor to a point on Lowell street in said Peabody near the junction of Russell street following nearly the route as surveyed by Andrew Nichols, surveyor.

Also that said highway be continued to West street following the pathway now in use leaving Lowell street by gate opposite George W. Taylor's residence and uniting with West street at the north-easterly corner of the school house yard.

We therefore petition your Honorable Body to lay out a public highway on or near the line as herein described.

JACOB B. GOODALE,
Peabody, Dec. 17, '85. and others.

THE HONORABLE THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR THE COUNTY OF ESSEX:

We hereby respectfully represent that having signed a petition for a highway from olten street in Danvers to Lowell street in abody at a point north-westerly from the use of George W. Taylor, and understanding that it may be more expedient that said ghway should come out on Lowell street at point about nine hundred feet easterly from id Taylor's house, we hereby assent to said hange in the location of said proposed highay, if thought best.

N. P. MERRIAM and others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

SSEX, ss.

OURT OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, DECEMBER TERM, A. D., 1885, HELD BY ADJOURNMENT, JAN. 4, 1886.

n the Petition aforesaid, ordered, That petitioners give notice to all persons and rations interested therein, that said missioners will meet at the West Pea-Hall in said Peabody on TUESDAY, ixteenth day of February next, at nine k, A. M.,—by publishing an attested f said Petition, and of this Order there- the Peabody Press and Danvers Mirnewspapers printed in Peabody and ers. three weeks successively, the last cation to be fourteen days at least before said sixteenth day of February.—And by serving each of the Town Clerks of Peabody and Danvers with an attested of said Petition and this Order, thirty at least, and by posting up an attested thereof in two public places in each of towns, fourteen days at least before the sixteenth day of February, at which e and place said Commissioners will pro- d to view the premises, and take such er in relation to the Prayer of said Peti-, as by law they may be authorized to do.

DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.

true copy of Petition and Order thereon.
Attest, DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.
true copy. Attest,
DANIEL J. PRESTON,
n 13 Deputy Sheriff.

UARDIAN'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

virtue of a license from the Probate Court of the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will be sold at Public Auction on the premises on Highland Park in Peabody, in said county, on THURSDAY, February 11, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all the premises hereinafter described, viz:

All the interest of said ward in the following described lots of land situate in Peabody, in aid county. Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 10, 1, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and n unnumbered lot, on a plan of land recorded with Essex Deeds (So. District), Book 095, excepting so much of lot 22 as was sold J. A. Enos, by deed recorded Book 1098, af 44 in said Essex Deeds.

Lots 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 23, 24, and 26, on a plan land recorded with Essex Deeds, (So. District), Book 819, leaf 300, excepting so much f said lot 24 as was sold to M. McGee by eed recorded in said Essex Deeds, Book 091, leaf 43, and Lots 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10, 14 and 15 on a plan f land recorded with Essex Deeds (So. District), Book 834, leaf 300.

ELIZABETH R. GARDNER,
Guardian.

jan 27

SAMUEL TRASK

Is offering the finest assortment of

SCISSORS,
SHEARS &
POCKET CUTLERY,

also the best assortment of

RAZORS,
CONES, STRAPS, ETC.,

At his

BARGAIN STORE.

WALNUT ST.,
PEABODY.

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE,

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,
REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 00, warranted sound and kind; no use for er. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,
126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions

We keep the Best of Meats-
Our Expenses are Light-
We sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.
TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.
(next to S. Trask's.)
PEABODY.

AT WHOLESALE.

PURE LARD,

In 3, 5, 10 and 50 pound Pails.

FOX'S SILKEN GLOSS STARCH
AND REFINED CORN STARCH,
SOAPINE.

Also a large stock of

Apples, Potatoes, Salt, Butter Eggs, &c.

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

REMOVED
— TO —
NO. 245 ESSEX STREET,
CREAMER BLOCK.

I have on hand a large stock of all kinds of Musical Goods.

Sheet Music, Books, &c., Pianos, Organs, Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Flutes, Accordeons, Harps, Harmonicas, Metromons, Tuning Forks, and Pitch Pipes.

A large stock of all kinds.
All the New Popular Music.
Litolff Editions of Standard Works.

E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

PEABODY INSTITUTE.

COURSE OF LECTURES.

AS ARRANGED FOR 1885-1886

Feb. 4. DR. JAMES HEDLEY. Subject—"The Sunny Side of Life."

Boys and girls under fifteen years of age, unless members of the High School, will not be admitted.

None but ladies, or ladies attended by gentlemen will be admitted to the gallery.

Doors open at 7. Lectures commence a 7.30

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE
BROKER & APPRAISER.
HALE'S BLOCK.
223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE LOANS,

Principal and interest guaranteed by the

LOMBARD INVESTMENT COMPANY.

For sale by
FRANK C. MERRILL,
At Warren National Bank.

oct 21—3m

MUSICAL NOTES.

The Oratorio of St. Paul, by the Salem Oratorio Society, is to be given this evening at Mechanic Hall. We are pleased to learn that the advance sale has been very gratifying, and that a fine audience is assured. One of the chief attractions is Miss Kehew, and we are informed by those who have heard her singing recently, that the best expectations of her friends will no doubt be realized.

The piano belonging to the Peabody Institute here can find an equal, surely, in Danvers. At the concert last week there, besides being bad in itself, it was wretchedly out of tune. Both Institutes need a new one—if any use is to be made of them.

To-morrow evening, in the Salem Cadet Band Course, will appear the ladies' Schubert quartette, Leland T. Powers, the impersonator, and Norris and Semons. A good entertainment ought to be assured.

Mrs. Fernald sings in Philadelphia to-morrow evening with the Rival Concert Company. Mr. Hood goes thence to the Soldier's Home in Virginia, where on Friday night he gives an entire evening's entertainment.

Walter Emerson will not be one of the "Rivals" Company after Feb. 15th, as he starts with his wife (Medora Henson) on an extended tour.

Charles A. Clark, organist of St. John's Church, assisted by Miss Marion Osgood, violinist, gave a recital at the Perkins Institute for the blind last week.

Dr. A. M. Dudley, director of the Barton Square Church Choir, of Salem, has been elected alternate delegate to the Mutual Encampment of the G. A. R.

The Salem Symphony Orchestra with F. C. Record, conductor, assisted by Elene Buffinton Kehew, will give one of the concerts in the Holten Alumni Association Course, of Danvers.

There will be no rehearsal of the Salem Oratorio Society this week. The next one will be Feb. 11.

Mr. Louis Miller sang at the entertainment given Monday evening by the Y. M. C. A., of Salem. Mr. Miller is tenor of the choir of the Dudley Street Baptist Church in Boston, has a very sweet voice, and has been meeting with much success in concerts this winter.

It will be a pleasure to the many admirers of Lillian Conway, who remember her in "Evangeline" at the Boston Museum, to know that she is to appear again on the stage, and will be one of the Company at the Bijou Theatre who are to appear with Lydia Thompson in a few weeks. Entirely new scenery is being painted for "Oxygen," which is to be given by a large company and a handsome chorus, and with elegant costumes.

Great preparations are being made for the Boston season of the Ideal opera company, which opens at the Boston Theatre, the scene of its first success, Feb. 8. The season will doubtless be a brilliant one, and several novelties will be presented. Another feature of the season will be the Boston debuts of the young prima donnas of the company, Mlle. Zelie Lussan and Miss Agnes Huntington.

The Musical Record for February has the song and chorus, "Take this Letter to my Mother," by Will S. Hays; "Over the Garden Wall, by G. D Fox, words by Harry Hunter; "Old Folks at Home," March, by Louis Meyer; and "The Alpine Fern," Rondo, by J. Pridham. Of course there is also the usual amount of entertaining and instructive reading matter. This monthly is edited by Dexter Smith, and published by O. Ditson & Co., at $1 a year.

It was a happy thought of Manager Rich to arouse new interest in "The Mikado" by making such changes in the cast that everybody felt that they must straightway visit the new theatre again, no matter how often they might have seen the Japanese opera before. Mr. Richard Mansfield's Ko-Ko continues to be very popular and deserves to be so; Miss Mulle's piquant Yum-Yum is much liked; Mrs. Barry is a very interesting Katisha, and Mr. Grant's jolly Mikado is by no means the least interesting personation in the performance. "The Mikado" will hold the stage for a long time to come.

Campmeeting John Allen of Farmington, Me., was in Boston, recently, enjoying the musical triumphs of his grand-daughter, Lillian Norton. It was reported that the worthy gentleman was dead at one time, but we are pleased to learn that he is still in good health.

The most popular of ballads always have been and always will be those classed as love songs. Three new and notable ballads of this class are Baroness De Vignes, "Good Night, My Love," a serenade with music, by Rudolph King; Miss A. Kemps's "Apple Blossoms," with music by Johannes Braunschiede; and Lord Henry Somerset's "And Then," with music by W. H. J. Graham.

* * *

Plenty of snow now covers the hillside.

OAK HILL FARM.

A report of a visit to this farm may not be uninteresting to many of your readers, the agricultural portion in particular. Our reports will necessarily be somewhat limited, from the fact that an extended statement of this farm was published in the PRESS only a year or so ago.

As we entered the barn the gentlemanly superintendent, Mr. Greenwood, met us, and with a cordial hand shake, in real Grover Cleveland style, bid us welcome. The cows, some twenty in all, old and young, received our first attention. They are mostly pure bred Guernseys, some of them imported. Jacob C. Rogers, Esq., the owner of the farm, has satisfied himself by experience that they are altogether the best breed for his purposes, namely: the production of "Gilt edged butter." Some of the cows are deep milkers, one of them now giving twenty-four quarts per day. As a whole they are a superior herd, probably unexcelled by any in the State. The feed of those that are milked is early cut hay and rowen, with meal and carrots daily.

From an examination of the cows, Mr. Greenwood took us to the dairy room, to see the produce of his herd. This room is in the basement of the house, heated by a coal stove, with shelves upon one side and end for the reception of the shining tin pans in which the milk is set. The cream in the pans resembled sheets of gold in color. The cream is churned in a barrel churn and worked over in a "Eureka Butter Worker," put up in plats, three to a pound, stamped on the top with a sprig of oak leaves and an acorn, with the words Oak Hill around them. Each plat is wrapped in linen cloth white as snow. It is sold to Benson, Cavalry & Co., Quincy Market, Boston, at eighty cents a pound. Mr. Rogers' butter, under the skilful manipulation of Mrs. Greenwood, has taken the lead in the Boston markets for the last five years, and fifty pounds of this unequalled butter is sent to the market weekly. Over forty tons of carrots and as many mangolds will be consumed this winter. The latter roots will be fed to the dry stock as they are not good butter producing feed. Twelve hundred bushels of corn in the ear were raised on the farm the past year. The quality was superior to any we have seen. The meal from this corn, fed with the hay and carrots to the milch cows, gives color and quality to the butter.

A splendid flock of Plymouth Rock fowls is their specialty; they consider them the best for all purposes. Several horses are kept here. One Percheron, a fine worker; one Steeple Chaser, thirty-five years old, has won several races in England also some in Canada. In closing permit me to call the attention of farmers to the valuable information that can be obtained respecting diseases of the Equine and Bovine races, free of charge, on application at the PRESS office. Rheumatism and gout a specialty. [The above was furnished by the man who had the 17 year old colt laid up with the rheumatism of which we spoke last week, and for fear he would furnish us with another interesting account of his visit to our farmers we have let the last paragraph go in.—Eds. PRESS.]

* * *

The Fall River Herald says the Southern Massachusetts Telephone Company has been furnishing telephones to subscribers at a $3 monthly rate, but the American Bell, the largest stockholder in the Southern Massachusetts, fearing that this rate may be quoted in favor of legislating low rates throughout Massachusetts and thereby injuring the New England Telephone Company, have determined on a general rise of 50 per cent. on the telephone tariff in Taunton, New Bedford, Fall River, Middleboro and adjacent territory, to take effect at an early day. In this way all rates in Massachusetts will be equalized, that the American Bell may receive dividends upon its franchise stock.

* * *

A MEAN THING.—A great newspaper reader was out hunting recently, and a storm coming up he crept into a hollow tree log for shelter. After the storm had abated he endeavored to crawl out, but found that the log had swelled so that it was impossible to make his exit. He endeavored to compress himself as much as possible, but with indifferent success. He thought about all the mean things he had ever done, until finally his mind reverted to the fact that, instead of buying his paper like a man, he was in the habit of borrowing from his neighbor. On this he felt so small that he slipped out without an effort.

* * *

THE FIRST KEEN TWINGE.—As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge. (B)

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

The Boston Daily Commercial is the latest daily in Boston. It is filled with patent news matter and hasn't even one feature to commend it to a long suffering public. The price of it is two cents.

Mr. George Chinn, for several years assistant editor of the Marblehead Messenger, has taken the position of editor of the Beverly Citizen. The Messenger gives him a good send off.

"The Peabody Press, after chronicling the fact that the Southbridge Journal has a department called "Woman's Interests," fiendishly soliloquizes that it "is edited by an accomplished daughter of Editor Whitaker." This is indeed richness. Southbridge is a nice town to visit, and all that; but we advise the Peabody Press man to keep away from there, unless he wants to be stoned to death and have his cold corpus hung up on the hooks in a refrigerator. We know exactly what we're talking about.—Milford Journal.

It is all right, we apologize. Draw on us for the cigars.

The Athol Chronicle has recently attained its majority, having passed its 21st birthday. It is ahead of many country papers by a large majority. May it reach its prime and be as vigorous in old age.

The Woburn Advertiser, owned by Mark Allen, has commenced its 16th volume. It is a democratic paper but far ahead of its party. As a weekly newspaper it is a great success. It is always a pleasure to read it as the editor has a homely blunt way of saying a lot of good things.

The Beverly Citizen with commendable enterprise published last week a stenographic report of the hearing a the State House on the division of that town. That was the most serious and important news that could have been given its readers.

The young editor of the Middleboro News is feeling well this week and refers to it thus: If the News has a sort of "broken up" appearance this week, excuse it. Fact is we're a parent, and the experiment of running a nine pound boy and a semi-weekly newspaper is new to us.

Editor Whitaker, of the Southbridge Journal, has bought a controlling interest in the New England Farmer.

An item that appeared in the PRESS a few weeks ago on "How to stop a paper," should have been credited to the Georgetown Advocate. It was simply an oversight on our part when the proof was read, as the article was credited when given to the comp.

* * *

THE LATE MISS BAYARD.—"Was she pretty? When you are older and know as much as an old woman like me you will understand that that question is of the least possible consequence. Nobody who ever saw her forgot her, and I never saw anyone she cared to interest escape her bizarre and brilliant charm. She shocked that large part of Washington which exhausts its energies and its intellect in trying to recollect which corner of a card to turn down. She would take any 'timber' in the saddle, and she cleared familiar convenances with a social seat so secure and a hand so steady that there never was a 'spill,' though good friends like myself held their breath sometimes. But under all the brilliant, dazzling side turned to the world there lay an earnest, sincere nature which put her wonderfully keen head to solid work by her father's side. Poor Katie Bayard! and she had to the very brim all that life can give a young woman in the very front of the whirl of public and social life."

* * *

Ayer's Sarsaparilla strains out from the blood, and expels all poisonous elements. Sold by all druggists.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

FULL WEIGHT ROYAL BAKING POWDER ABSOLUTELY PURE

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitudes of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.

248

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,
ACCORDEONS,
HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2.85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3 50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly biemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, "	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, "	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, "	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every customer, "Out of your size, "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way, We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE,

LYNN, MASS.

REMEMBER

You can find a fine line of goods suitable for presents for the

HOLIDAYS,

— AT —

BROWNE'S MILLNERY STORE,

Essex St., Salem.

Also Bargains in all kinds of

Millinery, Trimmed Hats and bonnets,

will be sold very low during the Holidays.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

500 Wings and Fancy Feathers, your choice only $1.00. Regular price $2.50 to 4.00.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's
153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

HEADQUARTRES !

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

10 Cent Cigars.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

IT IS A FACT

That the best place to buy

BOOTS, SHOES, RUBBERS, ETC.,

IS AT

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store,

We carry the largest and best selected stock, and sell our goods ten per cent. less than any other dealer in this vicinity. Read this

BARGAIN BULLETIN:

Ladies' Slippers,	$ .35
" Hand-sewed or Tip Congress,	.75
" Glove Polish, hand sewed,	.90
" Glove Top, Kid Foxed, button,	1.50
Misses' Slippers,	.20
" Kid Button,	1 00
" Grain Button,	1.00
Children's Grain Button, 7 to 10,	.65
" Kid Button, 7 to 10,	.90
Men's Calf Boots, sewed,	2.50
" Rubber Boots,	2.00
" Rubbers,	.40
" Slippers,	.10
Boys' Button Boots, solid leather,	1.25
Youths' " " " "	1.00

And a host of other bargains which must be seen to be appreciated. Save money by trading at

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers.

IT SEEMS that there is good foundation for the rumor that the Boston & Lowell R. R. are looking for a line between Boston and Salem and Peabody. We understand that petitions are being circulated in this vicinity and that they are being freely signed, favoring such a road. And it may be possible that the Lowell mean something more than the arrangement which we mentioned a few weeks ago—the connection with West Peabody directly to their lines at Winchester or Woburn. They may attempt a line from Charlestown through Lynn to Peabody and Salem, and although it would doubtless be more profitable, by dividing the freight and passenger traffic, the former route would be of more convenience to the public, who are well accommodated by the Boston and Maine R. R. between Salem and Lynn and Boston. The following appeared in a late number of the Boston Record in regard to the subject:

The management of the Boston & Lowell Railroad assert that it has been the policy of the legislature in times past to confine the Boston & Maine to the territory occupied by its own road and that of its leased line, the Eastern, while at the same time the Boston & Lowell should continue its efforts in a northerly direction. The lease of the Worcester & Nashua, however, is looked upon as a direct and wilful invasion of the region hitherto occupied by the Boston & Lowell, consequently if the legislature confirms the lease of the Worcester & Nashua by the Boston & Maine, and thereby establishes the precedent that an invasion of one road's territory by that of another railroad is to be allowed, the management of the Boston & Lowell will lay claim to an equal privilege, and petition the legislature for leave to connect their Mystic branch with their Salem & Lowell branch at some point in Peabody by the construcion of a railroad, which, leaving the Mystic branch in Charlestown, and thence running through Everett, Chelsea, Revere, Saugus and Lynn to Peabody, will open a new and direct route in connection with the Salem & Lowell branch, between Boston and Salem, of only 14 1-2 miles, or several miles less than the present route via the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine. With the terminal facilities controlled at both ends of the projected route, the Boston & Lowell can construct this connection at a very moderate cost, and undoubtedly it would prove to be a very profitable one, considering the low rate of interest at which its cost could be funded, in comparison with the huge debt under which the Eastern has been struggling for many years and which is largely taken care of by that portion of its road between Boston & Salem.

Almy Bigelow & Washburn advertise a bankrutp sale of dress goods and linen's which should be seen by all our readers. Their new advertisement was received this week too late for insertion.

C. L. Beckett shipped a coop of leghorns, and a coop of brahmas of his celebrated fowls, to a New York party. They will be on exhibition at the Madison Square Garden poultry exhibition.

The question has been raised whether if Nichols Lane is widened the piece will come off of Blaney's Block and the Baptist Parsonage or not.

The school committee advertise for proposals for re-building the Endicott school house in another column.

Dr. C. G. Weston is the father of an infant daughter presented him last Monday.

A horse belonging to G. W. Pepper died yesterday at his stables in Jacobs street.

Misses Helen and Susie Poor left to-day for a visit to New York.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING.

A town meeting was held yesterday afternoon in accordance with a call issued by the Selectmen. Frank E. Farnham was chosen moderator and the first business was the consideration of the order which had been served on the town by the County Commissioners regarding the road in West Peabody. (The petition signed by Jacob Goodale and others and the order of the County Commissioners thereon will be found in another column.) To bring the matter directly before the meeting, Mr. J. G. Walcott moved that the Selectmen be authorized to appear before the County Commissioners and advocate the building of the road.

Mr. Nichols, the surveyor, displayed a plan showing the proposed road, and described the route somewhat in detail from it.

Mr. Walcott spoke in favor of the road. He said the children from the vicinity of the paper mill had to go two miles to the school house. When the school house was built such a road was promised by the town. If the road was laid out now the County would pay the damages. If it was not, the citizens of West Peabody would come to the town and ask them to lay out the road. Heavy teams from West Peabody to Danvers had to come down to Endicott street. It would not be an expensive road to build. There had been no road asked for in twenty years that was as much needed as this one. The petitioners were willing to leave the point where the road was to come out to the County Commissioners.

Mr. Wilcox said the road would only accommadate two or three people, and he thought it ought not to be built.

Mr. Goodale spoke of the expense he and others had been to for many years in shoveling snow to enable the children to get to school. There was considerable teaming between West Peabody and Danvers—bricks and lumber—most of which had to come by the way of Peabody Square to get to the Port. The road had been needed for years.

At this point a motion was made that the matter be laid on the table in order to proceed to the third article of the warrant. It was carried, and the subject of the appropriation of money for rebuilding the Endicott school house, was taken up.

Mr. Jonathan King said a committee should be appointed to ascertain the cost of the repairs, that the town might know how much money was needed, and report at some future time.

Rev. Mr. Hudson said it was important that action be taken at once. The children were provided for temporarily in the halls of the Wallis and Centre schools, and in the old Town Hall. But many of the children had to come a long distance from their homes, and it was the opinion of the School Committee that some action should be taken by the town as soon as possible that the school might be ready by the opening of the next term. His motion that the School Committee be authorized to repair the building, using therefor such money as may be necessary from that received from the insurance, was carried by a vote of just 100 in the affirmative.

The other business was then proceeded with. Jonathan King said the town ought to know something as to the cost to the town. The county would pay the land damages but the town would have to pay the expense of laying the road out. He was in favor of the town refunding the taxes to these farmers—they to build what roads are needed.

Capt. Geo. W. Taylor was opposed to the Selectmen appearing in favor of the road. There was already a way across this country. Those who favor the road say "if it can be crowded across Taylor's property all right." They are the men who signed the petition to cut off West Peabody. The road would only accommodate Mr. Goodale and Mr. Durkee. The town had more roads now than it could take care of. If it had any money to spare it could better be expended by keeping what we had in repair.

Mr. Durkee said the proposed road might take one-quarter of an acre of Taylor's land. But it would be a benefit to Mr. Taylor. His land would be worth more. Ipswich teamsters had signed the petition who had to come down through Peabody on account of the hills.

Mr. Taylor had tried to build a short piece of road across this land for himself. It went down in the meadow and he couldn't find the road now. He did not think there would be travel enough to warrant the building of it. The town had not money enough to care for the roads it already had in a proper manner. On being questioned by Mr. Walcott Mr. Taylor admitted that the portion of the road leading from the school house might be of advantage.

Mr. W. P. Upham said that the road would damage him more than anyone. He desired to state that he was making no personal effort for the road. Still he should not oppose it, and although it would damage his land he thought if public convenience demanded it, he would not stand in the way. On account of the steep hills he thought it would be better to go across his land and Mr. Taylor's.

Rev. Mr. Spaulding said that to reach the school house twenty or thirty families living in that section of the town had to go one-third of a mile out of the way. It was the same in going to church or the store, to the meeting of the Farmers' Club or to take the cars to Boston. Danvers had signed the petition with the hope that Peabody would co-operate with her. The speaker had driven hundreds of cords of wood to Danvers, and always had to go out of his way on account of the steep hills. He believed in short roads. A market for the wood in West Peabody must be found in Danvers, and we need a road to take it there. We must also bring brick and lumber from Danvers. All the salt hay from Ipswich must come at present by way of Peabody. Mr. Taylor thinks the road is not needed; there are twenty other men living in his vicinity who signed the petition who think it is needed. There are also people from Reading and from Wilmington who have to travel the road who have signed the petition. He would not have the road built for Mr. Goodale or Mr. Durkee; he would be glad if they were accommodated, but he thought the road would be an accommodation to the public, and he hoped it would be built.

Mr. King still insisted that he had heard nothing in regard to the expense of building the road.

Mr. Walcott called upon Mr. Nichols to state what the expense would be; but the latter gentleman was not prepared to give figures; he had made no estimate in this direction.

Jas. P. King said he had signed the petition. He had thought the people of West Peabody very kind not to ask for a road before. The speaker was the first signer of the petition for Endicott street; it was said to him then that the grass would grow in the street. He was also the first to petition for the widening of Lowell street. But both of these roads had paid principal and interest on the improvements. Endicott street land was then worth $200 an acre. Since then sales had been made at $1000. The people of West Peabody would find that they would have to pay in part for the road, in the increased value of the land. He thought Mr. Taylor made a mistake in opposing the road; it would benefit him more than any other man.

Frank Marsh was in favor of the road. Thought the town should show liberality towards West Peabody. If it could be built at an expense of one or two thousand dollars, he would favor trying it as an experiment. If it caused two or three houses to be built, then the town would get it all back. He could not see any better way to help build up the town.

Mr. Wilcox said if this road was built there were two or three other roads the town would be asked to build.

Mr. Goodale referred to the lawsuits he had saved the town, by preventing people who had been injured in his vicinity from bringing suit against the town.

Jonathan King said he had heard about Endicott and Lowell streets, but he did not suppose the gentleman would compare the road in West Peabody to them; he had heard about the snow; there would be just as much after the new road was built. They had not stated the advantage to the town, nor the cost.

After some sparring between Mr. Walcott and Mr. King, in which the former used language for which he should have been called to order, the motion to favor the road was adopted, and the meeting adjourned.

ON OUR TOWN OFFICIAL.

The following from the Athol Democrat voices our sentiments:—It is the duty of a local paper to keep a jealous watch over town affairs, criticising town officials when necessary and praising them when they deserve praise. If a paper discharges this duty it will frequently tread on somebody's corns and occasionally make an enemy. But that should not be taken into consideration. The Democrat has no foes that it fears, no friends that it will whitewash. When we have got anything to say we are going to say it.

A member of the water board is of the opinion that the gentleman who advanced the idea last week that the bad taste in the water comes from the low water in the "fountain" must be mistaken. He says the board are unable to account for it, as in some parts of the town there is no bad taste and in others it is fearful. They have blowed off the pipes in some neighborhoods and it seems to improve the water. Another theory advanced concerning the bad taste of the water is that it comes entirely from Spring pond, and is caused by the accumulation of leaves which have been washed into the pond in years past. This theory seems plausible when it is further stated that when the ice is cut and water taken from this pond it has the bad taste complained of.

We learn that the suit of the Board of Health against the Fay estate for turning their sewers into Spring pond has been settled by the estate turning them in another direction and running them into a large cesspool, the town paying one-half the expense.

Where Hours go Merrily.

The bad weather interfered with the turkey supper that was served at the Universalist vestry last Wednesday night, and the attendance was not so large as might have been desired. There was an abundance of everything, and those who ventured out were repaid for their trouble.

Last Wednesday night Lafayette Court Catholic Order of Foresters paid a visit to Emerald Court of this town. Patriotic speeches were made and the good time continued till eleven o'clock.

Miss M. J. Giles was given a surprise party, last Friday evening, which was attended by a large party of her friends. Everyone went to enjoy themselves, and none were bashful about having a good time.

The initiatory and three degrees of Odd Fellowship are to be exemplified in Boston before the Grand Lodge, Wednesday evening, Feb. 10, commencing at 6 o'clock. Peabody will be represented by several of her past grands.

Another of those private skating parties will be held at the rink on Thursday evening of this week. The attendance is on the increase and the managers are making them very popular.

The five mile race at the rink last Saturday night between Maddocks and White was very exciting, and was won by the latter in 17 minutes and 40 seconds.

For next Saturday evening, Feb. 6, Archie Daley has been engaged for the second time, and with his brother George will appear in three special and distinct exhibitions. First, Archie will appear in posing and contortion acts. This is to be followed by his marvellous feats in high kicking. We have seen him in the above and do not hesitate to say they are seldom equaled. The third great act is that of leaping, in which the brothers will turn double somersaults in mid-air, and concluding the entertainment by the jump of Archie over the heads of twenty men with fixed bayonets. George will act the part of a "komical klown."

Wednesday, Feb. 10, the Milo Brothers, the premier acrobats of the world, will appear for the second time in their artistic exhibition.

February 17th, the Wilmots in their double bicycle riding, will give an exhibition that cannot fail to please.

The Holten Street social club of Danvers will give a concert at the skating rink in that town, next Friday evening, and horse cars will run to Peabody at the close.

Mamie Wallace celebrated her sixth birthday at her home on Lowell street, last Thursday, by entertaining a large number of her little friends in regal style.

The Butchers and Bakers again met at the rink, last Thursday evening, in a game of polo, and the former were winners. Score 8 goals to 7.

Mr. H. O. Upton will open an afternoon dancing school at town hall, Feb. 6th.

Some of our lovers of equestrian sports have been during the past few days indulging in the pernicious practice of speeding their animals through the square. While horse trotting is enjoyed by most people, it should most emphatically be discountenanced when life is being constantly jeopardized.

At the rink last Wednesday evening there was a three mile amateur race for a silver medal. There were six contestants. Charles Porter, John Daley, J. Rahilley, J. Coleman, Oscar Lyons and Thomas Gannon. The medal was won by Daley after a hot contest.

The private parties of local assembly 2947 K. of L., at Ashland hall, are growing in popularity.

A party of about fifty from Peabody and Salem visited Juniper Point, last Wednesday night, and assisted in opening the newly refitted Ocean View House. A social time was enjoyed and a bountiful supper discussed as only Peabody people know how.

The lecture at the Institute, last Thursday evening, by Mr. George R. Wendling, of St. Louis, was not largely attended, and the subject, "Hamlet and his interpreters," was too deep for the average audience. But his oratory and eloquence were very fine and while not interested the audience were not wearied. The last lecture will be given to-morrow night by Dr. James Hedley. Subject, "The Sunny Side of Life."

Among the guests at the charity ball of the Oxford Club of Lynn, last Friday night, were E. W. Abbott, Herbert K. Pevear and wife, Samuel W. King and Hazen A. Spaulding of this town. Mrs. Pevear wore a Nile green satin, trimmed with duchess lace and pink ostrich feathers, pearl ornaments.

A man in So. Peabody, who thought his wood pile was disappearing faster than the housewife was using it, suspected that he was supplying someone else with fuel. Accordingly he set a trap for the thief. He bored holes in some twenty-five of the sticks, filled them with powder and awaited developments. Last Monday night a loud explosion in the house of a neighbor told the story. The stove was blown up and all utensils scattered around. On examination of the pile, thirteen out of twenty-five of the sticks were missing.

The Committee on Streets in Salem, recommended that the Salem and Danvers Street Railway Company have leave to withdraw its petition for permission to run its cars over the Naumkeag Street Railway Company's track to Webb street, down Essex street. The recommendation was adopted.

The report of engineer [illegible] of the pumping station for January is as follows: Number of gallons pumped 18,843,190; average per day, 607,8[illegible]; pounds of coal used, 46,779; average per day, 1509; running time, 7 hours, 45 minutes; gallons pumped per pound of coal, 402 1-2.

We learn that a number of friends of Mr. John A. Enos are building a model and will try and find a market for the electric voting machine.

To-morrow at 3 o'clock the Selectmen will give a hearing on the petition, signed by Rev. Father Masterson and others, asking the town to widen the lane leading to the Catholic Church from Lowell street and also the lane leading from Chestnut street. The latter is wide enough for a street and should be made a public highway.

Mr. Joseph Southwick, senior partner of the well known firm of Southwick & Sands, hide brokers, died in Boston, Sunday Jan. 24th. He was a son of the late P. R. Southwick, one of the old tanners of this town, and the firm of which he was a member succeeded the old firm of P. R. Southwick. Both firms were well known to our leather merchants.

The Sunday Globe says: "Salem's Saturday-night market is an institution. There is one man, Robert Emerson of Peabody, who has followed it with his butcher's team for forty-three years, and there is not one now living that came here then. His sales of meats amount to from $60 to $125 cash, Saturday. He comes in the morning and stays until 10 at night.

We regret to record the decease of Mrs. Charles Brooks, the widow of the late Charles Brooks, at her residence on English street, last Friday. Mrs. Brooks was born in Berwick, Maine, where nearly all her relatives reside, but since her marriage has resided in this town. She was a most estimable woman, and one who had many friends here. Her age was 72 years. Rev. Mr. Sprague officiated at her funeral which took place yesterday afternoon.

The Eclectic Debating Society held a second meeting last Wednesday evening and after a full discussion it was voted that instead of the secret society being detrimental to the morals of our youth it had a tendency to make them better and taught them many lessons in benevolence and humanity. The question for discussion this evening is, "Resolved, That horse railroads are a benefit to the town of Peabody."

Considering the talk about the distance from Peabody to Boston by the different railroad routes and proposed routes, a friend has compiled the following table and handed us for publication:—

B. & Maine R. R.	miles
Boston to Salem, E. Div.,	16 1-4
Boston to Peabody via Salem,	17 3-8
Boston to Peabody via Wakefield,	17 1-8
Boston to Salem via Peabody,	15 5-8
B. & Lowell R. R.
Boston to Peabody via Woburn,	22 1-2
Boston to Peabody via Paper Mills,	25
Boston to Salem via Woburn,	24
Boston to Salem via Paper Mills,	26 1-2
Revere Beach & Lynn.

Boston to Peabody 14 miles and the ferry added.

Mr. John Nulty, who has been working for the past few weeks in a currying shop in this town, and boarding at Meehan's boarding house, died very suddenly Monday night about ten o'clock of heart disease. He was about on the street till half past eight in his usual good health. He was a young man 32 years of age and was a member of Nezenscott Lodge of Odd Fellows of Bridgeton, Me. His brother arrived in town this morning and the remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Fallon and sent to his late home in Maine.

The Essex County Sons of Temperance Union will hold its next meeting in Town Hall, Saugus, Thursday, Feb. 11th, at 10 A. M., 2 and 7.30 P. M. James W. Cameron, G. W. P., and other prominent members of the Order will address these meetings. A chorus of children will be present in the evening. Alonsett Division No. 10 will entertain all visitors. These meetings are all public and every temperance organization in the county is invited to be represented.

In conversation with one of our manufacturers the other day, he informed us that the Penn. bark which has been introduced here within the past few years, is from 20 to 30 per cent better than that which comes from Canada, and at the same time there is a difference of only 50 cents on a cord in price. So rapidly are they finding this out that already a third of the bark brought to town is from Penn.

The hearing at the State house during the week, brought out the following concerning the Boston & Maine railroad. "The pay roll of the consolidated roads amounted to from $203,000 to $213,000 per annum, the men employed numbering 4500. Twenty-two clerks are engaged each month preparing the pay rolls. It requires ten working days to pay off."

George E. Calvert, of this town, retracted his plea yesterday and plead guilty of larceny. He was sentenced to the Concord reformatory for one year. Paul F. Sisson was convicted of larceny of scissors and other barbers' tools from the shop of Henry J. Snider, of this town.

Henry Wardwell, Esq., of this town, appeared before the Joint Judiciary Committee of the Legislature, Monday, as counsel for the Master Builders' Association, of Boston, as remonstrants to the Employers' Liability Bill.

Mary A. Kelly paid $1 and costs in the police court yesterday for getting drunk, and Margaret Shea was sent to the house of Correction for six months for a similar offence.

John Mahoney, coachman for Samuel Ham, while driving in Salem across the horse car track, had his team upset. The horse was stopped by Calvin Munroe.

Two dogs killed several sheep belonging to Mr. C. S. Emerton at his farm at Proctors crossing last Monday afternoon.

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store is the place to trade. *

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning.

W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.
Open Every Evening.

ARTISTS'
SUPPLY STORE,
Everything needed for
ARTISTS & AMATEURS.
Largest stock and Lowest Prices.
C. J. EDMANDS,
12 Bromfield St., Boston.
Send for Catalogue.

L. B. S.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society at the vestry of the South Church, Thursday February 4to afternoon and evening. Supper at 6.30 o'clock.

C. P. LUMMUS, Sec.

New Advertisements.

TOWN HALL,

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

SATURDAY FEBRUARY 6TH,

The distinguished Irish Comedian and Vocalist,

J. S. MURPHY,

In Fred Marsden's greatest of all Irish Dramas, the

"KERRY GOW,"

Played by him with unparallelled success for eight consecutive seasons in all the principal cities and leading theatres in America.

A Comedy-Drama without Equal

Presenting not only realistic pictures of Life and Love in the Emerald Isle, but an every day tale in every land. Supported by the talented young Leading Actress,

MISS IDA BURROWS

And a Superb Dramatic Company.

See the great Blacksmith Shop Scene.
See the Sagacious Trained Carrier Doves.
See a real horse shod on the Stage.
Irish Pathos, Irish Songs. Irish Wit. Special scenery. 10th year of "Kerry Gow."

PRICES, 35, 50 & 75 CENTS,

Reserved Seats 50 and 75 cents, to be had at Spaulding's Drug Store.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of EDWARD GREEN, late of Peabody, in said County, farmer, deceased, intestate, GREETING: WHEREAS, Benjamin A. Gray, (Public administrator), the administrator of the estate of said deceased has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first Monday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty seventh day of January, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

feb 3–3t

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of HEZEKIAH FLINT, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust; by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

D. WEBSTER KING, Adm.

Boston, Jan. 14, '86. jan 27—3t

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Salem Gas Light Company will be held at the Essex House, on MONDAY, February 8, 1886, at 3.30 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of choosing officers of the Company for the year ensuing, and for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

B. W. SLUMAN, Clerk.

PROPOSALS TO BUILDERS.

To the Builders of Peabody, Proposals for re-building and re-furnishing the Endicott School will be received by the School Committee until MONDAY, Feb. 8, at 5 P. M.

The Committee reserve the right to reject any or all proposals.

Plans and specifications to be seen at the School Committee rooms

Proposals to be sent to the Secretary,

G. F. OSGOOD.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM.

Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Feb. 9. Tuition and textbooks free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. Further information given by

D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A Dividend of Three dollars per share, will be payable at the office of the Treasurer on WEDNESDAY, the 27th inst., to stockholders of record this day.

DAVID MOORE, Treasurer.

Pillsbury's Best.

WE keep in stock the above brand of Flour, also Washburn's Best, Snowflake, and other Choice Brands of Patent Flour.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of Mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the first day of October, A. D. 1873, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 890, leaf 181, and by virtue of the further power of sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the administrators of his estate dated the ninth day of June, A. D. 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, Feb. 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land, being a part of the lands conveyed by said mortgage deed to wit:

A parcel of land situated in said Peabody on the northerly side of Walnut street, bounded thus, viz., beginning on said street at land of Joseph S. Hodgkins and thence running southeasterly by said street three hundred and ninety-eight feet to land formerly of Benjamin F. K. Jennings; thence northeasterly by said land formerly of Jennings, parallel to and eighteen inches distant; northwesterly from the northwesterly side of the planks at the westerly side of the canal which runs through said land formerly of Jennings, fifty-one feet and two inches; thence southeasterly by said land formerly of Jennings, twenty-five feet and nine inches; thence northeasterly by land late of Francis K. Pemberton, forty-nine and one-half feet; thence northwesterly by other land late of said Hardy and by land late of William Bushby, deceased, four hundred and seventeen feet and six inches; thence southwesterly by land of said Hodgkins, one hundred and four feet to Walnut street and point begun at.

Subject to all the reservations and conditions referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treas.
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

Peabody, Feb. 3, 1-86. 3t

MORTGAGEE'S SALE,

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1871, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 815, leaf 22, and by virtue of the further power of sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the Administrators of his estate, dated the ninth day of June, A. D. 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, February 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land, being a part of the lands conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit,

The tannery estate situated in said Peabody on the southerly side of a way called Hardy street, bounded thus, viz.: beginning at a point on said Hardy street one foot and six inches east of land late of William Bushby deceased, and thence running southerly parallel with the easterly line of said Bushby's land about one hundred and sixty feet to other land late of said Hardy formerly a part of the Wallis Mills estate; thence easterly by said land formerly the Wallis Mills estate, three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to land late of Francis K. Pemberton, deceased, thence northerly by land late of Pemberton and by land of Mayhew S. Clark, one hundred and sixty-five feet to Hardy street; thence westerly by Hardy street three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to the point begun at.

Also a right to draw water to said tannery estate from the fountain situated on the lot of land owned by John A. Lord situated on the lot of land on the northerly side of Hardy street known as the Pendar houses, as now used. Together with all the other easements and subject to all the incumbrances mentioned or referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treas.
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

Peabody, Feb. 3, 1886. 3t

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the twenty-seventh day of November, A. D., 1872, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 869 leaf 222, and by virtue of the further power of Sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the administrators of his Estate, dated the ninth day of June, A. D., 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, February 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land being a part of the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit:

A lot of land situated in said Peabody, on the southerly side of Walnut street, bounded thus viz: beginning on said Walnut street at land formerly of Clark and Giddings and thence running southeasterly by said street about three hundred and twenty-one feet; thence southwesterly by land lately of Elizabeth M. Lillis fifty feet; thence southeasterly by said land of Lillis forty feet to Wallis street; thence southwesterly by Wallis street, about one hundred and seventy-seven feet to the location of the Essex Railroad; thence northwesterly by said Railroad, location about three hundred and thirty-three feet to said land formerly of Clark and Giddings; thence northeasterly by said land formerly by Clark and Giddings to said Walnut street and point begun at. Subject to all the conditions, reservations and other stipulations referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer, also subject to the right to maintain a drain through the premises to the brook granted in the deed of John A. Lord to Elizabeth M. Lillis, recorded at said Registry, in Book 921 leaf 6.

Terms made known at sale,

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treas.,
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

Peabody, February 3rd, 1886.

La—best Boston rubbers only 35 cents at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Feb. 3, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

On yesterday, the 2d inst., Miss Sally Richardson, of Holten street, reached the eighty-eighth anniversary of her birth. She was born at Hudson, N. H., and came to this town seventy years ago, when she was eighteen years of age. Her brother, Parker Richardson, ten years older, had married an aunt of S. C. Bancroft, Esq., and Miss Richardson's first home here was with him in the house in which Mr. Bancroft now resides. For fifty years she was a nurse and claims as her children, by virtue of dressing them for the first time, a large portion of our citizens. Her life has not only been exceptionally long but remarkably useful. She never spared herself in ministrations to the sick, which in many families has extended over three generations. Since the winter began Miss Richardson has been less strong in body, but her mind is as bright and active as ever. Her memory of occurrences with minute details and dates is wonderful. Her remembrance of this town as it was seventy years ago is most interesting. She is a member of the Baptist Church having early consecrated herself a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ. When we think of all the changes in life that this dear woman has seen and sympathized with, all the burdens she has borne, all the cheerful toil for others she has performed, we must feel insignificant and of little account. Her "works do follow" her most surely.

The overseers of the poor held their annual meeting at the Alms house last Friday, and were joined by the Danvers overseers, and as a result of their deliberations they made the following summary: 19 head of horned cattle valued at $900, 5 horses appraised at $620, and hogs and pigs worth $175. There are in storage 22 tons of English hay appraised at $460, 1 ton rye straw, $17, 1 ton black grass, $13, 70 tons of ensilage, $350, 70 tons manure $490. A large crop of onions was raised last season, most of which was sold at a high price, and about 70 barrels remain in stock. During the year the department has received $1890 for milk sold off the farm, and the receipts from other products have been large. There are at present 44 inmates in the almshouse, 8 of whom belong out of town. A good dinner was provided for the guests.

Mr. Fred M. Torrey, of Boston, was in town last Saturday. He represents a building association of which he organizes branches in different cities and towns. We do not clearly understand the whole object of the association, but it enables its members to borrow from $500 to $2000 from the association in parts to pay for lumber, work, etc., as the building progresses. At its completion the occupant pays his dues and interest (the principal is not paid) in lieu of rent. $10 a month insures him $2000, $5 a month $1000 at the end of eight years. No danger it is claimed attends investments in these associations if the securities are carefully guarded. The security is a first mortgage on the realty and improvements.

The Warren Five Cents Savings bank corporation have elected officers as follows:—President, Rufus H. Brown; vice presidents, Stephen Blaney, John A. Lord, Lewis Allen, Charles B. Farley, George F. Osborne, Amos Merrill; trustees, Rufus H. Brown, Stephen Blaney, Lewis Allen, Charles B. Farley, George F. Osborne, Amos Merrill, John A. Lord. Benjamin S. Wheeler, William H. Little' Aaron W. Warren, Alexander B. Merrill, C. Warren Osborne, George S. Osborne, Nathaniel Symonds, Aaron F. Clark, Albert A. Messer, John Pinder, William H. Clark, Reuben G. Nelson, Albert H. Merrill; clerk, Albert H. Merrill.

The Union meetings being held by the Methodist and Baptist churches, still continue with unabated interest. This evening, meeting at the Baptist church—Thursday and Friday evenings at the Methodist church. The Rev. Marcus L. Ames, of the Rhode Island States Prison, will preach on Thursday evening. On Sunday evening there will be union services at the Baptist Church at 6 o'clock to close at 7.1-4, in time for the temperance meeting at Town Hall at 7.30. Union meetings to continue next week—Monday Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the Methodist Church, and Thursday and Friday evenings at the Baptist. All invited.

The Selectmen and Water Board held a consultation, Wednesday afternoon, to settle the question of the claim for damages to the property of the different abutters located round Spring pond, by the raising of the water about a year ago. The two Boards agreed upon the price. Henry Wardwell, counsel for the town will consult with the counsel for the other side. and in all probability a settlement will be arrived at without the expense of half a dozen lawsuits.

Holten Lodge I. O. O. F. with others in this vicinity, have been asked by J. W. McQuddy of Indianapolis, Ind., chairman of the committee, to contribute toward a monument for the late Schuyler Colfax, which is to be erected in a handsome square of that place, and unveiled with the grandest possible procession and demonstration of Odd Fellows. Colfax was the originator of the Rebekah degree and is revered for that as well as for his staunch Odd Fellowship.

Next Sunday evening Gen. John L. Swift, of Boston, will address a mass temperance meeting at the town hall, Subject "Home Rule." All the churches in town will give up their usual meeting and unite in this service. The Salem Brass Band orchestra will furnish music, and choir of trained voices with cornet accompanist will be in attendance. Commence at 7.30, all are invited. Gen. Swift spoke in Beverly last Sunday evening and was received with great enthusiasm.

The evening school will close after this week.

Mr. A. F. Poor has put in a new bark mill.

Mr. L. B. Southwick is confined to the house by sickness.

2250 Sunday Globes were sold in town last month and 1425 Heralds.

We learn that Mr. J. S. Paul is quite sick at his home on Washington place.

Miss J. Moore, of New Hampshire, has been engaged as teacher in the Rockville school.

Miss Eva Raddin, who has been out from the Centre school with a felon, returned this morning.

The Grand Army Post will net about $1900 by the late fair and the Ladies' Relief Corps about $350. Good enough.

Arthur Elliott and Chas. M. Poor have entered fowls at the Gloucester poultry show. Give them a premium.

There is a petition in circulation asking the town to make Short street, from Foster to Chestnut, a public highway.

A case of asphyxiation was reported from Fulton street this week, but all recovered. Look out for your stoves on retiring.

At a meeting of the school committee the Mayhew system of ventilation, that is in operation in the Center school, was highly spoken of.

Mr. James P. King will instruct the farmers of Rowley next Friday evening by delivering his popular lecture before them on "The use of fertilizers."

Mr. William T. Dole is circulating a petition asking the Selectmen to widen and lay out Nichols lane, leading from Main to Summer street as a public highway.

Theodore M. Osborne has presented the Trustees of the Peabody Library with an ancient punch bowl. The position of trustee will be in great demand in the future.

The Vaughn Morocco Machine Co. shipped two machines to McNeely & Co. of Philadelphia, and another will go Friday. This will make five of their machines now in use by this firm.

Leland T. Powers, the impersonator, will give the comedy of the Rivals, next Wednesday evening, in the Peabody Institute. Tickets will be on sale at Spaulding's next Saturday evening.

A large number of our subscribers on Main and Holten street did not get their papers last week, because the boy who carries that route was sick, and we were not notified till Saturday that his papers were not carried.

Messrs. Dole & Osgood, the carriage manufacturers on Washington street, have had an offer to move their business to Beverly. They will be furnished with free rent and exempted from taxes for five years.

The Water Board have closed their accounts for the year, and all water bills for the year have been collected to a cent, amounting to $24,342.37, against $23,740.94 for 1884—an increase of $601.43 besides the interest, which has not yet been added.

Last Wednesday evening a meeting of the Congregational Church was held in the vestry and it was voted almost unanimously to extend a call to Rev. Mr. Hall of Hartford Seminary to become pastor of the church in this town.

Mr. Sylvanus L. Newhall had on exhibition at the Warren Bank, this week a pineapple which was raised in the South Peabody greenhouses. It was grown from a top which was set out about three years ago. It looks as fine as those grown in warmer climes.

Mr. Henry F. Walker has resigned his position as Station Agent for the Lowell road. He has held the position for a number of years. His health has not been very good and with outside business increasing he found his work too burdensome.

N. M. Quint's barge conveyed a number of Masconomo Tribe of Red Men to Danvers last Monday evening, where they were entertained by Agawam Tribe of that town. The adoption degree was worked on seven pale faces and was followed by refreshments.

"The Best List" is the title of a neat pamphlet sent out by the advertising house of George P. Rowell & Co. of New York. It is a list of what is known as the best local papers in the country and is intended for advertisers. As might be expected they have got the PRESS "on the list."

It is reported that the Lynn horse railroad are having new cars built and will run half hour trips on the Peabody branch next summer. The Naumkeag Street railroad will also ask permission to extend their tracks to the "Kingdom."

The seats from the Endicott school are being placed in the old town hall, Wallis and Centre schools, and they will be ready for the pupils next Monday, and teachers have been assigned as follows: Mrs. Sanborn at the Centre, Miss Boynton at the town hall, and Miss Cross at the Wallis.

Mrs. Carrie E. Morrison, a sister of Col. C. T. Batchelder, died at the residence of the latter last Thursday morning. She had been an invalid for a number of years and her death was not entirely unexpected. She was about 50 years of age and has resided in this town for the past ten years.

We extend thanks to brother Will E. Eaton, of the Wakefield Citizen and Banner, for an invitation to visit the entertainment and dance of the Wakefield Bicycle Club at town hall Feb. 12. An attractive and novel programme of the exercises accompanied the invitation.

Easter always comes on the Sunday after the full moon following the 21st of March, and may date from March 22d to April 25th. This year it falls on April 25th, the latest possible date, which will not occur again until 1943, and few of us will be here to watch the children's happy delight over variously colored eggs.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Miss Nichols, a guest of Mrs. W. S. Osborne, met with a painful accident last Wednesday, by accidently sticking a needle in her thumb. It was removed with the assistance of friends.

A boy named Harry Goodrich had his hand considerably lacerated by getting it caught under his sled runner, while sliding down hill one day last week.

Mr. William Caton broke one of his fingers by a fall on the ice, last Thursday.

A pair of horses ran away this afternoon from the office on Mill street, but were stopped in front of Collins' cigar store. No damage.

Last Friday morning Margaret Hingston was fined $50 and costs for keeping liquors with intent to sell. Appealed.

Mrs. Phoebe U. Cross, 84 years of age, fell in her kitchen at West Peabody, last Wednesday, and broke her hip.

A shepherd dog belonging to Mr. Geo. H. Jacobs, and kept at his Danvers store, got badly frightened by a snow slide one day last week, and dashed across the street and through a large pane of glass.

Mr. John Welsh, the swill merchant, met with quite an accident last Thursday. He went to smash up an old barrel in his yard, when the axe caught on the clothes line above his head and struck him in the forehead.

The transom over the entrance to the Warren Bank was broken last Monday afternoon. The hook was not secured rightly.

A buggy owned by C. H. Rodgers collided with McLaughlin's wood team on Harris street, last Friday, and a wheel was taken off the buggy as a consequence of the meeting.

A Probate court notice in another column closes up the estate of Mr. Edward Green. The estate has been administered upon by Mr. B. A. Gray, of Salem, and no legal heirs have been found, and after paying all bills, the balance of the estate, whatever it may be, will be turned into the county treasury.

Michael Tolman of Peabody, fell in front of the Asiatic Building on Washington street, Salem, on Monday evening. It was at first thought that one of his legs was broken, but on taking him to the police station it was found that there was no fracture though the muscles were severely strained.

The five o'clock car from Lynn to Peabody last Friday afternoon, while coming around the corner near Chestnut street, broke a spring, and the passengers were obliged to get out while slight repairs were made, and the car was laid up for repairs when they reached Wyoma.

It is the duty of the Naumkeag Street railway officials, and perhaps the Danvers too, to give their men a little wholesome advice and not make the public suffer for the pig-headedness of their employes. Last Saturday evening the Salem and Danvers cars met at the switch on the hill, and each refused to give up the right of way, and they sat there firing off their chin, to the disgust of all the passengers. After a while the Danvers car jumped the track, and the Naumkeag had lost so much time they started for Salem, and obliged the passengers to walk to the square.

Mr. James Connelly, of this town, was taken to the Danvers Insane Asylum last Saturday.

Monday morning Owen Tibney was in the police court for assaulting his wife, and was sent to the House of Correction for three months.

Edward Russell was up before his honor Monday, for second drunk, and was sent down for three months, and Jeremiah Connors, of Salem, for the same offence, was given 30 days.

The snow interfered with travel last Saturday evening, and the Lynn car due at the square at 9. 50 did not arrive till 11. 15.

Edward Dennison who was sentenced for robbing George A. Needham, of West Peabody, to States Prison in 1883, was arrested in Portsmouth, N. H., last week. Dennison is a bad egg.

January Deviltry as reported by Chief of Police Peasley is as follows: Number of arrests, 19, of which 6 were for drunkenness: assault, 5; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 3; illegal sale of liquor, 2; affray, 2; non-support, 1. Number of tramps, 65.

The handsome Newfoundland dog of Mr. Ezra Shannon was killed by officer Ruth last Thursday at the request of the owner. The dog was sick and seemed to be in great distress. It was like parting with an old friend as the dog was a very intelligent animal.

Mr. James Blanchard has returned from the house of correction where he served a three months' sentence for selling liquor. He speaks highly of his treatment there and says he acted in the capacity of cook. He served as cook at the Alms House for a number of years.

Last Wednesday evening a party of young men refused to change cars at County street, So. Peabody, on the Lynn horse railroad, and the conductor carried them back to Wyoma. They reported the case to the Superintendent and he ordered the conductor to take them to Peabody. It has been the custom to run two cars on some trips which carry the workmen, and after a number of them have got out at South Peabody send the rest to the square on the regular car, while the extra returned to the stables.

J. R. Dockham was fined $1 and costs for getting drunk yesterday by His Honor this morning.

Mrs. Emma S. Holmes has through her attorney, Frank E. Farnham, Esq., sued the city of Salem for $2000 damage. She fell on Boston street and broke her leg on the 20th of December.

Yesterday morning as the eleven o'clock horse car on the Naumkeag R. R. was passing Poole's hollow, the lead horse slipped and the three horses fell together in a heap.

W. B. GIFFORD & CO.,

ANNUAL SALE OF

HAMBURGS.

Full and complete line of Edges and Insertings of the finest quality and best workmanship.

Flouncings and all overs in great variety. Best assortment in the city.

ANNUAL CORSET SALE.

We keep a full line of Dr. Warner's goods in all his specialties, Coraline, Health, Nursery, Abdominal, etc., also R. & G. double bone and the imitation P. D. We also carry the French P. D. Corset in the most desirable styles. Jenne DeArc for stout ladies a specialty.

W. B. Gifford & Co.

77 & 79 MARKET ST., LYNN.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

Would respectfully invite the public to call and examine his large and well selected stock of

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC WOOLENS

In the latest styles, which he is now offering at very low prices.

314 different styles in

PANTALOON GOODS

to select from. From $5 to 10.00. Garments made and trimmed, in first class style. Perfect fit guaranteed.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR.

MAIN STREET.

OVER WARREN TRASK'S STORE.

New This Week.

One case Cotton and Wool Flannel, only A decided bargain.	8c
One case nice fast colored Prints, only Also new Dress Prints:	4c
One case corded side Corsets, only Formerly $1.00.	39c
The celebrated Pivot Corsets, only A genuine bargain.	75c

Dr. Warner's Coroline Corsets — easy and graceful. Health giving Corsets.

Dr. Gilbert's Health Corset—elastic sides. Easy and fine fitting.

Dr. Strong's Tampoline Corsets — without bones. Warranted not to break.

500 bone Corsets—genuine French goods. R. & G. Corsets.

Felt and Flannel Skirts—in great variety, At Closing Prices.

Ladies' Hem'd Linen Cambric Hdkfs., And up to 12 1-2 cts.	4c
Ladies' Hemstitched Hdkfs—two for	35c

Linen Sale.

Table Damasks, Turkey Reds, Napkins, Doylies, Towels, Crashes, Diapers and White Goods, Piques, Checked Cambrics, Nainsooks, Muslins, Bishop Lawns, etc.

APRONS.

We beat the city on Aprons—both in quality and price. Examine.

Germantown Worsteds, Macrome Cords, Embroidery Silks, Braids, etc.

PEABODY'S,

227 & 229 Essex St.,

SALEM.

THIRD WEEK

— OF —

BEE-HIVE

ANNUAL DONATION SALE.

FOR THIS WEEK.

Remnants of 12 1-2 cent Foulard Dres. Cambrics for 5 cents yard.

Remnants of 6 cent Calicoes for 3 cts. yd. Not more than 6 remnants to one customer.

All Linen Towels, size 19x36 inch, for 6 1-4 cents.

Corsets—15c, 25c and 34c per pair.

Fur Top Kid Mittens, 29c per pair; well worth 75c per pair.

Ladies' Cotton Chemise, 12 1-2c each; would sell at 25c.

Large Gingham Aprons, 10c each; regular 25 cent goods.

Best quality Zephyr Worsteds, 5c lap.

Fruit of Loom Bleached Cotton, yard wide, 6 1-4c yd. Not more than 20 yds. to one customer.

Hamburg Edgings—3c, 5c and 8c yd.

Ostrich Tips—black and colored—25 and 39c bunch.

Ostrich Plumes—black and colors—25cts each.

6 1-4 All-wool Ladies' Cloths, new spring colors, 50c yd.; regular 75c goods,

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

FEBRUARY SALE

— OF —

LINEN AND HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.

COMMENCED FEBRUARY 1ST,

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

Encouraged by the unparalleled success of our former sales, we propose to exceed all previous efforts, and give our customers and the public an opportunity to secure bargains never before equalled.

ELEGANT DINNER, LUNCH AND TEA SETS IN BLEACHED, CREAM AND FANCY.

Bleached Damask, from	50c to $2.00
Cream Damask, from	25c to 1.25
Turkey Red, from	25c to .75
3-4 and 5-8 Napkins, from	50c to 6.00
Russian Crash, from	6 1-4c to .20
American Crash, all prices.
Barnsley Crash, from	12 1-2c to .20
Scotch Crash, all prices.
Red End Diaper, from	$1.00 to 2.50
Gloss Linen, from	6 1-4c to .17
Huck Damask and Fancy Towels,	6 1-4c to 1.00
Terry Bathing Towels.

Linen Sheeting, Pillow Case Linen, Doylies, Tray Cloths, etc.

Marseilles Quilts from $1 upwards.

$1.25 Crochet Quilts for $1.00.

All the best makes of Bleached and Unbleached Cotton, all widths and at lowest prices.

1 case 8-4 best quality Brown Sheeting, 12 1-2c per yd.

All Housekeepers, Restaurant and Hotel Proprietors should take advantage of this great opportunity th secure Staple Goods at less than cost of production. The goods are all new, bought expressly for this sale, and we confidently advise every one to buy all they can use.

Our Great Sale of Fine Dress Goods will be continued.

75c Dress Goods 37 1-2c. $1 Dress Goods 50c

$1.25 Dress Goods, 75c.

A great deal can be saved by supplying your wants now, as the Low Prices of this Special Sale cannot possibly be maintained.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

SPECIAL BARGAINS.

Men's Merino Boots, for Car Drivers, Milk Men, etc., very warm, only 75 cents per pair, last for this season.

Men's Buckle Arctics only $1 per pair.

Women's, Misses and Children's Overs, only 25 cents per pair.

Men's Woonsocket, R. I., Rubber Boots, only $2 25 per pair.

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SIG. BATTALIA,

FROM BOSTON,

PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms,
40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER

AND

BLANK BOOK

MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

POULTRY FOOD.

WE have lately added to our usual good assortment of Grain for Hen Food:

1 Car Large, Clean Barley;
1 Car Good Scorched Wheat;
1 Car Ground Oats;
1 Car Buckwheat Grain;
1 Car Yellow Corn;
Oyster Shells, Beef Scraps & Egg Food

Which we are selling at our usually low pries.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

HAY.

JUST RECEIVED.—Choice Hay from Maine and the Provinces, in large and small bales suitable for horses and cows.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

POTATOES.

We have a large lot of nice Ipswich potatoes which we are offering our customers as being a prime article.

— also —

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheao' kin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to. em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus P. Batchelder ChaunceyS. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

17 Peabody Street

The NEW YORK Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday) $6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday) 50
SUNDAY, per Year . . . 1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR 7 00
WEEKLY, per Year . . . 1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to

GEORGE J. WINCHESTER

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH

ELY'S
CREAM BALM
CURES COLD IN HEAD
CATARRH
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BROS. OWEGO. N.Y. U.S.A.
EASY TO USE

HAY-FEVER

ELY'S Cream Balm Cleanses the Head. Allays Inflammations Heals the Sores. Restores the Senses of Taste, Smell, Hearing. And quick Relief. A positive Cure.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

MASON & HAMLIN

ORGANS:

Highest Honors at all Great World's Exhibitions for eighteen years. One hundred styles. $22. to $900 For Cash, Easy Payments, or Rented Catalogues free.

Mason & Hamlin.

PIANOS:

New mode of Stringing. Do not require one-quarter as much tuning as Pianos on the prevailing "wrest-pin" system. Remarkable for purity of tone and durability.

Organ and Piano Co.

154 Tremont Street, Boston.

sept 23—6t

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

WARREN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank for the election of new members and a board of Officers for the ensuing year, also for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting, will be held at the Bank rooms on Wednesday, January 27th, 1886, at 7.30 o'clock P. M.

A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.

Peabody, Dec. 30, 1885.

Buckwheat Flour.

FRESH ground Pennsylvania Buck Wheat Flour CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

A PARROT'S PECULIAR TALK.

Bird fanciers sometimes play rather clever tricks to effect sales, but the sequel to one anecdote of the practice is rather remarkable. In the village where I resided was a lady very fond of birds. One day a "gentleman" from Whitechapel called to give her the offer of a fine green parrot of really beautiful plumage. There was something tempting even in the appearance of the bird; but there was one desideratum with the lady and she naturally enough asked: "But will she talk?" "Oh, yes, marm; like a hangel." "What will she say?" "Every mortal thing. What can you say, Polly?" "Every mortal thing," was the prompt reply. "There, marm," continued the gentleman from Whitechapel; "picked it up in a moment; never heard it afore, I warrant. Just ask her yourself." The same question was put and the same answer given. It was perfectly true that Polly could say "every mortal thing," and she did it every time she was asked to do so; but "every mortal thing" was the sole phrase in Polly's repertoire.

One day, however, the door of the cage was left open, and Polly escaped. There was a hue and cry raised at once, and the boys of the village perseveringly pursued the fugitive from roof to roof and tree to tree. At last a farmer's son coming up presented his gun at Poll as she was seated on a haystack. "No, yer don't," said Poll, for the first time uttering something new, and giving a sort of loud laugh took to the wing. Polly was caught shortly after, having taken refuge in a covecote. When brought home her mistress took her kindly on her finger and said: "Why, Polly, what have they been doing to you?" "Every mortal thing," was the ready answer, and at the same time bending down her head she bit the lady's hand rather badly. "Oh, what did you do that for, you naughty bird?" "Every mortal thing, every mortal thing," and being put into her cage the recaptured prisoner paced backward and forward in evident anger upon her perch, jerking out "Every mortal thing" for nearly half an hour. All this is simple enough so far as the one phrase is concerned, but whence got she the second, together with the chuckles so appropriate to the moment when the gun was presented? A score of people heard the words, but no living soul in the place had ever heard Poll get beyond her constantly repeated phrase before, nor have they since.

ARMIES ANCIENT AND MODERN.

Armies are now so organized that they can keep the field without the intermission of the seasons; they can be moved great distances with extreme celerity; they are furnished with terrible means of destruction, the formidable inventions of modern science; they are trained to march, to manœuvre, to fight, with an efficacy which, in the days of Froissart, would have seemed beyond the capacity of man, and they are composed of multitudes which a Du Guesclin or a Talbot would have pronounced impossible. On the other hand, civilization has made the natural defenses of a country weaker; the multiplication of roads and bridges has facilitated the advance of an enemy; diminution of the power and numbers of fortresses has had a like result, and the improvement of agriculture, by increasing the means of subsistence for an invading army, has operated in the same direction. War in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries was carried on in a very different fashion, and in character and effects was wholly dissimilar. Armies were still, in the main, the feudal militia; they were on foot only a few weeks in summer; their movements were pitiably slow and limited; their artillery and arms were cumbrous and feeble; their operations were rude, imperfect, and seldom produced decisive effects, and compared with the hosts of the present day, they were no more than a handful of men. Again, a country in those days presented great and various obstacles to an invader; the roads were few and bad, and the large rivers were bridged only at wide intervals; every avenue was guarded by feudal castles, and every town was a kind of fortress; woods and marshes barred an invader's progress; and owing to a backward state of husbandry, a hostile army was often unable to obtain supplies in its line of march, and was paralyzed or compelled to retreat. Offensive operations are thus favored to an extraordinary degree in modern war; the obstinate and protracted wars of defense which were waged occasionally with complete success even down to the eighteenth century, have become altogether things of the past.

ANTS AS MEDICINE.

A curious use is made of ants by the Indians in Brazil, who employ them to dress wounds, causing them to bite the edges together, and then cutting off the head; the jaws will not relax, but hold the wound together till healed. They were formerly used as a cruel instrument of torture by South African tribes, who tied their victim to a tree, smeared his body with grease, and placed an ants' nest at his feet. The Arabs, according to Mr. Moggridge, placed an ant in the hand of a newly born child, that the virtues of the insect may pass into the infant. Naturalists also sometimes make use of these industrious scavengers. When they require a perfect specimen of the smaller vertebrates, they place the body in a box, bore a few holes in it and bury it near an ants' nest; in a few days a perfect and most delicately whitened skeleton will be found in the box.

Bad drainage causes much sickness. Bad blood and improper action of the liver and kidneys is bad drainage to the human system, which Burdock Blood Bitters will remedy.

THE EARTHQUAKE SENSATION.

In "Travels in Peru and Mexico," the writer gives Juan Romero's story of a recent earthquake in the equatorial Sierras, from which he and his cattle were sufferers. At the first warning rumble in the ground, he and his family and his workmen all quitted their occupations and ran to the middle of an open field. But before we reached this, he says, the earth trembled beneath our feet and we were all thrown to the ground. We were all, however, soon on our feet again, and in a position of comparative safety where we could watch the effects of the earthquake upon the animals. These all stood motionless with their legs stretched out and their heads bent down almost to the ground, one or two of the cattle moaning.

A second shock was very different. During the first one we seemed to be drawn or pushed from side to side; but now we felt for a minute or more, as if some weight was pressing us to the ground, and immediately after this as tight as if we were ascending into the air, showing that the shock was in the first case horizontal, and in the second in a perpendicular direction.

Of his own feelings, Mr. Romero said that he experienced a kind of terror hard to describe. "My first sensations were a dread that the earth was about to open and bury everything within its bosom. But what I felt after this was not like the fear of death which I have experienced in other cases. I have faced the bayonet and stood before the cannon's mouth, and I cannot say altogether without fear of human enemies who, one might suppose, experienced the same unpleasant sensations as oneself. The prospect of death, however, is generally accompanied by hopes of the future; but during an earthquake the reason is subdued, and my predominant feeling was that we were utterly lost. It seemed as if all nature was about to expire; and for an hour or two after the shocks there was the same appearance of dread among the whole party. Even the beasts stood for some time in the position which they had taken during the shocks, and required patting and reassuring before they would move."

THE AURORA SALT WELL.

A correspondent of the Auburn Advertiser writes: We have had the pleasure of visiting the promising salt well of Cayuga Lake and tasting its briny water. While passing through the village of Aurora we saw no person on the streets, all was still and quiet as the unruffled water of the lake. The only one discovered was John Locke, sitting on a horseblock, peacefully smoking the same pipe—apparently—that we saw him smoking nearly fifteen years ago. Poor old mind-be-clouded John, he has walked the streets of Aurora, and eaten the bread of charity this many a year; he is happy in the belief that he owns Cayuga Lake and the town of Ledyard; but his pipe of life is nearly smoked out, his days "are nearly ended," and when he lays aside this earthly clog, his mind may come out as fair and sound as it was in youth; who knows? On arrival at Payne's Creek we found salt water running to waste like a thing of little value. It is said that the shaft has been sunk to the depth of a thousand feet, and that a stratum of sixty feet of solid saline rock has been found. If this is true, it is a mine of untold wealth, and in a little while the song of the salt boiler will be heard at Payne's Creek and the peaceful village of Aurora will rise to active importance through the saving grace of salt. As Syracuse has grown and prospered, so will Aurora advance and be built up from the same antiseptic cause. Block will be added to block, store to store and shop to shop; republican residences will be built, avenues and parks laid out and bulwarks extended; boats will be freighted to the water's edge and the railway will need another track.

AN INDIAN PRODIGY.

A pious Brahmin named Kanhai Patak, lately purchased a mango grove near Mazuffurporo. Being doubtful of the probity of his neighbors, the worthy Indian watched the ripening fruit by day and night, having his simple couch placed outside for that purpose. One night a brilliant light suddenly flared up in a corner of the grove, and the startled Brahmin saw a truly remarkable sight. "A huge serpent roamed for prey around the light," and when the watcher approached the reptile "it hurried to the jewel, swallowed it and disapeared." It was a gem of some sort that emitted the wonderous light, but the account does not mention how it got among the mango trees. Next day, Mr. Patak acquainted his friends with his remarkable adventure, and that night they participated in his vigils with the gratifying result of seeing the same phenomenon. Once more the grove was lighted up, once more the big snake went circling round it, and once more the gem had to do its sparkling in the stomach of a serpent. Such is the description forwarded by a highly educated Baboo to the leading native paper at Calcutta.

AN IMMENSE TERRITORY.

Russia has a continuous territory unparalleled by any other State in the world. Stretching from the Baltic to Behring Straits, it is a few hours journey from Berlin on the one hand, and on the other almost touches the territory of the United States. The Czar's empire reaches nearly half round the world. Humbolt, to present it fairly to the imagination of his readers, had to go to the heavens for his parallel, for he compared its extent to that of the visible face of the moon.

When the farms take good care of the owner rest assured the owner is taking good care of the farm.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown

Vice Presidents,
Stephen Blaney,
Lewis Allen,
Chas. B. Farley,
Geo. F. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,
John A. Lord.

Trustees,
Rufus H. Brown,
Stephen Blaney,
Lewis Allen,
Chas. B. Farley,
Geo. F. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,
John A. Lord,
Benj. S. Wheeler,
Wm. H. Little,
Aaron W. Warren,
Alex. B. Merrill,
C. Warren Osborne,
Geo. S. Osborne,
Nathl. Symonds,
Aaron F. Clark,
Albert A. Messer,
John Pinder,
Wm P. Clark,
Reuben G. Nelson,
Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,
Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.
Rufus H. Brown,
Lewis Allen,
C. Warren Osborne.
Alex. B. Merrill
Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

CANDEE.

Rubber BOOTS — WITH — DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give

DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the

PRICE NO HIGHER.

Call and examine the goods.

CANDEE
RUBBER BOOTS
GIVE DOUBLE WEAR
ON THE BOTTOM.
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT
EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS.
TWO YEARS TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME

OF THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA-

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. F. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody		at	9 47 A. M
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few General Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich. Ct.

nov24 —12t

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDENCE, 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Palfry Place, Lynn, Mass. apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO., 152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid. Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given. Knickerbocker Subscription Agency, P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.

b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and we will mail you free a royal, valuable, sample box of good that will put you in the way of making more money at once, than anything else in America. Both sexes of all ages can live at home and work in spare time, or all the time. Capital not required. We will start you. Immense pay sure for those who start at once. STINSON & Co., Portland Main

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in aying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

For Colds.

For Croup,

For Neuralgia.

For Rheumatism.

Doctor Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

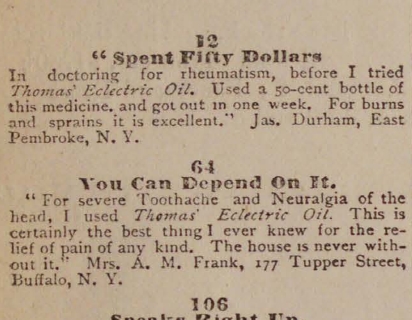
12
"Spent Fifty Dollars
In doctoring for rheumatism, before I tried Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Used a 50-cent bottle of this medicine, and got out in one week. For burns and sprains it is excellent." Jas. Durham, East Pembroke, N. Y.

64
You Can Depend On It.
"For severe Toothache and Neuralgia of the head, I used Thomas' Eclectric Oil. This is certainly the best thing I ever knew for the relief of pain of any kind. The house is never without it." Mrs. A. M. Frank, 177 Tupper Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

106
Speaks Right Up.
"Have tried Thomas' Eclectric Oil for croup and colds, and find it the best remedy I have ever used in my family." Wm. Kay, 510 Plymouth Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

30
Worked Wonders.
"My daughter was very bad off on account of a cold, and pain in her lungs. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured her in twenty-four hours. One of the boys was cured of sore throat. This medicine has worked wonders in our family." Alvah Pinckney, Lake Mahopac, N. Y.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book
Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE
BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

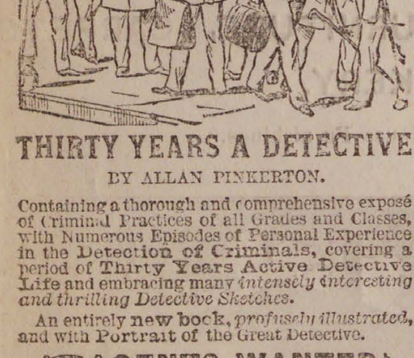
An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address
C. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING



SEWING MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.
FOR SALE BY

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET,

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will fav or him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY
For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR
TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE
Absolutely
Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.
SAFE.
SURE.
PROMPT.
25 Cts.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST,

Compounder of

Physicians' Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY

LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER.

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

ROSE BUDS

AND PINKS.

AT

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

CLOTHING

ON

WEEKLY PAYMENTS!

We sell Ladies' and Gents'

Clothing, Dry Goods,

And all kinds of Merchandise on

WEEKLY PAYMENTS

— AT —

STRICTLY CASH PRICES.

—— Business Strictly Confidential. ——

NEW ENGLAND SUPPLY CO.,

86 Court cor. Howard St. Room 1.

BOSTON, MASS

oct 28—3m

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

Book Notices.

"Our Little Ones and The Nursery" for February fully maintains its reputation as one of the very best monthlies for the little folks. No magazine is more eagerly watched for by the children and those who love them. It ought to be in every family where there are young readers.

We have received the February number of Ballou's Magazine. One of the oldest monthlies in the country, now in its sixty-third volume. It appears to be constantly growing brighter with age, especially with its new dress and the best of paper. It gives a liberal instalment of that interesting Serial Story for the Ladies, The Gilberts; or A Double Mistake, together with a large and miscellaneous assortment of complete stories by the best authors for all members of the family. Making it essentially, as it claims to be, a Family Magazine clean and bright. Subscription price $1.50 per year, postpaid. G. W. Studley, Publisher, Boston, Mass.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for February is all that its patrons can desire. Mr. Croffut's article on the late William H. Vanderbilt gives a striking picture of the career and life of the greatest American millionaire, and the reader can judge for himself of the man, his palace, his gallery, his stables and his tomb. The well known novelist, Christian Reid, gives one of her striking stories, "A Passing Idyl." In "The Story of the Man who wrote Robinson Crusoe," Noel Ruthven takes us back to England in the time of De Foe. "Thibet," as described by Charles H. Lepper, gives the reader a knowledge of what will be England's next annexation. "Telpherage," the last application of electricity for transporting freight will be read with interest; and all readers will follow Etta W. Pierce's novel, "Daughters of Cain." The illustrations of this number are all striking and good.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine evidently understands the taste of the more religious portion of the community. The February number begins "Paulina; Or, The Days of the Apostles; A Story of Rome in the First Century," by the Rev. Alexander C. Haverstick, which promises to be deeply interesting. There is more about our "Sacred Musicians," "The Parables of Christ," "New English Church at Copenhagen." Dr. Talmage's "Home Pulpit," "The Young Women's Christian Association," "Recreations for Sunday Afternoons," "Religious Notes and News," "Personal Notes and Comments," and a selection of interesting pictures, sketches and notices, make this magazine the largest, cheapest and most thoroughly useful magazine published in the country—one that ought to find a welcome in every Christian home.

The bright and attractive February Magazine of American History is filled with timely articles of fresh and absorbing interest. The whole number is a continual feast. It opens with a strong, well written article by Frederic G. Mather, on the "City of Albany," with unique illustrations of the old and the new, showing the progress for two centuries of the quaint old State capital. The Portrait of James II., for whom Albany was named, forms an appropriate frontispiece. Mr. A. A. Hayes gives a stirring account of "The New Mexican Campaign of 1862," a valuable contribution to the Civil War Studies; and Major William Howard Mills (U. S. A.) treats of the reorganization of the "Army of the Potomac under Hooker," furnishing a letter of President Lincoln, which no American reader can afford to miss. The Original Documents, Notes, and other departments, are crowded with matters of importance and entertainment. Price $5.00 a year in advance. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York City.

St. Nicholas for February has a richly varied table of contents. Among the timely articles is an outdoor sketch, entitled Fish spearing through the Ice which shows how some clever boys improved on an ingenious Indian mode of fishing; Radminton is the subject of a paper by C. L. Norton; Sophie Swett has an amusing coasting story, called The Girl who Lost Her Pocket; and there are bright Valentine verses by Elizabeth Cummings, and others. Of a somewhat more practical nature is the Ready for Business paper on electrical engineering; while Helen Jackson (H. H.) gives New Bits of Talk for Young Folks. Century Co., New York.

In the contents of the mid-winter Century may be found a variety of subjects of public moment, and an equally remarkable list of names associated with the history, literature, and art of America. The leading article in Topics of the Time expresses the editorial view of The Demand of American Authors. A peculiar interest attaches to General Grant's Preparing for the Wilderness Campaign. Here he is dealing with his plans for the last grand campaign, extending from the James round to Nashville, Atlanta, and the sea, and which gave the Confederacy the hug. Anecdotes of MClellan's Bravery lends additional interest to the wartime portrait of McClellan, which is the frontispiece of the number. In fiction there are the opening chapters of Mr. Howell's new story, The Minister's Charge, the minister being the Rev. Mr. Sewell, whose acquaintance was made in The Rise of Silas Lapham. The other departments are as usual complete and interesting.

* * *

Consumptives obtain great relief by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. No other remedy is so effective.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P M.]

This week at the Boston Musuem appears Boucicault in his new play the "Jilt". The piece has been a great success in California and Australia. Mr. Boucicault appears as Myles O'Hara, an Irish gentleman whom fate brings into the little sport-loving world of an English country squirearchy. The story of the comedy turns on the scheme of certain evil minded folk to bring the unfortunate past life of a pretty wife to the notice of a devoted husband, who thinks "The Jilt" could never have done aught that was wrong.

The attractive features united in the spectacular production now in course of representation at the Boston Theatre gain the approval of large audiences. There are many things to please the eye and ear in "The Ratcatcher." Mr. Hubert Wilke has made himself a favorite as Singold, and the great ballet led by La Bruyera and Canles, is much appreciated while the special scenes of the production win hearty plaudits. Only for the present week does the Kiralfy spectacle hold the stage.

Kate Claxton, and her husband Charles A. Stevenson, appear this week in Hugh Conway's "Called Back." Miss Claxton's company includes Mr. Thomas A. Hall, of long experience in the profession, Miss Emma Sheridan and Miss Nellie Weathersby. "Called Back" is to be presented with special scenery and costumes.

Miss Margaret Mather will close one of the most successful engagements ever known in New York City Saturday night. All this week she will play, and remember it is her seventeenth week of continuous work, Juliana in "The Honeymoon." This young lady has garlanded herself with artistic triumph on this her first appearance in New York City, and without exception the best informed critics gladly sing paeans in her praise.

McCaull's great success, "The Black Hussar," opens at the Boston Theatre March 15. The opening performance will be for the benefit of Mr. H. A. McGlenen.

* * *

No invention of the nineteenth century has worked a greater revolution in household economy or conferred more of a benefit on humanity than the sewing machine. The first productions were crude and uncouth in the extreme, and it was reserved for American skill and ingenuity to bring forth a machine of any practical value. In order to appreciate the great advancement which has taken place it is only necessary to compare one of the machines built during the infancy of the invention with one of the latest improved "Light-Running New Home. All the really good points contained in other machines have been utilized in its construction. Many new improvements and devices have also been added, the result of which is a machine as nearly perfect as it is possible to make one. For simplicity, durability, ease of management and capacity for work, the "Light-Running New Home" has no rival, and the happy possessor of one may rest assured that he or she has the very best the world affords. See advertisement on another page of this paper.

* * *

I had a dream the other night—
I had been out supping late—
I thought I passed away from earth
Clear up to the golden gate.

Where good Saint Peter standeth guard,
And holdeth the portal's key,
I thought he held out his right hand
And most kindly welcomed me.

I thought I trod the golden streets,
And joined the radiant throng
That played on harps, and filled the air
With sweet melodious song.

I saw a few who kept apart,
With an independent air,
I saw them feel the angels' robes
And study the pavement there.

I said to Pete "pray who are these
Who appear so very queer?
They act as though they owned the whole,
Pray what are they doing here?"

Pete replied in sarcastic tone
As he made a queer grimace,
"Why, that's a crowd of editors
Who are writing up the place."

Geo. Randall, Attleboro Chronicle.

* * *

Night Watches.

Only the shrouding gloom can unfold
The skyey chart with its world of gold;
Only the darkness can make the night
A fathomless miracle of light!

Only the shadow of night in the heart
Reveals to the soul the heavenly chart;
Only the darkness that falls at our feet
Can make the meaning of God complete!

Christian Union.

* * *

NOTHING SLOW IN THIS.—Slowness is not a desirable quality in these business times. There is nothing slow about St. Jacobs Oil. It goes to the spot at once and cures. No matter how serious the attack of rheumatism, how deep the cut, or how severe the wound, by its magical power it removes all pain.

The frisky ground hog was supposed to hunt his shadow yesterday. Hope he failed to find it.

Carter's Little Liver Pills will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. To be had of all Druggists. See advertisement.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY, SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. BROOKS. A. D. DAMON, F. D SPERRY

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

—— CREAM HOME MADE BREAD ——

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich Bride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15,000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anæsthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anæsthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. E. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL, OPP. CITY HALL, LYNN.

INDIGESTION

To strengthen the stomach, create an appetite, and remove the horrible depression and despondency which result from Indigestion, there is nothing so effective as Ayer's Pills. These Pills contain no calomel or other poisonous drug, act directly on the digestive and assimilative organs, and restore health and strength to the entire system. T. P. Bonner, Chester, Pa., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the past 30 years and am satisfied I should not have been alive to-day, if it had not been for them. They me of Dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since." L. N. Smith, Utica, N. Y., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills, for Liver troubles and Indigestion, a good many years, and have always found them prompt and efficient in their action." Richard Norris, Lynn, Mass., writes: "After much suffering, I have been cured of Dyspepsia and Liver troubles

Cured

By Using

Ayer's Pills. They have done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken." John Burdett, Troy, Iowa, writes: "For nearly two years my life was rendered miserable by the horrors of Dyspepsia. Medical treatment afforded me only temporary relief, and I became reduced in flesh, and very much debilitated. A friend of mine, who had been similarly afflicted, advised me to try Ayer's Pills. I did so, and with the happiest results. My food soon ceased to distress me, my appetite returned, and I became as strong and well as ever."

Ayer's Pills,

PREPARED BY
DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.
For sale by all Druggists.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,

18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention

WHY Ladies and Gentlemen should wear Patent Inner Heels. They enable you to wear a smaller Boot; they make you taller and more stately; nails cannot hurt the heel or rust the hose; they make a higher instep and give a pretty shape to the foot; they are splendid; ladies admire them. Sent safely by mail everywhere. Wrap 3 ten cent pieces in separate paper, put in envelope and direct to P. I. H. Co., No. 75 Springfield St., Boston, Mass., or inclose $1 for 4 pair. They make a pretty present to lady or gentlemen friends. Send for 4 pair and be stylish and happy. Please read this once more.

AGENTS WANTED New patented household article. Four-page circulars free. L. O. ELDREDGE, 250 Cumberland St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you.
Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

WANTED—Ladies and gentlemen in city or country to take light work at their own homes. $3 to 4 a day can be easily made; work sent by mail; no canvassing. We have good demand for our work and furnish steady employment. Address, with stamp CROWN MANUFACTURING CO., 294 Vine St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

ADVERTISERS! send for our Select List of Local Newspapers. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

7 Per Ct. WESTERN FARM MORTGAGES.

In denominations of $200 and upwards on property of three times the amount of loan. Seven per cent interest is paid promptly every year in Boston, or will be remitted. We recommend these loans as the safest possible investment, and should be pleased to answer any inquiries, and send list.

SECURITY INVESTMENT CO.,
54 Devonshire Street, Boston.
1m—4t

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8. 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7.35, 7 48, 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A. M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8, 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M. Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15, P. M.
Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 8 55, 10 05, 10 28 A. M., 12 M., 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P. M.
Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M., 1 09, 2 20, 2 50, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.
Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M.
Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.
Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M., Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5.15, 7 15† P. M.
Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.
Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
Wolfboro—8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
North Conway—8 08, A. M.,
Portland—8 08, 9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M. Sunday 7 30 P. M.
Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.
Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.
St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).
Bangor, 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.
Augusta, 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.
Portland—2, 9 A. M. 1, 6 P. M. Sundays, 2 A. M.*
North Conway—7 05, A. M.
Wolfboro— 8 15, A. M. 2 45 P. M.
Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.
Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M., 4 18, P. M.
Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.
Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A. M., 3 05, 5, 7 40 P. M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M., 4 P. M.
Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 15*, 5 15, P. M.
Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A. M., 3 40, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.
Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M., 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.
Essex—7, 11 45 A. M., 5 40 P. M.
Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., 12 0, 5, 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.
Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A. M., 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P. M. Sundays—8 A. M.
Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.
Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P. M. Sundays 8 35 A. M., 5 30 P. M.
Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M., 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A. M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.
Lynn—6 40, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A. M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 28, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 1 12 A. M., 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.
Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10, 10 45, 11 15, A. M., 2 M., 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P. M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M., 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

‡MARBLEHEAD BRANCH*

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A. M., 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P. M.
Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A. M., 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 40, 6 20 P. M.

‡SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.
Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A. M., 3 10, 5 15 P. M.
Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A. M., 12 05, 43, 5 48 P. M.
Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A. M., 12 17, 3 3, 5 58 P. M.
Peabody for Salem—8 2 A. M., 12 7, 4 02, 6 07 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 32 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A. M., 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A. M., 12 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 P. M.
Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M.
Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A. M., 1, 5 50 P. M.
Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A. M., 1 35, 4 45, 6 22, P. M.
Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 50, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M., 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 35, P. M.
Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P. M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8 30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9 00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3 30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

June, 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M.
Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11, A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.15, 5.15, 5.45, 6.30, 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.
Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§ Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND. Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens given

1886 1886

Diaries.

One, Two and Three days to a page. All kinds, all prices, from 8 cents up.

BLANK BOOKS,

Of every description on hand and made to order.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

STATIONERS,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

WEST PEABODY.

Hon. J. J. H. Gregory, of Marblehead, lectured before the West Peabody Farmers' Club last Friday evening on "Successful Farming." The speaker gave a very interesting and practical talk upon the manner of raising various crops. He said that farmers by using Commercial Fertilizers could obtain the same results at a less cost than from manures; that the component parts of manures for plant food were obtained in fertilizers, better proportioned to their use; that he had used 150 tons the past season; that the bulk of manures acted only as a humus in lightening the soil. Speaking of corn, said he had raised 210 bushels of ears to the acre; that the stover weighed five and one-half tons; that he regarded well cured stover for feeding purposes to be worth $14 per ton; that horses fed with it would do as well as when fed with english hay; that meal made from corn and cob was more nutritious than when made from corn alone, the cob portion of the former facilitating digestion in the animals stomach; that well ripened Southern corn was as good as Northern; that corn could be raised in Massachusetts at a cost inside of twenty-five cents a bushel; that the cost of plowing was variously estimated; that he, using a gang plow, could plow four acres and over in a day at a cost of $2.25. In planting potatoes the soil should be made light under the plant. The cultivation of vines, such as squashes, cucumbers, etc., where the plants take nourishment near the surface, the fertilizer should be sown broadcast and harrowed in. Mr. Gregory spoke over an hour and was listened to with the closest attention throughout by a large audience. By a vote of the Club the speaker was made an honorary member and also invited to give his lecture on the "potato" at an early date.

O. S. Butler. Esq., of Georgetown, is expected to address the Club next Friday evening. Subject, "The Horse."

FROZEN FACTS.

Almost every day an ice wagon can be seen on our streets delivering the congealed fluid to boarding-houses. stores and other places where it is used all the year round. A stroll among the ice men elicits the fact that none of last winter's crop is on hand. Some dealers ran out before others and were obliged to buy of those who had it, but as soon as there were six inches of ice on the ponds, customers were supplied with new ice. The dealers have all been busy during the last week, and a large harvest has been secured. The icemen had begun to look a little more closely after the weather as December passed, and the middle of January presented the same warm weather and no ice had been made. They were quick to take advantage of the first cold snap, and had their ice all grooved, but the warm weather came on, and filled them with water and operations had to be suspended. It looked at that time, as if the ice would not be quite equal to that of last year, as what seemed like a breaking up took place, and the top of the ice for a few days seemed spongy. The warm weather was followed by snow and then a freeze, and the result was that when operations were again resumed, there was about three inches of snow ice to be planed off, leaving about eleven inches of good clear ice. Local dealers are cutting his year a larger supply than usual, and will test the capacity of their ice houses. Mr. H. N. Batchelder will house about 3000 tons, Frank Newhall about 3500, George Davis and several others about 1000 each. There will be taken from the ponds this season about 25,000 tons and will not only supply Peabody but also a goodly share will go to Salem and Lynn. The last season was a fairly prosperous one for the ice men, but there was no great demand as there was no long continued season of hot weather. Those of our readers who never witnessed the operation of cutting ice, would be well repaid by a visit to the ponds.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

SOUTH PEABODY.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF REV. J. W. COLWELL AS PASTOR OF THE ROCKVILLE CHURCH.

Rev. J. W. Colwell entered upon the sixth year of his ministry last Monday, and preached his Fifth anniversary sermon Sunday, Jan. 31. After the introductory exercises the choir and congregation sang with spirit the hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." His text was 1 Corinthians, 2: 1-2. "And I brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ, and him crucified." "Few declarations of the great Apostle to the Gentiles show such entire consecration and devotion to the cause of Christ as does this." After dwelling briefly upon this thought, the Pastor said that he came among the people here five years ago this day (Jan. 31st.) a stranger, and began labor the next day, leading a prayer meeting. Alluding to his experience at that time the pastor added, "I can, say too, with truthfulness, that, so far as I knew my own heart, I came here among you with this purpose of the Apostle animating and strengthening me. With this purpose, I did not fear to come, I knew that Christ's work was waiting to be done here, and that it could and would be done, if pastor and people would but look to Him for wisdom and rely upon Him for strength. I came to you with this thought uppermost. "Not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and him crucified,—to magnify his glorious person, and his blessed office as the crucified Saviour. To that end, I have lived here among you; and how fully I have attained my purpose, or how little I have come up to the ideal I had set before me, my work itself must speak, and you must be the judges."

A statement of the last year's work was then given.

The number received into both churches is 6, 3 by letter and 3 on confession. There has been 1 death and 2 dismissions, so that the net gain is 3. The pastor has preached 88 times; has conducted 68 prayer meetings and 27 other services. Total number of services for the year 183. The benevolent contributions were $70.34. The pastor has solemnized 2 marriages, officiated at 16 funerals, baptized 2 children and 2 adults, and made 300 pastoral calls.

There has been for the past few months. some religious interest, especially among the young. Several have become Christians, and a few have united with the church. A Sunday School prayer meeting is held occasionally in So. Peabody at the close of the Sunday School. Two societies of Christian Endeavor have been organized; both are growing, slowly but steadily; at present the South Peabody society numbers 19, having 12 active and 7 associated members; the West Peabody society numbers 14, having 11 active and 3 associated members.

The pastor preaches, in general, a special sermon to the children once a month. Fifty children in the two schools have been supplied with Sunday School text books. A bible is promised to all who are present at a preaching service every Sabbath during the year, and a testament to all absent not over six times. The text is recorded, memorized, and repeated the next Sabbath to the Sunday School teacher. Sunday School concerts are held once a month. Both schools are now well officered, have a corps of earnest teachers; are on the increase in numbers; and are doing effective work, with the promise of enlarged usefulness. The Mission Circle has a membership of 40, including active and honorary members. The G. A. R. Post 50 of this town worshipped with us on Memorial Sunday in May.

The church at West Peabody was incorporated into a Religious Society on the 26th day of October last.

"December 11th 1885, is a date that the West church will not soon forget. On the afternoon of that day, the new chapel was dedicated. The event as you know, was the culmination of an effort protracted through a period of twenty months. It is not necessary to speak in detail of this successful efforts, for the whole matter has been put before you in printed forms. Suffice it to say, that at a cost of $1460.17 a tasteful and comfortable chapel has been built and furnished; and that when the $250, grant from the 'Congregational Union' has been received (as it will be in a few days,) and a few outstanding pledges are cashed, the whole cost will have been met. For this we are sincerely grateful."

Fitting reference was made to the late Mr. Charles R. Goodrich, whose death is the only one that has occurred in the church during this pastorate. He was a humble, faithful Christian man. His place in the choir, the prayer meeting and Sunday School was seldom vacant.

The pastor also pleasantly alluded to the reception tendered to him and his wife on the 30th of last September, the 10th anniversary of their marriage, an occasion which brought together a representative from nearly every family in the community, with valuable and tasteful gifts, the generous proofs of their kind regard.

After this brief review of the last years' work, some of the leading facts of the past five years were mentioned; the following summary being first presented:—

No. of Preaching Services,	455
" " Prayer Meetings,	380
" " Bible and Praise Services,	41
" " Missionary Concerts,	36
" " Other Services,	128
Total number of Services	1040

Total number of exchanges 17; an average of less than four each year. The pastor is but seldom absent from his own pulpit.

Number received into the two churches the past five years:

On confession	18
By letter	13
Total,	31

This is one third of the present membership, which is 90. There are 24 male members and 66 female members. During the five years, 1 has died, and 6 have been dismissed to other churches, so that the net gain in membership is 24. 7 children have been baptized and 15 adults, 22 in all.

The total number of marriages solemnized is 27; Funerals attended 72 and assisted at one other. Number of pastoral calls 1611. The total amount of Benevolent contributions is $274.45.

Total amount of money raised the past five years.

Average running expenses per year about $1350 for 5 years,	$6750.00
Church Building,	3198.00
Benevolence,	274.45
Total	$10,222.45

With the exception of about $900 the whole of this amount has been raised in these churches, over $9300. This shows growth, advance,—a long step towards self support.

On the 6th of September, 1883, the West Congregational Church, (an organic branch of the Rockville church, having at the same time its own separate and individual life) was duly formed at West Peabody. A long want was thus met, and the Christian people of this community now enjoy full church privileges.

On the 6th of July, 1881, the male members of the Rockville church were incorporated into a Religious Society, with the corporate name of "The Rockville Congregational Society in Peabody." At West Peabody the whole church was incorporated as a Religious Society on the date given above, Oct. 26, 1883. The corporate name is "The West Congregational Society in Peabody."

"Both the Rockville church and its West Peabody branch are now provided with a substantial, comfortable and tasteful house of worship." The long, earnest struggle of both societies to secure what they now possess and enjoy is familiar to you all. "As the result of our efforts we have free from debt two church edifices, costing for building and furnishing as follows:—

The S. Peabody Church	$7121.79
" W. Peabody Chapel	1460.17
Total	$8581.96

The two churches have now in land, buildings, and furnishings, property with a valuation of over $9300." Over $8500 of this property was not in our possession five years ago.

For the past three years the Ladies' Aid Society, has rendered efficient service in helping to furnish the church and to meet the running expenses of the parish.

Something has been done in the line of Temperance Work, meetings and concerts have been held. There have been sermons and addresss. Best of all 105 names, mostly of the young, have been secured on the Pledge.

In alluding to the number of funerals at which he had served the Pastor said: "I cannot pass over the deaths that have occurred in these parishes the past five years, with the mére announcement of the number of funerals at which I have officiated. With an aching heart I have read the sweet message of God's tender love in many a home, over whose threshold the angel of shadows has passed. With many a weeping circle I have stood by the newly made grave, endeavoring to lift up, on the wings of prayer, the hearts of mourners from the dark silent grave closing over their dead. I cast my eyes over the long list of names and, as I read, call up the faces and forms of those who bore them—babes whose innocent lives are counted, not by years but by days and months; little ones just learning to walk and prattle; boys and girls whose presence filled the home with sunshine and happiness; fathers taken, mothers taken, and in several instances leaving orphaned children; the husband closing his life work and leaving behind him a broken heart, and the wife, too, called away from the home made desolate without her presence; beloved brothers and sisters; aged citizens and venerable men and women; these are some of the facts which the record of the past five years present to the eyes which weep as we read.

Nearly a hundred more lowly mounds dotting the earth in those sacred enclosures where rests the dust of the beloved; where flowers of affection, birds with their sweet songs, the fragrant grass and the softly breathing winds, together unite to soothe the sorrowing hearts of those who here come to commune with their dead, whispering of Him who is Lord of life, and that as He thus soothes their perturbed spirit by the ministry of his material forces, so would He comfort them by the bestowal of spiritual graces, whereby they may yet come into the fulness of that life into which the blessed dead have entered. God pity the mourning ones, bind up their bleeding hearts, wipe away the tears of sorrow, and through all their tribulation bring them to inherit the joy that is born of sanctified grief.

Oh, deem not they are blest alone,
Whose lives a peaceful tenor keep;
For God who pities man hath shown
A blessing for the eyes that weep.

* * * * * * *

For God has marked each sorrowing day,
And numbered every secret tear;
And heaven's long age of bliss shall pay
For all his children suffer here.

Were it for no other reason than this, the calling of the ministry would be forever hallowed in that it is its office to speak the comforting word of truth in these sad hours, and to carry the consolations of Him who invites all of earth's weary and heavy laden ever to come to Him for rest.

And let me add, that, in a ministry of ten and a half years, I have reached through my experience this conclusion —that as God is the only source of comfort in our sorrow, and that, as I view it, the duty of the Pastor at the funeral is to comfort those who mourn by directing their thought to the Divine Comforter—it is best to dispense with remarks and eulogies which can avail nothing, and commit the bodies of our beloved dead to the earth, reading over them the living word of God's holy truth, and lifting up our supplications to Him who is the Life, to whom the spirits of our dead have departed.

When called upon, hereafter, to officiate at funerals, I shall confine my action to this simple method."

In closing the Pastor said: "I place this record before you with the hope that it may stimulate us to greater efforts to honor Christ here and to advance his kingdom among all. That, as we review the past, we may commit the past to his hands, blessing him if it has been productive in any good to any one, and craving his forgiveness of all that it has to show, or to suggest, of sins of omission and commission." "We should be prayerfully jealous of the interest of our churches. We should discourage everything that would tend to impair its usefulness, and do all we can to make it strong and effective." We shall be successful "if, in all lines and departments of Christian activity, and in individual living and effort, we are inspired with the same purpose that made the Apostle Paul a successful laborer in Corinth,—the purpose 'not to know anything among this people save Jesus Christ and him crucified'."

The service ended with the singing of the hymn "I Love Thy Kingdom Lord" and Benediction by the Pastor.

A car load of So. Peabodyites made a call on Mrs. Annie P. Newhall, who resides on Essex street, Lynn, last Friday night, when a very enjoyable time was had by all present.

S. C. Bancroft, Esq., is confined to his home on Washington street by illness.

Mr. J. B. Thomas had a large gang of men at work on Craig's pond, last Sunday, clearing away the snow from the ice.

Rev. J. W. Colwell preached his anniversary sermon last Sunday and reviewed his work for the past five years, a full report of which will be found in this paper.

Mr. I. H. Beede is housing the ice at Crowninshield's pond for Mr. Stephen Blaney.

If the weather is favorable the ice men at Brown's pond will nearly fill their houses this week.

Mrs. Lewis Newhall is quite sick at her residence on Lynn street.

Owing to the heavy fall of snow the L. & B. R. R. Co. kept their snow plow running nearly all last Saturday night.

Marriages.

In Peabody, Jan. 23, by Rev. F. W. Sprague Mr. John Allen of Peabody to Miss Josephine Docdy of Salem; 27, by Rev. Geo. Walker, Mr. Henry G. Rice of Cambridge, to Miss Sarah F. Upton; 28, by Rev. J. J. Reader, Mr. Fred Forness to Miss Mary M. Magee of Marblehead.

In Salem, Jan. 30, by Rev. E. S. Atwood, Mr. Geo B. Quint to Miss Wilhelmina M. Forsythe, both of Manchester, Mass.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Jan. 26, Mrs. Ellen Graham. 33 yrs.; 28, Mrs. Carrie E. Morrison, 52 yrs, 6 mos.; 29, Mrs. Lucinda Brooks, 72 yrs, 20 days.

In Salem, Jan. 26, Mrs. Bridget, wife of Patrick Regan, 36 yrs; 27, Alice, daughter of James J. and Mary P. Mooney, 8 yrs. 1 mo. 17 days.

SPARKS.

For the year ending Feb. 1st, there have been 22 alarms of fire rung in, in this town, of which 16 were caused by fires and alarms in this town and 6 for Salem fires. Of the Peabody alarms, 10 were for working fires involving a loss of about $20,000, on which insurance was paid to the amount of $18,000. Two fires occured in West Peabody for which no alarms were given, by which the loss was $5700, with only $800 Insurance. Following is the list:

Feb. 6th, 1885—7.30 o'clock, p. m., T. E. Wilson's machine shop, loss $500. No insurance.

Feb. 16th, 3 o'clock, a. m., Nichols' currying shop, Salem, Steamer No. 1 worked. Loss $40,000.

March 23rd, 4 15 a. m., J. E. Harris, tannery, loss $4949.96. Insured.

April 8th, 9.40 p. m., George Clerk's morocco shop, loss $4500. Insured.

April 11th, 8.40 p. m., False alarm.

May 8th, 9.45 a. m., slight fire on Shillaber street, house of Mrs. Julia Cotter.

June 1st, 7 p. m., slight fire in Jackman's morocco shop, Railroad avenue.

June 28th, 1.20 a. m., Brown's barn in West Peabody, loss $2000. No insurance. No alarm.

July 4th, 1.55 a. m., barn on Oak street, estate I. B. Elliott. Slight fire.

July 30th, 8.45 p. m.. barn of George A. Needham, West Peabody. No alarm loss $3700. Insured for $800.

Sept. 5th, 3.20 a. m., house and barn of George Macintosh, South Peabody, loss $3500, fully insured.

Sept 21st 2.45 a. m., Washington House, Salem, Hose 1 worked.

Sept 24th, 8.50 p. m., A. B. Clark's barn on Union street, loss $400, partially insured.

Sept 27, 1 a. m., Eben Poor barn, Tremont street, Salem. Loss $4200, insured $2100. Peabody department worked.

Sept. 27, 6.45 p. m., Phillip Nelson's tannery, loss $150, insured for $2000.

Sept. 30,.7.35 p. m., alarm caused by burning brush pile on Franklin street.

Nov. 9. 10.28 a. m., alarm caused by the boiling over of kettle of fat, Institute House.

Dec. 7, 10.35 p. m. stable of the old Naumkeag House. Loss $1500, insurance $400.

Dec. 25, 3.10 a. m., fire in Maloon barn Tremont street, Salem.

Dec. 28th, 2.25 p. m., slight fire on roof of No. 51 Harris street.

Jan. 14, 1886—6.45 a. m., slight fire in tan shed at tannery of F. Osborne Jr. & Co.

Jan 18, 2 20 a. m., fire at Endicott School. Loss covered by insurance, $4950.

Jan 25th, 11.40 p. m., alarm from Salem. Apparatus did not get out.

Jan 31, 2.35 a. m., fire in Cody's stiffening shop Irving street, Salem. Department turned out.

The fire bug is still at work, and showed a specimen of his liveliness last Sunday morning at 2.35 o'clock, when the alarm was given for fire number five, in the Tremont street district. The fire this time was found to be in the wooden building on Irving street, Salem, just beyond Harmony Grove, owned and occupied by Edward Cody as a stiffening shop. When discovered the place was all on fire inside, showing the work of an incendiary. The alarm was given in Salem from the house of Hose 6, and in Peabody by the whistle on Proctor's tannery. The heavy snow storm had just cleared away leaving about eight inches of fresh snow for the apparatus and men to travel through, and locomotion for man and beast was extremely tedious. Sreamer 1 went as far as Wallis street, H & L into "Dublin," while Hose 1 and 3 went to the fire, but laid no hose as the Salem department was soon on the spot. This alarm made two Salem alarms that were rung in Peabody last week, neither of which were needed. The Salem steamers were kept with horses standing harnessed in the floor all night Saturday night, and men were stationed at all the hose houses. Extra men were also on duty in the Central Station during that night in this town.

Hose 5 has not responded to the last two alarms, the alarm not being heard in that part of the town.

The Board of Engineers held their annual meeting last Wednesday evening and voted to ask for an appropriation of about $900, for the purpose of making needed changes at the Central Station.

Committees were appointed by H & L. 1, and Steamer 2. to act with committees to be chosen from Steamer 1. and Hose 1, on the matter of holding the union ball of the "Three Ones and a Two," Fast Eve. Probably the ball will be held in the large Town Hall, if held at all.

The Committee on Public Property of the Salem City Government made a test of the hand grenades which are placed in the different public buildings in that city, last Monday afternoon. A fire was built in the cellar of the old Dunlap street school house and after it had got under good headway, fifteen of the grenades of the two principal makes were broken without any perceptible result, and the members of the committee had to go to work and put the fire out with snow. Very little faith will be put in the salt and water put up in fancy bottles hereafter.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

Special Prices

ON

GENTLEMEN'S OVERCOATS.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS.

Our Entire Stock closed immediately.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, BOYS' REEFERS,

Marked Down. Low Prices for Boys' Suits.

GREAT TROUSER SALE

TO BE CONTINUED.

Hundreds of pairs added to our already large stock, making the largest assortment ever shown in the city. All wool Trousers, $1.50; Fine Cassimere Trousers, $2, 2.50 and 3; Fancy and Dress Trousers, $3.50, 4, 4.50 and 5.

COME RIGHT IN, A BARGAIN AWAITS YOU

AT

EDW. C. ALMY & CO'S.

163, 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence.
Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

STOVES, RANGES, FURNITURE, CARPETS CROCKERY,

And Complete House Furnishings.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.
CARPET & FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES &c.
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
D. B. H. POWER & CO.

Our store will be closed Feb. 10th, for the purpose of taking account of stock. From now until that time we shall offer to the general public

Bargains! Bargains! Bargains!

In every Department. We have just unloaded one more car load of the CELEBRATED NEW HUB & GLENWOOD RANGES & PARLOR STOVES.

Have added to our already large stock of Carpets, $10,000 worth of

TAPESTRY, BRUSSELS & WOOLEN CARPETS.

During the last month we have bought from the manufacturers over 500

CHAMBER SETS,

In Ash, Black Walnut, Cherry and Painted. Even now, after one of the most successful months in the history of our business, we find every department over crowded, not only in our Furniture and Carpet departments, but in our Crockery, Lamp and Silver Ware departments.

We must take account of stock Feb. 10th, and before that time we must lower our stock, and now is the time to take advantage of low prices..

REMEMBER. We deliver every thing we sell and warrant every thing to be delivered in as good condition as you see it in our ware rooms.

D B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

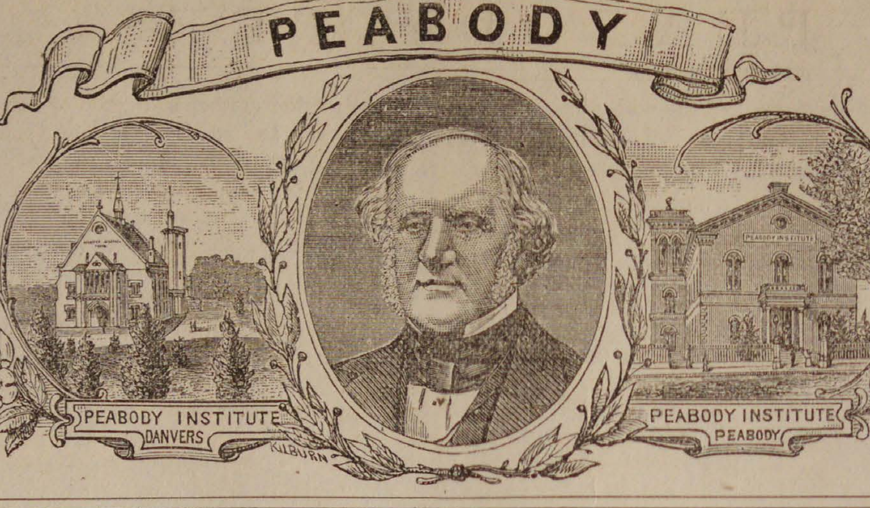
25,000 SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR ROOM.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

Connected by Telephone No. 1674.

Originators of our special instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a wesk. We lead all and follow or copy from no one.

PEABODY
The Press.



VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 10, 1886. NO. 6.

WILMOT GOING OUT OF BUSINESS!

We have sold the Lease of our Salem store, and must vacate the store by March 1st.

THE ENTIRE STOCK OF

Winter and Summer Clothing

Must be sold, no matter how great the sacrifice, the goods must be turned into money. This is a bona fide selling out Sale and the prices that we shall name will be the lowest ever known in Massachusetts.

READ THE PRICES.

And remember that the garments we advertise were most of them made for this Winter's trade, and that you will findno old goods or trash among them.

MEN'S OVERCOATS.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish overcoat, dark blue and green mixture,

for $3.87 1-2, regular price, $6.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish Overcoats

for $4.50, regular price $8.

Men's Heavy Black Elysian Overcoats, very handsome coats, bound narrow, Velvet collar,

for$5 former price $10.

Men's Heavy Oxford Mixed Overcoats, made for dress and business wear,

for $5, former price $10.

Men's Fine All Wool Irish Frieze Overcoats, made with lap seams, pearl buttons and velvet collar,

for $7, former price $13.

Men's All Wool Blue Beaver Overcoats, made A-1 warranted fast colors,

for $8 regular price $15.

Men's All Wool Beaver Overcoats, made and trimmed in the best manner,

for $10, regular price, 16.

Men's All Wool Overcoats, in black, green, drab, brown and slate colors, made and trimmed in the best manner.

for $7.75, 8.00, 9.50 and 10, regular prices $12, 15, 16 and 18.

We have not room to enumerate the styles and prices but we have got to sell out, and you can buy an overcoat of us at just half cost.

MEN'S SUITS.

Men's Heavy All Wool Suits

for $3, regular price $8, 9 and 12.

Men's All Wool Cassimere Suits, well made and trimmed,

for $5, regular price $10.

Men's Nobby All Wool Suits, latest style and handsome goods, for $6 and 7, regular price $12 and 14.

Men's Blue Flannel Suits, warranted fast colors,

for $5, regular price $12.

You will find all our suits marked in like proportion. Come and see them and get a bargain that you will always remember with pleasure.

MEN'S PANTALOONS.

Men's Heavy Winter Pantaloons,

for 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2, and 2.50, regular prices $1.50, 2, 2.25, 2.50, 3, and 4.

Men's Odd Coats and Vests, at prices less than the cost of cloth from which they are manufactured.

Boys' and Children's OVERCOATS.

BOYS' HEAVY OVERCOATS.

Ages from 13 to 18.

For $3, 3.50, 3.75, 4, 4.25, 5, regular prices, 5, 6, 6.50, 7, 7.50 and 10,

Children's Heavy Overcoats.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3 and 4, regular prices, 4.50, 5, 5 50, 6 and 7.

BOYS' SUITS,

Long Pants, Ages 13 to 18.

For $2, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 regular prices, $5, 6, 6.50, 7, 9, 10 12.

Children's Suits.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, regular prices $3, 4, 4.50, 5, 6, 7, 7.50, 8, 9.

BOYS' PANTALOONS.

Ages 13 to 17,

For 75c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2.50, regular price, 4.25, 1.50, 2, 2.50, 3, 4.50.

Children's Short Pantaloons.

For 37 1-2c, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, regular prices 65c, 75c, $1, 1.25.

WINTER UNDERWEAR.

FURNISHING GOODS

Hats and Caps.

Boots and Shoes.

One and all are included in this sale. Everything must be sold before we give up business.

READ THE PRICES.

Men's Winter Underwear,

For 25c, 33c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, regular price 50c, 62 1-2c, 75c, $1.25, 1.50.

Men's Hats,

For 25c, 50c, 75c, $1, 1.50, regular price 50c, 75c, $1.00, 1.25, and 2.00.

Boots and Shoes.

The Bargains in this department are too numerous to mention. They must be seen to be appreciated.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are not giving up business in Salem on account of our non success; on the contrary our Salem store has been our best paying store. But we are going to consolidate our business to our Boston store, where we have enlarged our already large store by the addition of an entire block which will be used as our Furniture Department. During the last year we have added a number of departments and the coming year we shall add more. As a natural consequence we shall require all our capital to make it a success. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage in the past I am

Yours truly.
H. B. WILMOT.

WILMOT CLOTHING COMPANY,

250 AND 254 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

J. FRANK BOYNTON, Manager.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Another January thaw!

February is a winter month!

Our physicians are not idle!

St. Valentines day next Sunday!

How much is left in the coal bin?

Mrs. Caleb Osborne we learn is quite sick.

Communion at the churches last Sunday.

Superior job printing done at this office.

Why not ask the town for a stone crusher?

Old sleighs are common and comfortable.

Capt. B. F. Dodge is "home again" from South America.

Be getting your little axes ready to grind at town meeting.

Mulcahy don't want any valentines, he still has his last years' stock.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Southwick are at Seabrook, N. H., on a visit.

Richard Lewis "is pa" once more. The little one came Thursday.

The Misses Helen and Susie O. Poor have been visiting in New York.

Rev. E. S. Atwood of Salem preached at the South Church last Sunday.

J. B. Thomas has 1200 tons of ice put in his ice houses at Craig's pond.

No one complains of the salt on the railroad tracks, except the newspapers.

The stormy weather made the horse car stations as lively as a sewing circle.

Another large Australian order has been received by Dole & Osgood this week.

We had a very pleasant call from Rev. T. F. Waters of Ipswich, one day last week.

Mrs. R. H. Wilkinson is substituting for Mrs. Towne, of the Centre school, who is sick.

The town that hasn't a tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men, is behind the times.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

Mr. W. M. Ward has shipped two coops of fowls to Colebrook, N. H., and North Natick, Mass.

The past week has undoubtedly been one of the most unfavorable for business and trade this winter.

Why not have a wood pile for the tramps to exercise their muscle on after a good nights lodging?

The sunshine, Sunday, almost made us forget the disagreeable "spells" we had to undergo last week.

Mr. John Shehan has received the amount of her husband's insurance in the C. O. F., amounting to $1000.

The Selectmen will grant a hearing on the widening of Nichols' lane Thursday, Feb. 18, in their room.

Some persons saw the falls last Saturday morning, and some we fear saw us fall about that time on Main street.

The Boston and Maine Railroad have orderded seven new passenger cars of the Wason Manufacturing company.

After an entertainment at the town hall, the janitor usually has an "awful lot" of old rubbers, and odd gloves to dispose of.

The fourth annual winter reunion of the 1st Massachusetts Heavy Artillery Association, takes place at the Quincy house, Feb. 17.

The collection at the temperance meeting last Sunday night amounted to $39.75. The next lecture will be given by J. B. Finch.

F. F. Stevens will receive orders for Clifford the paper hanger and painter. Secure him if you desire good work. *

A new time table went into effect on the Boston and Lowell, Monday. The train due at 6.14 P. M., will now arrive at 6.58 P. M.

Mr. Orlando F. Newhall received prizes at the Horticultural exhibition in Boston, last week, on radishes, pie plant and asparagus.

The executors of the estate of the late Perley King, have conveyed a parcel of real estate in Lynnfield to Geo. H. Hutchinson.

Master Foster Beggs has retired from the position of special delivery messenger. There was millions in it. Winnie Berry is taking his place.

An agent of a nail establishment was in town yesterday looking for a suitable place for a nail mill. May they nail the project right here.

This peculiar winter seems to have been made to the order of the clothing man. It keeps the average citizen busy in dressing to its requirements.

A number of Masconomo Tribe of Red Men will visit Lynn this evening and assist Agawam Tribe, of Danvers, in instituting a lodge in that city.

Rev. S. J. Barrows, editor of the Christian Register, preached at the Unitarian Church last Sunday, and Rev. Mr. Hudson preached in Danvers.

Anybody who wishes for a town office this spring should speak now. Several are to be vacated, we understand, and there's nothing like being in time.

Mr. Charles P. Elligott has sold his interest in the store in Hartnett's block on Foster street, to his partner, Mr. Gould, who will continue the same.

The Laura Dainty "Mountain Pink" company, booked for the Opera House later in the season, has gone to pieces in Connecticut and will not appear.

Union services will be continued during the week. This evening at the Methodist church and Thursday and Friday evenings at the Baptist church.

The well known leather firm of the Osborne Brothers still retain the name F. Osborn, Jr. & Co. Of late it has been called by some, F. Osborn & Co.

The W. C. T. U. have received a donation of $40.23 toward purchasing an organ for their room, from the treasurer and directors of the Band of Promise.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

The Selectmen will grant a hearing on the petition of West Peabody citizens for a new road from Newbury street to Pine, at their room to-morrow afternoon.

The Boston & Maine railroad will run an excursion train to the winter carnival at Burlington, Vt., which will be held from the 15th to the 19th inst., inclusive.

A bill that provides that those corporations who pay to their employes a proportional share of the profits, shall be freed from taxation, is pending in the legislature.

The drivers and conductors of the Lynn road were given permission to wear turn down caps during the cold weather of last week, a favor that the men appreciated.

It is reported that Mr. Daniel Woodbury has settled with the Boston & Maine Railroad for damage by the Proctor freight railroad for the sum of about $500.

If you wish to be among the first to adopt a pretty custom, send your lady friends tiny wicker or waxen baskets of violets, roses or lilies of the valley, instead of confections.

A tribe of the Improved Order of Red men will be instituted at Lynn tonight, and a special car will run through Peabody to Danvers at the close.

The estate of the late Franklin Osborn is offered for sale in another column. This estate contains 53,000 feet of land and several buildings in good repair.

This life would indeed be a blank, this world a dreary and desolate waste if, after a misfortune has befallen us, we had no friend to call in and say, "I told you so."

Some people have an idea that because they subscribe for a newspaper they own a controlling interest in it. Such a person would make a first class subject for a lunatic asylum.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending February 6, were 5816 rolls, 320 sides, 254 bundles, 16 barrels, 1 bag, 5 cases, of leather, 114 bundles, 2 casks of skins.

Mr. James J. H. Gregory of Marble head, has just ordered fifty tons of Mr. A. L. Ames' fertilizer. This speaks well for that article, as Mr. G. is a man of large experience and would use only the best.

The Naumkeag Street Railroad Co. received last week from J. G. Brill & Co., Philadelphia, twelve new cars—seven open and five box—to be used on the extensions to Wenham and Beverly cove.

LOOK HERE.

JANUARY IS THE MONTH FOR BARGAINS.

Great Annual Mark Down Closing out Sale of

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefing Jackets, Suits, and Pantaloons, Underwear, Hosiery and Cardigan Jackets.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

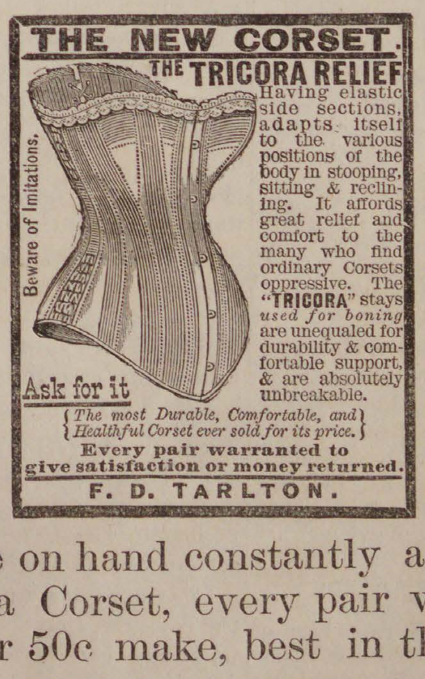
Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

F. D. TARLTON.

—DRY GOODS.—

CORSETS! CORSETS!



THE NEW CORSET.

THE TRICORA RELIEF

Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.

Beware of Imitations.

Ask for it

The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.

Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.

F. D. TARLTON.

We have on hand constantly all sizes of the Tricora Corset, every pair warranted. Look at our 50c make, best in the market for the price.

All sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOODS,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

Poet's Corner.

To My Cigar.

BY CHARLES SPRAGUE.

Yes, social friend, I love thee well,
  In learned doctor's spite;
I love thy fragant, misty spell,
  I love thy calm delight.

What though they tell, with phizzes long,
  My years are sooner past;
I would reply, with reason strong,
  They're sweeter while they last.

And oft, mild friend, to me thou art
  A monitor, though still;
Thou speak'st a lesson to my heart,
  Beyond the preacher's skill.

Thour't like the man of worth, who gives
  To goodness every day,
The odor of whose virtues lives,
  When he has passed away.

When in the lonely evening hour,
  Attended but by thee,
O'er history's varied page I pore,
  Man's fate in thine I see.

Oft as thy snowy column grows,
  Then breaks and falls away,
I trace how mighty realms thus rose,
  Thus tumbled to decay.

A while like thee earth's masters burn,
  And smoke and fume around,
And then like thee to ashes turn,
  And mingle with the ground.

Life's but a leaf adroitly rolled,
  And time's the wasting breath,
That late or early, we behold,
  Gives all to dusty death.

From beggar's frieze to monarch's robe,
  One common doom is passed,
Sweet nature's works, the swelling globe,
  Must all burn out at last.

And what is he who smokes thee now?
  A little moving heap,
That soon like thee to fate must blow,
  With thee in dust must sleep.

But though thy ashes downward go,
  Thy essence rolls on high;
Thus when my body must lie low,
  My soul shall cleave the sky.

My Valentine.

C. B. TROWBRIDGE.

She's rosy, sweet, and chubby,
  With such a winning face,
You'd say the sunlight, surely,
  Was shining in the place.
Her eyes are blue as Heaven,
  Her lips are red as wine,
She's four years old to-morrow,
  And she's my valentine.

She's deeper than the scholars
  And wiser than the books;
She learns her love from flowers,
  Her wisdom from the brooks.
She thinks not of her manners,
  Of airs or graces fine,
She's just what first I found her,
  My own sweet valentine.

One day she'll be a woman,
  With woman's joy and care
And gray thieves will be stealing
  The sunshine from her hair.
Yet come what will to-morrow,
  To-day she shall be mine.
May blessings sweet attend her,
  Heaven keep my valentine!

If I Were You.

Why did he look so grave? she asked.
  What might the trouble be?
"My little maid," he sighing said,
  "Suppose that you were me,
And you a weighty secret owned,
  Pray tell me what you'd do?"
"I think I'd tell it to somebody,"
  Said she, "if I were you!"

But still he sighed and looked askance
  Despite her sympathy,
"Oh, tell me, little maid," he said,
  Again, "if you were me.
And if you loved a pretty lass.
  Oh, then what would you do?"
"I think I'd go and tell her so,"
  Said she, "if I were you!"

"My little maid, 'tis you" he said,
  "Alone are dear to me."
Ah, then she turned away her head
  And ne'er a word said she.
But what he whispered in her ear,
  And what she answered, too—
Oh, no, I cannot tell you this;
  I'd guess, if I were you.

Chambers Journal.

Faith.

CELIA THAXTER.

Fain would I hold my lamp of life aloft
  Like yonder tower built high above the reef;
Steadfast, though tempests rave or winds blow soft,
  Clear, though the sky dissolve in tears of grief.

For darkness passes, storms shall not abide.
  A little patience and the fog is past,
After the sorrow of the ebbing tide
  The singing flood returns in joy at last.

The night is long and pain weighs heavily;
  But God will hold His word above despair.
Look to the east, where up the lucid sky
  The morning climbs! The day shall yet be fair!

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and after hearty eating is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

Original Story.

(For the Press.)

Twelve Years After.

A TRUE STORY.

BY E. E.

Mortimer, don't—don't ask me.

Mortimer Ray looking into her beautiful face was deeply moved.

Emily, Emily, you know not what you do! and great, tall, manful fellow as he was, he bowed his head upon his arms, his strong frame shaken with great sobs.

Rising from the low chair, where with little hands nervously clasping and unclasping she had sat, she moved softly to his side, and kneeling there, laid her head upon his knee, uttering only one low word, Mortimer.

It was enough, for it reminded him that she suffered with him. The last vestige of doubt of her love vanished at the sight of her face.

My poor little girl, why do you inflict this cruelty upon us both?

She made no answer, and he continued—

You cannot dismiss love of me from your heart, neither can I do your bidding and forget—Oh, Emily! forget that for three years I have been next to husband to you—that this very spring you were to have been wife! We have grown into each other's hearts, my darling, yet you bid me undo in a few short moments the work of years. You send me from you a broken, maimed and disappointed man!

Your encouragement, your love, has been inspiration to me—will you take all from me now? Is it not something that I also need you, Emily?

He had raised her from the floor and gathered her little form in his arms, where she lay motionless, her face hidden against his breast.

To the outpouring of his protest she had made no demur, until at his last appeal, she lifted her face and looked straight into his.

How pitiful it was in its sweet girlishness—the grey eyes so full of pain, while four tiny livid marks on the under lip showed where the little white teeth had cut through the skin in endeavor to keep back the words her heart expressed but to which her reason denied utterance.

Mortimer, she said, if you could see my heart you would not wound it so—it is breaking, and if it did break and my life go from me—yet I must keep my promise. Could you love me if I had it in my soul to break so sacred a vow?

No! Mortimer, you have more encouragement to do your work, in that I will not shrink from mine.

Spiritualized by the fervor of her noble purpose, her slight form appeared to dilate, all the misery went out of her face, and in its place came the light of the pure resolve within. It shone through the delicate features, shone into Mortimer's heart, and kindled there an answering fire.

A silence followed, wherein each seemed to be drinking of the fountain of strength newly sprung up between them. An unselfish action, a determined following of truth at the expense of comfort, even happiness, opens for us channels of communication with spiritual forces, of which heretofore we did not dream. Because of this, great ordeals are often passed through with what seemed miraculous strength. In our distress we feel the caressing touch of angel wings, the staying hold of unseen hands, infinitely strong and infinitely tender.

When Mortimer folded her again in his arms, it was the embrace of renunciation.

Convinced in spite of his desire to the contrary, that she was right, he no longer thought to dissuade her, and so as the sun went down behind Sunset Hill, they parted, he to go alone to the West, where he had been lately called, and had expected to take Emily as his wife.

Mortimer Ray had grown up here, in Ashton. Emily had always been his favorite, and often when his youthful escapades called forth the censure of the older and more serious, Emily had staunchly defended her playmate, schoolfellow, and at last, or rather, always lover.

The only son of a widowed mother, whose ample means were largely devoted to his welfare and pleasure, his exhaustless love of fun and boyish exuberance of animal spirits often led him into trouble.

Good old Deacon Philips said if I was the Widder Ray I'd be afeared of the futer, for, he added, that boy of hern will be much fur good, or much fur evil, and his manner showed he inclined to think it would be most fur evil. Yet never was Mortimer known to do a mean thing, and often when the younger boys were tormented by the older ones, Mortimer's fists were the best arguments to dissuade them from their purpose.

The truth confessed, the staid old fashioned town gave but small license to youthful short comings or excess. Those who knew him best, knew there was that in Mortimer Ray which would finally over rule his follies.

Knowledge of all kinds he acquired without effort. The village schools passed through, his mother determined to send him to a boy's academy, conducted under the supervision of an old friend of her husband's.

The selection was a most happy one.

Mortimer went, anticipating bushels of fun, with thought of little else, but the influence of his teacher whose character the boy soon recognized and appreciated, awakened, new thoughts and aims.

It was the master's custom to invite each of his pupils to spend the evening with him as often as he could spare the time, and bachelor as he was, wedded only to his work, he spared many—to the boy's great gain.

Mortimer had an added claim upon him, being the son of his dead friend.

Having previously known the father, being also a quick reader of character, he knew just how to draw from the boy a disclosure of his real and better self. As Mortimer grew to respect and finally love his master his master became deeply attached to him, and from this friendship Mortimer dated the awakening in him, of that at first faint desire, which finally became a settled purpose.

As, from time to time, he came home to spend the holidays, his friends and townspeople noted the change in him; so, when the course preparatory to entering college was finished, and he avowed his determination to study for the ministry, it was received with little or no surprise.

Deacon Philips, with tears in his eyes, thanked God the future of Mortimer Ray was 'much fur good.'

We have heard from his own lips how much the gentle, unquestioning faith of Emily Bascombe had helped him to make, and afterward to hold faithfully to his chosen work.

Now, as he walked away from her, he said to himself, she is right. I love her a hundred fold more for her determination. Then as he thought of her, slight and childlike, yet so firm, clinging with life itself to her conviction of her duty, he paid tender homage to her womanhood, saying, it is only a woman's nature, that, crushed and torn, roselike, emits a sweeter perfume.

She will be happier even so than with me, haunted by visions of her forsaken mother, and for me—his features momentarily convulsed by a spasm of pain—I can wait.

He went away sadly, with an aching emptiness in his heart—yet went manfully to his work for a new people and so waited—> —until puzzle and till pain were spent

> And the sweet thing made plain which the Lord meant.

Emily having watched him out of sight, turned toward her room with eyes from which the sight seemed to have gone quite out.

She felt to be groping in the dark.

Giving him up as she had, had shaken her from the depths of her soul. Even he did not fully measure the heroism of her act, for to the last she smiled upon him, not wishing, even had she dared, to let him see all she suffered.

Now she had no time even to bury her dead hopes, for borne in at the open window, on the soft Spring air, came a shrill wailing cry,—Emily! Emily!

She has awakened, Emily murmured, and with a hasty step left her room, crossed the long hall, turned a key in a door at its end, all the while hastened by the querulous cry,—Emily! Emily!

It was a large western room into which she entered. Through the barred windows crept the fading twilight, disclosing in the farthest corner a weird and forbidding figure. Toward this Emily advanced, striving to quiet with tender words, as to a child, the poor creature sitting there.

Mother, come to the window and see the red sky—it is so pretty to-night! but the afflicted mind was not to be tempted by bright colors or any of its usual diversions. At last Emily left her to bring her supper. Alone, the crouching figure rose and crept slowly toward the window, carefully avoiding contact with any object, the sunken eyes like Emily's, yet so unlike, the disheveled grey hair, which Emily's greatest care could keep confined but a little while at a time, the twitching mouth, and most pitiful of all the look of terror in every feature—bespoke that terrible affliction—insanity.

Yes, this was Emily's work, from which her brave young heart tried not to shrink, with all its gentle strength.

Some months ago, Mrs. Bascombe, a gentle, lovable woman, a good wife, and affectionate mother, became dangerously ill. For a long time she was unconscious; one day, while she lay apparently in this state, the doctor left two medicines, speaking of one of them in words of warning to Emily.

This is deadly poison, he said. Make no mistake in the quantities or it will be death to her, motioning toward the still figure in the bed.

When, consciousness restored, they looked for mother's voice, mother's smile, they were not, nor even were again until the last.

Her mind had taken in the doctor's words sufficiently in its enfeebled state to shatter reason; now day and night, when not asleep, the poor haunted creature sought to wash away the poison—hands, and hair and clothes, always, the sad pantomine went on. At the approach of a stranger, she became convulsed with terror.

Even with her husband, kind, old man as he was, and had always been in his rough way, she grew restless. Emily alone could quiet her, and so Emily made a solemn compact with herself, to watch over mother, and get for her what little comfort was possible.

They had consulted physicians far and near, all agreed there was small chance of recovery. The mind had entered upon a darkness from which death only could deliver it. It might be years ere the restless, chafing spirit wore its way through its frail prison bars; so of marriage, Emily renounced all hope, a loving if not always a contented sacrifice to her mother's need.

The years wore away, sometimes slipping swiftly, but more often dragging through long tedious days and weary nights. Each year stole something of Emily's blithesome charm.

The neighbors who used to watch her as she galloped past, erect and graceful in the saddle, missed her altogether now.

To the thin cheek the old time roses came but rarely; and in the grey eyes was a troubled look as if pity had there taken up her abode, and left small room for mirth. At last, old Father Bascombe had remonstrated with her, even his not too easily apprehension, awakened by the growing change in her. Father and friends plead in vain, always it was Mother first, and herself afterwards. She had given up all, formerly so dear to her girlish heart; her only recreations, short walks through her father's fields, and on Sundays, one service in the old church, where, the last Sabbath of his stay, she listened to Mortimer. Pleasant tidings came of him, she rejoiced to know he was fur good as old Deacon Phillips said, and that mightily; glad she had not listened to his pleadings, and burdened him with herself and her work. Her work to which she had given twelve years of her fresh young life, was drawing to a close. As her mother—mother in name only, for twelve long years—drew near release, Emily longed for a word of recognition, one word from mother, before she goes entirely away, she plead morning and night as she knelt by the bed, to which, for a month past, her mother had taken of her own will.

It had been a balmy starlit night. Emily, sitting in an armchair by the bedside, watched the stars grow pale, as the dawn came on. For a week past, she had not left her mother only for a few moments either night or day, sleeping when her mother slept, in the great armchair by the bed.

The night had been one of unusual quiet to the wasted body and mind so nearly through; and Emily waited her waking, hoping, yet not daring to expect a return to reason.

How still it was! only the solitary chirp of some belated bird, meditating flight to a warmer clime, the rustle of the few leaves still clinging to the maples,

Now, another, and a different sound, a long drawn sigh followed by the utterence of her name, as years ago, she remembered her mother used to speak it.

Emily, dear, how long have I slept child?

When she became unconscious or fell asleep as she thought, the dropped threads were taken up again—oblivion all the weary interval of horror.

Thank God, was the glad cry of Emily's heart, and in that moment, when her mother extending one trembling hand, drew her head down upon her pillow and softly stroked her cheek, speaking the while in the old terms of endearment, she felt doubly repaid for all she had sacrificed.

Call Father, Emily, I want to speak to him.

He came, followed by Hanner, the old and faithful domestic, who remembered and loved her mistress, as she used to be.

David, her uttering of his name tenderly for the first time in years quite over powered the kind old man, and he gladly took the armchair Emily placed for him where her mother could not see and be troubled by his emotion.

I have been sick a long time, husband, I fear you have needed me, but He knows best. Hanner, why do you weep so, my good girl? Hanner kissed the thin, white hand stretched out to her, then left the room, sobbing as she went.

She asked for Mortimer and for others, speaking of each in the kind spirit characteristic of her. For a short half hour mother came back again, then as the first sun rays fell on the swaying maple boughs, and glittered in the dewy grass, with a smile of peace upon the face so long a stranger to a smile she passed from sight, unknowing of her long exile from earth and heaven alike, I wonder did she ever know!

For a long time after her mother's death Emily could not get used to her changed life. She had so utterly withdrawn herself, or been withdrawn by constant duty from the world, from the interests common to women, that it required months to readjust her habits to her altered circumstances; then too the short, but blissful interval wherein her mother was restored to her, seemed to have spanned the intervening years of misery and she mourned her loss as she might have done twelve years ago, perhaps more, since often we love best those for whom we have most to do.

Springtime again and the violet scented air, the sky full of great white banks of piled up clouds, the joyous notes of little birds reminded Emily of that springtime day when Mortimer went away. She had not seen him since, his mother accompanied him; he had not visited the place of his birth in all these years, too well, she knew the reason why.

Standing before the farm house door, old Ned harnessed to the rockaway, awaits white haired Father Bascombe and Emily, or the ghost of what Emily was, for it is Sabbath day.

The pulpit was to be filled by a stranger, and Emily, loving her own venerable pastor, regretted his absence. At the last lingering peals of the bell, a tall, massively built man passed slowly up the aisle. Emily, bending low over her hymn book did not see him, but something in his step stirred her pulses to quicker beats; and as he mounted the pulpit stairs and turned his face to the waiting people, everything swam before her for an instant, then resolved its unmeaning whirl into one form, Mortimer.

It was a grand figure standing there in the soft light of springtime morning, one of those who remind us, "So God created man in His own image."

His was a powerful head, a noble forehead from which the silky hair already sprinkled with gray, waved back in artistic carelessness. His eyes sought out his audience individually, beaming upon them in a tender sympathy known best to the poor and sick and aged of his own people.

He had waited, grandly waited, working all the while; and now the stirring words he addressed to those, many of whom remembered him as a roguish, sometimes lawless, young scapegrace, showed how well that work was done. As the last words of his sermon died away in a loving testimony to the true kindness of these old friends, old Deacon Philips was only one of many who

(Continued on 3d page.)

A. B. & W.

To-day and Right Along.

Bankrupt Stock of Dress Goods and Linens, from Sheriff's Sale of Kaughran & Co., New York city.

CARPETS AND RUGS,

A full stock of New Goods, with a long list of bargains.

UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

Beautiful New Goods. Special prices on many popular things, including 2500 Window Shades of best American Holland, with Balance Roller, all made and ready to put up to any window—36x72 inches, at 37 1-2 cts. No special order can be taken at anywhere near this price.

Excellent values in Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Kid Gloves, Furs, Buttons, Ladies' Linen Collars and Cuffs, Laces, Art Goods, etc.

New stock of Small Wares and Toilet Articles.

Ladies' Hosiery—new stock and special values.

Corsets and Cotton Underwear. Items of special interest in stock and prices.

Unlaundered Shirts. A big sale open this week. Also Gents' Furnishings.

Domestics and White Goods, Cases and Bales of New Goods, with many bargains.

IMPORTANT LINEN SALE.

Our own importation. Many things not to be found elsewhere. Our prices the lowest.

CLOAK DEPARTMENT.

The last mark-down. Our Garments are Tailor fitted and thoroughly made.

DRESS GOODS

Spring and Winter—from lowest to highest cost. Special values and great bargains.

BLACK AND COLORED SILKS.

The last mentioned but of First Importance.

Thousands of Dollars. New Silks of the best American and Foreign manufacture, bought and imported direct.

Our Silk stock is not excelled by any other.

Our Grand Silk Sale has been running more than three months.

We intend to continue it at least till July 1st.

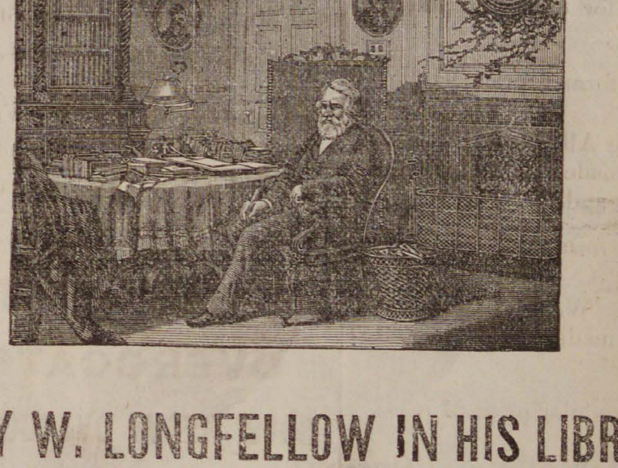
The above list of merchandise will be more fully set forth during the present week.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.
SALEM.

FIR BALSAM
FOR PILLOWS OR BEDS.

Fir Balsam direct from the woods of Maine. Unprepared 6 cts. per lb.; prepared 8 cts. per lb. A discount of 25 per cent. from these prices if bought by wholesale.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. Geoge Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

SPAULDING'S

SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Important Notice!

Look out for your sample bottle of Lubin's Balsam of Corn and Wild Cherry.

IT CONTAINS NO POISON!

Our agent is authorized to place a trial bottle of this Cough medicine in every family in Peabody.

If for any reason you should be overlooked and not receive a sample bottle, call at 226 Essex St., when you are in Salem, and it will be cheerfully furnished you.

This valuable medicine has been thoroughly tried in this vicinity with the best results.

For sale by all druggists in Peabody.

Made only by

C. H. & J. PRICE,
SALEM.

PETITION AND ORDER

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners for the County of Essex:

We the undersigned citizens of said county would respectfully represent, that the public convenience and necessity requires a county highway from a point near the junction of Holten and Collins streets in the town of Danvers to a point at junction of Garden and Prince streets, thence following the line of Garden street to Andover street, thence running north-westerly on Andover street about 800 feet to a point on said Andover street, between the houses of Cross and Fisher, thence running westerly to Newbury street, thence across said street passing south-east of the house of Jasper Pope to the town line between Danvers and Peabody near an old highway, which highway we wish to have discontinued, thence running westerly, passing southerly of the dwelling houses of Perley Goodale and Jacob Goodale, Thomas C. Durkee, and south-easterly of the barn of Wm. P. Upham, Esq., and north-westerly of the house of Geo. W. Taylor to a point on Lowell street in said Peabody near the junction of Russell street following nearly the route as surveyed by Andrew Nichols, surveyor.

Also that said highway be continued to West street, following the pathway now in use leaving Lowell street by gate opposite George W. Taylor's residence and uniting with West street at the north-easterly corner of the school house yard.

We therefore petition your Honorable Body to lay out a public highway on or near the line as herein described.

JACOB B. GOODALE,
Peabody, Dec. 17, '85. and others.

To the Honorable the Board of County Commissioners for the County of Essex:

We hereby respectfully represent that having signed a petition for a highway from Holten street in Danvers to Lowell street in Peabody at a point north-westerly from the house of George W. Taylor, and understanding that it may be more expedient that said highway should come out on Lowell street at a point about nine hundred feet easterly from said Taylor's house, we hereby assent to said change in the location of said proposed highway, if thought best.

N. P. MERRIAM and others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss.

Court of County Commissioners, December Term, A. D., 1885, held by adjournment, Jan. 4, 1886.

On the Petition aforesaid, ordered, That said petitioners give notice to all persons and corporations interested therein, that said Commissioners will meet at the West Peabody Hall in said Peabody on TUESDAY, the sixteenth day of February next, at nine o'clock, A. M.,—by publishing an attested copy of said Petition, and of this Order thereon, in the Peabody Press and Danvers Mirror, newspapers printed in Peabody and Danvers, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February.—And also by serving each of the Town Clerks of said Peabody and Danvers with an attested copy of said Petition and this Order, thirty days at least, and by posting up an attested copy thereof in two public places in each of said towns, fourteen days at least before the said sixteenth day of February, at which time and place said Commissioners will proceed to view the premises, and take such order in relation to the Prayer of said Petition, as by law they may be authorized to do.

DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.

A true copy of Petition and Order thereon.
Attest, DEAN PEABODY, Clerk.
A true copy. Attest,
DANIEL J. PRESTON,
jan 13 Deputy Sheriff.

GUARDIAN'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

By virtue of a license from the Probate Court of the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will be sold at Public Auction on the premises on Highland Park in Peabody, in said county, on THURSDAY, February 11, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, all the premises hereinafter described, viz:

All the interest of said ward in the following described lots of land situate in Peabody, in said county. Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and an unnumbered lot, on a plan of land recorded with Essex Deeds (So. District), Book 1095, excepting so much of lot 22 as was sold to J. A. Enos, by deed recorded Book 1098, leaf 44 in said Essex Deeds.

Lots 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 23, 24, and 26, on a plan of land recorded with Essex Deeds, (So. District), Book 819, leaf 300, excepting so much of said lot 24 as was sold to M. McGee by deed recorded in said Essex Deeds, Book 1091, leaf 43, and

Lots 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10, 14 and 15 on a plan of land recorded with Essex Deeds (So. District), Book 834, leaf 300.

ELIZABETH R. GARDNER,
Guardian.

jan 27

SAMUEL TRASK

Is offering the finest assortment of

SCISSORS,
SHEARS &
POCKET CUTLERY,

also the best assortment of

RAZORS,
CONES, STRAPS, ETC.,

At his

BARGAIN STORE.
WALNUT ST.,
PEABODY.

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE,

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,
REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.
PRICE 10 CENTS.
Sold wholesale and retail by
WM. T. LEE,
126 Main Street, Peabody,
Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,
KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,
For Throat and Lung Troubles.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions

We keep the Best of Meats-
Our Expenses are Light-
We sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.
TRY US AND SEE.
WALNUT STREET.
(next to S. Trask's.)
PEABODY.

AT WHOLESALE.

PURE LARD,
In 3, 5, 10 and 50 pound Pails.
FOX'S SILKEN GLOSS STARCH
AND REFINED CORN STARCH,
SOAPINE.
Also a large stock of
Apples, Potatoes, Salt, Butter Eggs, &c.
Abbott & Reynolds,
Wholesale Dealers in Produce,
14 FRONT STREET

REMOVED
— TO —
NO. 245 ESSEX STREET,
CREAMER BLOCK.

I have on hand a large stock of all kinds of Musical Goods.

Sheet Music, Books, &c., Pianos, Organs, Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Flutes, Accordeons, Harps, Harmonicas, Metromons, Tuning Forks, and Pitch Pipes.

A large stock of all kinds.
All the New Popular Music.
Litolff Editions of Standard Works.

E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

HORACE G. BROOKS,
BOOK BINDER
AND BLANK BOOK
MANUFACTURER.
226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

WM. M. HILL.
AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE
BROKER & APPRAISER.
HALE'S BLOCK.
223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

A SAFE INVESTMENT.
FIRST MORTGAGE LOANS,
Principal and interest guaranteed by the
LOMBARD INVESTMENT COMPANY.
For sale by
FRANK C. MERRILL,
At Warren National Bank.
oct 21—3m

(Continued from 2d page.)

saw the speaker dimly for the tears in their eyes.

Emily hurried her father out and away, she could not meet him there among so many. The homely good cheer provided for them by Hanner was partaken of, Father Bascombe talking the while about Mortimer and his sermon; but Emily stole away anxious to be alone with her thoughts, would he call, had all these years altered him save as she had seen him altered. For the first time for years she felt anxious about her appearance.

It was a pitiful tale her toilet glass had to tell; she doubted if he would know her, much less remember her with love; still her heart beat fast and hard as she heard his step on the walk.

He had come! She heard the greetings exchanged between him and her father, now, coming alone across the hall she hears his step.

A sudden desire seizes her to hide from him, to keep from him the sight of her changed form and face, but his hand is already on the door, with quick steps he reaches her side.

Emily, I have waited.

Oh! Mortimer, the Emily you waited for is gone, buried in the grave with her mother! I am almost an old woman, while you, you, with a little sob, have grown more and more in noble manhood!

Mortimer took both the little trembling hands in his and drew her toward the light; with a lover's fire in the tender eyes, he gazed upon the masses of raven hair which would and did curl in spite of the tight knot confining it low at the back of the little head; upon the thoughtful eyes wanting so much of their former brilliancy; the contour of cheek and chin wholly unlike the Emily of old; while he wondered did that patient mouth ever pout and ripple into laughter as it was wont to do in that sweet long ago. True, her beauty was quite gone, yet he saw that in her face, was a record of long years of unselfish devotion; sweet abnegation of self and a childlike trust, which wholly compensated him for what he missed.

My darling, you are beautiful to me, far more so than when life's lesson all unlearned, we pledged our troth. My life and work are incomplete without you. Come, and let me bring gladness and content into your life at last. With a long suffering patience he had waited; and now such as she was she could give herself to him once more, thinking perhaps even she could make him happy, she loved him so. Ah! little Emily you have no loss to regret, which is not more than replaced.

The sun is setting behind Sunset Hill—how like that night twelve years ago, but ah! how different. Close locked in his strong arms Emily watched the last sun rays fade away, knowing that upon her life the sun of love and gladness is risen never more to go down until in His own good time, He giveth his beloved sleep.

* * *

John P. Peasley, Esq., Supt. of schools at Cincinnati, Ohio, in speaking of the elegant work which we are offering as a premium, says: "Beyond question, Hollyer's portrait of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow is the most accurate and life-like that has appeared. The expression of his countenance is that of the Poet in deep meditation. Longfellow in his library sacred to all by its association with the memories of Washington, Everett and others. It is so well delineated by the artist that it brings vividly to mind the library, the portraits of Emerson, Hawthorne and Sumner upon the walls, the books upon the table, and the inkstand of Coleridge, the pen of the "beautiful Helen of Maine," the chair made of the "spreading chestnut tree"— the precious keepsakes into which are wrought

"the giver's loving thought."

It is a great work, and will speedily find its way into our cultured American homes."

* * *

One of the most attractive places in Boston is the cyclorama of the "Battle of Gettysburg." The large building at Tremont and Montgomery streets is daily thronged during the day and evening. School children and people of older growth have seized the opportunity of obtaining a vivid idea of one of the greatest battles in the world's history. One cannot imagine how this masterpiece looks until it is spread out before his eyes. To say the least, it is like transporting the spectator to an eligible position in the midst of the conflict. The children will find the forenoon the best time to visit this wonderful spectacle, and two descriptive lectures upon it are given each forenoon.

* * *

One of the prettiest Marches published this season is the G. A. R. Grand March by Wiegand, price 40 cents. Ign. Fischer, publisher, Toledo, O.

To create an appetite, and give tone to the digestive apparatus, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is unequalled.

Ice cutting has had a boom this week and good crops have been secured.

Beware of frauds—Be sure you get the genuine Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It cures Colds, Croup, Asthma, Deafness and Rheumatism.

STREET
GOSSIP
GLEANED
NOTES

I know that several young ladies of this town are carrying on a clandestine correspondence with strangers, whose acquaintance they have made through answering advertisements in papers. It seems harmless enough, girls, but remember that many of the men who write such letters would not find favor with your parents. A certain lady in this town commenced a correspondence with a man who advertised in the fashion magazine that she read, and thinking he would never know who she was wrote him fearful gushing letters and some that she is heartily ashamed of now. The man, who lives in a city not far from here, got drunk, was arrested and when searched the letters from this young lady were found on his person, and in this way reached her father who could not believe his daughter was the author of them. It was a good lesson for her and should be a warning to others.

The fashionable game of progressive euchre as some one has said is like the old fashioned dance of "Portland Fancy" and the friends most always have a chance to change partners. But I know of one young man who has soured on the game. It was started at a social gathering at his house and out of respect of his guest he consented to be the partner of one of the "old ladies." This one in particular was of crabbed disposition and had insisted on eating a generous supply of onions, the odor of which the young man tried to kill by offering her cloves, etc., which she always declined. The game was for a dozen cabinet photographs and all the evening the young man and his partner kept together as they moved from one table to another. So close did they stick that it was noticable and the company began to guy him. Finally he got desperate and tried to break up the game but to no purpose. At a late hour the game was concluded and when it closed it was the first time for two hours that a smile had illumined the face of the young man. After their departure he was heard to remark that he had "rather sit at the booby table all the time and pay for four dozen pictures, rather than pass another evening in such misery." Now he keeps out of sight till he sees who is invited before he selects a partner for the game.

It has just leaked out that more than three months ago one of our citizens, who owns a house and a small piece of land in the suburbs of the town, was swindled by a couple of sharpers in the following manner: A fine looking man representing himself as doing business in Boston called on the citizen and offered to buy his place. He concluded to take it at the price set but did not wish to pay for it before the first of January, but left a deposit of a small sum to bind the bargain. About three weeks later another party called and offered a larger amount for the place, and the citizen told him if he could make it all right with the first man he would sell to him. A few days later the first man put in an appearance, by accident of course, and he was told by the citizen that he didn't care to sell and offered to refund the guarantee money. The man insisted on the sale, threatening a law suit, etc., but finally agreed on a compromise, and the citizen paid him his guarantee money and a hundred and fifty dollars. The second party never called again.

I have received the following communication for this column:—In view of the agitation of the electric fire alarm, please do me the favor to ask a few questions to please me, in your old fashioned mule team shape, viz: After the abuse that was piled upon me for daring to talk electric fire alarm and giving an exhibition in town meeting of the practical working of the system that it is thought good to introduce now. Also the first swing harness that was put upon Hose 1 after heaps of trouble on the old man's mind and put on the shelf for a long time, is now first class; also two double set seem to be giving satisfaction. Any fool can ask questions but it takes a wise man to answer. Your Sparks reporter has a one sided affair.

Grand Old Party,
P. F. D.

* * *

Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents, all druggists.

Alleged maple sugar is in the market.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P. M.]

Dion Boucicault's new comedy more than justifies all the high expectations that were entertained. "The Jilt" found instant favor at its performance on the Boston Museum stage. Every representation since has gained the applause of large audiences. The comedy is excellently presented, and not a detail is left uncared for that could tend to heighten the effect of the production; As long as it can hold the stage "The Jilt" and its popular author actor are sure to prove a great attraction.

There is no need to commend either the Salsbury Troubadours or the piece in which they appear the present week at the Park. "Three of a Kind" has been laughed over and applauded in Boston, and it is certainly one of the best pieces of this successful organization. Sprightly Nellie McHenry will be seen as Dollie Dashwood; Mr. Nate Salisbury portrays Jack Potts, and the other characters are in good hands.

With a record of high success Mr. James O'Neill returned to the Globe for a brief series of performances last Saturday night. There is not at this time the slightest need of commending Mr. O'Neill's personation of Edmund Dantes in Dumas' great romantic play. Under the management of Mr. E. E. Zimmerman the star is surrounded by a carefully chosen company, and the special scenic effects which give this production so much interest are received with as much applause as though "Monte Cristo" were new to the stage. Mr. O'Neill's season in this familiar, ever popular drama will continue for the present week only.

An emotional actress who has attained elsewhere a great degree of success is to be the Bijou star this week—Miss Ada Gray. Supported by a special company under Charles A. Watkins' management the lady is to appear in her noted dual impersonification of Lady Isabel and Madame Vine in "East Lynne." In her performance Miss Gray is to have the co-operation of the company that appeared with her during her recent engagement at the Grand Opera House, New York.

Denman Thompson brings to the Boston in a fortnight, the ever welcome "Joshua Whitcomb."

A magnificent production of Romeo and Juliet" at the Boston will open the Mather engagement.

* * *

The Young Ladies' Journal for February from the International News Company of New York, is a welcome visitor to the feminine population. It contains the latest fashions in large quantities, besides pages of fancy work and new designs in each department. Its serial stories are the most fascinating of any publication in the country. Get a copy of the Peabody News Co.

* * *

For 20 years Henry F. Balcomb, of Shirley, Mass., suffered with rheumatism. He found no relief till he took Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The slanderer is abroad in the town. It is only the brainless that engage in it.

All sufferers from blood disorders can use Ayer's Sarsaparilla with the fullest assurance of happy results.

People rubbed their ears last week Friday, and had to hustle to keep warm while on the street.

A New Idea embraced in Ely's Cream Balm. Catarrh is cured by cleansing and healing, not by drying up. It is not a liquid or snuff, but is easily applied with the finger. Its effect is magical and a thorough treatment will cure the worst cases. Price 50c.

I suffered for more than ten years with that dreadful disease, catarrh, and used every available medicine which was recommended to me. I cannot thank you enough for the relief which your Cream Balm has afforded me.—Emanuel Meyers, Winfield, L. I.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. Wood, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. Balcom, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. Proudfoot, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
TRADE MARK
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. Royal Baking Powder Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2dB

GO TO
B. F. STEVENS
— FOR —
BANJOS,
ACCORDEONS,
HARMONICAS,
And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.
AGENT FOR
E. V. EMILIO.

6696
THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. Barnard, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.
Thomas B. Knight, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER!

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,
No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,
ALWAYS BEAT THEM.
WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2.85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3.50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, "	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, "	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, "	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every customer, "Out of your size, "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way, We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,
84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE,
LYNN, MASS.

REMEMBER
You can find a fine line of goods suitable for presents for the HOLIDAYS,
— AT —
BROWNE'S MILLNERY STORE
Essex St., Salem.
Also Bargains in all kinds of
Millinery, Trimmed Hats and bonnets,
will be sold very low during the Holidays.
SPECIAL NOTICE.
500 Wings and Fancy Feathers, your choice only $1.00. Regular price $2.50 to 4.00.
Mrs. J. H. Browne's
153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

HEADQUARTERS!
FOR
Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco
5 Cent Cigars.
Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.
10 Cent Cigars.
Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.
Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.
DANIEL J. SWEENEY
Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

IT IS A FACT

That the best place to buy

BOOTS, SHOES, RUBBERS, ETC.,

IS AT

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store,

We carry the largest and best selected stock, and sell our goods ten per cent. less than any other dealer in this vicinity. Read this

BARGAIN BULLETIN:

Ladies' Slippers,	$ .35
" Hand-sewed or Tip Congress,	.75
" Glove Polish, hand-sewed,	.90
" Glove Top, Kid Foxed, button,	1.50
Misses' Slippers,	.20
" Kid Button,	1 00
" Grain Button,	1.00
Children's Grain Button, 7 to 10,	.65
" Kid Button, 7 to 10,	.90
Men's Calf Boots, sewed,	2.50
" Rubber Boots,	2.00
" Rubbers,	.40
" Slippers,	.10
Boys' Button Boots, solid leather,	1.25
Youths' " " " "	1.00

And a host of other bargains which must be seen to be appreciated. Save money by trading at

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,

Editors and Publishers.

THE NEWBURYPORT Valley Visitor, the organ of Mr. Colby, one of the County Commissioners, has an article which suggests the position of the Commissioners with reference to the Truant School. While admitting that they are bound by law to establish such a school, they say, or Mr. Colby says, that they have no money, that there is a probability of the repeal of the present law, and that a school, under the law, as it now exists, would not be a success.

If the present Legislature should repeal the truant law, or change it, we are inclined to the opinion, on reflection, that the delay on the part of the Commissioners may be wisdom. There certainly is much to be said in support of their position. There is no doubt that something must be done to check truancy in this vicinity. But whether a school, established as the law now is, would be the true remedy is a question. Mr. Colby says it is not the remedy—that the boys and children who are truants are in the vicinity of ten years, that if sent to the school they would remain but a short time, and would vibrate to and fro, like the inmates of a house of correction.

It is easy for the School Committee of this town—of any town—to say to the County Commissioners, "establish a truant school." Truancy is an evil of which perhaps this town is as sensible as any other in the county. There is need of some law or some school, as a remedy. But the more we are led to look into the matter, the more sympathy we have for the Commissioners. And if it should be found that they, looking behind the letter of the present law, have seen that obedience to the wishes of the towns meant the failure of a school, and needless expense to the County, the voters certainly will approve of their course. But they should see to it that their views are so brought before the Legislature as that their action will be commended or condemned. If the present law needs changing they should see that such necessity is presented to the Legislature. Unless the law as it stands is repealed, the Commissioners will be compelled to make a test case of the school in this vicinity, whether they will or not.

* * *

IT IS NOT too early to bear in mind that the day of the annual town meeting approacheth. It is not too early to consider whether any changes are necessary to improve our town—its policy, its expenditures or its government.

We hope that this year the election of a separate Board of Selectmen and Assessors will be accomplished. The Board of Assessors should not be the Selectmen. It is time a radical change in this thing was brought about. Leading citizens of all parties favored it last year; the strong movement in opposition to the nominees of the citizens caucus led to the election of the old Board, both as Selectmen and Assessors, and prevented the division, which would have been satisfactory to all parties.

We believe a better board of Selectmen, a better Board of Assessors can be elected by the division of the two Boards. We trust this will be taken into consideration by the leaders of the different tickets which may be in the field.

* * *

Our readers will not forget the announcement of Almy, Bigelow & Washburn on our second page. There advertisement shows that they are truly "moving right along," and if we are not much mistaken our readers will "move right along" after the bargains which are always to be found in this establishment.

Gen. Swift's Lecture.

The Town Hall was well filled last Sunday evening to listen to Gen. John L. Swift on "Home Rule." After a selection by the South Church choir, Rev. Mr. Sprague read selections of scripture, Rev. Mr. Smith offered prayer, and the speaker was introduced by Henry H. Proctor, Esq., who complimented the large audience present for the evident interest in the temperance work. They needed every man to express his interest as in years past.

Gen. Swift in opening referred to the motto to be found on the walls of nearly every house in the land, "God bless our home." We never can have just local rule, unless we strive to do ourselves what we ask God to do for the home. In Peabody there was a population of 9500; of this number one quarter were probably minors to whom no liquor could be sold; one-half were women, who were unanimous against the sale of intoxicants. This left about one quarter, or about 2200 votes. Last year about 1100 voted no license—representing the women and the minors, and the thrift of the community. There were about 1100 others who believed in liquor drinking and liquor selling. Which shall rule? That is the question before us. The saloon was a scourge to our town, and the temperance speaker was inclined to speak plainly and gloss over nothing. There were two difficulties in the way of temperance work. 1st, the desire on the part of men to gratify a depraved appetite, and (2d) the consent of the community to allow that depraved appetite to be gratified.

Whoever occupies the temperance platform should aim at a mark and endeavor to bring down something at every shot. The man who did not tread on somebody's corns did not amount to much. What shall be done with this evil? It was worth while to inquire what the best element was doing to crush out the evil. He defined the best element as the religious element—or the reform element. Both meant nearly the same. True home rule endeavors first, to stop drinking and, second, to stop selling. The temperance that drives out the dens of crime, that prevents the selling of liquor, that sets an example of the highest type of manhood, is good enough to live and die by. Temperance, as the speaker regarded it, was not defined by the lexicographer.

The speaker did not dare to teach anything but abstinence and public removal of temptation. The trouble often was we did not apply remedies at hand. Those who should give us counsel often leave us and go over to the other side. We find an obstacle in great cities. Wherever the worst element is permitted to legalize the saloon, the best element is responsible for it. We need a revival of patriotism in the community—a lifting up of public sentiment so high that the rum shop will fall. The work should start with ourselves. We should begin here at home. A great many are trying to discover a universal remedy in this temperance agitation, and neglect the particular remedy before it. The main question with us is, what can Peabody do? If you don't drive out the saloon, it will drive out the peace of the community. Already it has driven out the peace from many hearts.

That church does not do its duty when it closes up its doors at 9 o'clock Sunday nights and allows these liquor dens to keep open every night. We want some force to blow up these gates of hell. They say we have not the will or power. We know better than this in Peabody. The speaker referred to the state of Georgia, where the people had scattered the saloons and left joyful households. Here where the pilgrim flag floats, if we are to receive less than Georgia, let us pack up, go South and learn how to protect our homes. The stolid indifference of our best citizens is the great difficulty. The speaker desired to appeal to reason and not emotion. Yet it was out of the power of man to exaggerate this evil. It was not possible to overstate it. The amount paid by the country for local taxation, the support of schools and everything, amounted to about twenty-four million dollars. There was spent for liquor in the same time over fifty millions of dollars. We have no right but to secure the greatest good of the greatest number. For that we carry on a system of education for our children. Against that the saloon works ever. Society says, come into the schools, put your money in the Savings Bank. The saloon says, come in here, read the Police Gazette, don't put your money in the Savings Bank, but leave it here. The question is, whether the saloon is to become a fixed part of our social system, or whether it shall go out with the mark of Cain upon it. We ask too, that the schools shall teach that alcohol is a poison, and that the community shall never consent to license—high or low. When you permit a man to do wrong if he will pay for it, you strike at the roots of public morality. Every one can set the best example and vote "no" louder than last year, and put in officers of the town who will see that the will of the people is enforced.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

A farm hand named Thomas Herkins, belonging in this town, was taken suddenly bleeding at the lungs last Friday, while in Salem, and fainted from the loss of blood. He was taken to the house of Dr. Hersey, and in a few hours was ready to resume his journey.

A widow lady named Costello living on Walnut street, has been sick with a fever, and last Wednesday night during the delirium of the disease, she rose from the bed, and lifting the window, jumped out in the snow, a distance of nearly five feet with only her nightdress on and before the attendants could prevent her. No serious results are anticipated by the attending physician.

The air was full of rumors this morning concerning a conflict at the post office between Mr. David T. Winter, the well known inventor, and Mr. Charles E. Hoag, editor and proprietor of the Peabody Reporter. After considerable research we could find no witnesses to the assault, but the facts appear at this writing as follows: Mr. Winter entered the post office accompanied by his dog, and Hoag commenced to pat the animal on the head, when Winter ordered him to take his hands off the animal one or more times, and as he did not comply, he drew off and struck him a powerful blow under the jaw. Although there were several persons present at the time when appealed to by Hoag, they denied seeing any assault committed. Mr. Winter carries one arm in a sling. A warrant was sworn out and the case will come up before Judge Merrill at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

A cock fight took place between two Peabody birds in this town last Wednesday night, and was attended by lovers of that kind of engagements. The fight was managed by members of a club room, and invitations were sent to an exclusive few.

A blind boy was soliciting funds about town last Saturday, and some one who thought to be funny, had added under his petition, which he presented to the charitably inclined, the words "If you havn't got money give us a rest."

Mrs. John Holloran was struck over the eye with a snow ball on Foster street, last Wednesday, and the left optic was nearly closed up and it is now black and blue.

Last Friday noon Mr. Charles Jones, engineer at Harry Moore's morocco shop at the corner of Wallis and Walnut street, while cleaning his engine, caught his fingers, and so badly crushed them, that two of them were amputated at the first and second joint. The man lived in Salem.

Mr. Richard O'Connell froze both his hands last Friday night. He will be unable to use them for some time and has been removed to the Almshouse.

Two men in a team collected quite a crowd around them on Central street, above the railroad station last Saturday afternoon, and sold six sticks of cough candy for 25 cents, and told the purchaser there was from 25 cents to $5.00 in the packages, and they stood a chance of drawing. One man seemed to have great luck and in fact drew all the money prizes. After taking most of the small change the crowd, including the newsboys, had, amounting perhaps to $5 or $6, they drove off to pastures new and suckers more flush. It was a skin game.

Another skin game was worked on a servant girl employed by one of our wealthy families. She is a Swede, and the other day a man of her own country called on her, and said he was from Brockton, and he had lost his pocketbook. She let him have five dollars, and has not heard from him since.

Yesterday afternoon as an empty hack, belonging to John Linehan, was crossing the railroad track, the breeching broke, and while the driver was removing the horses, one of them was frightened and ran away with the coach which was on runners, and turned in between the PRESS office and Mrs. Osborne's, breaking the pole.

Capt. William Mitchell who formerly dispensed the ardent under license rule at South Peabody, was arraigned in the Superior court yesterday, charged with violating the liquor laws of Salem. The evidence showed that rooms were rented over No. 17 1-2 Front street, Salem, and that a club was duly incorporated under the name of the Naumkeag Club, and the object was the social and literary "improvement of its members." Mr. Mitchell was secretary and treasurer, no assessment had been made on the members, but they were liable to assessment; the records of the club consisted mostly in the names of parties who were voted in, and there seemed to be no particular qualification for membership. The literature consisted of the Boston Herald, Salem News and Police Gazette; there was a bar and members paid for what they drank. Mitchell was found guilty.

A pung, loaded with manure, got stuck on the Wallis street R. R. crossing yesterday noon, just as the train from Boston was due at 12.55. The Lowell freight was also just coming down on the other track. Both trains had to be stopped and there was considerable confusion for a time. No harm done.

Mr. M. F. Batchelder, who resides on Central street, has been suffering for some time with a cancer on the face, and last Thursday he went to the Salem Hospital, where a very successful operation has been performed, and Mr. Batchelder is getting along nicely.

Mr. Hallowell of the firm of Hallowell & Smiley met with an accident yesterday in getting off his sleigh in Salem. He made a misstep, and fell striking his chin, cutting it quite severely.

An item in these columns last week did an injustice to Mrs. O'Brien, the lady who fell and broke her leg on Tremont street. She was not intoxicated at the time, nor is she in the habit of drinking. The story was started by a malicious neighbor.

John Keefe was arrested last Monday on a capias and taken to the superior court for sentence. He was defaulted in the assault case of Michael Lucy.

At the Superior Court in Salem, yesterday, James Corbett was defaulted. Margaret Doyle was found guilty of selling liquor. The case of Elizabeth McCarthy was on trial. John Keefe, for assault had his case put on file. Michael Carney was fined $100 and costs.

John Crowley and his wife came to this town last November, and engaged board with Mrs. Ellen Barry, and the former went to work in the Bleachery. As they were in destitute circumstances, Mrs. Barry did not get her pay the first month and the money was spent for clothing. There was another months' pay due this week, and Mrs. Barry had been promised her pay. Last Friday, Crowley drew his pay and left for Lawrence, where he was followed by Mrs. Barry, who found him in the lockup with no money. His wife has removed to Spring street.

James Mack for being drunk, was fined $5.83 yesterday.

* * *

THE RIDICULOUS blunder made by the last Legislature, regarding the hours for the sale of liquor, should be remedied this year. We refer to the provision forbidding the sale of intoxicants after eleven o'clock P. M. It was doubtless the intent of the legislators, or the Committee, to have the saloons close at that hour—but they did not say so. And while the law says the saloons shall close at 12, it says no liquor shall be sold after 11. But the law cannot compel the saloon to close at that hour, and the natural question is what are they doing the other hour,—for many of them do not close at eleven o'clock.

Some saloon keepers, understanding the intent of the law, and preferring not to keep open any later, close their doors. But practically that part of the law is a dead letter. How could it be otherwise? There is no reason why the saloons, in towns and cities where licenses are granted, should not be made to close at as early an hour as eleven o'clock. But in order to do this, the time for the discontinuance of the sale of liquor and for closing the saloons, must agree. And there must be a clear statement regarding it. We hope such an agreement will be made this year.

* * *

Rev Mr. Lamson, of Manchester, will preach this evening at the Methodist church.

The ice on Brown's pond is all cut and work has been begun on Spring pond.

Read James Howley's new advertisement on the fifth page. Nothing of the kind was ever offered the public before.

The President has appointed Geo. M. Stearns, of Chicopee, as United States District Attorney for Massachusetts. It is a good appointment and one which will give general satisfaction.

The Milford Journal last week devoted a large amount of its space to the "Division" question which made it doubly interesting to home people.

A single complimentary ticket of admission sent to this office means the want of proper knowledge of the rules of etiquette on the part of the sender.—Cambridge Press.

The many friends of Emery E. Kent, the tailor, will regret to learn of his intention to leave Brockton and engage in business in another city. Mr. Kent has, by strict attention to his business, worked up a large trade of the best class and has become very popular among his patrons. He leaves the city about March 15th to associate himself with Mr. J. Frank Boynton of Salem, and together these gentlemen will be proprietors of the largest and handsomest store in that place. The business will be similar to that now conducted by Mr. Kent in this city, except that ready made clothing will be added, and the establishment will be conducted on a very large scale. Mr. Kent offers his business in this city for sale, and his friends, while regretting his departure, will wish him much success in his new venture.—Brockton Gazette.

PEABODY.

Sibley Unlaundered Shirts at F. D. Tarletons. *

Rev. R. R. Kendall of Boxford, will supply the pulpit at the South church next Sunday.

Officers Phalen, Ferren, Johnson and Fifield are substituting for the night watch.

The largest assortment of Ladies' wrappers can be found at Tarltons' 42 Main street. *

It will be seen by advertisement in another column that the firm of McElligott & Gould have dissolved. W. H. Gould & Co., will continue.

The truant officer finds that the pupils of the Endicott school do not take kindly to going back to school in their new quarters and he is kept pretty busy.

On our second page will be found an original story of more than ordinary merit, written for this paper. We have another and longer one from the same pen which we shall publish later.

Thos. E. Proctor was chosen from the Shoe & Leather Association in Boston to attend the funeral of the late John G. Webster to-day. The shop of Webster Co., in this town is closed.

Mr. Arthur Elliott and Mr. Harry Thomas, of Salem, will open a fish market on Caller street, taking the shop formerly occupied by Forness & Pierce. A fine line of fish will be offered at reasonable prices.

It is reported that the editor of the new edition of Webster's dictionary, President Porter of Yale, has decided to admit "bulldozing," "boycott" and "dude" into its precincts, but is hesitating about "mugwump".

Mr. Charles F. Barker, the well known checker player, recently won the match of fifty games between himself and A. J. Heffner of Providence. Forty eight games were drawn. Barker won two and Heffner one.

What do they say about Kent's Bronchial Remedy? That it is the best they ever used. Most of our readers have had a chance to try it, as the proprietor, Mr. Wm. T. Lee, has been sending around sample bottles this week.

The retail shoe dealers are getting up the biggest kind of a national convention to be held in Boston this week. All the New England governors who rule over any shoe factories are invited and the mayors of shoe cities likewise.

The Salem & Danvers road have reduced their help and will not run as many trips on the Peabody branch. They have also reduced the fare from 10 cents cash to three tickets for twenty-five cents from Salem, or Peabody to Danvers.

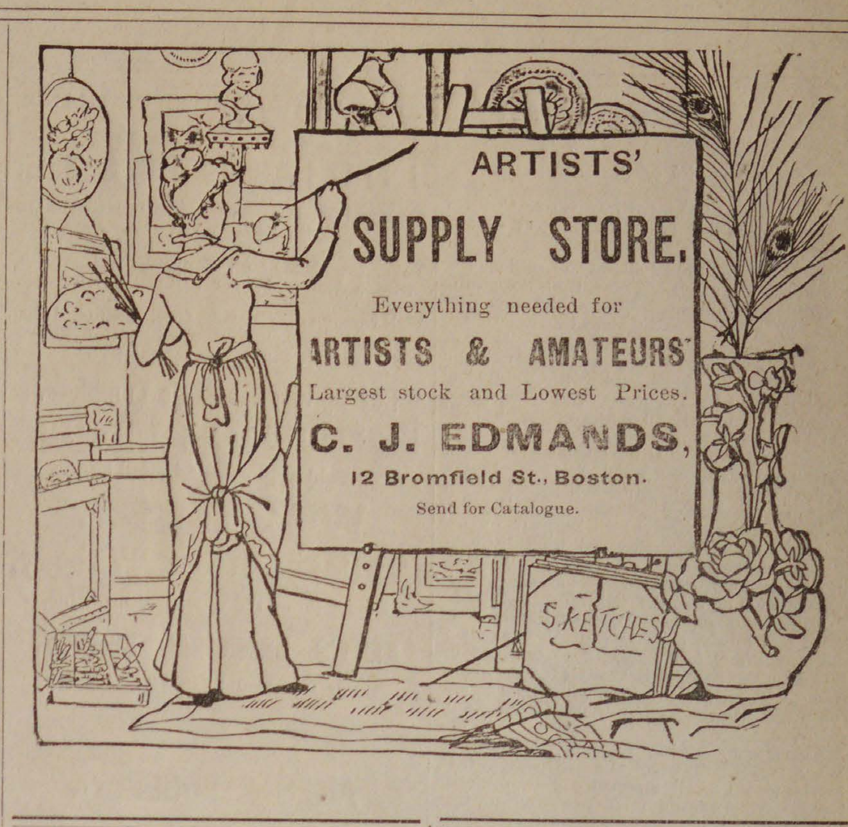
Prizes from the Gloucester poultry show came to this town as follows: Dark Brahmas, First on pens; Game Bantams first on fowls; Dark Brahmas second on fowls; Polish Bearded Golden second and third and special on fowls to Charles M. Poor.

A scientist says the earth's surface is slowly changing, and what is a valley to-day may be a mountain a million years hence. A man who contemplates erecting a residence in the valley should remember this and be prepared to find his house on the top of a high mountain in the year 1,001,886.

There is some talk among the Temperance folks of bringing St. John here to lecture. We fear if they do they will make a mistake. There are many who will never forgive nor forget St. John's course in the last campaign. His words would have little weight with the audience.

The Sunday Globe stated that the late Parker Richardson walked from Danvers, Mass., to Alfred, Maine, a distance of seventy-five miles, between sunrise and sunset. This is doubtless a mistake. If any man has done this, it ought to be told to his credit, but Mr. Richardson's daughters and sister do not remember that he ever did so. He many times walked from this town to Hudson, N. H., to visit his father, in one day, and on one occasion during a night, leaving here after supper and eating his breakfast at his father's. This was a distance of over forty miles, and seems a fair days journey for a man.

John G. Webster, of the firm of Webster & Co., of this town and Boston, died Sunday morning at his residences Boston. Mr. Webster was well known to all the leather trade; his firm was one of the oldest and most respected in this branch of business. Mr. Webster was born in Portsmouth, N. H., but soon went to Boston, and his firm had large factories outside of the city. At the opening of the Revere Beach R. R. he was much interested in it—in fact was one of the largest stockholders. He took considerable interest in municipal politics, and had been a member of the Common Council and of the lower branch of the State Legislature. He was an active member of the Law and Order League. His age was about 74 years. His funeral was observed today.



ARTISTS' SUPPLY STORE.

Everything needed for

ARTISTS & AMATEURS

Largest stock and Lowest Prices.

C. J. EDMANDS,

12 Bromfield St., Boston.

Send for Catalogue.

EDITORS OF THE PRESS:—Your own and other papers speak in kind terms of my age and life work, good friends, through the thoughtful and loving instrumentality of Mrs. John Osborne, have added to my purse and relieved me from anxiety as to present personal wants, and many dear souls have demonstrated to me their love. This is very cheering, and I desire through your columns to thank my many friends. The flowers on a coffin, and loving words said of one lying therein, never stir and warm the cold heart, but the fragrance and love from true affection that comes to us while we live, must make us more fit for heaven. My friends will have no need to put flowers on my coffin, for they are making my pathway to the grave very pleasant. As it is written, "He which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully," for "God is able to make all grace abound toward" those who turn my mind from dreading the Alms House. The administration of this service" not only supplies my wants, but is abundant also by many thanksgivings to God. With a grateful heart I am praying that the "exceeding grace of God" be the reward of all the friends of SALLY RICHARDSON.

Peabody, Feb. 9, 1886.

The Salem Gaslight Company on Monday afternoon elected the following Directors: Wm. H. Jelly (President), S. O. Dalrymple, G. W. Pease, H. T. Conant and W. H. Kendall; Treasurer, David Moore; Clerk, B. W. Sluman. The company has made 41,600,000 cubic feet of gas the past year—more than ever before.

Lord & Fuller, the architect, are making the plans for the new school house.

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning.

W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.

Open Every Evening.

New Advertisements.

NOTICE.

At the annual meeting of the corporation of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank, held Wednesday, Jan. 27, 1886, the following named persons were elected as trustees and to fill the offices as indicated below, all of whom have accepted and been duly qualified.

A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.

PRESIDENT.

Rufus H. Brown.

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,
Lewis Allen,
Chas. B. Farley,
Geo. F. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,
John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,
Stephen Blaney,
Lewis Allen,
Chas. B. Farley,
Geo. F. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,
John A. Lord,
Benj. S. Wheeler,
Wm. H. Little,
Aaron W. Warren,
Alex. B. Merrill,
C. Warren Osborne,
Geo. S. Osborne,
Nathl. Symonds.
Aaron F. Clark,
Albert A. Messer,
John Pinder,
Wm P. Clark
Reuben G. Nelson,
Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,

Albert H. Merrill.

At the annual meeting of the Trustees of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank, held Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1886, the following named persons were chosen a Committee of Investment for the ensuing year:

Rufus H. Brown.
Lewis Allen,
C. Warren Osborne.
Alex. B. Merrill,
Nathl. Symonds.

A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.

FOR SALE.

THE REAL ESTATE

Of the late Franklin Osborn, situated on

FOSTER, OAK AND WINTER STREETS.

53,000 feet of Land, Three Dwelling Houses and other Buildings.

Apply to

F. OSBORN, Jr., & CO.

feb 10—tf

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of Mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the first day of October, A. D. 1873, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 890, leaf 181, and by virtue of the further power of sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the administrators of his estate dated the ninth day of June, A. D. 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, Feb. 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land, being a part of the lands conveyed by said mortgage deed to wit:

A parcel of land situated in said Peabody on the northerly side of Walnut street, bounded thus, viz, beginning on said street at land of Joseph S. Hodgkins and thence running southeasterly by said street three hundred and ninety-eight feet to land formerly of Benjamin F. K. Jennings; thence northeasterly by said land formerly of Jennings, parallel to and eighteen inches distant; northwesterly from the northwesterly side of the planks at the westerly side of the canal which runs through said land formerly of Jennings, fifty-one feet and two inches; thence southeasterly by said land formerly of Jennings, twenty-five feet and nine inches; thence northeasterly by land late of Francis K. Pemberton, forty-nine and one-half feet; thence northwesterly by other land late of said Hardy and by land late of William Bushby, deceased, four hundred and seventeen feet and six inches; thence southwesterly by land of said Hodgkins, one hundred and four feet to Walnut street and point begun at.

Subject to all the reservations and conditions referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL Treas.
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

Peabody, Feb. 3, 1886. 3t

FOURTH WEEK

— OF —

BEE-HIVE

ANNUAL DONATION SALE.

300 pcs. Hamburg Edgings for 2c, 3c, 5c and 8c yd;

Values never offered before in Salem.

- Men's 2 button Kids, 8 and 8 1-4 inch, 9c per pair.
- 95doz. all linen Bleached Damask Napkins, (square, not brick shape), for 35c per doz. Not more than one doz. to each customer. If the Napkin being offered for 37c is worth the price, our 55c ones are worth $2
- 15 pcs 18 inch all linen Diaper, 50 cents pc.; well worth 75c pc.
- 15 doz. Misses' colored fleece lined Hose, 12 1-2, 15 and 17c a pair, worth double the price.
- 25 doz. all linen Towels, 19x36, for only 6 1-4 cts. each; well worth 10 cts each
- 250 gross Metal Dress Buttons, 2 doz. on card for only 5 cts. card; regular price, 25 cts. doz.
- 50 doz. Ladies' Gingham Aprons, 10 cts. each; regular price, 25 cts.
- 5000 papers of Pins, 1 cent a paper.
- 50 doz. Ladies' plain all linen Handkerchiefs 5c each; well worth $1 per doz.

Great sale of Housekeeping Goods now in progress.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

PROBATE NOTICE,

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-law, and others interested in the Estate of MARY HORRIGAN, late of Peabody, in said county, widow, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Timothy T. Riordan, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first Monday of March, next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J T. MAHONEY, Register.

feb 10—3t

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The co partnership heretofore existing between the firm of Elligott & Gould, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by W. H. Gould & Co., at the old stand on Foster Street.

W. H. GOULD,
CHAS. B. ELLIGOTT.

Peabody, March 9, 1886.

FOUND.

A black and brown setter dog about nine months old. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges.

WM. F. DUFFY,
Rear of Caller St., Peabody.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Feb, 10, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Miss Nellie T. Holland, daughter of David Holland, died at 12 o'clock Friday noon, Feb. 5, at her residence, 23 Franklin street. She was born in Salem, March 9, 1857, where she received her early education. At the age of nine years she accompanied her parents to Peabody, where she continued to live with them up to the hour of her death. Shortly after finishing her education in the Grammar school, she entered the employ of John P. Peabody, and remained there for a few years, when she was employed by Almy, Bigelow & Washburn, where she remained until she was obliged to retire on account of sickness. Her calm and gentle disposition won for her a numerous host of friends and made her a special object of endearment to the members of her family, who, while they deeply mourn her loss, humbly submit to the divine will of Him, who rules all for the best. The funeral services were held at St. John's church at 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, where the remains were viewed by a large number of her former associates. The floral offerings were a large and beautiful cross, presented by her faithful friend and associate, Mr. John G. Donahoe. A magnificent pillow, on which was inscribed the word "Rest," from the firm of Almy, Bigelow & Washburn. A lyre from her former associates of the same firm. Private offerings by Mr. E. J. Duggan and Miss Eva Blanchard, together with many other floral tributes, gifts of relatives and friends, manifested the high esteem in which she was held by them. For such kind expresions of sympathy—the family who are more intimately affected by her loss, return most heartfelt thanks.

Peabody and Salem have never had better railroad accommodations than at present. They are connected with Boston by the Boston and Maine Railroad over two lines of travel, via Wakefield and via Lynn. Trains are frequent, and the five ride ticket for $1.50 reduces the fare to Boston to a minimum of thirty cents, or less than two cents per mile, the standard for the railroad tariff in many States. There is also the Boston and Lowell Railroad from Salem to Lowell, and via Wilmington to Boston, and we are also tied to Lawrence by iron bonds. Business men of Salem fear that these new railroad movements will tend to a war of cheap fares to Boston, the effect of which would be very damaging to the local merchants. The places are also connected with the Revere Beach Road by horse cars and competition from the narrow guage is feared.

A powerful religious revival has been going on for several weeks in this town among the evangelical churches. Nothing equaling it in fervor has been known here for many years. The meetings have been protracted till after ten o'clock. At some of these meetings people would get on their things and start for home, only to return and continue to take part in the meeting, and only when the gas was being turned out, would they leave the church. Quite a number of new converts have been made, and meetings will be held all this week.

This is the way to treat frost bites, says an exchange, and we publish it for the benefit of our sparks reporter who froze his ears last Friday. Paint the part frozen at first once, and afterwards twice a day with dilute nitric acid and peppermint water in equal proportions. After this application has been made for three or four days the skin becomes darkened and the epidermis is shed, healthy skin appearing under it. The cure is effected in from ten to fourteen days.

Last Wednesday the Chinese celebrated their New Year and we suppose, but have not been informed officially, that Sangers' Chinese laundry was closed for the day. At any rate we imagined the proprietor remarking, ' No workee to-dlay, but all eatee, smokee and drinkee all dlay, have bullee timee." For further information about the celebration and the excellent quality of the work done there, inquire of " Chully."

The county commissioners have passed a vote that all convicts in the houses of correction of Essex county shall only be employed in these institutions, or upon the land of the county, and not upon land belonging to other parties, or labor belonging to other parties. This is to prevent the letting out of the labor of county convicts.

The telephone company have issued a new list of subscribers, and it contains many errors, among them locating our genial doctor, C. C. Pike, in Beverly. The book contains nearly a hundred less names than in July. In Peabody there were 63 instruments at that time, when there are only 38 now.

Wilson Brothers, tanners, accept the price list of the K. of L.

Where Hours go Merrily.

The private party at the rink last Thursday evening was equal to the former as far as sociability and a good time was concerned, but the extremely cold weather prevented a large attendance. Another will be held Tuesday evening, February 16th.

The St. John's C. T. A. Society have hired the rink for a grand skating and dancing party on Monday evening March 8th. An attractive programme will be presented. Tickets are now in the hands of the committee.

The Murray Club have so many friends that it is scarcely necessary to mention that their annual social assembly takes place at Town Hall to-morrow evening. Music by the Salem Cadet Orchestra.

The 40th Farmers' Institute of Essex Agricultural Society at Ipswich, on Friday next. Subject in the forenoon, "Climate Influences on Agriculture," opened by M. W. Bartlett of West Newbury. Afternoon subject: "Is Raising Stock and Fattening Beef practical for Essex County?" opened by Charles S. Peabody, of Topsfield.

They say the rink band is discoursing some very fine music now days.

The West Peabody people had a dance last Wednesday night which was well attended, people being present from Danvers and Lynnfield.

The interest in the meetings of the Electric Debating Society are on the increase, and the attendance last Wednesday was very fair, and the subject concerning the benefit of the numerous horse railroads to the town of Peabody, was fully discussed. This evening the subject is, Resolved, That religious revivals are an injury to the churches.

Dr. James E. Hedley lectured to a fair audience last Thursday night in the Institute Course, on the "Sunny Side of Life." The lecturer quickly put the audience in good humor and he eloquently and pleasantly portrayed the happier side of life and many kindly words of advice were given. It was indeed the sunny side of life that was enjoyed at that lecture. This closes the lectures in the free course and Mr. George M. Foster and his associates on the committee are to be congratulated on the excellent course as a whole, which has been presented.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Rand on Lowell street celebrated the 19th anniversary of their wedded life last Thursday evening. There were present a number of young people who passed the evening in games and social chat. Mr. G. N. Winslow read several pleasing selections. A supper was served and quickly dispatched.

Rev. O. S. Butler of Georgetown will speak before the West Peabody Farmers' Club, Friday Evening, Feb. 12, on Breeding and Training of the family horse.

Remember Mr. Leland T. Powers in the "Rivals" at the Institute this evening. Give him a good house.

The celebrated Milo brothers will appear at the rink this evening and give a fine exhibition. Those who saw them on their former visit will want to go again.

Mr. E. D. McLaughlin, the well known contortionist of this town, has just closed a successful engagement at Batchelder & Keith's Dime Museum at Boston.

Miss Eliza, daughter of Mr. A. B. Clark, was given a surprise party the other evening by a party of her young companions, and during the evening she was presented with a gold ring.

The "Scabs" and "Strikers" played polo last Friday at the rink, and the scabs in this case came in first best. Score 8 to 2.

A large audience was present at the rink Saturday evening and much enjoyed the fine exhibition and wonderful feats performed by Archie and George Daly.

At the rink Feb. 17 the Wilmots will appear in their graceful exhibitions on the bicycle.

Only a small audience greeted J. S. Murphy in "Kerry Gow" at town hall, last Saturday night. The company was good and those present enjoyed the performance. It is expected they will appear later in the season under the auspices of a local organization.

L. A. 2947 have another social dance to-morrow evening.

Union Post 50 G. A. R. are talking of a grand camp fire to take place soon to be addressed by prominent men in the department.

The second social skating and dancing party by Hose 1, at the rink last Wednesday evening, was attended by some 500 people. The game of polo between the North End Boat Club and the Enterprise Boat Club, both of Salem, was called at 9.15, and was won by the Enterprise club in two minutes. As the game was the largest number of goals in 30 minutes time was called before the second goal was won and the $25 went to the Enterprise. The company netted a neat little sum by the two parties, and will hold another later in the season.

Miss Lina McPherson was given a surprise party last evening, at the house of William Dean, by some one hundred of her young friends. There was music by the Salem Band, readings by G. N. Winslow and vocal music by Miss McPherson and others. The party broke up at a late hour, after partaking of a bountiful collation.

About twenty of the shopmates of Eugene B. Neil, from Lynn, drove from that city last evening in a sleigh, and before returning presented him with an elegant hanging lamp.

Master Bacon will appear at the rink in the character of Sally Dillworthy, Saturday afternoon and evening. She never flirts and always minds her mother.

The Sunday school teachers of St. John's Sunday school will have a sleigh ride, Friday evening, Feb. 12, 1886.

SPARKS.

Last Friday noon at 1 10 o'clock an alarm was given for a slight fire in the large hen coop owned by George Walton, near the morocco shop of H. A. Southwick on Lowell street. The department turned out, and Hose 1 laid a line of hose, but the water was not turned on as the fire had been put out by the employes of Southwick's shop. The fire was caused by the overheating of a stove, setting the woodwork on fire, and the flames running up burned the bottom out of a bag containing a large lot of hens feathers, which dropped on the hot stove causing a dense smoke. Frank D. Heylingberg, of the Hook & Ladder, discovered the fire and gave the alarm in the shop, and the men turned out with buckets, getting water from the large tank which supplies the boiler at Southwick's. A large quantity of water was thrown in the building before the flames were extinguished. There were 100 hens in the building, but none were burned. Steamer 1 in answering the alarm, went out of the house at a lively rate, and the hose jumper was slewed around, coming in contact with the horse car track, breaking the felloes and nearly all the spokes in one wheel and several spokes in the other. There were six men on the carriage at the time, but luckily the wheels held together, and they got off in safety. The jumper was taken to Dole & Osgood's where one new wheel and part of the other will be put on. The car tracks have been in a bad condition ever since the snow set in, being fully six inches below the level of the street.

The firemen of the Central Station have engaged the large town hall for Fast Eve and will hold their sixth annual ball in that hall, removing the three center rows of seats for the dancing surface. The lower hall will be used as the supper room. A promenade concert will be held in the hall one hour previous to the grand march by a full brass band of twenty pieces. It is intended that this shall be the best ball ever held by the firemen in this town. Tickets will be on sale next week by the firemen.

The Directors of the Relief Association will hold their quarterly meeting Thursday evening.

The ball committee will hold an adjourned meeting Friday evening.

A petition is in circulation for a hose carriage and house to be located in some part of Dublin, and the matter will be brought up in Town meeting. There is no mistake but what some protection should be afforded that part of the town beyond what they now have, but it looks to us as though the end would be better reached by establishing the fire alarm telegraph, with one or more boxes in Dublin, as with a prompt alarm the apparatus from the central station could arrive on the spot before the company of a carriage in that section could rally.

Monday evening about 5 o'clock, a gas pipe in a drying loft, over one of the tannery buildings at Proctor's, was broken in some way, setting fire to the woodwork, and but for the timely discovery would have resulted seriously. Water had no effect on the flaming gas, but a bucket of snow smothered it and extinguished the blaze. The automatic extinguisher has not been put into this loft as yet.

Steamer 1 will hold a meeting and clam chowder this evening.

* * *

A meeting of the South society was held Monday evening, and it was voted to concur with the church in its call to Rev. Geo. A. Hall, of Hartford Ct., to become pastor of the parish. The salary was fixed at $1600.

Mr. John Osborne and wife and Mrs. Joseph Osborne and son Eddie will leave town to-morrow on a Raymond excursion to California. They will probably return in April.

Mr. Philip H. Saunders, an old farmer living at West Peabody, died at his home on Lowell street last Saturday of softening of the brain. He was 85 years, 7 months and 30 days old.

The school committee have awarded the contract for re-building the Endicott school house to George E. Spaulding for $3495. There were two other bids. This does not include the furnishing.

Mrs. W. G. Sperry was in town yesterday.

W. B. GIFFORD & CO.,

ANNUAL SALE OF

HAMBURGS.

Full and complete line of Edges and Insertings of the finest quality and best workmanship.

Flouncings and all overs in great variety. Best assortment in the city.

ANNUAL CORSET SALE.

We keep a full line of Dr. Warner's goods in all his specialties, Coraline, Health, Nursery, Abdominal, etc., also R. & G. double bone and the imitation P. D. We also carry the French P. D. Corset in the most desirable styles. Jenne DeArc for stout ladies a specialty.

W. B. Gifford & Co.

77 & 79 MARKET ST., LYNN.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

From now until the first of March, to make room for Spring goods, I shall make special prices on Overcoatings, Suitings and Pantaloonings. These goods comprise the finest Foreign goods in neat and genteel patterns, and will be cut, trimmed and made in my usual good style, the extreme prices made only to reduce stock and keep my help employed during the dull season.

JAS. HOWLEY. TAILOR.

MAIN STREET.

OVER WARREN & TRASK'S STORE.

New This Week.

One case Cotton and Wool Flannel, only 8c
A decided bargain.

One case nice fast colored Prints, only 4c
Also new Dress Prints.

One case corded side Corsets, only 39c
Formerly $1.00.

The celebrated Pivot Corsets, only 75c
A genuine bargain.

Dr. Warner's Coroline Corsets -- easy and graceful. Health giving Corsets.

Dr. Gilbert's Health Corset—elastic sides. Easy and fine fitting.

Dr. Strong's Tampoline Corsets — without bones. Warranted not to break.

500 bone Corsets—genuine French goods. R. & G. Corsets.

Felt and Flannel Skirts—in great variety, At Closing Prices.

Ladies' Hem'd Linen Cambric Hdkfs., 4c
And up to 12 1 2 cts.

Ladies' Hemstitched Hdkfs—two for 35c

Linen Sale.

Table Damasks, Turkey Reds, Napkins, Doylies, Towels, Crashes, Diapers and White Goods, Piques, Checked Cambrics, Nainsooks, Muslins, Bishop Lawns, etc.

APRONS.

We beat the city on Aprons—both in quality and price. Examine.

Germantown Worsteds, Macrome Cords, Embroidery Silks, Braids, etc.

PEABODY'S,

227 & 229 Essex St.,

SALEM.

This mornings papers announce the death of Gen. W. S. Hancock, the senior major general of the army of the United States, which took place yesterday afternoon at his headquarters on Governor's Island. Gen. Hancock was a brave and gallant soldier—and his death reminds us that the leaders in the great national conflict are fast being summoned to the higher battle fields. But few generals of the prominence of Gen. Hancock, remain. The President at once ordered the flags on the White House and the Departments to be at half mast until after the funeral.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the twenty-seventh day of November, A. D., 1872, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 869 leaf 222, and by virtue of the further power of Sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the administrators of his Estate, dated the ninth day of June, A. D., 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, February 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land being a part of the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit:

A lot of land situated in said Peabody, on the southerly side of Walnut street, bounded thus viz: beginning on said Walnut street at land formerly of Clark and Giddings and thence running southeasterly by said street about three hundred and twenty-one feet; thence southwesterly by land lately of Elizabeth M Lillis fifty feet; thence southeasterly by said land of Lillis forty feet to Wallis street; thence southwesterly by Wallis street, about one hundred and seventy-seven feet to the location of the Essex Railroad; thence northwesterly by said Railroad, location about three hundred and thirty-three feet to said land formerly of Clark and Giddings; thence northeasterly by said land formerly by Clark and Giddings to said Walnut street and point begun at. Subject to all the conditions, reservations and other stipulations referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer, also subject to the right to maintain a drain through the premises to the brook granted in the deed of John A. Lord to Elizabeth M. Lillis, recorded at said Registry, in Book 921 leaf 6.

Terms made known at sale,

ALBERT H. MERRILL. Treas.,
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank
Peabody, February 3rd, 1886.

POULTRY FOOD.

WE have lately added to our usual good assortment of Grain for Hen Food:

1 Car Large, Clean Barley;
1 Car Good Scorched Wheat;
1 Car Ground Oats;
1 Car Buckwheat Grain;
1 Car Yellow Corn;
Oyster Shells, Beef Scraps & Egg Food

Which we are selling at our usually low pries.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

FEBRUARY SALE

OF

LINEN AND HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.

COMMENCED FEBRUARY 1ST,

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

Encouraged by the unparalleled success of our former sales, we propose to exceed all previous efforts, and give our customers and the public an opportunity to secure bargains never before equalled.

ELEGANT DINNER, LUNCH AND TEA SETS IN BLEACHED, CREAM AND FANCY.

Bleached Damask, from	50c to $2.00
Cream Damask, from	25c to 1.25
Turkey Red, from	25c to .75
3-4 and 5-8 Napkins, from	50c to 6.00
Russian Crash, from	6 1-4c to .20
American Crash, all prices.
Barnsley Crash, from	12 1-2c to .20
Scotch Crash, all prices.
Red End Diaper, from	$1.00 to 2.50
Gloss Linen, from	6 1-4c to .17
Huck Damask and Fancy Towels,	6 1-4c to 1.00
Terry Bathing Towels.

Linen Sheeting, Pillow Case Linen, Doylies, Tray Cloths, etc.
Marseilles Quilts from $1 upwards.
$1.25 Crochet Quilts for $1.00.

All the best makes of Bleached and Unbleached Cotton, all widths and at lowest prices.

1 case 8-4 best quality Brown Sheeting, 12 1-2c per yd.

All Housekeepers, Restaurant and Hotel Proprietors should take advantage of this great opportunity th secure Staple Goods at less than cost of production. The goods are all new, bought expressly for this sale, and we confidently advise every one to buy all they can use.

Our Great Sale of Fine Dress Goods will be continued.

75c Dress Goods 37 1-2c. $1 Dress Goods 50c
$1.25 Dress Goods, 75c.

A great deal can be saved by supplying your wants now, as the Low Prices of this Special Sale cannot possibly be maintained.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

SPECIAL BARGAINS.

Men's Merino Boots, for Car Drivers, Milk Men, etc., very warm, only 75 cents per pair, last for this season.

Men's Buckle Arctics only $1 per pair.

Women's, Misses and Children's Overs. only 25 cents per pair.

Men's Woonsocket, R. I. Rubber Boots, only $2 25 per pair.

— AT —

Geo. F. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SIG. BATTALIA,

FROM BOSTON,

PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms,
40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of EDWARD GREEN, late of Peabody, in said County, farmer, deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Benjamin A. Gray, (Public administrator), the administrator of the estate of said deceased has presented for allowance the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first Monday of March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty seventh day of January, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

feb 3—3t

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A Dividend of Three dollars per share, will be payable at the office of the Treasurer on WEDNESDAY, the 27th inst., to stockholders of record this day.

DAVID MOORE. Treasurer.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY
AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

POTATOES.

We have a large lot of nice Ipswich potatoes which we are offering our customers as being a prime article.

— ALSO —

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

15 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any 1 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheao'kin Coal. Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

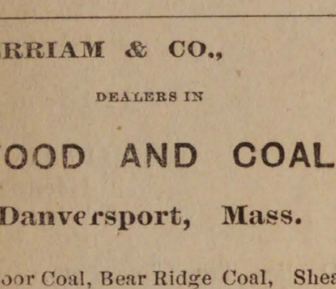
All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere!

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN



WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus C. Batchelder   Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE OF COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 19 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

The New York Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday) $6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday) 50
SUNDAY, per Year 1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR 7 00
WEEKLY, per Year 1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

For sale by all Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. TRADE MARK

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

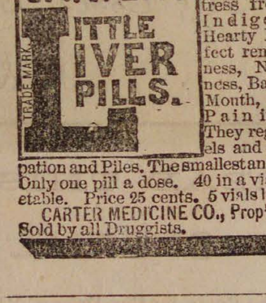
---

7 Per Ct. WESTERN FARM MORTGAGES.

In denominations of $200 and upwards on property of three times the amount of loan. Seven per cent interest is paid promptly every year in Boston, or will be remitted. We recommend these loans as the safest possible investment, and should be pleased to answer any inquiries, and send list,

SECURITY INVESTMENT CO.,
54 Devonshire Street, Boston.
1m—4t

CATARRH



HAY-FEVER

ELY'S Cream Balm IS WORTH $1000 To any Man, Woman or Child suffering from CATARRH.

A. E. NEWMAN, Grayling, Mich.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furniture or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G. Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

WARREN FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank for the election of new members and a board of Officers for the ensuing year, also for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting, will be held at the Bank rooms on Wednesday, January 27th, 1886, at 7.30 o'clock P. M.

A. H. MERRILL, Clerk.

Peabody, Dec. 30, 1885.

Buckwheat Flour.

FRESH ground Pennsylvania Buck Wheat Flour
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

HAY.

JUST RECEIVED.—Choice Hay from Maine and the Provinces, in large and small bales suitable for horses and cows.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

INFLUENCE OF LIGHT ON ANIMALS.

As a rule the parts of animals most exposed to rays of light are, other things being equal, richest in coloring matter. The backs of wild animals are usually, and with few exceptions (as among nocturnal and burrowing animals), more strongly colored than their bellies. Another class of exceptions may be seen among fishes of certain families which lie on their sides instead of on their bellies and expose not their backs, but one of their sides to the light. In these fishes the upper side is colored, while the under side, next to the ground and the darkness, is not. Articulates also have their upper sides most strongly colored, although what in them answers most nearly to the dorsal column is next to the ground. The parts of the shells of mollusks which are in contact with the ground are uncolored, while the parts exposed to the light shine with varied tints, and this, whatever may be the peculiar positions assumed by particular shells. For individuals of the same race, the abundance of the coloring matter is generally proportioned to the intensity of the light to which they are exposed. This fact is generally understood, though exact observations bearing upon it are not as numerous as it is desirable they should be. It is well known that the skin is tanned by light, that people from the north are browned by living in the south, and that ruddiness and freckles appear under the action of the sunlight. Some people of the white race, like the Hindoos and the Moors that live in southern climates, are frequently darker-skinned than the negroes themselves. Still we cannot affirm that light is the only cause of these changes. Mr. Gould has observed that birds are more strongly colored when they live in countries having a clear sky than on islands or the seashore. Bechstein says that the colors of the plumage of cage birds are affected by the shade in which they are kept. Mr. Allen has shown that the color of several species in the United States changes as we go from north to south.

THE CONGO NEGRO.

The uncivilized negro of Central Africa is not (to use the language of Exeter Hall) a poor and ignorant savage. Judged from a mental standpoint he is neither poor nor ignorant. He has no poverty of ideas, and his reasoning powers are of a high order. He is deeply superstitious, has the organ of veneration well developed, and shows such great respect for tradition that to call it conservatism hardly expresses its comprehensiveness—for even might bows down before it. Incapacity and ignorance are, I opine, attributes relative to the moral and material surroundings of the man and the stage of advancement to which his tribe has attained. This granted, it is libelous, therefore, to call men ignorant, who, like the negroes of Central Africa, show such astonishing capacity, not only in the shrewd way in which they manage their petty affairs of State, but also in putting to its best use all that nature has provided them with—and that with a keen eye to climatic changes and climatic peculiarities. The uncivilized negro regards the white man, not in the light of one with whom he is to put himself in competition, but as a being of altogether different calibre, almost of a different humanity from himself. He believes that the whites possess powers almost unlimited, and it is always a matter of wonder to him that they allow themselves to be conquered by death. In one instance, where a tribe was strong in its belief that white men came from the water, and one of our party was unfortunately drowned, the chief of the tribe would often ask when he would return. It was useless to urge that he was dead, for the old chief would always give this pathetic answer: "No; he was tired of the black man, and he went to his home in the water to rest. He will soon return."

AMERICA'S FIRST RAILROAD.

Mr. Barnet Le Van, a prominent railroad man, is authority for the statement that railroads were first introduced in Pennsylvania. "In September, 1809," he states, "the first experimental track in the United States was laid out by John Thomson (the father of John Edgar Thomson, who was afterward the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company), civil engineer of Delaware County, Pa., and constructed under his direction by Somerville, a Scotch millwright, for Thomas Leiper, of Philadelphia. It was 180 feet in length, and graded one and one-half inches to the yard. The gauge was four feet, and the sleepers eight feet apart. The experiment with a loaded car was so successful that Leiper in the same year caused the first practical railroad in the United States to be constructed for the transportation of stone from his quarries on Crumb Creek to his landing on Ridley Creek, in Delaware County, Pa., a distance of about one mile. It continued in use for nineteen years. Some of the original foundations, consisting of rock in which holes were drilled and afterwards plugged with wood to receive the spikes for holding the sleepers in place, may be seen to this day."

One of the finest litters of Pointer pups in this vicinity are being raised by Mr. "Tim" Walton on Lowell street. They come of a breed whose pedigree can be traced back to the best blood in the country.

AN INDIAN CHIEF'S CORN.

Weesaw, the chief of the Pottawattomies, who, with Pokagon and Topinabee owned all the country west of Rush River, south to the boundary line of Indiana, and north to Mackinaw, and west to Kankakee River and Lake Michigan, brought to this country in 1828 on his way from Washington City from a place in Genesee County, New York, early eight-rowed corn which he planted here, and this corn has been planted and replanted up to the present time, and Samuel Lockbridge keeps it in existence. An ear of it he has deposited in our office. It now contains thirteen rows, is quite ripe, and is large. Before Weesaw's death he requested his tribe to never let this seed corn die out, and when he died in September, 1836, a hole was dug on Moccasin Bluff, and he was placed in a sitting position, and about fifty young Indians and squaws carried stocks of this corn with the ears on, and placed it around his body, and thus was he buried, and there his bones repose up to the present time, on the very hill where he used to build fires in a dry season and offer up sacrifices to the Great Spirit for rain. Sometimes he would kill a deer and cut off the head and neck deep down into the shoulders and hang it on a limb and pray for rain. If that failed he would kill and burn a dog. If this failed he would make Indians build small fires up and down the bluff long distances. By the time he had got this accomplished it would generally rain. Weesaw went to Washington with Topinabee and Dominick, his son, to get Andrew Jackson to drive the Carey Mission men from among them, who were a great set of rascals. They would buy fur of the Indians and tell them when they returned from Detroit they would pay them, but instead of pay they would trump up some false account and beat them out of it. Appropriations were withheld from them by the Government, and through the influence of Jackson and General Cass the mission was obliged to leave.—Niles (Mich.) Mirror.

SPAIN'S "DARK-GLANCING" MAIDENS.

"We in America are apt to judge of the Spaniard by the Mexican and the Cuban," writes a Cadiz correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "Nothing can be more different. Whatever their faults or virtue, the Hispano-Americans seem to have taken nothing but the language from what of the conqueror's blood they may have. All else has come from the native. Unbroken in pride, undebased by evil habits, self respecting, sober in speech as in food, the Iberian needs only a leader to again take his rightful place in the family of nations. And the woman? Is she beautiful? I hardly know; but she is the most bewildering, bewitching, fascinating of all Eve's daughters. There is a magic in her step, a poise of foot, a grace of rhythmic motion, a proud tenderness in her dark eye; a something voluptuous which is yet chaste; a magic in her smile, such as no other race or clime can show. Beautiful? A man whose blood runs red within his veins may see his beauty elsewhere, but he has never felt the perfect charm of woman's womanliness until he has met love looking from the melting brightness of those matchless orbs which none but Spain's 'dark-glancing' maidens bear. There is no neglect here. The dress may not be rich, but there is not a fold ill-placed. To her is paid the reverence of passionate devotion. Still is Spain the land of romance and of song, because her men are brave, her women worthy to be loved."

Up to a certain point Mr. Felix Lucas finds that the luminosity of incandescent carbons increases with the intensity of the electric current and the consequent temperature. After this point is reached the luminous intensity diminishes. The explanation advanced is that it is probable that the thermic radiations, which are at first dark and then luminous, passing from red to white, ultimately go beyond the violet rays and cease to be visible.

Some time ago it was stated that an ozonometric paper could be used with effect in determining the presence of certain diseases in the atmosphere. MM. Bornis and Daniel, however, from observations conducted on the Senegal during five years, conclude that there is no relation between the indications of this paper and the intensity of bilious and yellow fevers. The simple fact is that the reaction on the paper is slight when the air is dry and intense when the air is moist.

MM. A. Muntz and V. Marcano have published a paper on the formation of large deposits of nitrates in "Venezuela, the Andes, the Orinoco Basin and other inter-tropical regions." These observers believe that these nitrates have a purely animal origin and they had been developed without the intervention of atmospheric electricity. The position of the deposits, the constant presence of large quantities of sulphates and nitrifying organism, and the nature of the phenomena presented by deposits now in course of formation, exclude the recently advanced hypothesis of electric influences.

In the lecture room experiments on color mixtures, the apparatus employed by Capt. Abney is a modification of Maxwell's color box. Instead of being formed on a screen the spectrum is received upon a convex lens which forms an image of the face of the prism upon a screen. If all the light from the prism falls upon the lens this image is colorless, but by interposing a screen with a slit in the spectrum close to the lens, so as to allow only light of a given color to fall on the lens, the image appears colored with that light. By using two or more slits different lights may be mixed in any required proportions.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

"CANDEE" ARCTICS

—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Two Years TEST.
"CANDEE"
Double Wear on the Sole.
Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER Co. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.

Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.

A Common Sense Idea.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of HEZEKIAH FLINT, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust; by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

D. WEBSTER KING, Adm.

Boston, Jan. 14, '86. jan 27—3t

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME

OF THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA-

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. F. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at 9 47 A. M
Freight " " at 5 00 P. M
Express " Boston at 3 30 P. M
Freight " " at 4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, E. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A. M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few Gener l Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich, Ct.

nov24 —12t

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK   Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDENCE, 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr. No. 7 Paltry Place. Lynn. Mass. apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO., 152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid. Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given. Knickerbocker Subscription Agency, P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.
b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and we will mail you free a royal, valuable, sample box of good that will put you in the way of making more money at once, than anything else in America. Both sexes of all ages can live at home and work in spare time, or all the time. Capital not required. We will start you. Immense pay sure for those who start at once. STINSON & Co., Portland Main

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in saying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store.

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Ache in Small of Back.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS RELIEVES Weary, Aching Bones.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS CURES Dyspepsia.

Dyspepsia.

GENTS:—I feel it my duty to say respecting Burdock Blood Bitters, that it is the best medicine I ever took. I suffered two or three years from stomach troubles and dyspepsia, as well as from liver and kidney complaint. I was not able to attend to my business. My wife was afflicted in much the same way. We read of your Bitters in the papers and made up our minds that we would try them. The result is, my wife and I began to improve at once, and I am now able to do more hard work than before in ten years. It relieved my kidney troubles as well. We both wish you, the makers of it, Godspeed.

JOSEPH LANDON,
Chelsea, Vt.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book Just Published, entitled

THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

☞ AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. ☞ Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address

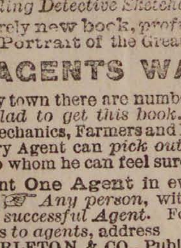
G. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING

SIMPLE STRONG

NEW HOME

SWIFT SURE



SEWING MACHINE HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.

—ORANGE, MASS.—

30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

FOR SALE BY

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET.

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR TRADE MARK COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians' Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

☞ Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

AT

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

CLOTHING

ON

WEEKLY PAYMENTS!

We sell Ladies' and Gents'

Clothing, Dry Goods.

And all kinds of Merchandise on

WEEKLY PAYMENTS

— AT —

STRICTLY CASH PRICES.

—— Business Strictly Confidential. ——

NEW ENGLAND SUPPLY CO.,

36 Court cor. Howard St Room 1

BOSTON, MASS

oct 28—3m

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK.

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

THE OASIS OF PENJDEH.

Penjdeh is in the shape of a triangle, formed by the Murghab, which waters the Merv oasis, and by its affluent, the Kushk. To the south and southwest the frontier of Penjdeh—a district traversed by the nomad tribe of the Sarik Turcomans—is easily confounded with the hills of the once flourishing territory of Budghis. According to the investigations of European travelers, we should understand by this name the region bounded on the north by the sand of Merv, on the west by the Heri Rud, on the east by the Murghab, and on the south by the chain of the Paropamisus. The most fertile portion of Badghis at the present time is the eastern part, between the Murghab and the Kushk. The sands of Merv extend into this region to the east Penjdeh, while on the south they touch the well-cultivated region once belonging to the Usbegs, but now to Afghanistan, and in which the towns Maimena, Aripul, Shibergan, Andkhol, and Akcha.

The oasis of Penjdeh, fully capable of careful cultivation on the one condition that a good system of irrigation shall be introduced, forms, as it were, a sort of turning point between the deserts of the north and the fertile regions of the south, which await colonization. History proves the flourishing state of the ancient Badghis, which is still testified to by immense ruins. With regard to the aosis itself. Penjdeh is still peopled by about 8,000 Sariks, who occupy themselve chiefly in raising flocks. Their encampments skirt the banks of the Murghab from the site marked by the ruins of old Penjdeh. The greatest breadth of the oasis from west to east is about twenty miles; the greatest length from northwest to southwest—that is, from Ak Tapa to Meruchak—is about twenty-seven miles. The area is rather more than 300 square miles.

The Penjdeh Sariks are rich. They live in kibitkas or felt tents. Some among them possess as many as from 1,500 to 2,000 sheep and between seventy and eighty camels. They raise there, but in small quantities, crops of rice, wheat, sorghum, etc. They weave carpets which rival those of Persia, and fine cloths of camel hair for khilats and women's veils, famous throughout the whole of the East, but which are exceedingly dear. The Sariks of Penjdeh have commercial relations with Bokhara, Merv, and Herat above all other places. The irrigation of this region is quite insufficient. Its agricultural future depend upon the improvement of this essential. The culminating point of the oasis is Ak Tapa. Ruins are to be found there of a town and a citadel. There is a road from this place to Herat by following the left bank of the Kushk, which is crossed by the half-ruined bridge of Pul-i-Khisti or Dash Kepri. At the southeast extremity of the oasis are the ruins of Meruchak, and a little to the north of them begins the canal which issues from the Murghab and irrigates the fields of the Sariks.

* * *

PRONUNCIATION AND CHARACTER

The pronunciation of English is often regarded as a touchstone which reveals whether a person is well or ill bred, and to a certain extent the observation is undoubtedly true. Pronunciation is one of the outward and visible signs which most quickly betrays the lack of culture, and which, although the speaker may wear good clothes, betrays also the presence of vulgarity. But there are two classes of persons who can not be set down as either vulgar or uncultured, yet who, at the same time, entertain radically different views concerning the pronunciation of numerous English words. One of these persons occupies what he is pleased to call a common-sense position, which may be explained as follows: A word in common use is popularly pronounced coutrary to the method given by a majority of the lexicographers, yet such pronunciation has the sanction of one or two good authorities, as allowable, although perhaps not preferable. One common-sense man says "there is authority for the popular pronunciation, and I propose to adopt it rather than make myself conspicuous by speaking differently from ninety-nine out of a hundred of my countrymen." The person who represents the other class is a strict purist. The one person accommodates himself to popular usage whenever he can find reasonably good authority for doing so; the other is unbending, and claims that common use has no right to acknowledgment, but that what he considers the best must always rule.

* * *

PAPER SLIPPERS.

Paper slippers are the latest form in which paper is introduced in new inventions. An Englishman has patented a system of manufacturing slippers, sandals, and other coverings for the feet out of paper. Paper pulp, or paper mache, is employed for the upper, which is molded to the desired form and size, and a sole is provided made of paper or pasteboard, leather board, or other suitable paper material, which is united to the upper by means of cement, glue, or other adhesive material. The upper is creased, embossed, or perforated at the instep and sides, which render them somewhat pliable and prevents their cracking while in use.

We shall say nothing more about the weather in these columns.

USELESS WEAPONS.

It was at El Teb that I was first struck with the inferior quality of the English bayonet and sword bayonet. At Tamai, in the rush and scurry, it was put to a severer test than anywhere else in the Soudan. In that battle the Haddendowas, as they rushed out of their grass cover with their short spears, fairly pitched themselves upon the weapons of our Black Watch and Sixty-fifth. The triangular bayonet ofttimes bent and twisted. On the whole, however, it stood the test better than the sword bayonet. Like the sword bayonet, it often bent like hoop iron when a thrust was made, if a bone interposed, and became cork-screwed in the struggle.

It has two serious drawbacks, not so observable in the sword bayonet. The wound it makes is slight, so that a fanatical savage or infuriated man requires several thrusts before he is placed hors de combat, giving him a chance to run amuck among civilized troops. In the second place, the triangular bayonet, when thrust violently goes too far, and there is great difficulty in freeing it. At Tamai a stalwart soldier hooked his opponent in such a manner that he had to draw the body twenty yards, as we were retreating, before liberating his weapon. This was the most conspicuous instance of the kind I saw, but it was by no means the only one.

The sword bayonet has weight without breadth, and, with the cutlass, frequently lacks temper. I have seen a blue jacket's cutlass sword bayonet at Tamai, as well as some in the battles up the Nile, bend into a semicircle and remain in that shape, unfitting it for a second "point." The use it was put to did not justify the giving way of the weapon. The fact that it did not regain its form further proved that the quality of the blade was of the poorest. It would have gone the same way had it been driven awkwardly into a sack of flour.

There can be no real difficulty with our mechanics and workshops in procuring bayonets that will bear the brunt of rough usage in a campaign. What I have said of the bad quality of the cutlass applies equally to the sword bayonet. Many a soldier at Abu Klea saw with dismay his bayonet rendered useless at the moment when there was no chance to load his rifle, and when he most stood in need of its services. There also I saw sword bayonets bend and twist with the facility of soft iron rather than steel. After that fight you might have noticed brawny foot guardsmen, herculean life guardsmen, and the deft fighters of the mounted infantry, all of whom had stood shoulder to shoulder in the square, straightening their bayonets across their knees or under foot. Others there were who discarded their distorted weapons and picked up some dead comrade's from the field.

* * *

SOME FAMOUS OLD MAIDS.

Elizabeth of England was one of the most illustrious of modern sovereigns. Her rule over Great Britain certainly comprises the most brilliant literary age of the English-speaking people. Her political acumen was certainly put to as severe tests as that of any other ruler the world ever saw. Maria Edgeworth was an old maid. It was this woman's writings that first suggested the thought of writing similiarly to Sir Walter Scott. Her brain might well be called the mother of the Waverly novels. Jane Porter lived and died an old maid. The children of her busy brain were "Thaddeus of Warsaw" and "The Scottish Chiefs," which have moved the hearts of millions with excitement and tears. Joanna Baillie, poet and play-writer was "one of 'em." Florence Nightingale, most gracious lady, heroine of Inkermann and Balaklava hospitals, has to the present written "Miss" before her name. The man who should marry her might well crave to take the name of Nightingale. Sister Dora, the brave spirit of English pest-houses, whose story is as a helpful evangel, was the bride of the world's sorrow only. And then what names could the writer and reader add of those whom the great world may not know but we know, and the little world of the village, the church, the family know and prize beyond all worlds!

* * *

A CHINESE OATH.

Says the San Francisco Chronicle: In a Mongol murder case in San Francisco the following oath was administered to each of the Chinese witnesses: "This is to inform the spirits of the gods, also the evil spirits and the demons, all to descend here to hear, oversee and examine into the case of Wong Ah Foo, charged with murdering Loi Ah Gow. If I come here to swear profanely and tell the untruth, or not according to the facts of the case, I humbly beg the Celestial and terrestrial spirits to redress Loi Ah Gow's grievance and to punish the false witness immediately and to arrest his soul. May he die under a sword, or die on the half-way of the sea and have no life to return to China. This is the true and solemn declaration of oath sworn by my own mouth and signed by my name by my own hand. Dated this——day, second month, in the eleventh year of Quong Soi." It is believed that all who take this oath will testify truthfully, as the Celestials believe that if they should perjure themselves, after passing through the ceremony, they will die an everlasting death and that the gates of the Flowery Kingdom will be closed upon them.

Snow and rain on fifteen days in January.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY, SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. Brooks. A. D. Damon.
F. D. Sperry

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich Bride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15 000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anæsthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anæsthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. F. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL, OPP. CITY HALL, LYNN.

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

Sold by all Druggists.
Price $1; Six bottles, $5.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,

18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

WILLIAM H. LONGSDORF & CO.,
BANKERS AND BROKERS,
16 Broad Street, New York.

SOUND INVESTMENT Bonds furnished to Executors, Trustees of Estates, and Individual Investors. Defaulted Bonds of States, Counties, Cities and Railways bought and sold.

Coupons and dividends collected, and information furnished relative to securities of all kinds, without charge. Horse Railway and Gas Stocks a specialty.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

A BIG OFFER To introduce them we will GIVE AWAY 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 21 Dey St., N.Y.

LADIES WANTED—To work for us at their own homes. $7 to 10 per week can be easily made; no canvassing: fascinating and steady employment. Particulars and sample of the work sent for stamp. Address HOME M'F'G CO., P. O. Box 1916, Boston, Mass.

WE want SALESMEN everywhere, local and traveling, to sell our goods. Will pay good salary and all expenses. Write for terms at once, and state salary wanted. STANDARD SILVER WARE COMP'Y, Boston, Mass.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N.Y.

TO ADVERTISERS—Lowest rates for advertising in 981 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

Pillsbury's Best.

WE keep in stock the above brand of Flour, also Washburn's Best, Snowflake, and other Choice Brands of Patent Flour.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8, 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A. M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8, 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M. Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40 8 15, P. M.
Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 8 55, 10 05, 10 48 A. M., 12 M., 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P.M.
Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M. 1 09, 2 20, 2 50, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.
Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M.
Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.
Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A.M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5.15 7 15† P. M.
Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.
Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
Wolfboro—8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
North Conway—8 08, A. M.,
Portland—8 08, 9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M. Sunday 7 30 P. M.
Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.
Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.
St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).
Bangor, 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.
Augusta, 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.
Portland—2, 9 A. M., 1, 6 P. M. Sundays, 2 A. M.*
North Conway—7 05, A. M.,
Wolfboro—8 15, A. M., 2 45 P. M.
Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.
Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M., 4 18, P. M.
Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.
Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A. M., 3 05, 5, 7 40 P. M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M., 4 P. M.
Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 10* 5 15, P. M.
Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A. M. 3 40, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.
Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M. 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.
Essex—7, 11 45 A. M., 5 40 P. M.
Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., 1 20, 5, 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.
Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A. M., 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P. M. Sundays—8 A. M.
Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.
Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 29, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P.M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P. M.
Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M., 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A. M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.
Lynn—6 40, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 39, 11 13, 11 47, A. M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 24, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 33, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A. M., 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.
Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10, 10 45, 11 15, A. M., 2 M., 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P. M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M. 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A. M., 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P. M.
Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A. M., 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 40, 6 20 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trsins leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.
Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A. M., 3 10, 5 15 P. M.
Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A. M., 12 05, 43, 5 48 P. M.
Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A. M., 12 17, 53, 5 58 P. M.
Peabody for Salem—8 38 A. M., 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 32 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A. M., 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A. M., 12 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 P. M.
Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M.
Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A. M., 1, 5 50 P. M.
Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A. M., 1 35, 4 45, 8 22, P. M.
Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 55, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M., 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 35, P. M.
Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P. M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9 00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

June, 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M., 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11, A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.
C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens given

1886 1886

Diaries.

One, Two and Three days to a page. All kinds, all prices, from 8 cents up.

BLANK BOOKS,

Of every description on hand and made to order.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

STATIONERS,

216 & 220 | Essex St.,

SALEM.

WEST PEABODY.

The proposed new road in West Peabody seems to be the all absorbing topic at the present time. If laid out as contemplated, it will leave Lowell street at a point between the residence of Capt. Geo. W. Taylor and Wm. P. Upham, and will run over a slightly rising ground to the residence of Jacob P. Goodale, following nearly a straight line the whole distance. Beyond the residence of Mr. Goodale, the road passes to the Danvers line by an easy descending grade, the distance being one quarter of a mile. The Danvers continuation of the road, three quarters of a mile in length, is nearly level. The section of the road running from Lowell street to the School House is about one third of a mile in length and for one third of this distance the grade will be quite steep, while for the rest of the way the road will be quite level. The distance saved by the entire road will be more than a mile, while the grade will be much easier than the roads now travelled. The road would be a great public convenience, and the cost of construction would be moderate.

At the Farmer's Club, in the absence of the expected speaker for the evening, Rev. O. S. Butler, Mr. J. F. Ingraham took the floor, and proceeded to explain in a clear and concise manner "two of the fourteen" characteristics of "Ingraham's Philosophy"—Love and Conscience. The speaker said,—Philosophy is knowledge; that every one was a philosopher; that all persons entered life on equal terms; all start out to do the best they can in the world; that good philosophy means success; bad philosophy, misfortune; best philosophy, that which wins; finding fault s bad philosophy. His philosophy is love, nothing sways like love; that the love of money was injurious, the love of the dollar was worse than the love of liquor; that love, is desire, respect, good will, and its product is conscience, that conscience rules us, it can be taught; that every one who does a thing has a season for it; he would not love a thing that injured him. Mr. Ingraham spoke about twenty minutes, and was listened to attentively by a fair audience, the inclemency of the weather preventing the usual gathering. Miss Ingraham rendered some difficult selections on the piano with pleasing effect. The subject for next Friday evening, is "Training of the Horse," by Rev. O. S. Butler of Georgetown.

The sociable given by the Club last Wednesday evening proved to be one of the best ever held in the Hall. Some seventy-five of the lads and lassies tripped the light fantastic toe to the music of Aldens' orchestra of Lynn. The vice president of the Club, Wm. E. Sheen, cut the Pigeon Wing in grand style. A large company was present and a rattling good time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Gregory in his lecture before the Club, said "Corn could be raised less than 25 cents a bushel." Mr. Ware went him one better, by saying "it could be raised for nothing." It is believed the gentlemen were both corned.

Our esteemed townsman, Joseph Shedd Needham, is patiently waiting milder weather to visit Washington. Being an incorrigible wire-puller, it is surmised he has a job on hand, possibly not, but it is well to keep an eye upon the gentleman. He will bear watching every time.

W. S. J.

Tourist Ruching, 6 yards 20 cents, at F. D. Tarlton's. *

The Railroad Commissioners have rendered a decision in the matter of extra frieght facilities for the tanners and curriers of Salem. The Commissioners will issue a certificate, under chapter 265 of the acts of 1882, to the Boston and Lowell railroad for a track on the northerly side of Boston street, and to the Eastern railroad (B & M) on the southerly side. By granting the petition of the Boston and Lowell, so far as a route up to Boston street is concerned, the tanners and curriers on the northerly side of that street will be furnished by it with the needed facilities. The Eastern railroad extension, operated by the Boston and Maine railroad, will supply facilities to all others.

SELECTMEN'S HEARING.

The Selectmen gave a hearing last Thursday on the petition of Rev. M. J. Masterson and others in regard to widening the avenue leading to the Catholic church from Chestnut street, and the accepting of the same with the lane leading from the church to Lowell street as public highways. Mr. Thomas Carroll, as one of the petitioners, said he was willing to leave the whole matter to the Selectmen and rely on their judgment in recommending to the town a proper width, etc.

Mr. John Linehan said that the street leading from Chestnut street was the most important as it was too narrow to accommodate the large amount of travel there. It was only 30 feet wide and the petitioners would ask for at least ten feet more. But as regards the other lane they were not so particular. The former was now a great thoroughfare and it was a great inconvenience to have it filled with snow and often teams were hitched to the fence. He had seen most of the residents in the vicinity and they were in favor of it.

Mr. James E. T. Bartlett said that when the avenue leading to the church was laid out the deeds of owners of land on both sides provided that nothing but a fence should be put within five feet of the line. That is the town has five feet on their side that they cannot build on and the owners across the avenue have the same. He thought it would be a benefit to the church and to the traveling public to have the avenue laid out as a town highway. The church was attended by the largest number in town and there was a funeral or christening almost every day. In his opinion it would be wise and judicious to give the land, raise the grade and make an attractive street of it. It would be an improvement to widen it so it would be on a line with the church. It would take about 20 feet of land and not cost more than $150 to grade it.

Mr. Carroll said that when the town house was built the committee thought the road should be widened but felt they had not the authority to go ahead in the matter.

Mr. Joseph Hodgkins said the town had set their border stone three feet over the line next his house. If the town would move back on their own territory there would be more room in the street. There was no need of widening the street as there was no travel over it; the milkman went through in the morning, the lamp lighter at night, and two or three grocery men through the week. The original line ran in such a way that the lane was narrower at the entrance of Lowell street and now the town had taken more than six feet from the upper end. When the curbing was laid he called the attention of Mr. Clark to it, and he said it was an oversight. As far as the public is concerned the way leading to the church is wide enough as the public travel is very light. He thought if the town would take care of the lane there would never have been a pond of water in front of his house as there had been this winter three inches deep in the center and spread out ten feet in width. The town house shades everything, in fact he lived in the shade and when he used to be warmed by the sun now he was only cheered by the light of heaven. If he had his way he would have the town house and Catholic church both removed. He didn't blame the church for getting all they could; to the church down on the corner the town had to pay a good little sum for cutting off the corner.

Mr. Carroll said that the gravel to grade the street would all be contributed and that the stone steps leading to the church would have to be altered and recut making an expense of $700 or $800 to the church.

Chairman Southwick said that when the land was purchased it created a good deal of ill feeling and he would like to know if the Selectmen would be justified in recommending the town to give so much valuable property for a highway.

Mr. Thomas J. Relihan thought the chairman had overstepped his duty in speaking on the matter as it was such as should come only before the board in private session, and that his remarks were made to influence men against it.

Mr. Southwick said the Selectmen are here to get an expression of opinion and he had a right to call out information by any form of questions he saw fit and if he was not justified in it the Board could censure.

Mr. Hodgkins said that he was in favor of the line of thought thrown out by the Chairman and he was not in favor of giving twenty feet for the street. He wanted them to know that if the town had not bought the property they could not have widened it at a cost of less than $6000.

Mr. Edmund Woodbury said he had no objection to the proposed streets if the grade was not changed sufficient to injure his property. As there was no further evidence the hearing was closed.

The conspicuous advertisement of Edward C. Almy & Co., on our eighth page, fully explains what this enterprising firm offers in the way of special inducements to purchasers of clothing. They have a large stock which they are offering at prices that those who patronize them will find hard to even duplicate again. The firm since they have been in Salem have established such a reputation that statements made in their advertisements can be relied on in every instance. Their stock in regard to quality can not be surpassed by any store in New England, and they are patronized by the leading citizens of Essex County.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The chief event of the past week, in this vicinity, has been the presentation, by the Oratorio Society of Salem, of St. Paul. It was a success beyond doubt—in every way. There was a large audience in the evening, and we learn that considerably over 400 people attended the public rehearsal in the afternoon. It is a pleasure to be able to chronicle such results—after the time, labor and expense incurred by the Society in bringing out the Oratorio in good shape.

The chorus of this Society have a reputation even beyond their own city, for good work. They did nothing last Wednesday evening to mar it. They have been some time rehearsing "St. Paul"—and their singing showed the good results of skilful training—which they could not fail of receiving under Carl Zerrahn, who is without doubt the Oratorio conductor of this country. Many of the choruses were grandly given. The soloists were Miss Kehew, Miss Lord, Messrs. Abercrombie and Babcock, and with such a quartette the entire performance could not fail of giving great pleasure to the audience. We regret our inability to be present until the opening of Part II of the Oratorio, missing the contralto solo of Miss Lord, in the arioso, "But the Lord is mindful of his own," which was delivered with fine effect, and confirmed the favorable impression with which the Society had regarded her. Outside of the chorus, the recitations and aria of Mr. Babcock, and the duet, "Now we are ambassadors," by Messrs. Abercrombie and Babcock, were easily first. It was a positive pleasure to listen to Mr. Babcock—one could feel that every phrase, every shade of feeling was being delivered with all the breadth and power possible to the music. Mr. Abercrombie showed care in the preparation of his work, and his voice was easily heard, the enunciation being particularly pleasing. Beyond this, there is little to say. Miss Kehew was among her friends—and that she created a favorable impression was evident. It was her first appearance in Oratorio, and her renderings showed the possibilities of a voice which is certainly a phenomenal one in many respects.

The entertainment last Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Salem Cadet Band, was in our judgment the best one yet provided. Mr. Powers gave David Garrick and between the acts the Schubert Ladies' Quartette sang very nicely several selections. These ladies comprise one of the six or seven quartettes of female voices now before the public. They sing without piano accompaniment, and when their voices harmonize perfectly, as was the case with this quartette, they "catch on," if we may be allowed the expression, to the favor of the audience. Several times during the pianissimo passages of their rendering, one could have heard a pin drop. We have listened to nothing with so much pleasure, considering the time of its delivery, as their rendering of Soderman's "Wedding March." Subsequent pieces showed, however, that while the first soprano has a very agreeable and tuneful voice, it is far too light for the rest of the quartette. The entertainment concluded with a half hour with Norris & Semons.

Prof. Bill and family, assisted by Miss Rowe and other talent will give an entertainment of singing and readings at the Salem Temple of Honor, Creamer Hall, this evening.

The oratorio last Wednesday evening was pronounced very fine. It will be more fully noticed.—Salem Gazette, last Friday.

That's enterprise. How long does our cotemporary want to have a notice of a musical performance written?

Friday evening, Feb. 12, witnesses the opening of a new hall for public entertainments in Salem. It is known as "Academy Hall," is located in the rear of the Peabody Academy of Science, and is especially adapted to lectures and concerts. The opening entertainment will be a concert under the direction of Mr. Joshua Phippen, and will include the following talent: Messrs. B. J. Lang, Allen, Human, Meisel, Fries, and Mrs. E. Humphrey Allen. Tickets at one dollar each may be obtained at O. W. H. Upham's art store.

The Salem Schubert Club will give their first concert of the season next Wednesday evening, when the Cantata of the May Queen will be presented with other works. The soloists will be Miss Louise Gage, the soprano of Dr. Ellis' church choir of Boston, George J. Parker and Clarence E. Hay.

The Rivals Concert Co., with Mrs. Fernald, soprano, gave the seventh entertainment in a course at Nevin's Memorial Hall, Methuen, last evening. The hall was crowded to its fullest extent.

The Bennett & Moulton Opera Co. have been singing in Springfield, Mass., and this is the way the Republican views their performances. After saying that a large house greeted their performance of the Mascot, it thus speaks: "The company's own orchestra make the performances go with more snap than was possible last year, but the trail of the cheap performance is now unmistakable. Everything is sung too much and acted too strong, without delicacy or shading, a laugh being the end of all efforts." And again: "'The Pirates of Penzance' was served up 'under done' to a crowded house who could find little to applaud save some funny things not on the list. The principal singers, Bessie Fairbairn, Irene Murphy, Ben Lodge as the major-general, Arthur Miller as the pirate chief and Annie Carter as Ruth, took what praise there was. The company will play "The Mikado" for the rest of their stay, and that opera will doubtless be free from any objections of costuming."

The Crittendon concert company, with H. Grahame Wheeler, are engaged at Lowell, Feb. 12; Manchester, N. H., 19; Portsmouth, N. H., 22.

The Salem Symphony Orchestra with F. Clayton Record, conductor, will play at Wenham on Wednesday evening, Feb. 24th, at the entertainment of the Whittier Ladies' Club of that town.

Miss Minnie Hayden, late contralto of Barton Square church, in Salem, sings this evening at a concert to be given in the First Free Baptist Church, Boston.

The reconstructed Boston Ideal Opera Co., after a successful tour all the season in the large cities of the country, returns to the Boston Theatre for two weeks. We regard it as fortunate that the management has chosen the Boston Theatre as any other would be unable to hold the admirers of this company. The new accessions are even more popular than the original company. Zelie de Lussan and Agnes Huntington with W. H. Clark, the basso, have created a genuine sensation everywhere, and the old favorites, Marie Stone, Lzzie Burton, Tom Karl and Barnabee will be welcomed by hosts of friends. This evening the attraction is "Geralda"—to-morrow evening and Saturday afternoon the new opera "Victor, or the Blue Stocking." Friday evening, Fra Diavolo, and Saturday evening Martha. Next week will close the present engagement.

Just as he did a hundred nights and more ago, the ruler of Japan tunefully sings at the Hollis Street Theatre of his "object all sublime." Mansfield's Ko Ko, with its delicious British flavor, Ida Mulle's pretty little Yum Yum, Mrs. Barry's Katisha, and Brocolini's admirable Pooh-Bah, with Delaro's sprightly Pitti Sing, seem to be as well appreciated (and by large audiences, too) as though "The Mikado" were not a standard winter attraction, likely indeed to remain in Boston until the coming of the now historic "flowers that bloom in the spring."

The Boston Star Concert Co., consisting of Charles F. Dennee, the pianist, Nella F. Brown reader, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Emerson, will give a concert in Town Hall, Beverly, next Monday evening. It will be under the auspices of the Royal Conant Council Royal Arcanium.

The music last Sunday evening, at the Temperance lecture in Town Hall, was by the Salem Band Orchestra and the choir of the South Church. In the selections by the Orchestra, it was hard to tell whether they were playing for a Sacred Concert, or between the acts in a Mechanic Hall play.

Miss Anna S. Crain will sing to-morrow evening at the entertainment by the Women's Relief Corps of Salem in G. A. R. Hall.

The latest withdrawal from the first violins of the Symphony Orchestra is Sig. Campanari. He is the sixth accepted solo player who has left that department since Mr. Gericke's accession to power, only three men being now found there who are recognized as competent for solo work. In view of so many serious changes it certainly seems as if the players could not be all wrong and the conductor all right.—Boston Advertiser.

ON OUR TOWN OFFICIALS.

Governor Robinson says that a public man who is trying to act honestly can afford to be criticised.

Superintendent Blaney of the water works is doing duty as juryman.

Town Clerk Poor is taking the names of the new babies that have come to stop with us during the year.

We trust the assessors will not tax the 25-acre lot of Mr. Upham, of West Peabody, for the amount of the value set upon it by one of the speakers at the town meeting the other day, viz., $200 an acre.

A petition is in circulation and signed by nearly every barber in town, asking the Selectmen to enforce the Sunday law in relation to closing the shops.

The Salem News says the town will clear $1000 by the fire at the school house. The question is how many fires will the town have to have before they will be able to pay for an entirely new school house.

SOUTH PEABODY.

The ice storm last week did more damage in this vicinity than was at first supposed, particularly among our forest trees. An owner of a wood lot informs us that in many places, heavy limbs are broken off, while others are so bent that it seems almost impossible that they will ever again regain their former symmetry.

One of our farmers has a bull not yet three years old that weighs 1720 pounds. He was first fed on milk and meal, and now on wheat bran, and turnips.

The Boston Clothing Company, Essex Street, Salem, announce to-day in our columns a great give away sale. At a recent fire in that store a large stock was damaged by smoke, which it is proposed to sell out before March 1. Judge of the bargains when $28,000 worth of goods have got to be sold in a month.

FIRE! FIRE!

SMOKE!
SMOKE!
SMOKE!

LOOK OUT.

COMMENCING

FRIDAY MORNING,

FEBRUARY 5TH,

The Boston Clothing House, 221 Essex Street, will be open for business, which has been closed on account of the Fire Jan. 25.

The entire stock of Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Bags, Etc., will be closed out regardless of value within the next Thirty Days.

Don't miss these Bargains, such as were never before shown to the people of New England. Remember the Store,

221 ESSEX ST.,

Boston
Clothing
House,

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE,

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1871, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 815, leaf 22, and by virtue of the further power of sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the Administrators of his estate, dated the ninth day of June, A. D. 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, February 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land, being a part of the lands conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit,

The tannery estate situated in said Peabody on the southerly side of a way called Hardy street, bounded thus, viz.: beginning at a point on said Hardy street one foot and six inches east of land late of William Bushby deceased, and thence running southerly parallel with the easterly line of said Bushby's land about one hundred and sixty feet to other land late of said Hardy formerly a part of the Wallis Mills estate; thence easterly by said land formerly the Wallis Mills estate, three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to land late of Francis K. Pemberton, deceased, thence northerly by land late of Pemberton and by land of Mayhew S. Clark, one hundred and sixty-five feet to Hardy street; thence westerly by Hardy street three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to the point begun at.

Also a right to draw water to said tannery estate from the fountain situated on the lot of land owned by John A. Lord situated on the lot of land on the northerly side of Hardy street known as the Pendar houses, as now used. Together with all the other easements and subject to all the incumbrances mentioned or referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treas.
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.
Peabody, Feb. 3, 1886. 3t

Marriages.

In Danvers, Feb. 3, by Rev. W. M. Ayres, Mr. Guy P. Pope to Miss Irene B. Hynd.

In Salem, Feb. 2, by Rev. S. H. Emery, Mr. Charles E. Grover of Salem to Miss Hattie E. Graves of Marblehead; 4th, by Rev. B. F. McDaniel, Mr. Frederick A. Bennett to Miss Lucy A. Hinckley.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Feb. 5, of consumption, Miss Nellie T., daughter of Mr. David Holland.

In Danvers, Feb. 4, Miss Mary H. Underwood, 26 yrs.; Hon. John D. Philbrick, 67 yrs.

In Salem, Feb. 4, Mrs. Honora, wife of Mr. John Dempsey, 47 yrs.; 5th, Mrs. Mary E., wife of Mr. Lucius B. Packard, 45 yrs.

The Superintendent of the Danvers Horse R. R. certainly showed ignorance of the wants of the public last Wednesday evening, at the close of the performance of the Salem Oratorio Society. But one car was provided for the Peabody people who lived up Central street, and desired to ride in their cars, instead of the Naumkeag, and the Danvers people. It was entirely insufficient. The car could not accommodate the people even by the closest packing. The Naumkeag R. R. had several cars, and the people of Peabody who rode only to the Square had plenty of room.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

Special Prices

ON

GENTLEMEN'S
OVERCOATS.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS.

Our Entire Stock closed immediately.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, BOYS' REEFERS,

Marked Down. Low Prices for Boys' Suits.

GREAT TROUSER SALE

TO BE CONTINUED.

Hundreds of pairs added to our already large stock, making the largest assortment ever shown in the city. All wool Trousers, $1.50; Fine Cassimere Trousers, $2, 2.50 and 3; Fancy and Dress Trousers, $3.50, 4, 4.50 and 5.

COME RIGHT IN, A BARGAIN AWAITS YOU

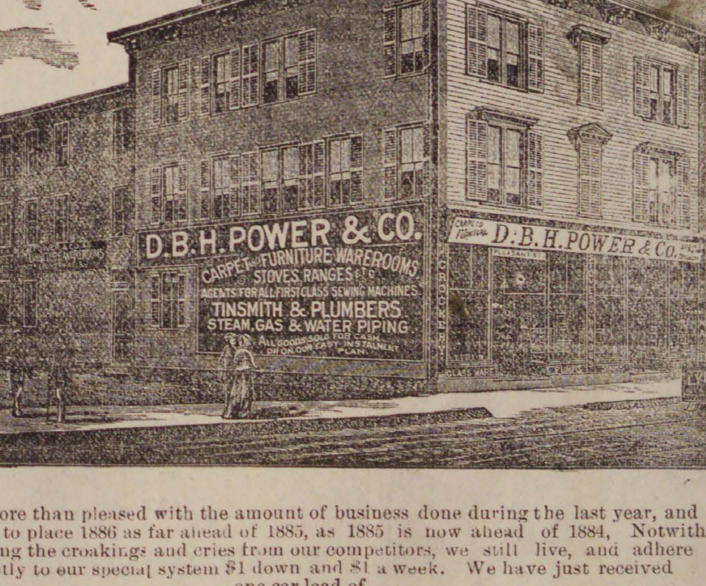
AT

EDW. C. ALMY & CO'S.

163 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence.
Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

STOCK TAKING IS OVER AND WE ARE NOW READY FOR BUSINESS.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET AND FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES ETC.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS.
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING.
ALL GOODS SOLD FOR CASH OR ON OUR EASY INSTALMENT PLAN
D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CROCKERY
GLASS WARE

We are more than pleased with the amount of business done during the last year, and we propose to place 1886 as far ahead of 1885, as 1885 is now ahead of 1884. Notwithstanding the croakings and cries from our competitors, we still live, and adhere strictly to our special system $1 down and $1 a week. We have just received one car load of

PARLOR SUITS

and two car loads of

CHAMBER SETS,

direct from the factories, and made especially to our order. We are now receiving every day new styles and patterns of

CARPETS, RUGS, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES, &C.

Remember we have the largest store and largest and best assortment of goods to be found in Essex county. We sell EVERYTHING to furnish a house complete from the lowest to the highest grades and at prices that defy competition, and at terms that are easier then those offered elsewhere. Our stock of Crockery, Glass and Silver Ware is complete. All of our Stoves and Ranges, both new and second hand, to be closed out to make room for new Spring goods.

NEW HOME
Simple
Strong
Swift
Sure
NEW HOME

Sole Agent in Marblehead and Vicinity for the

CELEBRATED

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE.

Noiseless and light running. This we will sell at the lowest prices for cash or on our instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a week.

☞ All goods delivered free.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

PEABODY PRESS SUPPLEMENT.

PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY FEB. 10, 1886.

Selected Reading.

TWO LIVES.

Time laid his hand on the budding leaf;
It turned to crimson, then brown and gold.
He touched the grain; 'twas a garnered sheaf,
A laden bin—and the year was old.

You walked in the sun when time was young;
I grew in the shade was ever old;
My life at least to the daylight sprung,
And yours—crept under the graveyard mold.

Two ways, two lives, two leaves of years,
A sudden cloud, and a glare of sun,
Written in passion, erased in tears!
Is the chapter ended or but begun?

A Rare Collection of Birds' Eggs.

Mr. E. W. Dickinson, of Springfield, Mass., has probably the best private collection in the country, there being in it about 600 eggs of North American birds. There are the big swans' and eagles' eggs, the tiny white globules in a downy nest constructed by humming-birds, besides the odd, cone-shaped affairs laid by the guillemot, probably so fashioned by nature that thay might not roll off the bare rocks where they are invariably laid. Rare eggs, like all rarities, come high, the eggs of the great auk, of which there are but three in this country, being rated at $350. From this the price runs down to 5 cents. Common owls' eggs are worth from $2 to $3 each, the gray owls' of the north being worth $50, however. Of hawks' eggs those of the duck hawk bring $12 each, and those of the pigeon hawk are still more valuable.

Beside his remarkable collection of eggs, Mr. Dickinson has one of birds which, unlike the specimens seen in museums and private houses mounted on stands, are cured flat, the legs and head being folded respectively upon and under the body. If the owner should wish a flat-cured bird mounted, all that would be necessary would be to remove the cotton-wool and arsenic padding and place the bird erect. Mr. Dickinson's house thus becomes a veritable den filled with the rarest spoils of nature. Pairs of horns and antlers jut out from the walls on all sides, and under glass cases can be found mounted some of the choicest of his birds.—Boston Transcript.

Treading the Wine-Press in Italy.

Something has already been said about the vineyard of the Scala Bros. on Vesuvius. The vintage was in progress when I visited it, and I saw the treading of the grapes and the first stages of wine-making. The room used for the crushing was a part of the family mansion and was scarcely more than fifteen or twenty feet square. The platform for the treading was perhaps three feet high, four or five wide, and built entirely across one end of the room. The front of it was raised a few inches to prevent the escape of the grape-juice, and it was carefully cemented in every part.

There was but a single person treading, a stalwart peasant, who ostentatiously washed his feet before beginning in a small tub of water standing near; as he afterward explained, out of deference to the stranger. His feet were uncommonly broad at the base of the toes. His dress was a calico shirt and short trousers, which he rolled up a little, probably because he wished to keep them dry, and not out of respect for the wine. Half a ton of grapes were put on the platform, and the treading began about the edges and then systematically all over the pile, which kept as well as possible together. The juice soon began to flow freely across the platform and out at a spout made in the little barrier of cement into a large tub. It was intended for champagne, being the first. It is the usual arrangement fof treading where wine is made in large quantities.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A New Business for Actors.

Well-fed, rosy and contented, an old actor, once well known to metropolitan audiences, beamed a genial smile on a reporter in front of the Union Square hotel.

"You don't look as if you had had a very hard summer?" observed the reporter.

"I haven't," was the reply. "I haven't had one for several years. I'm not a fake now. I'm a coach."

"What is that?"

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

Being unable to set forth in ordinary space our comprehensive lines of new Merchandise, we present this supplement as a partial mention of our Stock.

Black and Colored SILKS.

Our stock of Black Silks is complete in every respect, from 50c to $3.00 per yard, containing the celebrated Lyons brands together with the most reliable American manufactures, but only those which have been thoroughly tested. We guarantee them to give perfect satisfaction. We sell the best and handsomest Black Silk in New England at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 per yard, 25c to 30c per yard under price for this quality of silk. Every purchaser given a written guarantee for one year. It is called "Our own." Ask to see it.

In Black Satin Rhadames, Satin Duchess, Merveilleux, Bengolines, Amures, etc., we are prepared to give greater values than ever before, viz.,

Satin Rhadames.

20-inch, 90c,	worth $1.10
20-inch, $1.00,	worth 1.25
21-inch, 1.25,	worth 1.50
22-inch, 1.32½,	worth 1.62½

These are but few of the many bargains.

Of Colored Gros Grain Silks and Satin Rhadames our stock is much larger than ever.

We ask your attention to the following bargains:

Colored Silks.

15 pieces,	18-inch,	55c
30 "	19 "	85c
30 "	20 "	$1.00

Satin Rhadames.

15 pieces	20-inch,	85c
40 "	20 "	$1.00
25 "	21 "	1.25

These goods are of the newest and most desirable shades, perfect in texture, and are from 15c to 25c per yard less than the same quality of goods were sold last season.

We propose to make our Silk department as near perfect in detail as possible, and ladies will not feel obliged to go to Boston for their goods.

Surah Silks.

Surah Silks,

Tricots. Tricots.

This most desirable article is still in quest for the fine trade and is especially adapted to Tailor-made Dresses and Suits. We shall show early in February a complete assortment of these goods from 50c to $1.00 per yard.

We have a complete line of Camels Hair, Foule, India Twills, Armures. In fact all the leading fabrics to which large additions will be made as the foreign goods arrive.

We offer special bargains in All Wool Dress Flannels at 37½c and 50c per yard.

Mourning Dress Goods.

While black dress materials are not worn so much as in former years there is a constant demand for Mourning. We have anticipated such demands by displaying one of the largest and most varied lines of these goods we have ever shown.

Dress Lining Dept.

In this department may be found a complete assortment of Foreign and American Silesias, Percalines, Wigans, Elastic Canvas, Italian Lastings, etc., etc. We call especial attention to our Caledonia Facing Cambric, a superior article for the purpose.

COTTON DRESS FABRICS.

French Satteens.

We offer the largest and the best selected stock of French Satteens ever displayed in this market. They comprise a variety of colors and styles to suit all tastes. They are from the best makers.

Anderson's Scotch Ginghams.

We are displaying a stock of these celebrated goods. They will interest all lovers of beautiful and serviceable Summer Fabrics. In addition to the above we offer a very choice line of Scotch Ginghams at a popular price.

125 pieces of Fine Seersucker Ginghams at 12½c. This is the most shirr and delicate seersucker in the market at the above named price.

1 case 36-inch Printed Penangs at 12½c per yard. They are similar to percales only heavier, making them more serviceable, and are suitable for dresses or shirtings.

We have opened a large lot of New Prints, standard makes, at 4c and 5c per yard.

1 case Fine, Double Fold Cheviot Shirtings for 10c per yd, never retailed less than 12½c. We advise early selections if they would secure the choice styles.

We shall show during the next thirty days 250 pieces Printed American Satteens at 12½c yer yard. The styles are our own designs. They will not be shown elsewhere.

A. B. & W.

Bankrupt Stock.

Goods from the Sheriff's Sale of the stock of Kaughran & Co., 809 and 811 Broadway, New York.

Lot No. 1 consists of Double Folded All Wool Dress Flannels at 25c per yd.

Lot 2. All Wool Double Folded Dress Flannels, 37½c.

Lot 3. All Wool Colored Dress Goods at 50c per yard.

Lot 4. All Wool Homespuns at 37½c.

Lot 5. Black Dress Goods at 25c.

Lot 6. All Wool Black Cashmeres at 37½c.

Lot 7. All Wool Black Cashmeres at 50c.

Lot 8. All Linen Scotch Crash, fine quality at 6¼c.

Lot 9. All Linen Scotch Crash at 8c.

Lot 10. All Linen Napkins at 37c per dozen.

Lot 11. All Linen Napkins at 50c per doz.

Great Linen Sale.

All the articles in this stock are remarkably low in price, many of them 25 per cent less than others sell the same quality for. The most of the stock is our own importation and cannot be found elsewhere.

Damask Doylies,
Cardinal Doylies,
Toilenette Doylies.
Loom Damask,
Cream Damask,
Bleached Single Damask.
Bleached Double Damask,
Red Bordered Damask,
Cardinal Damask,
Toilinett Check Damask,
Scotch Turkey Red Damask,
American Turkey Red Damask.
Bleached Tea Setts,
Bleached Dinner Setts,
Fancy Tea Setts,
Fancy Dinner Setts,

Assortment larger than ever before and prices never so low.

Loom Damask Table Covers, red border, for large or small tables.

QUILTS.

Our stock of Quilts is complete in foreign and domestic goods. We sell a full sized Quilt for 69c and another for 75c, worth $1.00.

An extra heavy Crochet Quilt, for $1, also an extra heavy and fine Crochet Quilt, Marseilles pattern for $1.10.

Heavy Marseiles Quilt, $1.50. 1.75, 2.00, 2.50, 3.00, 3.50, 4.00, 4.50 and 5.00, the finest foreign goods.

A full line of Gilberts Flannels in all widths and prices.

Domet Flannels, Red Twilled Flannels, Navy Blue Flannels, at low prices.

Heavy Gray Mixed Flannel, 12½c, 17c, 20c and 25c per yard.

White Shaker Domet flannels, 6¼c, 8c, and 10c.

A full line of Embroidered Flannels, choicest patterns.

COTTONS.

This department is of more than ordinary interest to purchasers, as the making up often costs as much as the material. It therefore behooves the trade to procure goods that are known to possess real merit, as to wear as well as quality. With these facts in mind we have added to our long list many new makes of cotton not kept by others in Salem. We can satisfy the most exacting purchaser.

We call especial attention to the bleached and finished for our fine retail trade, by the Toppan process.

PRIDE OF SALEM,

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

This department is one of the most attractive in our store. We are not egotistical when we say there never was such a display of elegant goods in this line in the city.

It would be impossible for us to enumerate all of the different Fabrics which we are displaying in this department, but we name a few below.

Checked Nainsooks,
Striped Nainsooks,
Saracene Plaids,
Saxony Cable Plaids,
Tokay Plaids,
Hawthorne Stripes,
Fancy Checks,
Spotted Mulls,
Alliciennes,
Welt Piques,
Battistes.
India Linens,
Bishop Lawns,
India Twills.

Tucked nainsooks in a great variety of styles.

Embroidered Robes.

Besides a great many fabrics new this season.

Sale of Unlaundered Shirts.

Gent's Unlaundered Shirts made from a fair quality of cotton, with an all Ladies' Cotton Underwear and Embroideries.

We have been obliged to duplicate our orders in many articles of Ladies' Cotton Underwear, but shall not be able to offer but a short time longer such values as we are now giving, as manufacturers are already advancing prices for making.

HAMBURGS.

Our sale of Hamburgs still continues to attract the attention of customers looking for fine goods.

We offer bargains at 1, 3, 5, 8, 10, 12½, 15, 17, 19, 25, 37½, 50, 62½, 75, 87 1-2, cts. $1.00, 1.25, 1.50, and 1.75 per yard.

HOSIERY.

Ladies fine Balbriggan Clocked Hose, 12 1-2 cts.

Ladies full regular Hose, in striped and solid colors, 15c.

Children's Hose, extra heavy, in solid colors, would be cheap at 50c, now 25c.

Schopper's Hose in solid colors, clocked, regular 50c goods, now 25c.

Schoppers Hose for Children for the extremely low price of 15c and 17c.

A full assortment of Children's Heavy Cotton Hose in all grades.

Special bargains in Children's Double Knee Hose.

Creat reductions in Children's and Ladies' Woolen Hose, which we are offering at half their original value.

A. B. & W.

A Partial Enumeration of Small Wares.

Ladies', Misses' and Children's Hose Supporters,

DRESS SHIELDS,

Cheap, medium and fine grades.

Sheet Pins, American and English, Hair Pins, Toilet Pins, Tape Measures, Tracing Wheels, Emeries, Thimbles, Rubber, Steel, Plated and Silver.

A very fine line of

SCISSORS,

warranted. Also cheap ones for 10c and 15c, right for lamp trimmers, etc.

HAIR CRIMPERS

in great variety of makes.

Whale Bones, Skirt Springs, Metallic Dress Stays, Feather Bones, Hooks and Eyes, Tapes and Needles, Ladies' and Children's Shoe Polish,

VAMPIRE POLISH,

A new article for cleaning all kinds of metals. Every housekeeper who tries it will be pleased.

ALLAN'S SOAP BARK,

ART DEPT.

In our Art Department we offer bargains in Linen Tidies, Splashers, Bureau Covers, Stand Covers, Plain or Stamped,

A special bargain in All Linen Stamped Splashers, 12½c, and Printed Momie Tidies, 10c.

Stamping is done while customers wait. We also have Briggs' patterns for those who choose to do their own stamping. Orders taken for Art Work in all the new methods. Lessons given in Art Work. Designs furnished.

FIR BALSAM,

FOR PILLOWS OR BEDS.

Fir Balsam direct from the woods of Maine. Unprepared 6 cts. per lb.; prepared 8c. per lb. A discount of 25 per cent. from these prices if bought at wholesale.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

CARPETS,

We have been successful at the beginning of recent seasons in offering a substantial line of genuine bargains in our carpet department. We do so now with the understanding that the prices cannot be maintained after this sale, as many of the goods cannot be duplicated by us at the prices we name.

We are receiving our selection of new carpets in all grades. We show a full line of Brussels Tapestry and Ingrain Carpets in private patterns.

Kensington Art Squares.

The importation of John H. Pray Sons & Co., who control them for the United States, will be a specialty with us this season.

BARGAINS.

10 Rolls White Straw Mattings 9 cts. worth 12 1-2.

10 Rolls White Straw Matting, 12 1-2 cts.: worth 20c.

5 Rolls White Straw Matting, 17 cts.; worth 25c.

10 Rolls Check Straw Matting, 12 1-2c worth 25 cts.

10 Rolls of Fancy Straw Matting, 17c.

into the fibre, to rise again and be breathed into delicate lungs. Dust clings tenaciously to some fibres especially woolen. No ordinary beating process will remove it. Hand-beating is ineffective. Our method of beating is the only thorough and effective one.

We invite investigation as to the merit of of our claim, to wit, that we can beat carpets as clean as they can be made, and without injury to them, as we use no hooks, nails or screws, and they require no ripping or sewing to adjust them to our machine, It is essential to clean carpets thoroughly, if they are worth it; for carpets, like other household articles, will absorb impurity and retain it tenaciously. This can be tested by closing up the room, after the carpet has been in use for some time. On opening the room an offensive odor is often emitted.

We can also apply our heated or dry steam process in addition to the machine for removing dust and dirt; and this process will effectually relieve the carpet of all impurity, and also brings out and freshens the colors. It also kills Moths, Buffalo Bugs, and all other vermin that infest carpets.

THE BED WE LIE ON.

An Important Sanitary Measure

When Mattresses are made over, they are as a rule in a very bad condition. Hair being an animal fibre and conductor, takes from the body impurities detrimental to health; especially those that have been used for a length of time. Our Hygienic Steam Renovating process removes these impurities effectually, leaving the hair fresh and sweet; also restores to it the elasticity lost by long use.

Moths in Furniture and Hair Mattresses.

Moths are the plague of the world. In Furniture and Hair Mattresses they make more havoc than anywhere else. It may surprise housekeepers to be informed that moths in Furniture and Hair Matresses do not usually come from the outside but from the eggs of the Moth Miller that were in the hair when the articles were made.

Our Super Heated Steam Process is the only effectual way to destroy Moths in furniture and mattresses, for it kills the Moth and its Eggs. We do not believe that the Hair in Furniture or Bedding once thoroughly renovated by our process will ever again be infested with Moths.

Price List for Hygienic Steam Process.

CARPETS.

Beating Ingrains,	3c per yard
" Brussels and Tapestries,	4c per yard
" Velvets, Wiltons and Morquetts,	6c per yard
Beating Axministers,	8c per yard
All Carpets Steamed, Extra,

"Well, in plain English, I don't take engagements any more. I have given myself up entirely to directing the stage and otherwise preparing the performances for wealthy amateurs and societies. I have engagements for a month ahead all through the winter, and my terms are $20 a day, with extras for exceptionally laborious engagements. Through my connections with our swell amateurs I also pick up a neat little business right along in the way of coaching them in parts privately. It's better than being a manager, much less an actor, nowadays, for it's pleasant and certain."

Quite a number of well known actors do a considerable business in this line, though none surrender themselves completely to it as this one has.—New York News.

Some Letters by Louis Napoleon.

M. Ernest Renan has applied to the Empress Eugenie for permission to publish selections from a large number of letters written by the emperor of the French to his foster sister, Mme. Cornu. The publication would be in fulfillment of directions to M. Renan contained in the will of Mme. Cornu, who died some twelve years ago; but before engaging upon the work M. Renan deems it necessary to obtain the permission of the empress, as he considers the letters to be her literary property, although the actual manuscript belonged to Mme. Cornu.

These letters are remarkably interesting, being of an essentially intimate character. For the most part they are of the time of the Ham captivity. In the opinion of M. Renan these letters give a new and better insight into the character of Louis Napoleon, as they were written without any idea that the world would ever hear of them, and to a lady of high character for whom he had an affectionate regard.—Paris Cor. London Standard.

A. B. & W.

PROSPECTUS.

Our retail sales for the past year have been the largest in our business experience. We thank the public for their kind confidence and patronage. Our association with the great American Syndicate of retail houses gives us equal advantages with the largest receivers of Dry Goods from first hands. Foreign merchandise come to us near the cost of importation. American products are received direct from the mills or commission houses at bottom prices.

Nobody can undersell us, and on the other hand we are often able to sell goods at less than the market value.

We are known in the trade as a LOW PRICED HOUSE in the BEST QUALITIES of goods, and also noted as doing the LARGEST BUSINESS IN PROPORTION TO THE POPULATION, OF ANY HOUSE IN THE COUNTRY. The several members of our firm are all buyers and are perfectly familiar always with the condition of the market in their line of specialties.

During the past year our store has been enlarged and remodelled. The plans were conceived months before operations began, from the best models known to us, and from suggestions in our long business experience. We have spared no expense to have it commodious, convenient and agreeable. The result is a store that everybody admires for its size, convenient arrangements and unsurpassed light. "It is a very large store for Salem," has often been remarked. It is none too large for our business, we expect to need more room with the future growth and importance of our city as a business centre, which is making marked advances from year to year. We shall do a larger business this year than last. We have provided for it.

Within four days we have received 144 packages of goods, 58 of which were solid cases.

We deliver goods free of express charges in New England, where expresses run and prepay all packages which can pass through the mails.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

Surah Silks.

We have made large additions to our Surah Silk stock. It is the largest and most varied of any in the county, comprising over 50 different shades, aside from a full line of blacks, ranging in price from 55c to $1.10 per yard.

A special feature in this department is a large variety of evening shades.

There is every indication that Surah Silks will be one of the most popular fabrics for the coming season, especially for evening wear.

We are prepared to show over 100 shades of Colored Satins. This stock comprises all the newest and most exquisite shades for the Spring season. Ladies in search of Satins for art purposes will find our stock of interest. Prices ranging from 50c to $1.00 per yard.

Black and Colored Velvets.

In the coming season we intend to make this department more complete than ever, and our customers can rest assured that they can always find the desired quality and shade at the very lowest price.

We shall make a specialty of fine Black Millinery Velvets.

In Black and Colored Brocades and Novelties we shall open at once a full line, at astonishingly low prices, and later on in the season, as the goods are landed, continue to open French novelties in the best and most elegant designs. We have a fine assortment already bought, which we will be able to show Feb. 10.

ALMY, BIGELOW &
WASHBURN.

Dress Goods!

Dress Goods!

Dress Goods!

It is with pleasure that we once more invite the ladies of Salem and vicinity to inspect our stock of Spring Dress Goods of American manufacture. We say with pleasure because we are sure it will meet with their hearty approbation. It is replete with all the latest and choicest fabrics the market affords.

Homespuns.

Homespuns.

No dress fabric for many years has attained such popularity as these goods. There is every indication that this fabric will be one of the leading dress materials for the coming season, It is being made in all the delicate and most approved shades. We shall offer a full line of these goods at 50c, 75c and $1.00 per yard.

CLOAK DEPT.

GREAT FINAL MARK DOWN.

We wish to say to the Ladies of Salem, and Essex County that we have now reached Rock Bottom in prices for Ladies', Misses' and Children's Outside Garments. All our patrons know when we advertise low prices we mean it. We guarantee now better value for your money than ever before offered in this department, and cordially invite all to give us a call whether intending to purchase or not.

We quote below some prices which we feel sure will interest you.

Seal Plush Sacques.

$55.00,	former price,		$70.00
40.00,	"	"	50.00
30.00,	"	"	40.00
20.00,	"	"	30.00

Seal Plush Wraps.

$20.00, former price, $30.00

CLOTH WRAPS.

One lot $15.00,	formerly	$25.00
One lot $12.00,	"	18.00
One lot 10.00,	"	15.00

NEW MARKETS.

One lot Fur trimmed,
$10.00,	formerly	$16.00
One lot Plain,
10.00,	formerly	15.00
8.00,	"	14.00
One lot Bouclé,
12.00,	formerly	18.00

Walking Jackets.

Jersey Jackets, $4, $6, $8 and $10.
Bouclé Jackets, $6, $8, $10

Children's Garments

We give particular attention to the selection of Misses' and Children's Garments, and cannot be outdone. Prices from $2 to $10.

Cloth Circulars.

We have just closed out a line of Cloth Circulars, quilted lining, that we offer for $7.50, 8.50 and 10.00.

Call early for we are assured that at the prices quoted these bargains cannot last long.

ALMY, BIGELOW &
WASHBURN

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

We are closing out the balance of our Felt Hats and Fancy Feathers at astonishingly low prices to make room for Spring goods soon to arrive.

Cardinal Table Covers large or small.

Toilenette Check Table Covers large or small.

Felt Table Covers, large or small.

Tapestry Table Covers, large or small.

Especial attention called to Red Bordered Bleached Cover with fringe all around, 3 yds. long, price $3.00.

Bleached Damask Towels, knotted fringe.

Bleached Damask Towels, plain fringe.

Loom Huck Towels,

Bleached Huck Towels,

Loom Diaper Towels,

Bleached Diaper Towels.

Bleached Turkish Towels,

Brown Turkish Towels,

Fancy Turkish Towels.

Attention is called to a large size—the largest we have ever shown or seen at the price—Damask Towel with knotted fringe, price 25c.

Bleached Linen Dowlas, for Butcher's frocks.

Unbleached Linen Dowlas.

A fine assortment of Russian Crash.

A fine assortment of Brown Twilled Crash.

A fine assortment of Bleached Twilled Crash.

A fine assortment of Plain Brown Crash.

A fine assortment of Plain Bleached Crash.

A fine assortment of Huckabuck Towelling.

A fine assortment of Glass Towelling.

Linen for Pillow Cases. Linen for Sheets. Linen for Collars, Cuffs or Bosoms.

18 in Cotton Diaper.

20 in. Cotton Diaper.

16 in. Bleached Red End Diaper.

18 in. Bleached Red End Diaper.

20 in. Bleached Red End Diaper.

Domestic Dept.

We speak with pride of this department, it being one of the best lighted, best arranged and best stocked in our store.

Blankets. Blankets.

We offer the largest and best selected stock of Blankets ever displayed in this city. The great increase in our sales the past year warrants us in saying we give the best value in Blankets for the money of any house in this vicinity.

linen bosom, at 25c.

Gents' Unlaundered Shirts, from better cotton than the above, all linen Bosom and wristbands, with patent continuous band, 37c.

Gents Unlaundered Shirts, made of good cotton, all Linen Bosom and Wristbands, reinforced back and front, warranted to fit, 48c.

Gent's Unlaundered Shirts, made from N. Y. mills, best cotton, Linen Bosom and Wristbands, Patent continuous band, 61c.

Gents' Unlaundered Shirts, fine heavy Cotton, fine Linen Bosom and Wristbands, reinforced back and front, patent continuous band, 75c.

Gent's Unlaundered Shirts, open back and front, made from fine heavy cotton, all Linen Bosom and Wristbands, a first class article, 98c.

Boys' Unlaundered Shirts, all Linen Bosoms and Wristbands, 37c and 50c.

Beside the above a full assortment of the celebrated Hathaway & Springvale Shirts, so well known to gentlemen of this vicinity.

Fine assortment of Laundered Shirts.

Gents' Working Shirts, 25c.

Fine assortment of Linen Collars at $1 per doz.

All Linen 4-ply Cuffs, $1.50 per doz.

During this sale a large assortment of Gents' Satin Scarfs at 12½c.

CORSETS.

In this line we have the largest and best assorted stock in the city.

The trade has acknowledged this fact by their liberal patronage in the past.

In French and German Woven Corsets, our prices range from 75c to $3.50.

Extra Bargains.

We give the Ladies for $1.00 a woven corset that all leading houses ask $1.25 for.

Full line of the popular "common Sense" Corsets, in short, mediums and long.

French Made Corsets.

The "C. P." Corsets, celebrated "R. G." Corsets. In this make we have a complete assortment. For $1, 1.25 and 1.50, we will give you a corset equal in shape to any French $2.00 corset.

"Double boned" Corset, warranted not to break across the hip.

Dr. Warner's Corsets

The abdominal Health Coraline Flexible, Nursing and "cut away hip." The Corset is perfect for stout ladies.

Thompson's Glove Fitting Corsets.

Ladies' and Misses' Comfort Corsets.

Ball's Health Preserving Corset.

Special bargains at 62½c, formerly sold for $1.25.

Our 50c Corset is the "Pride of Salem" a regular 75c corset.

Summer Corsets in the French and Domestic makes.

Bargains in Children's Waists at 38c, 50c and 75c.

Misses' Corsets for 50 and 75c.

Satin Corsets for $3.00 per pair in all colors.

a very fine article for removing Grease spots from Gloves, and all silk or Woolen fabrics.

Colgate's Toilet Soaps, Pear's Soaps, 4711 Soap, Palm Oil Soap, Mt. Carmel Soap, KURICA SOAP,

Very highly recommended for Nursery, Hospital and Barber's uses.

Violet Water, Lavender Water, Bay Rum, Amonia, Fine assortment of Lubin's Triple Extracts by the ounce.

Fine assortment of Triple Extracts, American manufacture, put up expressly for A. B. & W.

A very fine Tooth Powder manufactured for A. B. & W.

Pear's Toilet Powder, Tetlow's Swans down and Gossamer, King's Toilet Paper and Holders, Whisk Brooms

HAIR BRUSHES.

Large assortment of English or American manufacture,

Infants' Brushes Infants' Combs, Infant's Sets, (Brush, Comb and Puff Box).

Velvet Brushes, Tooth Brushes, Round Combs, Toilet Combs, coarse or fine, Sponges, coarse, medium or fine quality, Fans for Party uses, Fans for Decorating, Purses, Wallets, Shopping Bags, "Grip Sacks," Jewelry, &c., &c.

HDKFS.

We are giving wonderful good bargains in Ladies' Initial All Linen Handkerchiefs, at 9c and 12½c each.

RIBBONS.

A bargain in all Silk Gro Grain Ribbon at 3c, and Remnants Fancy Ribbon at 5c a yd.

KIDS, ETC.

A new fresh stock of Kids at 50c.

Children's Lined Fur Wrist Mittens, 21c.

FURS.

Will close out the remainder of our stock of Beaver, Hair, Natural Lynx, Imitation Lynx, Imitation Chinchilla Trimmings, and Muffs and Setts, at prices sure to please customers, rather than pack them away for another season.

A fresh stock of Feather Trimmings in new spring shades,

BUTTONS.

Our assortment of Dress and Cloak Buttons will be very large, comprising beautiful designs and colorings, suitable to be used with all the new spring shades of cloak and drsss goods.

LINEN GOODS.

Special sale of Ladies' and Children's Linen Collars and Cuffs.

Ladies' All Linen Collars with Capes, 5c. Ladies Cuffs, 10c, 3 pairs for 25c.

Boys' Fancy Collars, 5c each.

LACES.

We anticipate a large Lace trade this spring, and already have a fine assortment of Fidora, Oriental, Egyptian, Spanish, Medicis, Wool.

Fancy Flouncings, All Overs in Wool, Chantilly, Oriental, Spanish and Jet.

5 Rolls Fancy Straw Matting, 25 cts.; worth 37 1-2c.

10 Rolls Fancy Seamless Matting, 20c. been sold for 50 cts.

Only 60 rolls in all will be sold—Straw Mattings are to be higher this season. They now being sold less than the cost of importation.

All remnants Straw Matting 12 1-2 cts., worth from 25 to 50 cts.

Number 1 Oil Cloths, 37 1-2, worth 621-2 cts.

Number 2 Oil Cloths, 35c., worth 50 cts.

Oil Cloths, painted backs, 25 cts.; worth 37 1-2.

5 patterns Linoleum at 50c., regular price 62 1-2c.

One lot Body Brussels, good quality and good pattern at 95c. per yd.

One lot Body Brussels, full 5 frame goods, choice colorings and styles at only $1.00 per yard.

One lot 5 frame Body Brussels, including goods from the leading manufacturers in the country at only $1.10. Regular $1.50 goods.

Velvet Carpets.

A full line of the best patterns and finest goods manufactured, at only $1,10; these goods are usually sold at $1.50 per yard.

Tapestry Brussels.

At 65c., 75c, and 85 cts., the latter price including Roxbury, and other leading makes.

A few short lengths pieces of the best quality of Tapestry Brussels, (from 12 to 22 yards in a piece), at only 65c. per yard.

Remnants of Tapestry Brussels at 50 cents per yard.

One lot full standard extra superfine carpets, from leading manufacturers, whose names are a guarantee that they are the best quality at 65c. per yard.

Remnants of extra super Carpets best quality at 35c.

Dundee Rugs, 2 yards long and 1 yard wide at only 50 cts each.

Smyrna Rugs and Mats of the best quality manufactured.

Size 21 x 46	inches,	$2 25
27 x 54	"	3.00
30 x 60	"	3.50
36 x 72	"	5.00

Rubber, Brush, Coca, and every grade of Mats at very low prices.

HYGIENIC STEAM

Carpet Beating.

Furniture and Matresses renovated by the same process.

We guarantee to beat Carpets in a thorough manner. Each carpet being beaten by itself, does not catch the dust of nor interfere with any other carpet.

☞ No infected article will be received for treatment.

26,700 yards treated last season—besides mats, hair mattresses, and furniture.

The Patent Process as applied to Carpets and Rugs.

There is no article in a household that collects more unhealthy dirt than a carpet. After the carpet has been in use for sometime, sweeping takes off only a part of the dust and dirt, and the rest of the dirt settles down

Cleansing Spots, etc., Special Rates.

Discounts given on 100 yards or more taken at one time.

Carpets taken up and refitted at our usually low prices, at short notice.

Carpets stored and insured.

Hotels, Churches and other Public Buildings, special Rates.

PRICES FOR FURNITURE.

Steaming	Lounges,	$1.50
"	Sofas,	2.50
"	Easy Chairs,	1.00
"	Sofa Lounge Bed,	2.50
"	Parlor Chairs,	.75
"	Reception Chairs,	1.00

☞ These prices do not include the work of making over.

New Mattresses and Bedding.

In connection with our Upholstery Department, we make to order Mattresses filled with all kinds of material, and Bedding of every description; also Church Cushions in all kinds of material. All orders will be filled promptly and the work done in a thorough manner.

We solicit contracts from Hotels, Churches and Public Institutions.

We call for goods in Salem, Danvers, Marblehead, Beverly and Peabody.

☞ We deliver goods free of express charges in Essex County where Expresses run

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

Upholstery Dept.

During our recent visit to New York we were fortunate in securing some rare bargains in Laces and Lace Curtains; having had the best of experience in selecting lace curtains, we feel confident that our customers will find these goods the best that can be found in the market.

We quote a few of the bargains.

50-inch Colored Crape,	37½c,	worth	50c
Dotted Colored Muslin,	8c,	"	15c
Cream Madras,	30c,	"	50c
Gold Madras,	37 1-2c,	"	50c
Colored Madras,	50c,	"	87c
" "	75c,	"	1.50
" "	at 45, 50, 62, 75, 83c, $1.00.

Ecru Madras at 30, 37 1-2, 42, 50.
Ecru Curtains, $1, 1.50, 2.50, 3.00.
Colored Curtains, 2,50, 3.50, up to 25.00
Irish Point Curtains. 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, up to 25.00.
Nottingham Curtain, 50, 62, 75, 85, 1.00 up to 10.00.

Swiss Colbert, Antique, Applique, Indian Crepe etc., in the newest and choicest designs.

All our one and two pair curtains we will close out for one-half of the cost.

Heavy Turcoman Curtains.

We have added to our already large line of Turcoman Curtains some remarkable bargains.

1 lot of Heavy Curtains,	7.50,	worth	10.
1 " " " "	8.50,	"	12.
1 " " " "	11.50,	"	15.

Turcoman Cross Stripe, Shela Cross Stripe, Raw Silk C. Stripe, Jute C. Stripe, at prices that will suit.

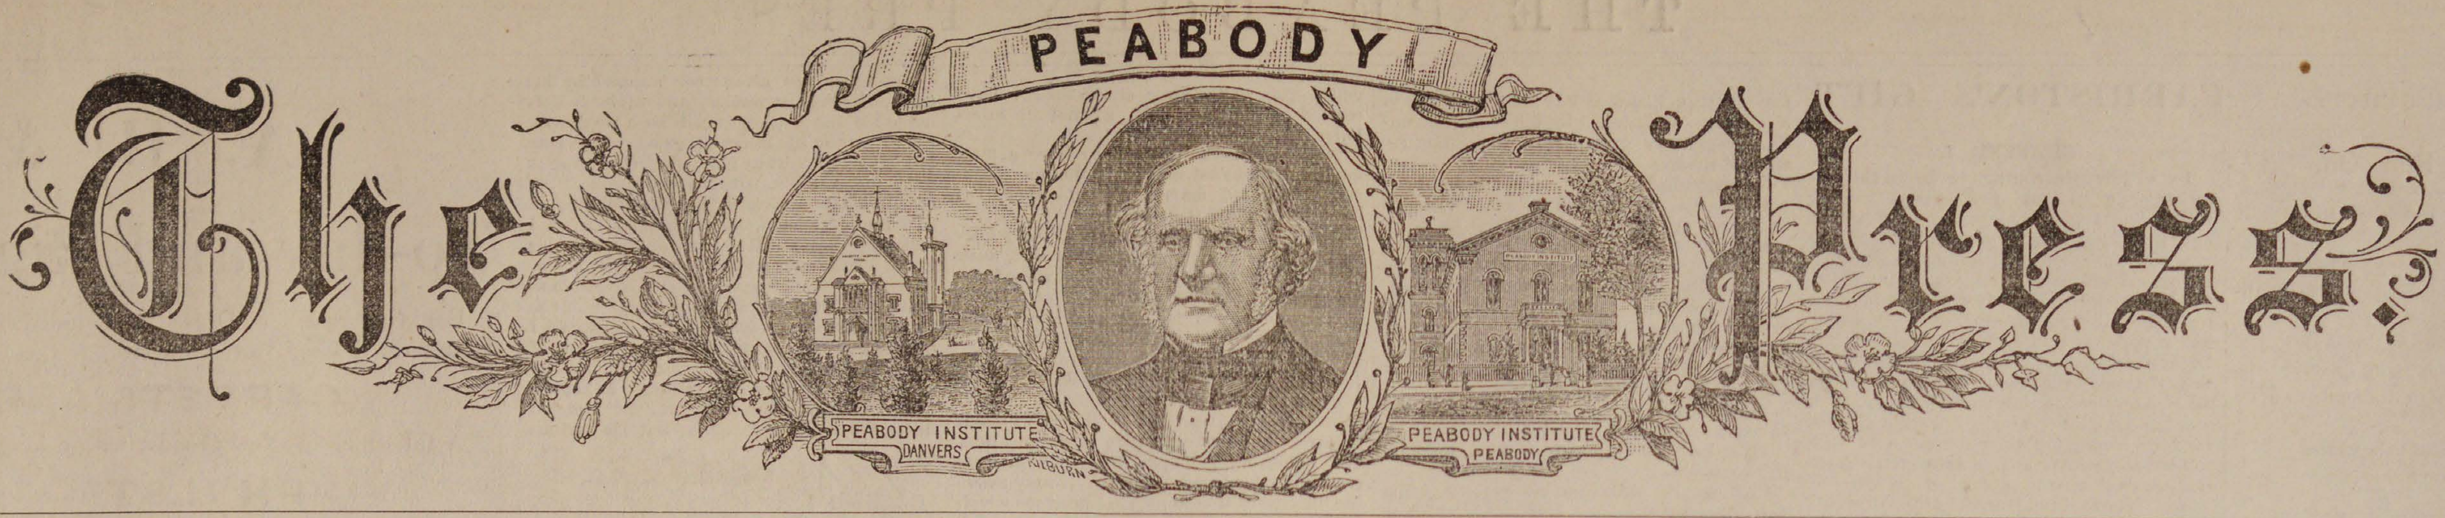
Shade Department,

Owing to the ready sale of our last lot of Holland Shades we have made during the dull season 2500 shades from the best American, Holland, best balance roller, rings or tassels, and all made and ready to put up at window, at the remarkable low price of 37 1-2 cts. each.

We cannot take special orders to furnish these shades at this price. The size is 36x72 inches. Orders by mail or otherwise will be filled in turn as long as the lot lasts.

Shade Crescents at 3c each.

The Peabody Press.



VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 17, 1886. NO. 7.

WILMOT GOING OUT OF BUSINESS!

We have sold the Lease of our Salem store, and must vacate the store by March 1st.

THE ENTIRE STOCK OF

Winter and Summer Clothing

Must be sold, no matter how great the sacrifice, the goods must be turned into money. This is a bona fide selling out Sale and the prices that we shall name will be the lowest ever known in Massachusetts.

READ THE PRICES.

And remember that the garments we advertise were most of them made for this Winter's trade, and that you will findno old goods or trash among them.

MEN'S OVERCOATS.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish overcoat, dark blue and green mixture,

for $3.87 1-2, regular price, $6.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish Overcoats

for $4.50, regular price $8.

Men's Heavy Black Elysian Overcoats, very handsome coats, bound narrow, Velvet collar,

for$5 former price $10.

Men's Heavy Oxford Mixed Overcoats, made for dress and business wear,

for $5, former price $10.

Men's Fine All Wool Irish Frieze Overcoats, made with lap seams, pearl buttons and velvet collar,

for $7, former price $13.

Men's All Wool Blue Beaver Overcoats, made A-1 warranted fast colors,

for $8 regular price $15.

Men's All Wool Beaver Overcoats, made and trimmed in the best manner,

for $10, regular price, 16.

Men's All Wool Overcoats, in black, green, drab, brown and slate colors, made and trimmed in the best manner.

for $7.75, 8.00, 9.50 and 10, regular prices $12, 15, 16 and 18.

We have not room to enumerate the styles and prices but we have got to sell out, and you can buy an overcoat of us at just half cost.

MEN'S SUITS.

Men's Heavy All Wool Suits

for $3, regular price $8, 9 and 12.

Men's All Wool Cassimere Suits, well made and trimmed,

for $5, regular price $10.

Men's Nobby All Wool Suits, latest style and handsome goods, for $6 and 7, regular price $12 and 14.

Men's Blue Flannel Suits, warranted fast colors,

for $5, regular price $12.

You will find all our suits marked in like proportion. Come and see them and get a bargain that you will always remember with pleasure.

MEN'S PANTALOONS.

Men's Heavy Winter Pantaloons,

for 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2, and 2.50, regular prices $1.50, 2, 2.25, 2.50, 3, and 4.

Men's Odd Coats and Vests, at prices less than the cost of cloth from which they are manufactured.

Boys' and Children's OVERCOATS.

BOYS' HEAVY OVERCOATS.

Ages from 13 to 18.

For $3, 3.50, 3.75, 4, 4.25, 5, regular prices, 5, 6, 6.50, 7, 7.50 and 10.

Children's Heavy Overcoats.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3 and 4, regular prices, 4.50, 5, 5.50, 6 and 7.

BOYS' SUITS,

Long Pants, Ages 13 to 18.

For $2, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 regular prices, $5, 6, 6.50, 7, 9, 10 12.

Children's Suits.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, regular prices $3. 4, 4.50, 5, 6, 7, 7.50, 8, 9.

BOYS' PANTALOONS.

Ages 13 to 17,

For 75c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2.50, regular price, 4.25, 1.50, 2, 2.50, 3, 4.50.

Children's Short Pantaloons.

For 37 1-2c, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, regular prices 65c, 75c, $1, 1 25.

WINTER UNDERWEAR,

FURNISHING GOODS

Hats and Caps.

Boots and Shoes.

One and all are included in this sale. Everything must be sold before we give up business.

READ THE PRICES.

Men's Winter Underwear,

For 25c, 33c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, regular price 50c, 62 1-2c, 75c, $1.25, 1.50.

Men's Hats,

For 25c, 50c, 75c, $1, 1.50, regular price 50c, 75c, $1.00, 1.25, and 2.00.

Boots and Shoes.

The Bargains in this department are too numerous to mention. They must be seen to be appreciated.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are not giving up business in Salem on account of our non success; on the contrary our Salem store has been our best paying store. But we are going to consolidate our business to our Boston store, where we have enlarged our already large store by the addition of an entire block which will be used as our Furniture Department. During the last year we have added a number of departments and the coming year we shall add more. As a natural consequence we shall require all our capital to make it a success. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage in the past I am

Yours truly.
H. B. WILMOT.

WILMOT CLOTHING COMPANY,

250 AND 254 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
J. FRANK BOYNTON, Manager.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

A good moon but no snow!

Town meeting approaches!

The days are getting pretty long!

Get your valentines at George Stevens'.

Thunder shower last Monday evening.

The vernal equinox in about a month.

The post office is not doing a heavy valentine business.

All Linen Table Cloth 18 cents a yard at F. D. Tarltons's. *

We all believe in the flood now. That is, the last one.

The number of births in Peabody last year were 257.

The coasting accidents are not numerous this week.

One case light Prints best quality, 5 cents a yard at Tarlton's *

Last Sunday it didn't look as if there had ever been any sleighing.

A notice of the Board of Registrars will be found in another column.

Job lot of Hamburg and Swiss Edgings at half price at F. D. Tarlton's

The annual town meeting will be held on the second Monday of March.

Bargain seekers should not fail to visit Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store. *

A tribe of Red Men will be installed at Beverly, on the evening of Feb. 22.

The firemen will issue an advertising sheet in connection with their annual ball.

There will be a Sunday school concert at the Methodist church next Sunday night.

The voting list should be carefully looked over. It is possible your name is not there.

The primary schools closed with a single session last Friday, on account of the rain.

A new thirty-two page catalogue has just been issued for the library of the South Church.

Joining a church does not relieve a man from his legal, moral or financial obligations.

Danvers & Salem Street Railway stock sold last Saturday for 113 and 113 1-2 per share.

The overseers of the poor of Boston, have taken charge of John Stringer, who needed help.

A price list has been presented L. & G. H. Poor by the K. of L., and it has been accepted.

South Peabody people want a representative on the Board of Selectmen. They ought to have it.

Mr. Richard E. Smith was drawn as juror for the March term of the Superior Court at Lawrence.

The Knights of Labor have presented a price list to Newman & Perkins and Hemenway & Caller.

Loud & Buxton, on Foster street, have voluntarily increased the pay of their men to $11 a week.

Rev. Mr. Sprague, of the Universalist church, preached at Marblehead last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Wm. Gunn, who broke his leg about ten weeks ago, expects to be able to go to work next week.

Men's best Boston or Woonsocket Boots only $2.65 per pair at Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store. *

The Unity Club have in contemplation a costume party to be given in the town hall at an early date.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

The project of establishing an Odd Fellows Home in this State is being agitated among the fraternity.

The stub pen is getting to be very popular, even ladies preferring it to the fine pointed ones so much used.

Mr. Geo. H. Little is putting in one of his steam heating boilers in the new gas house of the Danvers Bleachery.

There are now more than five hundred prisoners in the several jails and houses of correction in Essex county.

Mrs. Rev. L. L. Wood, of Helena, Montana, is in Boston and will shortly visit Peabody to renew acquaintances.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

The committee appointed by the caucus last spring, should come together and call another caucus for town officers.

B. F. Stevens will receive orders for Clifford the paper hanger and painter. Secure him if you desire good work. *

A new reflector was put on the fancy lantern in front of Nathan's barber shop. It showed up the flood in great style.

A petition is being circulated, asking the Salem & Danvers road to extend their tracks through Endicott street to the Kingdom.

The School committee met this morning and voted to have the roof of the new Endicott school house slated instead of shingled.

Mr. Charles M. Poor has sold a number of his premium fowls since the Gloucester poultry show, and he receives letters of inquiry almost every day.

There is quite a boom in warming pans, and old heir looms in this line may be seen suspended in the hall of many houses.

A number of Odd Fellows from this town attended the exemplification of the work at Odd Fellows' Hall, Boston, last Wednesday evening.

Miss Sadie Kingsley started Monday, for a trip through the West, intending to stop at Chicago, and Leadville, Col., where she has a brother.

Ames & Edgerly are making some very low prices on meats and provisions. Call and see them. You will find that it will pay.

Read the registrars notice to voters in another column. See that your name is on the voting list, if you desire to vote in town affairs.

When the young ladies hand you a card nowadays with the cabalistic letters, Y. M. C. A., you can put it down to mean, " you may call again."

At the request of many of our readers, we have commenced to-day, another continued story which will probably run through six or eight numbers.

Nugent Bros. have received a job lot of Ladies' Serge Buskins, the regular price of which is 75c. and $1.00, which they will sell for 30 cents a pair. *

Representative C. T. Batchelder voted in favor of the resolve to abolish the payment of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting, last Thursday.

The Boston & Maine has issued a one hundred ride ticket that can be used between this town and Boston. Price $25. To be had at the station.

Mr. Thomas E. Proctor was present at the funeral of Mr. John G. Webster, last week, and Mr. D. Webster King acted as one of the pall bearers.

Rev. S. P. Smith of East Boston, formerly of the Universalist church of this town, addressed a mass temperance meeting in Marblehead last week.

Administrations were granted on the estate of James Sherry last Monday, and an inventory of the estate of Lawrence Cuddire filed amounting to $3500.

It has been suggested that the storm signals might be displayed from the top of the town house tower to warn the teachers when to have " double school."

The widow of the late Joseph Reed has settled with the executors of his will, waiving any claim she may have had against the estate for the sum of $1000.

The reply of the board of Railroad Commissioners to the Malden complaint against the management of the Boston & Main railroad, is a substantial endorsement of the road.

Mr. Irvin Besse, of this town, has recently received patents on an anti-friction door hanger for parlor doors. They will be manufactured by the Victor Hanger Company of Newburyport.

There is a marked improvement in the dimensions of the crowd who have held down the curb stones in front of the post office since officer Barnaby has been enforcing his gentle reminder of "move on."

Mr. George C. Prescott has sold out his harness shop in this town to Mr. Herbert Gardner of Leominster, but formerly of the firm of Foster & Gardner of this town. Mr. Prescott will form a partnership with a gentleman at Saratoga, N. Y., and continue the same business which was established thirty-five years ago.

LOOK HERE.

JANUARY IS THE MONTH FOR BARGAINS.

Great Annual Mark Down Closing out Sale of

MEN'S AND BOYS'

Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefing Jackets, Suits, and Pantaloons, Underwear, Hosiery and Cardigan Jackets.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

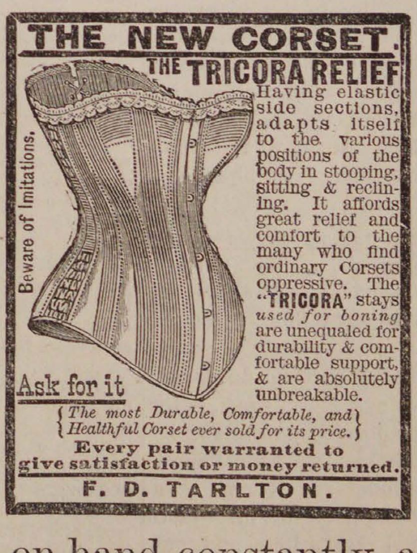
Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

F. D. TARLTON.

—DRY GOODS.—

CORSETS! CORSETS!



THE NEW CORSET.

THE TRICORA RELIEF

Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.

Beware of Imitations.

Ask for it

The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.

Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.

F. D. TARLTON.

We have on hand constantly all sizes of the Tricora Corset, every pair warranted. Look at our 50c make, best in the market for the price.

All sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOODS,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

Poet's Corner.

She Led Him On.

From the crowd and the crush of the ball room
I wandered with Winifred, where,
In the dimness and dusk of the small-room
That oped at the foot of the stair
(Apart from the quibble and quarrel
Of the throng with its smile and its frown).
The lords of the lyre and the laurel
Looked placidly down.

We talked in a lull 'twixt the dances,
That frolicsome holiday time,
Of parties, and plays, and romances,
Till we drifted at last into rhyme,
And I heard her—supremest of pleasures,
With clear modulation repeat
From Aldrich, my favorite measures,
Suprisingly sweet.

A murmurous ripple of laugh'er
Broke in when I called them divine;
She paused for a moment, and after
She quoted a ditty of mine—
A love song, which, though I concealed it
Set all of my pulses astir,
And which, though I ne'er had revealed it,
Was written to her.

What was it?—the hour with its glamour,
The perfume, the lights burning low,
The violin's rythmical clamor,
The mellow and musical flow
Of her voice with its depth of expression,
That led me to boldly confess?—
Ah! that and what followed confession
I leave you to guess.

—Albany Journal

With The Lark.

You may wrangle and argue and talk and dispute
From now till the end of the term,
But you'll find it the truth, simple, plain, absolute,
It's the early bird catches the worm.

If you answer the rising bell back with a snore,
And under the blankets still squirm,
You may just as well sleep two or three hours more,
For the early bird's gobbled the worm.

The man who invariably misses the train
The truth of my song will confirm;
He can never sell goods on the road, it is plain,
For the early bird catches the worm.

And though you hate work, and are fonder of play
Or though you feel weak and infirm,
Just get up and scoot round at the breaking of day,
For the joke it will be on the worm.

—Brooklyn Eagle.

On the Committee

I stepped into my room one day
And saw some children there at play;
I sought my little girl and found her
With half a dozen youngsters round her,
And, from the way she slapped the rule,
I knew that they were "playing school."

I gave my little girl a kiss—
A pleasure that I never miss;
A murmur through the school room ran,
A smile prevaded every feature—
"He must be the committee man!"
They loud exclaimed—"he kissed the teacher!"

Boston Transcript

The much abused plumber is cutting a wide swath these days, when old Boreas is bursting water pipes and mains like pea pods. But the wily plumber is happy in anticipation of fat receipts for his services. Still with all the talk about the plumbers' abnormal bill, every other person one meets on the street is not a millionaire plumber. A two days' search through the voluminous vital statistics of the state reveals the fact that plumbers either die young or abandon their craft to accept the presidency of an insurance company or a great railroad corporation. Our plumbers are busy just now repairing breaches in steam and water pipes.

If you are tired taking the large old fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose.

Freeman's Crystal writing fluid, notice of which we made last week, is for sale, we are glad to be informed, by Merrill & Mackintire, the well known and popular stationers of Salem. We can honestly recommend this ink to our readers as a first rate article, and one which we are sure they will continue using, if they try it once.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is acknowledged the best of all preparations for the cure of pulmonary complaints.

The Baby Pathfinder and Railway Guide for February is at hand. It is the most convenient thing offered the public for a long time.

After Diphtheria.—Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates nd strengthens the system. (c)

CARRISTON'S GIFT.

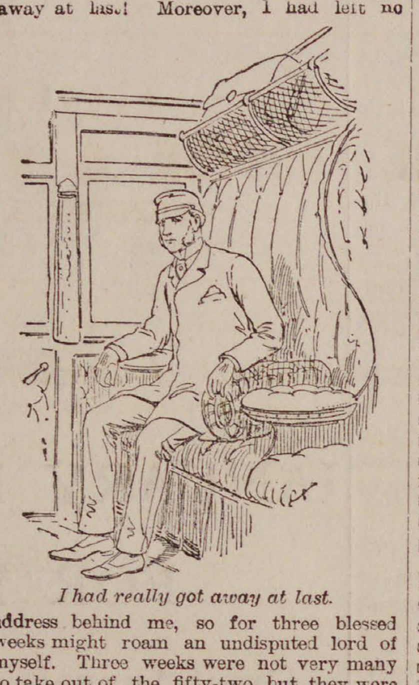
CHAPTER I.

I wish I had the courage to begin this tale by turning to my professional visiting books, and taking at random any month out of the last twenty years, give its record as a fair sample of my ordinary work. The dismal extract would tell you what a doctor's—I suppose I may say a successful doctor's—lot is, when his practice lies in a poor and densely populated district of London. Dreary as such a beginning might be, it would perhaps allay some of the incredulity which this tale may probably provoke, as it would plainly show how little room there is for things imaginative or romantic in work so hard as mine, or among such grim realities of poverty, pain and grief as those by which I have been surrounded. It would certainly make it appear extremely unlikely that I should have found time to imagine, much less to write, a romance or melodrama.

The truth is that when a man has toiled from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night, such leisure as he can enjoy is precious to him, especially when even that short respite is liable to be broken in upon at any moment.

Still, in spite of the doleful picture I have drawn of what may be called "the daily grind," I begin this tale with the account of a holiday.

In the autumn of 1864 I turned my back with right good will upon London streets, hospitals and patients, and took my seat in the North express. The first revolution of the wheels sent a thrill of delight through my jaded frame. A joyful sensation of freedom came over me. I had really got away at last! Moreover, I had left no address behind me, so for three blessed weeks might roam an undisputed lord of myself. Three weeks were not very many to take out of the fifty-two, but they were all I could venture to give myself; for even at that time my practice, if not so lucrative as I could wish, was a large and increasing one. Having done a twelve-month's hard work, I felt that no one in the kingdom could take his holiday with a conscience clearer than mine, so I lay back in a peculiarly contented frame of mind, and discounted the coming pleasures of my brief respite from labor.



I had really got away at last.

There are many ways of passing a holiday—many places at which it may be spent, but, after all, if you wish to thoroughly enjoy it, there is but one royal rule to be followed. That is, simply to please yourself—go where you like and mount the innocent holiday hobby which is dearest to your heart, let its name be botany, geology, entomology, conchology, venery, piscation, or what not. Then you shall be happy, and return well braced up for the battle of life. I knew a city clerk with literary tastes who invariably spent his annual fortnight among the mustiest tomes of the British museum, and averred that his health was more benefited by so doing than if he had passed the time inhaling the freshest sea breezes. I dare say he was right in his assertion.

Sketching has always been my favorite holiday pursuit. Poor as my drawings may be, nevertheless, as I turn them over in my portfolio, they bring, to me at least, vivid remembrances of many sweet and picturesque spots, happy days, and congenial companions. It is not for me to say anything of their actual merits, but they are dear to me for their associations.

This particular year I went to North Wales and made Bettws y Coed my headquarters. I stayed at the Royal Oak, that well-known little inn, dear to many an artist's heart, and teeming with reminiscences of famous men who have sojourned there times without number. It was here I made the acquaintance of the man with whose life the curious events I am going to narrate are connected.

On the first day after my arrival at Bettws my appreciation of my liberty was so thorough, my appetite for the enjoyment of the beauties of nature so keen and insatiable, that I went so far and saw so much, that when I returned to the Royal Oak night had fallen and the hour of dinner had long passed by. I was, when my own meal was placed on the table, the only occupant of the coffee-room. Just then a young man entered and ordered something to eat. The waiter knowing, no doubt, something of the frank camaraderie which exists, or should exist, between the followers of Melpomene, laid his cover at my table. The newcomer seated himself, gave me a pleasant smile and a nod, and in five minutes we were in full swing of conversation.

The moment my eyes fell upon the young man I had noticed how singularly handsome he was. Charles Carriston—for this I found afterward to be his name—was about 22 years of age. He was tall, but slightly built, his whole bearing and figure being remarkably elegant and graceful. He looked even more than gentlemanly—he looked distinguished. His face was pale, its features well cut, straight and regular. His forehead spoke of high intellectual qualities, and there was somewhat of that development over the eyebrows which phrenologists, I believe, consider as evidence of the possession of imagination. The general expression of his face was one of seriousness, if not sadness, and its refined beauty was heightened by a pair of soft, dark, dreamy-looking eyes.

It only remains to add that, from his attire, I judged him to be an artist—a professional artist—to the backbone. In the course of conversation I showed him how I had classified him. He smiled.

"I am only an amateur," he said; "an idle man, nothing more—and you?"

"Alas! I am a doctor."

"Then we shall not have to answer for our sins in painting to each other."

We talked on pleasantly until our bodily wants were satisfied by the good fare placed before us. Then came that pleasant craving for tobacco which, after a good meal, is natural to a well-regulated digestion.

"Shall we go and smoke outside?" said Carriston. "The night is delicious."

We went out and sat on one of the wooden benches. As my new friend said, the night was delicious. There was scarcely a breath of air moving. The stars and the moon shone brightly, and the rush of the not far-distant stream came to us with a soothing murmur. Near us were three or four jovial young artists. They were in merry mood; one of them had that day sold a picture to a tourist. We listened to their banter, until, most likely growing thirsty, they re-entered the inn.

Carriston had said little since we had been out of doors. He smoked his cigar placidly and gazed up at the skies. With the white moonlight falling on his strikingly beautiful face—the graceful pose into which he fell—he seemed to me the embodiment of poetry. He paid no heed to the merry talk of the artists, which so much amused me—indeed, I doubted if he heard their voices.

Yet he must have done so, for as soon as they left us he came out of his reverie.

"It must be very nice," he said, "to have to make one's living by art."

"Nice for those who can make livings by it," I answered.

"All can do that who are worth it. The day of neglected genius is gone by. Muller was the last sufferer, I think—and he died young."

"If you are so sanguine, why not try your own luck at it?"

"I would, but unfortunately I am a rich man."

I laughed at this misplaced regret. Then Carriston, in the most simple way, told me a good deal about himself. He was an orphan, an only child. He had already ample means; but Fortune had still favors in store for him. At the death of his uncle, now an aged man, he must succeed to a large estate and a baronetcy. The natural, unaffected way in which he made these confidences, moreover made them not, I knew, from any wish to increase his importance in my eyes, greatly impressed me. By the time we parted for the night I had grown much interested in my new acquaintance—an interest not untinged by envy. Young, handsome, rich, free to come or go, work or play as he listed! Happy Carriston!

CHAPTER II.

I am disposed to think that never before did a sincere friendship, one which was fated to last unbroken for years, ripen so quickly as that between Carriston and myself. As I now look back I find it hard to associate him with any, even a brief, period of time subsequent to our meeting during which he was not my bosom friend. I forget whether our meeting at the same picturesque spot on the morning which followed our self-introduction was the result of accident or arrangement. Anyway, we spent the day together, and that day was the precursor of many passed in each other's society. Morning after morning we sallied forth to do our best to transfer the same bits of scenery to our sketching blocks. Evening after evening we returned to dine side by side, and afterward to talk and smoke together, in-doors or out doors, as the temperature advised or our wishes inclined.

Great friends we soon became—inseparable as long as my short holiday lasted. It was, perhaps, pleasant for each to work in company with an amateur like himself. We could ask each the other's opinion of the merits of the work done, and feel happy at the approval duly given. An artist's standard of excellence is too high for a non-professional. When he praises your work he praises it but as the work of an outsider. You feel that such commendation damns it and disheartens you.

However, had Carriston cared to do so, he might, I think, have fearlessly submitted his productions to any conscientious critic—his drawings were immeasurably more artistic and powerful than mine. He had undoubtedly great talent, and I was much surprised to find that good as he was at landscape, he was even better at the figure. He could, with a firm, bold hand, draw rapidly the most marvelous likenesses. So spirited and true were some of the studies he showed me, that I could without flattery advise him, provided he could finish as he began, to keep entirely to the higher branch of the art. I have now before me a series of outline faces drawn by him—many of them from memory; and as I look at them the original of each comes at once before my eyes.

From the very first I had been much interested in the young man, and as day by day went by and the peculiarities of his character were revealed to me, my interest grew deeper and deeper. I flatter myself that I am a keen observer and skillful analyst of personal character, and until now I fancied that to write a description of its component parts was an easy matter. Yet now when I am put to the proof I find it no simple task to convey in words a proper idea of Charles Carriston's mental organization.

I soon discovered that he was, I may say, afflicted by a peculiarly sensitive nature. Although strong, and apparently in good health, the very changes of the weather seemed to affect him almost to the same extent as they affect a flower. Sweet as his disposition always was, the tone of his mind, his spirits, his conversation, varied, as it were, with the atmosphere. He was full of imagination, and that imagination, always rich, was at times weird, even grotesquely weird. Not for one moment did he seem to doubt the stability of the wild theories he started, or the possibility of the poetical dreams he dreamed being realized. He had his faults, of course; he was hasty and impulsive; indeed, to me one of the greatest charms about the boy was that, right or wrong, each word he spoke came straight from his heart.

So far as I could judge, the whole organization of his mind was too highly strung, too finely wrought, for every-day use. A note of joy, of sorrow, even of pity, vibrated through it too strongly for his comfort or well-being. As yet it had not been called upon to bear the test of love; and fortunately—I use the word advisedly—fortunately he was not, according to the usual significance of the word, a religious man, or I should have thought it not unlikely that some day he would fall a victim to that religious mania so well known to my professional brethren, and have developed hysteria or melancholia. He might even have fancied himself a messenger sent from heaven for the regeneration of mankind. From natures like Carriston's are prophets made.

In short, I may say that my exhaustive study of my new friend's character resulted in a certain amount of uneasiness as to his future—an uneasiness not entirely free from professional curiosity.

Although the smile came readily and frequently to his lips, the general bent of his disposition was sad, even despondent and morbid. And yet few young men's lives promised to be so pleasant as Charles Carriston's.

I was rallying him one day on his future rank and its responsibilities.

"You will, of course, be disgustingly rich?" I said.

Carriston sighed. "Yes, if I live long enough; but I don't suppose I shall."

"Why in the world shouldn't you? You look pale and thin, but are in capital health. Twelve long miles we have walked to-day—you never turned a hair."

Carriston made no reply. He seemed in deep thought.

"Your friends ought to look after you and get you a wife," I said.

"I have no friends," he said sadly. "No nearer relation than a cousin a good deal older than I am, who looks upon me as one who was born to rob him of what should be his."

"But by the law of primogeniture, so sacred to the upper ten thousand he must know you are entitled to it."

"Yes; but for years and years I was always going to die. My life was not thought worth six months' purchase. All of a sudden I got well. Ever since then I have seemed, even to myself, a kind of interloper."

"It must be unpleasant to have a man longing for one's death. All the more reason you should marry and put other lives between him and the title."

"I fancy I shall never marry," said Carriston, looking at me with his soft, dark eyes. "You see, a boy who has waited for years expecting to die doesn't grow up with exactly the same feeling as other people. I don't think I shall ever meet a woman I can care for enough to make my wife. No; I expect my cousin will be Sir Ralph yet."

I tried to laugh him out of his morbid ideas. "Those who live will see," I said. "Only promise to ask me to your wedding, and better still, if you live in town, appoint me your family doctor. It may prove the nucleus of that West End practice which it is the dream of every doctor to establish."

I have already alluded to the strange beauty of Carriston's dark eyes. As soon as companionship commenced between us those eyes became to me, from scientific reasons, objects of curiosity on account of the mysterious expression which at times I detected in them. Often and often they wore a look the like to which, I imagine, is found only in the eyes of a somnambulist—look which one feels certain is intently fixed upon something, yet upon something beyond the range of one's own vision. During the first two or three days of our new-born intimacy I found this eccentricity of Carriston's positively startling. When now and then I turned to him and found him staring with all his might at nothing, my eyes were compelled to follow the direction in which his own were bent. It was at first impossible to divest one's self of the belief that something should be there to justify so fixed a gaze. However, as the rapid growth of our friendly intercourse soon showed me that he was a boy of most ardent poetic temperament—perhaps even more a poet than an artist—I laid at the door of the [illegible] these absent looks and recurring flights into vacancy.

We were at the Fairy Glen one morning, sketching, to the best of our ability, the swirling stream, the gray rocks and the overhanging trees, the last just growing brilliant with autumnal tints. So beautiful was everything around that for a long time I worked, idled, or dreamed in contented silence. Carriston had set up his easel at some little distance from mine. At last I turned to see how his sketch was progressing. He had evidently fallen into one of his brown studies, and, apparently, a harder one than usual. His brush had fallen from his fingers, his features were immovable, and his strange dark eyes were absolutely riveted upon a large rock in front of him, at which he gazed as intently as if his hope of heaven depended upon seeing through it.

He seemed for the while oblivious to things mundane. A party of laughing, chattering, terrible tourist girls scrambled down the rugged steps, and one by one passed in front of him. Neither their presence nor the inquisitive glances they cast on his statuesque face roused him from his fit of abstraction. For a moment I wondered if the boy took opium or some other narcotic on the sly. Full of the thought, I rose, crossed over to him, and laid my hand upon his shoulder. As he felt my touch he came to himself, and looked up at me in a dazed, inquiring way.

"Really, Carriston," I said, laughingly "you must reserve your dreaming fits until we are in places where tourists do not congregate, or you will be thought a madman, or at least a poet."

He made no reply. He turned away from me impatiently, even rudely; then, picking up his brush, went on with his sketch. After a while he seemed to recover from his pettishness, and we spent the remainder of the day as pleasantly as usual

As we trudged home in the twilight he said to me in an apologetic, almost penitent way:

"I hope I was not rude to you just now?"

"When do you mean?" I asked, having almost forgotten the trivial incident.

"When you woke me from what you called my dreaming."

"Oh, dear no. You were not at all rude. If you had been, it was but the penalty due to my presumption. The flights of genius should be respected, not checked, by a material hand."

"That is nonsense; I am not a genius: and you must forgive me for my rudeness," said Carriston, simply. After walking some distance in silence he spoke again:

"I wish when you are with me you would try and stop me from getting into that state. It does me no good."

Seeing he was in earnest, I promised to do my best, and was curious enough to ask him whither his thoughts wandered during those abstracted moments.

"I can scarcely tell you," he said. Presently he asked, speaking with hesitation, "I suppose you never feel that under certain circumstances—circumstances which you cannot explain—you might be able to see things which are invisible to others?"

"To see things? What things?"

"Things, as I said, which no one else can see. You must know there are people who possess this power."

"I know that certain people have asserted they possess what they call second-sight; but the assertion is too absurd to waste time in refuting."

"Yet," said Carriston, dreamily, "I know that if I did not strive to avoid it, some such power would come to me."

"You are too ridiculous, Carriston," I said. "Some people see what others don't, because they have longer sight. You may, of course, imagine anything. But your eyes—handsome eyes they are, too—contain certain properties, known as humors and lenses, therefore in order to see——"

"Yes, yes," interrupted Carriston; "I know exactly all you are going to say. You, a man of science, ridicule everything which breaks what you are pleased to call the law of nature. Yet take all the unaccountable tales told. Nine hundred and ninety-nine you expose to scorn or throw grave doubts upon, yet the thousandth rests on evidence which cannot be upset or disputed. The possibility of that one proves the possibility of all."

"Not at all; but enough for your argument," I said, amused at the boy's wild talk.

"You doctors," he continued, with that delicious air of superiority so often assumed by laymen when they are in good health, "put too much to the credit of diseased imagination."

"No doubt; it's a convenient shelf on which to put a difficulty. But go on."

"The body is your province, yet you can't explain why a cataleptic patient should hear a watch tick when it is placed against his foot."

"Nor you; nor any one. But perhaps it may aid you to get rid of your rubbishing theories if I tell you that catalepsy, as you understand it, is a disease not known to us; in fact, it does not exist."

He seemed crestfallen at hearing this. "But what do you want to prove?" I asked. "What have you seen yourself?"

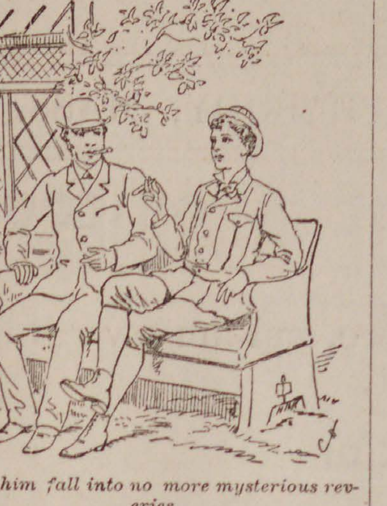
"Nothing, I tell you. And I pray I may never see anything."

After this he seemed inclined to shirk the subject, but I pinned him to it. I was really anxious to get at the true state of his mind. In answer to the leading questions with which I plied him, Carriston revealed an amount of superstition which seemed utterly childish and out of place beside the intellectual faculties which he undoubtedly possessed. So much so, that at last I felt more inclined to laugh than to argue with him.

Yet I was not altogether amused by his talk. His wild arguments and wilder beliefs made me fancy there must be a weak spot somewhere in his brain—even made me fear lest his end might be madness. The thought made me sad; for, with the exception of the eccentricities which I have mentioned, I reckoned Carriston the pleasantest friend I had ever made. His amiable nature, his good looks and perfect breeding had endeared the young man to me; so much so that I resolved, during the remainder of the time we should spend together, to do all I could toward talking the nonsense out of him.

My efforts were unavailing. I kept a sharp lookout upon him, and let him fall into no mysterious reveries; but the curious idea that he possessed, or could possess, some gift ab [illegible] n nature, was too firmly rooted [illegible]. On all other subjects he argu[illegible]ly and was open to reason. On this one point he was immovable. When I could get him to notice my attacks at all, his answer was:

"You doctors, clever as you are with the body, know as little of psychology as you did three thousand years ago."



I let him fall into no more mysterious reveries.

When the time came for me to fold up my easel and return to the drudgery of life, I parted from Carriston with much regret. One of those solemn, but often broken promises to join together next year in another sketching tour passed between us. Then I went back to London, and during the subsequent months, although I saw nothing of him, I often thought of my friend of the autumn.

CHAPTER III.

In the spring of 1865 I went down to Bournemouth, to see for the last time an old friend who was dying of consumption. During a great part of the journey down I had for a traveling companion a well-dressed, gentlemanly man of about 40 years of age. We were alone in the compartment, and after interchanging some small civilities, such as the barter of newspapers, slid into conversation.

My fellow traveler seemed to be an intellectual man, and well posted up in the doings of the day. He talked fluently and easily on various topics, and, judging by his talk, must have moved in good society. Although I fancied his features bore traces of hard living and dissipation, he was not unprepossessing in appearance. The greatest faults in his face were the remarkable thinness of his lips, and his eyes being a shade closer together than one cares to see. With a casual acquaintance such peculiarities are of little moment, but for my part I should not choose one who possessed them for a friend without due trial and searching proof.

At this time the English public were much interested in an important will case which was now being tried. The reversion to a vast sum of money depended upon the testator's sanity or insanity. Like most other people, we duly discussed the matter. I suppose, from some of my remarks, my companion understood that I was a doctor. He asked me a good many technical questions, and I described several curious cases of mania which had come under my notice. He seemed greatly interested in the subject.

"You must sometimes find it hard to say where sanity ends and insanity begins," he said, thoughtfully.

"Yes. The boundary line is in some instances hard to define. To give in such a dubious case an opinion which would satisfy myself I should want to have known the patient at the time he was considered quite sane"

"To mark the difference?"

"Exactly. And to know the bent of the character. For instance, there is a friend of mine. He was perfectly sane when last I saw him, but for all I know he may have made great progress the other way in the interval."

Then, without mentioning names, dates or places, I described Carriston's peculiar disposition to my intelligent listener. He heard me with rapt interest.

"You predict he will go mad?" he said.

"Certainly not. Unless anything unforeseen arises he will probably live and die as sane as you or I."

"Why did you fear for him, then?"

"For this reason: I think that any sudden emotion—violent grief, for instance—any unexpected and crushing blow, might at once disturb the balance of his mind. Let his life run on in an even groove, and all will be well with him."

My companion was silent for a few moments.

"Did you mention your friend's name?" he asked.

I laughed. "Doctors never give names when they quote cases."

At the next station my companion left the train. He bade me a polite adieu, and thanked me for the pleasure my conversation had given him. After wondering what station in life he occupied I dismissed him from my mind, as one who had crossed my path for a short time and would probably never cross it again.

Although I did not see Charles Carriston I received several letters from him during the course of the year. He had not forgotten our undertaking to pass my next holiday together. Early in the autumn, just as I was beginning to long with a passionate longing for open air and blue skies, a letter came from Carriston. He was now, he said, roughing it in the Western Highlands. He reminded me of last year's promise. Could I get away from work now? Would I join him? If I did not care to visit Scotland, would I suggest some other place where he could join me? Still, the scenery by which he was now surrounded was superb, and the accommodation he had secured, if not luxurious, fairly comfortable. He thought we could not do better. A postscript to his letter asked me to address him as Cecil Carr, not Charles Carriston. He had a reason for changing his name—a foolish reason, I should no doubt call it. When we met he would let me know it.

This letter at once decided me to accept his invitation. In a week's time my arrangements for leave of absence were complete, and I was speeding northward in the highest spirits, and well equipped with everything necessary for my favorite holiday pursuit. I looked forward with the greatest pleasure to again meeting Carriston. I found him at Callendar waiting for me. The coach did not follow the route we were obliged to take in order to reach the

Continued on 6th page.

A. B. & W.

To-day and Right Along.

Bankrupt Stock of Dress Goods and Linens, from Sheriff's Sale of Kaughran & Co., New York city.

CARPETS AND RUGS.

A full stock of New Goods, with a long list of bargains.

UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

Beautiful New Goods. Special prices on many popular things, including 2500 Window Shades of best American Holland, with Balance Roller, all made and ready to put up to any window—36x72 inches, at 37 1-2 cts. No special order can be taken at anywhere near this price.

Excellent values in Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Kid Gloves, Furs, Buttons, Ladies' Linen Collars and Cuffs, Laces, Art Goods, etc.

New stock of Small Wares and Toilet Articles.

Ladies' Hosiery—new stock and special values.

Corsets and Cotton Underwear. Items of special interest in stock and prices.

Unlaundered Shirts. A big sale open this week. Also Gents' Furnishings.

Domestics and White Goods, Cases and Bales of New Goods, with many bargains.

IMPORTANT LINEN SALE.

Our own importation. Many things not to be found elsewhere. Our prices the lowest.

CLOAK DEPARTMENT.

The last mark-down. Our Garments are Tailor fitted and thoroughly made.

DRESS GOODS

Spring and Winter—from lowest to highest cost. Special values and great bargains.

BLACK AND COLORED SILKS.

The last mentioned but of First Importance.

Thousands of Dollars. New Silks of the best American and Foreign manufacture, bought and imported direct.

Our Silk stock is not excelled by any other.

Our Grand Silk Sale has been running more than three months.

We intend to continue it at least till July 1st.

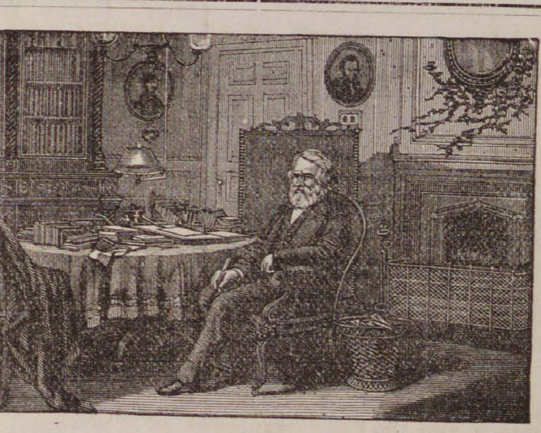
The above list of merchandise will be more fully set forth during the present week.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.
SALEM.

FIR BAL[illegible]M
FOR PILLOWS OR B[illegible]

Fir Balsam direct from the woods of Maine. Unprepared 6 cts. per lb.; prepared 8 cts. per lb. A discount of 25 per cent. from these prices if bought by wholesale.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

SPAULDING'S

SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier, 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Important Notice!

Look out for your sample bottle of Lubin's Balsam of Tolu and Wild Cherry.

IT CONTAINS NO POISON!

Our agent is authorized to place a trial bottle of this Cough medicine in every family in Peabody.

If for any reason you should be overlooked and not receive a sample bottle, call at 226 Essex St. when you are in Salem, and it will be cheerfully furnished you.

This valuable medicine has been thoroughly tried in this vicinity with the best results.

For sale by all druggists in Peabody.

Made only by

G. H. & J. PRICE,
SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Vednesday Evening, Feb. 17, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Mr. James P. King, of this town, ddressed the Farmers' Institute at pswich, last Friday, and the Chronicle peaks as follows about it:—James P. ing, of Peabody, who is something of n enthusiast on this subject, was first ntroduced. He said that the subject f fertilizers was a very important one n which there is a great difference of pinions. The first time he used them n his own farm his success was bad, ecause he was inexperienced. With e use of fertilizers the land would old out better than in any other way. fter using it on a piece of land six ears, at the end of that time it bore ust as good a crop as at the beginning. he expense of fertilizer was less than armyard dressing. On one acre of round where he used $18 worth of ertilizer he raised 800 pounds of cabages. On another acre he raised 90 ushels of corn and three tons of dry odder. At another time he put 1400 ounds of fertilizer, costing $30, on an cre of ground and raised 750 bushels f onions. In one field he used barnard dressing and fertilizer, side by de, and planted cabbages; where he sed the fertilizer he got double the rop. He wouldn't recommend the se of fertilizers when sowing land own to grass, neither would he use uch with potatoes. For carrots, he ought fertilizers were excellent. shes were a good fertilizer in some nstances. In conclusion, he said that o farmer could afford to be without hem, as they would more than pay for hemselves on certain crops.

Mr. R. P. Burnhan of Methuen, who ad been feeding his herd of twentyvo cows on ensilage without hay, ound they were sick and six of them ied. The case was put in the hands f Dr. J. F. Winchester, formerly of is town, who with Dr. Gossmann xamined the contents of the stomach nd also a sample of the ensilage, and ey have replied as follows, and it is interest to all our farmers who are eding ensilage. "We have carefully sted your samples of contents of the omach and corn ensilage. The connts of the stomach are free from any etallic poison, and the corn ensilage ontains no extraordinary amount of cid; corn ensilage ought not be fed in o large quantities. Thirty-five or orty pounds per day with hay, or some rain or shorts, give the best results as r as the flavor of the milk and genergood condition of cows is concerned."

Rev. F. W. Sprague, of the Univerlist church, preached a very interestg sermon last Sunday, taking for his xt Mat. 7:27. "And the rain descendland the floods came and the winds ew and beat upon that house and it ll, and great was the fall of it." The eaker referred to the great floods roughout the state, and drew a picre of man's soul houses as put to the st in the storms of life, and oke of the foundation of the characr of men that were built upon the nd

The Essex County Homeopathic edical Society is to present resolutions the legislature asking that the hoeopathic school of physicians be epresented on the new state board of ealth, and further that but one physian from each school of medicine havgi incorporated state societies shall be ppointed on the board. Dr. Batcheler of Danvers and Dr. Gardner of alem, formerly of Peabody, were apointed a committee to present the resoitions to the legislature.

The Selectmen last Saturday voted to istruct the police to enforce the law in egard to closing the barber shops on unday commencing March 1, 1886. hey will also give a hearing on the petion of A. C. Osborne and others for ie laying out of Bowditch court from entral street to Jacobs street, Tuesay Feb. 23rd at 2 o'clock. They auiorized Henry Wardwell, Esq., to ppear before the Legislative Committe and look after the interests of the wn in the waters of Humphrey's ond.

Last Sunday morning our citizens ere treated to a beautiful sight. bout eight o'clock no less than four arhelia or halos better known as "sunogs" appeared about twenty-five egrees from the sun. Some of them ere brilliant circular rainbows looking s if they projected from clear blue ky. The cyclopædia says: "they are aused like rainbows by the refraction f solar rays." The refractors in this ase resembled ice crystals suspended the upper atmosphere.

Assessment No. 77 has been called the Supreme Treasury of the Royal rcanum, under date of February 5, nd members have until March 17 to ay No. 78 to the collector. There are hirty-six deaths reported in the call, f which Massachusetts has five. This the second call for this year.

Where Hours go Merrily.

A fair sized audience greeted the Milo Brothers at the rink, last Wednesday evening, and the entertainment was a good one.

Another private skating party was held at the rink, last evening, and well attended. They are growing more popular each week.

2749 K. of L. hold another assembly this evening at Ashland hall. Good music in attendance.

A number of members of Masconomo tribe of Red Men assisted in the institution of Sagamore Tribe No. 2, of Lynn, last Wednesday night.

Jordan Lodge F. & A. M. will meet this evening, and Masconomo Tribe of Red Men will meet to-morrow evening in Masonic Hall.

The Institute was about half filled, last Wednesday evening, to listen to the entertainment given by Mr. Leland T. Powers, who appeared in "The Rivals." The different characters were ably and wonderfully impersonated. Institute music was furnished by Mr. Will Garniss. The entertainment was under the auspices of Union Post 50 G. A. R.

Last Wednesday night a number of the Unity Club went on a sleighride to Lynnfield Hotel, where supper was served.

The Morocco Dressers Assembly 3273 will hold a skating and dancing party at the rink this evening. The Wilmot Brothers will give an exhibition of trick and fancy bicycle riding, and the St John and Father Mathew polo teams will play for a purse of $25.

A good audience greeted Master Willie Bacon who appeared at the rink, last Saturday night.

For the evening of February 22d, the manager of the rink has secured Walsh & Gilmore's combination, and if you want to laugh see the Bad Boy and his Pa.

Holten Lodge, I. O. O. F. have received and accepted an invitation to visit West Lynn Lodge of Lynn on the evening of March 10th.

It is hoped that every member of Holten Lodge, I. O. O. F. will be present at the meeting next Tuesday evening, as the entertainment committee have a programme of unusual interest to present, and a pleasant time is anticipated.

Some of the young ladies of the South Church sent, on Monday last, a handsome valentine to each child at the Alms House, which was indeed a happy thought.

A party of young men of this town visited Mr. Fred Forniss, formerly of this town, at Marblehead one day last week, and presented him and his wife with a rocking chair, foot rest and lamp. A supper followed.

Last Saturday afternoon the friends of the W. C. T. U. assembled in the headquarters of the Union to dedicate their new organ. It has eleven stops with all the latest improvements. It is from the factory of the Bridgeport organ company, Conn., and was purchased of Mr. Jacob Young, 201 Essex street, Salem. It is pronounced by all who have seen and heard it, a handsome and fine toned instrument It was dedicated to God and Temperance last Saturday afternoon. The funds for purchasing it were donated to the Union by the Band of Promise, a juvenile society which existed seven years ago, and the present Band of Hope. Mrs. J. N. Shipman played a fine organ voluntary, Miss Floyd read Psalm 150, Rev. J. N. Shipman of the Baptist church offered prayer, dedicating the organ to God and the temperance cause. The Band of Hope sang, Nellie Burton recited very impressively "The two glasses," Osman Jewett read "The boy who meant to be a governor," and also played the harmonica, seven little girls represented the rainbow colors, and Mr. Winslow favored the company with two recitations. Mr. J. H. Morse of Boston, who selected the organ, assisted in the singing, together with Mr. and Mrs. Shipman. Mrs. M. O. Stevens spoke of the Children's Crusade 600 years ago. The singing of the temperance doxology closed this very interesting occasion.

There will be a mass temperance rally at town hall, Sunday evening next, commencing at 7.30 o'clock. It will be addressed by Hon. John B. Finch of Evanston, Ill. Subject—"License or No License." Those who listened to Mr. Finch's address when he was here last Spring will want to hear him again as he is an interesting and able talker. The Salem Band Orchestra will furnish music and during the evening will introduce a medley containing many of the popular airs found in the "Gospel Hymns."

The Essex Co. W. C. T. U. which was organized in Peabody, last November, will hold its first quarterly meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 24th, at Danvers, in Reform Club Hall, Maple street. Sessions at 10, 2 and 7.30. An address will be given in the evening by Mrs. Maria Upham Drake, of Newton Centre. Mrs. Mary Grant Cramer, sister of the late Gen. Grant, will speak in the afternoon. All interested are cordially invited.

Arrangements are being perfected for a fancy dress carnival to be held at the rink about the first of March.

Mr. J. H. Morse, of Boston, played the new organ of the W. C. T. U. at the Gospel Temperance meeting, Sunday evening.

A very pleasant meeting was held by the Woman Suffrage Club Monday evening, at the house of Mr. J. Y. Bergen, Jr. Miss M. O. Barrett read a very able and interesting paper on the subject of Woman Suffrage. The next meeting will be held Monday evening, Feb. 22d, at the room of the W. C. T. U. In the near future it is hoped that a public lecture will be given on the subject.

Members of the Peabody Bicycle Club attended the entertainment at the G. A. R. Coliseum, at Lynn, last Friday night, by invitation of the Boscobel Bicycle Club of that city.

About one hundred were present at the Murray Club party at town hall, last Thursday evening, but had it been pleasant a much larger company would have participated. Those present made up in enjoyment what they lacked in numbers. The Salem Cadet Orchestra furnished excellent music. Refreshments were served in the supper room adjoining the hall.

The postponed sleigh ride of the Sunday school teachers of St. John's Church took place last evening. The party numbered about 35 couples and were conveyed in Linehan's barges to Lynnfield Hotel. Here parlors were placed at the disposal of the company, and the evening was spent with music and dancing. A fine supper was served. Andrew's Orchestra furnished music The company arrived home about 2.30 this morning having had a pleasant time if not a sleigh ride.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society, of this town, have arranged for an unique exhibition at the Town Hall, next week Thursday evening, Feb. 25th. It will consist of an Oriental wedding ceremony, the contracting parties being Fusi Yoma and Sono Judaiyu. The novelty of this wedding ceremony will be its principal attraction. It is performed without vocal sound by the participants in it. In order to a full appreciation of its merits it is needful that the audience refrain from expressing their joy of the scene by applause. At the close of the marriage ceremony there will be a dance, which will be under the management of well known young men of this town. The object of the entire affair, the replenishing of the funds of the Society, will ensure a large attendance. The parties who are to participate in the ceremony are some of our best known society people, and there is no doubt that the performance will go off with great eclat. All our citizens should take tickets and attend the ceremony or dance, or both, and we have no doubt that there will be a patronage worthy of the occasion and the benevolent object.

Quite a number of the relatives and friends of Ralph T. Dodge, the proprietor of the Central Fish Market, assembled at his home in Beverly, Monday evening, the occasion being the twenty-first birthday of Mr. Dodge. In the course of the evening Mr. Dodge was the recipient of an elegant gold chain and other gifts. The PRESS joins, with the many other friends of Mr. Dodge, in wishing him many happy returns of the day.

◆

At the hearing yesterday before the County Commissioners, in West Peabody hall, the Selectmen appeared in favor of the road as proposed at the recent town meeting. No plan was presented as the road had been suggested at the town meeting, but a dozen or so other plans, each differing from the other, were presented. The Selectmen went over several of the routes with the Commissioners and left the matter with the latter body, who will probably study up some road out of the confusion.

The little ones of the South church primary class of the Sabbath school will attend church next Sabbath morning, and be seated with their teachers in the gallery. While many are in the habit of attending regularly with their parents, there are quite a number who have never been present at a service in the church.

The Salem and Danvers road have issued the following time table for the running of cars between Andover street bridge and Salem:—Leave the bridge at 7.15, 8.15, 8.45, 9.45, 10.15, 10.45, 11.45 A. M., 12.15, 12.45, 1.45 and every half hour until 6.45, then at 7.45, 9.15, 8.45, 9.45 P. M.

David L. Harrigan has purchased Frank B. Trask's horse and outfit, and has as good a team "as any of 'em." Frank in turn has bought A. W. Dodge's entire turnout, horse, sleigh and harness. We don't know what Willard has done, as life is too brief to trace the matter any further.—Danvers Mirror.

Mr. George H. Jacobs has put a new sign across the front of Essex Block.

Hallowell & Smiley have just received a car load of fine flour. Ask them for it if you are out.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

From now until the first of March, to make room for Spring goods, I shall make special prices on Overcoatings, Suitings and Pantaloonings. These goods comprise the finest Foreign goods in neat and genteel patterns, and will be cut, trimmed and made in my usual good style, the extreme prices made only to reduce stock and keep my help employed during the dull season.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR,

MAIN STREET

OVER WARREN TRASK'S STORE.

ARTISTS'
SUPPLY STORE.
Everything needed for
ARTISTS & AMATEURS
Largest stock and Lowest Prices.
C. J. EDMANDS,
12 Bromfield St., Boston.
Send for Catalogue.
SKETCHES

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

SPECIAL BARGAINS.

Men's Merino Boots, for Car Drivers, Milk Men, etc., very warm, only 75 cents per pair, last for this season.

Men's Buckle Arctics only $1 per pair.

Women's, Misses and Children's Overs only 25 cents per pair.

Men's Woonsocket, R. I., Rubber Boots, only $2 25 per pair.

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

FLOUR! FLOUR!!

We have just received a car load of

BEST GRADES OF FLOUR,

which we are offering at bottom prices.

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

BOSTON & LOWELL R. R.
FEB. 8, 1886.
PASSENGER SERVICE FROM SALEM:
Leave Salem for Lowell, and Lawrence at 7 55, 10 55 A. M., 4 40 P. M.
Leave Lowell for Salem, at 7 35 A. M., 1 25, 6 P. M.
Leave Lawrence for Salem, at 7 45 A. M., 1 30, 6 P. M.
Leave Wilmington Junction for Salem, at 8 04 A. M., 1 55, 6 28 P. M.
Leave North Reading for Salem, at 8 23 A. M., 2 05, 6 38 P M.
Leave West Peabody for Salem, at 8 35 A.M., 2 18, 6 50 P. M.
All trains from Salem connect at Lowell for Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.
The 7 55 A. M. train connects at Lowell for Peterboro, Keene and intermediate stations.
C. S MELLEN, Gen'l Supt.
LUCIUS TUTTLE, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

GROUND OATS.

FOR new milch cows and growing animals, the best food obtainable. Being more flesh producing than fattening in its nature, it gives equally good results when fed to horses, cows or poultry A fresh lot just received by
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

Extra Heavy Barley Oats.

TO any one wanting a very choice Oat, we can offer some from a car on track as good as any we have seen this year.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

FOUND.

A black and brown setter dog about nine months old. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges.
WM. F. DUFFY,
Rear of Caller St., Peabody.

ON WEDNESDAY,

FEBRUARY 17, 1886,

We shall have the pleasure of placing on our counters a Jobber's Stock of the very best Gros Grain Ribbons, at less than half the price they are usually sold for.

No. 4 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	4c
No. 5 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	5c
No. 7 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	7c
No. 9 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	9c
No. 12 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	12c
No. 16 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	16c

These are the best, warranted all silk goods, and will be sold at the above slaughter prices on Wednesday and until the lot is closed out. We advise an early call.

John P. Peabody.

FOR SALE.

THE REAL ESTATE

Of the late Franklin Osborn, situated on

FOSTER, OAK AND WINTER STREETS,

53,000 feet of Land, Three Dwelling Houses and other Buildings.

Apply to

F. OSBORN, Jr., & CO.

feb 10—tf

FEBRUARY SALE

— OF —

LINEN AND HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.

COMMENCED FEBRUARY 1ST,

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

Encouraged by the unparalleled success of our former sales, we propose to exceed all previous efforts, and give our customers and the public an opportunity to secure bargains never before equalled.

ELEGANT DINNER, LUNCH AND TEA SETS IN BLEACHED, CREAM AND FANCY.

Bleached Damask, from	50c to $2.00
Cream Damask, from	25c to 1.25
Turkey Red, from	25c to .75
3-4 and 5-8 Napkins, from	50c to 6.00
Russian Crash, from	6 1-4c to .20
American Crash, all prices.
Barnsley Crash, from	12 1-2c to .20
Scotch Crash, all prices.
Red End Diaper, from	$1.00 to 2.50
Gloss Linen, from	6 1-4c to .17
Huck Damask and Fancy Towels,	6 1-4c to 1.00
Terry Bathing Towels.
Linen Sheeting, Pillow Case Linen, Doylies, Tray Cloths, etc.
Marseilles Quilts from $1 upwards.
$1.25 Crochet Quilts for $1.00.

All the best makes of Bleached and Unbleached Cotton, all widths and at lowest prices.

1 case 8-4 best quality Brown Sheeting, 12 1-2c per yd.

All Housekeepers, Restaurant and Hotel Proprietors should take advantage of this great opportunity th secure Staple Goods at less than cost of production. The goods are all new, bought expressly for this sale, and we confidently advise every one to buy all they can use.

Our Great Sale of Fine Dress Goods will be continued.

75c Dress Goods 37 1-2c. $1 Dress Goods 50c
$1.25 Dress Goods, 75c.

A great deal can be saved by supplying your wants now, as the Low Prices of this Special Sale cannot possibly be maintained.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

BEE-HIVE

ANNUAL DONATION SALE.

FOR WEDNESDAY,

Feb. 17th.

100 doz. MEN'S UNLAUNDERED SHIRTS, sizes from 12 1 2 to 16 in., for the low price of 19 cts. each.

As there will be a great rush, not more than two Shirts will be sold to one customer.

Sale commences WEDNESDAY, 8 A. M.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry

THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

SIG. BATTALIA,

FROM BOSTON,

PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms, 40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-law, and others interested in the Estate of MARY HORRIGAN, late of Peabody, in said county, widow, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Timothy T. Riordan, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first, Monday of March, next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J T. MAHONEY, Register.

feb 10—3t

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between the firm of Elligott & Gould, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by W. H. Gould & Co., at the old stand on Foster street.

W. H. GOULD,
CHAS. B. ELLIGOTT.

Peabody, March 9, 1886.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal. Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere!

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

[illegible]

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus F. Batchelder Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St. or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

The New York Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday)	$6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday)	50
SUNDAY, per Year	1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR	7 00
WEEKLY, per Year	1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER

USE

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and causes thin, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Sandhein, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye

FOR THE

WHISKERS

commends itself to all who have occasion to use a dye for the beard or mustache. It will change gray, faded, or sandy whiskers, to a beautiful brown or black, as desired. The colors produced are natural and lasting. It cannot be washed off, contains no destructive ingredients, is cheap, safe, convenient to use, and effectual.

PREPARED BY

R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H., U. S. A.

Sold by all dealers in medicines.

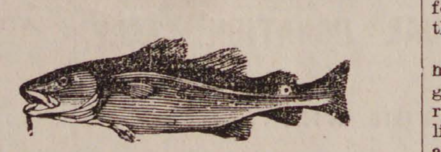
SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York.
Sold by all Druggists.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

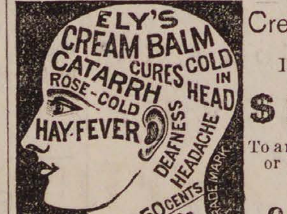


Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

CATARRH ELY'S



Cream Balm

IS WORTH

$1000

To any Man, Woman or Child suffering from

CATARRH.

A. E. NEWMAN, Graling, Mich.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A Dividend of Three dollars per share, will be payable at the office of the Treasurer on WEDNESDAY, the 27th inst., to stockholders of record this day.
DAVID MOORE. Treasurer.

somewhat unfrequented part of the country in which our tent was pitched, so my friend had secured the services of a primitive vehicle and a strong, shaggy pony to bear us the remainder of the journey.

So soon as our first hearty greetings were over, I proceeded to ascertain how the last year had treated Carriston. I was both delighted and astonished at the great change for the better which had taken place in his manner no less than his appearance. He looked far more robust; he seemed happier, brighter—altogether more like ordinary humanity. Not only had he greeted me with almost boisterous glee, but during our drive through the wonderful scenery he was in the gayest spirits and full of fun and anecdote. I congratulated him heartily upon the marked improvement in his health, both mentally and physically.

"Yes, I am much better," he said. "I followed a part of your advice—gave up moping, tried constant change of scene, interested myself in many more things. I am quite a different man."

"No supernatural visitations?" I asked, anxious to learn that his cure in that direction was complete.

His face fell. He hesitated a second before answering.

"No—not now," he said. "I fought against the strange feeling, and I believe have got rid of it—at least I hope so."

I said no more on the subject. Carriston plunged into a series of vivid and mimetic descriptions of the varieties of Scotch character which he had met with during his stay. He depicted his experiences so amusingly that I laughed heartily for many a mile.

"But why the change in your name?" I asked, when he paused for a moment in his merry talk.

He blushed, and looked rather ashamed. "I scarcely like to tell you; you will think my reason so absurd."

"Never mind. I don't judge you by the ordinary standard."

"Well, the fact is, my cousin is also in Scotland. I feared if I gave my true name at the hotel at which I stayed on my way here he might by chance see it, and look me up in these wild regions."

"Well, and what if he did?"

"I can't tell you. I hate to know I feel like it. But I have always, perhaps without cause, been afraid of him—and this place is horribly lonely."

Now that I understood the meaning of his words I thought the boy must be joking; but the grave look on his face showed he was never farther from merriment.

"Why, Carriston," I cried, "you are positively ridiculous about your cousin. You can't think the man wants to murder you."

"I don't know what I think. I am saying things to you which I ought not to say; but every time I meet him I feel he hates me, and wishes me out of the world."

"Between wishing and doing there is a great difference. I dare say all this is fancy on your part"

"Perhaps so. Anyway Cecil Carr is as good a name up here as Charles Carriston, so please humor my whim and say no more about it."

As it made no difference to me by what name he chose to call himself, I dropped the subject. I knew of old that some of his strange prejudices were proof against anything I could do to remove them.

At last we reached our temporary abode. It was a substantial, low-built house, owned and inhabited by a thrifty middle-aged widow, who, although well-to-do, so far as the simple ideas of her neighbors went, was nevertheless always willing to add to her resources by accommodating such stray tourists as wished to bury themselves for a day or two in solitude, or artists who, like ourselves, preferred to enjoy the beauties of Nature undisturbed by the usual ebbing and flowing stream of sightseers.

As Carriston asserted, the accommodation, if homely, was good enough for two single men; the fare was plentiful, and our rooms were the picture of cleanliness. After a cursory inspection I felt sure that I could for a few weeks make myself very happy in these quarters.

I had not been twenty-four hours in the house before I found out one reason for the great change for the better in Charles Carriston's demeanor; knew why his step was lighter, his eye brighter, his voice gayer, and his whole bearing altered. Whether the reason was a subject for congratulation or not I could not as yet say.

The boy was in love; in love as only a passionate, romantic, imaginative nature can be; and even then only once in a lifetime. Heedless, headstrong, impulsive, and entirely his own master, he had given his very heart and soul into the keeping of a woman.

CHAPTER IV.

That a man of Carriston's rank, breeding and refinement should meet his fate within the walls of a lonely farm-house beyond the Trossachs, seems incredible. One would scarcely expect to find among such humble surroundings a wife suitable to a man of his stamp. And yet when I saw the woman who had won him, I neither wondered at the conquest, nor did I blame him for weakness.

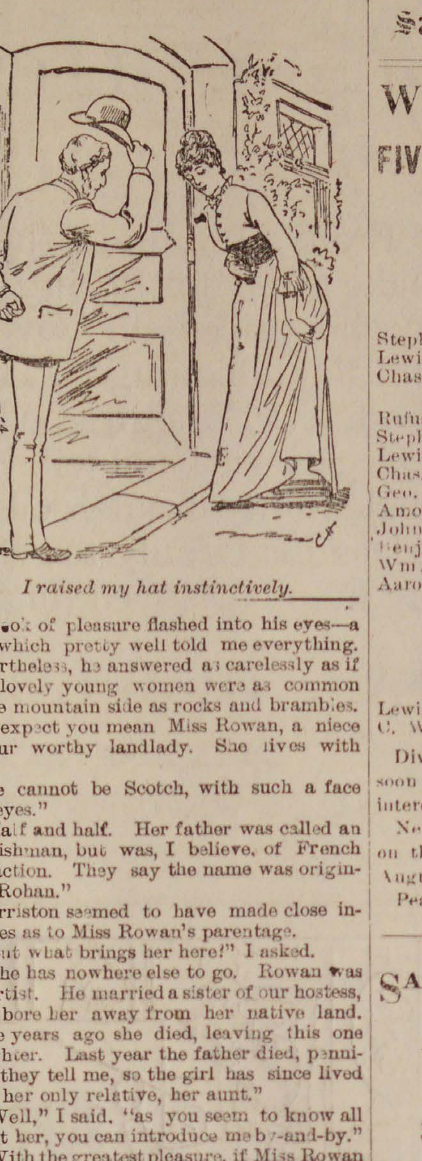
I made the great discovery on the morning after my arrival. Eager to taste the freshness of the morning air, I rose betimes and went for a short stroll. I returned, and while standing at the door of the house, was positively startled by the beauty of a girl who passed me and entered, as if she were a regular inhabitant of the place. Not a rosy Scotch lassie, such as one would expect to find indigenous to the soil; but a slim, graceful girl, with delicate classical features. A girl with a mass of knotted light hair, yet with the apparent anomaly, dark eyes, eyelashes and eyebrows—a combination which, to my mind, makes a style of beauty rare, irresistible and dangerous above all others. The features which filled the exquisite oval of her face were refined and faultless. Her complexion was pale, but its pallor in no way suggested anything save perfect health. To cut my enthusiastic description short, I may at once say it has never been my good fortune to cast my eyes on a lovelier creature than this young girl.

Although her dress was of the plainest and simplest description, no one could have mistaken her for a servant; and much as I admire the bonny, healthy Scotch country lassies, I felt sure that mountain air had never reared a being of this ethereally beautiful type. As she passed me I raised my hat instinctively. She gracefully bent her golden head, and bade me a quiet but unembarrassed good-morning. My eyes followed her until she vanished at the end of the dark passage which led to the back of the house.

Even during the brief glimpse I enjoyed of this fair unknown a strange idea occurred to me. There was a remarkable likeness between her delicate features and those, scarcely less delicate, of Carriston. This resemblance may have added to the interest the girl's appearance awoke in my mind. Any way, I entered our sitting-room, and, a prey to curiosity and perhaps hunger, awaited with much impatience the appearance of Carriston—and breakfast.

The former arrived first. Generally speaking, he was afoot long before I was, but this morning we had reversed the usual order of things. As soon as I saw him I cried:

"Carriston, tell me at once who is the lovely girl I met outside. An angel with dark eyes and golden hair. Is she staying here, like ourselves?"



I raised my hat instinctively.

A look of pleasure flashed into his eyes—a look which pretty well told me everything. Nevertheless, he answered as carelessly as if such lovely young women were as common to the mountain side as rocks and brambles.

"I expect you mean Miss Rowan, a niece of our worthy landlady. She lives with her."

She cannot be Scotch, with such a face and eyes."

"Half and half. Her father was called an Englishman, but was, I believe, of French extraction. They say the name was originally Rohan."

Carriston seemed to have made close inquiries as to Miss Rowan's parentage.

"But what brings her here?" I asked.

"She has nowhere else to go. Rowan was an artist. He married a sister of our hostess, and bore her away from her native land. Some years ago she died, leaving this one daughter. Last year the father died, penniless, they tell me, so the girl has since lived with her only relative, her aunt."

"Well," I said, "as you seem to know all about her, you can introduce me by-and-by."

"With the greatest pleasure, if Miss Rowan permits," said Carriston. I was glad to hear him give the conditional promise with as much respect to the lady's wishes as if she had been a duchess.

Then, with the liberty a close friend may take, I drew toward me a portfolio, full, I presumed, of sketches of surrounding scenery. To my surprise, Carriston jumped up hastily and snatched it from me. "They are too bad to look at," he said. As I struggled to regain possession sundry strings broke, and lo and behold! the floor was littered, not with delineations of rock, lake and torrent, but with images of the fair young girl I had seen a few minutes before. Full face, profile, three-quarter face, five, even seven-eighth face, all were there—each study perfectly executed by Carriston's clever pencil. I threw myself into a chair and laughed aloud, while the young man, blushing and discomfited, quickly huddled the portraits between the covers, just as a genuine Scotch lassie bore in the plentiful and, to me, very welcome breakfast.

Carriston did favor me with his company during the whole of that day, but, in spite of my having come to Scotland to enjoy his society, that day, from easily guessed reasons, was the only one in which I had undisputed possession of my friend.

Of course, I bantered him a great deal on the portfolio episode. He took it in good part, attempting little or no defense. Indeed, before night he had told me with all a boy's fervor how he had loved Madeline Rowan at first sight, how in the short space of time which had elapsed since that meeting he had wooed her and won her; how good and beautiful she was; how he worshipped her; how happy he felt; how when I went south he should accompany me, and after making a few necessary arrangements, return at once and bear his bride away.

I could only listen to him and congratulate him. It was not my place to act the elder, and advise him either for or against the marriage. Carriston had only himself to please, and if he made a rash step, only himself to blame for the consequences. And why should I have dissuaded—I who in two days envied the boy's good fortune?

I saw a great deal of Madeline Rowan. How strange and out-of-place her name and face seemed amid our surroundings. If at first somewhat shy and retiring, she soon, if only for Carriston's sake, consented to look upon me as a friend, and talked to me freely and unreservedly. Then I found that her nature was as sweet as her face. Such a conquest did she make of me that, save for one chimerical reason, I should have felt quite certain that Carriston had chosen well, and would be happy in wedding the girl of his choice, heedless of her humble position in the world, and absence of befitting wealth. When once his wife, I felt sure that if he cared for her to win social success her looks and bearing would insure it; and from the great improvement which, as I have already said, I noticed in his health and spirits, I believed that his marriage would make his life longer, happier and better.

Now for my objection, which seems almost a laughable one. I objected on the score of the extraordinary resemblance, which, so far as a man may resemble a woman, existed between Charles Carriston and Madeline Rowan. The more I saw them together, the more I was struck by it. A stranger might well have taken them for twin brother and sister. The same delicate features, drawn in the same lines; the same soft, dark, dreamy eyes; even the same shaped heads. Comparing the two, it needed no phrenologist or physiognomist to tell you where one excelled, the other excelled; where one failed, the other was wanting. Now could I have selected a wife for my friend, I would have chosen one with habits and constitution entirely different from his own. She should have been a bright, bustling woman, with lots of energy and common sense—one who would have rattled him about and kept him going—not a lovely, dark-eyed, dreamy girl, who could for hours at a stretch make herself supremely happy if only sitting at her lover's feet and speaking no word. Yet they were a handsome couple, and never have I seen two people so utterly devoted to each other as those two seemed to be during those autumn days which I spent with them.

I soon had a clear proof of the closeness of their mental resemblance. One evening Carriston, Madeline and I were sitting out of doors watching the gray mist deepening in the valley at our feet. Two of the party were, of course, hand in hand, the third seated at a discreet distance—not so far away as to preclude conversation, but far enough off to be able to pretend that he saw and heard only what was intended for his eyes and ears.

How certain topics, which I would have avoided discussing with Carriston, were started I hardly remember. Probably some strange tale had been passed down from wilder and even more solitary regions than ours—some ridiculous tale of Highland superstition, no doubt, embellished and augmented by each one who repeated it to his fellows. From her awed talk I soon found that Madeline Rowan, perhaps by reason of the

Continued on 7th page.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,
Lewis Allen,
Chas. B. Farley,
Geo. F. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,
John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,
Stephen Blaney,
Lewis Allen,
Chas. B. Farley,
Geo. F. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,
John A. Lord,
Benj. S. Wheeler,
Wm. H. Little,
Aaron W. Warren,
Alex. B. Merrill,
C. Warren Osborne,
Geo. S. Osborne,
Nathl. Symonds.
Aaron F. Clark,
Albert A. Messer,
John Pinder,
Wm. P. Clark
Reuben G. Nelson,
Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,
Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.
Rufus H. Brown.
Lewis Allen,
C. Warren Osborne.
Alex. B. Merrill,
Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May August, and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY. President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON. Treas.

CANDEE.

Rubber BOOTS

— WITH —

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give

DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the

PRICE NO HIGHER.

Call and examine the goods.

CANDEE
RUBBER BOOTS
GIVE DOUBLE WEAR
ON THE BOTTOM.
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT
EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS.
TWO YEARS TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME

OF THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. F. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Ele Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address
WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody	at	9 47 A. M
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston. 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Hemphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES.

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

[JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.]

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few General Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich. Ct.

nov24 —12t

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDENCE, 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Palfry Place, Lynn, Mass.
apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO., 152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid.

Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given.

Knickerbocker Subscription Agency.

P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.
b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and we will mail you free a royal, valuable, sample box of good that will put you in the way of making more money at once, than anything else in America. Both sexes of all ages can live at home and work in spare time, or all the time. Capital not required. We will start you. Immense pay sure for those who start at once. STINSON & Co., Portland Main

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in saying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

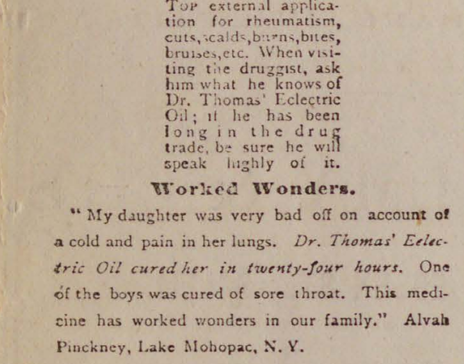
TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

Read what the people say concerning the ability of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, to cure asthma, catarrh, croup, colds, etc. Mrs. Dora Koch of Buffalo, says: "For croup it is decidedly efficacious." [Mrs. Jacob Mellisor of Marion, Ohio, says the same thing.] S. S. Graves, Akron, N. Y., writes: "Had asthma of the worst kind, took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in a few minutes. Would walk five miles for this medicine and pay $5 a bottle for it." Druggist C. R. Hall, Grayville, Ill., says: "Cured an ulcerated throat for me in twenty-four hours." "Sat up in bed and coughed till the clothing was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful RELIEVED me." E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, N. Y., Thomas' Eclectric Oil is also a Tip-Top external application for rheumatism, cuts, scalds, burns, bites, bruises, etc. When visiting the druggist, ask him what he knows of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; if he has been long in the drug trade, be sure he will speak highly of it.

Worked Wonders.

"My daughter was very bad off on account of a cold and pain in her lungs. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured her in twenty-four hours. One of the boys was cured of sore throat. This medicine has worked wonders in our family." Alvah Pinckney, Lake Mohopac, N. Y.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

☞ AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. ☞ Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address

G. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING

SIMPLE STRONG

NEW HOME

SWIFT SURE

SEWING MACHINE

HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.

—ORANGE, MASS.—

30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET,

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

ST. JACOBS OIL

TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.

PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR

TRADE MARK.

COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE.
SURE.
PROMPT.

25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds: Toilet Articles Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

☞ Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

AT

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

CLOTHING

ON

WEEKLY PAYMENTS!

We sell Ladies' and Gents'

Clothing, Dry Goods,

And all kinds of Merchandise on

WEEKLY PAYMENTS

— AT —

STRICTLY CASH PRICES.

— Business Strictly Confidential. —

NEW ENGLAND SUPPLY CO.,

86 Court cor. Howard St Room 1.

BOSTON, MASS

oct 28—3m

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

Scotch blood in her veins, was as firm a believer in things visionary and beyond Nature as ever Charles Carriston in his silliest moments could be. As soon as I could I stopped the talk, and the next day, finding the girl for a few minutes alone, told her plainly that subjects of this kind should be kept as far as possible from her future husband's thoughts. She promised obedience, with dreamy eyes which looked as far away and full of visions as Carriston's.

"By-the-by," I said, "has he ever spoken to you about seeing strange things?"

"Yes; he has hinted at it."

"And you believe him?"

"Of course I do—he told me so."

This was unanswerable. "A pretty pair they will make!" I muttered, as Madeline slipped from me to welcome her lover, who was approaching. "They will see ghosts in every corner, and goblins behind every curtain."

Nevertheless, the young people had no doubts about their coming bliss. Everything was going smoothly and pleasantly for them. Carriston had at once spoken to Madeline's aunt, and obtained the old Scotch woman's ready consent to their union. I was rather vexed at his still keeping to his absurd whim, and concealing his true name. He said he was afraid of alarming the aunt by telling her he was passing under an alias, while if he gave Madeline his true reason for so doing she would be miserable. Moreover, I found he had formed the romantic plan of marrying her without telling her in what an enviable position she would be placed, so far as worldly gear went. A kind of Lord of Burleigh surprise no doubt commended itself to his imaginative brain.

The last day of my holiday came. I bade a long and sad farewell to lake and mountain, and, accompanied by Carriston, started for home. I did not see the parting proper between the young people—that was far too sacred a thing to be intruded upon—but even when that protracted affair was over I waited many, many minutes while Carriston stood hand in hand with Madeline, comforting himself and her by reiterating, "Only six weeks—six short weeks! And then—and then!" It was the girl who at last tore herself away, and then Carriston mounted reluctantly by my side on the rough vehicle.

From Edinburgh we traveled by the night train. The greater part of the way we had the compartment to ourselves. Carriston, as a lover will, talked of nothing but coming bliss and his plans for the future. After a while I grew quite weary of the monotony of the subject, and at last dozed off, and for some little time slept. The shrill whistle which told us a tunnel was at hand aroused me. My companion was sitting opposite to me, and as I glanced across at him my attention was arrested by the same strange, intense look which I had on a previous occasion at Bettws y Coed noticed in his eyes—the same fixed stare—the same obliviousness to all that was passing. Remembering his request I shook him, somewhat roughly, back to his senses. He regarded me for a moment vacantly, then said:

"Now I have found out what was wanting to make the power I told you of complete. I could see her if I wished."

"Of course you can see her—in your mind's eye. All lovers can do that."

"If I tried I could see her bodily—know exactly what she is doing." He spoke with an air of complete conviction.

"Then I hope, for the sake of modesty, you won't try. It is now nearly 3 o'clock. She ought to be in bed and asleep."

I spoke lightly, thinking it better to try and laugh him out of his folly. He took no notice of my sorry joke.

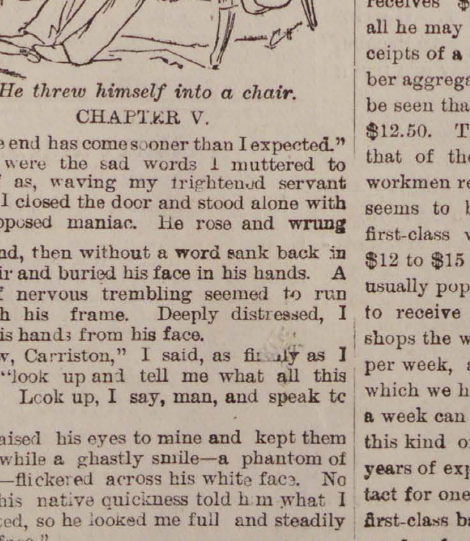
"No," he said, quietly, "I am not going to try. But I know now what was wanting. Love—such love as mine—such love as hers—makes the connecting link, and enables sight or some other sense to cross over space and pass through every material obstacle."

"Look here, Carriston," I said, seriously, "you are talking like a madman. I don't want to frighten you, but I am bound both as a doctor and your sincere friend to tell you that unless you cure yourself of these absurd delusions they will grow upon you, develop fresh forms, and you will probably end your days under restraint. Ask any doctor; he will tell you the same."

"Doctors are a clever race," answered my strange young friend, "but they don't know everything."

So saying he closed his eyes and appeared to sleep.

We parted upon reaching London. Many kind words and wishes passed between us, and I gave him some more well meant and, I believed, needed warnings. He was going down to see his uncle, the baronet. Then he had some matters to arrange with his lawyers, and above all had to select a residence for himself and his wife. He would no doubt be in London for a short time. If possible he would come and see me. Any way, he would write and let me know the exact date of his approaching marriage. If I could manage to come to it, so much the better. If not, he would try, as they passed through town, to bring his bride to pay me a flying and friendly visit. He left me in the best of spirits, and I went back to my patients and worked hard to make up lost ground, and counteract whatever errors had been committed by my substitute.



He threw himself into a chair.

CHAPTER V.

"The end has come sooner than I expected." These were the sad words I muttered to myself as, waving my frightened servant away, I closed the door and stood alone with the supposed maniac. He rose and wrung my hand, then without a word sank back in his chair and buried his face in his hands. A sort of nervous trembling seemed to run through his frame. Deeply distressed, I drew his hands from his face.

"Now, Carriston," I said, as firmly as I could, "look up and tell me what all this means. Look up, I say, man, and speak to me."

He raised his eyes to mine and kept them there, while a ghastly smile—a phantom of humor—flickered across his white face. No doubt his native quickness told him what I suspected, so he looked me full and steadily in the face."

"No," he said, "not as you think. But let there be no mistake. Question me. Talk to me. Put me to any test. Satisfy yourself, once for all that I am as sane as you are."

To be continued.

Scientific.

PROPOSED DIGEST OF PATENTS.—In his recent annual report, the Commissioner of Patents, Mr Marble, calls the attention of Congress to the necessity of having a digest made for the use of the office and the public, of the inventions patented in this and foreign countries. The preparation of such a work, he says, would cost a large sum of money, but he thinks the government would soon be reimbursed by its sale. The advantage to the public, especially to inventors and manufacturers, would be incalculable, and for these reasons he earnestly recommends Congress to take action looking to an early commencement of the work.

To prepare such a digest would, indeed, be an immense work, but there is no doubt of its value as an assistance to inventors, in determining the probable novelty of their inventions, provided the books were kept up to date and made readily accessible to the public. To Patent Office examiners the work would be of especial convenience in helping them to reject new applications for patents.

A beginning of the proposed work might be made with the American Patents; and when that digest is complete then take up the foreign patents, as the latter would necessarily contain many repetitions of the devices found in the American patent lists.

But before anything is done in respect to this proposed compilation, we would suggest that the Commissioner of Patents take steps to provide for the convenient access of the public to the printed patents that now exist in the Patent Office. This would seem to be a comparatively simple matter; but somehow or other it is hedged about with insuperable difficulties. It is a curious fact that although the United States patents are printed in convenient form, and are public records, kept in a public building especially designed for the access and information of the people, still it is next to impossible for an individual to go to the Patent Office and refer to any complete part of the printed patents. For example, an inventor having made an improvement in flat irons, calls at the Patent Office and requests the privilege of looking over the various flat iron patents, with a view to applying for a patent if his supposed invention is new. He is shown sundry portfolios or volumes, purporting to contain all the previous inventions, finds nothing like his device, files his application, and is rejected. He then ascertains that some of the drawings or some of the patents, including the one resembling his device, had been temporarily removed, on some excuse or other, from the portfolio when he examined it, and that the set was not complete; so his examination was fallacious. He further finds that there is no uniform system followed at the Patent Office whereby the public may enjoy convenient and certain access to all of the printed patents in any particular class or branch. We suggest that before the new digest proposed by the Commissioner be commenced, the printed patents should be thoroughly classified, and several complete sets thereof maintained in convenient places for public reference.

We are inclined to believe that the Commissioner of Patents already has authority to establish such a system. Its efficient realization would be of great value to manufacturers, inventors, and all who are concerned in patent affairs.—Scientific American.

AN expert in microscopy has recently succeeded in tracing on glass the wonderful curves called after Lissajou. He has traced these in lines of 55,000 to the inch, and finds that they are much better for testing the power of a microscope than straight lines. Aside from their great beauty, and the necessity of skilful illumination to see them well, the intersection of some lines and the gradual approximation of others, arising from the variation in the figures, where every degree of the sharpness of a curve is obtainable, from a line returning almost upon itself at an exceedingly acute angle, to curves so flat as to present in parts virtually the appearance of parallel straight lines—all this, combined with a knowledge up to a certain point of the nature of all lines cut in glass, renders these rulings more instructive perhaps than the markings on diatom valves, in regard to which there is as much question. A curious feature of some of these figures is that though all the lines would seem to be in the same plane, it sometimes happens that an alteration of focus is requisite to bring out the transverse lines.

CHICAGO BARBERS.

The trade of the barbers of Chicago at one time was very remunerative, but as the barber business has been overdone there to a terrible extent, wages have become extraordinarily small. In nearly all first-class shops the wage plan is this: The barber receives $10 per week and one-half of all he may take in over $20. As the receipts of a chair in the hands of a good barber aggregates about $25 per week, it will be seen that his wages can hardly exceed $12.50. The best paid shop in the city is that of the Grand Pacific Hotel. Here workmen receive only $13 per week, which seems to be considered among the guild first-class wages. Foremen receive from $12 to $15 per week, and it requires an unusually popular and able man in this line to receive $15 a week. In the ten-cent shops the wages will not average over $9 per week, and in the five-cent shops, of which we have quite a number, not over $6 a week can be made by the barber. As this kind of work requires a good many years of experience and much deftness and tact for one to become what is known as a first-class barber, it would seem that there are few fascinations to attract amateurs in that direction.

Those who want tra t'se.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY, SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. BROOKS. A. D. DAMON, F D SPERRY

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich Bride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15,000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anæsthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anæsthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. F. WILLIAMS,

Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,

LEE HALL, OPP CITY HALL, LYNN.

Happiness

results from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterpock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."

Found

At Home

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,

18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

WILLIAM H. LONGSDORF & CO.,

BANKERS AND BROKERS,

16 Broad Street, New York.

SOUND INVESTMENT Bonds furnished to Executors, Trustees of Estates, and Individual Investors. Defaulted Bonds of States, Counties, Cities and Railways bought and sold.

Coupons and dividends collected, and information furnished relative to securities of all kinds, without charge. Horse Railway and Gas Stocks a specialty.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you.

Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

A BIG OFFER To introduce them we will GIVE AWAY 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 21 Dey St., N.Y.

LADIES WANTED—To work for us at their own homes. $7 to 10 per week can be easily made; no canvassing; fascinating and steady employment. Particulars and sample of the work sent for stamp. Address HOME M'F'G CO., P. O. Box 1916, Boston, Mass.

WE want SALESMEN everywhere, local and traveling, to sell our goods. Will pay good salary and all expenses. Write for terms at once, and state salary wanted. STANDARD SILVER WARE COMP'Y, Boston, Mass.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

TO ADVERTISERS —Lowest rates for advertising in 981 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby, Boston,

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

Pillsbury's Best.

WE keep in stock the above brand of Flour, also Washburn's Best, Snowflake, and other Choice Brands of Patent Flour.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows.—

EASTERN DIVISION

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8, 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6.30, 7, 7 14, 7.35, 7 48, 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A. M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8, 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M. Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15, P. M.
Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 8 55, 10 05, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P.M.
Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M. 1 09, 2 20, 2 50, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.
Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M.
Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.
Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M., Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A.M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5.15, 7 15† P. M.
Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.
Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M, 3 52 P. M.
Wolfboro—8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
North Conway—8 08, A. M.,
Portland—8 08, 9 37 A. M, 1 09, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M. Sunday 7 30 P. M.
Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.
Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.
St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).
Bangor, 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.
Augusta, 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 38, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.
Portland—2, 9 A. M. 1, 6 P. M. Sundays, 2 A. M.*
North Conway—7 05. A. M.
Wolfboro—8 15, A. M. 2 45 P. M.
Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.
Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M., 4 18, P. M.
Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25, 6 55 P. M.
Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A. M, 3 05, 5, 7 40 P. M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M. 4 P. M.
Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 15*, 5 15, P. M.
Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A. M. 3 45, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.
Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M. 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.
Essex—7, 11 45 A. M., 5 40 P. M.†
Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., 1 20, 5, 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.
Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A. M, 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P. M. Sundays—8 A. M.
Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.
Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P.M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P. M.
Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M. 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A. M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.
Lynn—6 49, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A. M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 16, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 24, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A. M., 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.
Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10, 10 45, 11 45, A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 30, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P. M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M. 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH*

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30 A. M., 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 2 P. M.
Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 25 A. M., 2, 3 30, 4 51, 5 45, 6 20 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.
Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A. M., 3 10, 5 15 P. M.
Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A. M., 12 05, 43, 5 48 P. M.
Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A. M., 12 17, 53, 5 58 P. M.
Peabody for Salem—8 38 A. M., 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell 7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Lawrence—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 48, 11 35 A. M., 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 [illegible], 11 32 A. M., 1 2 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 P. M.
Lowell for Salem—7 15, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M.
Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A. M., 1, 5 50 P. M.
Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A. M., 1 05, 4 45, 6 22, P. M.
Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 33, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M., 1 30, 3 20, 5 03, 6 [illegible]
Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 22, [illegible]

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston, Jan. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9 00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and Information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON.

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE, June 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.30, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, 6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.30, 10, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING.

LOW PRICES

— OF —

WALL PAPERS.

For Early Buyers.

Special Lots at nearly half prices. Come early and get the best choice.

10c Papers for 6c per roll.
15c Paper for 10c per roll.
20 & 25c Papers for 12 1-2c per roll.
25c Satins for 15c per roll.

Other goods equally low.

Borders from 1c per yard upwards.

☞ Goods delivered free in Essex Co.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

STATIONERS,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

SPARKS.

The firemen have been kept pretty busy the past week, with the flood. Friday evening a party from the Central station were patrolling the streets where the flood was the worst, lending a helping hand wherever needed. About 11 o'clock, when the water began to rise in the basement of Baldwins' Hotel, the boys took hold and moved all the furniture , mirrors etc., from the handsome barber shop of H. Nathan in the basement of the hotel and removed them to the office of Batchelder & Co. Friday afternoon Chief Tibbetts and a squad of men from the Central Station were called upon to extinguish a fire in the basement of the building occupied by C. H. Goulding on Walnut street. The fire was caused by a barrel of lime being set on fire by the water and burning against a partition. Had it been in the night it would have been a bad one as the building was packed full of furniture and at that time was surrounded with water from one to six feet deep. Engineer Buxton and another squad extinguished a lime fire in the tannery of J. H. Poor on Foster street quite late in the night. As soon as the water began to recede Saturday forenoon, Steamer 2 was put at work pumping out the cellar of Edward Trask, the provision dealer, and were kept at work until 1 o'clock, clearing out about four feet of water. At 2.18 o'clock Saturday afternoon, an alarm of fire was given, caused by the burning of a feather bed in the tenement at the corner of Walnut and Central street. A man smoking in the bed was the origin of the blaze. The burning bed was thrown out of the window before the department arrived. The apparatus made quick time in getting out. Steamer 1 was sent to the hardware store of Samuel Trask on Walnut street and worked until dark, when the feed pumps became clogged with sawdust and no water could be furnished for the boiler. The engine was taken to the engine house and put in thorough order. A party of the Hook & Ladder men were engaged nearly all the afternoon trying to remove obstructions from the culvert at Railroad avenue, but the water was too high and they had to give it up. Sunday morning at 8 o'clock Steamer 2 was put at work and pumped out the grocery store of John Linehan on Foster street, basement of Baldwin's Hotel, cellars of Hartnett's block and the tenement houses in the rear, cellar of J. E. Millea on Foster street, T. N. Barnaby on Oak street and McLaughlins on Winter street, getting through at about dark. Steamer 1 went out soon after Steamer 2 and pumped out the cellars of Samuel Trask, Ames & Edgery, George R. Norton and the house in the rear of Trask's on Walnut street, George Plummer's house on Lowell street, Uptons' block and Mrs. Reagans' house on Foster street. The firemen had a hard days work, one that they will remember for many days. Steamer 2 was out again Tuesday and again pumped out the cellars of Samuel Trask and George R. Norton, the water having run in again. Refreshments were furnished by George Plummer, John Linehan, Daniel B. Lord, B. F. Hutchinson T. N. Barnaby and the Board of Engineers. Firemen were in town Sunday from the surrounding towns, among them being Chief Goodhue of Beverly. Crowds of people were around the engine throughout the day watching the workings. The cellar of the engine house was flooded with about four feet of water, putting out the fires in the stove and boiler, wetting the kindlings and the shavings. Dry hay was used to start the fire with after Saturday.

Arrangements for the 6th annual ball and concert of the Three Ones and a Two of the Peabody Fire Department, are nearly all completed and tickets will be on sale by the firemen of the four companies interested, Thursday. The committee of arrangements is as follows: Chairman, J. H. Miller; Secretary and Treasurer, J. B. Reith; C. A. Littlefield, Ass't Foreman, George H. Carr, Clerk, and A. L. Legro of Steamer 1. John F. Morland, Foreman, H. J. G. Kimball, Ass't Foreman and J. B. Reith, Clerk of Steamer 2. J. H. Miller, Foreman, A. A. Carleton, Ass't. Foreman, Walter P. Hills, Clerk of H. & L. Fred B. Thomas, Foreman, F. C. Blake and W. B. Flannagan of Hose 1. The reception committee will consist of the three officers of each company. Chief Engineer John H. Tibbetts will be the Floor Director and will have twelve aids. The Salem Brass Band of twenty pieces will give a promenade concert from 8 o'clock until 9, and the Salem Band Orchestra of ten pieces will furnish the music for the ball. F. E. Van Vranken, the Salem caterer, will furnish the supper for the ball at 50 cents per plate. The ball will be held as usual on Fast Eve, and will be held in the large Town Hall, 600 seats to be taken up for the dancing surface. The small hall will be used as a supper room. Tickets to the ball and concert, admitting gentleman and two ladies, one dollar. To the concert for those who do not wish a ball ticket, twenty-five cents, admitting to the balconies only. It is the intention that this shall be the finest ball ever held in this town.

The Directors of the Relief association held their regular quarterly meeting last Thursday evening and transacted only the usual amount of business.

Steamer No. 1 held a special meeting last Wednesday evening and elected Frank Welch to the vacancy in the company, caused by the resignation of J. W. H. Ferguson. Afterwards the company sat down to a clam chowder.

Hose 5 will hold another of their social parties, Friday evening.

The M. A. Pickett Engine Co. No, 1 will hold their grand concert and ball in Abbott hall, Marblehead, Friday evening Feb. 19th, which unfortunately is the same evening selected by the Eurekas of Hudson.

NORTH PEABODY.

The heavy flood of last week did a great amount of damage in this part of the town by flooding and filling up cellars and damaging vegetables stored in them, some of them having from two to four feet of water in them thereby making it almost impossible to remove the produce to places of safety, almost as soon as they were bailed out they would fill up again. The springs in this section are very much higher than they have been for years. The horse car track is very badly washed out in many places, making it necessary to make a good many repairs in the spring

We regret to learn of the continued serious illness of Mrs. L. D. Cook.

Mr. Joseph Bolster has had a much needed job done at his extensive carriage work in the pit, by having his doors repaired.

Mr. D. H. Whipple has gone to the State Normal School at Bridgewater.

Prayer meetings are held every Wednesday evening at the Chapel.

We would like to know why we can not have our gutters kept open the same as the other parts of the town? A great many of the cellars were flooded because the gutters were not opened in season, a part of them not being opened at all, in other places being opened by the residents

There is a general dissatisfaction with the present arrangement of running the cars of the Salem & Danvers street railway, their present time of trips accommodating but a few of us.

Z. O. A.

SOUTH PEABODY.

It is hoped that something will be done toward getting an appropriation for the sidewalks on Lynn street, and also to have the street lights extended to Lynn line. A resident on the line told the writer that he would be willing to pay for two if the town would light them.

Rev. J. W. Colwell will preach to the children next Sunday afternoon.

The water got into the Newhall Brothers green houses on Lynnfield street, doing considerable damage.

The bridge at Marsh's brook on Summit street will have to be reset on account of the washout.

Owing to the high water last Saturday nearly all of the cellars in this section of the town had more or less water in them.

Spring Pond is the highest ever known and the water was flowing over the flash boards at the Fountain Pond, last Sunday, to the depth of one foot.

Mrs. Frank Needham is quite sick at her residence on County St

The Selectmen have fixed the amount of damages to be awarded to the different ice dealers in this section of the town to be about $200 apiece.

Our readers will notice in this issue a new advertisement of Merrill & Mackintire, Salem, who are now offering a special lot of room papers at lower prices than usual, as an inducement for early buyers. At the prices they are offered at, it will pay to purchase and lay by for future use.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

The judge has rendered a decision in favor of Officers Peasley, Goodwin and Viles, who were sued by Daniel Hogan for not properly securing his property when leaving it after they had searched for liquor. Hogan claimed that considerable property had been stolen.

Last Wednesday Joseph Sewall was considerably burned about the face and hands while at work in the new gas house at the Danvers Bleachery.

Elizabeth McCarty was convicted in the Supreme Court last week of selling liquor.

An assault case Riordan vs Toomey, came up in the police court this morning, and the latter was fined $10 and costs.

Mr. Henry Griffin who operates a whitening machine at Brown & Stanleys currying shop, caught a finger in the machine last Monday, and mangled one of his fingers.

The engine at Charles Harrington & Co's tannery broke down last Saturday. The piston rod broke in the center and burst out the cylinder head.

Mrs. John Flynn, a widow, and her daughter, who live on Tremont street, narrowly escaped asphyxiation last Friday. Upon awakening about five o'clock they found themselves overcome by the deadly fumes of a coal stove in an adjoining room. They succeeded in opening a window, and in a few hours were out of danger.

In the police court Monday morning, Michael Readon for assaulting David Toomey was fined $5 and costs.

An old lady named Flynn fell on Summer street last evening and broke her wrist.

A young son of Edward Ryan hitched his sled to the rear of a team on Walnut street, last Wednesday, and got on the sled. As he did so a large dog, belonging to the owner, seized him by the arm and badly bit him before he was called off by his master, No bones were broken.

John Barry of this town got into a dispute with another party in Marblehead, last Wednesday, and as they were making considerable loud talk, officer Felton, of that town, ordered them to stop their wrangling but Barry wanted to argue the case with the officer and finally enforced his arguments by giving the officer a blow in the face. The guardian of the peace quickly drew out his "locust" to help quiet the pugilistic John, but received another blow and was finally knocked down. Barry beat a hasty retreat in the direction of the Boston and Maine freight yard, but was soon captured by a number of citizens, who came to Officer Felton's assistance. In the police court he was fined $1 and costs and for assaulting the officer $20 and costs were imposed.

Last Thursday afternoon two dogs entered Robert G. Buxton's barn cellar on Central street, and killed 15 Plymouth Rock and White Leghorn hens; they also killed one duck and mangled a number of other hens. The Selectmen appraised them.

The case of W. H. Baldwin, charged with violating the liquor law, did not come up in the Superior court last week as a certificate from a physician was filed stating that he was under treatment and not able to appear.

A two horse team belonging to Pickering & Co., of Salem, loaded with coal for Andrew Jacobs' tannery on Oak street, sunk in the mud up to the hubs of the wheels last Monday noon and a pair of horses from J. B. Thomas' stable were sent to the rescue and succeeded in pulling out the team.

Conductor Herbert Webber, of the Danvers street railroad, while changing the switch on the square, last Thursday morning, was kicked in the hand and knee by one of the horses. The skin was broken on his hand and for a while he could not bend his knee.

Mr. John Titcomb, living in the rear of Washington street, was run into on Foster street, last Friday morning, and his face was badly bruised.

A four horse team belonging to J. B. Thomas, loaded with wood, got stuck at the corner of Foster and Main streets last Thursday, and considerable time was spent in getting clear.

Mr. James Kelley was up for drunkenness, last Monday, but he said he had taken nothing but Jamaica ginger. His Honor dismissed the case with a little advice to James.

The team of James Fallon, the undertaker, was just starting from the house of Mr. Fallon, this morning, when the transom bolt broke, throwing both Mr. Fallon and his son to the ground. Both were slightly bruised.

The case of Charles E. Hoag against David T. Winter came up before Judge Merrill last Thursday morning. Frank E. Farnham, Esq., counsel for Winter, pleaded "nolo contendere." Before the judge had time to sentence him Mr. Hoag said he wished to make a statement before sentence was passed. He said: this case needs more than ordinary attention, as owing to the publicity of the case it was of an aggravated nature. I was in the post office standing there when a large dog came up, I patted him, and someone said something, and as the defendant pleads, he struck me. It was not a John L. Sullivan blow. The defendant is one of those unfortunate men found in every community, like the assassin of Garfield and the man who made the attack on Grover Cleveland. I suppose it would have been better if I had turned and whipped him. but I didn't do it, I thought it was better to let the court settle it. He imagines I have done him some grevious wrong, just like other cranks, and the community is not safe. This is a very serious case and your honor should go into it before judgment is given. Frank E. Farnham, for Mr. Winter, said: the complainant admits that it was only a slight assault, and here he is trying to pose as a martyr, perhaps as a Garfield, but I must say as a degenerate one. It is well known in this vicinity that the complainant has endeavored in many ways to injure the defendant. The simple fact is the defendant saw him approaching his dog and he first requests him to let his dog alone, and as he does not comply he makes a slight technical assault. There are no witnesses to the assault and no legal proof of it could be obtained. The assault was simply an infraction of the law for which the defendant was legally amenable, though morally he deserves the thanks of the whole community. Mr. Merrill said he could not regard the injury to the complainant sufficient for compensation, but considering the assault was committed in a public place he would fine Mr. Winter $5 and costs, amounting to $11.25. Acting on the suggestion of a citizen, who threw two dollars in his hat. the writer passed around the hat and quickly raised sufficient money to pay the fine of Mr. Winter. The witnesses who had been summoned to testify by the complainant, Messrs. Charles E. Teague and Thomas J. Relihan, refused to take their fees, and it went to lower the costs that Mr. Winter had to pay.

As Mr. Stephen Fernald was standing on the square examining the repairs being made by Mr. Besse and his men, the horse car from Lowell street at 11 45 struck him and caused him to fall into the ditch. There was not room between the horse car track and the ditch to prevent a collision, and Mr. Fernald did not see the car until it was upon him at full speed. He was carried to his home on Franklin street by Mr. Besse, and, fortunately, no bones were broken. It was a narrow escape. The driver of the car should have slacked up and prevented the accident, which he could have done easily.

Mr. James O'Toole, a morocco dresser who has been in failing health for some time, will leave for a trip to Ireland the last of this month. His expenses will be met by Emerald Court C. O. F. of this town, of which he is a member.

There are to be four exemplifications of the new work of the Odd Fellows in this section of the State, Beverly being one of the places assigned on account of its large hall. The degree staff of Fraternity Lodge are expected to work the second degree.

Mrs. Gilson of the Peabody News Company, has received from the Boston Herald, a neat case containing a pack of cards. On the back of each card is a reduced fac simile of the Herald newsboy, and the "joker" is a picture of the Herald building.

Mr. George O. Peirce is doing an extensive business in cork work and has a large number of orders ahead, which he has been unable to fill on account of the delay in a large quantity of cork which could not be unloaded in New York on account of the unfavorable weather.

Mr. Walter H. Wing, who learned his trade in the PRESS office and deserted the printer's case for the position of ticket agent for the Pullman Car Company, of Boston, has recently been promoted to the responsible position of Assistant Cashier with a salary of $75 a month.

The Executive Board of the K. of L. served notice of a boycott on the firm of Charles Harrington & Co., to take effect from Feb. 9th. It is nine weeks last Tuesday, since the men went out, and they have been drawing $7 a week from the Knights of Labor. Harrington is running the place with "scabs," but it is reported that they are trying to make a settlement.

A large audience was present at the revival meeting at the Methodist church last Sunday night, and the singing was led by Brother Morse, and the meeting was conducted by Rev. Mr. Shipman of the Baptist church. A large number testified to their faith in Christ, and thirty-two new converts stood up and were counted on the Lords side, and three rose for prayers. Another meeting will be held in the Baptist church next Sunday.

As we expected, Miss Lena C. Emery, formerly teacher in our South Peabody school, is meeting in Salem with hearty appreciation of her abilities. She was unanimously elected principal's assistant in the Saltonstall school, and was allowed full pay for the first year, the usual rule fixing the pay at eighty per cent. being suspended in her case. Mr. W. S. Lord paid a high tribute to Miss Emery, and her qualifications as a teacher.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending Feb. 13, were 4520 rolls, 258 sides, 287 bundles, 22 barrels, 1 bag, 8 bales of leather, 11 rolls, 5 casks, 21 bundles of skins.

FIRE! FIRE!

SMOKE!

SMOKE!

SMOKE!

LOOK OUT.

COMMENCING

FIRDAY MORNING,

FEBRUARY 5TH,

The Boston Clothing House, 221 Essex Street, will be open for business, which has been closed on account of the Fire Jan. 25.

The entire stock of Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Bags, Etc., will be closed out regardless of value with in the next Thirty Days.

Don't miss these Bargains, such as were never before shown to the people of New England. Remember the Store.

221 ESSEX ST.,

Boston

Clothing

House,

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE,

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1871, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 815, leaf 22, and by virtue of the further power of sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the Administrators of his estate, dated the ninth day of June, A. D. 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, February 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land, being a part of the lands conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit,

The tannery estate situated in said Peabody on the southerly side of a way called Hardy street, bounded thus, viz.: beginning at a point on said Hardy street one foot and six inches east of land late of William Bushby deceased, and thence running southerly parallel with the easterly line of said Bushby's land about one hundred and sixty feet to other land late of said Hardy formerly a part of the Wallis Mills estate; thence easterly by said land formerly the Wallis Mills estate, three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to land late of Francis K. Pemberton, deceased, thence northerly by land late of Pemberton and by land of Mayhew S. Clark, one hundred and sixty-five feet to Hardy street; thence westerly by Hardy street three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to the point begun at.

Also a right to draw water to said tannery estate from the fountain situated on the lot of land owned by John A. Lord situated on the lot of land on the northerly side of Hardy street known as the Pendar houses, as now used. Together with all the other easements and subject to all the incumbrances mentioned or referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treas.
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.
Peabody, Feb. 3, 1886. 3t

Marriages.

In Peabody, Feb. 2, by Rev. Mr. Borgialli, Mr. John H. Murphy of Salem to Miss Mary E. Sheban of P.

Jan. 31, by Rev. Mr. Masterson, Mr. Geo. Henry Murphy to Miss Catherine Kerwin.

In Salem, Feb. 6, by Rev. Mr. Kay, Mr. George Murch to Miss Isabel Parmenter; 11th, Mr. Frederick C. Packard to Miss Mary E. Radford.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Feb. 1, Mr. John McNulty, 32 yrs.

6th, Mr. Philip H. Saunders, 85 yrs. 7 mos. 20 days.

In Danvers, Jan. 16, Levi D. Trask, 73 yrs. 6 mos. 10 days.

In Salem, Feb. 14th, Mrs. Abigail S., widow of Mr. Eben T. Eustis, 84 yrs. 2 mos. 25 days; 14th, Evangeline C., daughter of Geo. E. and the late Melissa A. Staniford, 22 yrs. 11 mos. 14 days; 14th, Clara E., daughter of George F. and the late Martha Getchell, 19 yrs. 4 mos, 6 days.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

Special Prices

— ON —

GENTLEMEN'S OVERCOATS.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS.

Our Entire Stock closed immediately.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, BOYS' REEFERS,

Marked Down. Low Prices for Boys' Suits.

GREAT TROUSER SALE

TO BE CONTINUED.

Hundreds of pairs added to our. already large stock, making the largest assortment ever shown in the city. All wool Trousers, $1.50; Fine Cassimere Trousers, $2, 2.50 and 3; Fancy and Dress Trousers, $3.50, 4, 4.50 and 5.

COME RIGHT IN, A BARGAIN AWAITS YOU

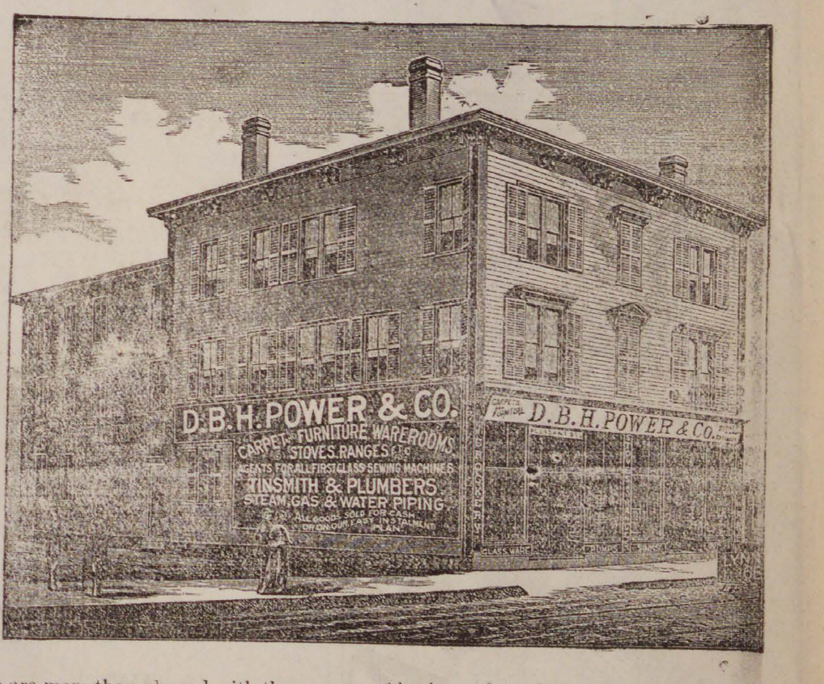
— AT —

EDW. C. ALMY & CO'S.

163, 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St . Providence.
Washington, cor. Essex Street. Boston.

STOCK TAKING IS OVER AND WE ARE NOW READY FOR BUSINESS.



D. B. H. POWER & CO.
CARPET FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES &c.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM GAS & WATER PIPING
ALL GOODS SOLD FOR CASH OR ON OUR EASY INSTALMENT PLAN
D. B. H. POWER & CO.
GLASS WARE

We are more than pleased with the amount of business done during the last year, and we propose to place 1886 as far ahead of 1885, as 1885 is now ahead of 1884, Notwithstanding the croakings and cries from our competitors, we still live, and adhere strictly to our special system $1 down and $1 a week. We have just received one car load of

PARLOR SUITS

and two car loads of

CHAMBER SETS,

direct from the factories, and made especially to our order. We are now receiving every day new styles and patterns of

CARPETS, RUGS, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES, &C.

Remember we have the largest store and largest and best assortment of goods to be found in Essex county. We sell EVERYTHING to furnish a house complete from the lowest to the highest grades and at prices that defy competition, and at terms that are easier then those offered elsewhere. Our stock of Crockery, Glass and Silver Ware is complete. All of our Stoves and Ranges, both new and second hand, to be closed out to make room for new Spring goods.

NEW HOME
Simple Strong Swift Sure
NEW HOME

Sole Agent in Marblehead and Vicinity for the

CELEBRATED

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE.

Noiseless and light running. This we will sell at the lowest prices for cash or on our instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a week.

☞ All goods delivered free.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 124 SCHOOL ST.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

PEABODY
The Press.
PEABODY INSTITUTE DANVERS
PEABODY INSTITUTE PEABODY

VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 24, 1886. NO. 8.

WILMOT

Must vacate his Salem Store March 1st, as on that date

KENT & BOYNTON,

Clothiers, Tailors & Furnishers,

Will take possession, and will be open to the public for business on or about, March 15th.

Until March 1st WILMOT will continue his closing-out sale.

READ THE PRICES.

MEN'S OVERCOATS,

Men's Heavy Beaver finish overcoat, dark blue and green mixture,

for $3.87 1-2, regular price, $6.

Men's Heavy Beaver finish Overcoats

for $4.50, regular price $8.

Men's Heavy Black Elysian Overcoats, very handsome coats, bound narrow, Velvet collar,

for $5 former price $10.

Men's Heavy Oxford Mixed Overcoats, made for dress and business wear,

for $5, former price $10.

Men's Fine All Wool Irish Frieze Overcoats, made with lap seams, pearl buttons and velvet collar,

for $7, former price $13.

Men's All Wool Blue Beaver Overcoats, made A-1 warranted fast colors,

for $8 regular price $15.

Men's All Wool Beaver Overcoats, made and trimmed in the best manner,

for $10, regular price, 16.

Men's All Wool Overcoats, in black, green, drab, brown and slate colors, made and trimmed in the best manner.

for $7.75, 8.00, 9.50 and 10, regular prices $12, 15, 16 and 18.

We have not room to enumerate the styles and prices but we have got to sell out, and you can buy an overcoat of us at just half cost.

MEN'S SUITS.

Men's Heavy All Wool Suits

for $3, regular price $8, 9 and 12.

Men's All Wool Cassimere Suits, well made and trimmed,

for $5, regular price $10.

Men's Nobby All Wool Suits, latest style and handsome goods, for $6 and 7, regular price $12 and 14.

Men's Blue Flannel Suits, warranted fast colors,

for $5, regular price $12.

You will find all our suits marked in like proportion. Come and see them and get a bargain that you will always remember with pleasure.

MEN'S PANTALOONS.

Men's Heavy Winter Pantaloons,

for 87 1-2c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2, and 2.50, regular prices $1.50, 2, 2.25, 2.50, 3, and 4.

Men's Odd Coats and Vests, at prices less than the cost of cloth from which they are manufactured.

Boys' and Children's OVERCCATS.

BOYS' HEAVY OVERCOATS.

Ages from 13 to 18.

For $3, 3.50, 3.75, 4, 4.25, 5, regular prices, 5, 6, 6.50, 7, 7.50 and 10.

Children's Heavy Overcoats.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3 and 4, regular prices, 4.50, 5, 5 50, 6 and 7.

BOYS' SUITS,

Long Pants, Ages 13 to 18.

For $2, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 regular prices, $5, 6, 6.50, 7, 9, 10 12.

Children's Suits.

Ages 4 to 12.

For $1.50, 2, 2.50, 2.75, 3, 3.50, 4, 5, regular prices $3, 4, 4.50, 5, 6, 7, 7.50, 8, 9.

BOYS' PANTALOONS.

Ages 13 to 17,

For 75c, $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2.50, regular price, 4.25, 1.50, 2, 2.50, 3, 4.50.

Children's Short Pantaloons.

For 37 1-2c, 50c, 60c, 65c, 75c, regular prices 65c, 75c, $1, 1.25.

WINTER UNDERWEAR.

FURNISHING GOODS

Hats and Caps.

Boots and Shoes.

One and all are included in this sale. Everything must be sold before we give up business.

READ THE PRICES.

Men's Winter Underwear,

For 25c, 33c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, regular price 50c, 62 1-2c, 75c, $1.25, 1.50.

Men's Hats,

For 25c. 50c, 75c, $1, 1.50, regular price 50c, 75c, $1.00, 1.25, nd 2.00.

Boots and Shoes.

The Bargains in this department are too numerous to mention. They must be seen to be appreciated.

TO THE PUBLIC.

We are not giving up business in Salem on account of our non success; on the contrary our Salem store has been our best paying store. But we are going to consolidate our business to our Boston store, where we have enlarged our already large store by the addition of an entire block which will be used as our Furniture Department. During the last year we have added a number of departments and the coming year we shall add more. As a natural consequence we shall require all our capital to make it a success. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage in the past I am

Yours truly.
H. B. WILMOT.

WILMOT CLOTHING COMPANY,

250 AND 254 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Wheels!

Marble time again!

And is this Spring?

Hang up your cutters!

Snow squalls yesterday!

Watch for it—that valentine!

Daylight till nearly six o'clock!

An eclipse of the sun March 5!

A very little snow in the woods!

Cellars were flooded all the week!

Eastern railroad stock sells at $82.

No six weeks sleighing in March!

The spring election draweth nigh!

Coal bins begin to look cavernous!

Don't empty your ashes in the street!

Now approaches the Lenten season!

Lilac buds have commenced to swell!

Last Sunday was Septuagesima Sunday.

Try Hathaway's Cream home made bread.

Don't buy foreign papers for home news.

"Early candlelight" comes later and later.

Winter is jogging along on the home stretch.

The damage by the flood is about repaired.

Sliding down hill on mud has no attraction.

Pussy willows are offered for sale on the streets.

Bargains in Cotton Cloth at F. D. Tarlton's. *

This is a somewhat different winter, you know.

Mr. Stephen Blaney has our thanks for California papers.

As Lent approaches social events crowd each other.

Several children were jumping rope on the street yesterday.

Ladies' Serge Buskins only 30 cents, at Nugent's Shoe Store.

Mr. John Cahill has been serving the notices of the tax collector.

Tricora Corsets, $1.00. Every pair warranted at F. D. Tarlton's *

Rose leaves, salted and cured, are now made into sofa pillows.

The prospects are good for a lively business in this place next season.

It is the proper thing to negotiate for a seaside cottage for next Summer.

Striped squirrels and water snakes have come out during the past week.

> "If February gives much snow,
> A fine summer it doth foreshow."

The valentine trade was poor this year as compared with former years.

Those who want something for nothing are the ones who support sharpers.

If you want to "flirt," call at the cigar case of Geo. Stevens'. He will post you.

Rev. W. S. Williams of Danvers, exchanged with Rev. Mr. Sprague last Sunday.

Gen. Sutton has contributed $100 to the Grand Army fair, to be held at Lawrence.

Edson & Co., had a handsome wild goose hung out from their door last Saturday.

The largest line of Ladies Wrappers can be found at Tarlton's, 42 Main street. *

As Washington's birthday occurred on Monday, the scholars got quite a little vacation.

We have not yet abandoned the habit of receiving money on subscriptions at this office.

Did you know that three years hence will begin the year 1889 with a total eclipse of the sun?

Mr. John Cahill is canvas sing for the Naumkeag Directory shortly to be issued by Mr. Meek.

Mr. Samuel C. Hunt, State inspector of public buildings and factories, was in town last week.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straigh at George Stevens'. *

Men's fine Veal Calf Bals, 4 and 5 wide, machine sewed, only $1.50 at Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store. *

Miss Jennie S. Tufts, teacher in the Bowditch school has been sick, and her place filled by Miss Lizzie Nichols.

We present our readers with another original story from the pen of an accomplished young authoress.

Mr. R. F. Dodge continues to serve his customers with the freshest and sweetest fish the market affords.

The only flag that was floated for George Washington in this town last Monday, was the storm signals.

Mr. John Daley, the lamp lighter, has bought a new horse, making two that are required in his business.

Our West Peabody correspondent does up the hearing in good shape, in fact turns the tail feathers close up.

Ames & Edgerly, the Walnut street provision dealers, are enlarging their store to accommodate increasing trade.

Saturn is now evening star. It is nearer to the earth than it will be in the next 30 years, so astronomers say.

Union Post 50 G. A. R. will hold a special meeting for the transaction of important business, Monday March 1st.

The Red Men meet this evening and Agawam Tribe of Danvers will send their degree staff to exemplify the work.

The PRESS is equipped to turn out first class mercantile printing of all kinds. Call and see samples and learn prices.

High-post bedsteads are being taken from their dusty hiding places and made to do duty again after many years.

Mr. Michael Cahill of this town died at his home on Spring street, last Wednesday, of consumption, at the age of 20 years.

A person who escapes a cold such weather as we have been having of late can consider himself one of the lucky ones.

An increase of 13 cents per cut has been made in the weaving room at Sutton Mills, and 15 cents at the North Andover Mills.

Mr. S. S. Littlefield, prophet of Masconomo Tribe of Red Men, represented his tribe in the Grand Council in Boston last Monday.

The checker games between Smith and Jackson for the championship of Peabody were won by the former, 16 to 2, with 2 draw.

The liquor interests in this town are busily at work securing names for the check list of those who are left off and will vote for license.

Mr. S. F. Blaney has been confined to his residence by sickness during the past week. He was taken while doing jury duty in Salem.

The "wooly horse" that did service in a Boston dime museum a short time ago, is now at work on the horse cars as a relief horse.

B. F. Stevens will receive orders for Clifford the paper hanger and painter. Secure him if you desire good work. *

To-morrow the Hardy property on Walnut street, will be sold at public auction by Charles Odell, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

It is rumored that Mr. E. W. Jacobs will be one of the firm to start up the old Jacobs factory as a morocco shop early in the spring.

A number of young ladies of this town are thinking of studying elocution with the idea of going on the stage. Go in and win, girls.

We learn that Mr. Jesse Smith the blacksmith, will occupy the vacant tenement at 34 Main street in the house with Dr. G. G. Weston.

Our columns are open for short communications from any of our subscribers. News of interest is solicited from all parts of the town.

Monkey heads now ornament the handles of the newest umbrellas for men. Fashion once in a while manages to have something appropriate.

Joseph Wiggin of Post 12, of Wakefield, is canvassing Peabody for the "Army Record," a paper published in the interests of the Grand Army.

Poultry netting is getting to be all the rage for hen yard. Samuel Trask has a large lot which he is offering at factory prices. Give him a call.

Have you heard the blue birds twitter in yonder tree-top? They tell us Spring is now sitting in the lap of Winter. May the "sit" be of long duration.

Single initial note paper is coming in again, and the single capital letter is quite a pleasant puzzle to find out what it really is, so curious is the formation.

Nugent Bros. invite all our readers

To call and see the goods they show,
Their motto it is "profits low;"
They will not press nor force to buy,
But all to please will kindly try.

Down, Down They Go.

CONSOLIDATION.

OF 30

DIFFERENT

LOTS

OF

Men'S and Young Men's strictly all wool Business and Dress Suits.

Nothing like it ever before known in this section of the State. Bargains that will please everybody. We have taken about six hundred Men's and Young Men's Strictly all Wool Suits, comprising checks, plaids, plain and fancy cassimeres, black, brown and blue whipcord worsteds, over thirty different patterns, all neat, stylish goods. We have consolidated them all into one lot and marked them down to

The uniform Price of only $10 per Suit.

Remember your choice from 600 suits, 30 different prtterns for only

TEN DOLLARS.

THE NAUMKEAG NEVER FORGETS THE BOYS.

We have selected from our stock about 500 boys' strictly all wool knee pant suits, ages 4 to 12, representing over 25 different styles in checks, plaids, fancy cassimeres, whipcord worsteds, velvets and corduroys, made and trimmed in the latest style—regular $5.00, $6.00, $8.00 and $10.00 suits. We have consolidated them all into three different lots, and marked them down to only $3.00, 4.00 and 5.00 each.

WINTER OVERCOATS.

REMEMBER.

We have commenced our last and final mark down sale of Winter Overcoats and Ulsters for Men's. Boys' and Children's wear. It will pay you to buy an overcoat at this great sale for another season, as you can save from $3.00 to $7.00 according to the quality of the goods. We are selling Men's all wool Indigo Blue Beaver Overcoats, warranted fast colors. for 6.00. Heavy all wool cassimeres, cheviots and whipcord worsted overcoats for $8 00 and $10. Elegant Kerseys and Meltons marked down to 12 and $15. Boys' all wool overcoats marked down from $5, 6, 8 and 10 to only $3, 5, and 6.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

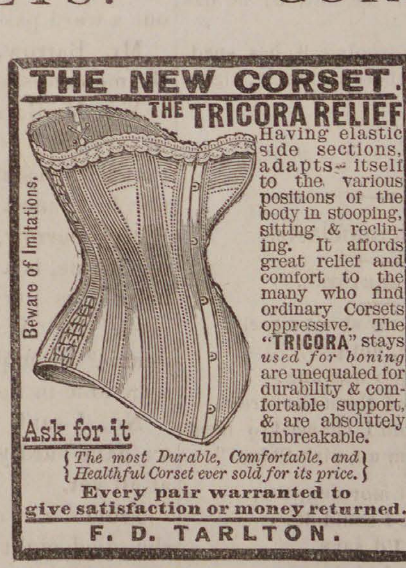
Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

F. D. TARLTON.

—DRY GOODS.—

CORSETS! CORSETS!



Beware of Imitations.

THE NEW CORSET.
THE TRICORA RELIEF
Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.
Ask for it
The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.
Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.
F. D. TARLTON.

We have on hand constantly all sizes of the Tricora Corset, every pair warranted. Look at our 50c make, best in the market for the price.

All sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOODS,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

Poet's Corner.

(For the Press.)

The Dying Pauper.

BY CHARLOTTE E. RICKER.

"You know where I want to be buried,"
She said with a pitiful moan,
And her mind I knew was wandering;
I had found her dying alone.
A white browed, haggard woman,
In an attic cold and grim—
The city surging by her—
My eyes grew moist and dim.

And I took her hand and held it,
And tenderly kissed her cheek,
And she tried to smile upon me
When I leaned to hear her speak.
"You know where I want to be buried,
Out under the sighing pines,
Where the wind comes down from the mountain,
And the Mayflower trails its vines.

And turn my face to the westward,
I would see the sun go down,
And the moon when she is southing,
And the mountains when they frown.
I would hear the cheery ripple
Of the river there below,
And the foot whose fall is music
Would pass my grave I know.

'You'll bury me there, dear, won't you?"
She said with an anxious gaze;
"My life has been so troubled,
I've trod such thorny ways.
Maybe I've been in error,
And blighted myself with a curse;
There's a terrible secret in living,
And life is 'for better or worse.'

Though I've tried, yet I never could reach it,
(It's a pitiful thing to confess)
But it may come to me over yonder,
This secret—they call it success.
And I'm tired, and I want my mother,
I've lived longer now than I ought;
And many's the time I've been tempted,
Forgetful of what I was taught,

To take a wee bit o' the powder
You'll find in the little chest,
It puts one to sleep so securely,
And sleeping, you know, means rest.
But someway, my angel mother,
She always took hold of my hand,
And my fingers grew unsteady,
And I thought she could understand.

That there might be wisdom in living
Even a life of pain;
And so I took up my burden,
And bore it along again.
But now, I know I am sent for!
Don't dear, don't sob and cry,
Living is harder than dying,
It isn't so hard to die.

And you know where I want to be buried,
Out under the sighing pine,
Where the wind comes down from the mountain,
And—she passed to the life divine.

* * * * * * *

I helplessly cried to the mighty,
To bury whom death had sealed,
And they gave her a white pine coffin,
And a grave in the potter's field.

Ills We Have Not.

When weariness with life my spirit fills,
When deep disgust consumes me with my lot,
I draw some store of comfort from the ills
I haven't got.

The common woes of life are bad enough,
Misfortunes fall as easy as the dew,
And still for every morning steak that's tough,
There might be two.

This one is sick; his wayward fate cries out
Against the leech, the calomel, the bed,
O, inconsiderate person, cease to pout—
You might be dead!

And this one hath the mitten; he has wooed;
Vainly, alack, his wooing it has sped.
Well—even in this there's comfort, rightly viewed,
He might be wed!

—Manhattan.

Modern Iconoclasts.

BY T. B. CHRYSTAL.

One morn I blacked my shoes myself,
For sake of exercise, not pelf,
And thought the job was fine;
But when I sauntered down the street
Each bootblack whom I chanced to meet
Yelled, "Shine 'em up, sir? Shine?"

I shaved myself that morning, too,
But just to see what I could do,
And not for what I'd save.
Unto a barber's then I hied
To get my hair cut, and he cried,
"I s'pose you want a shave?"

This world, wreck strewn by bitter blasts
Is full of these iconoclasts,
Who ever are inclined
To break the idols of our dream,
To smash our bump of self esteem
And spoil our peace of mind!

—The Judge.

In the Illinois State Assembly, a the last meeting, it was resolved to advise all Knights of Labor to vote against the "proscribed class" for political office. By the "proscribed class" lawyers are understood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured thousands of cases of rheumatism. This is abundant reason for belief that it will cure you. Try it.

Original Story.

(For the Press.)

Jennie's Valentine.

BY VELA VANCE.

It was in the little town of Norwich, England, when I became acquainted with the Spragues.

I had business with a friend practicing there and at his house I met Mr. Sprague and his gentle wife.

They lived in a neat little cottage covered with white and red roses in the summer. A cosy little home it was, indeed, and earned by Mr. Sprague's own labor. A few trees stood in front of the house and the little walk to the front door was bordered by little May's flower-beds.

My friend Dr. Warner asked me to call one evening as the Spragues were neighbors and intimate friends.

Accordingly after tea we crossed the street and opening the little gate walked slowly toward the house.

The lamps were lighted but the curtains were not drawn so we could easily see into the cheery little sitting-room. Mr. Sprague sat in his easy chair and his wife in her favorite rocker, while little May sat with her back to the window and both elbows on the table bending over some interesting book. Dr. Warren opened the front door and stepped into the little hall rather familiarly, but as they were evidently on very intimate terms I gave the circumstance but a passing thought.

On hearing the hall door open Mr. Sprague appeared at the sitting-room door, and cordially welcomed us in. We entered the little sitting room and joined Mrs. Sprague and May at the round table.

We were soon engaged in conversation, when the door bell rang violently and we heard the sound of retreating footsteps on the garden walk.

Oh, papa, Valentine's Eve, cried May as she slipped from the Doctor's knee and ran to the door.

We all looked up inquiringly as she entered the room with a large square bundle in her hand. For Miss May Alice Sprague, with Valentine's love, it said on the outside, and May's nimble fingers were soon tugging at the knots. Wrapper after wrapper was removed until a box was brought to view, the cover removed showed another box, the cover of which was also quickly lifted.

O-o-o-h, screamed May, a watch, mother. a teenty, tointy gold watch. See! and the delighted little girl held up her prize before our admiring eyes.

Well May, that is a valentine isn't it? Do you know who sent it, little one, asked the Doctor.

No; unless—do you suppose it came from — and she looked up at her mother as she hesitated.

Let me see the address dear, asked her father.

May tumbled over the pile of papers and at last found the outside one which she handed to him. He looked at the writing, and then without a word passed it to his wife.

Mr. Barrow, said Mrs. Sprague, the moment she saw the handwriting

Yes, Mr. Barrow, without a doubt, returned her husband, and I noticed that her eyes filled with tears as she met his glance.

Mr. Barrow, said our host turning to me, is a very dear friend who helped us very much in a time of need. Dr. Warren has told you of Jennie? he inquired, and I detected a tremble in his voice.

No, I said, we have been so busy we have hardly had a chance to talk at all yet.

Jennie was my oldest daughter, she died eight years ago. She was a very bright beautiful girl of sixteen, and everybody liked her.

I moved here in '66 and had just gone into business but was not fortunate that year, as some contracts I had taken proved to exceed the price I had anticipated. I had to raise some ready money so I mortgaged this little place. It was all I had then and I bought it with money I had saved while a journeyman.

But the payment must be made, so I mortgaged the place. I only borrowed the money for a year, as I was in hopes to pay it by another Summer. That fall while on a staging directing some of my men, the staging fell and I was precipitated to the ground. I sustained some pretty severe injuries and was laid up all that winter. In the spring I managed to get round by the aid of crutches and I was soon at work.

I got along well with my building, but was obliged to renew the mortgage for another six months, which would bring it into February. I had saved up $800 and was in hopes to have the other six before long, when the accident happened out here on the bridge. The track runs along by the foot of the garden you know, and just up above there is a switch for the freight to run to the mills.

Well, that day, Jennie had gone up to Stockbridge to her Aunt Mary's. It is only three miles out, and she was coming up in the six train. We were just sitting down to supper. Wife had just strapped May in her little high chair, and turned to the stove for the tea, when we heard the whistle of Jennie's train. At the same time, the freight train from below gave the three quick notes of danger, and wife and I reached the door just time enough to see the two engines come crashing into each other. The switch had not been turned, and the bend in the road prevented the engines from seeing each other.

Mr. Sprague's voice was husky, and the tears were stealing down the pale cheeks of the mother. The Doctor sat at the window with his face shaded by one hand, and the other held tightly between those of little May, who sat on a cricket with her head resting against his knee. After a short pause, as if gaining control of his feelings, Mr. Sprague continued:

I never want to see such a sight again; it was awful. My wife ran from car to car calling for our Jennie, and we found her at last under a heavy beam wrenched from the car as it fell over the bank, and which rested on her hip and right shoulder. She was unconscious and did not come wholly to herself for many days. She would pass from one fainting fit to another, and the Doctor (nodding to my friend) said she was hurt internally. However she slowly rallied; but she was never the bright healthy girl she was before. I tried everything, had doctors from London, and did everything in my power for our daughter, but they all said it would come sooner or later.

There were others hurt and some killed, and one man was brought here who had been struck on the head, producing a brain fever. So for a little time, our little house here was an hospital. We found from letters in his pocket, that the genman's name was Mr. Barrow, of London, and on telegraphing to his family, he was quickly provided with the best of care and a first rate nurse. He was not able to come down stairs for two months, and then Jennie was able to be moved on to the lounge in this room, so that we had two convalescents. Mr. Barrow was a middle-aged man, well educated and a good talker, so he and Jennie got along famously. At last early in December, he left for his home, promising to be with us by Valentines day. We were sorry to part with him for we had all become greatly attached to him.

After he had gone, and we had kind of got to rights again, I began to think what I should do for money to meet the mortgage. My wife cheered me, saying that we had two months left still and perhaps something would turn up yet. The New Year came and still I was no nearer getting the money then before. I borrowed the money of Lawyer Green, who lives down on Pine street you know, the big brown house on the right, close-fisted a man as ever stood. But he was the only one that would lend money there, and I was forced to take it of him.

Long in the middle of January, I had a job on the mill, and by the first of February I had all but four hundred dollars. I had friends from whom I might have got the money for a time, but I was proud and would not ask for it. On the 10th, Jennie received a note from Mr. Barrow saying he would be with us on the thirteenth. I carried the note into Jennie, and then went into the kitchen where my wife was preparing supper.

I have seen Lawyer Green, Maggie, said I, and he will not give me more time. He says he wants the money. She grew a trifle paler but said bravely:

Then we will take the house on Mill street, I saw was to let. The time will not be up until the 20th. We of course felt pretty downhearted when Mr. Barrow came on the thirteenth, and he saw Jennie had been crying. In the afternoon he went out to take a walk, he said, and he did not come back until after dark. He had settled himself with a paper, when the door-bell rang just as it did to-night. I went to the door, and although no one was in sight, I found a bundle on the step. I remembered it was Valentine's eve and brought the parcel into the room.

It was addressed to Jennie, and she sat on the lounge undoing the package until she came to a folded document in the last wrapper. She opened it and then handing it to me laid back on the lounge and began to cry. I quickly took the paper, and found it was the old mortgage cancelled, but by whom, I never found out although I always thought it was Mr. Barrow. I have learned since that he is a very wealthy man in London, and moves in the first circles. I prospered after that, but I lost my Jennie the next Autumn. She seemed to fade away so gradually that we did not realize it until long after she was gone.

Mr. Sprague stopped and I slowly raised my head to find that only he and I were in the room. Mrs. Sprague had left the room long before, and I had not heard the Doctor go out. I grasped the hand of my host in heartfelt sympathy.

Dr. Warren, your friend, he continued, was to have been my son-in-law. He proved himself a man to be trusted in those trying times, and there is not a man in the town whose friendship I value as highly.

I found the Doctor at the door silently smoking a cigar, and bidding our host good night, we again opened the little gate and crossed the street to the Doctors.

That was ten years ago, and yesterday I received the wedding cards of Doctor Gerald Warren and Miss May Alice Sprague.

MUSICAL NOTES.

A musicale was given last Thursday evening, by Mrs. Helen Culliton, at her residence on Lowell street. It was a very pleasant affair, and her elegant parlors were filled with invited guests. The programme included a madrigal by Miss Alice H. Nelson, Mrs. Ferguson, Messrs. Stanley and Martin, for the opening number; a bridal march for three hands on the piano, by Misses Nelson and Bartlett and Mrs. Culliton; songs by Miss Endicott, and Dr. Mitchell, of Boston, Frank W. Stanley and S. P. Chase of this town; Mr. Leslie Goldthwait played Beethoven's Sonata in G major; Master Hazen Quint played the Shepherd's Evening Song on the violin, to Mr. Goldthwait's accompaniment, and Richard A. Osborn, formerly of this town, gave a solo on the harmonica, Mrs. Ferguson accompanying him on the piano; a duet, "What makes the Spring," by Mr. and Mrs. Chase, was one of the pleasantest things of the evening's enjoyment, which closed with selections from the "Mikado."

The first concert of the season by the Salem Schubert Club, under the direction of Arthur Foote, was given in Plummer Hall last Wednesday evening. Quite a number of Peabody musical people are active members of the club this season—and the club has received other accessions in the way of membership. The chorus was prompt in response and careful in its renderings, as it has been since Mr. Foote has been the director. Bennett's cantata of the "May Queen," was given with the assistance of Miss Louise Gage, soprano, Geo. J. Parker, tenor, and Clarence E. Hay, bass. Previous to the cantata, the club gave several part songs and each of the soloists rendered selections. Mr. Hay has been heard by the club before—and always with satisfaction, and Mr. Parker is particularly happy in a hall of limited size. Miss Gage, who is the soprano of Dr. Ellis' church in Boston, and who is a stranger in Salem, created a favorable impression. Her voice is of good power, and artistically handled, but is anything but musical on the high notes. There was a good audience as is always the case at the concerts of this club.

Mr. Charles A. Clark, organist of St. John's church, will give a piano recital in Boston some time next month.

An exceedingly attractive concert will be given in Mechanic Hall, Salem, Monday evening, March 8th, under the auspices of the Young Men's Catholic Temperance Society of that city, for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum. Among the artists to take part are Mrs. Nellie (Boyle) Brady, Miss Sopha C. Hall and the Oxford Male Quartette of Boston. In addition to the worthy object, it will be a first class concert in every respect and worthy the patronage of our readers and the public.

Mrs. Fernald sings in Fitchburg, Mass., to-morrow evening, the occasion being a carnival by the Universalist church of that city.

The Baptist choir sang at the temperance meeting last Sunday evening, and the Salem Band Orchestra played a medley of airs from Moody & Sankey's books, giving good satisfaction to the audience, closing with the old processional hymn.

A song recital, illustrative of the leading composers, with a description of the style, manner and characteristics of the authors, will be given under the auspices of the Unity Club next month. Mrs. Ferguson has the matter in charge, and vocal numbers will be given by Frank W. Stanley, Miss Emma Rice and Mrs. J. P. Fernald.

The acoustic properties of the new hall of the Peabody Academy of Science are pronounced very fine. The seating capacity is 350—and the hall is lighted with the Edison Incandescent light. There was a full house at the chorister's concert there last week, Tuesday evening, and Miss Kehew again sang to a Salem audience—giving Gounod's Ave Maria with violin obligato by Bernhard Listemann.

Miss Edith Randall, sister of George Randall, formerly of this town, sang very acceptably last evening at a mass meeting in Quincy, under the auspices of the Mass. Women's Association.

Our readers will notice the announcement that the Bennett & Moulton Opera Company will come to Mechanic Hall next week, for one week, and Wednesday and Saturday matinees. They will play the Mikado Friday and Saturday evenings, and other operas during the week, as per advertisement. This company have been doing a tremendous business everywhere, and it will be necessary for our readers to obtain their seats early for any performance. The sale for the entire week opens Thursday morning at Luscomb's drug store.

After all, the days of the "Mikado" at the Hollis Street are numbered, and although the time of its withdrawal is not yet fixed, those who are to see it again should do so at once. "Nanon," by W. T. Carleton opera company, with new costumes and gorgeous scenery, is underlined to follow it.

Lydia Thompson of Burlesque fame is playing this week at the Bijou in a new opera entitled Oxygen, adapted by William Gill, the author of Adonis. She is supported by a large chorus of beautiful young ladies and a ballet, and it is probable that the Bijou will not be large enough to hold the audience that will gather at this popular house of amusement.

The Keynote of February 6th contains an interesting history of the firm of D. Appleton & Co., with a handsome full page supplement presenting the portraits of the founder, Daniel Appleton and his four sons. A few years since, Mr. W. W. Appleton, a son of William H. Appleton, while travelling in the South, one day purchased as a curiosity—because wretchedly printed on straw paper—a book published at Atlanta, Ga., during the war. It was "Joseph the Second and His Court." On reading it, he was struck by its elements of popularity, and decided that his house ought to publish it. It proved one of the great literary successes of the time, and was followed by a long series by the same author.

SUPPOSE the U. S. Senate discovers that President Cleveland has made his appointments of democrats because of their affiliation with that party, and removed republicans for the same reason. What of it? Isn't that what the Republican Senate expected he would do? Did they anticipate he would appoint republicans to office when there were so many of his own party who had been left 25 years out in the cold?

Unless there is some objection to a nomination made by President Cleveland, on account of unfitness for the office, it ought to be promptly confirmed. We think, on the whole, they will compare favorably with those of any previous president. To object to men on account of their being democrats is foolishness. If the republicans were in power to-day they would do the same thing with the democrats, for which they seem disposed to condemn the President. It is not to the credit of the Senators on the republican side of the house to be engaged in such quibbling. We venture to say that the President can stand it a deal better than the republican party.

The Knights of Labor, it is said exclude liquor dealers from the ranks of their organization. If this is a fact, it is indeed a gratifying one, and it is the strangest feature of the labor movement.—Boston State.

Yes, lawyers, gamblers and rumsellers are tabooed, and the laboring men seem quick to defend the justice of that classification.

Hall's Hair Renewer furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported.

A. B. & W.

To-day and Right Along.

Bankrupt Stock of Dress Goods and Linens, from Sheriff's Sale of Kaughran & Co., New York city.

CARPETS AND RUGS,

A full stock of New Goods, with a long list of bargains.

UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

Beautiful New Goods. Special prices on many popular things, including 2500 Window Shades of best American Holland, with Balance Roller, all made and ready to put up to any window—36x72 inches, at 37 1-2 cts. No special order can be taken at anywhere near this price.

Excellent values in Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Kid Gloves, Furs, Buttons, Ladies' Linen Collars and Cuffs. Laces, Art Goods, etc.

New stock of Small Wares and Toilet Articles.

Ladies' Hosiery—new stock and special values.

Corsets and Cotton Underwear. Items of special interest in stock and prices.

Unlaundered Shirts. A big sale open this week. Also Gents' Furnishings.

Domestics and White Goods, Cases and Bales of New Goods, with many bargains.

IMPORTANT LINEN SALE.

Our own importation. Many things not to be found elsewhere. Our prices the lowest.

CLOAK DEPARTMENT.

The last mark-down. Our Garments are Tailor fitted and thoroughly made.

DRESS GOODS

Spring and Winter—from lowest to highest cost. Special values and great bargains.

BLACK AND COLORED SILKS.

The last mentioned but of First Importance.

Thousands of Dollars. New Silks of the best American and Foreign manufacture, bought and imported direct.

Our Silk stock is not excelled by any other.

Our Grand Silk Sale has been running more than three months.

We intend to continue it at least till July 1st.

The above list of merchandise will be more fully set forth during the present week.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

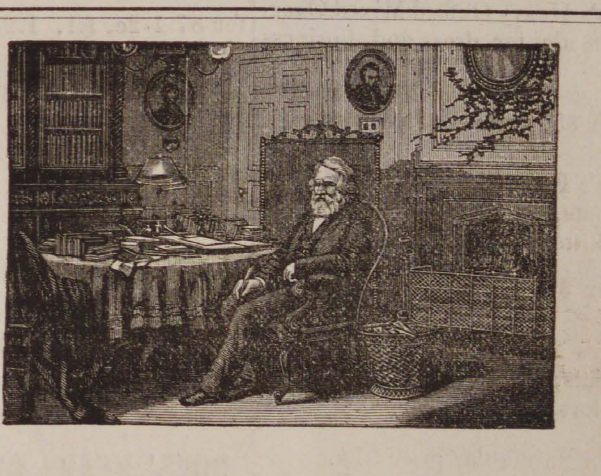
SALEM.

FIR BALSAM

FOR PILLOWS OR BEDS.

Fir Balsam direct from the woods of Maine. Unprepared 6 cts. per lb.; prepared 8 cts. per lb. A discount of 25 per cent. from these prices if bought by wholesale.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

SPAULDING'S SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier, 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

Notice is hereby given that meetings of the Board of Registrars for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote and for correcting the lists of voters, will be held in the Selectmen's room, Town House as follows:—

SATURDAY, Feb. 27th, from 5 to 9 o'clock P. M.

WEDNESDAY, March 3d, from 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 o'clock P. M.

Registration will cease on WEDNESDAY, March 3d, at 10 o'clock P. M.

Any qualified voter whose name does not appear upon the posted lists must appear before the Registrars in person and prove his or her claim to be registered. Females otherwise qualified to vote for members of the School Committee will be required to appear and be registered to be entitled to vote.

All persons desiring registration must be prepared to show a paid tax bill for 1884 or 1885, and if of foreign birth, their certificates of naturalization.

AARON F. CLARK, LYMAN OSBORNE, RICHARD LYONS, NATHAN H. POOR	Board of Registrar

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of Mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the first day of October, A. D. 1873, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 890, leaf 181, and by virtue of the further power of sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the administrators of his estate dated the ninth day of June, A. D. 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, Feb. 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land, being a part of the lands conveyed by said mortgage deed to wit:

A parcel of land situated in said Peabody on the northerly side of Walnut street, bounded thus, viz., beginning on said street at land of Joseph S. Hodgkins and thence running southeasterly by said street three hundred and ninety-eight feet to land formerly of Benjamin F. K. Jennings; thence northeasterly by said land formerly of Jennings, parallel to and eighteen inches distant; northwesterly from the northwesterly side of the planks at the westerly side of the canal which runs through said land formerly of Jennings, fifty-one feet and two inches; thence southeasterly by said land formerly of Jennings, twenty-five feet and nine inches; thence northeasterly by land late of Francis K. Pemberton, forty-nine and one-half feet; thence northwesterly by other land late of said Hardy and by land late of William Bushby, deceased, four hundred and seventeen feet and six inches; thence southwesterly by land of said Hodgkins, one hundred and four feet to Walnut street and point begun at.

Subject to all the reservations and conditions referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL. Treas.
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.
Peabody, Feb. 3, 1886 3t

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the twenty-seventh day of November, A. D., 1872, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 869 leaf 222, and by virtue of the further power of Sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the administrators of his Estate, dated the ninth day of June, A. D., 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, February 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land being a part of the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit:

A lot of land situated in said Peabody, on the southerly side of Walnut street, bounded thus viz: beginning on said Walnut street at land formerly of Clark and Giddings and thence running southeasterly by said street about three hundred and twenty-one feet; thence southwesterly by land lately of Elizabeth M. Lillis fifty feet; thence southeasterly by said land of Lillis forty feet to Wallis street; thence southwesterly by Wallis street, about one hundred and seventy-seven feet to the location of the Essex Railroad; thence northwesterly by said Railroad, location about three hundred and thirty-three feet to said land formerly of Clark and Giddings; thence northeasterly by said land formerly by Clark and Giddings to said Walnut street and point begun at. Subject to all the conditions, reservations and other stipulations referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer, also subject to the right to maintain a drain through the premises to the brook granted in the deed of John A. Lord to Elizabeth M. Lillis, recorded at said Registry, in Book 921 leaf 6.

Terms made known at sale,

ALBERT H. MERRILL. Treas.,
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.
Peabody, February 3rd, 1886

MORTGAGEE'S SALE,

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of mortgage given by ISAAC HARDY to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated the eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1871, and recorded at Essex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 815, leaf 22, and by virtue of the further power of sale contained in an Indenture between said Bank and the heir at law of said Hardy and the Administrators of his estate, dated the ninth day of June, A. D. 1885, and recorded at said Registry in Book 1151, leaf 62, said mortgagee will sell by public auction on the premises on Thursday, February 25th, 1886, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, the following described lot of land, being a part of the lands conveyed by said mortgage deed, to wit,

The tannery estate situated in said Peabody on the southerly side of a way called Hardy street, bounded thus, viz.: beginning at a point on said Hardy street one foot and six inches east of land late of William Bushby deceased, and thence running southerly parallel with the easterly line of said Bushby's land about one hundred and sixty feet to other land late of said Hardy formerly a part of the Wallis Mills estate; thence easterly by said land formerly the Wallis Mills estate, three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to land late of Francis K. Pemberton, deceased, thence northerly by land late of Pemberton and by land of Mayhew S. Clark, one hundred and sixty-five feet to Hardy street; thence westerly by Hardy street three hundred and thirty-eight feet and eight inches to the point begun at.

Also a right to draw water to said tannery estate from the fountain situated on the lot of land owned by John A. Lord situated on the lot of land on the northerly side of Hardy street known as the Pendar houses, as now used. Together with all the other easements and subject to all the incumbrances mentioned or referred to in said mortgage deed to which refer.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treas.
Of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.
Peabody, Feb. 3, 1886. 3t

PROBATE NOTICE,

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-law, and others interested in the Estate of MARY HORRIGAN, late of Peabody, in said county, widow, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Timothy T. Riordan, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county, on the first, Monday of March, next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.
feb 10—3t

GROUND OATS.

FOR new milch cows and growing animals, the best food obtainable. Being more flesh producing than fattening in its nature, it gives equally good results when fed to horses, cows or poultry. A fresh lot just received by

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,
126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions

We keep the Best of Meats-
Our Expenses are Light-
We sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.

TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.

(next to S. Trask's.)

PEABODY.

AT WHOLESALE.

PURE LARD,

In 3, 5, 10 and 50 pound Pails.

FOX'S SILKEN GLOSS STARCH

AND REFINED CORN STARCH,

SOAPINE.

Also a large stock of

Apples, Potatoes, Salt, Butter Eggs, &c.

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

REMOVED

— TO —

NO. 245 ESSEX STREET,

CREAMER BLOCK.

I have on hand a large stock of all kinds of Musical Goods.

Sheet Music, Books, &c., Pianos, Organs, Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Flutes, Accordeons, Harps, Harmonicas, Metromons, Tuning Forks, and Pitch Pipes.

A large stock of all kinds.
All the New Popular Music.
Litolff Editions of Standard Works.

E. V. EMILIO,

245 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER

AND

BLANK BOOK

MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

HALE'S BLOCK.

223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

WITH MAUD LORD.

Last Friday evening the writer with a company of about twenty ladies and gentlemen met at the house of a well known resident of Aborn street, and sat in a circle with the celebrated medium Maud Lord, who has been before the public for a number of years and is considered one of the best mediums in the country. After forming the circle, by alternating ladies and gentlemen and causing them to clasp hands, the light was removed and for nearly two and a half hours we sat there and each received more or less from the medium which seemed to please them. One lady recognized her departed husband, another a sister, and others near and dear friends, who had passed to "spirit life" in years gone by. There were many mysterious things happened and while the writer received but little to convince him that they were of supernatural origin, there were many others present who were convinced. Spirit hands were felt by nearly all, and some times they would strike the hand of a mortal so hard as to make a report. These hands would be felt in our own or on the arm or person. A guitar floated through the air discoursing music while a music box was passed from one to another playing all the time, and voices whispering to different ones were distinctly heard.

At one time the room would be filled with the perfume of some fine cologne, at another the fragrance of a bouquet of flowers impregnated the air. A fan fell from the hands of the writer to the floor, and as he stooped and raised it a few inches it was snatched from his grasp and he was fanned by it, while at the same time the medium was turned back toward him with her feet braced against those of another person with whom she was carrying on a conversation. A ribbon was taken from the button hole of a ladies' dress and put in the hands of another in another part of the room. One young man declared he saw forms materialize before him, and supernatural lights were frequently seen hovering around individuals and in different parts of the room. While the company were singing the familiar song "There are angels hovering round" and the medium was talking to a person on our right, a voice joined the others and sang very lustily and above them, and was recognized by a gentleman as that of his departed brother. Many questions were asked and answered and warning was given to some that dear friends were to be shortly taken from this world. Family affairs which had never been told to outsiders were brought up and advice giving concerning the best way of procedure, etc. Many messages were received and well known people were recognized by the voices before the names were given. As a whole the evening was passed in mystery and in such a way that it sets one to thinking about it and wondering what it is. We learn that Maud Lord intends to locate permanently in Washington, D. C., and it is not probable that she will again visit Peabody for many years. AN INVESTIGATOR.

Phosphates versus Manure.

At the 40th Institute meeting of the Essex Agricultural Society held in the Town Hall at Ipswich last week, James P. King, Esq., delivered his popular lecture on the use and application of Fertilizers upon the farms of Essex County. In the course of his remarks as reported in the Boston Herald he said, "He had used them (Fertilizers) for years with the best success; he believed them far superior to manure from the barn; he had also used quite as extensively guanos, hen manure and ashes; he did not think much of ashes; had used 100 bushels of hen manure mixed with loam to the acre. One quart to the hill, and that it was cheap for farmers to purchase at 30 cents per bushel."

We have attended school with him in the school house close by the "Old South Church," and during all these long years have never considered him capable of making quite so wild a statement as he is reported to have done at that Institute meeting, when he said that Phosphates were far superior as a fertilizer to animal manures. We have used guano and phosphates more or less to supplement a short supply of barn cellar manure; believing them to be more of a stimulant than a fertilizer. We cannot conceive how our friend King, with his life long practice, combined with his very extensive knowledge of farming, should allow himself to make such a statement.

Does he know of any land that has been manured with guano, or any of the many kinds of commercial fertilizers alone, for a series of years, then laid down to grass, that has ever produced a heavy crop of hay? That is where the test comes. We will admit that guano or the phosphates, will arouse the dormant energy of the soil, and cause it to yield a heavy crop for one season, but there it will end. Follow this course for a number of years, then sow the land down to grass, and see if you can get three tons of hay to the acre. We do not believe that guano (which we consider the best adjunct to animal manure that has ever been produced) the phosphates or even hen manure, will add practically to the soil. Fifty years ago, before these substitutes for manure were thought of, when my friend King and myself were boys, down on our knees for weeks at a time weeding onions, the land then produced bountiful crops of vegetables of all kinds, also hay, receiving as a dressing from six to eight cords of animal manure to the acre, spread broadcast and plowed in year after year. How is it now? Do those same fields with their dressing of guano, hen manure and the phosphates, produce such splendid harvests as they did in those days? Will my friend King please answer?

I do not wish to be understood as depreciating the value of any of the commercial fertilizers, as an adjunct to a small manure heap. I have seen splendid crops of potatoes grown on Peruvian guano alone, year after year on the same piece of land; when the field was sown down to grass the anticipated large crop of hay was not there. The guano had taken the life out of the soil. The field had to be turned over and dressed with animal manure to bring it back to its former state of fertility.

ONE OF THE FARMERS.

* * *

Last Saturday the Selectmen gave a hearing on the petition of W. T. Dole and others for widening Nichols lane, leading from Main street to Summer street. Mr. Dole said he thought the lane should be laid out 30 feet wide and graded, that as it was at present it was dangerous to public travel, and the street was filled with ashes and rubbish. There was not another short street in town that had so much travel. If he had the money that Dr. Osborne had, he would fix it himself. Dr. Geo. S. Osborne said that when the street was opened it was 12 foot wide, 2 feet was taken from the estate occupied by Mr. Thomas, and 10 feet from the Dr. Nichols estate now under control of Mr. S. F. Blaney. It was opened 100 feet for the purpose of a rear entrance to the estate. The rest of the way to Summer street was opened in 1825 and was wider. He said he was opposed to the opening of the lane as a street for several reasons, some public and some private. He did not consider public necessity called for it. It was not needed as a carriage road. He would like to have the land kept in better order, but thought that was the duty of the town not the abuttors. The damage to his estate would be very great, as the lot would be diminished to such an extent as to prevent his covering it with a store, as he had contemplated doing when the business of the town would warrant it. It would also injure his rear lot as the bakery was set there with large ovens that could not be removed. It had rented for $125 a year, and had just been let as a paint shop. He thought the town could not afford to pay what the damage would be to him. He hoped the Selectmen would not recommend the laying of it out as a street. He expected only just compensation not for the amount of land only but for the loss it would be to him to lose the front lot for store purposes. He should like to have the Baptist folks accommodated. He didn't think he was responsible for the condition of the lane, as he had protested against the collection of ashes, garbage and filth from a boarding house being turned into the lane, and was told by Mr. S. F. Blaney who represented the premises, that it was none of his business, and other remarks which he would not repeat were made in the usually violent style of Mr. Blaney. He thought the town would be justified in taking charge of it as a foot path and keeping it in good repair.

Mr. W. N. Osgood said he signed the petition and had in mind the improvement of the locality by a street in place of the barn. He did not understand there was opposition by the abuttors, and if the town had got to go to a large expense he was not in favor of it.

Mr. Daniel Woodbury wanted the Selectmen to view the premises before considering the subject; he thought it would be for other parties than the Doctor to say what his damages would be. He thought it would improve Mr. Osborne's back lot. The people who attend the Baptist church have to pass through this lane, or go up around by Park street. He did not care to say much till the Selectmen had viewed the premises.

Mrs. Bomer, an abuttor, was represented by counsel who opposed it. The decision of the Selectmen will be found in another column.

* * *

It is dangerous to tamper with irritating liquids and exciting snuffs. Use Ely's Cream Balm, which is safe and pleasant, and is easily applied. It cures the worst cases of catarrh, cold in the head and hay fever, giving relief from the first application. Price 50c.

From Major Downs, Sing Sing, N. Y.—I was suffering severely with catarrh. Ely's Cream Balm was suggested. Within an hour of the first application I felt relieved. Was entirely cured in a few days.—W. A. Downs.

THE RAYMOND & WHITCOMB EXCURSIONS TO THE PACIFIC COAST.—Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, the well known excursion managers, have just issued their prospectus of spring trans-continental trips. These excursions differ in plan from the winter trips, inasmuch as they provide for a more extended sight-seeing round. There will be three grand tours, the dates of departure being April 22, April 29 and May 6. All three parties will visit Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, and Southern California on the outward trip, and later on sojourn at both San Francisco and Monterey. There will also be ample time in each case for visiting the Yosemite Valley and Big Trees. Two of the parties will return from San Francisco through Nevada, Utah, Colorado and Nebraska by the most picturesque routes, and the third will make a further round through the Pacific Northwest, visiting Astoria, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, and Victoria, B. C., before journeying eastward on the Northern Pacific Railroad through Oregon, Washington Territory, Idaho, Montana, the newly created Territory of Lincoln (formerly Northern Dakota), Minnesota, etc. In connection with the last-mentioned excursion, side trips may be made to Alaska and the Yellowstone National Park. Circulars giving full details of the several trips may be had by addressing W. Raymond, 296 Washington street (opposite School street), Boston

* * *

In the account of the Poor family reunion recently published, is the following obituary of interest to our citizens:

Joseph Poor died in Peabody, Mass., Aug. 16, 1884. He was of the sixth generation in the family of Daniel Poore one of the immigrants who settled in Andover, Mass., and a grandson of Joseph, the first in his line who came to South Danvers (now Peabody) and his grandfather, father, he, his children and grandchild five generations, have been successful manufacturers of leather.

Besides his private business he filled many trusts conferred upon him by the community, both in town and Church, and was looked up to as one safe to follow until the end of his life of nearly fourscore years.

Eliza (Munroe) the wife of his youth survive him and of eleven children five are living, viz; Sarah, the eldest of their six daughters, Leverett, Geo. H., Albert F. and Joseph H.; of their sixteen grandchildren, all but two are living, and of their three great grandchildren, two are living.

* * *

Probably it will not be long now before a lot of land will be selected for a truant school, and the matter laid before the county commissioners. Messrs. Colby and Raymond of the board are looked upon as opposed to locating the school in Lynn or in fact of erecting it at the present time. Mr. Bishop favors an immediate location of the school in this city.—Lynn Union.

Does the Union mean that the people of Lynn purpose establishing the truant school for the county commisioners? Aren't the latter body to have anything to say in the matter?

* * *

It is a matter of regret that in introducing Hood's Sarsaparilla its proprietors are obliged to overcome a certain distrust by some people who have unfortunately bought worthless compounds mixed by persons ignorant of pharmacy. Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co. are reliable pharmacists of long experience and they make no claims for Hood's Sarsaparilla which cannot be substantiated by the strongest proof. And we say to those who lack confidence, read the unsolicited testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and then prove its merits by actual personal test. We are confident you will not be disappointed, but will find it a medicine of great value, which can be implicitly relied upon. 100 doses $1.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2ae

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS,

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

SWEARS;

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2,85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3 50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, "	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, "	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, "	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every customer, "Out of your size," "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way. We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE,

LYNN, MASS.

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE,

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,

REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

FOR SALE.

THE REAL ESTATE

Of the late Franklin Osborn, situated on

FOSTER, OAK AND WINTER STREETS,

53,000 feet of Land, Three Dwelling Houses and other Buildings.

Apply to

F. OSBORN, Jr., & CO.

feb 10—tf

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principe, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

10 Cent Cigars.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

Special Bargains

— AT —

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store,

Children's Grain Button, solid leather, only	65c
Children's Kid Button, 7 to 10 1-2 only	90c
Children's Rubber Boots, fleece lined first quality, only	$1.00
Children's Lace School Shoes,	50c
Misses' Grain Button, sizes 1 and 2,	60c
Misses' Kid Button all sizes,	$1.00
Misses' Slippers,	20c
Ladies' Glove Buskins, wool lined,	60c
Ladies' Serge Buskins, all sizes,	30c
Ladies' Tip Congress,	75c
Ladies' Grain or Kid Button,	$1.25
Ladies' Hand-sewed Congress, only	75c
Ladies' Goat Button, common sense, only	$2.00
Men's Veal Calf Bals, Tap Sole, only	$1.25
Men's Carpet Slippers, only,	40c
Men's Veal Calf Button, 4 and 5 wide only,	$1.50
Men's Fine Sewed Calf Boots, only	$2.50
Men's Harvard Ties, only	60c
Men's Fine Calf Button, Bals and Congress, only	$2.50
Boys' Kip Boots, only	$1.50
Boys' Veal Calf Bals, solid, only	$1.25
Boys' Button Boots, solid, only	$1.25
Youths' Kip Boots, solid, only	$1.35
Youths' Bals, solid, only	$1.00

If you desire a first class Shoe Polish, we would be pleased to have you give our Myrbane Shoe Polish a fair and impartial trial, feeling that if you purchase one Box you will in the future use none other; every box warranted, and your money will be refunded if not satisfied. 5, 10 and 15 cents per box.

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

THE REPORT of the Legislative Committee on towns, in the case of Beverly, being favorable to the division of the town, the matter will come directly before the Legislature. If the case is properly and fairly presented, and if different localities, favoring division, have not traded with each other, there may be wisdom in transferring the contests for division from the committee to the Legislature itself.

The spirit of Massachusetts Legislatures, in times past, has been against the multiplication of towns. We think this is the prevailing temper now. For the past two years the petitions for division have so overwhelmed the committee on towns, that some decided stand should be taken by the Legislature regarding them.

It has come to pass, when the wealthy and aristocratic people of large cities of our State build summer residences, or even permanent residences by the seashore or in the country;—when these places have become sufficiently populated to warrant it, that a desire is manifest to be made a separate township. There is but one great argument put forth in each and every case—that taxes are too high. That by forming new towns, the expenses will be lighter and taxes will be less.

This is undoubtedly true. If Beverly Farms is set off, the taxes of the wealthy owners of these elegant residences will be reduced. If Marblehead is divided, or if Hopedale is set off from Milford, the same result will undoubtedly be brought about. But who is benefited? The towns of Beverly, Marblehead and Milford will not suffer a diminution, but a probable increase in rates of taxation, so that it is the large tax payers, the wealthy owners of large amounts of property, who receive the benefit, while the laboring man, who owns a little home and by the very closest economy is enabled to pay the comparatively small tax put upon it, is compelled to pay a heavier tax that these large tax payers may add still further to their incomes.

Take the town of Nahant, or instance, which was set off from Lynn. Its rate is $5.50, and Swampscott, another offshoot, has a rate of $9.00, against $18.50 in the city of Lynn. About the same ratio holds true in Wellesley, in Belmont, and other towns. People who own large amounts of property hie to these places to be taxed; taking so much more from other places, and increasing the burdens of those towns which in many cases have all they can bear. It fosters an unequal distribution of burdens. The poor man is taxed higher—and he can scarcely pay his tax now. The rich man has his tax reduced—and he can in many cases better afford to have it doubled than the daily toiler can to have five mills added to his tax.

The argument, that we have so often heard, that the residents of these sea coasts and suburbs pay for much that is not needed, but that is needed in the populous parts, ought to have been exploded long ago. In the first place, even if it were true, and it may be in some cases, they can well afford to do so. The burdens and taxes of a town should be shared by all alike. It is not a new thing in taxation for the taxpayer to be levied upon for what is not a direct benefit to him. We have shown time and again, that it is the tax from the rich man which sends the children of the poor man to school. Yet the poor man pays all he can—and is taxed as much in proportion. The rich man finds no fault in this latter case, because it is fixed by the laws of the state. In the former case, he sees a prospective relief in a petition for division sent to the Legislature.

There is another thing to be said. Most of these petitioners for division are not native born citizens of the town in which they now reside. They are strangers and foreigners, in the sense of not being to the manor born. They seek to divide a town against the desires of those citizens who hold sacred every nook and corner of the old town which has been their abode and that of their fathers. The Beverly Times strikes the right chord in regard to these people when it says:

> They will range over the old world and the new in search of fresh pleasures. They have no abiding place, and have not the same abiding interest in the town as we, to the manor born. Here we were born and cradled. The associations of boyhood and youth, of relatives and friends, cover the whole town. Our residents have bought the right to use and enjoy. But there is something here that they have not bought. The stamp of the Almighty is upon these scenes—on rocks and hills, on field and meadow, on winding roads and shady lanes, on the murmuring woods and the sounding sea. We love these scenes. We enjoy all this beauty. Let us feel that there is a sense in which these are still ours, our inheritance, our birthright.

We hope our Legislature will frown upon this attempt at division of towns, which is becoming almost as much of a nuisance as the tinkering of the Liquor Law. A statute should be enacted forbidding, in any case, divisions of towns, unless ratified by the voters. As it is now, the Legislature has power to make such division, even against the wishes of the citizens. Who believes that Milford, or Beverly, or Marblehead and other places, would be divided, if left to the decision of a popular vote? No attempt would have been made in such a case. The hope of the petitioners is in success against the popular will, and by the use of money to bulldoze our Legislature.

* * *

WE UNDERSTAND that the Firemen's Relief Association will ask the town to allow them the use of the large Town Hall, one night in the year, free of expense. There should be no opposition or objection to the granting of such a request.

This association has for its object the relief of members who are disabled in any manner from injuries received at a fire. Such a fatality is liable to come upon any member at any time; and it is very commendable in the firemen to favor such an organization, and take upon themselves the responsibility of relieving the sufferings of their brother members.

In consideration of this fact, and the small pay allowed for their services, the least the town can do is to aid them in any way possible in increasing the permanent fund of the Relief Association. This fund they purpose to increase by giving some sort of an entertainment once a year, and for this purpose they will ask the town to aid them by allowing them the free use of the hall.

And by this we understand that they are willing to pay for heating and lighting. In other words, they wish to hire the hall at the price the Selectmen have taken the responsibility to allow its use for Temperance lectures—$12. The Board would not take the responsibility of letting it to the Firemen's Relief Association at that price—the temperance people are the only persons who are allowed that privilege—so the town will be appealed to at the coming town meeting. That the privilege will be granted is beyond question.

It may be said that if the hall is let to the Relief Association, other charitable associations should have it also. Very well. Let the doors be open. There ought, of course, to be a limit to the privilege. But if every charitable society in town had the hall at the temperance price, one night in the year, the town would be none the poorer and a great help would result. It is a deal better than allowing the hall to remain closed, as it is at the present time, and the income would be equally as large.

* * *

WE DO not purpose to tell our readers how they ought to vote at the coming election on the question of "license or no-license" in this town. They have seen two years of no-license here, and are familiar with what has been done.

The question is just here: are they satisfied with the present condition of things, or do they desire a change? A change means the opening of all the saloons on Foster street, from the hotel to Hayes' place; and the opening of all the other saloons so familiar to the citizens of this town. Do our citizens wish this change? That is all there is to the question of whether a citizen shall vote yes or no on the license question.

Peabody stands in a peculiar position. Prohibition does not prohibit in Massachusetts in general. But it does prohibit in Peabody. A yes or no vote means the opening of the saloons or keeping them closed. Which will you vote for?

* * *

Elbridge G. Kelly s on a visit to Worcester.

Lecture by John B. Finch.

Another large audience assembled in Town Hall, last Sunday evening, to hear Hon. John B. Finch on "License or no-license, which?"

Mr. Finch began by saying that if the subjects of Russia desired a change in government or the overthrow of an obnoxious system they had two methods: one by petition to the Emperor praying, as subjects, to be relieved of the burden; if he listened the reform might be accomplished; if the prayer was denied, there was another remedy left, rebellion. Petition or rebellion were the only remedy for reform in a despotic government. But in a government like ours, the only path to reform is in an appeal to the intelligence of the people. In no other country would a meeting like this be possible. In the State of Massachusetts, if we wish to destroy an obnoxious custom, we summon the voters. Every voter is a citizen soldier bound to investigate all public questions, and at the town meeting to deposit a freeman's ballot—his opinion on all public matters.

Every right takes with it an obligation and a corresponding duty. If we lived in a monarchy the right to govern would take with it the duty to govern and to govern well. If the duty exists in a monarchy, it surely behooves us to do equally well in a country like this. An election is the method of determining issues, when the voters are called upon to pass their opinion upon matters pertaining to the welfare of the State. This is what we are here to discuss to-night. This is why the temperance people ask that the dram shop be absolutely prohibited in the town, the State and the nation.

The speaker said if certain chemical compounds are put in certain conditions there must be a breaking up of old forces and new ones result. As for instance: you put gunpowder and fire together. So in the social world, given certain social conditions and there must be a breaking up of old forces and the formation of new ones. It cannot be prevented. In this nation, these three things were true: All government rests on the consent of the governed; all men are created free and equal; God is our Father and all men are our brothers. Now put against this a system that denied all this, and we had a condition of things that statesmen like Webster and Calhoun and others tried to harmonize in vain—tried to keep these issues suppressed. Of what avail? It fell before the fact that all compromise with wrong results in disaster, and our boys resting under the sod at the South are one result of the wipening out of this force.

This is true of the reform we are considering. The temperance movement grew out of the dire agony of the people—out of suffering of wives and children. There can be no temperance movement without drunkard's wives. In ancient civilization such a movement would be an impossibility. This the speaker illustrated by reference to some characteristics of the Chinese, which were an entire lack of fraternity and brotherhood, growing out of their religion, and contrasted it with the heroic conduct of some firemen in New York, whom he had seen rescue a woman from the highest story of a burning building, and was led to thank God that he lived in a civilization where one man could die for his brother. Out of this civilization the reform comes. It is our duty to help our brother up. The system of dram shops is attacked solely on account of its products and results. There was a time when liquor selling was associated with dry goods, and was incident to other business, when merchants made their money out of other sales than liquor, but to-day there are 226,000 men whose whole business it is to sell liquor—dependent upon such sales for profit, so that drunkard making becomes a science. Our attack is made not on the grog shop on account of its name, but its results. We ask you to believe that a minister is just as good as a whiskey seller, so long as he behaves himself. Suppose a preacher should ascend your pulpits and preach the doctrine of free love, a doctrine that would debauch your girls and ruin your homes. What would you do with such a minister? If there was no law, you would get a rail, a bucket of tar, and then hunt for a goose. If crime is not to be retailed from the pulpit, how can you make it a social virtue? Why is it a greater crime for a minister to debauch society than for the liquor seller to ruin the homes? If it is a crime for a minister, why license another man to do the same thing?

The speaker would have a man tried for his acts. America is noted for its protection to strangers. The speaker was not a voter in Peabody, but he was just as safe in these walls as his brother; but if going out of the hall he should kill someone, he would be arrested and his brother allowed to go home. He would be arrested not because of his name or profession, but because of his acts. As society deals with a man so it deals with trades. Suppose a man comes to your town, purchases a house or shop and makes of it a slaughter house. When spring comes, and the bad odor begins to come forth, the authorities say to this man, "you must clean it up." The man says he bought the place, it is his, his money is all invested here, he pays his taxes, and to remove it will ruin him. The town says it has no fault to find with the owner, but the place smells bad. It has become a public nuisance. There is no principle better established than the right to worship God according to our own conscience, yet there is one church in this country that must be cut out. Why? It is just as right for a man to be a Mormon as a Methodist. Because the latter wills to commit a social crime. This is why it is on trial.

Now we ask you to try the dram shop in this way—for what it has done, for the record it has made in years gone by. If we believe it makes men and women better, it is our duty to talk and work for it. If its tendency is to injure men and women and to stimulate vice, the man who votes to license and evil like this is a traitor to his fellow men. We object to the business because its record is bad. We do not object to the liquor seller on account of his name or clothes, but because of his parasitic condition—living on the earnings of others. As he wears good clothes his customers are in rags. As his boy spins the top or coasts with his sled, the boy of his customer is starving. The speaker was talking with a prominent leader of the Knights of Labor in regard to their non-affiliation with rumsellers. The Knight replied: "We don't want or expect saints in our order, but God helping us, we will have men." Too lazy to work, the liquor seller will wait for men who do work to come and spend their earnings. Do not try the system except for what it has done. Search the records of the police court. Try it as a man. Do not let it come the baby act. Two years ago, here, it was condemned as a criminal. Yet staying here, trying to be a rebel, among people where it was not wanted, it has the cheek to come and ask you to be a partner in its deviltry.

It is said that it will build up the town, it will stimulate business. Well, what is a town? It is an organization of ethical, reasoning human beings. We don't organize a town out of trees, but out of men, women and children, for their own individual advancement. The character of a town depends on the character of its men, women and children. Anything that makes them better makes the town better. Fill it with temperance men who spend their money to buy pictures, read books and educate their children and what kind of a town have you? On the other hand license a man to take part of the money that ought to go to educate families—where money is spent in bar rooms that ought to buy dry goods, clothing and fuel, and you have a town that Satan would not pre-empt. Is the dram shop customer the merchant's best customer, or the jeweler's? The liquor dealer sells for cash, the dry goods merchant trusts. If such things benefit a town it is a kind of political economy which he was never taught.

The speaker then answered the argument that it is sold elsewhere, why not here, by referring to the danger to young men of treating. That this social custom makes more drunkards than anything else. If the grog shop is removed what becomes of this custom? Is it said it will be sold in drug stores? It was not the experience of the speaker that all men were rascals. If sold there it is sold out of sight. Isn't that romantic? It will ruin lots of men. It may be sold in low dens. Isn't that high toned? Won't it catch the boys?

The fact is when you have stripped the respectability from liquor selling, the old men who have become habitual drinkers may take desperate steps to obtain liquor, but when you say that the bright boys will do what they do not want to do, just for the sake of drinking, the speaker did not believe it. When you say that people who are not confirmed drinkers will go miles to obtain a glass of liquor, you insult the intelligence of this community. The speaker closed with several pertinent anecdotes of the suffering entailed upon the wives and children of the drinker, and appealed to the citizens, for the sake of these babes and women who could not plead for themselves, to vote so as to remove the grog shop entirely from their midst.

* * *

Another story is being added to Mrs. Clement's carriage house.

J. Arthur Trask, it is rumored, will reside in future on Franklin street,

C. A. Weare Esq., has gone to Maine on a business trip of about a week.

Jordan Lodge F & A. M. have changed their lecture night from Friday to Wednesday night.

A gravel train is now running between Lynnfield and East Boston on the Boston & Maine R. R.

Mr. John H. Tibbetts is making improvements at his restaurant and putting in a new dining table.

Some one removed the scarlet fever sign from the house 54 Fulton street, and the police are investigating it.

The estate of Humphrey McCarthy on Aborn street has been purchased for $1700, by T. A. Devine of Salem.

The G. A. R. Post will net about $1825 at the fair, and the Woman's Relief Corps $350. A full report will be given next week.

A grand camp fire is to be held by Union Post 50 next month. The Salem Brass Band has also been engaged by the Post for Memorial Day.

A new foundation has been placed under a portion of Wilcox's grocery store at the corner of Walnut and Wallis streets. It was much needed.

There is no truth in the rumor of the purchase of the house on the corner of Central and Walnut streets by the Boston & Lowell R. R.

Alden Waite has in possession a squash of the Hubbard variety which was raised year before last and is in a good state of preservation.

The Vaughn Morocco Machine Company have established a branch establishment in England, and will shortly ship a number of machines.

The two upper classes of the Wallis school, accompanied by their teachers and some of the parents, will visit the Cyclorama of the Battle of Gettysburg next Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary J. West, widow of the late Matthew C. West, formerly of this town, died yesterday in Danvers, where she has lately resided. She leaves a large family of grown up sons and daughters.

Mr. Ira Vaughn is in Philadelphia, setting up three of the putting out machines of the Vaughn Morocco Machine Company, in that city. They had two of the machines and they worked so well three more were ordered.

The Salem Telegram is having quite a boom in this town. It is represented by Mr. John Holley, who is courteous and polite, and particular not to force his private opinions on the public in an offensive manner. He is the best correspondent the Telegram ever had here.

PEABODY.

Mr. James O'Toole leaves town for Ireland to-morrow.

Mr. James Buxton, of this town, is a member of the staff of Com. Norris, of the new military order of the Odd Fellows of Salem.

Thomas Sweeney lost a valuable shepherd dog last night of the new dog disease, and John Nugent lost a pup from the same disease valued at $50.

Dr. G. M. Frost, President of the Ober Ventilator Company, accompanied a party of railroad people to Nashua, N. H., and return, yesterday. They were inspecting the invention.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others.

It is said in one section of our town when the flood was at its highest, a prominent physician was seen to enter a house by the second story window. A boy baby was born about this time.

As far as we can learn from every source but personal acquaintance, if a man is bitten by a mad dog and doesn't know it, he doesn't catch hydrophobia. This is worth knowing.

Ray & Murray have hired the old bakery on Nichols' lane for a paint shop and will engage in that business. They have been in the employ of Mr. Blaney for several years.

All doctors agree that to enjoy good health the mind must be kept in a cheerful condition. But as one paper puts it, no doctor can give a man points that will make him joyous when his collar doesn't fit.

Go to Nador's on Saturday, for best molasses chips, 20 cents a pound. This is the only place in Lynn where pure candies are made. They manufacture all their goods. Remember the place, 45 Market street, Lynn.

The medical fraternity are now busily engaged in debating on the good and bad results arising from chewing gum. Meanwhile the feminine world stands expectantly by awaiting the decree that shall make or mar their happiness for life.

Geo. E. Pearson, the well known shoe dealer of Salem, has one of the finest stocks of boots, shoes and rubbers to be found in this vicinity. His prices are always right, and it will be to the advantage of our readers to give him a call.

Hallowell & Smiley have received a car load of flour direct from the mill, and are thus enabled to sell it for $6.25 per barrel which is below all other competitors. The flour is warranted strictly first class. Smaller quantities proportionately cheap.

A gentlemen on Central street, who has about forty hens, has been considerably exercised of late over the mysterious death of a number of fowls. Monday, he found the cause, it was a weasel. The animal made a hole in the neck of the fowl and sucked the blood.

The public schools, banks and some of the stores celebrated the birthday of the "father of his country" on Monday. It was a kind of semi-holiday. The post office and public library were closed. The horse cars had a large travel and the weather was fine.

Jeremiah Logan, who has been in the employ of A. F. Clark for several years as teamster, died at the home of his mother, on Midway street, last Thursday, of spinal meningitis. He was a steady young man and had many friends. His age was 26 years 11 mos. 18 days.

The Signal Service Corps says there is another blizzard working this way from the northwest, and that it will equal in severity any we have yet had, but be that as it may, the Naumkeag Clothing Company are offering in their new adv. astonishing bargains, blizzard or no blizzard.

Mr. Charles Simonds has left with us copies of several old papers. The Essex Register of Aug. 27, 1808; The (Boston) Weekly Messenger of July 30, 1813; Essex Register of Nov. 24, 1810; Salem Register June 23, 1806; Salem Register Nov. 8, 1802. They are quite interesting and well illustrate the spirit of the times.

Any of our lady readers who go to Boston will find it they want anything in the line of artists materials or nicknacks, fancy pottery etc., that they can buy better goods at lower prices of C. J. Edmands, 12 Bromfield street, than in any place in Salem or this vicinity. Cut this out for future reference and you will remember the number.

Company D, 1st Heavy Artillery held a reunion at the Lafayette House, Salem, Monday, and supper was served at 6 o'clock. This association has no officers and only an executive committee of three. Among those present from Peabody, were Frank E. Farnham, Frank W. Taggard, Caleb Foote, S. M. Dalton, and Arthur Poore.

The Prohibition Party State Committee hold their monthly meetings in Boston which are open to the public. The next one will be on Monday, March 1, 1886, at 1.30 P. M. in Chapel Hall, Tremont Temple, when Rev. J. W. Hamilton of Somerville will deliver an address. This is an opportunity for all to post themselves on Prohibition politics.

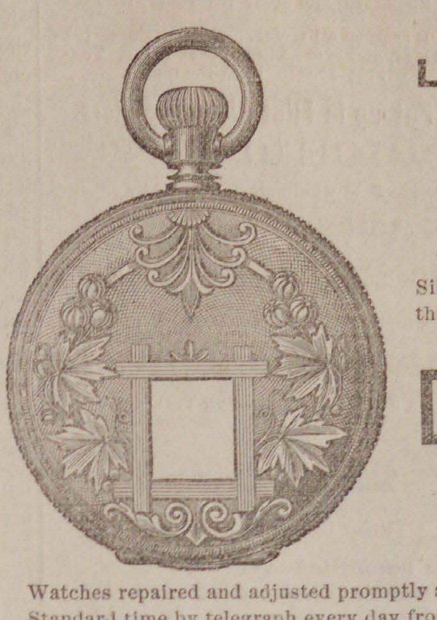
The Peabody W. C. T. U. propose to repeat their action of last year in establishing a "Women's Polls" in the basement of the Town House and urging all women of legal age to personally, or by the hands of a trusty carrier vote on the liquor question. More than two hundred thus expressed an opinion last year, and it is expected that this informal vote will this year be much larger.

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning.

W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.
Open Every Evening.

AMERICAN WATCHES
AT THE LOWEST PRICES.
DANIEL LOW'S,
SALEM.



LADIES'
GOLD
WATCHES.

We can show a fine line of Gold and Silver watches and sell them much less than Boston prices.

Daniel Low,
SALEM.

Watches repaired and adjusted promptly and at reasonable prices. Standard time by telegraph every day from Cambridge.

New Advertisements.

JAPANESE WEDDING

— AND —

DANCE

In aid of the

LADIES' BENEVOLENT SOC.

Will be given

THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 25,

— AT —

Town Hall, Peabody,

Admission—Ceremony, 25 cts., Dance, 50 cents.

Doors open at 7, commence at 7.30.

Tickets for sale at the door.

MECHANIC HALL,

ANDREWS, MOULTON & JOHNSON, Managers

One week commencing March 1.

YOU ALL REMEMBER US.

The originators of first-class Comic Opera at the People's Prices of Admission,

10 and 20 Cents,

Reserved Seats 10 cents, extra.

For sale at W. E. Luscomb's Drug Store.

10,000 People attend our Performances every week.

SEVENTH ANNUAL TOUR,

Bennett & Moulton's
COMIC OPERA COMPANY.

40 PEOPLE 40

Our Orchestra and Brass Band.

REPERTOIRE.

Monday,	Olivette
Tuesday,	Girofle Girofla
Wednesday,	Pirates of Penzance
Thursday,	Chimes of Normandy
Friday,	Mikado
Saturday,	Mikado
Wednesday Matinee,	Mascot
Saturday Matinee,	Mikado

New Scenery, Costumes, Properties, etc.
Horse cars at close of performances.
Sale of tickets opens Thursday, Feb. 25.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Devisees, Legatees, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of CHARLES BROOKS, late of Peabody, in said county, currier, deceased, testate:

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration with the will annexed on the estate of said deceased, not already administered, to Charles H. Brooks, of Peabody, in the county of Essex; said Brooks praying that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond, (Lucinda Brooks, the administratrix with the will annexed of said estate, having deceased). You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the third Monday of March, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said Charles H. Brooks is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

feb 24—3t

CABINET ORGAN
FOR SALE.

George Woods, maker; 9 stops, 4 sets reeds; an excellent instrument and in good condition.

— AT —

GOULDING'S
FURNITURE STORE.

RAYMOND'S
VACATION
EXCURSIONS.

All travelling Expenses Included.

Parties will leave Boston Thursday, April 22, and Thursday, April 29, for a Tour of 59 Days through

Colorado & California

With halts at Chicago, Las Vegas, Hot Springs, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Los Angelos San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Manitou, Denver, etc., and daylight trips over the Sierra Nevada and through the most picturesque regions of the Wahsatch and Rocky Mountains. Incidental trip to the Yosemite Valley and the Big Trees.

A Party will leave Boston Thursday, May 6, for a Tour of 65 days over the same route through COLORADO and CALIFORNIA, thence through the Picturesque Regions of the

PACIFIC NORTHWEST,

And homeward over the Northern Pacific Railroad, this part of the trip including Oregon, Washington Territory, Puget Sound Vancouver Island, Idaho, Montana, Lincoln (Northern Dakota), and Minnesota, with halts at Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Lake Minnetonka, &c. Incidental trip (in connection with all three excursions) to the Yosemite Valley and Big Trees; side trips, if desired, to Alaska and the Yellowstone National Park.

In addition to the above. parties will leave Thursday, March 11. for California (last trip on Winter itinerary), and on same date for Mexico (second and last excursion in special train of Pullman Hotel Cars).

W. RAYMOND: I. A. WHITCOMB.

☞ Send for descriptive circulars.

W. RAYMOND,
296 Washington opp. School St.,
BOSTON.

NOTICE LADIES.

The Right Place

For all kinds of MILLINERY is at

Mrs. J. H. Browne's
153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

All our present stock of

HATS, BONNETS & MILLINERY GOODS

will be closed out at a big bargain, as we wish to make room for our Spring Goods.

N. B. We have the best Kid Gloves in the city for 89 cents, worth $1.25.

We have just received a new lot of Hair goods which will be sold at low prices. Switch Crimps, etc.

PAVILION BUILDING,
153 & 155 ESSEX STREET,
SALEM.

IF YOU DESIRE
A MEDICINE

To regulate and build up your system and purify the blood of all poisonous humor use

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE
FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Feb, 24, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

The Selectmen voted last Saturday that the Salem & Danvers Street railroad Company be authorized and empowered to enter upon and use with its horses and cars the track of the Boston & Lynn street railway coming from the square through Main, Washington and Lynn streets to Lynnfield street, and that said company be granted the location on the southerly side of Lynnfield street to the Lynnfield line. The exact location and manner of construction to be determined by the Selectmen, said location to become void if the tracks are not laid within two years of this date. It was also voted that the same company be granted a location for its track, commencing on Central street and running on the southerly side of Tremont street to Northend street, and on the southerly side of Northend street to Holly street, and on the easterly side of Holly street to Margin street, Salem. And the same conditions as the Lynnfield route were imposed.

On the petition of the Naumkeag Street railroad company for location of tracks through Endicott street, the Selectmen voted "that the petitioners have leave to withdraw." They also voted to lay out the way from Chestnut street to Lowell street, making the way from Chestnut street to the church 45 feet wide, taking 15 feet from the town land. The balance of the way to be laid out between Hodgkins fence and the curbstone. They voted that the petitioners for the widening of Nichols lane have leave to withdraw. George E. Saunders was licensed as a junk dealer with a wagon.

We dropped into Webster & Co's factory last week to inquire about the flood, and while in the engine room, were surprised to see the engineer, Mr. Charles Buxton, light the gas by simply holding his finger over the burner. This was quickly explained to us, as we took hold of his hand, and at the same time received a shock. There was a wide belt overhead, the friction of which generated the electricity, and by charging himself with it he had only to hold his finger over the gas burner, and turn on the gas to cause it to ignite. We tried the experiment ourselves with the same result.

If the town wants to have two or more precincts for voting, it must petition the legislature for authority as some towns have already done. It is possible that the legislature may pass a general bill giving towns permission to do as they please about it, but as it may not do so, if the town desires precincts. and we believe the prevailing sentiment is in favor of them, it should take measures to secure the proper authority.

Dole & Osgood shipped a lot of carriages to Australia last week, and in loading them on the cars, one was injured, and it had to be taken back to the shop, and it was about 12 o'clock before it was repaired. It was sent over the road to Boston the next morning. This firm, three years ago, made a contract for ten years to supply one firm with all the carriages they could handle. The head of the firm will visit Peabody in the spring, and make arrangements to double on his present orders.

The expenditures of the different departments of the town of Peabody for the year ending Feb. 1, 1885, are as follows:—Selectmen's department, $97,543.02; Poor, $13,641.15; Fire, $7999.39; School, including repairing, special appropriations, etc., $37,046.53. Total, $156.230.09. For the year ending Feb. 1, 1885, the expenditures were:—Selectmen's department, $121,782.20; Poor, $12,680.82; School, $31,146.67; Fire, $7719.88. Total, $173,329.57, or a difference in favor of this year of $17,099.49.

The 41st Institute of the Essex Agricultural Society will be held on Friday, Feb. 26, 1886, commencing at 9.30 A. M., at Town Hall, Bradford. Forenoon subject for discusssion, "The Influence of Agriculture on Climate," opened by Michael W. Bartlett, of West Newbury. Subject in afternoon, "The Horse in his relation to Agriculture," opened by John E. Russell, secretary of State Board of Agriculture.

The Ober Car Ventilator Company have received orders to equip a car with their invention for a party of wealthy gentlemen from New Orleans. The cars run from New Orleans to stations along the banks of the Mississippi river. The New York & New England Railroad have also given orders to have some of the smoking cars equipped with the invention.

Commander-in-Chief Burdette has telegraphed to Department Commander R. H. Warfield, San Francisco, that the national encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in San Francisco, Tuesday, August 3, 1886. Are you going?

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clark's Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo. Stevens' *

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Willie Teel, a son of Geo. C. Teel, of Salem, formerly of this town, was run over by a freight train, last Friday, and had both legs taken off, from the effects of which he died a few hours later. He was a bright lad and a pupil of the Salem High School.

A man called at the residence of a Main street citizen on Monday and said he was an inspector of gas meters, and requested the servant girl to go and count each burner in the house. This she refused to do and leave him alone in the lower part of the house, and after a good deal of talk about what the consequence would be, he departed. He was probably a thief.

It is reported that a short time ago as Mary Shanahan, who lives on Pine street, was about her work, a bullet shot crashed through a window. No one was hurt but the family were much alarmed. The shot was probably fired by some poor marksman in the woods near by.

John McGurn, while playing polo last Wednesday night, was injured in the hand quite severely. He had it lanced last Thursday night.

Mr. Frank Sanborn, who had his jaw fractured on Thanksgiving day by a car of the Naumkeag Street Railway Company running down on to another in front of their office in Salem, has settled with the company for $300. He was standing on the rear platform of a car when a car following ran down on the slippery rail and the end of the pole struck Mr. Sanborn in the mouth, dislocating his jaw and knocking out some of his teeth.

Arrangements are being made for a dog fight between two bull dogs owned in this town.

A junk dealer and stranger made a bargain to buy a quantity of old junk at the factory of Mr. Newman Perkins on Grove street, last Wednesday, and after securing about half a ton of junk he drove away without paying for it. A description of the man was given the police.

A boy named Thompson, on Mason street, fell while playing about the house with a pair of scissors in his hand, and drove the point of one blade into his hand making an ugly wound.

In the police court Friday morning, John Mullane, for being drunk, was fined $1 and costs, and as he didn't have the needful he was sent down for thirty days.

Mrs. Verry, living on Mason street, lost her husband a short time ago, and last week, after receiving a small life insurance, she left her home deserting the two children left by her husband. The husband's father, who was living with them, found the children in the deserted house and took charge of them. The step mother has moved to the Granite house and the old gentleman and the children have gone to the Alms house.

Mr. David T. Winter, acting on the advice of his physician, will have his left hand amputated, and the operation is to be performed at the Boston City Hospital. Mr. Winter has been suffering for a long time, — the result of injuries received when he was put off a train of the New York, Lake Erie & Webster Road, several years ago, by a conductor who didn't know his business. Mr. Winter's many friends in town sympathize with him. The operation will be performed next Friday.

The undignified appearance of a resident of Elm street in his night clothes on the street the other night was the subject of considerable discussion. It turned out that the bachelor had become frightened by the winds blowing off a few bricks from his chimney, causing him to desert his home in haste.

Michael, the four months old child of William Sculley of this town, died in his mother's arms at a station near Chicago, Ill., where they were going to see a sister. An inquest was not necessary, as death resulted from congestion of the lungs. The child was buried in Chicago.

In the police court this morning Patrick McGrath, who has had trouble with his wife and amused himself by breaking the glass in her house, paid $5 and costs for the fun this morning.

Thomas P. Sullivan was drunk and fined $5 and costs or two months in the house of correction.

George Borden returned from a two months' sentence yesterday, and went to his mother's store on Main street and stole $3.25, and a tobacco cutter handle. The police were notified and they found him going toward Salem, and officer Shortell, of Salem, arrested him, and when our officers attempted to put on the twisters in the cell they were resisted and three of them were required to put them on. This morning Judge Merrill reserved his decision in one case and Borden was removed to Salem jail.

As the team of J. V. & J. Hanson was standing in front of their store on Central street, Monday noon, their horse became frightened by another runaway which came down Central street. Both runaways started down Walnut and up Wallis. Hanson's horse was caught by Ulick Brophy near Rust's shop.

Albert Carleton had a number of hens killed by dogs last Friday at his place on Endicott street. The damage has been appraised by the Selectmen.

Henry H. Buxton, son of Joshua Buxton, sprained the ligament of his leg at Providence, R. I., last week, while playing football, at the Friends' school, where he is in attendance.

Alex. Miller, an employe of the Danvers Bleachery, who is addicted to the use of chloral, was sent to the Danvers Asylum last Saturday.

An operation has been performed on the Dunney girl who was bitten by bloodhounds at Upton's farm, at the Salem Hospital. The chances of her recovery are not hopeful.

Last Friday, a boy named Hogan jumped over the balustrade of the stairs of his home, near Washington street, and striking on his hands broke the bones of one wrist.

Saturday afternoon, Dennis Wyers was before Justice Merrill for assault. He was fined $3 and costs.

Mr. Warren Trask, the provision dealer, cut a piece out of one of his fingers while cutting up meat at his market one day last week.

In the Superior Court last week, James Corbett was fined $520 on his liquor cases and given six months in the house of correction. William R. Austin was fined $105 for a similar offence. W. H. Baldwin, proprietor of the hotel, was fined $378.68. An imprisonment would have been added but for the intervention of Mr. James P. King, who thought the interest of the temperance cause would not be benefited by the imprisonment of Mr. Baldwin. Mrs. Ellen McCloskey was fined $65.

Some one entered the room of the St. John's C. T. A. Society, in Hartnett's Block, last night, and stole a small box containing about ten dollars. Entrance was effected by forcing the lower door. After going up stairs the party opened a window from the hall way and walked on the caps over the store windows below to the window of the St. John's room. The box contained the collection "chipped in" by the pool players, and was locked inside a glass front book case which was broken by the thief.

◆

SPARKS.

Monday evening the officers and members of Hose 2, with the entire Board of Engineers, Foremen of every company in town, and several of the old members of the old Gen. Foster engine company, in all about 35 persons sat down to one of James E. Ricker's best clam chowders. The tables were well spread and were loaded down with pies, cakes, apples, oranges, hot coffee and all the fixings of a first class chowder. Supper was served at 9 o'clock, all present partook heartily of the viands spread before them, after which the cigars were lighted and speeches were in order. Foreman Frank G. Farrington, as toast master, called upon Chief Engineer Tibbetts who made a few remarks and was followed by Engineers Jonhson, Southwick, Reed and Buxton, and the foremen of the different companies. Martin Brophy was next called upon, as one of the old standbys of the company, and kept the party in good humor for some time with his original remarks. B. B. Humphrey, an old member of the old hand engine company, also responded. The company then adjourned to the hall above where the hours were pleasantly passed until midnight, with singing by Messrs. Lloyd, Mason, Garniss, Pierce, Calvert and Farrington. Messrs. Garniss and Mason presided at the organ. The music was fine in every respect. The party broke up at midnight, all being well pleased with the evening's pleasure.

Hose 5 held one of their fine social parties at their hose house last Friday evening and it was well attended, quite a large party from this part of the town being present, a horse car running through to the Square at the close of the party. A fine clam chowder was furnished at Ricker's horse car office after the dance. Z.

The voting list containing the names of the women voters has not yet been posted and no returns from the collector have been received by the town clerk. Last year seven names were on the list and six voted.

George D. and George H. Walton attended the shoot of the Wellington Gun Club, at Wellington, Monday. George A. Lawrence shot with the Salem Rifle Club, at their range in North Salem, Monday, making a score of 85.

Mr. James Howley, the tailor over Warren Trask's store, has put in an elegant line of spring suitings, which he is prepared to make up in his usual superior style at lowest living prices. Consider this an invitation and call and see him.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending February 20, were 5241 rolls, 130 sides, 179 bundles, 16 barrels, 6 bags, 8 bales of leather, 17 bundles, 30 rolls, 2 casks of skins.

Herbert Gardner, the successor of Geo. C. Prescott, has placed an attractive sign over the entrance to his harness shop on the square.

Jacob C. Rodgers has given $100 to the sufferers by the flood in Boston Highlands.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

From now until the first of March, to make room for Spring goods, I shall make special prices on Overcoatings, Suitings and Pantaloonings. These goods comprise the finest Foreign goods in neat and genteel patterns, and will be cut, trimmed and made in my usual good style, the extreme prices made only to reduce stock and keep my help employed during the dull season.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR,

MAIN STREET,

OVER WARREN TRASK'S STORE.

ARTISTS'
SUPPLY STORE.
Everything needed for
ARTISTS & AMATEURS.
Largest stock and Lowest Prices.
C. J. EDMANDS,
12 Bromfield St. Boston.
Send for Catalogue.
SKETCHES

READ THIS CAREFULLY.

SPECIAL BARGAINS.

Men's Merino Boots, for Car Drivers. Milk Men, etc., very warm, only 75 cents per pair, last for this season.

Men's Buckle Arctics only $1 per pair.

Women's, Misses and Children's Overs only 25 cents per pair.

Men's Woonsocket, R. I., Rubber Boots, only $2 25 per pair.

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

READ THIS

All that are interested in hens.

We are about to receive a large stock of which we shall offer at factory prices, and save the price of your freight.

POULTRY NETTING

Send in your order at once, and buy at wholesale.

— Buy our —

25c SAW HORSE

also a good steel

Chopping Axe for 65 cts.

Have you seen our

Patent Pinafore Oil Can.

New stock of 5 and 10 cent Goods.

Call and see our variety of Pocket Cutlery and Scissors.

— AT —

Samuel Trask's

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

Extra Heavy Barley Oats.

To any one wanting a very choice Oat, we can offer some from a car on track as good as any we have seen this year.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

The Salem News is to have a new press that will turn out thirty-five hundred copies an hour. We are pleased to note prosperity.

Prompt relief in sick headache, dizziness, nausea, constipation, pain in the side, etc., guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One pill a dose. 25 cents.

Jaborandi

BALM.

The Popular Remedy for

BALDNESS, and Diseases of the Hair and Scalp.

We have a large number of reliable testimonials which we would be pleased to show any one. We warrant Jaborandi Balm to be perfectly free from any poisonous ingredients. It combines the properties of being both an elegant dressing and the greatest hair producing preparation of the age.

Price 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

DRUGGISTS' NOVELTY CO.,

145 Milk Street, Boston.

BOSTON & LOWELL R. R.

FEB. 8, 1886.

PASSENGER SERVICE FROM SALEM:

Leave Salem for Lowell, and Lawrence at 7 55, 10 55 A. M., 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lowell for Salem, at 7 35 A. M., 1 25, 6 P. M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem, at 7 45 A. M., 1 30, 6 P. M.

Leave Wilmington Junction for Salem, at 8 04 A. M., 1 55, 6 28 P. M.

Leave North Reading for Salem, at 8 23 A. M., 2 05, 6 38 P. M.

Leave West Peabody for Salem, at 8 35 A.M., 2 18, 6 50 P. M.

All trains from Salem connect at Lowell for Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.

The 7 55 A. M. train connects at Lowell for Peterboro, Keene and intermediate stations.

C. S. MELLEN, Gen'l Supt.
LUCIUS TUTTLE, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between the firm of Elligott & Gould, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by W. H. Gould & Co., at the old stand on Foster ttreet.

W. H. GOULD,
CHAS. B. ELLIGOTT.

Peabody, March 9, 1886.

McPhail Pianos.

ELEGANT UPRIGHT AND SQUARE.

New and Second Hand on Instalments.

McPhail & Co.,
630 Wash. cor. Essex St., Boston.

feb 24—4t

No. 1 CHOP FEED.

We are discharging a car of the above Feed, made from choice oats, barley and white corn. A very nutritious and easily digested fodder for horses and other animals. Try it.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

FEBRUARY SALE

— OF —

LINEN AND HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.

COMMENCED FEBRUARY 1ST,

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

Encouraged by the unparalleled success of our former sales, we propose to exceed all previous efforts, and give our customers and the public an opportunity to secure bargains never before equalled.

ELEGANT DINNER, LUNCH AND TEA SETS IN BLEACHED, CREAM AND FANCY.

Bleached Damask, from	50c to $2.00
Cream Damask, from	25c to 1.25
Turkey Red, from	25c to .75
3-4 and 5-8 Napkins, from	50c to 6.00
Russian Crash, from	6 1-4c to .20
American Crash, all prices.
Barnsley Crash, from	12 1-2c to .20
Scotch Crash, all prices.
Red End Diaper, from	$1.00 to 2.50
Gloss Linen, from	6 1-4c to .17
Huck Damask and Fancy Towels,	6 1-4c to 1.00
Terry Bathing Towels.

Linen Sheeting, Pillow Case Linen, Doylies, Tray Cloths, etc.
Marseilles Quilts from $1 upwards.
$1.25 Crochet Quilts for $1.00.

All the best makes of Bleached and Unbleached Cotton, all widths and at lowest prices.

1 case 8-4 best quality Brown Sheeting, 12 1-2c per yd.

All Housekeepers, Restaurant and Hotel Proprietors should take advantage of this great opportunity th secure Staple Goods at less than cost of production. The goods are all new, bought expressly for this sale, and we confidently advise every one to buy all they can use.

Our Great Sale of Fine Dress Goods will be continued.

75c Dress Goods 37 1-2c. $1 Dress Goods 50c
$1.25 Dress Goods, 75c.

A great deal can be saved by supplying your wants now, as the Low Prices of this Special Sale cannot possibly be maintained.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

ON WEDNESDAY,

FEBRUARY 17, 1886,

We shall have the pleasure of placing on our counters a Jobber's Stock of the very best Gros Grain Ribbons, at less than half the price they are usually sold for.

No. 4 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	4c
No. 5 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	5c
No. 7 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	7c
No. 9 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	9c
No. 12 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	12c
No. 16 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	16c

These are the best, warranted all silk goods, and will be sold at the above slaughter prices on Wednesday and until the lot is closed out. We advise an early call.

John P. Peabody.

FLOUR! FLOUR!!

We have just received a car load of

BEST GRADES OF FLOUR,

which we are offering at bottom prices.

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

BEE-HIVE

ANNUAL DONATION SALE.

FOR WEDNESDAY,

Feb. 17th.

100 doz. MEN'S UNLAUNDERED SHIRTS, sizes from 12 1-2 to 16 in., for the low price of 19 cts. each.

As there will be a great rush, not more than two Shirts will be sold to one customer.

Sale commences WEDNESDAY, A. M.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheao'kin Coal. Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

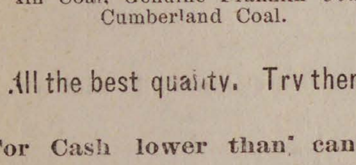
All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere.

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody. or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN



WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus C. Batchelder ; ; Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

The New York Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday)	$6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday)	50
SUNDAY, per Year . . .	1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR	7 00
WEEKLY, per Year . . .	1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 159 West 128 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. B. Landon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Saved My Life,

and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cure." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

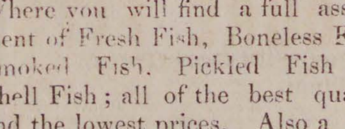
Sold by all Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial. Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET



Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

CATARRH ELY'S Cream Balm IS WORTH $1000 To any Man, Woman or Child suffering from CATARRH.

ELY'S
CREAM BALM
CATARRH
CURES
COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
EASY TO USE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BROS.
OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A.

A. E. NEWMAN, Grayling, Mich.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

[illegible] CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A Dividend of Three dollars per share, will be payable at the office of the Treasurer on WEDNESDAY, the 27th inst., to stockholders of record this day.
DAVID MOORE, Treasurer.

CARRISTON'S GIFT.

He spoke so rationally, his eyes met mine so unflinchingly, that I was rejoiced to know that my fears were as yet ungrounded. There was grief, excitement, want of rest in his appearance, but his general manner told me he was, as he said, as sane as I was.

"Thank heaven you can speak to me and look at me like this!" I exclaimed.

"You are satisfied, then?" he said.

"On this point, yes. Now tell me what is wrong?"

Now that he had set my doubts at rest, his agitation and excitement seemed to return. He grasped my hand convulsively.

"Madeline!" he whispered. "Madeline—my love—she is gone."

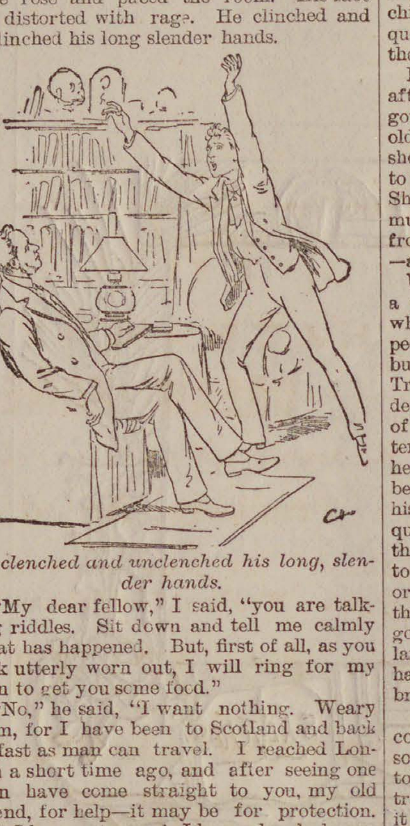
"Gone!" I repeated. "Gone where?"

"She is gone, I say—stolen from me by some black-hearted traitor—perhaps forever. Who can tell?"

"But, Carriston, surely in so short a time her love cannot have been won by another. If so, all I can say is——"

"What!" he shouted. "You who have seen her! You in your wildest dreams to imagine that Madeline Rowan would leave me of her own free will! No, sir, she has been stolen from me—entrapped—carried away—hidden. But I will find her, or I will kill the black-hearted villain who has done this."

He rose and paced the room. His face was distorted with rage. He clinched and unclinched his long slender hands.



He clenched and unclenched his long, slender hands.

"My dear fellow," I said, "you are talking riddles. Sit down and tell me calmly what has happened. But, first of all, as you look utterly worn out, I will ring for my man to get you some food."

"No," he said, "I want nothing. Weary I am, for I have been to Scotland and back as fast as man can travel. I reached London a short time ago, and after seeing one man have come straight to you, my old friend, for help—it may be for protection. But I have eaten and I have drunk, knowing I must keep my health and strength."

However, I insisted upon some wine being brought. He drank a glass, and then, with a strange, enforced calm, told me what had taken place. His tale was this:

After we had parted company on our return from Scotland, Carriston went down to the family seat in Oxfordshire and informed his uncle of the impending change in his life. The baronet, an extremely old man, infirm and all but childish, troubled little about the matter. Every acre of his large property was strictly entailed, so his pleasure or displeasure could make but little alteration in his nephew's prospects. Still, he was the head of the family, and Carriston was in duty bound to make the important news known to him. The young man made no secret of his approaching marriage, so in a very short time every member of the family was aware that the heir and future head was about to ally himself to a nobody. Knowing nothing of Madeline Rowan's rare beauty and sweet nature, Carriston's kinsmen and kinswomen were sparing with their congratulations. Indeed, Mr. Ralph Carriston, the cousin whose name was coupled with such absurd suspicions, went so far as to write a bitter, sarcastic letter, full of ironical felicitation. This and Charles Carriston's haughty reply, did not make the affection between the cousins any stronger. Moreover, shortly afterward the younger man heard that inquiries were being made in the neighborhood of Madeline's home as to her position and parentage. Feeling sure that only his cousin Ralph could have had the curiosity to institute such inquiries, he wrote and thanked him for the keen interest he was manifesting in his future welfare, but begged that hereafter Mr. Carriston would apply to him direct for any information he wanted. The two men were now no longer on speaking terms.

Charles Carriston, in his present frame of mind, cared little whether his relatives wished to bless or forbid the banns. He was passionately in love, and at once set about making arrangements for a speedy marriage. Although Madeline was still ignorant of the exalted position held by her lover—although she came to him absolutely penniless, he was resolved in the matter of money to treat her as generously as he would have treated the most eligible damsel in the country. There were several legal questions to be set at rest concerning certain property he wished to settle upon her. These of course caused delay. As soon as they were adjusted to his own, or, rather, to his lawyer's satisfaction, he purposed going to Scotland and carrying away his beautiful bride. In the meantime he cast about for a residence.

Somewhat Bohemian in his nature, Carriston had no intention of settling down just yet to live the life of an ordinary moneyed Englishman. His intention was to take Madeline abroad for some months. He had fixed upon Cannes as a desirable place at which to winter, but having grown somewhat tired of hotel life, wished to rent a furnished house. He had received from an agent to whom he had been advised to apply the refusal of a house, which, from the glowing description given, seemed the one above all others he wanted. As an early decision was insisted upon, my impulsive young friend thought nothing of crossing the channel and running down to the south of France to see with his own eyes that the much lauded place was worthy of the fair being

He wrote to Madeline and told her he was going from home for a few days. He said he should be traveling the greatest part of the time, so it would be no use her writing to him until his return. He did not reveal the object of his journey. Were Madeline to know it was to choose a winter residence at Cannes, she would be filled with amazement, and the innocent deception he was still keeping up would not be carried through to the romantic end which he pictured to himself.

The day before he started for France, Madeline wrote that her aunt was very unwell, but said nothing as to her malady causing any alarm. Perhaps Carriston thought less about the old Scotch widow than her relationship and kindness to Miss Rowan merited. He started on his travels without any forebodings of evil.

His journey to Cannes and back was hurried—he wasted no time on the road, but was delayed for two days at the place itself before he could make final arrangements with the owner and the present occupier of the house. Thinking he was going to start every moment, he did not write to Madeline. At the rate at which he meant to return, a letter posted in England would reach her almost as quickly as if posted at Cannes.

He reached his home, which for the last few weeks had been Oxford, and found two letters waiting for him. The first, dated on the day he left England, was from Madeline. It told him that her aunt's illness had suddenly taken a fatal turn—that she had died that day, almost without warning. The second letter was anonymous.

It was written apparently by a woman, and advised Mr. Carr to look sharply after his lady love, or he would find himself left in the lurch. The writer would not be surprised to hear some fine day that she had eloped with a certain gentleman who should be nameless. This precious epistle, probably an emanation of feminine spite, Carriston treated it as it deserved—he tore it up and threw the pieces to the wind.

But the thought of Madeline being alone at that lonely house troubled him greatly. The dead woman had no sons or daughters—all the anxiety and responsibility connected with her affairs would fall on the poor girl. The next day he threw himself into the Scotch express and started for her far-away home.

On arriving there he found it occupied only by the rough farm servants. They seemed in a state of wonderment, and volubly questioned Carriston as to the whereabouts of Madeline. The question sent a chill of fear to his heart. He answered their questions by others, and soon learned all they had to communicate.

Little enough it was. On the morning after the old woman's funeral Madeline had gone to Callendar to ask the advice of an old friend of her aunt, as to what steps should now be taken. She had neither been to this friend, nor had she returned home. She had, however, sent a message that she must go to London at once, and would write from there. That was the last heard of her—all that was known about her.

Upon hearing this news Carriston became a prey to the acutest terror—an emotion which was quite inexplicable to the honest people, his informants. The girl had gone, but she had sent word whither she had gone. True, they did not know the reason for her departure, so sudden and without luggage of any description—true, she had not written as promised, but no doubt they would hear from her to-morrow. Carriston knew better. Without revealing the extent of his fears he flew back to Callendar. Inquiries at the railway station informed him that she had gone, or had purposed going, to London, but whether she ever reached it, or whether any trace of her could be found there, was at least a matter of doubt. No good could be gained by remaining in Scotland, so he traveled back at once to town, half distracted, sleepless and racking his brains to know where to look for her.

"She has been decoyed away," he said in conclusion. "She is hidden, imprisoned somewhere. And I know, as well as if he told me, who has done this thing. I can trace Ralph Carriston's cursed hand through it all."

I glanced at him askance. This morbid suspicion of his cousin amounted almost to monomania. He had told the tale of Madeline's disappearance clearly and tersely; but when he began to account for it, his theory was a wild and untenable one. However much he suspected Ralph Carriston of longing to stand in his shoes, I could see no object for the crime of which he accused him—that of decoying away Madeline Rowan.

"But why should he have done this?" I asked. "To prevent your marriage? You are young; he must have foreseen that you would marry some day."

Carriston leaned toward me, and dropped his voice to a whisper.

"This is his reason," he said—"this is why I come to you. You are not the only one who has entirely misread my nature, and seen a strong tendency to insanity in it. Of course I know that you are all wrong, but I know that Ralph Carriston has stolen my love—stolen her because he thinks and hopes that her loss will drive me mad—perhaps drive me to kill myself. I went straight to him—I have just come from him. Brand, I tell you, that when I taxed him with the crime—when I raved at him—when I threatened to tear the life out of him—his cold wicked eyes leapt with joy. I heard him mutter between his teeth, 'Men have been put in strait-waistcoats for less than this.' Then I knew why he had done this. I curbed myself and left him. Most likely he will try to shut me up as a lunatic; but I count on your protection—count on your help to find my love."

That any man could be guilty of such a subtle refinement of crime as that of which he accused his cousin, seemed to me, if not impossible, at least improbable. But as at present there was no doubt about my friend's sanity, I promised my aid readily.

"And now," I said, "my dear boy, I won't hear another word to-night. Nothing can be done until to-morrow; then we will consult as to what steps should be taken. Drink this and go to bed—yes, you are as sane as I am, but remember, insomnia soon drives the strongest man out of his senses."

I poured out an opiate. He drank it obediently. Before I left him for the night I saw him in bed and sleeping a heavy sleep.

CHAPTER VI.

The advantage to one who writes, not a tale of imagination, but a simple record of events, is this: He need not be bound by the recognized canons of the story-telling art—need not exercise his ingenuity to mislead his reader—need not suppress some things and lay undue stress on others to create mysteries to be cleared up at the end of the tale. Therefore, using the privilege of a plain narrator, I shall here give some account of what became of Miss Rowan, as, so far as I can remember, I heard it some time afterward from her own lips.

The old Scotch woman's funeral over, and those friends who had been present departed, Madeline was left in the little farm-house alone, save for the presence of the two servants. Several kind bodies had offered to come and stay with her, but she had declined the offers. She was in no mood for company, and perhaps, being of such a different race and breed, would not have found much comfort in the rough, homely sympathy which was offered to her. She preferred being alone with her grief—grief which, after all, was bound to be much lightened by the thought of her own approaching happiness, for the day was drawing near when her lover would cross the border and bear his bonnie bride away. She felt sure that she would not be long alone—that the moment Carriston heard of her aunt's death he would come to her assistance. In such a peaceful, God-fearing neighborhood she had no fear of being left without protection. Moreover, her position in the house was well defined. The old woman, who was childless, had left her niece all of which she died possessed. So Madeline decided to wait quietly until she heard from her lover.

Still, there were business matters to be attended to, and at the funeral, Mr. Douglas, of Callendar, the executor under the will, had suggested that an early interview would be desirable. He offered to drive out to the little farm the next day, but Miss Rowan, who had to see to some feminine necessaries which could only be supplied by shops, decided that she would come to the

To be continued.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.

Rufus H. Brown.

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,	Geo. F. Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Amos Merrill,
Chas. B. Farley,	John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,	Alex. B. Merrill,
Stephen Blaney,	C. Warren Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Geo. S. Osborne,
Chas. B. Farley,	Nathl. Symonds.
Geo. F. Osborne,	Aaron F. Clark,
Amos Merrill,	Albert A. Messer,
John A. Lord,	John Pinder.
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Wm. P. Clark
Wm. H. Little,	Reuben G. Nelson,
Aaron W. Warren,	Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,
Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.

Rufus H. Brown,

Lewis Allen,	Alex. B. Merrill,
C. Warren Osborne.	Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

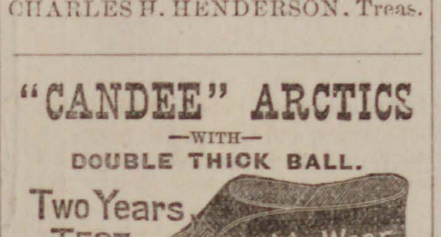
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

"CANDEE" ARCTICS

—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Two Years TEST.

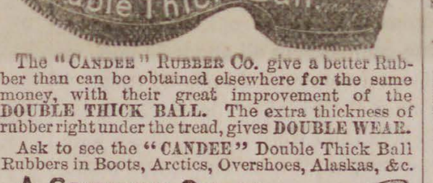


Double Wear on the Sole.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER CO. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.

Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.

A Common Sense Idea.



NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME

OF THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA-

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT.

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. F. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free, to any address
WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at			9 47 A. M
Freight " " at			5 00 P. M
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight " "		at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's. Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

☞ Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A. M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

[JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.]

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few General Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich, Ct.

nov24 —12t

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDENCE, 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Pairy Place. Lynn, Mass. apr 29

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

PAINTER.

Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

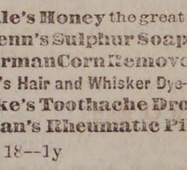
EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.



AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO., 152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid.

Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given.

Knickerbocker Subscription Agency.
P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.

b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

A GIFT Send 10 cents postage, and we will mail you free a royal, valuable, sample box of good that will put you in the way of making more money at once, than anything else in America. Both sexes of all ages can live at home and work in spare time, or all the time. Capital not required. We will start you. Immense pay sure for those who start at once. STINSON & Co., Portland Main

SMOKERS!

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in saying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one- The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

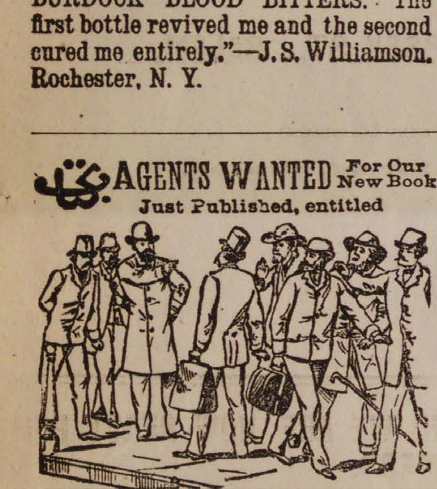
TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

CONSTIPATION!

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by Constipation, and there is no other ill flesh is heir to more apt to be neglected, from the fact material inconvenience may not be immediately felt from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action, the retention of decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing piles, fistula, headache, impure blood and many other serious affections. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will immediately relieve, and one bottle positively cure or relieve any case of Constipation.

"Was troubled for a year with torpid liver and indigestion, and after trying everything imaginable, used BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. The first bottle revived me and the second cured me entirely."—J. S. Williamson. Rochester, N. Y.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

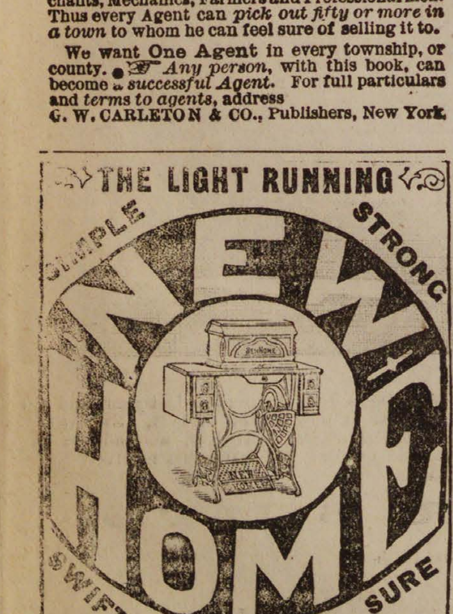
Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address
C. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.



SEWING MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.
PERFECT SATISFACTION
New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo. Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET,

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY
For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

RED STAR
TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE
Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.
SAFE.
SURE.
PROMPT.
25 Cts.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

---

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 3, MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

AT

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

SIG. BATTALIA,

FROM BOSTON,

PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms, 40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

"PRICE" BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMTH,

Watchmaker.

Book Notices.

The February number of North's Philadelphia Musical Journal, one of the best of its kind which comes to our table, is received, and contains the following: Story, The Old Italian; Home Musical Gossip; Local Operatic Renditions; Musical Mites; Editorial; Music, March, Waltz and Allegretto, Hazel Dell Waltz, Dramatic March, I've Changed my Mind; Operatic Biography; Correspondents Corner, Correspondence; Our Book Table, Mirthful Moments.

The music in the February number of the Musical Record comprises Take this Letter to my Mother, song and chorus, by Will S. Hayes: words and music of Over the Garden Wall; Old Folks at Home march, by Louis Meyer; and The Alpine Fern, for the piano, by J. Pridham, which together with the musical notes, Major and Minor, the miscellany and discussions of musical matters make up a very entertaining number. Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

The centre of attraction in the present Watercolor Exhibition at New York is a fascinating picture by E. A. Abbey, which sold for $2500 on the opening night. It is in the same exquisite style as his illustrations to She Stoops to Conquer, now appearing in Harper's Magazine. The March number will contain one-half of Act IV., with five charming drawings.

The Folio for February has a fine portrait of Earl Marble, the editor of this bright monthly, and a supplement giving the 'counterfeit presentments' of twenty noted musical people of Boston. This issue is unusually interesting, both as regards music and reading. White, Smith & Co., Boston.

The Musical Herald (Boston, $1 a year) for February has for music Hearken, O Lord, bass solo and chorus, by A. C. Mackenzie, eight pages; and Golden Ring, for male voices, from Folksong, English version by Dolores. Among the entertaining reading matter is an illustrated article on Chinese music and musical instruments.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for March comes with its usual variety of readable and valuable articles, attractive stories, and well executed illustrations. Is the Panama Canal a failure? many ask. The question is answered by Mr. Arthur V. Abbott in Progress at Panama, Christian Reid, the well known novelist of North Carolina, contributes a story called The Price of a Kiss. The well known naturalist, C. F. Holder, in his Wooing of the Birds, describes and illustrates some of the strange performances of the feathered gallants when they seek brides in the Spring time. Altogether it is a most enjoyable number.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for March well sustains the reputation of this favorite family monthly. The opening article is The Origin of the New York Churches, and is really a religious history of New York City. The Rev. Edward A. Rand contributes a short but interesting article on Anselm, whose great work on the Atonement is a standard even now. Two additional Parables, three more Sacred Musicians, the continuation of Paulina, the conclusion of Love's Harvest, several beautiful poems, and an abundance of short articles, all go to make up a very interesting number, while the illustrations are unusually fine.

ALDEN'S CYCLOPEDIA OF UNIVERSAL LITERATURE.— This work is the outcome or many years of planning and preparation. It will be an almost indispensable work of reference for every library, large or small, a trustworthy guide to what is most worth knowing of the literature of all ages and all nations. Occupying a dozen or more volumes, and yet issued at a price so low as to be within the reach of all, a familiarity with its contents will constitute a liberal education to a degree that can be claimed for few other works in existence. Dr. Lossing, the eminent historian and author, says of it: I am strongly impressed with the great intrinsic value of the work as a popular educator in a high department of learning. The plan is admirable. Combining as it does a personal knowledge of an author with specimens of his or her best literary productions, gives it an inestimable power for good among the people. The work is being published in parts of 160 pages each, paper covers, at the price of 15 cents, also in very handsome cloth bound volumes, gilt tops, 480 pages, for 60 cents. The parts can be exchanged for bound volomes, at any time. Four parts are now ready, also the first bound volume; volume two will be issued in a few days. The publisher's 132 page illustrated catalogue of standard books may be had for four cents, or condensed 16 page catalogue free. John B. Alden, Publisher, New York.

A short story, which is likely to be the subject of much comment, and several articles of remarkable interest are contained in the Atlantic Monthly for March. The story in question is called A Brother to Dragons, and is anonymous. The number would be worth possessing if there were nothing else in it, but in addition we have continuations of Henry James' and Charles Egbert Craddock's serials, and of Dr. Holmes's delightful New Portfolio, which holds two occasional poems. John Fiske has an instructive paper in the series he has been contributing, this time on the United States after the Rebellion. Books of the Month and the 'Club' make up a number as entertaining as it is valuable. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P M.]

Joshua Whitcomb, the only and great, will run to fires again this week from the stage of the Boston Theatre, and his many admirers will be on hand. "Uncle Josh" has lost none of his popularity. We shall miss Miss Julia Wilson in Tot, but the young lady who supplies her place is admirable.

At the Park Theatre, Hoyt's sparkling comedy, A Bunch of Keys, will be the attraction all the week. It is the funniest of plays and is well presented.

The engagement of Boucicault at the Boston Museum, in the Jilt, is in every way a grand success to the management. It is capitally presented and draws crowded houses. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

At the Globe, Thatcher, Primrose and West's Minstrels hold the boards with their inimitable impersonations all the week.

Margaret Mather opens her Boston engagement at the Boston Theatre, March 1, when she will appear as Juliana in The Honeymoon, instead of in Romeo and Juliet, as was at first announced. The occasion will be the benefit of the popular leader of the orchestra, Mr. Napier Lothian, who will appear on that evening as Capt Rolando, a capital comedy role, and the most ambitious part Mr. Lothian has ever essayed here. His friends will give him a rousing welcome, and the general public will be curious as usual to see Mr. Lothian on the other side of the footlights. Joseph Haworth has been secured by Manager J. M. Hill for the role of Romeo, Tuesday evening, March 2.

Mme. Modjeska's engagement at the Globe, March 1, is for two weeks. The repertoire for the first week is Monday, As You Like It; Tuesday and Wednesday, Odette; Thursday, As You Like It. Joseph Murphy appears March 15, and on the 22d Haverly's Minstrels are announced.

CHARACTERISTIC OF THE MAN.—Roscoe Conkling is very kind to women in distress, and the enormous charge which he puts upon his services to great monopolies and millionaires becomes nothing if the business is done for a poor woman. Not long ago a highly cultured and intelligent woman of Washington found herself, by the death of her husband, reduced to poverty, and she was forced to go to work in the departments, though her husband had been very wealthy and had left her a fortune. He was a widower, with several children at the time she married him, and after his death the property fell into the hands of the children, and she could, from some technicality or other, not get a hold upon any of it. She applied to the lawyers here at Washington, and they advised her, as it was a case which came under the jurisdiction of the New York courts, to go there and consult New York lawyers. She had not much money, but she went to New York, and was walking down Broadway feeling very much worried and entirely at sea as to where she could find a lawyer who would give her the proper advice and still not charge her more than she could afford to pay. As she passed the Western Union building she saw upon the steps Roscoe Conkling and another gentleman talking. She had seen Conkling often in Washington, but had never been introduced to him. He had also noticed her as she passed by this day. He looked up and their eyes met and she unconsciously smiled a recognition. Senator Conkling at once left the gentleman to whom he was talking and held out his hand. He said: "Madam, I do not remember where I have met you, but I see from your face that you are greatly worried about something, and I want to offer you my services if you think I can be of any use to you."

The lady replied that he could be of great use to her. She was in trouble, and she needed the advice of a lawyer. Senator Conkling then made an appointment with her for a meeting at his office within half an hour. She came, and he heard her story, understanding the case almost intuitively, and, as she says, seeming to grasp it as none of the Washington lawyers or her friends had done. He asked her questions, and she replied at length. He did not seem bothered at the fact that she was taking up a great deal of his time, and at the close of her story he told her what to do in a few words, making the situation as plain as though analytically dissected by the aid of an electric light and a powerful microscope. Then with fear and trembling she asked him what his charge was for the advice, her heart leaping into her throat as she did so, in fear that it might be more than she could pay. In the gentlest manner Mr. Conkling told her he would charge her nothing. She could hardly comprehend his reply, and for a moment her relief was so great that she could not speak. The tears came to her eyes as she thanked him. His advice gave her back her fortune, and she is now one of the greatest defenders and worshippers of Conkling among his many admirers of the other sex.

Cancers, and cancerous tumors, are cured by the purifying effects of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The cold nights have made a picnic for skaters.

Smart Weed and Belladonna combined with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plasters the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY, SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. BROOKS. A. D. DAMON,
F. D. SPERRY.

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich bride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15,000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anæsthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anæsthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass the door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. F. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL, OPP. CITY HALL, LYNN.

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,

18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

WILLIAM H. LONGSDORF & CO.,
BANKERS AND BROKERS,
Broad Street, New York.

SOUND INVESTMENT Bonds furnished to Executors, Trustees of Estates, and Individual Investors. Defaulted Bonds of States, Counties, Cities and Railways bought and sold.

Coupons and dividends collected, and information furnished relative to securities of all kinds, without charge. Horse Railway and Gas Stocks a specialty.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

A BIG OFFER To introduce them we will GIVE AWAY 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 21 Dey St., N.Y.

LADIES WANTED—To work for us at their own homes. $7 to 10 per week can be easily made; no canvassing; fascinating and steady employment. Particulars and sample of the work sent for stamp. Address HOME M'F'G CO., P. O. Box 1916, Boston, Mass.

WE want SALESMEN everywhere, local and traveling, to sell our goods. Will pay good salary and all expenses. Write for terms at once, and state salary wanted. STANDARD SILVER WARE COMP'Y, Boston, Mass.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Lowest rates for advertising in 981 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby, Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly. GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

Pillsbury's Best.

WE keep in stock the above brand of Flour, also Washburn's Best, Snowflake, and other Choice Brands of Patent Flour.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows.—

EASTERN DIVISION.

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8. 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7,35, 7 48 8 13, 8 39, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8, 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40 8 15, P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 8 55, 10 05, 10 48 A. M., 12 M. 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M. 1 09, 2 20, 2 59, 3 52, 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, 7 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M

Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.

Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A. M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5.15 7 15† P. M.

Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.

Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M, 3 52 P. M.

Wolfboro—8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.

North Conway—8 08, A. M.,

Portland—8 08, 9 37 A. M, 1 09, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M Sunday 7 30 P. M.

Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.

St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.

Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.

St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).

Bangor, 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.

Augusta, 6 15, 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M Sundays 10 55 P. M.

Portland—2, 9 A. M. 1, 6 P. M. Sundays, 2 A. M*

North Conway—7 05 A. M,

Wolfboro— 8 15, A. M, 2 35 P. M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.

Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M, 4 18, P. M.

Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A. M, 3 03, 5, 7 40 P. M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M., 4 P. M.

Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 15 5 15, P. M.

Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A. M. 3 40, 3 45, 5 40, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M. 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.

Essex—7, 11 45 A. M, 5 40 P. M.

Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M, 1 20, 3, 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A. M, 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P. M. Sundays—8 A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P. M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M., 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A. M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.

Lynn—6 40, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A. M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 28, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A. M. 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10, 10 45, 11 35, A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 30, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P. M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH*

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A. M, 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A. M, 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 40, 6 20 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A. M, 3 10, 5 15 P. M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A. M, 12 05, 43, 5 48 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A. M, 12 17, 53, 5 58 P. M.

Peabody for Salem—8 38 A. M, 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.

Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 32 A. M. 4 43, 6 02 P. M.

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A. M, 3 40, 4 43 6 02 P. M.

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A. M, 12 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 P. M.

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M.

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A. M. 1 5 50 P. M.

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A. M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 22, P. M.

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 58, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 35, 7 00.

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M. 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P. M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Ja 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8 30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9 00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and Information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE. June 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens give

LOW PRICES

— OF —

WALL PAPERS.

For Early Buyers.

Special Lots at nearly half prices. Come early and get the best choice.

10c Papers for 6c per roll.
15c Paper for 10c per roll.
20 & 25c Papers for 12 1-2c per roll.
25c Satins for 15c per roll.

Other goods equally low.

Borders from 1c per yard upwards.

☞ Goods delivered free in Essex Co.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,
STATIONERS,
216 & 220 Essex St.,
SALEM.

The Selectmen gave a hearing yesterday afternoon on the petition of A. C. Osborne and others for the extension of Bowditch Court through to Warren street. Mr. Osborne said that he and others had laid out this Court, and when it was opened the property was worth about $3000. It was worth to-day in the neighborhood of $20.000. Since the opening there had been built nine good houses accommodating sixteen families. In the extension proposed it would first strike the land of Samuel Trask. Here there would have to be some filling done. The most of the expense would be here. At Stephen Peabody's there is an up grade which would have to be cut through. Through Crowninshield's land the first half is a solid grade, and from Buxton's to Warren street it was nearly level. What was not could be filled in one day with a scraper. Mr. Osborne thought the road would open up about fifty house lots, and there was no more desirable place in town. The inhabitants of Bowditch Court thought it a good time to ask the town to lay out this extension and take care of the road. They had taken care of it for a long time, had thrown in twenty-five feet, and they further believed it would open land which would very materially add to the taxable property of the town. He thought the expense of building the road would not exceed $500, and the town would get that all back and more. There would be a culvert in Trask's land but there would be stone enough left from the wall to stone up the sides, at any rate. A drain of two feet would carry off all the water.

Mr. Samuel Trask thought Mr. Osborne had said all there was to say. If the street opened up forty-five house lots fifty feet front, it would amount to some $100,000 taxable property. There was no doubt but that it would be taken up and houses built. He thought $500 a large enough estimate of the expense. He understood Mr. Stephen Peabody would not give in the land.

Mr. Berry said that Mr. Peabody did not care much for the street, and while he would not give in the land, he would sell what the town wanted at a low price.

Mr Buxton said it had been estimated that it would cost about $100 to build across his land. He presented a plan which made some variation from that proposed, and after some rambling discussion on the merits of each of the plans, and there being a substantial agreement on the advisability of extending the street, the Selectmen adjourned to view the premises. There was no opposition to the proposed road.

◆

Mr. C. H. Goulding has bought the piano which was drawn by a Gloucester party at the Grand Army Fair.

If you contemplate buying an organ see the one offered at Mr Goulding's furniture store first.

There is an accomplished young dressmaker in town who is credited by her many friends with being quite clever with her pen in writing poetry and prose. We hope to see some of her productions in print before long.

Mrs. Jennie A., wife of Moody B. Cone, died at her home on Washington street last Sunday at the age of 42 years 8 months 10 days. She has been a patient sufferer from that dread disease, consumption, for several months, and her wants have been administered to by a loving sister who came from the west to attend her. She leaves a husband and one daughter. The funeral took place from her late residence yesterday, and the remains were sent to Campton, N. H., for interment.

Last year the County Commissioners paid the following damages to Peabody parties who have lost different live stock by having them killed by dogs: Sarah G. McCarthy, $2.50; Philip H. Saunders, $6; Timothy Quirk, $4; Julia M. Murphy, $10; Samuel W. Nourse, $4; Fred Lawrence, $5; Mrs. John Donohue, $3; Catherine Mayer, $6; Daniel A. Small, $3; Maurice Shea, $3; James Marsh, $43; C. S. Emmerton, $75; J. P. Goodale, $70; Otis Brown, $32 and Horace P. Whipple $25.50. The following sums have been paid the following parties for appraising the above:—S. Augustus Southwick, $43.70; J. E. Herrick, $2; Levi Preston, $4; W. C. Beckett, $1; G. F. Dale, $1; James P. King, $1; Fred B. Thomas, $1; Stephen A. Osborne, $1; T. J. Rehban, $1. It will be seen by the above that in some cases good fat fees have been drawn by the appraisers. We were told of one case where the damage to a hen amounted to $1 and the fee of the appraiser $1.90.

◆

"There is nothing like Dr. Thomas Eclectic Oil to quickly cure a cold or relieve hoarseness." Written by Mrs. M. S. Fellows, Burr Oak, St. Joseph Co., Mich.

COMMISSIONERS HEARING AT WEST PEABODY.

A hearing was given on Tuesday morning Feb. 16th, in the hall of the School House by the County Commissioners, on the petition of Jacob P. Goodale and others for a road in West Peabody, a description of which was given in the PRESS of Feb. 10th. The petition having been read, Mr. Spaulding explained, by the aid of a plan drawn by Andrew Nichols, surveyor, the proposed road. He said the road from the School house to Capt. Geo. W. Taylor's would shorten the distance for the children attending school, one third of a mile, and would equally facilitate all travel of a large portion of the citizens, to the Church, Railroad Station, Store and Post Office; that the remainder of the road running from Lowell street in West Peabody, to the Andover Turnpike in Danvers, while it would greatly shorten the distance between the points, would be a far greater advantage on account of the easier grades, as compared with those of the existing roads. He also said that the route from Mr. Goodale's gate to Lowell street, should follow a direct line from the former point, to a point on said street, midway between the residences of Wm. P. Upham and Geo. W. Taylor; the best obtainable grade could be had on this line, and all travel over this road would be from the West.

Mr. Wm. P. Upham said if the public required the road, he should not oppose it. If laid out on a direct line from Lowell street to Mr. Goodale's, past his residence, it would seriously damage him by passing diagonally through the best section of his estate. Should the road be located according to the amended petition, it would cross his field at nearly a right angle and not do as much damage; the road to the School House would be a continuation of this line. He thought the Commissioners should take this route, because it would subject him to less damage than the other, and would, he hoped, be equally acceptable to the public.

Mr. Joseph Henderson said he formerly resided here; was not now a resident. He owned the land bounded by Lowell and West streets, the Lowell R. R. and the lake. A section of this territory was known as the Curtis Plain, on one portion of which the School House is located. This land is a highway for everyone; he found his gates unhung and the walls torn down; the school children, many others, and even teams would cross; it was a constant annoyance and injury to him. He did not desire to make any complaint; a road would obviate this nuisance and was needed; he should expect pay for the land taken.

Jacob P. Goodale said his farm had been in the possession of the Goodale family for over 200 years; a county highway had formerly passed by his place, until the building of the Newburyport Turnpike, when it was discontinued. His farm was nearly a mile from Lowell street, and the cost of repairing and breaking out of the road in winter, was a heavy bill of expense. The proposed road would be of great benefit to him. He should not ask for any land damages.

Capt. Geo. W. Taylor said he was in favor of the road to the School House and of the Danvers end of the proposed road, from the Andover to the Newburyport Turnpike. The line as surveyed according to the amended petition would run through the center of his farm; it would pass by a descending grade to his meadow, through a wooded knoll, which he prized highly as a grove, thence across his meadow, requiring two bridges to be built and a fill of ten feet. He did not think this section of the road was needed, but if it had to be laid out, it should pass by a direct line from the junction of Lowell and Russell streets to Mr. Goodale's pasture gate.

Mr. Thomas C. Durkee said if the road was laid out from Lowell street, on a line, between Upham and Taylor's to Goodale's gate according to Mr. Spaulding's route, it would pass transversely through the very best portion of his farm. He desired the road more than any one else, but it would be a great damage to him. There are two lines surveyed, the upper and lower route, and are shown on the plan. If the road was laid out by either of these routes, he would be satisfied.

Messrs. Marsh, Viles, Hackett and Walcott spoke in favor of the road to the School house, starting at a point on Lowell street opposite Geo. W. Taylor's and continuing to a point on West street, near the North East corner of the School house yard. Also of the proposed road to Danvers, according to the surveyed route. Mr. S. A. Southwick stated the position of the Selectmen according to instructions from the town, at a special town meeting, and gave the vote of the meeting in favor of the proposed road.

Mr. Tapley, of Danvers, said that he was the first to suggest the road; that the nearest existing road to West Peabody was very circuitous, with very steep grades, while the proposed road would be very much shorter and the grade very easy. There is much heavy teaming between the two places, and the light travel, now considerable, would be greatly increased should the road be built.

☞N. P. Merriam, of Danvers, said in sending heavy loads to West Peabody, he had always found an extra horse needed for the work. The road called for would lessen by one third the power required on the existing route.

Mr. Samuel Townes, speaking for the Danvers petitioners and giving the true inwardness of the situation, said he was one of six men appointed to outline the proposed road. That all had agreed upon the route from Danvers to Goodale's gate, but the running of a line from this point across the estates of T. C. Durkee, Wm. P. Upham and Capt. Geo. A. Taylor to Lowell street was a corker. A straight line was laid out from Goodale's, to the junction of Lowell and Russell streets, between the residences of Upham and Taylor; it being regarded as the most practicable. This being objectionable, another was laid out in the rear of Upham's house. They supposed this would be satisfactory, and were suprised to learn that Mr. Upham was nearly frantic over it; he would have an auction and sell out if the road was located there. Again a line was laid out. This time according to a plan of Mr. Durkee, placing it higher up, some fifteen feet, and making "the pooty little bend" in front of his house, so much talked of, and enabling the proprietor of the Red Farm and his family to gaze upon the "passing throng." Apparently the right line had been hit upon; it was surveyed the petition circulated, and many names secured, when "William P. kicked again;" an amendment must be tacked on—"that it may be more expedient that said highway should come out on Lowell street 900 feet easterly from Geo. W. Taylor's house." The effect of this, was to throw the road across the center of Taylor's farm. Now the Captain, as everyone knows, is "a very sensitive man." If you tread on his toes, or crowd him, he is very apt to show fight. Things began to look squally. Cap'n George flew around in a towering rage, using some pretty big "cuss words" and declaring with the utmost vehemence, that "the road should never go across his farm."

Gentlemen, with these facts before you, and knowing the difficulties we had to contend with, you should view all these routes, and lay out the one, which in your opinion, is the shortest and the best grade, without regard to any personal damage sustained by any one. At this point, there being no further testimony, the hearing was brought to a conclusion.

A large company dined at the residences of Messrs. Upham, Durkee, and Goodale, where roast beef, roast pig and chicken pie, washed down with apple jack, "did the business." The afternoon was spent in viewing the different routes.

Farmer Durkee gave it as his opinion that a "pooty little bend," was preferable to a straight line; and that a hill, fifteen feet high, to a dead level. But all the other speakers were of a different opinion.

W. S. J.

◆

NORTH PEABODY.

The hoodlum element (of which we have been more free than before the cars run) again showed itself last Monday night by destroying shade trees, tumbling down stone walls, breaking fences, carrying off gates, etc., again showing that we have a very great need of police protection.

We are pleased to learn of the convalescence of Mrs. L. D. Hook, wife of the wood worker on Central street.

Mr. Adams is painting Mr. C. H. Whipple's house next to the school house.

Mr. J. B. Stevens is reparing the outside of his house on Andover street.

Mr. McDonald contemplates opening a variety and grocery store in connection with his horse car station about the first of March.

Z. O. A.

◆

SOUTH PEABODY.

Mr. Charles W. Davis & Bro. have been filling one of the ice houses at Humphrey's pond, at Lynnfield, the past week.

There will be an entertainment at the vestry of the church next Friday night, consisting of singing, tableaux and readings of Longfellow's poems.

Mr. Frank E. Newhall will put about 200 tons of ice into his ice house, in the rear of his house on Washington street.

R. T. Brown has sold out his ice business to the Lynn Ice Co. and leased his houses to that company for five years.

Walter Griffin shot twenty-two muskrats during the high water last week, near the ponds of South Peabody.

Mr. D. M. Small, of Lynnfield Hotel had a narrow escape from instant death while at work at the quarry in that place Friday. He had fired a blast, and, as the seam did not open wide enough, he began to pour powder down the seam from a can. There was some fire, and the can exploded, burning him badly on the head and hands.

Where Hours go Merrily.

"THE LONG STRIKE."—This favorite drama by Boucicault, is to be given at the Town Hall on Friday evening, March 5th, by the Peabody Dramatic Club, a local organization that deserves much encouragement at the hands of our citizens. We feel sure that the entertainment to be given by these young men will be worth attending, as they have been for weeks preparing the same, and have rehearsed their parts with great care. We understand that the stage business has been arranged for them by Mr. Carlyle, of Salem, who has taken great interest in the club and wishes to see them do their "level best." The cast of characters is very full and includes the usual list of old men, young men, villains, gay deceivers, strikers, mill hands, mill owners, policemen and factory girls. There will doubtless be a great curiosity to see "who is who," and to identify the several members of the club with the characters they personate. This information we hold in reserve. We must not tell all we know just yet, but this we can assure our readers, that a splendid performance will be given. Buy your tickets now before the choice seats are all sold.

A party composed of about thirty of the friends of Miss Annie Fitzpatrick gave her a surprise party last Monday night. Games, music and dancing occupied the evening and a collation served about 11 o'clock, and it was early morning before the company broke up.

The second skating and dancing party of the St. John's C. T. A. Society will be held at the rink Monday evening, March 8th. The committee has secured as an attraction the Belmont Brothers in their brother act of classical groupings, and in their leaping contest in which Mr. D. Belmont will introduce his wonderful double somersault over objects. Two of the brothers also appear as the Komical Komics.

The Butchers defeated the Bakers at polo last Thursday night at the rink. Score 5 to 2.

The Urban Club, composed of young men of this town and Salem, will give a social assembly at Hamilton Hall, March 2.

The skating and dancing party of the Morocco Dressers Assembly, 3273 K. of L., at the rink last Wednesday night. was largely attended. The entertainment consisted of fancy and trick bicycle riding by the Wilmot Brothers, who were very skilful and received hearty applause. The polo game between the St. John and Father Matthew teams for the largest number of goals in thirty minutes resulted in a victory for the former, and only one goal was played. Dancing continued till a late hour. A most successful party was held.

At the last meeting of Masconomo Tribe I. O. R. M., last Thursday evening, Mr. O. B. Chadwick resigned as Senior Sagamore, as business engagements would interfere with his regular attendance, and Mr. Ezra H. Shannon, the Junior Sagamore, was promoted to the position. Mr. Charles H. Dodge was elected Junior Sagamore.

The Unity Club will hold a dress party in the Town Hall, Thursday evening, March 18. It is expected to be a grand affair.

All the arrangements for the Japanese entertainment and dance at the Town Hall are completed, and we trust all our readers will be present and assist the Benevolent Society in their worthy undertaking. The price of admission to the Wedding is but 25 cents, and there ought not to be a vacant seat in the entire hall. The parts will be taken by our well known people, Mrs. Pevear being the bride, and Frank Proctor the groom, Charles Proctor and Miss Kate Price the groom's parents, Harry Spofford and Mrs. Geo. R. Nelson the bride's parents. Other parts are to be taken by Alice H. Nelson, Annie Thorndike, Percy Grosvenor, Lizzie Hall, Mamie Poole and others. The dance will be under the management of Edward W. Abbott, Warren Wilson, Jr., Geo. R. Nelson and Albert H. Merrill. The whole affair is bound to be a success, and the tickets are selling very rapidly.

Jimmie Smith did his "great act" in Marblehead last Monday evening. He is a popular young contortionist.

Tickets are selling rapidly to the skating and dancing party at the rink of the St. John's C. T. A. Society which occurs on March 8th.

The S. of L. of this town and the clerks of W. G. Webber & Co. played a game of polo at the rink Monday forenoon. Score 17 to 3 in favor of the S. of L.

A large audience were present at the skating rink last Monday, and the "Bad boy and his Pa" were well received.

Arrangements are being perfected for the grand costume skating carnival at the rink on the evening of March 3. Mr. Slocum, of Providence, R. I., will be the costumer and prizes will be awarded as follows: Handsomest Ladies' costume, a silver jewel case; handsomest Gents' costume, a mantel clock; second handsomest ladies costume, Bohemian glass bouquet holder; second handsomest Gents costume, a gold seal ring; best burlesque ladies costume, Ladies toilet, with plush case. Best Gents burlesque costume, hammered brass smoking set. The prizes will be on exhibition at Spaulding's drug store where reserved seats will also be for sale.

FIRE! FIRE!

SMOKE!
SMOKE!
SMOKE!

LOOK OUT.

COMMENCING

FIRDAY MORNING,

FEBRUARY 5TH,

The Boston Clothing House, 221 Essex Street, will be open for business, which has been closed on account of the Fire Jan. 25.

The entire stock of Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Bags, Etc., will be closed out regardless of value with in the next Thirty Days.

Don't miss these Bargains, such as were never before shown to the people of New England. Remember the Store,

221 ESSEX ST.,
Boston
Clothing
House,
STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

About 100 brothers were present at the meeting of Holten Lodge I. O. O. F. at their hall last evening, and at the close, the entertainment committee furnished a first class entertainment for the pleasure of the brothers, consisting of a minstrel show. About a dozen brothers were blacked up, and for two hours they furnished lots of fun and wit, and humor flowed in a continuous stream, most of them adapted to local parties present. The orchestra consisted of horns, cornet, trombones, etc., while each was supplied with a kazoo mouth piece. George C Farrington and Fred C Blake were end men, and there was a quartette consisting of Fred C Blake, George F Lawrence, George Farrington and W O Gray. Charles A Weare was Interlocuter and Charles A Sanger and G. N. Winslow delivered stump speeches. The jokes were great especially the one on the Knights of Labor, James Howley and others. The one on James Buxton's head was good and Brother Pettey's "strong constitution" took the house by storm. As a whole it was the best entertainment the lodge have had in the hall.

Next Saturday evening the Union Athletic Quarternanum, consisting of Prof. E. G. Colby, trick and fancy bicycle rider, Hanson & McVey, acrobat tumblers, and high kickers, and T. F. Martin, club swinger, will hold the boards at the rink. Commences at 8. 40 sharp.

Marriages.

In Salem, Feb. 17, by Rev. E. S. Atwood, D. D, Mr. Edward A. Pierce to Miss M. Louise Nichols, both of Salem.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Feb. 13, William Gowing, 88 yrs. 9 mos. 9 days.
15th, Mr. Charles A. Saul. 36 yrs. 6 mos. 20 days.
17th, Mr. Michael Cahill, 20 yrs. 11 mos.
18th, Mr. Jeremiah Logan 27 yrs.
13th, Thomas F., son of Michael and Mary O'Donald, 5 mos. 5 days.
In Danvers, Feb. 17, Mrs. Nora A Hayden wife of Mr. John Mead, 36 yrs.
In Salem, Feb. 17th, Mr. John J. Swift, 24 yrs. 16 days; 19th, Hon. William S. Messervy 73 yrs. 5 mos.; William A., son of George C. and Mary E. Teel, 15 yrs. 2 mos.
In Santa Barbara, Cal., at the house of her son-in-law, Capt. Chas. P. Low, Mrs. Hannah W. Tucker, 79 yrs. 7 mos.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

Special Prices

— ON —

GENTLEMEN'S OVERCOATS.

ULSTERS, DRIVING COATS, REEFERS & VESTS.

Our Entire Stock closed immediately.

BOYS' OVERCOATS, BOYS' REEFERS,

Marked Down. Low Prices for Boys' Suits.

GREAT TROUSER SALE

TO BE CONTINUED.

Hundreds of pairs added to our already large stock, making the largest assortment ever shown in the city. All wool Trousers, $1.50; Fine Cassimere Trousers, $2, 2.50 and 3; Fancy and Dress Trousers, $3.50, 4, 4.50 and 5.

COME RIGHT IN, A BARGAIN AWAITS YOU

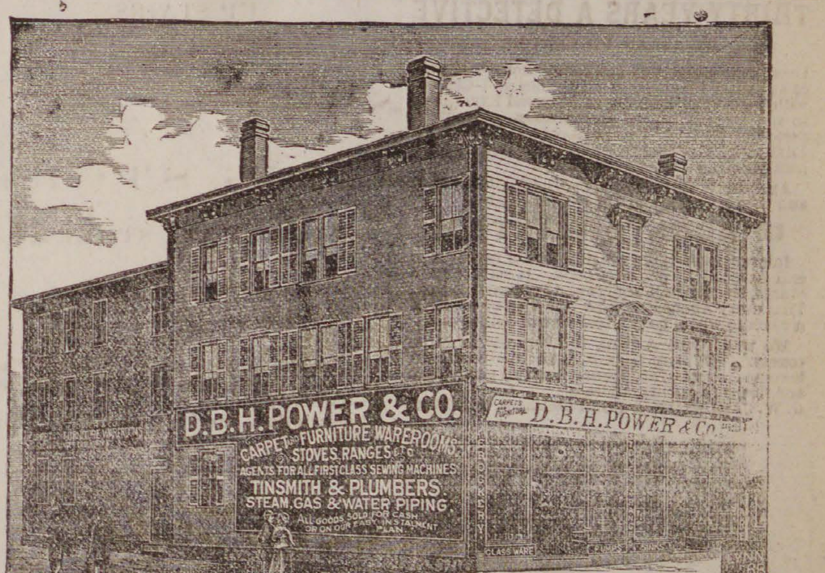
— AT —

EDW. C. ALMY & CO'S.

163 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence.
Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

STOCK TAKING IS OVER AND WE ARE NOW READY FOR BUSINESS.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET AND FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES &C.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
ALL GOODS SOLD FOR CASH OR ON OUR EASY INSTALMENT PLAN.
D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CROCKERY
GLASS WARE

We are more than pleased with the amount of business done during the last year, and we propose to place 1886 as far ahead of 1885, as 1885 is now ahead of 1884, Notwithstanding the croakings and cries from our competitors, we still live, and adhere strictly to our special system $1 down and $1 a week. We have just received one car load of

PARLOR SUITS

and two car loads of

CHAMBER SETS,

direct from the factories, and made especially to our order. We are now receiving every day new styles and patterns of

CARPETS, RUGS, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES, &C.

Remember we have the largest store and largest and best assortment of goods to be found in Essex county. We sell EVERYTHING to furnish a house complete from the lowest to the highest grades and at prices that defy competition, and at terms that are easier then those offered elsewhere. Our stock of Crockery, Glass and Silver Ware is complete. All of our Stoves and Ranges, both new and second hand, to be closed out to make room for new Spring goods.

NEW HOME
Simple Strong
Swift
Sure
NEW HOME

Sole Agent in Marblehead and Vicinity for the

CELEBRATED

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE.

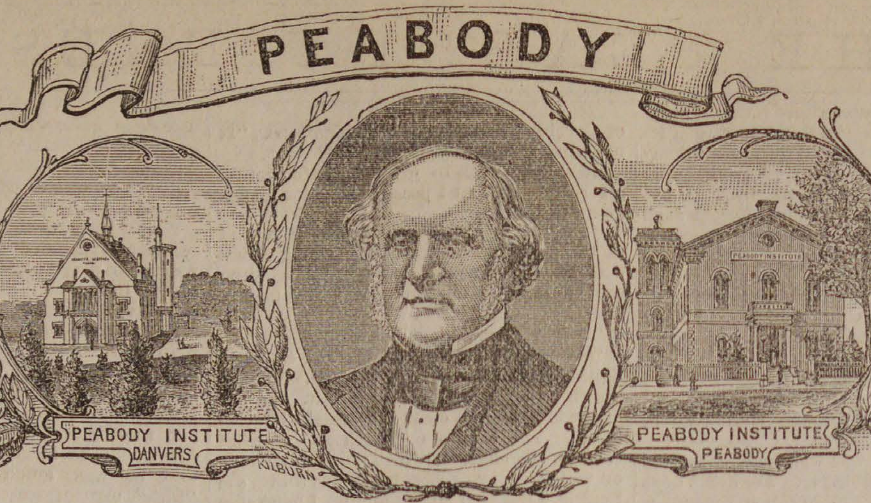
Noiseless and light running. This we will sell at the lowest prices for cash or on our instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a week.

☞ All goods delivered free.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,
CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

The Peabody Press.



VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 3, 1886. NO. 9.

Wait for the Opening.

NEW STORE,

NEW STOCK,

NEW PRICES.

KENT & BOYNTON,

Clothiers, Tailors and Furnishers,

Have leased the large and elegant store in Perley Block,

250 & 254 Essex St.

formerly occupied by the Wilmot Clothing Co., and will be open to the public on or about March 15th.

We shall offer to the public the largest and most elegant line of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Ready made Clothing ever shown east of Boston.

We shall make fine Custom Tailoring a specialty and shall cut and make the same on the premises.

Watch the Papers.

Wait for the Opening.

KENT & BOYNTON'S CLOTHING HOUSE,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

F. D. TARLTON.

--DRY GOODS.--

Prints, Prints, Prints.

1 case light Prints, 5 cents. 1 case Shirting Cambrics, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.

Jerseys, Jerseys.

Plain Black, 50 and 75 cents. Embroidered, $1.00. Fine all wool, plain and embroidered, $1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 2.50, 3.00, 3.50

All sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts, 50, 75c, $1.00.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOODS,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

March 3d!

Lent begins next week!

Order your ballots early!

Spinach is in the market!

Ice men are again cutting!

Next comes St Patrick's day!

Citizens' caucus this evening!

Town meeting next Monday!

The winds feel quite Marchy!

Well, didn't we get a blizzard?

The barber shops will close Sunday!

Weather signs don't count this week!

The time to advertise is all the time!

Spring goods are in the store windows.

Snow, wind and dust enough for the present.

Where are those boys that were playing marbles?

Mr. Herbert Gardner has a notice in another column.

Mr. R. H. Brown has sold his ice business to Lynn parties.

Bleached cotton remnants at Tarlton's, 42 Main street. *

The robin, the pussy willow and now the spring candidate have come.

Nugent's Shoe Store is the place to get the value of your money. *

Mr. Geo. C. Prescott has been to New Hampshire on a brief visit.

Bargain in cotton trimming at F. D. Tarlton's; 3 cents a yard. *

A man that isn't asked to sign a petition now days must be miserable.

Read the new advertisement of Edward C. Almy & Co. in this issue.

Spring styles of prints, cambrics and satteens at F. D. Tarlton's. *

Our farmer friends will save money by trading with Samuel Trask & Son.

Mr. William Wilkins and his mother left town last Friday for her son's home in Texas.

Mr. Frank Reed had another ill turn at his home on Franklin street last Saturday.

Eeverybody goes to the opera this week, Bennett & Moulton's, at popular prices.

Boys' Kip Boots, solid leather, only $1.25 and $1.50, at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Miss Mary E. Robinson of Fairhaven, Mass., is visiting friends in town.

Ladies' German Slippers, worth $1.50 only 90 cents, at Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store.

Convicts at the Massachusetts reformatory will not be allowed to use tobacco after March 21st.

To-day is the last day of registry of voters names. Be sure you are on the voting lists to-night.

The dainty little card tables for progressive euchre are the latest in fashionable furniture.

A subscription paper has been started for the relief of D. D. Stevens, who broke his arm yesterday.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straigh at George Stevens'. *

The Selectmen voted to refer the extension of Bowditch Court to the new board of Selectmen.

Miss Jennie S. Tufts, teacher in the Bowditch school, being sick, her place is filled by Miss Lizzie Nichols.

Cut flowers should never be left over night in a room heated by a furnace unless covered with a moist napkin.

Mr. Daniel A. Goodrich has bought out Mr. C. A. Hooper's hulled corn business and will continue the same.

B. F. Stevens will receive orders for Clifford the paper hanger and painter. Secure him if you desire good work. *

Will not those who are in the habit of grumbling after election is over, take hold and do a little work before hand.

Hallowell & Smiley are fast disposing of that car load of flour and if you are out, etc. A word to the wise is sufficient.

The leather market continues inactive and sales have been small, and prices, generally, are rather in the buyers' favor.

The tracks of the Danvers street railway company were so badly blocked during the high winds that barges were run from Andover street bridge to Danvers. We learn that as soon as the weather is improved they will put on the cars recently taken off.

A check for $25 has been received by the Firemen's Relief Association of Salem from Messrs. Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clark's Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo. Stevens' *

Mr. John Driscoll, who worked for Mr. C. F. Hathaway, has entered the employ of a Marblehead baker named Boardman.

A large number of comfortable little homes of the sparrows in the trees along Main street have been blown off by the high wind.

Miss Nellie L. Stockwell will leave for Washington, D. C., next week, returning to New York City in time for the millinery openings.

Rev. Mr. Sperry is expected to preach at the South Church next Sunday. His old congregation will greet him with a large house.

Rev. J. W. Hudson preached at the Barton Square Church in Salem last Sunday forenoon, and at his own church in the afternoon.

At the request of the K. of L., Hallowell & Smiley will discontinue furnishing the "scabs" at Harrington's with provisions.

Mr. Charles P. Elligott has hired Richard Lyons' store on Washington street, and will go into the grocery business again.

It is said that over 3100 names were attached to the petition in favor of the Boston & Lowell R. R., in its proposed route through Lynn.

Mr. F. A. Pemberton has bought the sleigh drawn by the Provincetown man at the G. A. R. fair. There are several prizes that are not yet called for.

The Legislative standing committee on street railroads with the Enos Elevated Railroad people, inspected the route to Winthrop last Tuesday.

Mrs. Gen. Sutton will present a handsome guess cake to the fair at Andover, and Miss Lila Sutton is to give a large doll elegantly attired.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

C. C. Farwell & Co. have accepted the Knights of Labor price list for one year from April 1, and the Lasters' Union list for six months from that date.

The Selectmen had a meeting last Thursday and audited their own accounts, and decided to lay out the street in West Peabody from Newbury street to Brown's store.

The W. C. T. U. will sell refreshments to the voters next Monday. Any donations for the table will be gratefully received and sent for, if any member of the Union is notified.

It is reported that the Boston & Maine railroad company are negotiating for the purchase of "Potters" field in the rear of the Bowditch school house, as a gravel pit and freight yard.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending Feb. 27 were 4311 rolls, 157 sides, 200 bundles, 7 barrels, 11 bags, 3 cases of leather, 6 casks, 3 barrels of skins.

No family should be without a newspaper. It cultivates the mind by day, and by night, if placed between the sheet and blankets, will keep the body warm. Now is the time to subscribe.

The surveys for the proposed Salem branch of the Boston and Lowell railroad have been completed, and the work of transferring them to paper has already begun. They contemplate no grade crossings.

Frozen Peabodyites are at last relieved. The advent of the warm wave is officially announced. The heat has not as yet become very oppressive, but just the same the warm wave or a part of it has arrived.

The Kansas City Times of February 9th contained a picture of Mr. W. W. Smith, father of Mr. William Smith, who resided with his grandmother on Washington street until he joined his father about two years ago.

Rev. O. F. Safford, of Cambridgeport, will preach at the Universalist church next Sunday morning, and conduct the communion service in the afternoon. Rev. Mr. Safford was formerly pastor of the church here, and will be remembered by most of our citizens.

Dr. C. G. Weston positively refuses to allow his name to be used for a re-election on the Board of Health. This is to be regretted, as Dr. Weston has been a valuable man on the Board, and could easily have a re-election.

The Ober Car Ventilator Company has contracted to "outfit" six cars of the New York and New Engand railroad, and also the White Mountain express of the Boston & Lowell road will be equipped with the appliance.

The women type setters of Boston have made a startling record in picking up types. This is easily explained when we say that the one making the best record learned the business with Mark Allen, of the Woburn Advertiser.

Mr. Carlyle assures us that the young men of the Peabody Dramatic Club are well worthy of a good house, nay, a large house, on Friday evening of this week. He says that they will give a most excellent performance, and his word can be taken for it.

Mr. Samuel Trask announces in another column that he has taken his son. William T., in company with him and the firm name will be Samuel Trask & Son. Mr. Trask is a young man who has been brought up in the business and is well known to the large number of customers.

Mrs. George F. Haskell died at her home on Main street, last Friday afternoon, after a long sickness, of consumption. She had held the respect of those who knew her, and has resided in this town most of the time since her marriage. Her age was 35 years, 7 months and 18 days.

Mr. Geo. R. Nelson, of this town, has been appointed adjutant of the 8th regiment by Col. Osgood, last Saturday. Mr. Nelson is a son of Mr. R. G. Nelson, and received a military education at Worcester and is fully competent to fill the honorable position to which he has been appointed.

Mr. Henry H. Proctor has sold his estate on Lowell street, to Mr. B. F. Southwick, who will take possession about the first of June, when Mr. Proctor will remove from town. We regret this move on Mr. Proctor's part, as the town can ill afford to lose any of her enterprising citizens.

Rev. L. L. Wood, writing from his home in Montana to one of our citizens, says that he has recently returned from a lecturing tour of nine consecutive nights. They have had only about three weeks of cold weather, and farmers plowed up to the first of January and have been plowing since the first of February.

Mrs. Mary J. West, who died at Danvers last Wednesday, was undoubtedly the largest person in this vicinity, weighing at the time of her death 340 pounds. This growth was the result of a dropsical disease. Her funeral occurred Thursday, and the remains were taken to Peabody for burial. The hearse would not admit the casket, and a covered wagon was substituted.

Owing to a death in the family of one of the dramatic club, and the sickness of another member, we are to be favored with the presence of Mr. Carlyle on the stage, in the person of old Moneypenny, the lawyer, at the presentation of the Long Strike, in Town Hall Friday evening. This announcement is sufficient to increase the sale of tickets. This sterling actor will be gladly welcomed.

It is surprising, when you think of it, how universally successful the almanac makers were in their prognostications for 1885. It will be found that they all predicted with marvelous exactitude as to the number of days, weeks and months in the year. It is true that some of them slipped now and then in the matter of the weather, but in such an uncertain climate as ours an occasional failure in that respect is not to be wondered at.

A watch impregnated with magnetism cannot "keep time." It will vary irregularly, gaining and losing and stopping, in the most annoying sort of way. It has been found that this magnetic or electric influence is the direct cause of the "queer freaks" and unaccountable behavior of fine watches, and is the secret enemy which has undermined the reputation and baffled the skill of our best watchmakers. But Mr. Daniel Low will remedy all this and at the same time sell you a watch at a very small profit to himself.

Down, Down They Go.

CONSOLIDATION.

—— OF ——

30

DIFFERENT

LOTS

—— OF ——

Men'S and Young Men's strictly all wool Business and Dress Suits.

Nothing like it ever before known in this section of the State. Bargains that will please everybody. We have taken about six hundred Men's and Young Men's Strictly all-Wool Suits, comprising checks, plaids, plain and fancy cassimeres, black, brown and blue whipcord worsteds, over thirty different patterns; all neat, stylish goods. We have consolidated them all into one lot and marked them down to

The uniform Price of only $10 per Suit.

Remember your choice from 600 suits, 30 different prtterns for only

TEN DOLLARS.

THE NAUMKEAG NEVER FORGETS THE BOYS.

We have selected from our stock about 500 boys' strictly all wool knee pant suits, ages 4 to 12, representing over 25 different styles in checks, plaids, fancy cassimeres, whipcord worsteds, velvets and corduroys, made and trimmed in the latest style—regular $5.00, $6.00, $8.00 and $10.00 suits. We have consolidated them all into three different lots, and marked them down to only $3.00, 4.00 and 5.00 each.

WINTER OVERCOATS.

REMEMBER.

We have commenced our last and final mark down sale of Winter Overcoats and Ulsters for Men's. Boys' and Children's wear. It will pay you to buy an overcoat at this great sale for another season, as you can save from $3.00 to $7.00 according to the quality of the goods. We are selling Men's all wool Indigo Blue Beaver Overcoats, warranted fast colors. for 6.00. Heavy all wool cassimeres, cheviots and whipcord worsted overcoats for $8 00 and $10. Elegant Kerseys and Meltons marked down to 12 and $15. Boys' all wool overcoats marked down from $5, 6, 8 and 10 to only $3, 5, and 6.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

Oliver Roberts, in company with Joseph S. Needham of West Peabody, is on a three weeks' visit to Washington and intermediate points. At last accounts they had "done" New York, Jersey City and Philadelphia, taking in Central Park and Henderson's greenhouses, and were en route to the Nation's capital city We are in receipt of papers along the way, for which thanks are returned. We wish them continued pleasure and a safe return.—Danvers Mirror.

An odd looking genius was in town Monday; he was attired in a suit of green that was worn threadbare in spots, had wide brass bands about his waist, a big brass collar about his neck two inches wide, he also wore a big breastplate of brass studded with bits of colored glass. He inquired for the police station but refused to be interviewed. We have not yet decided whether it was a relative of our chief, or whether, judging from the brass, he was not a newspaper man.

Daniel J. Sweeney has purchased the cigar store of Mrs. Summers, on Main street, and will take possession to-day. He will run it in connection with his other store. Mrs. Summers will still continue the manufacture of cigars in the rear. Mr. Sweeney has had an excellent reputation for the handling of good cigars, and with the increased facilities of both stores, we wish him continued success.

Miss Mary Floyd, of this town, offered the following resolution at the convention of the W. C. T. U. at Danvers last week, and it was unanimously adopted:

RESOLVED, "That we, members of the Essex Co. W. C. T. U., in conventioned assembled in Danvers, Feb. 24, 1886, hereby express our sense of the deep loss the temperance cause has sustained in the recent death of its noble champion and eloquent defender, John B. Gough. His distinguished services inspire us with heartfelt gratitude and incite us to greater enthusiasm, and to a deeper consecration to the work before us."

Mr. and Mrs. John Sutton are receiving congratulations. It is a girl and was born Tuesday evening.

It is rumored that Supt. Cook, of the Danvers Horse R. R., will occupy the Teel house.

The two lots of land, a part of the estate of the late Isaac Hardy, situated on Walnut street, were sold at public auction last Thursday, by Mr. Chas. Odell. The lot on the northerly side containing the tannery, building and machinery and about 100,000 feet of land was purchased by Mr. R. H. Brown for $14,500. The lot on the southerly side, containing 62,000 feet, was also bought by Mr. Brown for $12,400. It is understood that Mr. Brown bought it for the Bank.

217 women last year took pains to show their convictions on the liquor question. Shall there not be as many and even more, this year? It is not much work just to write one's name, over a "no" or "yes," and slip it into the hand of a husband, brother, son or neighbor who is going to the polls. One always feels more strongly committed to a cause, after voting for it. How many women would be glad if their votes could be really counted in, and thus help toward a majority as large as that of our sister town—Danvers, whose reputation for 54 years, has been enviable.

The pulpit of the South Church was very acceptably filled last Sunday by Rev. S. H. Lee of New Haven. A letter from Mr. Geo. A. Hall of Hartford was read by Mr. Lee. Mr. Hall accepts the call of the church and society, and expressed a wish that the services of ordination and installation be arranged and held as soon as convenient. Rev. W. G. Sperry will preach next Sabbath morning, and conduct the communion services in the afternoon. There will be no prayer meeting this evening, but the lecture preparatory to the communion will be given on Saturday evening by Mr. Sperry.

Poet's Corner.

The Singer's Alms.

(The beautiful poem which follows has frequently been published without the author's name. It is from the pen of Henry Abbey, and is included in a volume of that gentleman's poems recently published at Kingston, N. Y.)

In Lyons, in the mart of that French town,
Years since, a woman leading a fair child,
Craved a small alms of one who, walking down
The thoroughfare, caught the child's glance and smiled
To see, behind its eyes, a noble soul,
He paused, but found he had no coin to dole.

His guardian angel warned him not to lose
This chance of pearl to do another good;
So, as he waited, sorry to refuse
The asked-for penny, there aside he stood,
And with his hat held as by limb the nest,
He covered his kind face, and sang his best.

The sky was blue above, and all the lane
Of commerce, where the singer stood, was filled,
And many paused, and, listening, paused again
To hear the voice that through and through them thrilled.
I think the guardian angel helped along
That cry for pity woven in a song.

The singer stood between the beggars there,
Before a church, and overhead the spire,
A slim perpetual finger in the air
Held toward heaven, land of the heart's desire—
As if an angel, pointing up, had said:
"Yonder a crown awaits this singer's head."

The hat of its stamped brood was emptied soon
Into the woman's lap who drenched with tears
Her kiss upon the hand of help; 'twas noon,
And noon in her glad heart drove forth her fears.
The singer, pleased, passed on and softly thought,
"Men will not know by whom this deed was wrought."

But when at night he came upon the stage,
Cheer after cheer went up from that wide throng,
And flowers rained on him; naught could assuage
The tumult of the welcome save the song
That he had sweetly sung, with covered face,
For the two beggars in the market place.

The Wonderful Weaver.

There's a wonderful weaver
High up in the air,
And he weaves a white mantle
For cold earth to wear.
With the wind for his shuttle,
The cloud for his loom,
How he weaves, how he weaves,
In the light, in the gloom!

Oh! with finest of laces
He decks bush and tree;
On the bare flinty meadows
A cover lays he.
Then a quaint cap he places
On pillar and post;
And he changes the pump
To a grim, silent ghost.

But this wonderful weaver
Grows weary at last.
And the shuttle lies idle
That once flew so fast.
Then the sun peeps abroad
On the work that is done;
And he smiles: "I'll unravel
It all, just for fun!"

New York Independent.

George D. Robinson to Henry L. Dawes.

The election that comes next spring,
Tra la!
Breathes promise of merry moonshine,
As we merrily boom and we sing
Tra la!
We welcome the chance of the thing,
Tra la!
Of a Senator'seat so fine;
And that's what we mean when we say that the thing
Is brewing a storm that will rage in the spring.
Tra la la la la la! etc.

Look out for John D. in the spring,
Tra la!
With a smile on his jolly face;
We must take him under our wing,
Tra la!
He's a very seductive young thing.
Tra la!
With a perfectly cherubic face;
And that's what I mean when I say or I sing,
"Oh bother John D., with his boom in the spring."
Tra la la la la la! etc.,

Boston Globe.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only; very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging.

CARRISTON'S GIFT.

town instead of troubling Mr. Douglas to drive so far out.

Madeline, in spite of the superstitious element in her character, was a brave girl, and in spite of her refined style of beauty, strong and healthy. Early hours were the rule in that humble home, so before 7 o'clock in the morning she was ready to start on her drive to the little town. At first she thought of taking with her the boy who did the rough, out-door work; but he was busy about something or other, and besides, was a garrulous lad, who would be certain to chatter the whole way, and this morning Miss Rowan wanted no companions save her own mingled thoughts of sadness and joy. She knew every inch of the road—she feared no evil—she would be home again before nightfall—the pony was quiet and sure-footed—so away went Madeline in the strong, primitive vehicle on her lonely twelve-mile drive through the fair scenery.

She passed few people on the road. Indeed, she remembered meeting no one except one or two pedestrian tourists, who, like sensible men, were doing a portion of their day's task in the early morning. I have no doubt but Miss Rowan seemed to them a passing vision of lovliness.

But when she was a mile or two from Callendar she saw a boy on a pony. The boy, who must have known her by sight, stopped and handed her a telegram. She had to pay several shillings for the delivery, or intended delivery, of the message, so far from the station. The boy galloped away, congratulating himself on having been spared a long ride, and Miss Rowan tore open the envelope left in her hands.

"The message was brief: "Mr. Carr is seriously ill. Come at once. You will be met in London."

Madeline did not scream or faint. She gave one low moan of pain, set her teeth, and with the face of one in a dream drove as quickly as she could to Callendar, straight to the railway station.

Fortunately, or rather unfortunately, she had money with her, so she did not waste time in going to Mr. Douglas. In spite of the crushing blow she had received, the girl had all her wits about her. A train would start in ten minutes' time. She took her ticket, then found an idler outside the station, and paid him to take the pony and carriage back to the farm, with the message as repeated to Carriston.

The journey passed like a long dream. The girl could think of nothing but her lover, dying, dying—perhaps dead before she could reach him. The miles flew by unnoticed; twilight crept on; the carriage grew dark; at last—London at last! Miss Rowan stepped out on the broad platform, not knowing what to do or where to turn. Presently a tall, well-dressed man came up to her, and removing his hat, addressed her by name. The promise as to her being met had been kept.

She clasped her hands. "Tell me—oh, tell me, he is not dead!" she cried.

"Mr. Carr is not dead. He is ill, very ill—delirious, and calling for you."

"Where is he? Oh, take me to him!"

"He is miles and miles from here—at a friend's house. I have been deputed to meet you and to accompany you, if you feel strong enough to continue the journey at once."

"Come," said Madeline. "Take me to him."

"Your luggage?" asked the gentleman.

"I have none. Come!"

"You must take some refreshment."

"I need nothing. Come!"

The gentleman glanced at his watch. "There is just time," he said. He called a cab, told the driver to go at top speed. They reached Paddington just in time to catch the mail.

At Paddington he placed her in a ladies' carriage and left her. He was a smoker, he said. She wondered somewhat at this desertion. Then the train sped down west. At the large stations the gentleman came to her and offered her refreshments. Hunger seemed to have left her, but she accepted a cup of tea once or twice. At last sorrow, fatigue, and the weakness produced by such a prolonged fast had their natural effect. With the tears still on her lashes the girl fell asleep, and must have slept for many miles; a sleep unbroken by stoppages at stations.

Her conductor at last aroused her. He stood at the door of the carriage. "We must get out here," he said. All the momentarily forgotten anguish came back to her as she stood beside him on the almost unoccupied platform.

"Are we there at last?" she asked.

"I am sorry to say we have still a long drive. Would you like to rest first?"

"No, no. Come on, if you please. She spoke with feverish eagerness.

The man bowed. "A carriage waits," he said.

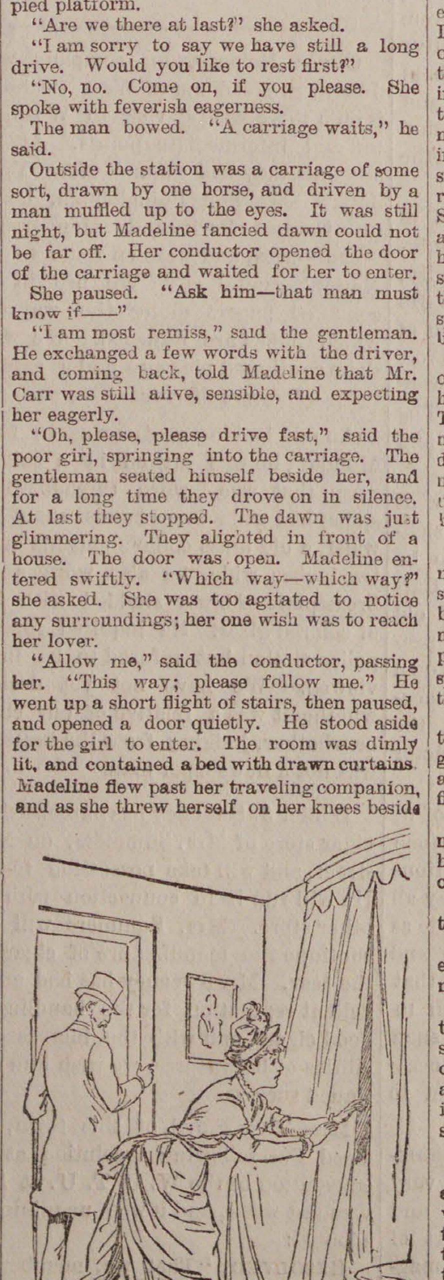
Outside the station was a carriage of some sort, drawn by one horse, and driven by a man muffled up to the eyes. It was still night, but Madeline fancied dawn could not be far off. Her conductor opened the door of the carriage and waited for her to enter.

She paused. "Ask him—that man must know if——"

"I am most remiss," said the gentleman. He exchanged a few words with the driver, and coming back, told Madeline that Mr. Carr was still alive, sensible, and expecting her eagerly.

"Oh, please, please drive fast," said the poor girl, springing into the carriage. The gentleman seated himself beside her, and for a long time they drove on in silence. At last they stopped. The dawn was just glimmering. They alighted in front of a house. The door was open. Madeline entered swiftly. "Which way—which way?" she asked. She was too agitated to notice any surroundings; her one wish was to reach her lover.

"Allow me," said the conductor, passing her. "This way; please follow me." He went up a short flight of stairs, then paused, and opened a door quietly. He stood aside for the girl to enter. The room was dimly lit, and contained a bed with drawn curtains. Madeline flew past her traveling companion, and as she threw herself on her knees beside the bed upon which she expected to see the helpless and shattered form of the man she loved, heard, or fancied she heard, the door locked behind her.



He stood aside for the girl to enter.

The moment he entered my room I recognized him. He was the thin-lipped, gentlemanly person whom I had met on my journey to Bournemouth last spring—the man who had seemed so much impressed by my views on insanity, and had manifested such interest in the description I had given—without mentioning any name—of Carriston's peculiar mind.

I should have at once claimed acquaintanceship with my visitor, but before I could speak he advanced and apologized gracefully for his intrusion.

"You will forgive it," he added, "when I tell you my name is Ralph Carriston."

Remembering our chance conversation, the thought that, after all, Charles Carriston's wild suspicion was well founded flashed through me like lightning. My great hope was that my visitor might not remember my face as I remembered his. I bowed coldly, but said nothing.

"I believe, Dr. Brand," he continued, "you have a young relative of mine at present staying with you?"

"Yes, Mr. Carriston is my guest," I answered. "We are old friends."

"Ah, I did not know that. I do not remember having heard him mention your name as a friend. But, as it is so, no one knows better than you do the unfortunate state of his health. How do you find him to-day—violent?"

I pretended to ignore the man's meaning, and answered smilingly: "Violence is the last thing I should look for. He is tired out and exhausted by travel, and is in great distress. That, I believe, is the whole of his complaint."

"Yes, yes, to be sure, poor boy. His sweetheart has left him, or something. But as a doctor you must know that his mental condition is not quite what it should be. His friends are very anxious about him. They fear that a little restraint—temporary, I hope—must be put upon his actions. I called to ask your advice and aid."

"In what, Mr. Carriston?"

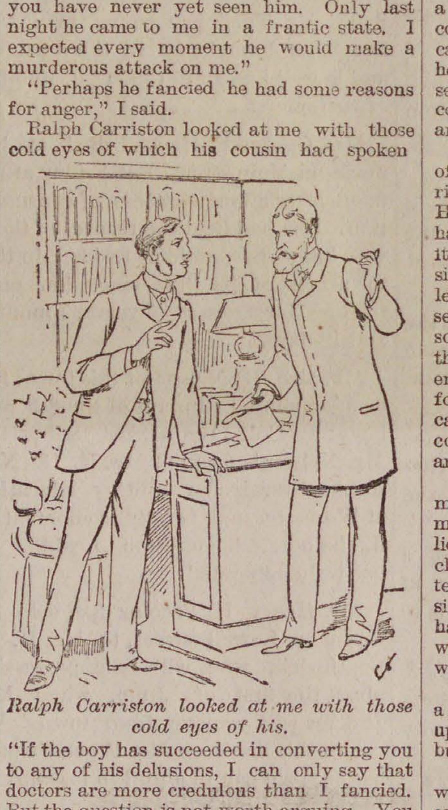
"In this. A young man can't be left free to go about threatening his friends' lives. I have brought Dr. Daley with me—you know him, of course. He is below in my carriage. I will call him up, with your permission. He could then see poor Charles, and the needful certificate could be signed by you two doctors."

"Mr. Carriston," I said, decidedly, "let me tell you in the plainest words that your cousin is at present as fully in possession of his wits as you are. Dr. Daley—whoever he may be—could sign no certificate, and in our day no asylum would dare to keep Mr. Carriston within its walls."

An unpleasant, sinister look crossed my listener's face, but his voice still remained bland and suave. "I am sorry to differ from you, Dr. Brand," he said, "but I know him better than you do. I have seen him as you have never yet seen him. Only last night he came to me in a frantic state. I expected every moment he would make a murderous attack on me."

"Perhaps he fancied he had some reasons for anger," I said.

Ralph Carriston looked at me with those cold eyes of which his cousin had spoken



Ralph Carriston looked at me with those cold eyes of his.

"If the boy has succeeded in converting you to any of his delusions, I can only say that doctors are more credulous than I fancied. But the question is not worth arguing. You decline to assist me, so I must do without you. Good morning, Dr. Brand."

He left the room as gracefully as he had entered it. I remained in a state of doubt. It was curious that Ralph Carriston turned out to be the man whom I had met in the train; but the evidence offered by the coincidence was not enough to convict him of the crime of endeavoring to drive his cousin mad by such a far-fetched strategem as the inveigling away of Madeline Rowan. Besides, even in wishing to prove Charles Carriston mad he had much to say on his side. Supposing him to be innocent of having abducted Madeline, Carriston's violent behavior on the preceding evening must have seemed very much like insanity. In spite of the aversion with which Ralph Carriston inspired me, I scarcely knew which side to believe.

Carriston still slept; so when I went out on my afternoon rounds I left a note begging him to remain in the house until my return. Then I found him up, dressed and looking much more like himself. When I entered dinner was on the table, so not until that meal was over could we talk unrestrainedly upon the subject which was uppermost in both our minds.

As soon as we were alone I turned toward my guest. "And now," I said, "we must settle what to do. There seems to me to be but one course open. You have plenty of money, so your best plan is to engage skilled police assistance. Young ladies can't be spirited away like this without leaving a trace."

To my surprise Carriston flatly objected to this course. "No," he said, "I shall not go to the police. The man who took her away has placed her where no police can find her. I must find her myself."

"Find her yourself! Why, it may be months—years—before you do that! Good heavens, Carriston! She may be murdered, or worse——"

"I shall know if any further evil happens to her—then I shall kill Ralph Carriston."

"But you tell me you have no clew whatever to trace her by. Do talk plainly. Tell me all or nothing."

Carriston smiled very faintly. "No clew that you, at any rate, will believe in," he said. "But I know this much, she is a prisoner somewhere. She is unhappy, but not, as yet, ill-treated. Heavens! Do you think if I did not know this I should keep my senses for an hour?"

"How can you possibly know it?"

"By that gift—that extra sense, or whatever it is—which you deride. I knew it would come to me some day, but I little thought how I should welcome it. I know that in some way I shall find her by it. I tell you I have already seen her three times. I may see her again at any moment when the strange fit comes over me."

All this fantastic nonsense was spoken so simply and with such an air of conviction that once more my suspicions as to the state of his mind were aroused. In spite of the brave answers which I had given Mr. Ralph Carriston I felt that common-sense was undeniably on his side.

"Tell me what you mean by your strange fit," I said, resolved to find out the nature of Carriston's fancies or hallucinations. "Is it a kind of trance you fall into?"

He seemed loath to give any information on the subject, but I pressed him for an answer.

"Yes," he said at last. "It must be a kind of trance. An indescribable feeling comes over me. I know that my eyes are fixed on some object—presently that object vanishes, and I see Madeline."

"How do you see her?"

"She seems to stand in a blurred circle of light as cast by a magic lantern. That is the only way that I can describe it. But her figure is plain and clear—she might be close to me. The carpet on which she stands I can see, the chair on which she sits, the table on which she leans her hand, anything she touches I can see; but no more. I have seen her talking. I knew she was entreating some one, but that some one was invisible. Yet, if she touched that person, the virtue of her touch would enable me to see him."

So far as I could see, Carriston's case appeared to be one of overwrought or unduly stimulated imagination. His I had always considered to be a mind of the most peculiar construction. In his present state of love, grief, and suspense these hallucinations might come in the same way in which dreams come. For a little while I sat in silence considering how I could best combat with and dispel his remarkable delusions. Before I had arrived at any decision I was called away to see a patient. I was but a short time engaged. Then I returned to Carriston, intending to continue my inquiries.

Upon re-entering the room I found him sitting as I had left him—directly opposite to the door. His face was turned fully toward me, and I trembled as I caught sight of it. He was leaning forward, his hands on the table cloth, his whole frame rigid, his eyes staring in one direction, yet, I knew, capable of seeing nothing that I could see. He seemed even oblivious to sound, for I entered the room and closed the door behind me without causing him to change look or position. The moment I saw the man I knew that he had been overtaken by what he called his strange fit.

My first impulse—a natural one—was to arouse him, but second thoughts told me that this was an opportunity for studying his disease which should not be lost—I felt that I could call it by no other name than disease—so I proceeded to make a systematic examination of his symptoms.

I leaned across the table, and, with my face about a foot from his, looked straight into his eyes. They betrayed no sign of recognition—no knowledge of my presence. I am ashamed to say I could not divest myself of the impression that they were looking through me. The pupils were greatly dilated. The lids were wide apart. I lighted a taper and held it before them, but could see no expansion of the iris. It was a case, I confess, entirely beyond my comprehension. I had no experience which might serve as a guide as to what was the best course to adopt. All I could do was to stand and watch carefully for any change.

Save for his regular breathing and a sort of convulsive twitching of his fingers, Carriston might have been a corpse or a statue. His face could scarcely grow paler than it had been before the attack. Altogether, it was an uncomfortable sight—a creepy sight—this motionless man, utterly regardless of all that went on around him, and seeing, or giving one the idea that he saw, something far away. I sighed as I looked at the strange spectacle, and foresaw what the end must surely be. But although I longed for him to awake, I determined on this occasion to let the trance, or fit, run its full course, that I might notice in what manner and how soon consciousness returned.

I must have waited and watched some ten minutes—minutes which seemed to me interminable. At last I saw the lips quiver, the lids flicker once or twice, and eventually close wearily over the eyes. The unnatural tension of every muscle seemed to relax, and sighing deeply, and apparently quite exhausted, Carriston sank back into his chair, with beads of perspiration forming on his white brow. The fit was over.

In a moment I was at his side and forcing a glass of wine down his throat. He looked up at me and spoke. His voice was faint, but his words were quite collected.

"I have seen her again," he said. "She is well, but so unhappy. I saw her kneel down and pray. She stretched her beautiful arms out to me. And yet I know not where to look for her—my poor love! my poor love!"

I waited until I thought he had sufficiently recovered from his exhaustion to talk without injurious consequences. "Carriston," I said, "let me ask you one question: are these trances or visions voluntary, or not?"

"Very well. Now listen. Promise me you will fight against these seizures as much as you can. If you don't, you will be raving mad in a month."

"I can't promise that," said Carriston, quietly. "See her at times I must, or I shall die. But I promise to yield as seldom as may be. I know, as well as you do, that the very exhaustion I now feel must be injurious to any one."

In truth he looked utterly worn out. Very much dissatisfied with his concession, the best I could get from him, I sent him to bed, knowing that natural rest, if he could get it, would do more than anything else toward restoring a healthy tone to his mind.

CHAPTER VIII.

Although Carriston stated that he came to me for aid, and, it may be, protection, he manifested the greatest reluctance in following any advice I offered him. The obstinacy of his refusal to obtain the assistance of the police placed me in a predicament. That Madeline Rowan had really disappeared I was, of course, compelled to believe. It might even be possible that she was kept against her will in some place of concealment. In such a case it behooved us to take proper steps to trace her. Her welfare should not depend upon the hallucinations and eccentric ideas of a man half out of his senses with love and grief. I all but resolved, even at the risk of forfeiting Carriston's friendship, to put the whole matter in the hands of the police, unless, in the course of a day or two, we heard from the girl herself or Carriston suggested some better plan.

Curiously enough, although refusing to be guided by me, he made no suggestion on his own account. He was racked by fear and suspense, yet his only idea of solving his difficulties seemed to be that of waiting. He did nothing. He simply waited, as if he expected that chance would bring what he should have been searching for high and low.

Some days passed before I could get a tardy consent that aid should be sought. Even then he would not go to the proper quarter; but he allowed me to summon to our councils a man who advertised himself as being a private detective. This man, or one of his men, came at our call, and heard what was wanted of him. Carriston reluctantly gave him one of Madeline's photographs. He also told him that only by watching and spying on Ralph Carriston's every action could he hope to obtain the clew. I did not much like the course adopted, nor did I like the look of the man to whom the inquiry was intrusted; but, at any rate, something was being done.

A week passed without news from our agent. Carriston, in truth, did not seem to expect any. I believe he only employed the man in deference to my wishes. He moved about the house in a disconsolate fashion. I had not told him of my interview with his cousin, but had cautioned him on the rare occasions upon which he went out-of-doors to avoid speaking to strangers, and my servants had strict instructions to prevent any one coming in and taking my guest by surprise.

For I had, during those days, opened a confidential inquiry on my own account. I wanted to learn something about this Mr. Ralph Carriston. So I asked a man who knew everybody to find out all about him.

He reported that Ralph Carriston was a man well known about London. He was married, and had a house in Dorsetshire; but the greater part of his time was spent in town. Once he was supposed to be well off; but now it was the general opinion that every acre he owned was mortgaged, and that he was much pressed for money. "But," my informant said, "there is but one life between him and the reversion to large estates, and that life is a poor one. I believe even now there is a talk about the man who stands in his way being mad. If so, Ralph Carriston will get the management of everything."

After this news I felt it more than ever needful to keep a watchful eye on my friend. So far as I knew there had been no recurrence of the trance, and I began to hope that proper treatment would effect a complete cure, when, to my great alarm and annoyance, Carriston, while sitting with me, suddenly and without warning fell into the same strange state of body and mind as previously described. This time he was sitting in another part of the room. After watching him for a minute or two, and just as I was making up my mind to arouse him and scold him thoroughly for his folly, he sprang to his feet, and shouting, "Let her go! Loose her, I say!" rushed violently across the room—so violently that I had barely time to interpose and prevent him from coming into contact with the opposite wall.

Upon returning to his senses he told me, with great excitement, that he had again seen Madeline; moreover, this time he had seen a man with her—a man who had placed his hand upon her wrist and kept it there; and so, according to Carriston's wild reasoning, became, on account of the contact, visible to him.

He told me he had watched them for some moments, until the man, tightening his grip on the girl's arm, endeavored, he thought, to lead her or induce her to follow him somewhere. At this juncture, unaware that he was gazing at a vision, he had rushed to her assistance in the frantic way I have described; then he awoke.

He also told me he had studied the man's features and general appearance most carefully with a view to future recognition. All these ridiculous statements were made as he made the former ones, with the air of one relating simple, undeniable facts—one speaking the plain unvarnished truth, and expecting full credence to be given to his words.

It was too absurd! too sad! It was evident to me that the barrier between his hallucinations, dreams, visions, or whatever he chose to call them, and pure insanity, was now a very slight and fragile one. But before I gave his case up as hopeless I determined to make another strong appeal to his common sense. I told him of his cousin's visit to me—of his intentions and proposition. I begged him to consider what consequences his extraordinary beliefs and extravagant actions must eventually entail. He listened attentively and calmly.

"You see now," he said, "how right I was in attributing all this to Ralph Carriston—how right I was to come to you, a doctor of standing, who can vouch for my sanity."

"Vouch for your sanity! How can I when you sit here and talk such arrant nonsense, and expect me to believe it? When you jump from your chair and rush madly at some visionary foe? Sane as you may be in all else, any evidence I could give in your favor must break down in cross-examination if an inkling of these things got about. Come, Carriston, be reasonable, and prove your sanity by setting about this search for Miss Rowan in a proper way."

He made no reply, but walked up and down the room apparently in deep thought. My words seemed to have had no effect upon him. Presently he seated himself; and, as if to avoid returning to the argument, drew a book at hazard from my shelves and began to read. He opened the volume at random, but after reading a few lines seemed struck by something that met his eyes, and in a few minutes was deeply immersed in the contents of the book. I glanced at it to see what had so awakened his interest. By a curious fatality he had chosen a book the very worst for him in his present frame of mind—Gilchrist's recently published life of William Blake, that masterly memoir of a man who was on certain points as mad as Carriston himself. I was about to remonstrate, when he laid down the volume and turned to me.

"Varley, the painter," he said, "was a firm believer in Blake's visions."

"Varley was a bigger fool than Blake," I retorted. "Fancy his sitting down and watching his clever but mad friend draw spectral heads and believing them to be genuine portraits of dead kings whose forms condescended to appear to Blake!"

A sudden thought seemed to strike Carriston. "Will you give me some paper and chalk?" he asked. Upon being furnished with these materials he seated himself at the table and began to draw. At least a dozen times he sketched, with his usual rapidity, some object or another, and a dozen times, after a moment's consideration, threw each sketch aside with an air of disappointment, and began a fresh one. At last one of his attempts seemed to come up to his requirements. "I have it now, exactly!" he cried, with joy, even triumph, in his voice. He spent some time in putting finishing touches to the successful sketch, then he handed me the paper.

"That is the man I saw just now with Madeline," he said. "When I find him, I shall find her." He spoke with all sincerity and conviction. I looked at the paper with, I am bound to say, a great amount of curiosity.

No matter from what visionary source Carriston had drawn his inspiration, his sketch was vigorous and natural enough. I have already mentioned his wonderful power of drawing portraits from memory, so was willing to grant that he might have reproduced the outline of some face which had somewhere struck him. Yet why should it have been this one? His drawing represented the three-quarter face of a man—an ordinary man—apparently between 40 and 50 years of age. It was a coarse-featured, ill-favored face, with a ragged ruff of hair round the chin. It was not the face of a gentleman, nor even the face of a gently nurtured man, and the artist, by a few cunning strokes, had made it wear a crafty and sullen look. The sketch, as I write this, lies before me, so that I am not speaking from memory.

Now there are some portraits of which, without having seen the original, we say, "What splendid likenesses these must be!" It was so with Carriston's sketch. Looking at it you felt sure it was exactly like the man whom it was intended to represent. So that, with the certain amount of art knowledge which I am at least supposed to possess, it was hard for me, after examining the drawing and recognizing the true artist's touch in every line, to bring myself to accept the fact that it was but the outcome of a diseased imagination. As at this very moment I glance at that drawing I scarcely blame myself for the question that faintly frames itself in my innermost heart.

Continued on 6th page.

A. B. & W.

To-day and Right Along.

Bankrupt Stock of Dress Goods and Linens, from Sheriff's Sale of Kaughran & Co., New York city.

CARPETS AND RUGS,

A full stock of New Goods, with a long list of bargains.

UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

Beautiful New Goods. Special prices on many popular things, including 2500 Window Shades of best American Holland, with Balance Roller, all made and ready to put up to any window—36x72 inches, at 37 1-2 cts. No special order can be taken at anywhere near this price.

Excellent values in Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Kid Gloves, Furs, Buttons, Ladies' Linen Collars and Cuffs, Laces, Art Goods, etc.

New stock of Small Wares and Toilet Articles.

Ladies' Hosiery—new stock and special values.

Corsets and Cotton Underwear. Items of special interest in stock and prices.

Unlaundered Shirts. A big sale open this week. Also Gents' Furnishings.

Domestics and White Goods, Cases and Bales of New Goods, with many bargains.

IMPORTANT LINEN SALE.

Our own importation. Many things not to be found elsewhere. Our prices the lowest.

CLOAK DEPARTMENT,

The last mark-down. Our Garments are Tailor fitted and thoroughly made.

DRESS GOODS

Spring and Winter—from lowest to highest cost. Special values and great bargains.

BLACK AND COLORED SILKS.

The last mentioned but of First Importance.

Thousands of Dollars. New Silks of the best American and Foreign manufacture, bought and imported direct.

Our Silk stock is not excelled by any other.

Our Grand Silk Sale has been running more than three months.

We intend to continue it at least till July 1st.

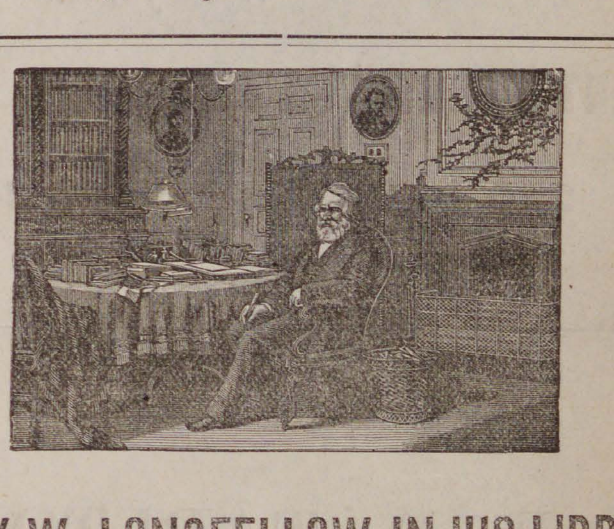
The above list of merchandise will be more fully set forth during the present week.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.
SALEM.

FIR BALSAM
FOR PILLOWS OR BEDS.

Fir Balsam direct from the woods of Maine. Unprepared 6 cts. per lb.; prepared 8 cts. per lb. A discount of 25 per cent. from these prices if bought by wholesale.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

SPAULDING'S SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Jaborandi
BALM.

The Popular Remedy for
BALDNESS, and Diseases of the Hair and Scalp.

We have a large number of reliable testimonials which we would be pleased to show any one. We warrant Jaborandi Balm to be perfectly free from any poisonous ingredients. It combines the properties of being both an elegant dressing and the greatest hair producing preparation of the age.

Price 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

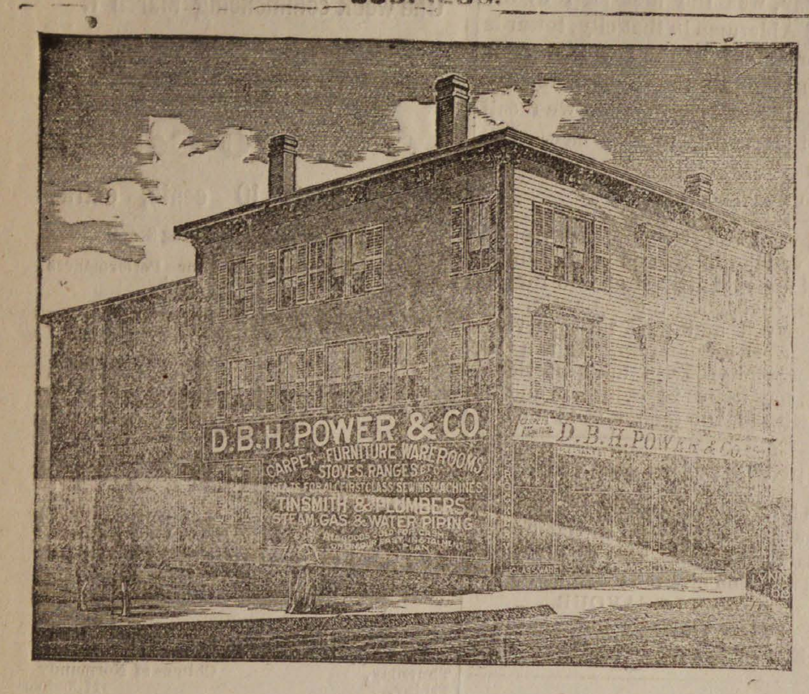
DRUGGISTS' NOVELTY CO.,
145 Milk Street, Boston.

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between the firm of Elligott & Gould, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by W. H. Gould & Co., at the old stand on Foster ftreet.

W. H. GOULD.
CHAS. B. ELLIGOTT.
Peabody, March 9, 1886.

STOCK TAKING IS OVER AND WE ARE NOW READY FOR BUSINESS.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES &c.
FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
D.B.H. POWER & Co.

We are more than pleased with the amount of business done during the last year, and we propose to place 1886 as far ahead of 1885, as 1885 is now ahead of 1884, Notwithstanding the croakings and cries from our competitors, we still live, and adhere strictly to our special system $1 down and $1 a week. We have just received one car load of

PARLOR SUITS

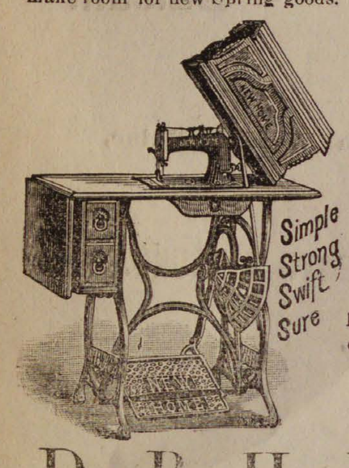
and two car loads of

CHAMBER SETS,

direct from the factories, and made especially to our order. We are now receiving every day new styles and patterns of

CARPETS, RUGS, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES, &C.

Remember we have the largest store and largest and best assortment of goods to be found in Essex county. We sell EVERYTHING to furnish a house complete from the lowest to the highest grades and at prices that defy competition, and at terms that are easier then those offered elsewhere. Our stock of Crockery, Glass and Silver Ware is complete. All of our Stoves and Ranges, both new and second hand, to be closed out to make room for new Spring goods.



Sole Agent in Marblehead and Vicinity for the CELEBRATED

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE.

Noiseless and light running. This we will sell at the lowest prices for cash or on our instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a week.

☞ All goods delivered free.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

REMOVED

— TO —

NO. 245 ESSEX STREET,

CREAMER BLOCK.

I have on hand a large stock of all kinds of Musical Goods.

Sheet Music, Books, &c., Pianos, Organs, Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Flutes, Accordeons, Harps, Harmonicas, Metromons, Tuning Forks, and Pitch Pipes.

A large stock of all kinds.
All the New Popular Music.
Litolff Editions of Standard Works.

E. V. EMILIO,

245 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

AT WHOLESALE.

PURE LARD,

In 3, 5, 10 and 50 pound Pails.

FOX'S SILKEN GLOSS STARCH

AND REFINED CORN STARCH,

SOAPINE.

Also a large stock of

Apples, Potatoes, Salt, Butter Eggs, &c.

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER

AND

BLANK BOOK

MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions

We keep the Best of Meats-
Our Expenses are Light-
We sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.

TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.

(next to S. Trask's.)

PEABODY.

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

HALE'S BLOCK.

223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

Lecture of Rev. O. S. Butler, before the West Peabody Farmer's Club.

Rev. O. S. Butler, of Georgetown, lectured before the Club Tuesday evening, Feb. 19th, on the "Cultivation and Development of the Family Horse." The speaker said,—There was no animal more useful to man than the horse; none surpassed him in domestic qualities. Egypt, not Arabia, was the original home of the horse, whence he passed to Asia, and the rest of the world. In breeding, select good stock. He regarded the Morgan dam, crossed with the English thoroughbred sire, conducive to the best results; the latter animal being "straight bred" from the Desert horse. Northern bred horses are the best, being inured to the climate, and having greater endurance. Colts roaming over hilly pastures, develop perfectly formed feet; learn to lift them higher; avoid tripping; are hardier; and wear longer. Concerning colors, bays with black points, unmixed blacks, or a pure white with black skin, signify pure blood, while mixed colors mean mixed blood.

In training (not breaking) your colt, it should be remembered the animal has no knowledge of what to do or ought to do, but from what he has done before, the natural condition being that of the wild horse. What he does once, he will do again, being a creature of habit. In teaching, impress upon his memory two things,—first, to be completely and entirely under your control, second, that you will not harm him; the character of the horse is like that of his master. The man that cannot control himself, cannot control a horse. In bitting, remember that his mouth is as delicate as that of the human species. The bit should be a straight bar, covered with leather, or rubber; rubber being the best; adjust it so as to hang evenly in the mouth, without hurting him. In harnessing, teach the horse to stand still and quiet; approach him from the same side, with the same article, and place them upon him in the same order. The check rein should not confine the movement of his head. The breastplate should be used for light, and the collar for heavy work. Be sure that the harness fits, and does not gall him. In hitching him to anything follow the same routine.

In driving, teach your horse the art of going, and keep him going; occasionally put him to his topmost speed, but do not tire, or over exert the energies of the young horse. The rein alone should be the line of sympathy between man and animal; the whip should not be used except for punishment. Teach him to stop at the word "whoa," also to back readily, to go slow down hill, and to stand without hitching. Properly trained, a horse is safer unhitched than hitched. It is habit, not the rein, that controls him. Train him on your own premises and alone; be kind and gentle, but firm; do not allow him to gain an advantage over you. In short, so train your horse that he will know what is required of him, and he will be safe and kind at all times. In feeding and watering,—Feed twice a day, morning and night, with moistened cut hay and ground grain mixed together; at noon, grain only. Coming in from a drive with the horse heated, no injury would result from feeding in this way immediately. Water your horse at least three times a day, and when on the road as often as you come to a watering place. On returning from a drive, even if very much heated, give a pail of water, but no more until cooled off.

In blanketing,—blanket on the street in cold weather, but not in the barn, except when coming in from a drive, when the horse should be rubbed dry, and blanketed for a short time. Groom the horse thoroughly every day; he will feel better, and be healthier, from the effects of it. The stall should be sufficiently large to allow him to lie down with ease; the front half of the floor should be level, the other half inclining. The manger should be a moveable box; for horses inclined to hold their heads low, the box should be placed high, for high headed ones a medium position is preferred. No salt should be left in the manger to rattle round, this is one cause of cribbing. Give the horse a good bed, and make him comfortable. In shoeing, shoe once a month. For light driving horses, use light steel shoes without calks, being of medium thickness at toe, and running to comparative thinness at heel; for draught horses use heavy shoes with calks. The shoe should be made, so as to have a frog bearing all the time; the frog serves to bear up the horse, the shell is for protection. The frog is so constructed that when the full weight is borne on it, an oily substance excludes from the pastern joint, comes down into the frog, and makes it soft and heathy; would have a shoe made with bar, shape of heart, to give the frog the necessary bearing. Would not allow a Smith to level a foot with a hat shoe, neither to pare out the sole, or trim up the frog. In short he would have the shoe fitted to the foot, not the foot to the shoe. In nailing on the shoe, it depends upon the character of the hoof whether the nails are driven high up or low down. For a flat foot, drive moderately low, or you will strike the quick; for round hoof you can drive higher up.

In clipping,—no ill effects come from clipping in March, when the old hair starts, provided proper care and attendance is given. In sickness, let the animal alone for a while; do not run for a veterinary until obliged to. Give medicine by the aid of a long necked bottle through the mouth, and not through the nostrils. For a horse in "off condition," give powdered charcoal and sweet glycerine, twice a day for a week,—dose, one cupful glycerine and 1-4 pound charcoal on his feed. Jamaica ginger is preferable to gin or rum for the stable. In case of colic,—make a poultice of one part Cayenne and four parts Indian Meal; put in a bag, and place it about the stomach, and cover well with blankets to keep the heat in. For bots,—give one cupful kerosene oil, once a day, for three days. After the oil, give scalded shorts. Horse-hair (from mane or tail) cut fine, and given on their feed, will cut them up. To grow a new hoof, rub crude petroleum upon the coronet, daily, and you can grow more inches, than in any other way.

Rev. Mr. Butler is a "Methodist clergyman," which accounts for his great knowledge of the horse.

Mr. King was present and took it all in with great gusto. He gave an account of an amusing scene he had on Western Avenue, Lynn, a winter or two ago, when he got sadly left behind. It must have been a sight fit for the gods, to have beheld our venerable friend, and a Church member to boot, perched upon a cutter, behind a demoralized Peabody nag, and galloping like mad, up and down the Avenue, "shouting defiance," and "whooping it up," to the consternation of that crowded thoroughfare.

Mr. K. gave the Club a "boost," by drawing "his leather" and contributing a $5 note, with the remark that more could be had at any time. "Cast thy bread upon the waters, etc." Let 'em drop, Mr. King; the Club will gather them in, and make you an "Honorary member."

MESSR. EDITORS,—I listened with pleasure to the address of the reverend gentleman, but it seemed a little singular to hear a member of the cloth "talk horse" so glibly. To buy, sell, trade, swap and dicker in horse flesh, with that "uncanny set of rascals" known as horse jockeys, without becoming contaminated, was a conundrum I could not solve. Could you explain it to a "Divisionist," whether a minister is any better, or worse than other people?

The West Peabody "Philosopher" declined "to show up" the remaining "Twelve of the Fourteen characteristics" of that "Wonderful Philosophy," because "The people are not sufficiently educated, to accept the doctrines of the truly good and wise J. F. I."

The lecturer said he had handled hundreds of horses. Wonder if the Divine, was ever "Taken in and done for," or "shaved anyone." Possibly, he is what the wicked would term, "a holy terror, in a hoss trade."

Mr. Aaron Low, the seedsman of Essex, is expected to "vent his spleen," on Seeds, next Friday evening.

W. S. J.

James P. King's Reply.

In answer to an article in the PRESS last week signed "One of the Farmers," I wish to reply. He says: "At the 40th Institute meeting of the Essex Agricultural Society, at Ipswich, last week, James P. King gave his ideas on the use and application of fertilizers upon the farms of Essex County. In the course of his remarks as reported in the Boston Herald he said he had used fertilizers for years with great succefs." So far, I acknowledged the statement to be correct. "That he believed them far superior to barn manure." To this I will say I specified that if used for certain crops, namely, the onion, corn, cabbage and carrots, it is superior. I have used it on these crops three years in succession and I make this claim that I have raised of either of the above crops more value to the acre than with barn manure, and at half the cost, and I so stated it at that meeting. I also said the heaviest crop of potatoes I ever raised on Chincha or Peruvian Guano, and that was the year they all rotted, and I so stated. I would not recommend the guano such as is for sale on the market at the present time. Hen manure I consider cheap at thirty cents a bushel, and so stated. Tan ashes are dear at seven cents per bushel and I so stated.

"Does he know of any land that has been manured with guano or any of the many kinds of commercial fertilizers alone for a series of years, then laid down to grass, that has ever produced a heavy crop of hay." I answer I never did, neither did I make any such statement at the meeting, neither should I think of laying down a piece of land dressed with fertilizer for one or more years without using at least six cords of barn yard manure to the acre. I believe that each crop where the fertilizer is used alone takes nearly all the goodness of the fertilizer and leaves it as to richness as it finds it. I can safely say that fifty years ago four cords of barn manure would produce larger crops than eight cords will to-day on the same land. This is a mystery I cannot solve. I think my friend after reading the facts as I stated them at Ipswich will think substantially as I do as to the value of fertilizers, and still continue to be "good friends, as we were when we played around the school house fifty years ago, near where the Orthodox Church stands to-day."

J. P. KING.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P M]

Margaret Mather opened her engagement in the Boston Theatre Monday evening in the Honeymoon. Last evening and every evening this week she will play Juliet. The tragedy will be staged with all the elaborate and sumptuous completeness that marked its run of nearly one hundred nights at the Union Square Theatre the present season, and more than 100 persons will take part in the representation. Mr. Joseph Haworth has been specially engaged to play Romeo, and the remainder of the cast will be identical with that at the Union Square. The tragedy is presented in six acts with twenty-two scenes, and the scenery is by Voegtlin, Hughson Hawley, George Hienaman and William Shaefer, from designs by Capt. Alfred Thompson, who also designed the costumes.

Dion Boucicault's engagement at the Boston Museum—one of the most prosperous and auspicious among the many he has played in this city—will be brought to a close one week from Saturday evening. "The Jilt" remains the attraction, and it is certain that the sparkling comedy will continue to enjoy the favor of brilliant audiences. The company, including Louise Thorndyke, Helen Bancroft, Maida Craigin, Mrs. J. R. Vincent, Henry Miller, F. M. Burbeck and D. J. Maguinnis is admirably chosen to present the play to the best advantage. People who wish to see "The Jilt" should make early application for seats.

The Park stage this week will be given up to that successful comedy, "The Private Secretary," which enjoyed such prosperity here last season. W. H. Gillette will again appear as Rev. Richard Spaulding, with his chronic influenza and his "Do you know." M. A. Kennedy is to play the uncle, and in most respects the cast is identical with that of last season. The career of the piece in Boston is limited to a fortnight.

It is rumored that the position of leading lady at the Boston Museum next season will be filled by Miss Isabel Evesson, one of the most beautiful women on the stage, who has been playing in Mr. Charles Wyndham's company at the Criterion Theatre in London for several seasons past. She has just made "the hit of the piece" in the Criterion production of "Trois Femmes pour Un Mari." Miss Evesson is an American, a sister of Miss Estelle Clayton, was for some time connected with the Madison Square Theatre, and played her last engagement in this country at Wallack's.

◆

Why experiment with expensive drugs when a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, costing only fifty cents, will cure your rheumatism, neuralgia, or lumbago? Echo answers, Why?

No one knows the value of flowers in winter time who hasn't bot-any.

A weak back, with a weary, aching lameness over the hips, is a sign of diseased kidneys. Use the best kidney curative known, which is Burdock Blood Bitters.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE TRADE MARK
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2de

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS,

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2,85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3.50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,	$1.65	Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,	33c
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.45	Women's Imitation Sandals, "	21c
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots, "	1.10	Men's Buckle Arctics, "	85c
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots, "	.85

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every customer, "Out of your size, "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way. We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE,

LYNN, MASS.

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE,

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,

REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

FOR SALE.

THE REAL ESTATE

Of the late Franklin Osborn, situated on

FOSTER, OAK AND WINTER STREETS,

53,000 feet of Land, Three Dwelling Houses and other Buildings.

Apply to

F. OSBORN, Jr., & CO.

feb 10—tf

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

Cent Cigars.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

Special Bargains

— AT —

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store,

Children's Grain Button, solid leather, only	65c
Children's Kid Button, 7 to 10 1-2 only	90c
Children's Rubber Boots, fleece lined first quality, only	$1.00
Children's Lace School Shoes,	50c
Misses' Grain Button, sizes 1 and 2,	60c
Misses' Kid Button all sizes,	$1.00
Misses' Slippers,	20c
Ladies' Glove Buskins, wool lined,	60c
Ladies' Serge Buskins, all sizes,	30c
Ladies' Tip Congress,	75c
Ladies' Grain or Kid Button,	$1.25
Ladies' Hand-sewed Congress, only	75c
Ladies' Goat Button, common sense, only	$2.00
Men's Veal Calf Bals, Tap Sole, only	$1.25
Men's Carpet Slippers, only,	40c
Men's Veal Calf Button, 4 and 5 wide, only,	$1.50
Men's Fine Sewed Calf Boots, only	$2.50
Men's Harvard Ties, only	60c
Men's Fine Calf Button, Bals and Congress, only	$2.50
Boys' Kip Boots, only	$1.50
Boys' Veal Calf Bals, solid, only	$1.25
Boys' Button Boots, solid, only	$1.25
Youths' Kip Boots, solid, only	$1.35
Youths' Bals, solid, only	$1.00

If you desire a first class Shoe Polish, we would be pleased to have you give our Myrbane Shoe Polish a fair and impartial trial, feeling that if you purchase one Box you will in the future use none other; every box warranted, and your money will be refunded if not satisfied. 5, 10 and 15 cents per box.

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

THE TOWN warrant this year contains forty-four articles, the first twenty-seven of which relate to the ordinary and usual expenditures for the town, the election of town officers and such other matters as come before the town regularly year after year.

Article 28 calls for an appropriation of $880 for alterations at the Central Fire Station, and is requested by the Board of Engineers. This is for making a change in the stalls so that the horses may face the apparatus. We understand that estimates have been made as to the cost of the work, and that the amount asked for is in accordance with such an estimate. The change will make more room in the station, and will, it is believed, reduce the time of hitching up.

Article 29th is in accordance with the recommendation of the building committee of the Town House, and will naturally cause some discussion. It is as follows:—"To see if the town will take any measures to improve the acoustic properties of the large town hall, and the ventilation of the rooms in the lower story of the town house, and appropriate money therefor."

If the large hall is to be used to any extent, and this will depend in a great measure upon the action of future Boards of Selectmen, something should unquestionably be done. It may as well be admitted, first as last, that the acoustic properties of this hall are a failure. This is a matter of great importance in a hall of its size. In other respects we have the finest hall in this vicinity. Yet while this difficulty remains our people cannot be expected to pay their money for an entertainment or show given there, and be unable to hear the performance. If the people will not come, managers of entertainments cannot afford to hire the hall, even were the price far below what is asked for it at the present time. The only thing for the town to do, now that the difficulty exists, is to remedy it. In regard to the ventilation of the lower hall, the difficulty is even worse than that in the hall above. We see it in town meetings, in any gathering held there. It is very unsatisfactory for any purpose. It is the only hall of any size now remaining in town, that can be used for dancing, yet it is always taken by managers of parties under protest. It would be the last hall to be engaged were it not done from necessity. It is Hobson's choice—that or nothing. In many cases the latter would be preferable. If anything can be done looking towards an improvement, it is surely advisable to have it attended to.

There are several articles relating to the extension of the water pipes, to the improvement of drainage, and the enlargement of culverts, all of which are of importance in the separate localities, and the advantages of which will doubtless be presented by the petitioners.

Article 34th asks for the free use of the large Town Hall, one evening in the year, for the Firemen's Relief Association, to which we made reference last week. We have nothing to say except to endorse our position as there stated. In the Milford town warrant the town hall of that place is asked once a week for a similar purpose, and it will probably be granted. We see no reason why this request of the Relief Association should be refused. Does the town owe nothing to the firemen of Peabody, especially to those who become disabled in protecting the property in her midst? We hope the Selectmen will be authorized to allow its use to the firemen, as requested, or to any other benevolent or charitable association in town, as may be deemed, in their judgment, worthy of its privileges under such conditions.

Article 40th calls for the appropriation of money for the purchase and opening of a Cemetery in West Peabody. As this petition is headed by Rev. Mr. Spaulding, we doubt not that its claims will be fully presented and ably advocated by that gentleman. It would certainly seem appropriate that some provision should be made in that part of the town for the interment of the dead, as long, at least, as the present method of burial prevails.

Article 41st calls for the establishment of an Automatic Fire Alarm. This is in some respects the most important article in the warrant, and we hope the movers in the matter will be able to present accurate estimates as to the expense of putting in such a system. At a town meeting several years ago, the agent of the Gamewell fire alarm was present, gave an exhibition of the workings of the system, and was ready to answer any questions suggested by the citizens of the town. It would not be inappropriate to have some one familiar with its workings present this year. Peabody needs some system of fire alarm, and we think our citizens are beginning to realize this fact. Unquestionably the Gamewell system is the best. It has proved satisfactory in every respect wherever tried, and this town would be fortunate in being in possession of such a system.

Article 42d calls for the establishment of a Hose Company in Dublin. If the town has no fire alarm the advisability of such a step is beyond question. But with a fire alarm the advantage to the firemen would be such that the time of reaching that district from the Central Station, would be reduced to a minimum. The necessities of that portion of the town will have to be provided for, in this direction, however, before many years.

The Selectmen have reported favorably on the town way from Chestnut to Lowell street near the Catholic Church, and for laying out a town way from Newbury to Pine street, in West Peabody. Hearings have been given in each case, and whatever opposition has developed has manifested itself at these hearings. The expense is not large in either case, and it is probable that the recommendations of the Selectmen will be adopted.

Altogether, beyond the regular and necessary expenditures of the town, there is nothing in the warrant requiring large outlays of money, and there is every reason to believe that our tax rate the ensuing year may be less than has been required in the past, and at the same time reduce the debt of the town.

* * *

THE ANNUAL Report of the Trustees of the Peabody Institute is in print and will be ready for distribution the latter part of this week. The report is written by Francis H. Appleton, Esq., and suggests one or two points which are deserving of a word of comment. It states that a committee has been appointed to consider the expediency of re-seating the Institute hall, and of making other improvements necessitated by the growth of the library. This committee are to report at the next annual meeting, and are understood to favor the project.

We have previously given our opinion that such a step would be of advantage in many ways. The hall should not only be reseated, but the seats should be arranged after the manner of the Institute Hall, in Danvers. That is, the floor should be elevated away from the stage, and the stage itself should be enlarged. The addition of a balcony all around the hall would also increase the seating capacity, besides adding to the convenience of the public and the general looks of the hall. Thus remodeled, and with the ventilation improved, we should have a hall for entertainments and concerts, sufficiently large for all ordinary occasions. It is a recognized fact, that there is no hall anywhere in this vicinity, whose acoustic properties are superior. It is centrally located, more so than the Town Hall, and with the changes which the Trustees of the Institute could make, if they so desired, it would be preferred in most cases where a fee of admission is charged, because its size would be nearer the capacity of an audience in this town, and because it could be engaged at a reasonable rate.

Mr. Appleton also refers to the desirability of opening the library every day in the week, and of opening the reading room on Sundays — both of which will very appropriately come to the consideration of the Library Committee at no distant day.

The reports of the committees, though short, are pertinent. Attention is called by the library committee to the larger number of books added, and by the lecture committee to the larger number of lectures given—both the result of the increased appropriation granted by the Trustees. This condition of affairs we hope may continue. Now that the precedent is established, and found to be a good one, it should be followed, and we have no doubt it will be.

We may as well say here that the course of lectures given have been very satisfactory to the public, and the wisdom of the committee, in returning to the Institute, has not been seriously questioned. The course has been varied, instructive, and worthy the attendance of our people. With such lectures as have been given a larger number would have attended at the Town Hall than did last year; but with one or two exceptions the Institute has accommodated the public reasonably well. If changes are made in the hall, and the seating capacity enlarged, it will accommodate the public for many years to come.

The librarian's report is worthy of careful reading. He calls attention to the closer connection which should be established between the public schools and the library, and the necessity of a more systematic help for young people in their reading. Mr. Upton has given much thought to the subject, and all his words are the more forceful from his long experience as a successful teacher in our public schools.

The whole number of books circulated during the past year have been 26,035. Of this number 71 per cent. or 18,520 books, have been fiction and juvenile books; 1958 have been books in foreign languages, periodicals and miscellaneous collections; 1692 have been voyages, travels and description of countries; 1261, reference and scientific books; 977, biography; 790, history; 552, law, political, moral, social and mental science and theology, and 285, the smallest number, poetry.

The number of books added to the library this year have been 1085; the number withdrawn from circulation, 40; making the total now in the library, 25,507.

* * *

WE NOTICE that there is no article in the warrant in reference to the ringing of the bells at noon and nine o'clock P. M. Such an article has been brought before the town at every meeting that we recall. It is true last year this article was referred to the finance committee, who reported against it. Their report was accepted; but did that settle the matter forever? Previously the town had voted to have them rung. Yet an article was always inserted the next year. Perhaps the town is not of the same mind this year regarding it. How do the Selectmen know?

A great many of our citizens did not realize how much the ringing of the bell would be missed. It is said by some people that it was an old custom, and should be done away with. It does not follow for that reason. It rather follows that it should not be dispensed with. We have a large number of whistles, all blowing at different times. Yet they are not heard by as many people as was the bell at the noon hour. The nine o'clock bell at night is especially missed. It is the time of the closing day. With many people for years it has been the signal for such closing, of toil in some instances, of recreation and enjoyment in more. It is a small matter but it has meant much to large number, of our people. We think it was the most foolish piece of economy ever practiced by our town, in trying to save the few dollars paid for the service of ringing the bell. We shall be a model town if we never expend money more foolishly than this. But we must abide by the decision of our Town Fathers. The matter cannot be brought up this year, because it is not in the warrant. "Curfew cannot ring tonight."

* * *

WE REPEAT what we said some weeks since, that we hope the movement to make the Selectmen and Assessors two separate Boards will be successful this year. It may be a difficult matter to get adjusted at the outset, but once established there will be no difficulty in maintaining it. There are many reasons for the change, the principal one being that we can secure better men for each Board. There are men who could be elected as Selectmen, who would not take the office of Assessor, because they could not devote the time to it. There are men, on the other hand, who would be a wise selection as Assessors, who could not be elected as Selectmen. We have in mind an estimable gentleman, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the office of Selectmen, whom we hope to see nominated and elected, but who could not be induced to accept the office of Assessor. We hope the Boards will be separated this year.

* * *

IT WAS a piece of wisdom on the part of Chief Engineer Tibbets, to have men stationed all night at the Central Fire Station, the last few nights, when the gale was so severe, to be in readiness to respond to an alarm of fire should one have been given. It would have been terrible nights for the fire fiend, and we were fortunate that no such an event took place. But it showed the forethought of the chief and the firemen, and the town will not forget it.

* * *

Fast day has been appointed for April 8th.

Where Hours go Merrily.

The storm prevented a large number from attending the Japanese wedding at town hall last Thursday evening. The entertainment was furnished by the Ladies' Benevolent Society and showed that considerable work had been done to make it so perfect. The stage was tastefully arranged with Japanese lanterns in two rows suspended across it, while the background reminded one of pictures of oriental country houses. There were fire screens, fans, panels, tables and all sorts of nick nacks, and the floor was covered with Persian rugs which added to the effect. The marriage ceremony was supposed to be between "Fusi Yoma and Sono Judaiyti." The first to enter were the attendants and they were followed by the bride and groom, and then one young lady each from either side who would meet in the center and bow, touching their forehead to the floor, and it would be responded to with a low bow. Each in turn would go through this operation, extending the courtesy to those who were seated and then they took a sitting position on both sides forming a semicircle. A young lady seemed to be mistress of ceremonies, and with many bows she passed delicate Japanese tea cups filled with tea to first the groom and then the bride, and then to each of the others in turn. All of the participants were dressed in becoming Japanese costume, the bride being dressed with a white veil. To add variety to it the bride and groom retired and returned with great ceremony. The passing of the tea and more substantial refreshments followed, and the whole concluded by the retiring of the bride and groom amid a show of red fire and slow music. As a whole it was a novel and interesting entertainment. The following persons took part: Mrs. H. K. Pevear, Miss Alice Nelson, Miss Katie Price, Lizzie B. Poor, Nellie Blaney, Bessie Osborne, Helen Brown, Lizzie Hall, Mamie Poole and Annie Thorndike. The gentlemen were Frank Proctor, Harry Spofford and Charlie Proctor. After the entertainment their was a dance in the lower hall and music was furnished by the Salem Cadet Orchestra.

Rev. George Walker, of the Episcopal church, entertained his Sunday School at his home last Wednesday. A supper was served and each was presented with a scriptural almanac as a souvenir.

The party of the St. John's C. T. A. Society at the rink, March 8th, should draw a large number. Besides the skating and dancing there will be a fine exhibition by the famous Belmont Brothers.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society will be held in the vestry of the Universalist Church, Thursday, March 11, afternoon and evening.

The Mascotts and Montauks played polo at the rink last Thursday, and resulted in a victory for the latter, 20 goals to 4.

The Essex Conference of Liberal Christian Churches will be held at the Unitarian Church, Lynn, on Thursday, March 4th. Rev. J. W. Hudson of this town will read a paper on "Transcendentlism and Science."

Remember the fancy dress carnival at the rink this evening. It will be the event of the season for lovers of the roller skate pastime, and a full house should be the proper thing. Reserved seats for spectators are on sale ot Spaulding's.

Union Post 50 G. A. R. have decided to hold their camp fire at town hall, Wednesday evening, March 24. Able and eloquent speakers are expected to take part, and will address the friends of the Grand Army and their wives in the large hall, after which the gentlemen will adjourn to the lower hall and feast on baked beans and smoke the traditional clay pipe.

Secure your tickets to the "Long Strike" which will be given by the Peabody Dramatic Club, at the town hall, March 5.

Masconomo Tribe improved order of red men kindled the council fire last Wednesday evening and worked the adoption on thirty-one pale faces. The common braves were increased by the presence of District Deputy Peter Gardner and Agawam Degree Staff of Danvers. The work was exemplified on three candidates, and the balance of the thirty-one looked on as medicine men and squaws. After the scalps had been taken the whole company adjourned to town hall, where the committee invited all hands to partake of a meal of corn and venison. This was followed by speeches in the peculiar dialect of Agawam tribe and it was interpreted by Dr. Worcester of Masconomo tribe.

Last Wednesday night the North End Boat Club hired the rink. The attraction was a polo game between the North Ends and the Enterprise boat club and was won by the former three goals to two.

The proposed trip of the pupils and parents of the Wallis school to the Cyclorama of the Battle of Gettysburg, last Saturday, was postponed on account of the weather.

Hon. Warren Brown of Hampton Falls, N. H., will speak before the West Peabody Farmers' Club on "the Hay Crop" at their meeting next Friday evening. The public are invited.

L. A. 2947 are arranging for a grand masquerade party and dance at Ashland Hall, on next.

The Union Athletic Quarternarium did not put in an appearance at the rink last Saturday evening. They will probably appear later.

The Merry Workers connected with the Universalist Church, will give an operetta, "Hunt the Thimble" and a farce "A Love of a Bonnet,' in the vestry of their church Tuesday evening March 16, and Wednesday afternoon March 17. In the operetta there are 20 characters, and the music is stated to be very pleasing. See adv. in another column.

Mrs. Hill, wife of Rev. James L. Hill of Lynn, gave an address before the Ladies Foreign Missionary Society in the vestry of the South church yesterday, which pleased all who heard it. She referred to some of the workers in Ceylon, India and Turkey, and spoke glowingly of our opportunities in this work. Mrs. Geo. A. Osborne read an interesting letter from Miss Graves of the Bulgarian mission. The number ordinarily present was more than trebled.

The members of Holten Lodge I. O. O. F. have been invited to visit Bass River Lodge, of Beverly, on Thursday evening of next week, to witness the exemplification of the work by the Howard degree staff. Tickets can be had of Eben I. Kimball, secretary of Holten Lodge.

Next Saturday evening the attraction at the Rink will consist of an exhibition by Edward McLaughlin, our well known local contortionist and club swinger, and Master McMannus, the champion boy club swinger, in his new and original feat of swinging clubs while blindfolded, standing on the neck of three bottles.

March 17, the Crowell combination in fancy bicycle riding, and a two mile race between a bicycle and skater will appear at the Rink.

For March 24, the manager of the rink has secured the famous equilibrium prince, "Orville," introducing the most startling, sensational aerial balancing from a trapeze in the top of the rink. His acts of daring have secured him a reputation held by few.

Ex Mayor Johnson of Waltham will address a mass temperance meeting at the town hall next Sunday evening. Mr. Johnson is a forcible speaker and has had considerable experience in dealing with the liquor business.

Quite a number from this town attended the first assembly of Henry Merritt Camp Sons of Veterans, which was held at Creamer Hall last evening.

* * *

THOSE WHO think the Town Hall should not be granted to the Firemen's Relief Association free, because it is wrong in principle, should remember that the precedent has already been established in the case of the temperance people. All the firemen ask is to have it at "their price." By free, they don't mean free of absolute expenses. They are willing to pay for heat and light. In short, if the temperance people can have it for $12.00 as many evenings as they wish, they feel as if they might have it at the same price one night in the year.

Our readers will observe the new advertisement of Kent & Boynton in another column. They will occupy the store formerly used by the Wilmot Clothing Co., and expect to open March 15 with a new line of goods throughout. Mr. Kent comes from Brockton, where he has an established reputation as a first class tailor, and Mr. Boynton is already known to our people from his former connection with Wilmot's store. The firm will devote a large portion of the store to custom tailoring and gents' furnishings, and the rest to ready made clothing. They do not purpose to "give away goods," but they will have a line of reliable goods which they will offer at the lowest living prices. We invite our readers to call and see them.

The family bearing the surname of Poor organized an association at their first gathering in Newburyport in 1881, and in 1884 they held their Triennial Reunion at Andover, the town where the forefathers of those of our town resided, and their secretary, Mr. Alfred Poore of Salem, has prepared and had printed a report of that days' proceedings; together with more or less extended obituary notices of about seventy-five persons belonging to the family; most of them heads of families who deceased during the preceding three years. It can be had of Nathan H. Poor of Peabody, at his office for twenty-five cents, and all who become owners of this work will not part with it for many times that value.

* * *

Mr. A. P. Phillips of Medway, formerly a shoe manufacturer here, is very sick at his home.

THE REVOCATION of the licenses of the parties, in our neighboring city of Salem, who were found selling liquor on Sunday, was the first step by the Board of Aldermen in that city, towards the enforcement of the law there. It was a surprise to the rumsellers, and we can easily believe it, when we recall the previous policy of that city. But this is only one step. The work must go on, to be a success.

* * *

The first of the two immense freight engines which the Boston and Lowell Railroad has recently purchased for its northern division, the Atlantic, has been received and put into service giving perfect satisfaction. It is a 10, wheel locomotive, was built at Schenectady, has 18 by 24 cylinders and its weight without the tender is 45 tons.

BUY A PIANO CHEAP.

Pianos from $90, up; Organs, $30, up, also the Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and Guild Piano; easy terms, $1 to $2 per week. Personal attention given to Piano and Organ tuning. W. J. LEFAVOUR,
175 Essex Street, Salem.

Open Every Evening.

L. B. S.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent Society at the vestry of the Universalist church, Thursday, March 11th, afternoon and evening. Supper at 6.30 o'clock.
C. P. LUMMUS, Sec.

New Advertisements.

A PLEASING

OPERETTA

ENTITLED

HUNT THE THIMBLE

OR

LITTLE NELL'S SURPRISE PARTY.

also an amusing Farce called

A LOVE OF A BONNET,

will be presented by the Merry Workers in the Universalist vestry,

Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon March 16th and 17th.

Tickets 25cts. Children 15cts.

Evening at 7.30. Matinee at 2.30.

Come and bring the children.

EXECUTOR'S SALE.

Pursuant to the license granted March 1st, 1886, by the Probate Court in and for the County of Essex, the undersigned, executor of the will of JOSEPH W. REED, late of Peabody in said county, deceased, will sell at public auction, on the estate on Liberty street described below, on Friday, March 19th, 1886, at four o'clock in the afternoon, the real estate of said deceased, bounded and described as follows, namely: First: A parcel of land with the dwelling house and other buildings thereon, situated on Liberty street in said Peabody, bounded as follows, viz: beginning at land of Isaac Wilson on the easterly side of Liberty street and thence running northeasterly by said street three hundred and fifty-five and one-half feet to land of Warren Trask; then running easterly by land of said Trask one hundred and thirty feet to land of Samuel Swett; then running southerly by land of said Swett one hundred and twenty-three feet and again by said land of Swett easterly one hundred and thirty-six feet to land formerly of Philip Osborn; then running southerly by said Osborn land one hundred and twenty-eight feet to land of George Devoll; then running westerly by land of said Devoll one hundred and sixty-six feet to land of Isaac Wilson; then running northerly by land of said Wilson seventeen and one-half feet, and again by said land of Wilson southwesterly two hundred and twenty-four and one-half feet to Liberty street and point begun at, containing about one and three-fourth acres.

Second: A piece of tillage land, situated in said Peabody, known formerly by the name of "the Cook Lot," now called the River lot and bounded as follows; southerly by a road or lane; easterly by land of John Cleary; northerly by the river or "Iron Factory Pond" so called; and Westerly by land formerly of Jonathan Osborn; containing three acres and a half more or less.

BENJAMIN N. MOORE, Executor.

Peabody, March 2nd, 1886.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By virtue of a License from the Probate Court for the County of Essex, dated March 1st, 1886, will be sold at Public Auction on THURSDAY, the eighteenth day of March A. D. 1886, on the premises, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the following described real estate belonging to the estate of the late Mary Horrigan: "A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated on the Southerly side of Winthrop Street, in said Peabody, and bounded Northerly by land of O'Brien, Easterly by said Winthrop Street, Southerly by land of Grant and Cuddire, and Westerly by land now or formerly of Northend. Terms, Cash.

TIMOTHY T. RIORDAN, Adm.
Estate of Mary Horrigan.

Peabody, March 3, 1886,

NOTICE.

This is to certify that I have sold my Harness business to Herbert Gardner, who is authorized to receive all money due me. All persons having demands against me may present the same to him.

GEO. C. PRESCOTT.

Having purchased the Harness business of George C. Prescott, I should be pleased to receive a share of the public patronage.

H. GARDNER.

NOTICE TO OUR PATRONS.

Having this day taken into the firm William F. Trask, the firm name will now be known as SAMUEL TRASK & SON. Thanking our many patrons for their very liberal patronage in the past, we hope to serve them still better under the new arrangement and shall spare no pains to please all who may call upon us.

Yours respectfully,
SAM'L TRASK.

MECHANIC HALL,

ANDREWS, MOULTON & JOHNSON, Managers

One week commencing March 1.

YOU ALL REMEMBER US.

The originators of first-class Comic Opera at the People's Prices of Admission,

10 and 20 Cents,

Reserved Seats 10 cents, extra.

For sale at W. E. Luscomb's Drug Store.

10,000 People attend our Performances every week.

SEVENTH ANNUAL TOUR.

Bennett & Moulton's

COMIC

OPERA COMPANY.

40 PEOPLE 40

Our Orchestra and Brass Band.

REPERTOIRE.

Monday,	Olivette
Tuesday,	Girofle Girofla
Wednesday,	Pirates of Penzance
Thursday,	Chimes of Normandy
Friday,	Mikado
Saturday,	Mikado
Wednesday Matinee,	Mascot
Saturday Matinee,	Mikado

New Scenery, Costumes, Properties, etc.
Horse cars at close of performances.
Sale of tickets opens Thursday, Feb. 25.

Prepared Fir Balsam

From the Woods of Maine,

3 CENTS A POUND.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Devisees, Legatees, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of CHARLES BROOKS, late of Peabody, in said county, currier, deceased, testate:

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration with the will annexed on the estate of said deceased, not already administered, to Charles H. Brooks, of Peabody, in the county of Essex; said Brooks praying that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond, (Lucinda Brooks, the administratrix with the will annexed of said estate, having deceased). You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the third Monday of March, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said Charles H. Brooks is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

feb 24—3t

Artificial Teeth.

If you want a beautiful and nice fitting set of Teeth for $10.00, call on

DR. J. E. HOLBROOK

Dental Rooms at

136 Essex Street, Salem.

mch 3—3m Next to Plummer Hall.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Mch, 3, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

All the ministers of the town have been asked by the W. C. T. U. to do all they can next Sabbath by prayer and preaching, toward emphasizing the responsibility of the voters on the following day. They wish that the editorial in the PRESS of last week, concerning what a change will mean for our town, might be read from every pulpit. In this long continued contest for prohibition to be established everywhere, and forever, the women believe that "the battle is the Lord's." Like the Israelites of old, they invite the praying people to "gather themselves together, to ask help of the Lord," on Friday next, March 5th. In the morning the gathering will be held at the room of the W. C. T. U. 18 Main street, at 9.30. In the afternoon it will be at the So. Church vestry, at 2 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Ewing of the Maple Street church, Danvers, will speak, and also Mrs. E. Trask Hill, of Boston, both in the afternoon. All, of any and every belief, are cordially invited.

Another cold wave was on deck last week. Instead of giving a warning the new arrival swooped down upon us, bringing along a part of the north pole and a cyclone from the far west. Friday Saturday, Sunday and Monday were fearful days. A strong wind accompanied by severe cold weather made out door life exceedingly disagreeable. In some places the telephone and telegraph wires were down and no communication between our railroad station could be had Saturday. The school houses were very cold although the janitors were on hand and had a good head of steam. On Saturday the attendance was so poor that the teachers consoli-ated the pupils in the rooms and most f them were dismissed before the reg-lar hour. In the Center school not a ngle pupil from the Endicott school ut in an appearance, and at the Wallis e room was so cold the few that did me were put in Miss Cass' room. everal pupils were absent for the first me this winter.

The South Church Sunday School eld its annual concert Sunday even-g, at which reports of the doings of he school for 1885 were read. The umber enrolled in the school, not ncluding the Bible class, is about 275. Of this number, about fifty are in the rimary department, which is conduct-d by Miss M. J. Floyd, who read her eport for the year. The average ttendance for the year in the entire school was 207, the largest on any Sunday being 268, Nov. 29th; the smallest 68, Aug. 30th, a very stormy day; the whole number of classes, 28. The treasurer's report showed that, including a balance on hand Jan. 1 of $26.84, the receipts for the year had been $724.94, of which $300 had been paid out for benevolent purposes. The total class collections for the year were $327.36. Of this sum, $19.13 was contributed by the primary class.

The death of Mrs. Mary Ellen Warner, the daughter of Leonard Peirce of this town, is an unusually sad event, and the afflicted family will have the sympathy of the many friends of the young lady who was stricken down so early in life. She was married to Mr. Warner about two years since, and at a time when she was called to enter upon the cares and responsibilities of a life which seemed bright and hopeful, she was summoned to pass beyond this life. Her circle of friends and acquaintances was large, by whom as well as those who were nearer and dearer to her, her loss will be deeply felt. Mrs. Warner leaves a little babe a few days old, to the care of the widowed husband, whose joy has been so suddenly turned to sorrow. Mrs. Warner's age was 26 years, 3 months 13 days.

There was a fair sized audience at the Methodist church last Sunday to listen to a temperance concert by the Sunday school. There was the usual singing of appropriate pieces and recitations by the young people. Among the special features was an exercise with banners, in which the children appeared carrying banners which, when placed together, spelled "Total abstinence and temperance for us." The recitations by the Misses Grace Jenkins, Ella McMath, Annie Lynch and Ethel Swett were worthy of mention.

We have to record the decease of Mrs. Mary M., widow of the late Leonard Poole, at the good old age of 78 years. Mrs. Poole was a native of Keene, N. H., but she has lived here a greater part of her life. She was a very estimable woman. Her daughter, not long ince deceased, will be remembered as having married Rev. Mr. Anthony, formerly pastor of the South church in this own. Her funeral will be observed Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The cold snap caused a number of the ipes on Summer street and in the "Lane" to burst.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

The police arrested an intoxicated woman Saturday, and after taking her to the station it was found that both hands were frozen.

As Mr. Mark Marston was driving through Lynn, last Saturday, the high wind blew off the top of his baker's cart and the sweet cakes were scattered. No serious harm.

Mr. Joseph Fuller, while at work in the woods one day last week, had two of his toes crushed by a stone falling on them.

Mr. Henry C. Wilson, the hack man, had his left hand injured by the driving of a hook on a part of the harness into it. Nothing serious.

Geo. Borden withdrew his appeal on Thursday, and Judge Merrill sentenced him to one year in the Concord Reformatory.

A young man named Charles E. Abbott, who belongs in Lynnfield, was found about eight o'clock Sunday morning in the shed in the rear of Capt. Mitchell's at the corner of Lynnfield street. He was in an unconscious condition and it was nearly noon before he recovered sufficiently to leave for home. He had been to Salem to purchase an overcoat and was walking home, and the last he remembers he was passing the site of the old Naumkeag House. The overcoat could not be found. Both his legs and hands were frozen.

Mr. Patrick Ellis, a carpenter employed on the Endicott school house, sprained his wrist and injured his ankle by being thrown from a ladder.

The Naumkeag Street Railway snow plow collided with the lamp post at the corner of Endicott and Lowell streets, last Friday night, and the latter came out second best, with the lantern broken.

They say George Brimmer froze his nose during the cold spell last week. If George had only kept one of those cigars he sells lighted under it, he would have been all right.

A horse owned by the Salem & Danvers Street Railway Co. broke its leg on Wednesday night, and was taken off the car to which it was attached and carried to Perkins' stable in Salem. Subsequently the animal was shot. The horse was all right apparently on leaving the stable in Danvers.

Last Saturday a little deformed boy from Lynn reported to the police that some one had stolen his spaniel dog. With officer Crowley they went in search of him in "Dublin," where he was found, and both dog and master were made happy.

Mr. Daniel D. Stevens, husband of the well known temperance speaker, Mrs. M. O. Stevens, while running a machine at F. A. Pemberton's, last Monday, caught his left hand and broke his arm and cut the tendons. Dr. Osborne attended him.

A man named Logan, while recklessly driving through Andover street, last Thursday, was hurled from his team and one of the wheels passed over his leg. He lay on the ground and howled with pain till a couple of passers by went to his assistance and helped him to his team. His leg was badly bruised and was bleeding profusely.

The Sunday Globe says: John H. Tucker, the old man who was the past week sent to Salem jail for the 56th time for drunkenness, has had a remarkable history. Twenty-five years ago he was one of the best carpenters in the county, being employed by Aaron Clark of Peabody, but drink got the better of him, and he has spent the larger part of his time for the last quarter of a century in jail. He has some property in the hands of a guardian, and will only come out of jail in the morning to go back the next day, going to his guardian and drawing money enough to get drunk on. When he leaves the jail he tells the keeper, "I'll be back again to-morrow."

The Lynn Union says: The 78 year old lady who died at the almshouse recently, and who had a rich daughter at Peabody, refused to live with the latter, so the daughter asserts. Who is she?

William McGee, while playing with a companion on Wallis street, last Friday, was kicked in the abdomen and injured so severely that a physician was called.

James Buckley is a bar tender in Salem and came to Peabody last Sunday afternoon with several companions, and after visiting the places where contraband liquors are sold, Buckley started to walk home. While on Walnut street he jostled against two young ladies and made some insulting remark, when a brother of one of the girls, a well known married man, gave Buckley a severe beating. He continued his journey home but his own mother wouldn't have recognized him.

Word has been sent to arrest at sight Private Frank Moore, a deserter from battery G, 3d Artillery, U. S. Army, at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

There was one drunk before Justice Merrill this morning, $1 and costs.

The report of Chief Peasley for February is as follows: whole number of arrests, 24; drunks, 16; assault, 6; larceny, 1; malicious mischief, 1; tramps, 63.

William Brown of Salem, employed at the old O'Shea tannery on Grove street, caught his right hand in the rollers and his fingers were horribly crushed. He was taken to Salem Hospital.

John Murphy, who lives on English street, fell down a flight of stairs at Mechanic hall last Monday night and was considerably bruised.

Mr. William Dean, of the firm of Dean, Blake & Co., had a slight shock at his home on Lowell street last Saturday, but is doing nicely at present.

The case against the town, which comes up in the superior court this week, is that of one Currier of Middleton, who sues for $2000 damage. He was tipped over an embankment near the paper mill at West Peabody, and claims that the town is responsible because the road was not fenced in.

Timothy McCarthy took considerable stimulant last Monday, but owing to the cold weather it struck in, and he was found considerably paralyzed and badly frozen on Park street. Both hands were frozen, when he was removed to the police station. The next morning he was fined $1 and costs for getting drunk.

Conductor George Buxton of the Naumkeag Street Railroad is suffering from a severe cut on his hand, caused by a broken lamp chimney.

Mr. Wm. F. Duffy, who lives on Caller street, was bitten in the hand by his dog, last Thursday, while trying to separate him from another with whom he was fighting. Dr. Shanahan dressed the wound.

There comes a complaint from Central street that a peddler of button hooks has been forcing himself into houses and insulting ladies when they refused to buy. Some one should give him a horse whipping.

Dr. C. C. Pike, while driving along the turnpike road in West Peabody last Monday, met with an accident by the breaking of the axle of his carriage.

Daniel Rahilley's blind horse ran away on Grove street Monday and broke both shafts.

* * *

Wanted—A furnished room near the square by a single gentleman. Inquire at this office.

It is reported that Mr. W. Winslow will shortly make a trip to California.

Mr. George Needham of West Peabody has gone to Savannah, Ga., for his health.

We are requested to say that L. A. 2947 K. of L. will hold their meeting Thursday evening this week, and a full attendance is desired.

Mr. B. N. Moore, executor of the estate of the late Joseph W. Reed, will sell the estate on Liberty street at public auction, Friday, March 19, 1886.

Mr. James Howley, the tailor, has outgrown his present quarters and is looking for a place suitable for a work shop. He will keep the same store.

The School committee voted to increase the pay of the janitor of the high school, during such time as he has the Endicott school children there.

Frank E. Farnham, Esq. delivered an address before the G. A. R. Post at Amesbury, last Monday evening, on the $8 a month pension bill.

Fred G. Preston, Esq. and Sidney C. Bancroft, Esq., represented petitioners from this town before the Salem City government, asking permission of the Salem & Danvers road to run their cars to Webb street.

The Water Board held their final meeting Monday forenoon, and approved the report of the engineer of the pumping station for February, as follows:—Number of gallons pumped, 14,977,996; average per day, 534,928; pounds of coal used for the month, 43,544; average per day, 1555; number of gallons pumped per pound of coal, 344. Running time, 7 hours 57 minutes per day.

The Father Matthew C. T. A. Society have elected the following officers:—President, Thomas Carbrey; vice president, Edmund O'Rourke; secretary, Daniel O'Connor; collector, Wm. J. McCarthy; treasurer, Daniel Rahilley: cor. secretary, James Murphy; librarian, Wm. Carbrey; directors, Jeremiah Sheehey, T. O'Shea, James Rahilley, Thomas Traves and Edward O'Leary; investigating committee, John F. Carbrey, P. Sherlock; spiritual director, Rev. P. Masterson.

The Superior Court, civil term, for March, comes in to-day at Lawrence. Richard E. Smith is juror from this town. The case of David T. Winter vs. Lake Erie & Western R. R., for injuries received by the plaintiff in being put off a train, will be tried at this court. The case of Chas. E. Hoag vs. David T. Winter for alleged professional services, and the cross suit of Winter vs. Hoag for services as an expert, are both on the trial list. There is also the case of Mr. O'Reagan, of McGrath & O'Reagan, of Salem, vs. the Empire State Steamboat Co. for an alleged assault by one of the officers of the boat.

SPECIAL.

On SATURDAY, March 5th, we shall offer 100 pairs of Men's Woonsocket Rhode Island, Rubber Boots for $1.79 per pair. We shall sell them at this price for this day only.

This will be the only chance to buy them at this price this year, don't fail to secure a pair.

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

FIRST WEEK IN MARCH.

CLOAKS.

Not since the first Cloak was manufactured in this country, or in any part of Europe, has there been such a tremendous downfall in prices of Cloaks as now. Sell them we must! Sell them we will! The reductions made below are genuine, and not overdrawn. Remember, this is not a sensational ad, but one giving an accurate description of goods and prices. We claim that such bargains were never offered by any house in New England.

NEWMARKETS.

Fine, all wool, plain and trimmed, beautifully finished, $7.50; formerly $15.

Newmarkets handsomely finished, worth $11, for 5.00.

Newmarkets all wool cloth, well made, $3; worth $8,—every cent of it.

Plush Sacques, quilted satin lining, chamois skin pockets, and real seal ornaments, which we mark as follows:

$25.00 quality $15.00.
$35.00 quality $20.00.
$45.00 quality $25.00.

Short Wraps are well represented.

Fur lined Circulars at very great bargains.

SECOND WEEK IN MARCH.

New Carpet

— AND —

Upholstery Dept.

Monday, March 8, we shall open the largest and finest CARPET HALL in this city, with choice selections of CARPETINGS and UPHOLSTERY GOODS, all bought for prompt cash, at the lowest prices ever known, by Mr. John E. Newhall, (late with Messrs. Goldthwaite & Bixby), who will have an interest in this Department of our business.

READY MONDAY, MARCH 8,

ON THIRD FLOOR.

Reached by large first class elevator.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

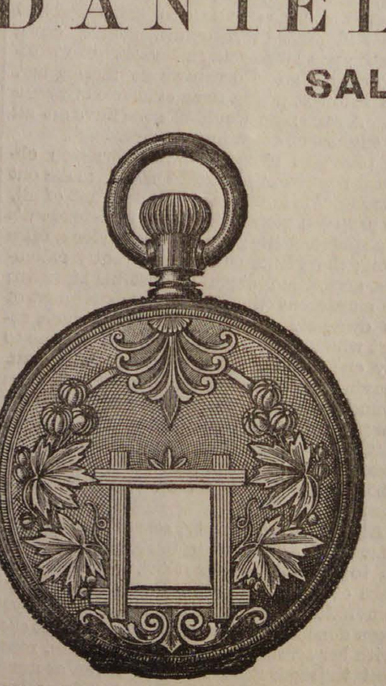
94 & 96 Washington Street.

AMERICAN WATCHES

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

DANIEL LOW'S,

SALEM.



LADIES'

GOLD

WATCHES.

We can show a fine line of Gold and Silver watches and sell them much less than Boston prices.

Daniel Low,

SALEM.

Watches repaired and adjusted promptly and at reasonable prices. Standard time by telegraph every day from Cambridge.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

From now until the first of March, to make room for Spring goods, I shall make special prices on Overcoatings, Suitings and Pantaloonings. These goods comprise the finest Foreign goods in neat and genteel patterns, and will be cut, trimmed and made in my usual good style, the extreme prices made only to reduce stock and keep my help employed during the dull season.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR.

MAIN STREET.

OVER WARREN TRASK'S STORE.

FLOUR! FLOUR!!

We have just received a car load of

BEST GRADES OF FLOUR,

which we are offering at bottom prices.

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

NOTICE LADIES.

The Right Place

For all kinds of MILLINERY is at

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

All our present stock of

HATS, BONNETS & MILLINERY GOODS

will be closed out at a big bargain, as we wish to make room for our Spring Goods.

N. B. We have the best Kid Gloves in the city for 89 cents, worth $1.25.

We have just received a new lot of Hair goods which will be sold at low prices. Switch Crimps, etc.

PAVILION BUILDING,

153 & 155 ESSEX STREET.

SALEM.

CABINET ORGAN

FOR SALE.

George Woods, maker; 9 stops, 4 sets reeds; an excellent instrument and in good condition.

— AT —

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE STORE.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

READ THIS

All that are interested in hens.

We are about to receive a large stock of which we shall offer at factory prices and save the price of your freight.

POULTRY NETTING

Send in your order at once, and buy at wholesale.

— Buy our —

25c SAW HORSE

also a good steel

Chopping Axe for 65 cts.

Have you seen our

Patent Pinafore Oil Can.

New stock of 5 and 10 cent Goods.

Call and see our variety of Pocket Cutlery and Scissors.

— AT

Samuel Trask's

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

SUPPLY STORE

Everything needed for

RTISTS & AMATEUR

Largest stock and Lowest Prices

C. J. EDMANDS

12 Bromfield St., Boston.

Send for Catalogue.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40.000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus C. Batchelder ChauncyS.Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

27 Peabody Street.

The New York Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday)	$6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday)	50
SUNDAY, per Year	1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR	7 00
WEEKLY, per Year . . .	1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stores, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to
GEORGE J. WINCHESTER

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

For sale by all Druggists.

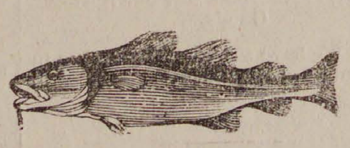
SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. TRADE MARK

Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET



Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

CATARRH ELY'S Cream Balm IS WORTH $1000 To any Man, Woman or Child suffering from CATARRH. A. E. NEWMAN, Graling, Mich.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
CURES COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BROS, OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A.
TRADE-MARK
EASY TO USE

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego. N. Y.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A Dividend of Three dollars per share, will be payable at the office of the Treasurer on WEDNESDAY, the 27th inst., to stockholders of record this day.
DAVID MOORE. Treasurer.

"Could it be possible—could there be in certain organizations powers not yet known, not yet properly investigated?"

My thought—supposing such a thought was ever there—was not discouraged by Carriston, who, speaking as if his faith in the bodily existence of the man whose portrait lay in my hand was unassailable, said:

"I noticed that his general appearance was that of a countryman, an English peasant, so in the country I shall find my love. Moreover, it will be easy to identify the man, as the top joint is missing from the middle finger of his right hand. As it lay on Madeline's arm I noticed that."

I argued with him no more. I felt that words would be but wasted.

CHAPTER IX.

A day or two after I had witnessed what I must call Carriston's second seizure we were favored with a visit from the man whose services we had secured to trace Madeline. Since he had received his instructions we had heard nothing of his proceedings until he now called to report progress in person. Carriston had not expressed the slightest curiosity as to where the man was or what he was about. Probably he looked upon the employment of this private detective as nothing more useful than a salve to my conscience. That Madeline was only to be found through the power which he professed to hold of seeing her in his visions was, I felt certain, becoming a rooted belief of his. Whenever I expressed my surprise that our agent had brought or sent no information, Carriston shrugged his shoulders and assured me that from the first he knew the man's researches would be fruitless. However, the fellow had called at last, and, I hoped, had brought us good news.

He was a glib-tongued man, who spoke in a confident, matter-of-fact way. When he saw us he rubbed his hands as one who had brought affairs to a successful issue and now meant to reap praise and other rewards. His whole bearing told me he had made an important discovery; so I begged him to be seated and give us his news.

Carriston gave him a careless glance and at some little distance from us. He looked as if he thought the impending communication scarcely worth the trouble of listening to. He might, indeed, from his looks have been the most disinterested person of the three. He even left me to do the questioning.

"Now, then, Mr. Sharpe," I said, "let us hear if you have earned your money."

"I think so, sir," replied Sharpe, looking curiously at Carriston, who, strange to say, heard this answer with supreme indifference.

"I think I may say I have, sir," continued the detective, "that is if the gentleman can identify these articles as being the young lady's property."

Thereupon he produced from a thick letter case a ribbon, in which was stuck a silver pin, mounted with Scotch pebbles, an ornament that I remembered having seen Madeline wear. Mr. Sharpe handed them to Carriston. He examined them, and I saw his cheeks flush and his eyes grow bright.

"How did you come by this?" he cried, pointing to the silver ornament.

"I'll tell you presently, sir. Do you recognize it?"

"I gave it to Miss Rowan myself."

"Then we are on the right track," I cried, joyfully. "Go on, Mr. Sharpe."

"Yes, gentlemen, we are certainly on the right track; but, after all, it isn't my fault if the track don't lead exactly where you wish. You see, when I heard of this mysterious disappearance of the lady I began to concoct my own theory. I said to myself, when a young and beautiful——"

"Confound your theories!" cried Carriston, fiercely. "Go on with your tale."

The man gave his interrupter a spiteful glance.

"Well, sir," he said, "as you gave me strict instructions to watch a certain gentleman closely, I obeyed those instructions. of course, although I knew I was on a fool's errand."

"Will you go on?" cried Carriston. "If you know where Miss Rowan is, say so; your money will be paid you the moment I find her."

"I don't say I know exactly where to find the lady, but I can soon know if you wish me to."

"Tell your tale your own way, but as shortly as possible," I said, seeing that my excitable friend was preparing for another outburst.

"Of course," I said, seeing that Carriston had no intention of speaking. "Where did you find it?"

"It was left behind in a bedroom of one of the principal hotels in Folkestone. I did go over to Boulong, but after that I thought I had learned all you would care to know."

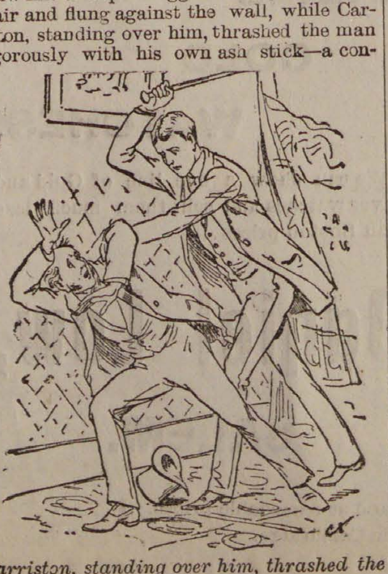
There was something in the man's manner which made me dread what was coming. Again I looked at Carriston. His lips were curved with contempt, but he still kept silence.

"Why not have pursued your inquiries past Boulong?" I asked.

"For this reason, sir. I had learned enough. The theory I had concocted was the right one, after all. The lady went to Edinburgh alone, right enough; but she didn't leave Edinburgh alone; nor she didn't leave London alone; nor she didn't stay at Folkestone—where I found the pin—alone; nor she didn't go to Boulong alone. She was accompanied by a young gentleman who called himself Mr. Smith; and, what's more, she called herself Mrs. Smith. Perhaps she was, as they lived like man and wife."

"Whether the fellow was right or mistaken, this explanation of Madeline's disappearance seemed to give me what I can only compare to a smack in the face. I stared at the speaker in speechless astonishment. If the tale he told so glibly and circumstantially was true, farewell, so far as I was concerned, to belief in the love or purity of women. Madeline Rowan, that creature of a poet's dream, on the eve of her marriage with Charles Carriston, to fly, whether wed or unwed mattered little, with another man! And yet she was but a woman. Carriston—or Carr, as she only knew him—was in her eyes poor. The companion of her flight might have won her with gold. Such things have been. Still——

My rapid and wrongful meditations were cut short in an unexpected way. Suddenly I saw Mr. Sharpe dragged bodily out of his chair and flung against the wall, while Carriston, standing over him, thrashed the man vigorously with his own ash stick—a convenient weapon, so convenient that I felt Mr. Sharpe could not have selected a stick more appropriate for his own chastisement. So Carriston seemed to think, for he laid on cheerfully some eight or ten good cutting strokes.



Carriston, standing over him, thrashed the man vigorously.

Nevertheless, being a respectable doctor and man of peace, I was compelled to interfere. I held Carriston's arm, while Mr. Sharpe struggled to his feet, and after collecting his hat and his pocketbook stood glaring vengefully at his assailant, and rubbing the while such of the weals on his back as he could reach. Annoyed as I felt at the unprofessional fracas, I could scarcely help laughing at the man's appearance. I doubt the possibility of any one looking heroic after such a thrashing.

"I'll have the law for this," he growled. "I ain't paid to be beaten by a madman."

"You're paid to do my work, not another's," said Carriston. "Go to the man who has overbribed you and sent you to tell me your lies. Go to him; tell him that once more he has failed. Out of my sight!"

As Carriston showed signs of recommencing hostile operations, the man fled as far as the doorway. There, being in comparative safety, he turned with a malignant look.

"You'll smart for this," he said; "when they lock you up as a raving lunatic, I'll try and get a post as keeper."

I was glad to see that Carriston paid no attention to this parting shaft. He turned his back scornfully, and the fellow left the room and the house.

"Now are you convinced?" asked Carriston, turning to me.

"Convinced of what? That his tale is untrue, or that he has been mislead, I am quite certain."

"Tush! That is not worth consideration. Don't you see that Ralph has done all this? I set that man to watch him; he found out the espionage; suborned my agent—or your agent, I should say; sent him here with a trumped up tale. Oh, yes; I was to believe that Madeline had deserted me—that was to drive me out of my senses. My cousin is a fool, after all!"

"Without further proof I cannot believe that your suspicions are correct," I said, but I must own I spoke with some hesitation.

"Proof! A clever man like you ought to see ample proof in the fact of that wretch having twice called me a madman. I have seen him but once before—you know if I then gave him any grounds for making such an assertion. Tell me, from whom could he have learned the word except from Ralph Carriston?"

I was bound, if only to save my own reputation for sagacity, to confess that the point noted by Carriston had raised certain doubts in my mind. But if Ralph Carriston really was trying by some finely wrought scheme to bring about what he desired, there was all the more reason for great caution to be exercised.

"I am sorry you beat the fellow," I said. "He will now swear right and left that you are not in your senses."

"Of course he will. What do I care?"

"Only remember this. It is easier to get put in an asylum than to get out of it."

"It is not so very easy for a sane man like myself to be put in, especially when he is on his guard. I have looked up the law. There must be a certificate signed by two doctors, surgeons, or, I believe, apothecaries will do, who have seen the supposed lunatic alone and together. I'll take very good care I speak to no doctor save yourself, and keep out of the way of surgeons and apothecaries."

It quite cheered me to hear him speaking so sensibly and collectedly about himself, but I again impressed upon him the need of great caution. Although I could not believe that his cousin had taken Madeline away, I was, after the affair with the spy, inclined to think that, as Carriston averred, he aimed at getting him, sane or insane, into a madhouse.

But after all these days we were not a step nearer to the discovery of Madeline's whereabouts. Carriston made no sign of doing anything to facilitate that discovery. Again I urged him to intrust the whole affair to the police. Again he refused to do so, adding that he was not quite ready. Ready for what, I wondered!

CHAPTER X.

I must confess, in spite of my affection for Carriston, I felt inclined to rebel against the course which matters were taking. I was a prosaic matter-of-fact medical man; doing my work to the best of my ability, and anxious when that work was done that my hours of leisure should be as free from worry and care as possible. With Carriston's advent several disturbing elements entered into my quiet life.

Let Ralph Carriston be guilty or innocent of the extraordinary crime which his cousin laid at his door, I felt certain that he was anxious to obtain possession of the supposed lunatic's person. It would suit his purposes for his cousin to be proved mad. I did not believe that even if the capture was legally effected Carriston's liberation would be a matter of great difficulty, so long as he remained in his present state of mind; so long as I, a doctor of some standing, could go into the witness box and swear to his sanity. But my old dread was always with me—the dread that any further shock would overturn the balance of his sensitive mind.

So it was that every hour that Carriston was out of my sight was fraught with anxiety. If Ralph Carriston was really as unscrupulous as my friend supposed; if he had really, as seemed almost probable, suborned our agent; he might by some crafty trick obtain the needful certificate, and some day I should come home and find Carriston had been removed. In such a case I foresaw great trouble and distress.

Besides, after all that had occurred, it was as much as I could do to believe that Carriston was not mad. Any doctor who knew what I knew would have given the verdict against him.

After dismissing his visions and hallucinations with the contempt which they deserved, the fact of a man who was madly, passionately in love with a woman, and who believed that she had been entrapped and was still kept in restraint, sitting down quietly, and letting day after day pass without making an effort towards finding her, was in itself prima facie evidence of insanity. A sane man would at once have set all the engines of detection at work.

I felt that if once Ralph Carriston obtained possession of him he could make out a strong case in his own favor. First of all, the proposed marriage out of the defendant's own sphere of life; the passing under a false name; the ridiculous, or apparently ridiculous, accusation made against his kinsman; the murderous threats; the chastisement of his own paid agent who brought him a report which might not seem at all untrue to any one who knew not Madeline Rowan. Leaving out of the question what might be wrung from me in cross-examination, Ralph Carriston had a strong case, and I knew that, once in his power, my friend might possibly be doomed to pass years, if not his whole life, under restraint. So I was anxious, very anxious.

And I felt an anxiety, scarcely second to that which prevailed on Carriston's account, as to the fate of Madeline. Granting for sake of argument that Carriston's absurd conviction that no bodily harm had as yet been done her was true, I felt sure that she, with her scarcely less sensitive nature, must feel the separation from her lover as much as he himself felt the separation from her. Once or twice I tried to comfort myself with cynicism—tried to persuade myself that a young woman could not in our days

Continued on 7th page.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,	Geo. F. Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Amos Merrill,
Chas. B. Farley,	John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,	Alex. B. Merrill,
Stephen Blaney,	C. Warren Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Geo. S. Osborne,
Chas. B. Farley,	Nathl. Symonds.
Geo. F. Osborne,	Aaron F. Clark,
Amos Merrill,	Albert A. Messer,
John A. Lord,	John Pinder,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Wm P. Clark
Wm. H. Little,	Reuben G. Nelson,
Aaron W. Warren,	Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,
Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.

Rufus H. Brown,

Lewis Allen,	Alex. B. Merrill,
C. Warren Osborne.	Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May August, and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON. Treas.

CANDEE.

CANDEE RUBBER BOOTS GIVE DOUBLE WEAR ON THE BOTTOM
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS
TWO YEARS TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Rubber BOOTS —WITH— DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the PRICE NO HIGHER.

Call and examine the goods.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME

OF THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA-

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. E. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free to any address
WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody	at	9 47 A. M
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's. Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

[JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.]

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few General Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO- Norwich. Ct.

nov24 —12t

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDENCE, 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars. Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Palfry Place. Lynn. Mass. apr 29

Business Cards.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan 11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

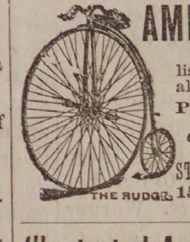
EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY. MASS.



AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements.

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO., 152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid.

Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given.

Knickerbocker Subscription Agency.

P. O. BOX 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1

Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.

German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions

Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c

Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.

b 18—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chic

BOSTON & LOWELL R. R.

FEB. 8, 1886.

PASSENGER SERVICE FROM SALEM:

Leave Salem for Lowell, and Lawrence at 7 55, 10 55 A. M., 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lowell for Salem, at 7 35 A. M., 1 25, 6 P. M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem, at 7 45 A. M., 1 30, 6 P. M.

Leave Wilmington Junction for Salem, at 8 04 A. M., 1 55, 6 28 P. M.

Leave North Reading for Salem, at 8 23 A. M., 2 05, 6 38 P. M.

Leave West Peabody for Salem, at 8 35 A.M., 2 18, 6 50 P. M.

All trains from Salem connect at Lowell for Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.

The 7 55 A. M. train connects at Lowell for Peterboro, Keene and intermediate stations.

C. S. MELLEN, Gen'l Supt. LUCIUS TUTTLE, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very Best Tobacco in the market we feel justified in aying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba Brands

FOR A 5C. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one- The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store.

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO, WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

BUY IT AND TRY IT.

Try it for earache,
Try it for headache,
Try it for toothache,
Try it for backache.

For an ache or a pain Thomas' Eclectric Oil is excellent.—Chas. F. Medler, box 274, Schenectady. N. Y.

Thomas' Eclectric Oil is the best thing going, pa says. Cured him of rheumatism and me of earache—two drops.—Master Horace Brenizer, Clinton, Iowa.

Try it for a limp,
Try it for a lameness,
Try it for a pain,
Try it for a strain.

From shoulder to ankle joint, and for three months, I had rheumatism which yielded to nothing but Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Thomas' Eclectric Oil did what no physician seemed able to accomplish. It cured me.—John N. Gregg, Supt. of Railway Construction, Niagara Falls.

Try it for a scald,
Try it for a cut,
Try it for a bruise,
Try it for a burn.

Price 50 cts. and $1.00.

FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop's.
BUFFALO, N. Y.

AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book
Just Published, entitled

THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

☞ AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. ☞ Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address
C. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING

SIMPLE STRONG
NEW HOME
SWIFT
SURE

SEWING MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET,

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will fav or him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

RED STAR
TRADE MARK.
COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY
For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Aparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the owest rates.

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST,
Compounder of
Physicians Prescriptions
and dealer in
RELIABLE DRUGS.
35 MAIN STREET.
PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER.
7 LOWELL STREET,
UP STAIRS.

WEETSER'S
DRUG STORE
NO. 37 MAIN STREET,
PEABODY

☞ Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

AT

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

SIG. BATTALIA,
FROM BOSTON,
PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms, 40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

REMOVED TO
No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL SMITH,

Watchmaker.

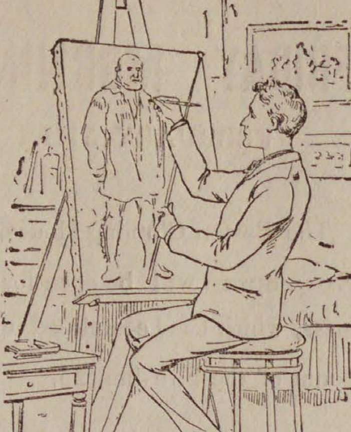
be spirited away—that she had gone by her own free will—that there was a man who had at the eleventh hour alienated her affections from Carriston. But I could not bring myself to believe this. So I was placed between the horns of a dilemma.

If Madeline had not fled of her own free will, some one must have taken her away, and if so our agent's report was a coined one; and, if a coined one, issued at Ralph's instance; therefore Ralph must be the prime actor in the mystery.

But in sober moments such a deduction seemed an utter absurdity.

Although I have said that Carriston was doing nothing towards clearing up the mystery, I wrong him in so saying. After his own erratic way he was at work. At such work, too! I really lost all patience with him.

He shut himself up in his room, out of which he scarcely stirred for three days. By that time he had completed a large and beautiful drawing of his imaginary man.



He completed a drawing of his imaginary man.

This he took to a well-known photographer's, and ordered several hundred small photographs of it to be prepared as soon as possible. The minute description which he had given me of his fanciful creation was printed at the foot of each copy. As soon as the first batch of these precious photographs was sent home, to my great joy he did what he should have done days ago: yielded to my wishes, and put the matter into the hands of the police.

I was glad to find that in giving details of what had happened, he said nothing about the advisability of keeping a watch on Ralph Carriston's proceedings. He did indeed offer an absurdly large reward for the discovery of the missing girl, and, moreover, gave the officer in charge of the case a packet of photographs of his phantom man, telling him in the gravest manner that he knew the original of that likeness had something to do with the disappearance of Miss Rowan. The officer, who thought the portrait was that of a natural being, took his instructions in good faith, although he seemed greatly surprised when he heard that Carriston knew neither the name nor the occupation, in fact, knew nothing concerning the man who was to be sought for. However, as Carriston assured him that finding this man would insure the reward as much as if he found Madeline, the officer readily promised to combine the two tasks, little knowing what waste of time any attempt to perform the latter must be.

Two days after this Carriston came to me. "I shall leave you to-morrow," he said.

"Where are you going?" I asked. "Why do you leave?"

"I am going to travel about. I have no intention of letting Ralph get hold of me. So I mean to go from place to place until I find Madeline."

This was not a bad argument. In fact, if he carried out his resolve of passing quickly from place to place I did not see how he could plan anything more likely to defeat the intentions with which we credited his cousin. As to his finding Madeline by so doing, that was another matter.

His idea seemed to be that chance would sooner or later bring him in contact with the man of his dream. However, now that the search had been intrusted to the proper persons his own action in the matter was not worth troubling about. I gave him many cautions. He was to be quiet and guarded in words and manner. He was not to converse with strangers. If he found himself dogged or watched by anyone he was to communicate at once with me. But, above all, I begged him not to yield again to his mental infirmity. The folly of a man who could avoid it throwing himself into such a state ought to be apparent to him.

"Not oftener than I can help," was all the promise I could get from him. "But see her I must sometimes, or I shall die."

I had now given up as hopeless the combat with his peculiar idiosyncracy. So, with many expressions of gratitude on his part, we bade each other farewell.

During his absence he wrote to me nearly every day, so that I might know his whereabouts in case I had any news to communicate. But I had none. The police failed to find the faintest clew. I had been called upon by them once or twice in order that they might have every grain of information I could give. I took the liberty of advising them not to waste their time in looking for the man, as his very existence was problematical. It was but a fancy of my friend's, and not worth thinking seriously about. I am not sure but what, after hearing this, they did not think the whole affair was an imagined one, and so relaxed their efforts.

Once or twice Carriston, happening to be in the neighborhood of London, came to see me, and slept the night at my house. He also had no news to report. Still, he seemed hopeful as ever.

The weeks went by until Christmas was over and the New Year begun; but no sign, word or trace of Madeline Rowan. "I have seen her," wrote Carriston, "several times. She is in the same place—unhappy, but not ill-treated."

Evidently his hallucinations were still in full force.

* * * * * * * *

At first I intended that the whole of this tale should be told by myself; but upon getting so far it struck me that the evidence of another actor who played an important part in the drama would give certain occurrences to the reader at first instead of secondhand, so I wrote to my friend Dick Fenton, of Frenchay, Gloucestershire, and begged him, if he found himself capable of so doing, to put in simple narrative form his impressions of certain events which happened in January, 1866; events in which we two were concerned. He has been good enough to comply with my request. His communication follows.

CHAPTER I.

As my old friend Phil Brand has asked me to do this, I suppose I must. Brand is a right good fellow and a clever fellow, but has plenty of crotchets of his own. The worst I know of him is that he insists upon having his own way with people. With those who differ from him he is as obstinate as a mule. Anyhow, he has always had his own way with me. This custom, so far as I am concerned, commenced years ago, when we were boys at school together, and I have never been able to shake off the bad habit of giv-

To be continued.

(From the Fireside Favorite)

In Auld Lang Syne.

ALBUM VERSES

BY FRANCIS NUGENT.

The friends of youth you'll ne'er forget
In the aftermath of time;
You'll ne'er forget thy peaceful bliss
In days o' lang syne.

For then this book—memento sweet!
Will bring them all to min'—
The grave, the happy and the gay,
True friends o' lang syne.

Long be thy years of life, dear friend,
A blessed lot be thine!
May love and friendship, for thy good,
With health combine.

God bless thy dwelling and thy store!
May all good things be thine!
And unto Jesus for His love,
Thine all consign.

What time thine eyes on earth doth close,
May light of Heaven shine!
And there may meet the friends you knew
In auld lang syne.

Several years ago, when Bob Ingersoll was in the prime of his law practice in Periora, the colonel happened to have as a client a young and buxom widow over in Washington, Tazewell County. The opposing counsel was the late Jonathan K. Cooper, as staunch a Presbyterian as he was an able lawyer. At the close of the evidence Mr. Cooper arose and made a splendid argument on his side of the case, closing by saying that his legal opponent was prejudiced when it came to defending beautiful women.

After the venerable Presbyterian closed, Colonel Ingersoll arose with a twinkle in his eye, and slowly and solemnly commenced as follows: "Gentlemen of the jury, the counsel on the other side is correct. I do have a leaning in the direction of beautiful woman. I love the fireside about which play dear children, presided over by a smiling, beautiful mother. I tell you what it is, gentlemen of the jury, I would rather—much rather—if I had my choice, be in h— fifteen minutes, sitting on a hard wooden bench beside a woman as beautiful as Cleopatra than to reside a lifetime in heaven singing psalms with Jonathan K. Cooper."

The jury, court, lawyers and spectators roared with laughter, in which Mr. Cooper was forced to join, and Colonel Ingersoll and his beautiful client came out ahead.—Detroit Tribune.

Ballou's Magazine has made its regular monthly visit. The March number is running over with good, interesting, instructive and amusing reading for all members of the family, by the best authors. It is about one of the best monthlies coming to our office, and deserving a large patronage. Those wishing for a good magazine, clean and bright, can do no better than subscribe. The price $1.50 per year postpaid is remarkable cheap for so good a publication containing so much entertaining reading for all. Pub. by G. W. Studley, 23 Hawley street, Boston, Mass.

A free copy of either Babyland for Babies, Our Little Men and Women for Youngest readers, or the Pansy for Boys and Girls, will be sent to any one desiring some periodical for their little one, who will write for it, mentioning this paper. Address D. Lothrop & Co., Boston. A sample copy of Wide Awake will be sent on receipt of five-2-cent stamps. Interesting Announcements and Full Premium List will be sent, if desired.

SOUGHT FOR the last hundred years.—A remedy for catarrh, hay fever and cold in the head, found at last in Ely's Cream Balm. Safe and pleasant to use, and easily applied with the finger. It gives relief at once and a thorough treatment positively cures. Price 50 cents.

I have been troubled with catarrh from boyhood and had considered my case chronic until about three years ago I procured one bottle of Ely's Cream Balm and I count myself sound to-day, all from the use of one bottle.—J. R. Cooley Hardware Merchant, Montrose, Pa.

The snake story season will soon be with us again. When the warm sunshine brings them forth, look out for tales that will rival some of those told in the Arabian Nights. A snake in spring time always does look large even if you have not been tampering with its namesake in the glass.

Careless nurses have let children fall, and injured them for life. They have also given them doses of cough mixtures containing opiates with fatal results. There is no danger in Red Star Cough Cure Free from narcotics. Only 25 cents. Prompt, safe, sure.

Pearls seem to be fast taking place as the most fashionable of precious jewels. The demand for them is stated to be quite extraordinary.

Captain Mitchell, of the bark Antoine Sala, New York and Havana trade, came home in May, entirely helpless with rheumatism. He went to the mountains, bu receiving no benefit, at his wife's request began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. He immediately began to improve; in two months his rheumatism was all gone, and he sailed in command or bis vessel a well man. Hood's Sarsaparilla will help you. Sold by all druggists. (E)

Gentle spring is coming!

Boils, sores and ulcers, indicate a bad state of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla eradicates all foul humors.

W. P. B. Brooks & Co.

151 Hanover St., Boston.

Furniture, Carpets,

STOVES, CROCKERY, SILVER WARE.

And Everything in the Line, on Easy Terms.

☞ Always the Best Place to Trade

W. P. B. BROOKS. A. D. DAMON,
F D SPERRY

TWICE A DAY
HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL
CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamental work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

DENTAL NOTICE.

To the thousands who are suffering from the ill effects of badly decayed teeth, we would beg leave to inform them that with Our Method of Administering the New Vegetable Vapor all teeth can be removed without pain. Since we first began using the Vapor, we have used over 15,000 Gallons, administering it to thousands who have come from all parts of Essex County to have their teeth removed, and in no case has there been any ill effects from its use. We have given it to the most delicate and sensitive woman as well as the hardy man; to the child of 5 years, or the adult of 75. We have given the Vapor to hundreds of the most nervous people, who have for years dreaded having their decayed teeth removed. And we can say that one and all have gone away with the happy thought that their teeth were removed without pain. We can refer to hundreds of our patients who have taken Gas, Ether or Chloroform who declare that the Vapor has no equal as an anæsthetic. We charge No Extra for administering this Anæsthetic. Our prices remain the same as with gas. FINE GOLD FILLING A SPECIALTY.

☞ Horse cars pass he door every hour and to all out of town patrons we pay car fare.

DR. F. WILLIAMS,
Formerly FRIZZELL & WILLIAMS,
LEE HALL, OPP. CITY HALL, LYNN.

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S
Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

Sold by all Druggists.
Price $1; Six bottles, $5.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

Do you want a

TALL CLOCK?

For the Holidays, or any article of antique designs, in Tables, Desks, Chairs, Sofas, Crockery, Andirons or wheels?

Furniture Repaired and Upholstered

in the best manner, particular attention paid to fancy work during holidays. Carpet

H. F. LAWRENCE.

Whidden's Building,
18 Main Street.

All orders by mail or left at A. H. Whidden's will receive prompt attention.

WILLIAM H. LONGSDORF & CO.,
BANKERS AND BROKERS,
Broad Street, New York.

SOUND INVESTMENT Bonds furnished to Executors, Trustees of Estates, and Individual Investors. Defaulted Bonds of States, Counties, Cities and Railways bought and sold.

Coupons and dividends collected, and information furnished relative to securities of all kinds, without charge. Horse Railway and Gas Stocks a specialty.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you.
Address Dr. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

A BIG OFFER To introduce them we will GIVE AWAY 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 21 Dey St., N. Y.

LADIES WANTED—To work for us at their own homes. $7 to 10 per week can be easily made; no canvassing; fascinating and steady employment. Particulars and sample of the work sent for stamp. Address HOME M'F'G CO., P. O. Box 1916, Boston, Mass.

WE want SALESMEN everywhere, local and traveling, to sell our goods. Will pay good salary and all expenses. Write for terms at once, and state salary wanted. STANDARD SILVER WARE COMP'Y, Boston, Mass.

CONSUMPTION

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Lowest Rates for advertising in 981 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby, Boston,

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

Pillsbury's Best.

WE keep in stock the above brand of Flour, also Washburn's Best, Snowflake, and other Choice Brands of Patent Flour.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, Oct. 11, 188 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION.

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M., 2 01, 27, 5 08, 6 42 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 8. 10 45 A. M., 12 M., 2.55, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 8 13, 8 30, 8 45, 8 55, 9 20, 9 55, 10 05, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 57, 1 30, 2 15, 3 35, 4 20 4 33, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 6.50, 8. 8 55, 9, 9 55 P. M Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40 8 15, P. M.
Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48. 8 55, 10 05, 10 28 A. M., 12 M, 12 57, 2 15, 3 35, 4 33, 5 17. 5 48, 6 33, 6 50, 8, 9, 9 55, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 11 40 A. M., 1 10, 3 05, 5 40, 8 15 P. M,
Beverly, 6 53, 7 56, 8 08, 10 42, 11 25 A. M., 12 M, 1 09, 2 20, 2 50, 3 52. 4 07, 5 15, 5 35, 6 38, . 05, 7 15, 10 05, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M.
Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 56, 11 25 A. M., 2 50, 4 07, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P. M
Essex, 8 08 A. M., 3 52, 6 38 P. M.
Ipswich, 6 53, 8 08 9 37, 10 42 A. M., 1 09, 2 20, 3 52, 5 15, 6 38. 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Newburyport, 6 53, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42, A. M. 1 09, 2 20, 3 52. 5 15, 6 38, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Amesbury, 8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M.. 1 09, 3 52, 5.15 7 15† P. M.
Portsmouth—8 08, 9 37, 10 42 A. M.. 1 09, 3 52, 5 15, 7 15† P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.
Dover, 8 08, A. M., 1 09, 3 52 P. M.
Great Falls and Rochester, 8 08, A. M., 3 52 P. M.
Wolfboro—8 08, A, M., 3 52 P. M.
North Conway—8 08, A M.,
Portland—8 08, 9 37 A M, 1 09, 7 15† P M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
Augusta—9 37 A. M., 1 09, 7 15† P. M Sunday 7 30 P. M.
Bangor—9 37 A. M., 7 15† P. M. Sundays 7 30 P. M.
St. John and Halifax, 9 37 A. M. 7 15† P. M. Sundays, 7 30 P. M.
Montreal, 9 37 A. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 15 P. M.
St. John—8 30 P. M. (daily except Saturday).
Bangor. 7 15 A. M., 7 45 P. M. Sundays 7 45 P. M.
Augusta. 6 15. 9 57 A. M., 2 58, 10 55 P. M. Sundays 10 55 P. M.
Portland—2, 9 A M. 1, 6 P M. Sundays, 2 A. M.
North Conway—7 05, A M,
Wolfboro— 8 15. A M, 2 45 P M.
Rochester—7 22. 9 42 A. M., 4 04, P. M.
Great Falls—7 38, 9 55 A. M. 4 18, P. M.
Dover—6 45, 10 25 A. M., 4 25 6 55 P. M.
Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 10 50 A M, 3 05, 5, 7 40 P M. Sundays, 4 05 A. M, 4 P. M.
Amesbury—5 58, 6 40, 7 08, 8 38, 11 13 A. M., 3 10 5 15, P. M.
Newburyport- 4 45. 6 30, 7, 7 55, 8 10, 9 02, 11 35 A M. 3 40, 3 45. 5 40. 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.
Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 10, 8 28, 9 23, 11 59 A. M. 4 03, 6 02, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., P. M.
Essex—7, 11 45 A. M, 5 40 P. M.
Rockport 6 05, 7 20, 8 30, 10 A. M., 1 20, 5, 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50 A. M.
Gloucester—6 15, 7 28, 8 39, 10 08 A M, 1 30, 5 08, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8 A. M.
Manchester—6 30, 7 43, 8 53, 10 21 A. M., 1 45, 5 22, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14 A. M.
Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 48, 9 11, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 20, 12 50, 2 05, 4 24, 5 40, 6 25, 9 43, P. M. Sundays 8 35 A. M. 5 30 P M.
Swampscott,—6 44, 7 48, 8 50, 9 07, 10 34, 11 52, A. M., 12 36, 2 13, 3 31, 4 31, 4 56, 6 20, 6 56, 8 26, 9 56, 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 17 A. M., 1 57, 5 47, 10 07 P. M.
Lynn—6 40, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 9 02, 9 25, 10 30, 11 13, 11 47, A. M., 12 33, 12 58, 2 10, 2 40, 3 26, 3 41, 3 57, 4 28, 4 52, 5 04, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 26, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 22, 9 52, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 12 A, M, 1 52, 5 42, 7 22, 10 02, P. M.
Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8*, 8 30, 9, 10, 10 45, 11 15, A. M. 2 M, 12 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2 55, 3 15, 3 30, 4, 4 20, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 40 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 7, 9 30 P. M.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Change at Newburyport.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 55, 8 40, 9 30 A M, 1 10, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 6, 7 20 P M.
Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 2 3 30, 4 51, 5 40, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 25, 9 05 A. M., 1 40, 4 35 P. M.
Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 10, 5 15 P. M.
Wakefield for Salem—8 13 A M, 12 05, 43, 5 48 P M.
Lynnfield for Salem—8 27 A M, 12 17, 53, 5 58 P M.
Peabody for Salem—8 38 A M, 12 27, 4 02, 6 07 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell—7 A M., 4 43, 6 02 P. M.
Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 32 AM, 4 43, 6 02 PM.
Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 43, 6 02 P M.
Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 32 A M, 12 47, 3 40, 4 43, 5 20, 6 02, 6 42 PM.
Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 45 A. M., 12 15, 5 15 P. M
Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 9 45 A M, 1. 5 50 P M.
Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 22, P M.
Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 7 50, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 35, P M.
Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 2 01, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 42 P M.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

June, 15, 1885.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, §6.30, 7.30, 9.30, 11.15 P. M.
Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15 5.45, 6.30 8.45, 10.15, P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, P. M.
Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND, Supt

CALL AT THIS OFFICE FOR FINE JOB PRINTING. Specimens give

LOW PRICES

— OF —

WALL PAPERS.

For Early Buyers.

Special Lots at nearly half prices. Come early and get the best choice.

10c Papers for 6c per roll.
15c Paper for 10c per roll.
20 & 25c Papers for 12 1-2c per roll.
25c Satins for 15c per roll.

Other goods equally low.

Borders from 1c per yard upwards.

☞ Goods delivered free in Essex Co.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,
STATIONERS,
216 & 220 Essex St.,
SALEM.

SPARKS.

Last Friday night, Chief Tibbetts detailed three men from each of the companies in the Central Station to sleep in the house, on account of the terrible storm which was raging. The Chief himself passed the night on the pung of Hose 1., and the others were scattered about in the different rooms on chairs and lounges. There were 16 men in all including the drivers in the house. When the snow began to gain, Steamer 1 was put on duty as being the lighest engine. The boys were in dread all that night for fear there would be an alarm, but fortunately they were not called out. Other firemen stayed through Saturday night.

The Board of Engineers will hold their regular meeting this evening.

Chief Tibbetts and assistant Johnson were inspecting hydrants yesterday afternoon and found all examined all right.

What might have been a serious fire, was extinguished last Sunday evening at the residence of E. S. Howard, on Holten street, without an alarm. About 8 o'clock the family smelt smoke in the house and upon looking for the cause found that quite a brisk fire was raging in the sink room. All the water to be obtained in the house was in this room and so the fire had to be fought with woolen cloths, fairly beating the flames out. The fire was caused probably by the servant girl going into the room with a kerosene lamp, which was set down near a towel which caught fire but was not noticed at the time. It would have been a bad night to turn out a family into the streets, with the wind blowing at the rate of 40 miles an hour.

The jumper of Steamer 1, which was wrecked at the alarm for Walton's hencoop, was returned from Dole & Osgood's repair shop, Monday.

Chief Tibbetts makes his first annual report, now in the hands of the printers, covering from May 1st 1885 to Feb. 1st 1886, as follows. During the time he has been on the Board, there have been twenty alarms with a fire loss of $15,870, on which was an insurance of $10,305, leaving the actual loss above insurance, $5,565. The force of the department is 108 men, including the chief and four assistants, who are divided among two steamers, one hook and ladder and five hose companies. The estimated value of the town property in the possession of the department is $56,825. In his recommendations, the Chief thinks that all hydrants out of repair, four or five in number, should be taken out and replaced with new; that the town purchase 2000 feet of new hose, and that the stables at the Central Station be changed so that the horses will face the apparatus. He also believes that the town should adopt the Gamewell system of fire alarm telegraph. The report also says, "I believe the system of running two steamer companies wrong, when we run one month off and one month on. I have no doubt that one company could run both steamers without crippling the department in the least." The expenditures of the department during the year, were $7999.36, and the appropriation $7200. The report will be published in the annual town report, and will be given out next Monday.

Tickets for the ball and concert of the "Three Ones and a Two" are selling rapidly, and the indications are good for a very large party. It is expected that firemen will be present from all the neighboring cities and towns. z

---

There is nothing to equal Ayer's Sarsaparilla for purifying the blood, and as a spring medicine.

The repairs and new frontage made in the store of C. H. & J. Price, in Salem, make it one of the finest establishments of its kind in this vicinity. The Ferrated Hygienic Wine made by this firm already has a wide reputation, and they manufacture other remedies equally valuable. All their goods are reliable and can be depended upon.

MUSICAL NOTES.

Quietness is the rule in musical circles this week. There is some talk of a concert to be given by Prof. Bill, in a short time, in the Town Hall, but no particulars are as yet announced.

At Mechanic Hall, Salem, next Monday evening, Miss Sopha C. Hall, Mrs. Nellie (Boyle) Brady and the Oxford male quartette will sing.

There was a private musicale yesterday forenoon at the house of Miss Emily W. Archer, accompanist of the Salem Schubert Club, at which Mrs. Ferguson assisted.

The Universalist choir will render vocal selections at the Temperance meeting next Sunday evening, and orchestral music will be given by the Salem Band Orchestra.

The next rehearsal of the Oratorio Society will take place on Thursday evening, and members are requested to bring to the hall copies of "Last Judgment," "Redemption Hymn," and "Hear My Prayer."

Prof. Bill conducted a musical entertainment last evening in Franklin, Mass., at which Miss Amanda Bailey and the Misses Bill performed.

Mrs. H. F. Knowles (Miss Alta Pease) sung successfully at the Gilmore festival in Syracuse.—Boston Sunday Globe.

This is good. Does the musical editor of the Globe wish us to infer that Mrs. H. F. Knowles and Miss Alta Pease are the same person. If so, he must be dreadfully mixed.

Miss Marguerite Hall will give a song recital in Chickering Hall, Boston, next Monday evening.

Miss Gertrude Franklin will give a recital in Burnstead Hall, Bosten, next Tuesday evening.

A large audience greeted the opening performance of Olivette, by the Bennett & Moulton Opera Co. last Monday evening. The seats are sold for nearly every performance of the week. The "Mikado" will be given Friday and Saturday evenings. We shall have something to say next week regarding the performances by the company.

The largest of audience have indorsed with every evidence of approval, at the Bijou, the many good points of "Oxygen." Lydia Thompson herself has received the friendliest of greetings and she is certainly as bright, graceful and alert as the most exacting lover of burlesque could wish. Addie Cora Reed's singing is remarkably good. The variety scene, so to speak, which is introduced into Mr. Gill's piece, affords great amusement. The "Two Little Tramps from Jail," as portrayed by De Lange and Clark, are applauded and recalled with enthusiasm, and the chorus of messenger boys is accounted one of the particular hits of the entertainment. Messrs. Miles and Barton have excellent cause to be satisfied with the success of the first week of their burlesque season. The outlook is for a long and prosperous career of "Oxygen."

When "Nanon," superbly staged, is brought out at the Hollis Street Theatre, the favorite baritone, Mr. William Carleton, and the sprightly Louise Paulin, who enjoys such popularity here, will be seen in leading roles.

The "Mikado" is doing an immense business at the Hollis street, and is likely to run for a long time to come.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In order that the voters may realize the importance of coming to the polls on election day, so that there may be enough of the right element there to carry the day for no license, will you please print the following, and oblige,

ONE INTERESTED.

In 1884 a change of one vote in Conway would have carried the town for "no-license" a change of one vote would have carried North Brookfield for license; a change of two votes would have reversed the result in the license towns of Burlington, Dalton, Dedham, Florida, Mt. Washington and Oakham, and in the no-license towns of Pepperell and S. Abington; three votes reversed would have made Lenox, Millbury, Waltham, and Watertown no, license town, and Petersham, a license town; a change of four votes would have carried Amherst, Chelmsford and Erving for no-license, Andover, Carlisle, Clinton, Greenwich and Warick for license; and a change of five votes would have redeemed Bridgewater and Lexington and disgraced Hatfield, New Marlboro', Shutesbury, and Swampscott. An increase of 75 votes would have redeemed 15 towns from the rum influence, and an increase of one temperance voter to every twenty-five would have carried 20 license towns for no-license.

Business in our job department has been unusually good for some time and we have been obliged to employ extra help, and still our presses are taxed to their utmost capacity. Several large orders we have had to put out to be done by our neighbors. This does not prevent our attending to all orders, however, and they will receive prompt attention.

Danvers paid $642 for board of her paupers at our alms house.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL

HEARD IT WHISPERED

That our citizens expect much good from the temperance agitation.

That Democrats seem to think every move, in the direction of temperance, is a blow aimed at them.

That there is another man around selling soap

That they are willing to give liberal measure to introduce it.

That they lie, but shoals of suckers will swallow the lie, and pay high for the privilege.

That she has heard the name of Lyman Osborne mentioned for Collector of taxes, and thinks it is a good one.

That some of the friends of Col. Batchelder are inclined to criticise his vote on the abolition of the poll tax.

That others are pleased by it and think they can see the hand writing on the wall.

That there is a party in town, representing himself as agent for a Cincinnati company who insures horses.

That he takes $5 down and it insures your horse for $500 for a year.

That she thinks there is no such company in existence.

That if there was you could bet your last button that $40 plugs would be in demand for this service.

That she regards it as a singular freak of fashion that makes ladies in the lightest and gayest evening costumes wear black kid gloves.

That the girls who are spending so much time in decorating china with beautiful designs, might also learn to decorate them with a well cooked meal.

That in order to have any real and substantial prosperity in town, it is necessary that there should be a change in town affairs.

That there should be two separate boards made of the Selectmen and Assessors.

That if you ask an abatement in your taxes, and want to appeal from the decision of the Assessors, you can't go to the Selectmen because they are the Assessors.

That it is time our town did away with the old habit of making both boards the same.

That there are some other things in town affairs which want to be taken from the ruts and placed in line with the present progressive age.

That she fears there will be some sickness from the L. B. S. dance last Thursday night.

That the physicians should not call it pneumonia, but a case of bare neck and shoulders.

That she thought at the Benevolent society dance, the gentlemen in full dress exhibited considerable shirt front.

That it looked to her as if they were getting ready to saw or chop wood in summer.

That there was one thing enacted at the Japanese Wedding that was not down on the programme.

That one of the young ladies had a peculiar gait as she left the stage.

That she had been sitting on her foot and it had gone to sleep.

That the sensation is very pleasant when you don't experience it yourself.

That the average housewife will take more pains to keep a sickly fifteen cent plant through four months of winter, than she will to keep butter on ice in summer.

That blue birds were seen in town on several occasions last week.

That it takes a good many blue birds to make a spring, however.

That she hears that times are not improving.

That it cannot be denied that there is an upward movement of dress goods—at street crossings.

That newspaper reading should be encouraged among the children.

That you will soon discover that they will have a great fondness for the family journal.

That the newspaper is the poor man's library.

That the PRESS is the best newspaper in this vicinity.

That many brides continue to wear their wedding gowns at balls and parties.

That some horrid people remark that her trousseau is only represented by that and a travelling suit.

As the time for the annual town meeting draws near, it is well to be considering who are the proper men to represent the town as selectmen. We have prepared a slate, which we here present, whereon the names may be written.

The Coldest Yet.

Cold is the meat that the white bear eats
On his table of ice and snow;
Cold is the sail that the walrus takes
In his shallop of drifting floe.

Cold is the plumber's heart when his eyes
With exultation shine;
Cold is the breakfast coffee served
At this boarding house of mine.

Cold is the berth that the wild bird finds
In his perch on the distant hill;
Cold is the grave where the lilies sleep
By the banks of the frozen rill.

But colder than all things under the beams
Of the twinkling northern star,
Is a two mile ride of a winter's night
In a Broadway surface car.

—New York Sun.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

The rum sellers of Gloucester are boycotting the Breeze of that city, and judging from the way the Breeze is going for them, we think they will find they have waked up the wrong passenger.

The price of the Lynn Daily Item and Daily Bee are two cents a copy since the first of March. This was found necessary by the increase of wages to employes demanded by the K. of L. Every member of the order should give them a hearty support.

Editor George Randall, of the Attleboro Chronicle, presented a slate, like the one in another column, for his readers to make up for town officers. This don't seem like Randall, as we remember him here, he used to make up the slate and ask the public to endorse it.

The town is experiencing something of a revival in hammered brass. Last summer, when the raw material was sought of the few dealers who had pretended to keep it, they were inclined to remark that this sort of thing is going out of fashion, you know. But now, if the caller at a friend's house fails to secure a response to the ringing of the front-door bell, and hears meanwhile a continued rat-a-tat-tat, from the recesses of the dwelling, the inference is safe that the mistress of the establishment has become a victim to the brass craze. Not all the articles fashioned are purely ornamental, some very serviceable tea trays and like conveniences being turned out.

We have received the Transactions of the Essex Agricultural Society for 1885, with the sixty-third annual address by Thomas Saunders of Haverhill, from the Secretary, D. W. Low of Gloucester. The amount of the premiums awarded at the annual fair was $1,596.25. The society added $319.97 to its permanent fund during the year.

One of our milkmen who drives into Salem, says "he wishes that people would learn not to rinse out their pitchers with cold water, throw in a ticket before the water is dry, and then set the pitcher out doors where the ticket is sure to freeze to the bottom." The next time he thinks he will break the pitcher in order to get the check.

It is amusing, at the close of the sorting of the mail at the Post office, to see the crowd strive to go in and out by a single door. The people inside will wait the passage of four or five by the right hand door, when by opening the double door on the other side they could speedily find exit. It would seem that frequent visits to the office ought to teach people that there are double doors at the entrance.

Mr. R. H. Brown and Frank W. Stanley have gone to Florida and will be gone several weeks.

Lost.

THOUSANDS of dollars every year. By people who do not trade at Peabody's.

A LADY, was lost in wonder and surprise when she saw the bargains at Peabody's.

Found.

A PLACE—where you can get goods at the lowest prices — where one price is the rule. For particulars inquire at Peabody's.

THE PLACE to buy Corsets and Skirts, Gloves and Hosiery, at Peabody's.

For Sale.

A LARGE ASSORTMENT of ladies' hosiery, gloves, corsets, skirts, laces, hamburgs, etc., at the lowest prices, at Peabody's.

AN IRON SAFE, steam fittings, letter lock, in perfect order, at Peabody's.

Wanted.

TWO HUNDRED MEN to bring their families to Salem to get some of the bargains at Peabody's.

FIRE! FIRE!

SMOKE!
SMOKE!
SMOKE!

LOOK OUT.

COMMENCING

FRIDAY MORNING,

FEBRUARY 5TH,

The Boston Clothing House, 221 Essex Street, will be open for business, which has been closed on account of the Fire Jan. 25.

The entire stock of Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Bags, Etc., will be closed out regardless of value within the next Thirty Days.

Don't miss these Bargains, such as were never before shown to the people of New England. Remember the Store,

221 ESSEX ST.,
Boston
Clothing
House,
STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

SOUTH PEABODY.

Mr. I. H. Beede will commence cutting ice the second time this season on Crowninshield's pond this week to finish filling the houses of Mr. Stephen Blaney.

Don't forget the entertainment at the vestry Thursday night, postponed from last week.

Mr. Perley Curtis, formerly a resident of this place, died at his late residence in Lynn, last Sunday night, after a brief illness. His funeral took place from the church in this place this afternoon. Mr. Curtis was a brother to Mrs. D. S. Roberts.

A petition for the location of the B. & L. R. R. to lay its track has been circulated in this part of the town, and has been generally signed.

Mr. Wm. E. Reed has been confined to the house by sickness the past week, but is now somewhat better.

There was a citizens caucus at South Peabody last evening, which was attended by about 50 people from that section of the town. Sidney C. Bancroft was Chairman, and W. F. Wiggin Secretary. After presenting the claims of the several candidates, Mr. George E. Parker was nominated as the choice of that section of the town for Selectman, and J. B. Newhall for road surveyor from that part of the town. The following committee were elected. Sidney C. Bancroft, Louis K. Putnam, I. H. Beede, Alonzo Raddin and W. F. Wiggin.

Marriages.

In Danvers, Feb 25, by Rev. Mr. Power, Mr. John Donovan to Miss Rose McFadden.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Feb 21, Mrs. Jennie A. Cone, 42 yrs 7 mos 9 days.

26th, Georgia A., wife of George F. Haskel 35 yrs 7 mos 18 days.

Feb 26, Mrs Georgiana Haskell, 35 years 7 months, 18 days.

Mar. 2, Mary Ellen, wife of Charles O. Warner, 26 years, 3 months, 13 days.

Mar. 2, Mrs. Mary M., widow of Leonard Poole, 78 years, 5 mos. Relatives and friends invited without further notice.

In Danvers, Feb 23, Mr. Winslow B. Glover, 63 yrs 5 mos 6 days; 26th, Miss Hannah E. Pedrick, 77 yrs 2 mos.

In Salem, Feb 26, Capt. Charles Roundy, 91 yrs 4 mos 11 days; Miss Mary Ann Wellman, 80 yrs.

In Natick, Feb 24, Mr. Archelaus P. Black 67 yrs 11 mos--formerly of Danvers.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the digestive apparatus.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO.

Great Suit Sale.

This week we shall offer five hundred pure all-wool Cassimere Sack and Frock Suits, made in the best manner, perfect in fit, all handsome and desirable patterns in Checks, Plaids and neat mixtures, cloth made by Sawyer, Putnam and other well-known mills, at

TEN DOLLARS

An inspection will speedily convince the shrewdest buyer that this is an unequaled opportunity to obtain a handsome, stylish and durable suit at a nominal price. We shall continue this week our

FINAL MARK-DOWN SALE

— OF —

WINTER OVERCOATS,
ULSTERS AND REEFERS, being unequaled bargains to those needing outside garments and a grand chance to obtain a good overcoat for next winter at a small price.

DRESS TROUSERS,
BUSINESS TROUSERS,
WORKING TROUSERS.

An immense variety, comprising the choicest patterns of durable fabrics, all perfect in fit.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING HALF PRICE.

To close the season and clear our counters.

EDW. C. ALMY & CO'S.

163, 165 & 167 ESSEX ST. SALEM.

162 Westminster St., Providence,
Washington, cor. Essex Street, Boston.

ON WEDNESDAY,

FEBRUARY 17, 1886,

We shall have the pleasure of placing on our counters a Jobber's Stock of the very best Gros Grain Ribbons, at less than half the price they are usually sold for.

No. 4 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	4c
No. 5 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	5c
No. 7 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	7c
No. 9 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	9c
No. 12 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	12c
No. 16 Pure Silk Gros Grain Ribbon,	16c

These are the best, warranted all silk goods, and will be sold at the above slaughter prices on Wednesday and until the lot is closed out. We advise an early call.

John P. Peabody.

McPhail Pianos.
ELEGANT UPRIGHT AND SQUARE.
New and Second Hand on Instalments.
McPhail & Co,
630 Wash. cor. Essex St., Boston.
feb 24—4t

NO. 1 CHOP FEED.—We are discharging a car of the above feed, made from choice oats, barley and white corn. A very nutritious and easily digested fodder for horses and other animals. Try it.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

GROUND OATS.—For new milch cows and growing animals, the best food obtainable. Being more flesh producing than fattening in its nature, it gives equally good results when fed to horses, cows or poultry. A fresh lot just received by CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

FANCY WHITE MIDDLINGS.— We would offer a fresh stock of the above grade of Winter Wheat Middlings, the best in the market, at unusually low prices. Also Bran, Fine Feed and other cow feeds in great variety.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem

HYGEIA

IF YOU DESIRE

A MEDICINE

To regulate and build up your system and purify the blood of all poisonous humor use

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE

FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS.

RAYMOND'S
VACATION
EXCURSIONS.

All travelling Expenses Included.

Parties will leave Boston Thursday, April 22, and Thursday, April 29, for a Tour of 59 Days through

Colorado & California

With halts at Chicago, Las Vegas, Hot Springs, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Los Angelos San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Manitou, Denver, etc., and daylight trips over the Sierra Nevada and through the most picturesque regions of the Wahsatch and Rocky Mountains. Incidental trip to the Yosemite Valley and the Big Trees.

A Party will leave Boston Thursday, May 6, for a Tour of 65 days over the same route through COLORADO and CALIFORNIA, thence through the Picturesque Regions of the

PACIFIC NORTHWEST,

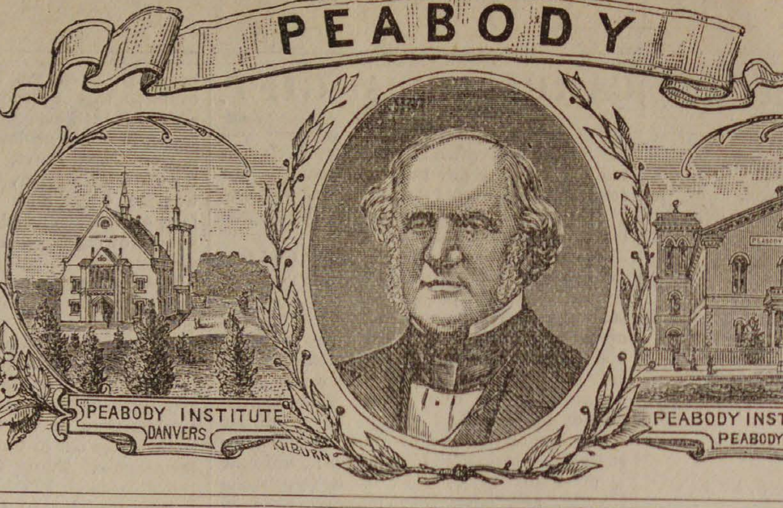
And homeward over the Northern Pacific Railroad, this part of the trip including Oregon, Washington Territory, Puget Sound Vancouver Island, Idaho, Montana, Lincoln (Northern Dakota), and Minnesota, with halts at Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Lake Minnetonka, &c. Incidental trip (in connection with all three excursions) to the Yosemite Valley and Big Trees; side trips, if desired, to Alaska and the Yellowstone National Park.

In addition to the above, parties will leave Thursday, March 11, for California (last trip on Winter itinerary), and on same date for Mexico (second and last excursion in special train of Pullman Hotel Cars).

W. RAYMOND: I. A. WHITCOMB.

☞ Send for descriptive circulars.
W. RAYMOND,
296 Washington opp. School St..
BOSTON.

The PEABODY Press.



VOL. 27. PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 10, 1886. NO. 10.

Wait for the Opening.

NEW STORE,

NEW STOCK,

NEW PRICES.

KENT & BOYNTON,

Clothiers, Tailors and Furnishers,

Have leased the large and elegant store in Perley Block,

250 & 254 Essex St.

formerly occupied by the Wilmot Clothing Co., and will be open to the public on or about March 15th.

We shall offer to the public the largest and most elegant line of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Ready made Clothing ever shown east of Boston.

We shall make fine Custom Tailoring a specialty and shall cut and make the same on the premises.

Watch the Papers.

Wait for the Opening.

KENT & BOYNTON'S CLOTHING HOUSE,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

F. D. TARLTON.

—DRY GOODS.—

Prints, Prints, Prints.

1 case light Prints, 5 cents. 1 case Shirting Cambrics, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.

Jerseys, Jerseys.

Plain Black, 50 and 75 cents. Embroidered, $1.00. Fine all wool, plain and embroidered, $1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 2.50, 3.00, 3.50

All sizes of the Sibley Unlaundered Shirts, 50, 75c, $1.00.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOODS,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Forward March!

Ash Wednesday!

New moon again!

Got any coal left?

Lent begins to-day!

These are striking times!

Read our advertisements!

Locals give way for town meeting!

Did you see the eclipse of the sun?

Tarlton's Dry Goods Store, 42 Main street. *

No more fun till the adjourned town meeting.

There are 1550 names on the voting list.

Turkish Towels 25 cents each at F. D. Tarlton's. *

A new boiler has been put in at Sutton's wool shop.

Mr. Calvin Osborne has temporarily closed his shop.

Eight women were registered to vote for school committee.

Sunday brought out a large attendance at the churches.

George Stevens advertises house to let, in another column.

The late mail from Salem is often a nuisance on the horse cars.

The Peabody edition of the Telegram is now printed on white paper.

Mr. Charles Nevers, who has been quite sick, is now convalescing.

The healthful exercise of horseback riding is now being indulged in.

The Peabody skating rink has paid better this winter than ever before.

Gen. Sutton, Mrs. Sutton and Miss Lila Sutton are in New York City.

It is the custom among public singers to save programmes of their concerts.

The Beverly Citizen has begun its fifty-fifth volume. It is a good paper.

Special missionary collection will be taken at the Baptist church next Sunday.

That was a pretty convincing circular the temperance people put out Sunday night.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society will meet to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Mr. King Upton has been elected Commodore of the Salem Bay Yacht Club.

Just received a fine assortment of wheel-barrows, at Samuel Trask & Son's.

Mr. Samuel Ham killed two pigs last week that when dressed weighed 900 pounds.

There will be a union prayer meeting at the Methodist church to-morrow evening.

Mr. Richard E. Smith is one of the supernumeraries at the Superior Court at Lawrence.

The average husband is looking forward to spring cleaning time with joyful anticipation.

There will be a young people's prayer meeting at the Baptist church every Tuesday evening.

The best line of light and dark prints, satteens and cambrics can be found at Tarlton's. *

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straigh at George Stevens'. *

A man named Reith, of Boston, has bought out the stove business of the late P. W. Duffy.

Wanted.—A boy to learn the hardware business. Apply at once to Samuel Trask & Son.

Representative Batchelder voted for the weekly payment bill which passed the House last Thursday.

Mr. John K. Saunders is quite sick with inflammation of the bowels at his home on Aborn street.

Sunday was one of the brilliant and beautiful days of the season, the thermometer reaching forty-five degrees.

It is thought that Caskin, of last year's New Yorks, may play ball with the Salems the coming season.

Robert Emmett's birthday was allowed to pass without a local celebration. The land league used to celebrate it.

Mr. James Marsh celebrated his 83d birthday last Sunday. We trust when he reaches his 100th he may be as well and hearty.

Rev. Dr. O. F. Safford preached at the Universalist church in exchange with Rev. F. W. Sprague who preached at Cambridgeport.

The Red Men met again last Thursday and are now getting ready for business. A large number of committees were appointed.

Warren Trask announces that he shall close his provision store on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Let the good work go on.

Billie Murray, of the New Bedford Polo Club, has signed a contract to play with the Buffalo Base Ball Club the coming season.

Miss Nellie Stockwell and Mrs. Albert Gonld have gone to Washington, D. C., on a visit and will return by the way of New York City.

It is said that the Knights of Labor vote out of their organization members who are not of good standing or who are intemperate in their habits.

Masconomo Tribe of Red Men will paint one "pale face" at their meeting next week, when the "adoption" will be worked by the warriors of No. 11.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clark's Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo. Stevens' *

We had a pleasant call from Mr. George Randall last Thursday. Mr. Randall is still editor of the Attleboro Advocate and likes the town where he is located.

Officers Goodwin and Crowley sat for their pictures at the little Central street saloon last Thursday. We shall expect to see them reproduced in the Police Gazette, shortly.

The shipments of leather from Peabody and Salem for the week ending March 6, were 5199 rolls, 200 sides, 163 bundles, 4 barrels, 21 bales of leather, 40 bundles, 2 casks of skins.

Gov. Robinson has determined to put a stop to the lottery business, and as a sequence the numerous fair tickets have been removed from the show cases to more retired places.

Mr. Geo. E. Pearson, the well known shoe dealer, is offering our readers special inducements. Mr. Pearson has the finest store in Salem, and his stock corresponds with the store.

We hope the Beverly papers will also credit our representative with voting against the division of their town as well as Marblehead and Danvers. Col. Batchelder voted against it.

All the best brands of B. P. Clark & Co's. cigars are for sale by Geo. Stevens. He is sole agent for this vicinity Buy them and you will smoke no others. *

The estate of the late Isaac Hardy on the southerly side of Walnut street, recently purchased by Mr. R. H. Brown, has been sold to the Boston & Maine Railroad and will be used as a freight yard.

The season for the distribution of seeds by the Agricultural Department is at hand, and as the practice heretofore has been for the Congressmen to send seeds without knowing whether they were desired or not.

Thomas M. Stimpson, Esq., and his wife have the sympathy of the community in the death of their infant son, Percival Morrill Stimpson, who died last Friday after a brief illness, at the age of 1 year 9 months and 29 days.

J. E. Edmands, Bromfield street, Boston, is selling his artist materials,—tube colors, stretchers, canvass, brushes, placques, palettes, academy board and fancy articles at reduced prices. You can get better goods at less rates than in Salem.

The report of Grand Commander James K. Odell, of the American Legion of Honor, for the past year showed an increase of councils from eighty-one to eighty-four, and that seventy-four official visits were made during the year.

Miss Mary J. Floyd has been re-appointed by the Mass. Society for the prevention of cruelty to children as their agent in this town. All cases of destitution or neglect should be reported to her.

The Rev. S. H. Hillard, organizing secretary of "The church Temperance society" of the Episcopal church will address the congregation of that church next Friday evening on the work and objects of the society. All persons invited.

B. F. Stevens will receive orders at Clifford the paper hanger and painter. Secure him if you desire good work. *

D. B. H. Power & Co., of Marblehead, have received a contract to do the plumbing for the elegant new house of the Hanscom Bros. in that town, being the lowest bidders. They will furnish estimates on all kinds of work. Call them by telephone.

It appears that Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Georgia, Rhode Island and Tennessee are the only states in the 38 which make the payment of a poll tax a prerequisite to voting. It is high time for Massachusetts to pull out from the list.

The right hand of fellowship was given to six candidates at the Baptist church last Sunday, and the following were baptized: Mr. and Mrs. Othernial Ferrin, George W. and Edith Torr, William Perkins, Gardner Viles, Chas. Richmond, Miss Hattie Brine and Miss Armstron

The Committee on Claims of the Salem City Government, had a hearing last evening in the case of Mrs. Emma S. Holmes, of this town. She was given leave to withdraw. The case will probably go before the courts. Frank E. Farnham is counsel for Mrs Holmes.

Miss Julia Hargrave, daughter of Mr. John Hargrave, was united in marriage last Thursday evening to a gentleman named Coffrey, of Lynn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. J. Masterson and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride on Bowditch court.

The Committee on Federal Relations, of the Massachusetts Legislature, have reported against the proposed increase by Congress of postage in fourth class matter. There is no good reason for the proposed increase. The bill is in the interest of monopolists. The expresss companies are the only ones to be benefited.

Mr. E. T. Allen of this town has recently invented a barrel which overcomes the leakage of flour from it. This is done by arranging every alternate stave of hard and soft wood, the hard stave being thinner than the soft one, its inner edge matches in the soft stave, thereby making it perfectly flour tight.

The farmers are being asked to sign the following petition:—"We hereby agree neither to buy nor use for any purpose whatever, the plumage of birds which have been killed solely for decoration. And we promise to exercise all our influence to further the object of this pledge, which is the preservation of song birds."

The county commissioners are making preparations for the convicts at our prisons to make their own shoes, caps, clothes, and whatever else they wear, and perform the work of carpenters, painters, masons, blacksmiths, etc., needed at the several institutions. They will utilize their labor and reduce their cost to the people, if the legislature forbids contracts for their employment by others.

The legislative committee on fisheries and game will probably report a bill which provides that woodcock may not be killed before September 1st instead of August 1st, and that the open season for black duck, wood duck and teal be extended from April 1 to April 15. The latter change is made because the season in the spring is so very uncertain that this alteration seems necessary.

Look out for counterfeit half dollars of the date 1871. They are nicely made, and easily deceive the unwary. They are a little lighter than the genuine, and give out a slight ring on being dropped flat upon the counter or table. With the exercise of due care they can be detected every time. This spurious coin seems to be circulated by women, who are sent out by somebody from Boston.

Last Wednesday the St. John's C. T. A. Society elected officers as follows: President, John Russell; Vice President, William Duffy; Cor. Secretary, Michael Collins; Rec. Secretary, Wm. Motley; Treasurer, John Daley; Librarian, William Russell; Directors, John J. Donnelley, John McBride, James McCarrick, James Donovan, Michael T. Ray; Board of Investigation, Chas. J. Houghton, Eugene Motley; Spiritual Director, Rev. M. J. Masterson. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring board.

Down, Down They Go.

CONSOLIDATION.

—— OF ——

30

DIFFERENT

LOTS

—— OF ——

Men'S and Young Men's strictly all wool Business and Dress Suits.

Nothing like it ever before known in this section of the State. Bargains that will please everybody. We have taken about six hundred Men's and Young Men's Strictly all Wool Suits, comprising checks, plaids, plain and fancy cassimeres, black, brown and blue whipcord worsteds, over thirty different patterns, all neat, stylish goods. We have consolidated them all into one lot and marked them down to

The uniform Price of only $10 per Suit.

Remember your choice from 600 suits, 30 different prtterns for only

TEN DOLLARS.

THE NAUMKEAG NEVER FORGETS THE BOYS.

We have selected from our stock about 500 boys' strictly all wool knee pant suits, ages 4 to 12, representing over 25 different styles in checks, plaids, fancy cassimeres, whipcord worsteds, velvets and corduroys, made and trimmed in the latest style—regular $5.00, $6.00, $8.00 and $10.00 suits. We have consolidated them all into three different lots, and marked them down to only $3.00, 4.00 and 5.00 each.

WINTER OVERCOATS.

REMEMBER.

We have commenced our last and final mark down sale of Winter Overcoats and Ulsters for Men's, Boys' and Children's wear. It will pay you to buy an overcoat at this great sale for another season, as you can save from $3.00 to $7.00 according to the quality of the goods. We are selling Men's all wool Indigo Blue Beaver Overcoats, warranted fast colors. for 6.00. Heavy all wool cassimeres, cheviots and whipcord worsted overcoats for $8 00 and $10. Elegant Kerseys and Meltons marked down to 12 and $15. Boys' all wool overcoats marked down from $5, 6, 8 and 10 to only $3, 5, and 6.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

Naumkeag Clothing Co.,

177 & 179 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

George W. Glines, the well known milkman of North Beverly, while putting out milk a few days since, fell, injuring his ankle, and, it not being considered a serious injury at the time, he kept about his work, but after returning home it rapidly grew worse and he was obliged to summon medical assistance. He will for weeks, it is said, be unable to attend to his customers.

Have you ever sent a copy of this paper to absent friends? We know of one lady who had been sending her paper to a former pastor of her church, and a short time ago neglected it one week, and a short time afterwards she received a letter, thanking her for the paper and saying the last issue had not been received. It showed that he appreciated, and it was a pleasure to the sender and receiver.

Some statistical fiend has estimated that the time devoted in this world in courting the girl you want to marry and is ready to marry you, would build all the railroad bridges and tunnels and factories and public buildings. Perhaps so; but where is the young man who would not rather spend his spare hours in courting? There is more genuine enjoyment in the occupation. And besides from 8 p. m. to 2 a. m. is on time to build railroads and bridges and tunnels and factories. It is too dark.

The 42d Farmers' Institute of the Essex Agricultural Society will be held Tuesday, March 16, 1886, in Grand Army Hall, Beverly, commencing at 9.30 A. M. Subject—"Does agriculture offer the same advantages to young men as other pursuits?" opened by Baxter P. Pike, of Topsfield. Subject in afternoon at 2 o'clock "The potato and its culture," to be opened by a speaker to be announced at the meeting. The public are cordially invited. An Institute field meeting will be held at the farm of Hon. Geo. B. Loring, for the trial of farm implements used in cultivation of crops, as early in April as the ground will admit, notice of which will be given.

The decease of Alonzo P. Phillips, formerly of this town, is announced. Mr. Phillips was well known by the older portion of our community. He was one of the old residents, and one of the business men whose name will be always associated with those who were identified with the prosperity of this town in its early days. He was engaged in the shoe business in Allen's old block for many years, some thirty or more, at first for himself and later with his son, who is now in Worcester. He never did a large business—it was not the custom in those days—but he was successful, and accumulated some property. He was a man of strict integrity, was an earnest advocate of temperance, and in sympathy with the anti-slavery movement. He was also a member of the South Church, and an active and leading member. His first wife was a Dodge, who was an aunt of Gen. Granville M. Dodge of the Army of the Rebellion. She was also a relative of Sylvanus Dodge, a former postmaster of this town, at a time when the post office was in Allen's old block. By her he had four children, only one of whom, Oscar, now survives. The daughters were all graduates of our Peabody High School, the eldest, we believe, being one of the first graduates, and a member of the first class, under Eugene B. Hinckley, that ever entered our High School. After the decease of his first wife, Mr. Phillips married Mrs. Irene F., widow of the late Aaron Proctor, and after retiring from business in town, the family removed to Medway, Mass., where Mr. Phillips purchased a farm. Mr. Phillips resided while here on Franklin street, owning the property now owned and occupied by Wyman B. Richardson, being one of the first purchasers of the land on Franklin street when it was laid out by the late Elijah Upton. Mr. Phillips was a member of the Board of Health of this town in the years 1864-5-6. His age was 82 years. The funeral took place from his late home in Medway this afternoon.

A. B. & W.

To-day and Right Along.

Bankrupt Stock of Dress Goods and Linens, from Sheriff's Sale of Kaughran & Co., New York city.

CARPETS AND RUGS,

A full stock of New Goods, with a long list of bargains.

UPHOLSTERY DEPT.

Beautiful New Goods. Special prices on many popular things, including 2500 Window Shades of best American Holland, with Balance Roller, all made and ready to put up to any window—36x72 inches, at 37 1-2 cts. No special order can be taken at anywhere near this price.

Excellent values in Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Kid Gloves, Furs, Buttons, Ladies' Linen Collars and Cuffs, Laces, Art Goods, etc.

New stock of Small Wares and Toilet Articles.

Ladies' Hosiery—new stock and special values.

Corsets and Cotton Underwear. Items of special interest in stock and prices.

Unlaundered Shirts. A big sale open this week. Also Gents' Furnishings.

Domestics and White Goods, Cases and Bales of New Goods, with many bargains.

IMPORTANT LINEN SALE.

Our own importation. Many things not to be found elsewhere. Our prices the lowest.

CLOAK DEPARTMENT.

The last mark-down. Our Garments are Tailor fitted and thoroughly made.

DRESS GOODS

Spring and Winter—from lowest to highest cost. Special values and great bargains.

BLACK AND COLORED SILKS.

The last mentioned but of First Importance.

Thousands of Dollars. New Silks of the best American and Foreign manufacture, bought and imported direct.

Our Silk stock is not excelled by any other.

Our Grand Silk Sale has been running more than three months.

We intend to continue it at least till July 1st.

The above list of merchandise will be more fully set forth during the present week.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN.

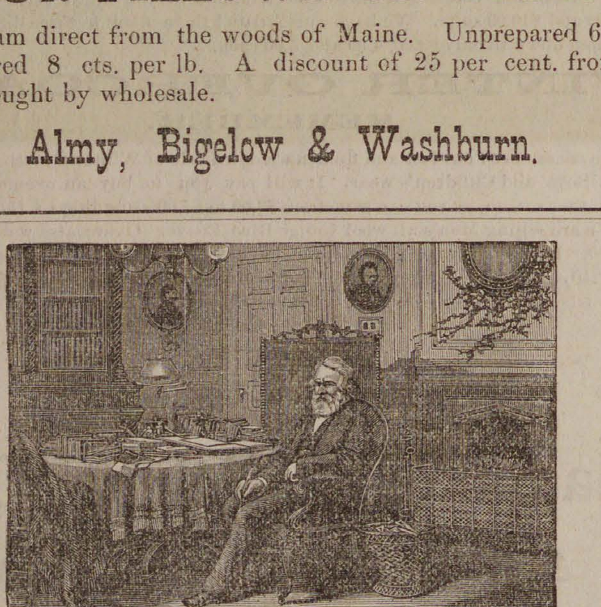
SALEM.

FIR BALSAM

FOR PILLOWS OR BEDS.

Fir Balsam direct from the woods of Maine. Unprepared 6 cts. per lb.; prepared 8 cts. per lb. A discount of 25 per cent. from these prices if bought by wholesale.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.



HENRY W. LONGFELLOW IN HIS LIBRARY

Our engraving of "Longfellow in His Library," of which the above cut is a miniature copy, is an accurate representation of the room which Longfellow used from 1837 until the time of his death, and it will undoubtedly be accepted as the favorite picture of the "American Popular Poet." The likeness is good; the attitude and expression happily betoken a mind deeply occupied in the task before him, and everyone who admires and appreciates the writings of the poet, will be pleased to see the appointments of the room in which he worked, together with a faithful portrait of him. Remember that this is no chromo, but a Superb Steel-plate Engraving, 24x32 inches in size.

The central figure is that of the Great Poet. He is seated on the right of a circular table, which is strewn with his books and writing materials. The surroundings are harmonious and symmetrical. The artizan is in his workshop. Aside from from being the workshop of our immortal poet, it was the room in which Gen. George Washington made his headquarters, directly after the battle of Bunker Hill.

We shall offer this engraving till February 1st, on the following conditions

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER paying $2, in advance, for the PRESS, will receive a copy FREE.

Old Subscribers, in arrears, who will settle to date and pay one year in Advance, will receive a copy.

Subscribers who pay in advance can have the PRESS and engraving by paying $2.50.

SPAULDING'S

SARSAPARILLA

is a great blood purifier. 75 cents per bottle, three for $2.

SPAULDING'S COUGH BALSAM

is a sure remedy, 25 cents per bottle. Try it.

Our Liver Pills are mild and efficient.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

Jaborandi

BALM.

The Popular Remedy for

BALDNESS, and Diseases of the Hair and Scalp.

We have a large number of reliable testimonials which we would be pleased to show any one. We warrant Jaborandi Balm to be perfectly free from any poisonous ingredients. It combines the properties of being both an elegant dressing and the greatest hair producing preparation of the age.

Price 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

DRUGGISTS' NOVELTY CO.,

145 Milk Street, Boston.

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between the firm of Elligott & Gould, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by W. H. Gould & Co., at the old stand on Foster street.

W. H. GOULD,
CHAS. B. ELLIGOTT.

Peabody, March 9, 1886.

Poet's Corner.

Our Minister's Sermon.

The minister said last night, says he,
Don't be afraid of givin';
If your life ain't worth nothin' to other folks,
Why, what's the use of livin'?
And that's what I say to my wife, says I,
There's Brown, the miserable sinner,
He'd sooner a beggar would starve than give
A cent towards buyin' a dinner.

I tell you our minister's prime, he is,
But I couldn't quite determine,
When I heard him givin' it right and left,
Just who was hit by his sermon.
Of course, there couldn't be no mistake
When he talked of long-winded prayin',
For Peters and Johnson they sot and scowled
At every word he was sayin'.

And the minister then went on to say,
"There's various kinds of cheatin',
And religion's as good for every day
As it is to bring to a meetin';
I don't think much of that man that gives
The loud Amens at my preachin',
And spends his time the followin' week
In cheatin' and overreachin'."

I guess that dose was bitter enough
For a man like Jones to swaller;
For I noticed he didn't open his mouth,
Not once, after that, to holler;
Hurrah, says I, for the minister—
Of course I said it quiet—
Give us some more of this open talk:
It's very refreshin' diet.

The minister hit 'em every time;
And when he spoke of fashion,
And riggin' out in bows and things,
As women's rulin' passion,
And coming to church to see the styles,
I couldn't help a-winkin'
And a-nudgin' my wife, and says I,
"That's you,"
And I guess it sot her to thinkin'.

Says I to myself that sermon's pat,
But man is a queer creation,
And I'm much afraid that most of the folks
Won't take the application.
Now, if he had said a word about
My personal mode of sinnin',
I'd have gone to work to right myself,
And not set there a-grinnin.'

Just then the minister, says he,
"And now I've come to the fellers
Who've lost this shower by usin' their friends
As a sort of moral umbrellas.
Go home," says he, "and find your faults,
Instead of huntin' your brothers'.
Go home," says he, "and wear the coats
You tried to fit for others."

My wife she nudged, and Brown he winked,
And there was lots o' smilin',
And lots o' lookin' at our pew—
It sot my blood a-bilin'.
Says I, to myself, our minister
Is gettin' a little bitter;
I'll tell him, when the meetin's out, that I
Ain't at all that kind of a critter.

—Exchange.

Her Answer.

"I'm going to be married," he softly said,
She looked up in swift surprise,
The color from out of her bright face fled
The light grew dim in her eyes."

"You're going to be married?" she echoed low,
Her voice had a steady tone.
"I hope you'll be happy where'er you go"
A cough hid a little moan.

"I know that your bride will be good and true,
You never could love any other."
She steadily looked in his eyes, dark blue,
"I tender you joy, my brother."

"I'm going to be married—that is, I hope
To be, though I hardly know—
Dear love, shall I longer pine and mope?
I tremble for fear of 'no'."

The color that out of her face had fled
Came back with a deeper hue;
"Why, isn't it funny," she shyly said,
"That I'm to be married too?"

—Roxbury Advocate.

Lines,

On a box of daffodils, bearing the motto "For cheery thoughts," sent us in mid-winter by our friend, R. A. S.

BY LYDIA L. A. VERY.

There is a love that seeks the lonely—
That bringeth sunshine wheresoe'er it wills,
That lives not for life's selfish pleasures only,
And this, say to me, all the daffodils.

The breath of coming spring these flowers bringing,
A freight of fragrance on the chilly air;
Spring's birds e'en now within my heart are singing,
And all the snowy hills fresh verdure wear.

'Tis sweet to know, when ice and snow are round us,
And stormy threatening all the dark air fills,
Love's kindly thought unknown hath sought and found us,
And sent glad tidings by the daffodils.

Ministers, Lawyers, Teachers, and others whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid Liver and biliousness. One is a dose.

CARRISTON'S GIFT.

ing in to him. He has promised to see that my Queen's English is presentable, for, to tell the truth, I am more at home across country than across foolscap, and my fingers know the feel of the reins or the trigger better than that of the pen.

What freak took me to the little God-forsaken village of Midcombe in the depth of winter is entirely between myself and my conscience. The cause, having no bearing upon the matters I am asked to tell you about, is no one's business but mine—I will only say that now I would not stay in such a place at such a time of the year for the sake of the prettiest girl in the world, let alone the bare chance of meeting her once or twice. But one's ideas change; I am now a good bit older, ride some two stone heavier, and have been married ever so many years. Perhaps, after all, as I look back I can find some excuse for being such an ass as to endure for more than a fortnight all the discomforts heaped upon me in that little village inn.

A man who sojourns in such a hole as Midcombe must give some reason for doing so. My ostensible reason was hunting. I had a horse with me, and a second-rate subscription pack of slow-going mongrels did meet somewhere in the neighborhood, so no one could gainsay my explanation. But if hunting was my object, I got precious little of it. A few days after my arrival a bitter, biting frost set in—a frost as black as your hat, and as hard as nails. Yet still I stayed on.

From private information received—no matter how, when or where—I knew that some people in the neighborhood had organized a party to go skating on a certain day at Lilymere, a fine sheet of water some distance from Midcombe. I guessed that someone whom I particularly desired to meet would be there, and as the skating at Lilymere was free to any one who chose to take the trouble of getting to such an out-of-the-way place, I hired a horse and an apology for a dog-cart, and at 10 in the morning started to drive the twelve miles to the pond. I took no one with me I had been to Lilymere once before, in bright summer weather, so fancied I knew the way well enough.

The sky when I started was cloudy; the wind was chopping round in a way which made the effete rustic old ostler predict a change of weather. He was right. Before I had driven two miles light snow began to fall, and by the time I reached a wretched little wayside inn, about a mile from the Mere, a film of white covered the whole country. I stabled my horse as well as I could, then, taking my skates with me, walked down to the pond.

Now, whether I had mistaken the day, or whether the threatening fall of snow had made certain people change their minds, I don't know; but, to my annoyance and vexation, no skaters were to be seen, and, moreover, the uncut, white surface told me that none had been on the pond that morning. Still, hoping they might come in spite of the weather, I put on my skates and went outside-edging and grape-vining all over the place. But as there was no person in particular—in fact, no one at all—to note my powers, I soon got tired. It was, indeed, dreary, dreary work. But I waited and hoped until the snow came down so fast and furiously that I felt sure that waiting was in vain, and that I had driven to Lilymere for nothing.

Back I went to the little inn, utterly disgusted with things in general, and feeling that to break some one's head would be a relief to me in my present state of mind. Of course, a sensible man would at once have got his horse between the shafts and driven home. But, whatever I may be now, in those days I was not a sensible man—Brand will, I know, cordially indorse this remark—the accommodations of the inn was not such as to induce one to linger within its precincts; but the fire was a right good one, and a drink, which I skillfully manufactured out of some hot beer, not to be despised, and proved warming to the body and soothing to the ruffled temper. So I lingered over the big fire until I began to feel hungry, and upon the landlady assuring me that she could cook a rasher, decided it would be wiser to stay where I was until the violence of the snow-storm was over; for coming down it was now, and no mistake!

And it kept on coming down. About half-past three, when I sorrowfully decided I was bound to make a move, it was snowing faster than ever. I harnessed my horse, and laughing at the old woman's dismal prophecy that I should never get to Midcombe in such weather, gathered up the reins and away I went along the white road.

I thought I knew the way well enough. In fact, I had always prided myself on my remembering any road once driven over by me; but does any one who has not tried it really know how a heavy fall of snow changes the aspect of the country, and makes landmarks snares and delusions? I learned all about it then, once and for all. I found, also, that the snow lay much deeper than I thought could possibly be in so short a time, and it still fell in a manner almost blinding. Yet I went on bravely and merrily for some miles. Then came a bit of uncertainty——

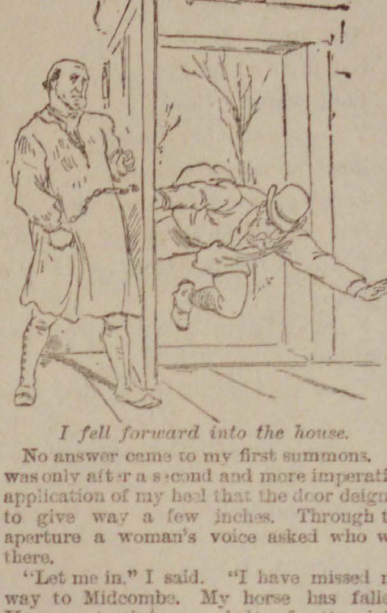
Which of those two roads was the right one? This one, of course—no, the other. There was no house near; no one was likely to be passing in such weather, so I was left to exercise my free, unbiased choice, a privilege I would willingly have dispensed with. However, I made the best selection I could, and followed it for some two miles. Then I began to grow doubtful, and soon persuading myself that I was on the wrong track, retraced my steps. I was by this time something like a huge white plaster-of-Paris figure, and the snow which had accumulated on the old dog-cart made it run heavier by half a ton, more or less. By the time I came to that unlucky junction of roads at which my misfortunes began, it was almost dark; the sky as black as a tarpaulin, yet sending down the white feathery flakes thicker and faster than ever. I felt inclined to curse my folly in attempting such a drive, at any rate I blamed myself for not having started two or three hours earlier. I'll warrant that steady-going old Brand never had to accuse himself of such foolishness as mine.

Well, I took the other road; went on some way; came to a turning which I seemed to remember, and, not without misgivings, followed it. My misgivings increased when, after a little while, I found the road grew full of ruts, which the snow and darkness quite concealed from me until the wheels got into them. Evidently I was wrong again. I was just thinking of making the best of my way out of this rough and unfrequented road, when—there, I don't know how it happened, such things seldom occur to me—a stumble, a fall on the part of my tired horse sent me flying over the dash-board, with the only consoling thought that the reins were still in my hand.

Luckily the snow had made the falling pretty soft. I soon picked myself up and set about estimating damages. With some difficulty I got the horse out of the harness, and then felt free to inspect the dog-cart. Alas! after the manner of the two-wheel kind, whenever a horse thinks fit to fall, one shaft had snapped off like a carrot; so here was I, five miles apparently from anywhere, in the thick of a blinding snowstorm, left standing helpless beside a jaded horse and a broken cart—I should like to know what Brand would have done under the circumstances.

As for me, I reflected for some minutes—reflection in a snowstorm is weary work. I reasoned, I believe, logically, and at last came to this decision: I would follow the road. If, as I suspected, it was but a cart track, it would probably soon lead to a habitation of some kind. Any way, I had better try a bit farther. I took hold of the wearied horse, and with snow under my feet, snowflakes whirling round me, and a wind blowing right into my teeth, struggled on.

It was a journey! I think I must have been three-quarters of an hour going about a quarter of a mile. I was just beginning to despair, when I saw a welcome gleam of light. I steered toward it, fondly hoping that my troubles were at an end. I found the light stole through the ill-fitting window-shutters of what seemed, so far as I could make out in the darkness, to be a small farm-house. Tying to a gate the knotted reins by which I had been leading the horse, I staggered up to the door and knocked loudly. Upon my honor, until I leaned against that door-post I had no idea how tired I was—until that moment I never suspected that the finding of speedy shelter meant absolutely saving my life. Covered from head to foot with snow, my hat crushed in, I must have been a pitiable object.



I fell forward into the house.

No answer came to my first summons. It was only after a second and more imperative application of my heel that the door deigned to give way a few inches. Through the aperture a woman's voice asked who was there.

"Let me in," I said. "I have missed my way to Midcombe. My horse has fallen. You must give me shelter for the night. Open the door and let me in."

"Shelter! You can't get sheltered here, mister," said a man's gruff voice. "This ain't an inn, so you'd best be off and go elsewhere."

"But I must come in," I said, astounded at such inhospitality; "I can't go a step further. Open the door at once!"

"You be hanged," said the man. "'Tis my house, not yours."

CHAPTER II.

The door through which I had burst like a battering-ram opened straight into a sort of kitchen, so although I entered in a most undignified way, in fact on my hands and knees, I was well established in the center of the room before the man and woman emerged from behind the door, where my successful assault had thrown them. I stood up and faced them. They were a couple of ordinary, respectably-attired country people. The man, a sturdy, strong-built, bull-necked rascal, stood scowling at me, and I concluded making up his mind as to what course to pursue.

"My good people," I said, "you are behaving in the most unheard-of manner. Can't you understand that I mean to pay you well for any trouble I give you? But whether you like it or not, here I stay to-night. To turn me out would be sheer murder."

So saying I pulled off my overcoat and began shaking the snow out of my whiskers.

I dare say my determined attitude, my respectable, as well as my muscular appearance, impressed my unwilling hosts. Anyway, they gave in without more ado. While the woman shut the door, through which the snowflakes were whirling, the man said sullenly:

"Well, you'll have to spend the night on a chair. We've no beds here for strangers. 'Specially those as ain't wanted."

"Very well, my friend. Having settled the matter you may as well make yourself pleasant. Go and put my horse under cover, and give him a feed of some sort—make a mash if you can."

After giving the woman a quick glance, as of warning, my scowling host lit a horn lantern and went on the errand I suggested. I gladly sank into a chair and warmed myself before a cheerful fire. The prospect of spending the night amid such discomfort was not alluring, but I had, at least, a roof over my head.

As a rule, the more churlish the nature the more avaricious it is found to be. My promise of liberal remuneration was after all not without its effect upon the strange couple whose refusal to afford me refuge had so nearly endangered my life. They condescended to get me some tea and rough food. After I had disposed of all that the man produced a bottle of gin. We filled our glasses and then, with the aid of my pipe, I settled down to make the best of a night spent in a hard wooden chair.

I had come across strange people in my travels, but I have no hesitation in saying that my host was the sullenest, sulkiest, most boorish specimen of human nature I had as yet met with. In spite of his recent ill-treatment of me, I was ready to establish matters on a friendly footing, and made several attempts to draw him into conversation. The brute would only answer in monosyllables or often not answer at all. So I gave up talking as a bad job and sat in silence, smoking and looking into the fire, thinking a good deal, it may be, of some one I should have met that morning at Lilymere, had the wretched snow but kept off.

The long clock—that cumbrous eight-day machine which inevitably occupies one corner of every cottager's kitchen—struck nine. The woman rose and left us. I concluded she was going to bed. If so I envied her. Her husband showed no signs of retiring. He still sat over the fire, opposite me. By this time I was dreadfully tired; every bone in my body ached. The hard chair which, an hour or two ago, seemed all I could desire, now scarcely came up to my ideas of the comfort I was justly entitled to claim. My sulky companion had been drinking silently but steadily. Perhaps the liquor he had poured into himself might have rendered his frame of mind more pleasant and amenable to reason.

"My good fellow," I said, "your chairs are excellent ones of the kind, but deucedly uncomfortable. I am horribly tired. If the resources of your establishment can't furnish a bed for me to sleep in, couldn't you find a mattress or something to lay down before the fire?"

"You've got all you'll get to-night," he answered, knocking the ashes out of his pipe.

"Oh, but I say!"

"So do I say. I say this. If you don't like it you can leave it. We didn't ask you to come."

"You infernal beast," I muttered—and meant it, too—I declare, had I not been so utterly worn out, I would have had that bullet-headed ruffian up for a few rounds on his own kitchen floor, and tried to knock him into a more amiable frame of mind.

"Never mind," I said, "but remember, civility costs nothing, and often gets rewarded. However, if you wish to retire to your own couch, don't let your native politeness stand in your way. Pray don't hesitate on my account. Leave plenty of fuel, and I shall manage until the morning."

"Where you stay, I stay," he answered. Then he filled his pipe, and once more relapsed into stony silence.

I bothered about him no more. I dozed off for a few minutes—woke—dozed off again for some hours. I was in an uncomfortable sort of half sleep, crammed full of curious dreams—dreams from which I started, wondering where I was and how I got there. I even began to grow nervous. All sorts of horrible travelers' tales ran through my head. It was in just such places as this that unsuspecting voyagers were stated to have been murdered and robbed, by just such unmitigated ruffians as my host. I can tell you that altogether I spent a most unpleasant night.

To make matters worse and more dismal, the storm still raged outside. The wind moaned through the trees, but it had again changed, and I knew from the sound on the window panes that heavy rain had succeeded snow. As the big drops of water found their way down the large old-fashioned chimney, the fire hissed and spluttered like a spiteful vixen. Everything combined to deprive me of what dog's sleep I could by sheer persistency snatch.

I think I tried every position which an ordinary man, not an acrobat, is capable of adopting with the assistance of a common wooden chair. I even lay down on the hard flags. I actually tried the table. I propped up the upper half of my body against the corner walls of the room; but found no rest. At last I gave up all idea of sleeping, and fully aroused myself. I comforted myself by saying that my misery was only temporary—that the longest night must come to an end.

My companion had by now succumbed to fatigue, or to the combined effects of fatigue and gin-and-water. His head was hanging sideways, and he slept in a most uncomfortable attitude. I chuckled as I looked at him, feeling quite sure that if such a clod was capable of dreaming at all his dreams [illegible] mine. I filled another pipe, [illegible] smouldering logs into a [illegible] hands and knees over the fire, finding some amusement in speculatings upon the condition of the churl before me, and thanking the Lord I was not like unto this man. Suddenly an idea flashed across me.

I had seen this fellow before. But when or where I could not remember. His features, as I looked at them with keener interest, seemed to grow more and more familiar to me. Where could I have met him? Somewhere or other, but where? I racked my brain to associate him with some scene, some event. Although he was but an ordinary countryman, such as one sees scores of in a day's ride, only differing from his kind on account of his unpleasant face, I felt sure we were old acquaintances. When he awoke for a moment and changed his strained attitude, my feeling grew stronger and stronger. Yet puzzle and puzzle as I would, I could not call to mind a former encounter; so at last I began to think the supposed recognition was pure fancy on my part.

Having smoked out several pipes, I thought that a cigar would be a slight break to the monotony of the night's proceedings. So I drew out my case and looked at its contents. Among the weeds was one of a lighter color than the others. As I took it out I said to myself, "Why, old Brand gave me that one when I was last at his house." Curiously enough that cigar was the missing link in the chain of my memory. As I held it in my hand I knew at once why my host's ugly face seemed familiar to me.

About a fortnight before, being in town, I had spent the evening with the doctor. He was not alone, and I was introduced to a tall, pale young man named Carriston. He was a pleasant, polite young fellow, although not much in my line. At first I judged him to be a would-be poet of the fashionable miserable school; but finding that he and Brand talked so much about art I eventually decided that he was one of the doctor's many artist friends. Art is a hobby he hacks about on grandly. (Mem. Brand's own attempts at pictures are simply atrocious!)

Just before I left, Carriston, the doctor's back being turned, asked me to step into another room. There he showed me the portrait of a man. It seemed very cleverly drawn, and I presumed he wanted me to criticise it.

"I am a precious bad judge," I said.

"I am not asking you to pass an opinion," said Carriston; "I want to beg a favor of you. I am almost ashamed to beg it on so short an acquaintance."

He seemed modest and not in want of money, so I encouraged him to proceed.

"I heard you say you were going into the country," he resumed. "I want to ask you if by any chance you should meet the original of that drawing, to telegraph at once to Dr. Brand."

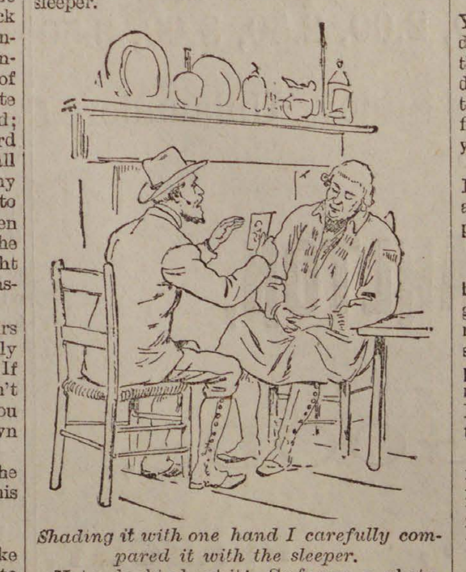
"Whereabouts does he live?"

"I have no idea. If chance throws him in your way please do as I ask."

"Certainly I will," I said, seeing the young man made the request in solemn earnest.

He thanked me, and then gave me a small photograph of the picture. This photograph he begged me to keep in my pocketbook, so that I might refer to it in case I met the man he wanted. I put it there, went my way, and, am sorry to say, forgot all about it. Had it not been for the strange cigar in my case bringing back Carriston's unusual request to my mind, the probabilities are that I should not have thought again of the matter. Now, by a remarkable coincidence, I was spending the night with the very man who, so far as my memory served me, must have sat for the portrait shown me at Brand's house.

"I wonder what I did with the photo," I said. I turned out my letter-case. There it was, right enough! Shading it with one hand, I carefully compared it with the sleeper.



Shading it with one hand I carefully compared it with the sleeper.

Not a doubt about it! So far as a photograph taken from a picture can go, it was the man himself. The same ragged beard, the same coarse features, the same surly look. Young Carriston was evidently a wonderful hand at knocking off a likeness. Moreover, in case I had felt any doubt on the matter, a printed note at the bottom of the photograph said that one joint was missing from a right hand finger. Sure enough, my friend lacked that small portion of his misbegotten frame.

This discovery threw me into an ecstasy of delight. I laughed so loudly that I almost awoke the ruffian. I guessed I was going to take a glorious revenge for all the discomforts I had suffered. No one, I felt sure, could be looking for such a fellow as this to do any good to him. I was quite happy in the thought, and for the remainder of the night gloated over the idea of putting a spoke in the wheel of one who had been within an ace of causing my death. I resolved, the moment I got back to civilization, to send the desired intelligence to Brand and hope for the best.

CHAPTER III.

The end of that wretched night came at last. When the welcome morning broke I found that a great change had taken place out of doors. The fierce snowstorm had been the farewell of the frost. The heavy rain that followed had filled the roads with slushy and rapidly-thawing snow. I managed to extort some sort of a breakfast from my host; then, having recompensed him according to my promise, not his deserts, started, as soon as I could, on the bare back of my unfortunate steed, for Midcombe, which place, after my night's experiences, seemed gifted with merits not its own.

I was surprised upon leaving the house to find it was of larger dimensions than, from the little I saw of it during the night, I had imagined. It was altogether a better class of residence than I had supposed. My surly friend accompanied me until he had placed me on the main road, where I could make no possible mistake. He was kind enough to promise to assist any one I might send out in getting the dogcart under way. Then, with a hearty wish on my part that I might never again meet with his like, we parted.

I found my way to Midcome without much trouble. I took off my things, had a wash, and, like a sensible man for once, went to bed. But I did not forget to send a boy straight off to the nearest telegraph station. My message to Brand was a brief one. It simply said: "Tell your friend I have found his man." This duty done, I dismissed all peculation as to the result from my mind, and settled down to make up arrears of sleep.

I was surprised at the reply received that same evening from Brand: "We shall be with you as soon as we can get down tomorrow. Meet us at station." From this it was clear that my friend was wanted particularly—all the better! I turned to the time table and found that, owing to change and delays, they could not get to C——, the nearest station to Midcombe, until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. I inquired about the crippled dog-cart. It had been brought in; so I left strict instructions that a shaft of some sort was to be rigged in time for me to drive over the next day and meet the doctor and his friend.

They came as promised. It was a comfort to see friends of any description, so I gave them a hearty welcome. Carriston took hold of both my hands and shook them so warmly that I began to fear I had discovered a long-lost father of his in my friend. I had almost forgotten the young fellow's appearance, or he looked a very different man today from the one I had seen when last we met. Then he was a wan, pensive, romantic, poetical-looking sort of fellow; now he seemed full of energy, vitality and grit. Poor old Brand looked as serious as an undertaker engaged in burying his own mother.

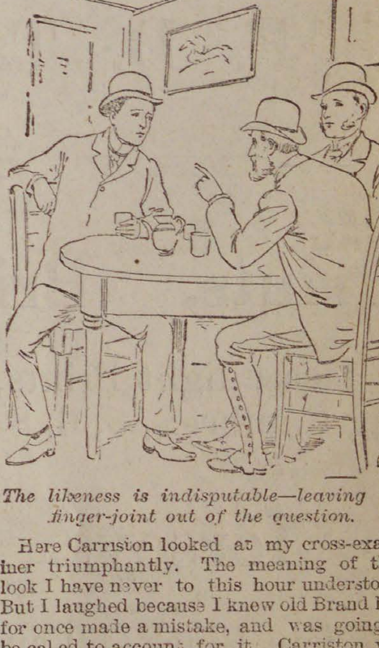
Carriston began to question me, but Brand stopped him. "You promised I should make inquiries first," he said. Then he turned to me.

"Look here, Richard."—when he calls me Richard I know he is fearfully in earnest—"I believe you have brought us down on a fool's errand; but let us go to some place where we can talk together for a few minutes."

I led them across the road to the Railway Inn. We entered a room, and, having for the sake of appearances ordered a little light refreshment, told the waiter to shut the door from the outside. Brand settled down with the air of a cross-examining counsel. I expected to see him pull out a New Testament and put me on my oath.

"Now, Richard," he said, "before we go further I want to know your reasons for thinking this man, about whom you telegraphed, is Carriston's man, as you call him."

"Reasons! Why of course he is the man. Carriston gave me his photograph. The likeness is indisputable—leaving the finger-joint out of the question."



The likeness is indisputable—leaving the finger-joint out of the question.

Here Carriston looked at my cross-examiner triumphantly. The meaning of that look I have never to this hour understood. But I laughed because I knew old Brand had for once made a mistake, and was going to be called to account for it. Carriston was about to speak, but the doctor waved him aside.

"Now, Richard, think very carefully. You speak of the missing finger-joint. We doctors know how many people persuade themselves into all sorts of things. Tell me, did you notice the likeness before you saw the mutilated finger, or did the fact of the finger's being mutilated bring the likeness to your mind?"

"Bless the man," I said; "one would think I had no eyes. I tell you there is no doubt about this man being the original of the photo."

"Never mind—answer my question."

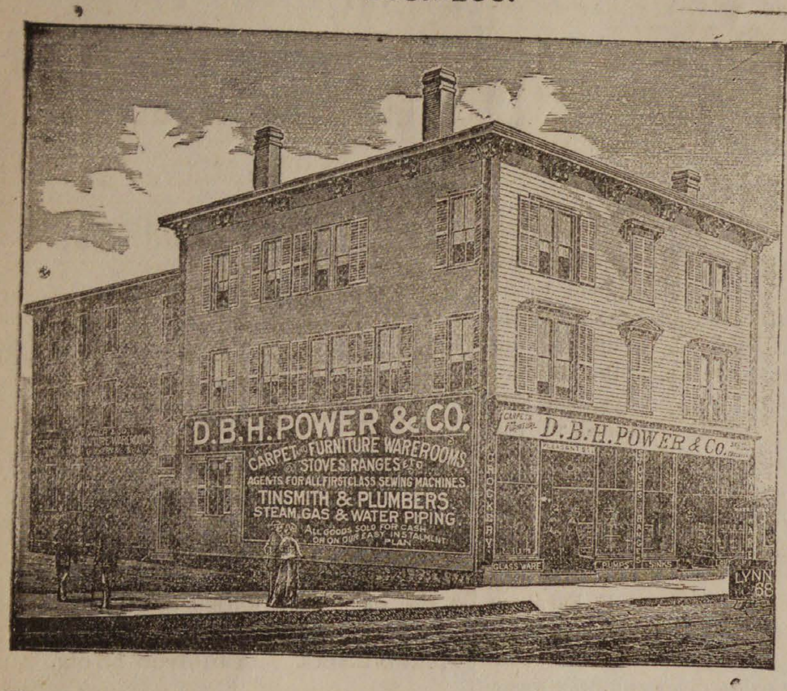
"Well, then, I am ashamed to confess it, but I put the photo in my pocket, and forgot all about it until I had recognized the man, and pulled out the likeness to make sure. I didn't even know there was a printed description at the foot nor that any member was wanting. Confound it, Brand! I'm not such a duffer as you think."

Brand did not retaliate. He turned to his friend and said gravely, "To me the matter is inexplicable. Take your own course, as I promised you should." Then he sat down, looking deliciously crestfallen, and wearing the discontented expression always natural to him when worsted in argument.

It was now Carriston's turn. He plied me with many questions. In fact, I gave him the whole history of my adventure. "What kind of house is it?" he asked.

Continued on 6th page.

STOCK TAKING IS OVER AND WE ARE NOW READY FOR BUSINESS.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET & FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES ETC.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRSTCLASS SEWING MACHINES.
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
ALL GOODS SOLD FOR CASH OR ON OUR EASY INSTALMENT PLAN
D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CROCKERY
GLASS WARE
PUMPS SINKS
LYNN 68

We are more than pleased with the amount of business done during the last year, and we propose to place 1886 as far ahead of 1885, as 1885 is now ahead of 1884, Notwithstanding the croakings and cries from our competitors, we still live, and adhere strictly to our special system $1 down and $1 a week. We have just received one car load of

PARLOR SUITS

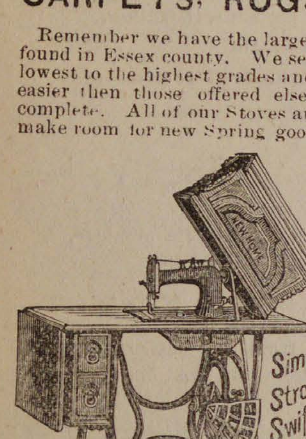
and two car loads of

CHAMBER SETS,

direct from the factories, and made especially to our order. We are now receiving every day new styles and patterns of,

CARPETS, RUGS, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES, &C.

Remember we have the largest store and largest and best assortment of goods to be found in Essex county. We sell EVERYTHING to furnish a house complete from the lowest to the highest grades and at prices that defy competition, and at terms that are easier then those offered elsewhere. Our stock of Crockery, Glass and Silver Ware is complete. All of our Stoves and Ranges, both new and second hand, to be closed out to make room for new Spring goods.



Sole Agent in Marblehead and Vicinity for the CELEBRATED

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE.

Noiseless and light running. This we will sell at the lowest prices for cash or on our instalment plan, $1 down and $1 a week.

☞ All goods delivered free.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

CONNECTING STORES, 123 & 125 PLEASANT ST. & 24 SCHOOL ST.

MARBLEHEAD. Horse and Steam Cars pass the Door.

AT WHOLESALE.

PURE LARD,

In 3, 5, 10 and 50 pound Pails

FOX'S SILKEN GLOSS STARCH

AND REFINED CORN STARCH,

SOAPINE.

Also a large stock of

Apples, Potatoes, Salt, Butter Eggs, &c.

Abbott & Reynolds,

Wholesale Dealers in Produce,

14 FRONT STREET

HORACE G. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER

AND

BLANK BOOK

MANUFACTURER.

226 1-2 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

Old Magazines taken in exchange for binding or bought for cash.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby, Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

Pillsbury's Best.

WE keep in stock the above brand of Flour, also Washburn's Best, Snowflake, and other Choice Brands of Patent Flour.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

AMES & EDGERLY,

Deales in Meats and Provisions

We keep the Best of Meats-
Our Expenses are Light-
We sell for spot Cash Only.
We do NOT Deliver Goods-
We make LOW PRICES.
TRY US AND SEE.

WALNUT STREET.

(next to S. Trask's.)

PEABODY.

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

HALE'S BLOCK.

223 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Mortgagees negotiated. Personal attention to all Real Estate matters.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

WEST PEABODY.

SILOS AND ENSILAGE.

We have in West Peabody four Silos, constructed for the ensilaging of green forage crops, particularly corn, and hold from three to six hundred tons each. In building,— a Silo having a capacity of 300 tons is preferred; if a larger one is required, the Silo is built double, and in both cases assumes an oblong form, being annexed to the barn. The walls are built of concrete, and made sufficiently strong to withstand the heavy pressure. A discharge pipe, two inches in diameter, is inserted at the lowest point, through one of the walls, to drain the ensilage as it compacts under pressure. The whole interior is then lined with Portland cement, and covered with a pitch roof. Silos are constructed in this manner at a cost not exceeding $500. The corn planted to produce the ensilage is the Southern White, and on land under a good state of cultivation, yields on the average, about twenty tons per acre. As regards the cutting down of the corn in the field, preparatory to being ensilaged, various opinions exist, as to the time it should be cut, to obtain the most nutriment. Some farmers claim that by cutting down, when tasseling out, the corn then being at its full height and tender, they not only get the full value of the stock, but obtain it at a far less cost, since it is drawing less from the soil at this time, requiring a smaller quantity of dressing, than it would if cut later.

Others cut when the corn is in the milk, claiming that the ear now developing, takes its nourishment when the stock is at its highest point of vitality, and consequently has its fullest amount of nourishing qualities. When field corn is planted, some farmers defer cutting until ripe; gathering the ears, and ensilaging the stover. At whatever time the corn is cut down, it must not be allowed to wilt, but put into the Silo as rapidly as possible, until all is in. To have ensilage keep well, great care must be taken in filling the Silo. If finely cut, it can be packed closer than if put in whole; retaining less air, thereby causing less fermentation, and can be preserved in a better condition for food. In filling, the edges and corners, about which decay first commences, must be packed firmly, and even with the main body, and the whole pressed compactly together by the trampling of animals over it; so that when filled and the weight put on, it will settle evenly together. In covering, a layer of hay a foot in depth is placed upon the top, and the planks or boards used are then placed in both directions to break joints, and heavily weighted with stone to exclude the air. When put in whole, the corn is laid lengthwise in the Silo, being covered and weighted the same as when cut fine. The point gained, by putting in whole, is the saving of time and labor, when wages are the highest, and the heavy expense of machinery in cutting up. The disadvantages are in cutting from the Silo, and again in cutting up for food; but the farmers filling in this way express themselves as satisfied with the result of so doing, since the ensilage does not undergo so much of a chemical change, being sweeter than when cut fine. On opening the Silo, the top is found to be decomposed in both cases to the depth of a foot, but below this the ensilage is in good preservation, but having undergone a change, passing from a sweet to an acetic condition. The ensilage is removed by cutting crosswise of the Silo, from top to bottom, taking about twelve inches in width for a section.

A very strong pungent ordor pervades the atmosphere from the portion cut, which however passes away to some extent on exposure to the air. In feeding, the stock it is fed to consume it with evident relish, and if cut fine do not leave any; if given whole as put in the Silo, and then cut up, the ends and coarser portions are wasted. Milch cows fed with grain and ensilage do as well and better, than when fed with English hay and grain; are in better flesh, give more milk and of a better quality. The butter and cheese produced from this way of feeding are superior to the same articles when produced by the old system; being of better flavor and finer grain. The daily ration for a cow is about seventy-five pounds, equal in value, to nearly twenty-five pounds of English hay. This method of preserving corn in its green state is conceded to be the most economical way of keeping cows and young stock on the farm; and animals fed with it are in as healthy a condition as when fed in any other way. For a description of method of cultivation, filling of Silo, and successful feeding of ensilage, embracing a period of four years, I shall refer in a short time in the columns of the PRESS, to an interview with and statements made to me, by one of the most practical and thorough going farmers in Essex County. A gentleman who farms for profit, and understands more about this system of feeding, than all the theorists combined in the State.

W. S. J.

The Citizens' caucus was called to order last Wednesday evening by S. S. Littlefield. Albert Vittum was elected chairman and John J. Cahill Secretary. It was voted that the chair appoint two committees of five each to retire and bring in a list of town officers, which they did with the following result:—Moderator, S. C. Bancroft; Selectmen, Nathan H. Poor, Levi Preston, Thomas J. Relihan, William W. Reed, Charles H. Goulding; Assessors, Rev. Willard Spaulding, Lyman Osborne, A. H. Sanger, Jr.; Town Clerk and Treasurer, Nathan H. Poor; Collector of Taxes, Levi Preston; Overseers of the Poor, George F. Sanger, James P. King, James Fallon; Water Board, S. F. Blaney, D. S. Littlefield, Andrew N. Jacobs; School Committee for 3 years, Thomas Carroll, Horace K. Foster; Trustees of Peabody Institute, George F. Barnes, William G. Dix; Board of Health, Dr. C. C. Pike, Thomas J. Relihan, William S. Osborne, John Ruth, Charles P. Elligott; Commissioner General Sinking Fund for 3 years, Jonathan King; Commisioner High Service Sinking Fund for 3 years, Frank C. Merrill; Commissioner Town House Sinking Fund for three years, Leverett Poor; constables, Thomas W. Peasley, Edmund O'Rourke, George W. Jones, Bowman Viles, Jerry B. Mack, John J. Sweeney, Daniel Rahilley, Michael H. Grady, Thomas N. Barnaby, John J. Bartlett, Alfred E. Johnson, Daniel W. Larrabee, John Ruth, Charles H. Stanton, John Daley, Nathaniel C. Patterson, Jeremiah Murphy, Michael Phelan, Othernial Ferrin, James H. Crowley, Michael J. Reagan, John D. McKeen, Fred. G. Preston. The following citizens' committee were elected:—F. E. Farnham, Edward Trask, John J. Bartlett, J. Fred Ingraham, John J. Nugent, Albert Vittum, Lewis K. Putnam.

* * *

The gauge of almost every railroad south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, it is said, will be changed June 1, to correspond to the northern or standard gauge of four feet nine inches. Monday, May 31, and Tuesday, June 1, have been set apart for the work, which will extend over about 13,000 miles of railway, as follows:—South Carolina, 1320 miles; North Carolina, 960; Georgia, 2413; Florida, 1250; Alabama, 1803; Mississippi, 776; Louisiana, 313; Kentucky, 1118; Tennessee, 1886; Virginia, 981 miles. The changing of the gauge of the track from five feet to four feet nine inches will be done by moving one rail in three inches without disturbing the other rail at all. Preparations will begin about a month ahead.

* * *

It is a pleasure to notice such compositions as this elegant New March by the famous composer, John Wiegand. It is certainly one of the most pleasing spirited and showy marches we have seen for many a day, adapted for organ as well as the piano. The title page bears a fine portrait of the Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R., to whom it is dedicated. Young musicians or teachers would do well to order a copy at once. Price 50 cents. Simplified 40 cents. Duet 75. Brass and Reed Band 50 cents. Mailed on receipt of price, Ign Fischer, Publisher, Toledo, Ohio.

* * *

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats &c., should try them.

READY FOR ANYTHING.—A California girl, young, good looking, and the owner of a farm of 400 acres, wants to marry a newspaper man. That she isn't already married is a lasting reflection upon the enterprise of our brethren of the Pacific slope. If that young woman had first made known her wants at the corner of Baltimore and Calvert streets at 2.30 p. m., she would have been surrounded by a horde of newspaper men at 2.30 1-2. Ten minutes later she would be a bride, and in half an hour the husband would be trying to negotiate a mortgage on the farm. When it comes down to real business, the Baltimore newspaper men will be found on hand every time.—Baltimore Herald.

The distressing disease, Salt Rheum, is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. Sold by all druggists.

A St. Paul contemporary remarks that even homely girls look pretty in blankets. For fear some of our southern or eastern friends may be shocked, and the editorial profession scandalized, we hasten to explain that toboggan uniforms are made of blanketing.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla will do away with that tired feeling, and give you new life and energy.

General passenger and Ticket Agent of the Boston and Lowell Railroad is getting out a new edition of "The Tourist" which he intends shall beat last year's one in beauty and value all hollow. There is push in the present management of the Boston and Lowell, and men at the head of affairs who believe in rushing things. They certainly make it pay.

CURE FOR CROUP.—Use Dr. Thomas Electric Oil according to directions. It is the best remedy for all sudden attacks of colds, pain and inflammation, and for injuries.

THE DRAMA

[Horse cars from Salem connect every night (except Monday) with train leaving Boston at 11.15 P M]

The engagement of Margaret Mather at the Boston Theatre will be brought to a close on Saturday evening. Her appearances in Juliet, the week past, in Mr. J. M. Hill's elegant and elaborate revival of the tragedy of Verona, have been seen with much interest. For all the representations of the current week, but two, the actress will offer her great impersonation of the Jewish maiden in "Leah, the Forsaken." Miss Mather's acting in this role aroused the greatest admiration during her recent season in New York, and critics agree that the portrayal is stronger than ever. On Saturday evening, the lady is to repeat her bright comedy performance as Julianna in "The Honeymoon."

"Do you know" there has been standing room only at every performance of "The Private Secretary" during the past week? Well, it is a fact, and for another week the patrons of the Park will enjoy the privilege of shaking up their insides over inscrutably funny antics and jokes that never grow old.

There are seats in the family circle yet unclaimed for Mr. H. A. McGlenen's annual benefit, next Monday night, at the Boston. "The Black Hussar" is then to begin a brief season with Marie Jansen, Mathilde Cottrelly, George C. Boniface, Mark Smith and other favorites of the McCaull Opera Company in the cast. The opera will be given with special scenery and elegant costumes.

Six weeks of prosperity will be the record for Dion Boucicault and "The Jilt," at the Boston Museum on Saturday evening, when the comedian's annual engagement at this house comes to an end. The new comedy has received, unqualifiedly, the indorsement of this public, and no doubt it could have held the Museum stage to excellent business for weeks to come, did not other arrangements necessitate its withdrawal the present week.

Monday, March 15, will be produced at the Park Theatre a new Irish comedy-drama, entitled "The Ivy Leaf," which is said to be of remarkable interest. A thrilling leap from an ivy-clad tower, and a military execution, interrupted, Damon and Pythias style, just as the word "fire" trembles on the lips of the sympathizing commanding officer, are among the "sensations" of the pretty story of love and right triumphant over avarice and villainy, which is told by the drama: but in novelty, at least, these are surpassed by the carrying off of a child by an eagle, and the little one's rescue by the hero, who climbs to the crag at the risk of his neck and gives successful battle to the "bird of freedom."

* * *

The Hills of Lancaster.

BY AUGUSTUS MENTON LORD.

Soft o'er the hills of Lancaster
  The autumn evening fell,
When last you pressed my lingering hand
  And, laughing, said farewell.

I heard your deep, young, earnest voice
  Familiar fall and rise,
And saw at times your purpose strong
  Light up your clear brown eyes.

The sunset fades o'er Lancaster,
  The dear old hills grew dim,
And as of old the harvest moon
  Hangs o'er Wachusett's rim.

But you to-night are far away
  Beside a foreign sea,
And the moon-lit hills of Lancaster
  Are fair, but not to me.

* * *

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.—W. H. S.—Your suggestion as to care in the sale of poisons is excellent. The new remedy—Red Star Cough Cure contains no poison, and can be given with safety to infants. Health officials of Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Baltimore endorse it as a most wonderful cure. It costs only 25 cents.

Pussy willows are growing plenty!

Every mother should keep Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for immediate use, in case of Croup and sudden cold.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2ds

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS,

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strin

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

6696

THE BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

SWEARS

SIX THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX (6696) represents the exact number of cases of Rubber Goods received by us so far for this season's trade in our Wholesale and Retail Departments, as sworn to by the Freight Agent of the Boston and Maine R. R. Co., over whose line our goods are delivered. And this immense quantity—more than all the retail boot and shoe stores in Lynn, combined, could use in five years' time—is but a fraction of what we shall need to meet the demands of our Wholesale and Retail trade this present season.

Sworn Statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, ESSEX, ss.

I, F. A. Barnard, Boston & Maine R. R. Co.'s Freight Agent, on oath do depose and say that I have delivered over this road six thousand six hundred and ninety-six cases of rubber goods to Wellman Osborne on this season's trade.

F. A. BARNARD, Freight Agent B. & M. R. R. Co.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1885.

THOMAS B. KNIGHT, Justice of the Peace.

IS IT POSSIBLE

That the other dealers, obliged to buy from the jobbers and pay the jobbers' profits, and weighed down by high rents, can compete with the only dealer in Lynn who buys everything direct from the manufacturers, has but one rent to pay—three of his four stores being on his own premises—and who is the only Lynn dealer using rubbers in quantities large enough to enable him to deal directly with the rubber companies and avail himself of the large discounts they offer to jobbers?

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE!

Remember that where others make bare assertions, unsupported by any testimony or anything worthy to be called the shadow of a fact, we give the sworn statement of the Boston & Maine R. R. Co., and can produce, if necessary, all of our way bills to silence the doubts of the most incredulous.

WE CHALLENGE

Any other Lynn dealer, be he retailer or self-styled wholesaler, on forfeit of $1000, to produce absolute proof that he has at present received one-fifth as many rubber goods as we have, the proceeds to be given to the LYNN CITY HOSPITAL. Here is a glorious opportunity to benefit the most deserving institution in the city. We make the offer in good faith, and give the talkers a chance to show the courage of their conviction by accepting the challenge, or

FOREVER AFTER HOLD THEIR PEACE.

REMEMBER

That in the past we have had undisputed possession of the field, and when we say that no other dealer can offer the inducements we do, we do not speak idle words, but are backed up by a record in the past unequalled by any, and a stock in the present inexhaustible in quantity and variety, and of the best makes in the country. We are splendidly equipped to beat our record of former triumphs.

When the First Snow Flies,

No matter what price others offer, we, as a matter of course,

ALWAYS BEAT THEM.

WE ARE SELLING

Best Makes.	Our Prices.	Others' Prices
Men's Dull Finish Boots,	$2.25	$2,85
Men's Pure Gum Boots,	2.75	3.50
Boys' Dull Finish Boots,	1.75	2.25
Men's Buckle Arctics,	1.20	1.60
Women's Buckle Arctics,	.85	1.15
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Fleece Lined,	.85	1.10
Men's S. A. Alaskas, Wool Lined,	.75	.95
Women's Croquet Alaskas, Fleeced Lined,	.65	.75
Men's Imitation Sandals,	.45	.60
Women's Imitation Sandals,	.30	.40
Misses' Imitation Sandals,	.25	.35

The above prices are absolutely as low as the other dealers can buy the same for from the jobbers and we are giving the people the benefit of wholesale prices.

Now for those who wish for cheaper rubbers and serviceable ones, we have in jobs and drives of perfect and slightly blemished goods, the following:

CRUSHERS OF HIGH PRICES!

Men's Prime Rubber Boots, perfect,		$1.65
Boys' Prime Rubber Boots,	"	1.45
Youths' Prime Rubber Boots,	"	1.10
Misses' Prime Rubber Boots,	"	.85
Men's Imitation Sandals, perfect,		33c
Women's Imitation Sandals,	"	21c
Men's Buckle Arctics,	"	85c

It must be borne in mind that these slightly imperfect rubbers are not to be confounded with the Tar rubbers with which the market is flooded, and which are made expressly as cheap rubbers out of old rubber ground up, and barely held together with a liberal mixture of cold tar. These rubbers are made by the best companies in the country, out of good stock, and for service, but in the process of manufacture have been subject to some slight blemish which does not affect their wear in the least. They are as much better than the afore-mentioned Tar rubbers as a fine beaver overcoat, with a slight imperfection hardly noticeable, is better than a shoddy coat made up of ground-up material.

NOJEW RACKETS HERE.

When we advertise prices, we abide by them, and do not have to say to every custemer, "Out of your size, "Have some next week," etc. We do not do business that way. We have just what we advertise, and in abundance, and customers do not leave our stores dissatisfied, nor feel obliged to buy a higher priced article if they do not wish it.

WELLMAN OSBORNE,

84 MARKET ST., 23 MARKET SQUARE,

LYNN, MASS.

ELLIS' SPAVIN CURE,

60 cents per bottle or $6 per dozen, at

JONES' STABLE,

REAR 13 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

FOR SALE.

One Black Mare, 8 years old, weight about 900, warranted sound and kind; no use for her. Sell cheap, seen at Jones' Livery Stable, Salem.

FOR SALE.

THE REAL ESTATE

Of the late Franklin Osborn, situated on

FOSTER, OAK AND WINTER STREETS,

53,000 feet of Land, Three Dwelling Houses and other Buildings.

Apply to

F. OSBORN, Jr., & CO.

feb 10—tf

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

Knights of Labor Cigars & Tobacco

5 Cent Cigars.

Leader, Lone Chief, Red Rover, Principee, Electric, Diplomats, White House.

Harvard, Electric, Pink of Perfection.

Also a full line of Fruit, Confectionery, etc.

DANIEL J. SWEENEY

Next to the Old Hotel on the Square.

Special Bargains

— AT —

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store,

Children's Grain Button, solid leather, only	65c
Children's Kid Button, 7 to 10 1-2 only	90c
Children's Rubber Boots, fleece lined first quality, only	$1.00
Children's Lace School Shoes,	50c
Misses' Grain Button, sizes 1 and 2,	60c
Misses' Kid Button all sizes,	$1.00
Misses' Slippers,	20c
Ladies' Glove Buskins, wool lined,	60c
Ladies' Serge Buskins, all sizes,	30c
Ladies' Tip Congress,	75c
Ladies' Grain or Kid Button,	$1.25
Ladies' Hand-sewed Congress, only	75c
Ladies' Goat Button, common sense, only	$2.00
Men's Veal Calf Bals, Tap Sole, only	$1.25
Men's Carpet Slippers, only,	40c
Men's Veal Calf Button, 4 and 5 wide only,	$1.50
Men's Fine Sewed Calf Boots, only	$2.50
Men's Harvard Ties, only	60c
Men's Fine Calf Button, Bals and Congress, only	$2.50
Boys' Kip Boots, only	$1.50
Boys' Veal Calf Bals, solid, only	$1.25
Boys' Button Boots, solid, only	$1.25
Youths' Kip Boots, solid, only	$1.35
Youths' Bals, solid, only	$1.00

If you desire a first class Shoe Polish, we would be pleased to have you give our Myrbane Shoe Polish a fair and impartial trial, feeling that if you purchase one Box you will in the future use none other; every box warranted, and your money will be refunded if not satisfied. 5, 10 and 15 cents per box.

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,

Editors and Publishers

"Shall Licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?"

NO.

This is just where the PRESS has stood all the time, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Because we did not see fit to stand by the "old board," some contemptible cur started the story that we had sold out to the rumseller. We brand him as a vilifier and a liar, and an inspection of our files will substantiate our position.

THERE CAN be no question as to the legal election of Rev. Mr. Spaulding and Lyman Osborn as assessors of this town. The Boards of Selectmen and Assessors are two separate boards—always have been, despite the fact that the SAME MEN, for many years, have been members of the two boards. The Statutes so declare—and prescribe a separate oath which must be taken by the assessors.

The town cannot, by vote, make the Selectmen and Assessors one board, any more than they can make the School Committee and Board of Health one board. They can make the same men members of both boards, if they so elect them by ballot. They can prepare a ballot for Dr. Pike, for example, headed For School Committee and Board of Health, and elect him to both bodies. In former years they have thus prepared ballots for Selectmen and Assessors. That is perfectly right. But this year, and last, the ballots were not so prepared. The town voted for Selectmen and then voted for Assessors, on the same piece of paper, but exactly in the same way as they vote for School Committee and Board of Health separately. Last year the same men were elected Selectmen as were elected Assessors. This year, when the votes were counted, two of the Selectmen were NOT elected Assessors and two of the Assessors were NOT elected Selectmen.

There would be no more reason for declaring Messrs. Southwick and Preston, who were not elected, to be Assessors, because the town voted to have one board, than for declaring Messrs. Spaulding and Osborn to be Selectmen. Who shall decide, if not the ballots? Messrs. Preston and Southwick were not elected assessors. Messrs. Osborn and Spaulding were elected. The vote was so declared by Moderator Bancroft, and it certainly is correct. If the voters MUST prepare their ballots "For Selectmen and Assessors," in the old way, then there were just FOUR votes cast, and these gentlemen, whose names are given in another column, are elected, both as Selectmen and Assessors. But no one should doubt the right of the voter to cast his ballots for the two separate boards. No town can make them one. Nor can they compel a voter to cast his ballot for one man for both offices, unless such voter wishes to. The purity of the ballot would be destroyed at once. The vote is right, as it is.

PEABODY has not disappointed its well wishers by keeping in line on the question of license of intoxicants. It is the banner town in the enforcement of the liquor law, and shows what can be done, in this direction, when the citizens who love law and order see to it that the law is enforced. What Peabody has done other towns can do, if they are so inclined, and are in earnest in the matter.

The vote in town does not signify that the majority of its voters favor the absolute prohibition of liquor in any form. It simply means that they desire the condition of things in town to exist as they are. They may differ as to the personal use of stimulants; but they agree that the temptations of an open bar room shall not be put before the young men of the town during the coming year. The curse of intoxicating liquor is the custom of social drinking. This is in a measure prevented by the closing of the saloons. Experience has shown that a man addicted to the use of the cup will refrain in many cases where the social drinking of the dram shop cannot be indulged in.

The work of the Law and Order League will be comparatively light the coming year. Vigilance on the part of our officers will prevent any new violations of the liquor law. The old offenders have found that an appeal to the higher court means something in Essex County. It does not mean that such appealed cases are "laid on the shelf." Conviction in the lower court has been followed, in most cases, by conviction and speedy punishment in the higher court. The saloon keeper knows the penalty—and he knows that conviction will surely come.

The PRESS, with all good citizens, rejoices in the triumph of law and order the coming year. It has not believed that the necessity for the election of any man, or any number of men, in order to secure such triumph of law and order, existed. No officer of our town, who is a good citizen, will refuse to do its will, as expressed by a deliberate vote. To think that any citizen would refuse to thus execute its will, is to insult the sober good sense of our community.

WE REJOICE in the change that has at last been made, in the election of a separate board of Selectmen and Assessors for the town. It is a step forward. These boards are always separate in one sense, and are made so by the statutes; but Peabody has always fancied that the same individuals should be on the two boards. A break has been made, after considerable difficulty, and it will now be an easy matter to keep them separate.

We believe the election of Rev. Willard Spaulding and Lyman Osborn, as assessors, will be a good thing for the town. Mr. Osborn has an experience on this same board, and his judgment on the value of property is equal to that of any person in town. We cannot say the same of Mr. Spaulding. We don't agree with the vagaries of the latter gentleman. But we believe he will seek the best interests of the town, and we feel assured that he will not take the valuation of previous assessors without making inquiries into the present value of property. The Board will do nothing hastily, if Mr. Spaulding has his say, and we should not be suprised to see some revelations of great financial value to the town of Peabody.

With the new start made, it is a good time to insist again upon the necessity of a valuation book being published by the town. We are inclined to the belief that such a book could be published by the new Board of Assessors at the close of their valuation, without special vote of the town. Such a book is published in every wide-awake town, and of great value to it. It makes every man an assessor on his own account. The cost is not large, and we commend the suggestion to the new board.

SPARKS.

ngineer W. W. Reed made a good run for Selectman at the recent town meeting.

The committee on the automatic fire alarm telegraph will meet at the Central station Friday evening.

President Stover, of the Gamewell Electric alarm telegraph company, was in town Monday. The fire alarm is nearly in readiness for operation in Beverly.

The "Three Ones and a Two" will issue an advertising sheet in connection with their ball, and John J. Cahill is soliciting advertisements for the same. An edition of 3000 copies will be published.

Ulick A. Brophy, fireman of Steamer 1, discovered and put out a slight fire in the rear of one of the large factories on Wallis street Sunday morning. A lot of hot ashes had been put in a barrel Saturday night and set out one side the door, and during the night had kindled up setting the fire.

Charlie Reed, one of the members of Hose 5, got his right hand injured, by catching it in a new blacking machine at the factory of F. Osborne Jr., & Co. last Friday. He is now laid up with it.

The new carpet department of W. G. Webber & Co. was opened this week, and is under the charge of Mr. John E. Newhall (late with Goldthwait & Bixby). The goods are all new and fresh, and were selected by Mr. Newhall especially for the trade in this vicinity. The addition of this department will still further enhance the popularity of this store. We direct our readers to the new advertisement in this weeks PRESS for further particulars.

TOWN MEETING.

The Annual Town Meeting was called to order last Monday morning at 9 o'clock, by Clerk Nathan H. Poor, who read the warrant, at the close of which balloting for the choice of Moderator began. Sidney C. Bancroft was chosen by a nearly unanimous vote—there being no ballot in the field in opposition. Rev. Mr. Shipman of the Baptist Church offered prayer, and the business of the meeting was proceeded with.

The following officers were chosen by a hand vote:

Fence Viewers: A. C. Osborn, Wm. S. Osborne, Patrick Kerwin, Benj. H. Taylor, Alerson Galeucia.

Surveyors of Lumber: John Perkins, Charles G. Folsom, Frank C. Ferguson, John Hackett.

Field Drivers: John F. Pickering, Andrew Curtis, T. H. O'Keefe, Lewis Brown.

Pound Keepers: Edwin Buxton, Robert P. Brown, D. A. Small.

It was voted that the Selectmen be authorized to appoint measurers of wood, bark and leather.

Frank C. Farnham moved that for the choice of other officers the polls be opened at 12 o'clock and close at 4.15. Mr. Lyons moved to amend by substituting 6.15 for 4.15, which was accepted by Mr. Farnham.

The town voted to choose 23 Constables, five Selectmen and five Assessors, and a Board of Health of three.

Mr. Blaney said that the Board of Health had presented a report which they were not required by law to do, and which presented food for reflection and meat for repentance; he could not understand why, after presenting such a report, three of the leading members of the Board should feel called upon to resign. He would call upon the members of the Board to explain, but there was no response to Mr. Blaney's suggestion.

The following articles were referred to the finance committee:

Article 9th. To determine what sum of money shall be raised by taxation for the usual and necessary expenses of the town, when it shall be paid into the treasury, and the rate of interest to be charged on delinquent taxes.

11th. To appropriate money for the payment of State aid to soldiers and their families.

12th. To determine what compensation shall be paid to town officers and firemen the ensuing year.

13th. To determine the manner of repairing the highways, and the amount of money to be appropriated therefor.

14th. To appropriate money for lighting the streets.

15th. To appropriate money for a day and night police.

16th. To determine what sum of money shall be appropriated for the support of schools.

17th. To determine in what manner the money arising from the surplus dog fund, and the town's portion of the income of the Massachusetts School Fund, shall be disposed of.

18th. To see if the town will authorize the Town Treasurer to hire money.

24th. To see if the town will appropriate money for the purpose of extending, repairing and carrying on the water works.

29th. To see if the town will take any measures to improve the acoustic properties of the large town hall, and the ventilation of the rooms in the lower story of the town house, and appropriate money therefor.

32d. To see if the town will cause Endicott Street to be properly graded, so that it may be more safe and convenient for public use, and appropriate money therefor, agreeably to the petition of Frank E. Berry and others.

40th. To see if the town will appropriate money for the purchase and opening of a Cemetery in the western section of the town, agreeably to the petition of W. Spaulding and others.

42d. To see if the town will appropriate money for the purchase of land, a hose carriage and hose, and for building a hose house, the same to be located in that part of the town known as "Dublin," agreeably to the petition of Newman Perkins and others.

It was voted (article 10) that the town authorize the Collector of Taxes to use all means of collecting taxes which a Town Treasurer, when appointed Collector, may use, agreeably to the Statutes of the Commonwealth.

The list of jurors, as prepared by the Selectmen, was read and approved.

The report of the Selectmen regarding guide boards, was read and accepted by the town.

The report of the trustees of the Peabody Institute was referred to the adjourned meeting.

The report of the trustees of Cedar Grove Cemetery was referred to the Finance Committee.

The report of the water board, with the recommendations therein contained, was referred to the finance committee, and it was voted to choose a water board of three, in the afternoon, by ballot.

The Selectmen were authorized (article 25) to purchase land for gravel.

It was voted (article 26) that the town appoint the Selectmen its agents to act in any suits that may be brought against the town, with authority to employ such attorneys as they may think necessary in such suits.

It was voted that the vote on the question "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town," be taken at the same time as the ballot for town officers.

Article 28, regarding an appropriation for making alterations in the Central Fire Station was then considered. A motion was made that the matter be referred to the finance committee, but Jonathan King thought the matter should be referred to a special committee—that the finance committee had enough to attend to.

Chief Engineer Tibbetts said that the matter had been looked into by the Board of Engineers—that it had been agitated more or less for a number of years. They had asked carpenters to estimate on the expense. A new floor must be laid in the station very soon, and it was advisable, in his judgment, that the alterations proposed be made at that time. He was satisfied to have the matter referred to a special committee, and it was so referred. The committee were chosen as follows: Benj. Beckett, John F. Morland, John H. Tibbetts.

Article 30 was then taken up, to see if the town will cause the aqueduct water to be put into Centre Street Court, agreeably to the petition of John Fitzpatrick and others.

W. P. Clark moved that the matter be referred to the water board.

Mr. Blaney said that such reference would kill the matter. He hoped the motion would not prevail.

Mr. Clark thought his motion perfectly proper. The water board was the proper board to refer the matter to.

Mr. Blaney said the Board had laid out for themselves certain rules—that they purposed treating all alike. That this was a case when it should be referred to disinterested persons. He did not shirk his responsibility but would repeat his honest convictions, still he thought it better to refer it to disinterested parties.

Mr. Farnham could not resist the conclusion of Mr. Clark's motion, that the water board were the only proper parties to consider the matter.

Mr. Blaney said the gentlemen did not understand his position. The water board had acted in the matter. It had been considered by them, and the request had been rejected, and the petitioners had now come to the town and appealed to them as it was their right to do.

Mr. Clark said that under this statement of the case, if the water board had considered the matter and rejected it, he would move that the matter be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Relihan said this was a matter in which the board of health was interested. They had been instructed to have the use of well water discontinued there, as some of it was not fit to use. The water board had been appealed to, and the speaker understood that the town had voted that water should be put in where it would pay four per cent. on the investment. The chairman of the board of health, finding that it would pay, had waited on the water board, requesting that the water be put in. This board decided that they had not sufficient money, and advised the petitioners to have an article put in the warrant. The well water in that locality was unfit to use.

Mr. Blaney said that, as he remembered, Mr. Fitzpatrick made the application to the water board. It was a very short street and no pipes were laid there. The board offered to make a connection with the main and carry it to the line of the street, as they had done in other cases. This Mr. Fitzpatrick did not see fit to accept, and the next the board heard was an application from the board of health. It was then late in the season and they had made all their arrangements for the extension of the water pipes. How far the board of health, in their wisdom, could induce Mr. Fitzpatrick to abandon the use of pump water, and pay for water to be furnished by the town, he could not say. If the town were ready to grant the request of Mr. Fitzpatrick and would appropriate sufficient money for the purpose, the board would be only too willing to carry out their wishes.

Mr. Relihan stated that all that was required was to make a connection with the main in English and Harris streets through to Central street. The water board would not be asked to carry the water up the Court. If it were carried half way Mr. Fitzpatrick would pay the other half.

It was finally decided to refer the matter to a joint committee of the water board and the board of health.

Article 31st. To see if the town will appropriate money to extend the high service water pipes in Maple Hill, agreeably to the petition of Samuel L. Ham and others, was referred to the same committee as the foregoing article.

Article 33d. To see if the town will cause the culvert to Strong Water Brook, on the private way leading from Main street to the Harris Tannery, to be enlarged, agreeably to the petition of George J. Winchester and others, was referred to the new Board of Selectmen to be chosen.

Article 34th. To see if the town will grant the free use of the large and small town halls to the Relief Association of the Peabody Fire Department, for one evening during the ensuing year, for the purpose of holding some entertainment for the benefit of the Relief Fund, agreeably to the petition of D. S. Littlefield and others, was then taken up. A motion was made that the use of the halls be so granted. Mr. Franklin Osborn said that he would amend by allowing its use on the same terms as other charitable organizations have it. He thought some precedent should be established, and that all charitable organizations should be allowed to hire the hall at a certain price. This amendment was carried and the motion prevailed.

Voted to appropriate $250, to assist Post 50 G. A. R. in celebrating Memorial day.

Article 36. To see if the town will appropriate money for the purpose of laying a drain pipe through Harris street, agreeably to the petition of Jeremiah Creane and others, was taken up. Mr. Edgar Upton said that the matter of drainage was an important one. Some systematic system of drainage ought to be devised, and he wanted a special committee to be appointed to investigate the matter before the article was acted upon, and report the result to the next annual meeting. The Moderator ruled that while the matter was doubtless a very pertinent subject for investigation, it could not properly come before the meeting, because it was not in the warrant. It was referred to the Board of Selectmen.

The following articles were also referred to the Board of Selectmen:

37th. To see if the town will appropriate money for re-setting and deepening the culvert which crosses Lynn street near the head of County street; also to grade up the sidewalk on the northerly side of Lynn street, between Putnam's Corner and County street, agreeably to the petition of George E. Parker and others.

38th. To see if the town will appropriate money to construct a covered drain on Washington street, to carry away the drainage from Sherman, Hancock and Dalton streets, agreeably to the petition of George K. Wiggin and others.

39th. To see if the town will appropriate money to extend the Washington-street drain about four hundred feet, as far as the residence of Stephen Blaney, to convey the water that rises at Dustin street, agreeably to the petition of Andrew Waters and others.

41st. To see if the town will appropriate money for the purpose of putting in an Automatic Fire Alarm, agreeably to the petition of George Holman and others, was referred to a special committee, consisting of John H. Tibbetts, S. S. Littlefield and John F. Morland. Previous to adjourning Mr. Littlefield moved that two more names be added to the committee, S. F. Blaney and Chas. B. Farley. These names were added.

Article 43, regarding the laying out a town way running from Chestnut street near the Catholic church, to Lowell street, the Selectmen reported that the public convenience and necessity required that said ways should be laid out and proceeded to lay out the same as follows:

Commencing on Chestnut street at a point fifteen feet northerly of the southeast corner of the town house lot, thence running westerly on a line parallel with the town house fence and fifteen feet northerly therefrom, to a point on the westerly line of the private way leading from Lowell street, then turning and running northerly by the westerly line of said private way, as the fences now stand, to Lowell street; laying out the way on the southerly side of the first described line, forty-five feet wide, and laying out on the easterly side of the last described line all the land lying between the westerly line of said private way leading from Lowell street and the curbing and fence on the westerly line of the town house lot, as a town way. It is recommended that the sum of two hundred dollars be appropriated for the purpose of constructing and grading said ways.

This report was accepted.

Article 44, in regard to laying out a town way leading from Newbury street to Pine street, in West Peabody, the Selectmen reported that the public necessity and convenience required that said way should be laid out, as follows:

Beginning at a corner of the land of C. W. Felt, as the fence now stands, thence running north 68° 30' west, by land of C. W. Felt, Thomas O'Donnell, Daniel Sheen, and John B. Kelly, a distance of 1104 feet to a stake. Thence turning and running north 3° west, about 610 feet, through woodland of John B. Kelly, M. C. Reynolds and others, to Pine street, the road to be fifty feet wide southwesterly and westwardly of the above line. They recommend that the sum of five hundred dollars be appropriated for the construction of said way.

This report was accepted.

Mr. S. F. Blaney referred to the fact that a number of private citizens had asked for edgestones and that they had been refused; that the horse railroad companies had been able to obtain them, that money had been expended by the town in repairs of the highways which should have been paid by the railroads, and made the following motion: that the Finance Committee examine and report upon the expenditures of 1885, on highways, and sidewalks, with special reference to that extra amount caused by the street railroads.

It was also voted that future town reports contain a list of the town officers.

On motion of Mr. Frank E. Farnham, a committee of five were appointed by the chair to nominate a finance committee of seven; this committee was as follows: Frank E. Farnham, Jonathan King, Albert Vittum, W. J. McCarthy, S. S. Littlefield. This committee reported the following finance committee: C. W. Osborne, John Linehan, John P. Fernald, J. E. T. Bartlett, A. B. Merrill, D. S. Littlefield, Warren Shaw.

It was voted after considerable discussion, to adjourn to two weeks from Monday, viz., Monday, March 22, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

The following is the vote of town officers. Those marked with a star are elected:

SELECTMEN.
*S. Augustus Southwick,	672
*Nathan H. Poor,	1109
*Thos. J. Relihan,	993
*Levi Preston,	1021
*John E. Herrick,	606
Ivory H. Beede,	104
William W. Reed,	503
B. Harrison Taylor,	108
Chas. H. Goulding,	595
Lyman Osborn,	5
Scattering,	6
ASSESSORS.
*John E. Herrick,	605
*Thomas J. Relihan,	692
*Nathan H. Poor,	605
*Willard Spaulding,	668
*Lyman Osborn,	668
S. A. Southwick,	586
Levi Preston,	481
A. H. Sanger Jr.,	459
C. H. Goulding,	27
W. W. Reed,	6
B. H. Taylor,	4
W. G. Dix,	2

Continued on 5th page.

New Advertisements.

CAUTION.

Woodstock Carpets.

None are genuine except those bearing an engraved ticket, with the words "Woodstock Carpet" on it. Purchasers should insist upon having the ticket with the words "Woodstock Carpet" on it. This ticket is copyrighted both in England and the United States, and is used only on the

GENUINE

WOODSTOCK RUGS,

For the sale of which we are the Sole Agents.

John H. Pray Sons & Co

558 & 560 WASHINGTON ST.

BOSTON.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of MARY M. POOLE, late of Peabody, in said county, widow, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George S. Poole who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of April, next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said George S. Poole is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this ninth day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

mch 10—3t

TO LET FURNISHED.

The residence of the late Abel Proctor on Sewall street, for one year from June 1st next. Rent low. Apply to

THOMAS E. PROCTOR,

106 High Street, Boston.

A PLEASING

OPERETTA

ENTITLED

HUNT THE THIMBLE

OR

LITTLE NELL'S SURPRISE PARTY.

also an amusing Farce called

A LOVE OF A BONNET.

will be presented by the Merry Workers in the Universalist vestry,

Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon.

March 16th and 17th.

A new comic dance will also be introduced.

Tickets 25cts. Children 15cts.

Evening at 7.30. Matinee at 2.30.

Come and bring the children.

IF YOU WANT A

PIANO,

Buy a Chickering or Woodward & Brown, and I guarantee perfect satisfaction.

A large stock of all kinds of Instruments

— AT —

245 ESSEX STREET.

Banjos, Guitars, Violins, Harmonicas, Accordeons, Strings, etc.

Sheet Music and Books.

Pianos selected from any factory and price guaranteed less than Boston prices.

E. V. EMILIO,

245 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

REPORT

Of the condition of the SOUTH DANVERS NATIONAL BANK, at Peabody, in the State of Massachusetts, at the close of business, Mch. 1, 1886:

RESOURCES.
Loans and Discounts	$241,208.76
U. S. Bonds to secure Circulation,	150,000.00
Due from approved reserve agents,	8,944.22
Due from other National Banks,	1,535 79
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	3,000.00
Current expenses and taxes paid,	1,866.74
Premiums paid,	6,637.50
Checks and other cash items,	4,181 63
Bills of other Banks,	1,785.00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and pennies,	95.25
Specie,	6,542.86
Legal-tender notes,	3,500.00
Redemption Fund with U. S. Treasurer, (5 per cent of circulation,)	6,750.00
Total,	$436,047.75
LIABILITIES.
Capital stock paid in,	$150,000.00
Surplus fund,	75,000.00
Undivided profits,	10,916.20
National Bank notes outstanding,	132,500.00
Dividends unpaid,	949.00
Individual deposits subject to check,	63,965.53
Due to other National Banks,	2,717.02
Total,	$436,047.75

STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS, COUNTY OF ESSEX, } ss.

I, G. M. FOSTER, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

G. M. FOSTER Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 5th day of Mch., 1886.

GEORGE HOLMAN. Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:

W. P. CLARK,
HORACE BUSHBY, } Directors.
EDGAR W. UPTON,

Peabody, Mch. 6, 1886.

REPORT

Of the condition of THE WARREN NATIONAL BANK, at Peabody, in the State of Massachusetts, at the close of business, Mch. 1, 1886.

RESOURCES.
Loans and Discounts,	$289 991.33
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	253,000.00
U. S. Bonds on hand,	900.00
Other Stocks, Bonds and Mortgages	126,533.75
Due from Approved Reserve Agents	51 938.72
Due from other National Banks,	2 519.01
Real Estate, furniture and fixtures,	20,000.00
Current expenses and taxes paid	4,325.78
Premiums paid,	981.25
Checks and other cash items,	8,828.77
Bills of other Banks,	15 646.00
Fractional paper currency, nickels, and pennies,	127.83
Specie,	20,830.00
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer, 5 per ct. of circulation,	11,250 00
Total	$806,872.44
LIABILITIES.
Capital Stock paid in	$250,000.00
Surplus Fund,	85,000.00
Undivided profits,	13,9 6.28
National Bank notes outstanding	224,150.00
Dividends unpaid,	567 00
Individual Deposits subject to check,	231,036.92
Due to other National Banks,	2,212.24
Total	$806,872.44

STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS, COUNTY OF ESSEX, } ss.

I, FRANK C. MERRILL, Cashier of the above-named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

FRANK C. MERRILL, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 6th day of Mch., 1886.

GEO. HOLMAN, Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:

C. WARREN OSBORN,
GEO. S. OSBORNE, } Directors
FRANKLIN OSBORN,

Peabody Mch. 10. 1886

TO LET.

HOUSE, 5 STEVENS STREET,

PEABODY.

Lower part of the house, containing eight rooms, with all the modern conveniences; cellar-kitchen; stable connected with the house, with stalls for three horses. For further particulars apply to

GEO. STEVENS,

1 Main Street, Peabody.

Continued from 4th page.

TOWN CLERK.
*Nathan H. Poor,	1178
Scattering,	4
TOWN TREASURER.
*Nathan H. Poor,	1171
Scattering,	4
COLLECTOR OF TAXES.
*Levi Preston,	1073
Lyman Osborn,	109
Scattering,	4
OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.
*George F. Sanger,	1163
*James Fallon,	1180
*James P. King,	1143
Scattering,	5
WATER BOARD.
*D. S. Littlefield,	1175
*Stephen F. Blaney,	1163
*Andrew N. Jacobs,	1181
Scattering,	3
SCHOOL COMMITTEE.
*Thomas Carroll,	1181
*Horace K. Foster,	1187
S. Fannie Kittredge,	6
Scattering,	4
RUSTEES OF PEABODY INSTITUTE.
*George F. Barnes,	618
*Daniel P. Grosvenor,	612
B. Frank Southwick,	548
William G. Dix,	550
Scattering,	6
BOARD OF HEALTH.
*Charles C. Pike,	1134
*Thomas J. Relihan,	1113
*William S. Osborne,	1183
John Shanahan,	579
Charles G. Weston,	601
John Ruth,	555
Charles P. Elligott,	551
Scattering,	7
GEN'L. SINKING FUND COMMISSIONER.
*Jonathan King,	1179
Dennis Sweeney,	3
COMMISSIONER OF HIGH SERVICE SINKING FUND.
*Frank C. Merrill,	1168
COMMISSIONER OF TOWN HOUSE SINKING FUND.
*Leverett Poor,	1186
M. S. Clark,	2
CONSTABLES.
*Thomas W. Peasley,	958
*Bowman Viles,	1059
*John J. Sweeney,	1062
*Michael H. Grady,	1062
*John J. Bartlett,	1047
*Daniel W. Larrabee,	1060
*John Daley,	1072
*Jeremiah Murphy,	1054
*Dennis Sweeney,	706
*J. H. Crowley,	563
*Daniel Rahilly,	1054
*George W. Jones,	1064
*Jerry Mack,	1060
*William R. Fifield,	549
*Thos. N. Barnaby,	1060
*Alfred E. Johnson,	1073
*John Ruth,	1051
*N. C. Patterson,	1067
*Michael Phelan,	1031
*Othernial Ferrin,	1060
*F. G. Preston,	1042
*John D. McKeen,	1066
*George Reynolds,	541
Edmund O'Rourke,	530
Charles Stanton,	510
T. D. Crowley,	526
M. J. Regan,	535
B. F. Goodwin,	11
Scattering,	5

◆

NOTES OF THE AFFRAY.

Crow soup!

The Old Board!

Some one got buried!

Our cup runneth over!

Monday was a great day!

Well, town election is over!

Give politics a rest till fall!

Peace on earth, good will to men!

Did you work for honest men for office?

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

Both sides had checkers and teams at work.

Dr. H. K. Foster got the highest vote, 1187.

It was a cold day—but not for the citizens' caucus.

Mr. Bancroft is a fair minded and cool moderator.

The old board have a wonderful staying power.

Where oh where is the hand organ ballot box.

The temperance folks did just jubilate last Monday night.

It seems to be another off year—away off for some.

Mr. Nathan H. Poor enters on the 34th term as town clerk.

There ought to be a bigger place where all can get a seat.

There wasn't much margin for doubt in the vote for moderator.

Six women voted and threw their ballots for Fannie Kittridge.

For Assessors. All down but three set 'em up on the other alley.

The count gave Herrick just eleven more votes than Goulding.

One man remarked "It's damphunny we can't have our own way."

There were tickets enough in the field to suit almost any taste.

Mr. J. S. Needham threw the first ballot, an "Independent" one.

The ladies presented a good bill of fare and it was liberally patronized.

It was just quarter of one o'clock when the constable count was declared.

When the town really expresses its idea on the matter it is for prohibition.

There wasn't much painting of the town red when the vote was declared.

Our lady voters are an admiration society. They always vote for each other.

Mr. N. H. Poor was re-elected town clerk, and that was where we were all unanimous.

Your vote is quite complimentary, Dr. Foster, and we are pleased to record it.

By the way, Charlie, there wasn't much of a farce about the vote, was there?

Mr. Osborne has served as assessor before, and so is well qualified for the position.

A good deal of the annual eloquence was deferred to the adjourned town meeting.

Who said they believed in young men for office and old men for the shelf?

Two apothecaries were running for trustee. One was taken and the other was left.

Rev. Williard Spaulding and Lyman Osborne are only the entering wedge to needed reforms.

A more quiet and orderly election has not been held in Peabody for several years.

Certain ones were "on their list" as persons that would not be missed from the list of office holders.

288 women voted or sent in their vote for prohibition to the W. C. T. U. ballot box Monday.

Several of the stores on Foster street have been "kept along" expecting that licenses would be granted.

The vote on licenses was

Yes,	535.
No,	640.

Sticker men industriously plied their vocation upon every man who looked as if he could be changed.

It was the Republican town committee almost pure and straight that distributed the "coal hole" ticket.

Miss Floyd and Mrs. Reed kept the tea and coffee hot in the dining room, for the hard worked vote counters.

The anxiety manifested by some of town officials and their strenuous effort to secure a re-election were amusing.

Motto for a conservative license man:

"I know the right and I approve it, too;
I know the wrong and yet the wrong pursue."

One man had a ballot that read "Shall licenses be prohibited in the town of Peabody? No."

Five little Assessors
Holding office now;
Two got a walking ticket
In last Monday's row.

Now that the election is over, let us all take hold with a will, and help the town officials to the best of our ability, and may we be blessed with a year of prosperity.

Let those who thought they could carry the election for the best interests of the town, by standing still, now keep their mouth shut.

The Rev. Williard Spaulding
Has leaped suddenly to fame.
He ran behind his ticket,
But he got there just the same.

Some men are very hard to please. They want the earth and the fullness thereof, and want it carried to them on a silver charger.

Officers Jones, Grady and Patterson were the first to take the oath as constables, and they were sworn in about one o'clock Tuesday morning.

Do you believe it? It is said one aspirant after a nomination at the caucus, bought a revolver, billy and badge and then got rejected.

A young man peddled "yes" votes on the front steps of the town hall all day, who had twice been sent to the Insane Asylum for using alcoholic stimulants.

Mr. Lewis A. Manning and Fred N. Carleton were at the town house all day Monday, securing signatures to the petition of the B. & L. Railroad proposed new route.

Now that the election is over, we shall have little or nothing to say about politics, but will devote our time mainly to clawing up local items, and collecting our bills.

The making of the Selectmen and Assessors two separate boards gives general satisfaction among the honest tax payers.

The Catholic Temperance societies in this town are to be praised for the work they did on the temperance question at the polls. Over 200 votes were thrown by them and carried the town.

Beer or no Beer, that was the question, whether twas' nobler in the town to suffer the slings and arrows of the liquor traffic, or take arms against its many troubles, and by a No vote end them.

If Charlie Hills took what he knows and all that he thinks he knows about the tickets he says were made up at the PRESS office, he will be a walking encyclopedia of politics as well as gall.

The town hall as it appeared after it was deserted was a scene for a photographer. Sand, ballots, cigar stubs, spittle, stickers and other dirt, covered the floor to the depth of more than we would want for comfort.

How was Tim. Crowley left out in the cold as constable with his name on three tickets and his friends using lots of stickers, and W. R. Fifield with his name on only one ticket elected? Did the voters of the "coal hole" ticket scratch Crowley as bad as that?

The correspondent of the Telegram attempted to pun on the license vote at a late hour Monday night, but the reporter of the PRESS stopped him with a long dirk knife he drew from the folds of 1881 overcoat.

Respectfully dedicated to the gentlemen who were left off the board of assessors:

One painful, saddening thought
Comes to them o'er and o'er--
The office is farther off to-day
Than it was the day before.

It is said that some of those most interested in the license vote posted themselves in the front seat, and the tall men looked at the ballots that were thrown with the printing facing upward, and the short men at those that faced downward.

A police officer's soliloquy:

When first I heard the caucus call
Said I to myself said I.
I'll get my name on the ballots all
Said I to myself said I.
Then I'll laugh at those fellows fierce simoon
I'll help the "old boards" little boom
And keep in the good graces of the whole platoon.
Said I to myself said I.

And that was the way he got elected.

After the vote for license had been declared, a tramp who had been lingering around the front entrance of the hall, was heard singing:—

"Nopody vhaits to welcome me
Nopody cares which way I go
I vhalks alone adown life's path
My happiness was turned to woe."

He had probably been promised a drink if the town voted yes.

It would be a good plan if those who carried the citizens' caucus should remember next year those gentlemen who were nominated at the citizens' caucus, and then assisted in making up a ticket to defeat it, for the purpose of keeping their friends in office. That is ingratitude.

We heard some men remark at the polls, that because we did not see fit to endorse the old board, and the nominations of the coal office, we had sold out to the rum party. If we were sold we certainly refuse to be delivered. At the same time, we never wore a collar labelled "We are the old board's dog," and don't propose to.

There is some opposition to the adjourning of the town meeting till evening. Like everything else that is proposed, that takes the wheels of government out of the old ruts, it is vigorously opposed by a certain few. Now, gentlemen, we have never tried an annual town meeting in the evening before and we don't know how it will work, perhaps we might never wish to return to the old method. Let's give it a fair trial.

No, there's no crape on our door, and we don't feel very badly either. We should do the same thing again, and firmly believe in the doctrine that an individual has the right to vote as he pleases, and to influence others to think as he does.

If Mr. W. P. Clark's motion was in order that "we elect five selectmen and assessors as one board," then those declared elected were not elected. There were four tickets only that were thrown headed "For Selectmen and Assessors," and they contained the names of Lyman Osborn, Willard Spaulding, Aug. H. Sanger, Jr., C. H. Goulding and W. W. Reed.

As a whole this year the caucus nominations were successful. They put the first ticket in the field, and of their nominations there are elected, Town Clerk, Town Treasurer, two Assessors, (besides dividing the boards) Collector of Taxes, Overseers of the Poor, Water Board, School Committee, one Trustee of Peabody Institute, Board of Health, Commissioner of Sinking Fund and also Commissioner of Town House and High Service Sinking Fund, besides most of the Constables.

The decidedly mixed up results and large vote polled at the election Monday, shows that the people exercised their individual and independent opinions as to who should direct the affairs of the town, aed were out in force to secure the election of those whom they severally considered the best men. There was also the usual difference of opinion as to who the best men were. The election shows that the voting public is awake to the importance of local elections. That fact will produce care and activity in the guardianship of the public interests and the protection of the rights of the people.

◆

Arrangements have been made by Union Post 50, G. A. R. for a grand Camp Fire in the Town Hall, Wednesday evening, March 24. Eleven Posts have been invited. Post 90 of Danvees; 89, Beverly; 34, Salem; 5, Lynn; 15, Boston; 35, Chelsea; 12, Wakefield; 95, Saugus; 82, Marblehead; 118, Swampscott; and 45 of Gloucester. It is expected that 500 or 600 comrades will be present from the above Posts, also several Past Department Commanders. There will be plenty of good speaking, and an entertainment which will occupy an hour or more. Tickets to the entertainment at 25 cents each are for sale by members of Post 50.

SPECIAL.

On SATURDAY, March 5th, we shall offer 100 pairs of Men's Woonsocket Rhode Island, Rubber Boots for $1.79 per pair. We shall sell them at this price for this day only.

This will be the only chance to buy them at this price this year, don't fail to secure a pair.

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

Carpets and Rugs.

In view of the gratifying success attending the many departments of our New Dry Goods Stores the past six months, and to meet specially increasing public demands, we are adding lines of Carpeting, Oil Cloth, Mattings, Rugs, etc., including very desirable patterns, many of them being gems of Art, selected by Mr. John E. Newhall, who has an interest in our Carpet and Upholstery departments.

PRICES WERE NEVER SO LOW.

WINDOW SHADES A SPECIALTY.

Carpets and Rugs now selected will be kept, if so desired, until purchasers are ready to have them put down.

OPENING MONDAY, MARCH 8.

NEW STORES.

Essex and Washington Streets, Desire to extend a Cordial Invitation to their Patrons and others interested, to inspect

THE IMPORTED NOVELTIES IN THEIR NEW

Upholstery Dept.

OPEN MONDAY, MARCH 8.

Most Desirable Bargains will be offered in Furniture Coverings and Curtains.

Nottingham Lace Curtains;
Tambour Lace Curtains;
Antique Lace Curtains;
Colbert and Renaissance Applique Curtains;
Madras Curtains; Madras by the yard;
Turcoman Portieres;
Tapestry Furniture Coverings;
Silk Plushes and Velours;
Mohair Plushes.

These Choice Goods are bought from importers direct, and will be offered at lower figures than such novelties have hitherto been sold.

Samples of Upholstery and Dry Goods sent gratuitously by mail to all parts of the Country on application. This New department opened MONDAY, MARCH 8.

ON OUR THIRD FLOOR.

Accessible by large 1st class elevator.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

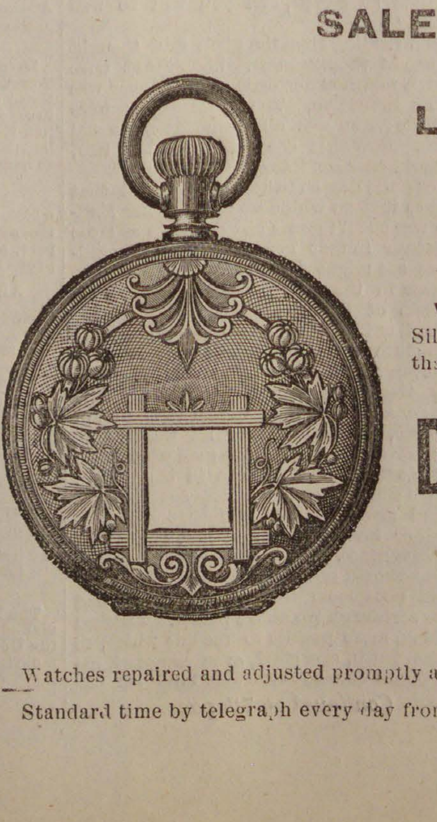
AMERICAN WATCHES

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

DANIEL LOW'S,

SALEM.



LADIES' GOLD WATCHES.

We can show a fine line of Gold and Silver watches and sell them much less than Boston prices.

Daniel Low,

SALEM.

Watches repaired and adjusted promptly and at reasonable prices.

Standard time by telegraph every day from Cambridge.

JAS. HOWLEY,

TAILOR.

From now until the first of March, to make room for Spring goods, I shall make special prices on Overcoatings, Suitings and Pantaloonings. These goods comprise the finest Foreign goods in neat and genteel patterns, and will be cut, trimmed and made in my usual good style, the extreme prices made only to reduce stock and keep my help employed during the dull season.

JAS. HOWLEY, TAILOR.

MAIN STREET,

OVER WARREN TRASK'S STORE.

FLOUR! FLOUR!!

We have just received a car load of

BEST GRADES OF FLOUR,

which we are offering at bottom prices.

MEATS AND GROCERIES

at the lowest market price.

A call at our store will convince you.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

NOTICE LADIES.

The Right Place

For all kinds of MILLINERY is at

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

All our present stock of

HATS, BONNETS & MILLINERY GOODS

will be closed out at a big bargain, as we wish to make room for our Spring Goods.

N. B. We have the best Kid Gloves in the city for 89 cents, worth $1.25.

We have just received a new lot of Hair goods which will be sold at low prices. Switch Crimps, etc.

PAVILION BUILDING,

153 & 155 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

CABINET ORGAN

FOR SALE.

George Woods, maker; 9 stops, 4 sets reeds; an excellent instrument and in good condition.

— AT —

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE STORE.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for "the Naumkeag" Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE,

Rare chance—7000 sold in 60 days—only needs to be puffed to ensure sale. Sold only by Geo Stevens.

READ THIS

All that are interested in hens.

We are about to receive a large stock of which we shall offer at factory prices and save the price of your freight.

POULTRY NETTING

Send in your order at once, and buy at wholesale.

—— Buy our ——

25c SAW HORSE

also a good steel

Chopping Axe for 65 cts.

Have you seen our

Patent Pinafore Oil Can.

New stock of 5 and 10 cent Goods.

Call and see our variety of Pocket Cutlery and Scissors.

AT

Samuel Trask's

WALNUT ST.,

PEABODY.

ARTISTS'

SUPPLY STORE.

Everything needed for

ARTISTS & AMATEURS

Largest stock and Lowest Prices.

C. J. EDMANDS,

12 Bromfield St., Boston.

Send for Catalogue.

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaoskin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal, Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.
em—

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus P. Batchelder Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK. SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

The NEW YORK Sun.

The Best Newspaper in America, and by far the Most Readable.

Agents wanted everywhere to earn money in distributing the Sun's Premiums.

The most interesting and advantageous offers ever made by any Newspaper.

No Subscriber ignored or neglected. Something for all.

Beautiful and Substantial Premiums in Standard Gold and other Watches, Valuable Books, the Best Family Sewing Machine known to the trade, and an unequaled list of objects of real utility and instruction.

Rates, by Mail, Postpaid:

DAILY, per Year (without Sunday)	$6 00
DAILY, per Month (without Sunday)	50
SUNDAY, per Year . . .	1 00
FOR EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR	7 00
WEEKLY, per Year . . .	1 00

Address, THE SUN, New York City.

FOR SALE.

House and land on Aborn street belonging to the estate of the late P. L. WINCHESTER. The house is two and one-half stories, and contains fourteen rooms, and is in good condition. The land measures about 10,000 feet, and there is connected with the premises a good stable. For terms or further particulars apply to

GEORGE J. WINCHESTER

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S

Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

For sale by all Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. TRADE MARK

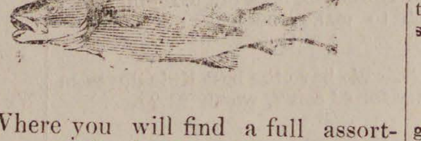
Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York.

Sold by all Druggists.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

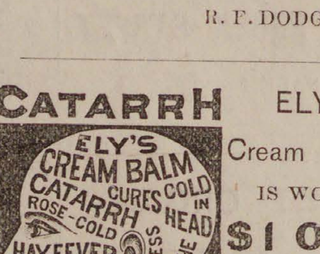


Where you will find a full assortment of Fresh Fish, Boneless Fish, Smoked Fish, Pickled Fish and Shell Fish; all of the best quality and the lowest prices. Also a nice line of Oyster Crackers.

6 PEABODY SQUARE

R. F. DODGE, Prop.

CATARRH ELY'S



Cream Balm

IS WORTH

$1000

To any Man, Woman or Child suffering from

CATARRH.

A. E. NEWMAN,

Grayling, Mich.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET LYNN

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A Dividend of Three dollars per share, will be payable at the office of the Treasurer on WEDNESDAY, the 27th inst., to stockholders of record this day.

DAVID MOORE. Treasurer.

"Better than a cottage—scarcely a farmhouse. A place, I should think, with a few miserable acres of bad land belonging to it. One of those wretched little holdings which are simply curses to the country."

He made lots of other inquiries, the purport of which I could not then divine. He seemed greatly impressed when I told him that the man had never for a moment left me alone. He shot a second glance of triumph at Brand, who still kept silent, and looked as if all the wind had been taken out of his sails.

"How far is the place?" asked Carriston. "Could you drive me there after dark?"

At this question the doctor returned to life. "What do you mean to do?" he asked his friend. "Let us have no nonsense. Even now I feel sure that Fenton is misled by some chance resemblance——"

"Peace a bit, old chap," I said.

Well, whether or not, we needn't do foolish things. We must go and swear information and get a search warrant and the assistance of the police. The truth is, Richard," he continued, turning to me, "we have reason to believe, or I should say Carriston persists in fancying, that a friend of his has for some time been kept in durance by the man whom you say you recognized."

"Likely enough," I said. "He looked villain enough for anything up to murder."

"Any way," said Brand, "we must do everything according to law."

"Law! I want no law," answered Carriston. "I have found her, as I knew I should find her. I shall simply fetch her, and at once. You can come with me or stay here, as you like, doctor, but I am afraid I must trouble your friend to drive me somewhere near the place he speaks of."

Foreseeing an adventure and great fun—moreover, not unmoved by thoughts of revenge—I placed myself entirely at Carriston's disposal. He expressed his gratitude, and suggested that we should start at once. In a few minutes we were ready and mounted the dog cart. Brand, after grumbling loudly at the whole proceeding, finished up by following us and installing himself in the back seat. Carriston placed a parcel he carried inside the cart, and away we went.

"The house lies about five hundred yards up the lane," I told Carriston; "we had better get out here."

"What about the horse?" asked Brand.

"No chance of any one passing this way on such a night as this; so let us put out the lamps and tie him up somewhere."

We did so; then struggled on afoot until we saw the gleam of light which had been so welcomed by me two nights before.

It was just about as dark as pitch; but guided by the light, we went on until we stood in front of the house, where a turf bank and a dry hedge hid us from sight, although on such a night we had little fear of our presence being discovered.

"What do you mean to do now?" asked Brand in a discontented whisper. "You can't break into the house."

Carriston said nothing for a minute; then I felt him place his hand on my shoulder.

"Are there any horses; any cows about the place?" he asked.

I told him I thought that my surly friend rejoiced in the possession of a horse and a cow.

"Very well. Then we must wait. He'll come out to see them before he goes to bed," said Carriston, as decidedly as a general giving orders just before a battle.

I could not see how Brand expressed his feelings upon hearing this order from our commander. I know I shrugged my shoulders and if I said nothing I thought a deal. The present situation was all very well for a strongly-interested party like Carriston, but he could scarcely expect others to relish the prospect of waiting, it might be for hours, under that comfortless hedge. We were all wet to the skin, and although I was extremely anxious to see the end of the expedition, and find poetical justice meted out to my late host, Carriston's Fabian tactics lacked the excitement I longed for. Brand, in spite of his disapproval of the whole course of action, was better off than I was. As a doctor, he must have felt sure that, provided he could survive the exposure, he would secure two fresh patients. However, we made no protest, but waited for events to develop themselves.

CHAPTER IV.

More than half an hour went by. I was growing numbed and tired, and beginning to think that we were making asses of ourselves, when I heard the rattle of a chain, and felt Carriston give my arm a warning touch. No doubt my late host had made sure that his new door-fastenings were equal to a stronger test than that to which I had subjected the former ones; so we were wise in not attempting to carry his castle by force.

The door opened and closed again. I saw the feeble glimmer of a lantern moving towards the outhouse in which my horse had been stabled. I heard a slight rustling in the hedge, and, stretching out my arm, found that Carriston had left my side. In the absense of any command from him I did not follow, but resumed the old occupation—waiting.

In a few minutes the light of the lantern reappeared; the bearer stood on the threshold of the door, while I wondered what Carriston was doing. Just as the door was opened for the boor's readmittance, a dark figure sprang upon him. I heard a fierce oath and cry of surprise; then the lantern flew out of the man's hand, and he and his assailant tumbled struggling through the narrow doorway.

"Hurrah the door is won, anyway!" I shouted, as, followed closely by the doctor, I jumped over the hedge and rushed to the scene of the fray.

Although Carriston's well conceived attack was so vigorous and unexpected that the man went down under it; although our leader had utilized the advantage he had gained in a proper and laudable manner, by bumping that thick bullet head as violently as he could against the flags on which it lay: I doubt if, after all, he could have done his work alone. The countryman was a muscular brute, and Carriston but a stripling. However, our arrival speedily settled the question.

"Bind him!" panted Carriston; "there is cord in my pocket." He appeared to have come quite prepared for contingencies. While Carriston still embraced his prostrate foe, and Brand, to facilitate matters, knelt on his shoulders, sat on his head, or did something else useful, I drew out from the first pocket I tried a nice length of half-inch line, and had the immense satisfaction of trussing up my scowling friend in a most workmanlike manner. He must have felt those turns on his wrists for days afterwards. Yet when we were at last at liberty to rise and leave him lying helpless on his kitchen floor, I consider I exercised great self-denial in not bestowing a few kicks upon him, as he swore at us in his broadest vernacular in a way which, under the circumstances, was no doubt a great comfort to him.

We scarcely noticed the man's wife while we rendered her husband helpless. As we entered she attempted to fly out, but Brand, with a promptitude which I am glad to record, intercepted her, closed the door, turned and pocketed the key. After that the woman sat on the floor and rocked herself to and fro.

For some moments, while recovering his breath, Carriston stood and positively glared at his prostrate foe. At last he found words:

"Where is she? Where is the key, you hound?" he thundered out, stooping over the fellow, and shaking him with a violence which did my heart good. As he received no answers save the unrecordable expressions above mentioned, we unbuttoned the wretch's pockets, and searched those greasy receptacles. Among the usual litter we did certainly find a key. Carriston snatched at it, and shouting, "Madeline! Madeline! I come!" rushed out of the room like a maniac, leaving Brand and me to keep guard over our prisoners.

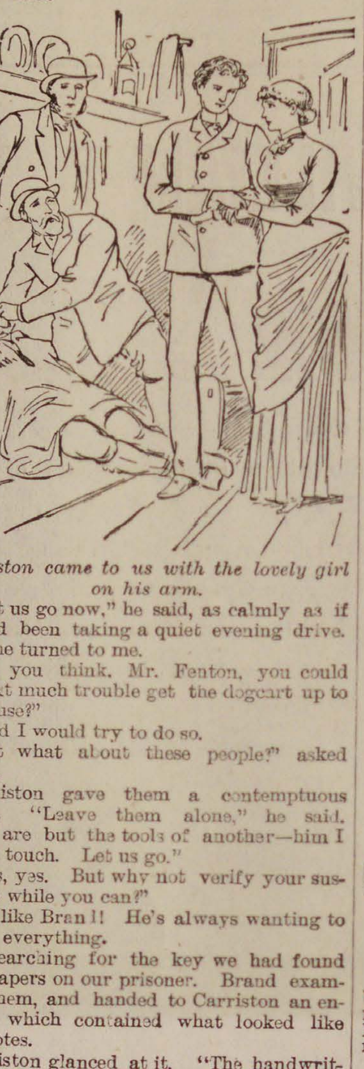
I filled a pipe, lit it, and then came back to my fallen foe.

"Push a handkerchief in his mouth," cried Brand, suddenly. "A lady is coming."

With right good will I did as the doctor suggested.

Just then Carriston returned. I don't want to raise home tempests, yet I must say he was accompanied by the most beautiful creature my eyes have ever lighted upon. True, she was pale as a lily—looked thin and delicate, and her face bore traces of anxiety and suffering, but for all that she was beautiful—too beautiful for this world, I thought, as I looked at her. She was clinging in a half frightened, half-confiding way to Carriston, and he—happy fellow!—regardless of our presence, was showering down kisses on her sweet pale face. Confound it! I grow quite romantic as I recall the sight of those lovers.

A most curious young man, that Carriston! He came to us, the lovely girl on his arm, without showing a trace of his recent excitement.



Carriston came to us with the lovely girl on his arm.

"Let us go now," he said, as calmly as if he had been taking a quiet evening drive. Then he turned to me.

"Do you think, Mr. Fenton, you could without much trouble get the dogcart up to the house?"

I said I would try to do so.

"But what about these people?" asked Brand.

Carriston gave them a contemptuous glance. "Leave them alone," he said. "They are but the tools of another—him I cannot touch. Let us go."

"Yes, yes. But why not verify your suspicions while you can?"

Just like Brand! He's always wanting to verify everything.

In searching for the key we had found some papers on our prisoner. Brand examined them, and handed to Carriston an envelope which contained what looked like banknotes.

Carriston glanced at it. "The handwriting is, of course, disguised," he said, carelessly, "but the postmark shows whence it came. It is as I always told you. You agree with me now?"

"I am afraid I must," said Brand, humbly. "But we must do something about this man," he continued.

Hereupon Carriston turned to our prisoner. "Listen, you villain," he said. "I will let you go scot-free if you breathe no word of this to your employer for the next fortnight. If he learns from you what has happened before that time, I swear you shall go to penal servitude. Which do you choose?"

I pulled out the gag, and it is needless to say which the fellow chose.

Then I went off, and recovered the horse and cart. I relighted the lamps, and with some difficulty got the dogcart up to the house. Carriston must have exactly anticipated the events of the night. The parcel he had brought with him contained a bonnet and a thick, warm cloth cloak. His beautiful friend was equipped with these; then leaving the woman of the house to untie her husband at her leisure and pleasure, away we started; the doctor sitting by me; Carriston and the lady behind.

We just managed to catch the last train from C——. Not feeling sure as to what form inquiries might take to-morrow, I thought it better to go up to town with my friends, so, as we passed through Midcombe, I stopped, paid my bill, and gave instructions for my luggage to be forwarded to me. By 6 o'clock the next morning we were all in London.

DR. BRAND IN CONCLUSION.

When I asked Dick Fenton to relate his experiences I did not mean him to do so at such length. But there, as he has written it, and as writing is not a labor of love with him, let it go.

When Madeline Rowan found the bed, by the side of which she had thrown herself in an ecstasy of grief, untenanted, she knew in a moment that she was the victim of a deep-laid plot. Being ignorant of Carriston's true position in the world, she could conceive no reason for the elaborate scheme which had been devised to lure her so many miles from her home, and make a prisoner of her.

A prisoner she was. Not only was the door locked upon her, but a slip of paper lay on the bed. It bore these words: "No harm is meant you, and in due time you will be released. Ask no questions, make no foolish attempts at escape, and you will be well treated."

Upon reading this the girl's first thought was one of thankfulness. She saw at once that the reported accident to her lover was but an invention. The probabilities were that Carriston was alive, and in his usual health. Now that she felt certain of this, she could bear anything.

From the day on which she entered that room to that on which we rescued her Madeline was to all intents and purposes as close a prisoner in that lonely house on the hillside as she might have been in the deepest dungeon in the world. Threats, entreaties, promises of bribes availed nothing. She was not unkindly treated—that is, suffered no absolute ill-usage. Books, materials for needlework and other little aids to while away time were supplied. But the only living creatures she saw were the woman of the house, who attended to her wants, and, on one or two occasions, the man whom Carriston asserted he had seen in his trance. She had suffered from the close confinement, but had always felt certain that sooner or later her lover would find her, and effect her deliverance. Now that she knew he was alive she could not be unhappy.

I did not choose to ask her why she had felt so certain on the above points. I wished to add no more puzzles to the one which, to tell the truth, exercised, even annoyed, me more than I care to say. But I did ask her

Continued on 7th page.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.

PEABODY

PRESIDENT.

Rufus H. Brown.

Vice Presidents,

Stephen Blaney,	Geo. F. Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Amos Merrill,
Chas. B. Farley,	John A. Lord.

Trustees,

Rufus H. Brown,	Alex. B. Merrill,
Stephen Blaney,	C. Warren Osborne,
Lewis Allen,	Geo. S. Osborne,
Chas. B. Farley,	Nathl. Symonds.
Geo. F. Osborne,	Aaron F. Clark,
Amos Merrill,	Albert A. Messer,
John A. Lord,	John Pinder,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Wm P. Clark
Wm. H. Little,	Reuben G. Nelson,
Aaron W. Warren,	Albert H. Merrill.

Clerk,

Albert H. Merrill.

Committee of Investment.

Rufus H. Brown,

Lewis Allen,	Alex. B. Merrill,
C. Warren Osborne.	Nathl. Symonds.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

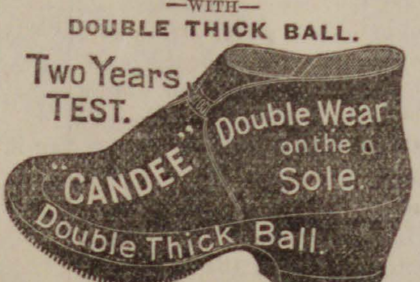
WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

"CANDEE" ARCTICS

—WITH—

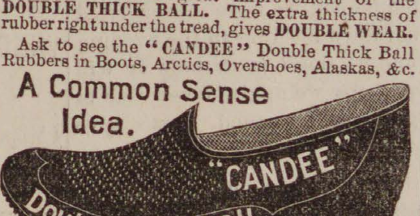
DOUBLE THICK BALL.



Two Years TEST.
Double Wear on the Sole.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER Co. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.

Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.



A Common Sense Idea.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

NUGENT BROS.,

Agents Candee Co.

PEABODY, MASS.

FORTY-EIGHTH VOLUME

THE NEW YORK

SUNDAY MERCURY.

Unprecedented Attractions for 1886.

In addition to Wilkie Collins' great serial (just commenced, and back numbers of which can be furnished to all new subscribers who desire it), arrangements have been made for

A New Novel by Mrs. Oliphant,

to be commenced in April, as well as

A Brilliant Romance by William Black,

to follow in the month of July, together with

Another Sterling Story by Miss Braddon.

And, besides the works of these distinguished authors on the other side of the Atlantic, new stories have been secured from the following noted American writers:

FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,
FRANK R. STOCKTON,
CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK,
J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
EDWARD EVERETT HALE,
JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS,
ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS,
HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD,
SIDNEY LUSKA-

and others of distinguished fame, making altogether an unprecedented combination of talent unequaled by any of the leading magazines of the metropolis,

MUCH ADO,

By FRANCIS HODGSON BURNETT,

Author of "That Lass O' Lowries'" "Through One Administration," "A Fair Barbarian," etc., etc.

In presenting these superior attractions, the New York Sunday Mercury will not lose any of those varied and attractive features which, for nearly Fifty Years, have made it a welcome guest to a Hundred Thousand Families throughout the length and breadth of the land. It will continue as heretofore to make

A specialty of Theatrical News,

which it will furnish more accurately than any of the so-called dramatic journals—mere trade papers, which have no influence with the theatrical profession and no circulation among the people.

All the Best Humorists of the Country,

Including Bill Nye, F. E. Huddle, Opie P. Reed, Elie Adams, Alex. E. Sweet, are regular contributors to the New York Sunday Mercury, which far surpasses in merit and variety any humorous paper in the world.

The same attention will be paid as heretofore to all the

Live Sensations of the week,

and in fact, those who subscribe for the New York Sunday Mercury will have a combination of first-class reading matter such as no other paper in the country can present. In fact the New York Sunday Mercury offers all the literary features of

A First-class Magazine, The New Features of a Leading Daily, and the Combined Attractions of a Family Newspaper.

The New York Sunday Mercury for 1886 will be mailed, postage free, to subscribers in any part of the United States for $2 per annum, or $1 for six months. Sample copies sent free to any address.

WM. CAULDWELL, Proprietor,
No. 3 Park Row, New York.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody	at	9 47 A. M
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's. Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM. at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

CROSS, PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

Open Sundays from 7 till 12 A.M.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

[JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.]

AGENTS WANTED FOR OUR CHARMING NEW BOOK.

"SOME NOTED PRINCESS, AUTHORS AND STATESMEN OF OUR TIME."

By 20 of our best writers — Cannon Farrar, Jas. T. Fields, Jas. Parton, Dickens's daughter, and others. Over 60 fine portraits and engravings. ["The book is brimming over with choice and rare things."—N. Y. OBSERVER.] Intelligent young men and ladies can have permanent employment. A few General Agents wanted.

The HENRY BILL PUB. CO. Norwich. Ct.

nov24 —12t

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square,

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

RESIDE , 171 BOSTON ST., SALEM.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

MISS MARY E. LYNCH

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ.

South Peabody, Mass.

Terms of tuition 8 and 10 dollars Pupils visited at their homes if desired.

MISS ANNIE L. ORR,

TEACHER OF

VOCAL & INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Would solicit pupils. For terms apply to W P. Clark, or Miss Orr, No. 7 Palfry Place. Lynn, Mass.

apr 29

Business Cards.

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to 36 St. Peter street, Salem

jan11

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.

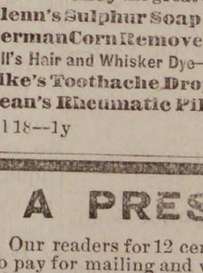
EDWIN B. BALCOM.

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY. MASS.



AMERICAN RUDGE.

The only first-class wheel listed at a low price, fitted with all the latest improvements

Price, 50 in., Enamel and Nickel, $107.50.

Call and Examine or send for Catalogue.

STODDARD, LOVERING & CO.,

152 Congress St., Boston.

Illustrated American STOCK BOOK A treatment of diseases of Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep; record of fast horses; how to train them, &c. Thousands sold in the West. No farmer can afford to be without it. ROBERT BONNER says: "It is the best work of the kind I ever saw." Price, cloth, $5; leather, $5.75. Sent prepaid. Agents Wanted. Exclusive Territory Given. Knickerbocker Subscription Agency. P. O. Box 830. 132 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK.

Hale's Honey the great Cough cure, 25c., 50c. & $1
Glenn's Sulphur Soap heals & beautifies, 25c.
German Corn Remover kills Corns & Bunions
Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye—Black and Brown, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 Minute, 25c
Dean's Rheumatic Pills are a sure cure, 50c.

118—1y

A PRESENT!

Our readers for 12 cents in postage stamps to pay for mailing and wrapping and names of two book agents, will receive FREE a Steel Finish Parlor Engraving of all OUR PRESIDENTS, including Cleveland, size 22x28 inch, worth $4. Address

ELDER PUB. CO., Chicago,

BOSTON & LOWELL R. R.

FEB. 8, 1886.

PASSENGER SERVICE FROM SALEM:

Leave Salem for Lowell, and Lawrence at 7 55, 10 55 A. M., 4 40 P. M.
Leave Lowell for Salem, at 7 35 A. M., 1 25, 6 P. M.
Leave Lawrence for Salem, at 7 45 A. M., 1 30, 6 P. M.
Leave Wilmington Junction for Salem, at 8 04 A. M., 1 55, 6 28 P. M.
Leave North Reading for Salem, at 8 23 A. M. 2 05, 6 38 P. M.
Leave West Peabody for Salem, at 8 35 A.M., 2 18 6 50 P. M.

All trains from Salem connect at Lowell for Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.

The 7 55 A. M. train connects at Lowell for Peterboro, Keene and intermediate stations.

C. S. MELLEN, Gen'l Supt.
LUCIUS TUTTLE, Gen'l Pass. Agent

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying the

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol de Cuba brands

FOR A 5c. SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Ache in Small of Back.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS RELIEVES Weary, Aching Bones.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS CURES Dyspepsia.

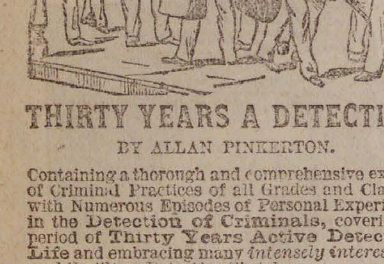
Dyspepsia.

GENTS:—I feel it my duty to say respecting Burdock Blood Bitters, that it is the best medicine I ever took. I suffered two or three years from stomach troubles and dyspepsia, as well as from liver and kidney complaint. I was not able to attend to my business. My wife was afflicted in much the same way. We read of your Bitters in the papers and made up our minds that we would try them. The result is, my wife and I began to improve at once, and I am now able to do more hard work than before in ten years. It relieved my kidney troubles as well. We both wish you, the makers of it, Godspeed.

JOSEPH LANDON,
Chelsea, Vt.

☞ AGENTS WANTED For Our New Book

Just Published, entitled



THIRTY YEARS A DETECTIVE

BY ALLAN PINKERTON.

Containing a thorough and comprehensive exposé of Criminal Practices of all Grades and Classes, with Numerous Episodes of Personal Experience in the Detection of Criminals, covering a period of Thirty Years Active Detective Life and embracing many intensely interesting and thrilling Detective Sketches.

An entirely new book, profusely illustrated, and with Portrait of the Great Detective.

☞ AGENTS WANTED!

In every town there are numbers of people who will be glad to get this book. It sells to Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers and Professional men. Thus every Agent can pick out fifty or more in a town to whom he can feel sure of selling it to.

We want One Agent in every township, or county. ☞ Any person, with this book, can become a successful Agent. For full particulars and terms to agents, address

C. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers, New York.

THE LIGHT RUNNING
NEW HOME
STRONG SWIFT
SURE

SEWING MACHINE
HAS NO EQUAL.

PERFECT SATISFACTION

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
—ORANGE, MASS.—
30 Union Square, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. St. Louis, Mo.
Atlanta, Ga. Dallas, Tex. San Francisco, Cal.
FOR SALE

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

Would inform his friends and the public generally that he has removed from 165 to

276 ESSEX STREET,

(Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Office)

Where he will be pleased to see his former customers and as many new ones as will favor him with their patronage.

FINE WATCH AND CLOCK REPAIRING AT REDUCED PRICES PERSONALLY ATTENDED TO

RED STAR TRADE MARK. COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc.
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET.

PEABODY, MASS.

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER.

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 3 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

ROSE BUDS AND PINKS.

AT

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

SIG. BATTALIA,

FROM BOSTON,

PIANO TUNER,

Graduate of Musical Conservatory of Florence, Italy; late of Her Majesty's Opera Co.; Tuner to Adelina Patti and De-Kontski; also

H. M. Smith's Piano Warerooms, 40 Market St., Lynn.

PRICE, $2.00.

Old Pianos restored to their original tone, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. Best of references given.

Immediate attention given to orders by mail or orders left at Edward Johnson's, 6 Market street, H. M. Smith's, 40 Market St., Lynn, and Mrs. S. S. Gilson, Main St., Peabody.

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL SMITH,

Watchmaker.

---

if, during her incarceration, her jailer had ever laid his hand upon her.

